BOBCATS BATTLE JONESBORO COLLEGE THIS AFTERNOON ON FARGASON FIELD

BIG PARADE IS READY TO RAGE FRIDAY NIGHT

Pep-Raiser for Ole Miss Is Raring to Go

FROSH HAUL BOXES

Big Bonfire Will Burn On Night of High Hilarity

A week from tonight there will be staged the greatest parade in the history of the school, mid cheers and a grand conflagration, thanks to the crates and boxes being piled higher and higher in the field opposite Evergreen Hall.

As a pep raiser for the Ole Miss-Southwestern game the next day the entire student body will stage a parade Friday night, beginning with the bonfire and followed by the trip downtown and the parade through the uptown district. Efforts are being made to have a "College Night" at one of the theaters, where the student body can go after the parade and cheer to its hearts' and lungs' content.

FROSH CART CRATES

By order of High Priest Jinx Joyner, of the Men's San Hedrin, each freshman is required to bring a box or a crate a day to the fast growing stack already in the field opposite Evergreen. Next week the freshmen will borrow the school truck and go around to all the big stores in town and especially to Sears, Roebuck and gather up all the inflammable material available. Tradition requires that each bonfire be bigger than the preceding one.

STUDENTS BACK FROM COUNCILS

Went To Nashville for a Student "Retreat"

Five members of the student body have returned from a Student Volunteer Council Retreat, held at Scarritt College in Nashville, Tennessee, from October 9-11. Those who motored up for the meeting were: Bob Phrangel, Mames Gregory, John Fishbach, Virginia Howry, and Nell Davis.

The Council, composed of volunteer leaders on various college campuses in Tennessee, was attended by approximately twenty students. A meeting was held Friday night, at which Darby Fulton of the Board of Mission, spoke. Business meetings were held Saturday morning and afternoon, when plans were made for a spring conference to be held at Bethel College, Mackenzie, Tenn. A picnic was given -the delegates Saturday evening on Vanderbilt Reservoir Hill. Sunday morning devotional services were held in the tower of the college, followed by an interesting sermon, delivered at the Belmont Methodist church by a Japanese bishop, now visiting in the United States. The meeting was brought to a close early Sunday afternoon.

Cy Johnson Wins Vice-Presidency

Cy Johnson was elected vice-president of the Sophomore Class Wednesday morning after chapel by a vote of 30 to 25 over David Edington. The run off was made necessary when Charles Crump, Clarke Porteus, and Comus Kelly were eliminated from the race at the first class meeting held Tuesday morning.

The vice-president vacancy was made when Mike Farrin, Sophomore vice-president elected last spring, failed to return to college.

Pledge Tri Delta

Jane Pinaire pledged Phi Mu at the University of Tennessee last week and Carol Van Brocklyn pledged Tri Delta.

GIRLS' SOCIETY HOSTS TONIGHT IN CHAPEL FUN

Undergraduates Entertain for Student Body

PLAYERS WILL PLAY

Program Is Annual Affair Of Its Nature

The Women's Undergraduate Society will entertain the student body tonight at 8 p. m. in Hardie Auditorium. The feature of the night will be a one-act play of Bernard Shaw's, "How He Lied to Her Husband," presented by the Southwestern Players and directed by Julia Marie Schwinn.

The cast will be composed of the following: Julia Marie Schwinn as "She," J. P. Hollifield as "He," and William Berson as "Her Husband." Perry Bynum is stage manager. The play will be approximately thirty-five minutes in duration, and promises to be excellent entertainment.

ANNUAL EVENT

This event is the annual social affair given by the society, and Margaret Mason, president, has been in charge of it. Other hostesses will be: Elizabeth Hampton, Eloise Brett, Charlotte Stanage, Mary Fant, Olive Black. Refreshments will be served, and the students are cordially invited.

Postpone Roast Until Clear Day

Due to inclement atmospheric conditions the steak roast, sponsored by the Christian Union, which was to be given Wednesday afternoon at Piney Woods, has been indefinitely postponed. The announcement was made in chapel Wednesday by Paul Jones, president of the Christian Union.

Campus gossip has it that the steak roast was gotten up to break the drought, since history shows that it never fails to rain when steak roasts are planned. Upperclassmen will remember how many times the steak roast was postponed last year due to rain and bad weather.

Presbytery Boasts Most Members In Lynx Student Body

Methodists Come Next And Baptists Third

400 ENROLLED HERE

Ten Churches Represented At Southwestern

A check of the enrollment by the office shows that there are exactly four hundred students at Southwestern this year which is about half a hundred less than there were last year.

The 400 are divided into ten different professed creeds with the majority being Presbyterians, 142 being members. Of the others the Methodist church claims the largest number, having 101 members attending Southwestern.

BAPTISTS NUMEROUS

Next in number is the Baptist Church with 53 followed by the Episcopalians who number 48. Twenty-two are members of the Christian Church and 14 belong to the Roman Catholic Church. Eight are Jewish and seven are members of the Christian Science faith. There are three Congregational Church members and one who belongs to the Dutch Reformed Church.

It is customary that the Presbyterians are more numerous than any one of the other faiths represented and it has also been usual in the past for the Methodists to run the Presbyterians a close second.

LESS STUDENTS NOW

The decrease in enrollment this year may be attributed to the financial depression with many of the schools in this section suffering along with Southwestern. Most notable of those in this section of the country is Vanderbilt, which had a freshman class this year of only 160, and Ole Miss, which has lost many this past year.

Chi O's Entertain

The active chapter and pledges of the Kappa Beta chapter of Chi Omega will lunch together tomorrow in their house on sorority row.

After the luncheon informal open house starting at 2:30 will be held.

Cabaniss Prays In Eleven Ways

Allen Cabaniss, Greek and Latin honors student, has spent seven years trying to learn the Lord's Prayer. He learned the Prayer in English years ago but he has spent much time and effort trying to learn it in every language possible. So far he has succeeded in eleven languages.

When called on, Cabaniss can recite the prayer in English, German, French, Spanish, Syriak, Korean, Turkish, Hungarian, Greek, Latin and Italian.

The latest addition to Cabaniss' collection was made by John Chung, who gave the Korean interpretation of the Lord's Prayer in Korean in two ways, the common Korean language, and the laguage used by the educated Koreas.

LYNX BOYS SEE JACKSON FROSH

Squad Scouts Millsaps In Flashy Night Game

Last Friday night down in Jackson, Mississippi, the Lynx gridders saw the Millsaps Frosh go into action against the highly touted Hinds Junior College varsity. In a game replete with thrills the freshmen trimmed the older squad in a decisive manner.

The showing of the freshmen made the Lynxmen sit up and take notice, especially since many of those same freshmen will battle the Lynx next year when the Southwesterners tangle again with the Militant Millsaps Majors.

Using the same system employed by the Millsaps varsity, the freshmen circled ends, bucked the line, and heaved the apple for consistent gains.

Erle Says Journal Will Be Out Soon

Erle Howry, Editor-in-Chief of the Journal, announces that all of the material for the forthcoming issue has been sent to the printers. The magazine will appear on the campus in two weeks.

FROSH HUSKIES ALL SET FOR A TOUGH BATTLE

Game Is First After Five Weeks of Practice

LINE PACKS POUNDS

Arkansas Boys Expected to Have Plenty Fight

After five weeks of strenuous practice the Bobcats open their 1931 season on Fargason Field this afternoon against Jonesboro College. The game will start promptly at 2:30 oclock.

Coaches John Miller and Frank Thomason have been drilling the members of the team long and hard during the past week and they are in fine shape for their exhibition this afternoon. The fact that they have had no game does not mean that the freshmen have been idle. They have scrimmaged with the varsity every week and on some occasions have put up a spirited fight before being overcome.

FROSH SCHOOLED

The Bobcats have been used as a proving ground for the varsity all the year and have been taught the plays of all the teams Southwestern has played so far. The Bobcats have developed a smooth working attack based on the famous "Pop" Warner system of football. They will get ample opportunity to prove their ability against Jonesboro for the Arkansas team has always been known to sport plenty of fight and a lot of football ability.

LINE IS HEAVY

The Bobcat team this year is strong with the line heavy and the backfield smart and fast. The Bobcat line averages 180 pounds. If they can get going with the proper amount of coordination and this amount of power Jonesboro College has a full afternoon ahead of them.

The freshman class will be out in full this afternoon to watch their heroes perform.

The probable line-up will see Red Forman or Barnes playing one end

Social Frats Pick Groups of Pledges

After the grand push in chapel last week the social organization of A. P. O., F. T. F. I., and O. K are both surprised and delighted to announce the following pledges:

A. P. O.—Frances Mitchner, Tom Underwood, John Ussery, Ruth Billings, Mary Catherine Whitman, and Dan Wagner.

O. K.—Margaret Tallichet, Christine Gilmore, Peggy Henderson, Nell Jones, Peggy Walker, Howard Cook and J. D. Jolly.

F. T. F. I.—Virginia Hussey, Irwin Abbey, Harold Simmons, Paul Calame, etc., etc., across the rest of the campus.

Evergreen Has New Electric Timepiece

Evergreen Hall, women' dormitory, has been given an electric clock by Perel and Lowenstein, Jewelers, 417 South Main. It is a large, square one, and has been installed in the front hallway. The old clock had worn out long ago, but the new one will eliminate late breakfasts and tardy classes. Naturally the residents, including Mrs. Rutland, are delighted with the gift.

ATTACK FRATERNITY SYSTEM

COLLEGE PRESIDENT AIRS HIS OPINIONS

"There is once again a rapidly rising tide of criticism against the fraternity system," says President Harry Woodburn Chase of the University of Illinois in a recent address to the University Interfraternity Council.

As one reason for this criticism he cites the mistake of overbuilding during a period of prosperity. Three fraternity houses and one sorority house built at the University of Illinois during the summer represent an expenditure of $222,000. In balmy days prosperous alums could always be counted upon to help meet pressing debts. But in these days of deflated pocketbooks alums are not so ready with blank checks. Fraternities are forced to keep their "private hotels" filled, so that often "the size of a man's pocketbook is more important than his congeniality."

ALUMNI RUSH

President Chase speaks of the practice of many fraternities of having their distinguished alumni take part in rushing, and observes that "they mean nothing practically in comparison with the question of the undergraduate chapter itself." He advises the man to join that organization which he finds most congenial to himself.

NEED INDIVIDUALS

"College campuses as a whole are conventional enough at best," declares President Chase. "We all know how any sort of fad tends to spread over the whole campus. But there is an even greater pressure toward conformity in the fraternity system than there is outside. When we are hearing so much about the evils of mass production in our institutions and about the evils of standardized thinking and behavior, fraternities ought not to lend their influence to this attempt to turn out a standardized product. They ought to respect individuality. We need individuals in American life, and the fraternities can help in that situation."

FRATS ARE ALOOF

Further, President Chase mentions the criticism that "fraternities persistently hold themselves aloof from things which tsimulate people's minds to a richer and better appreciation of life." Such intellectual pursuits are not considered good form. And thus arises the question whether fraternities are for or against the very thing for which the university is striving.

TREAT FROSH AS KIDS

Lastly the fraternity attitude toward freshmen is considered. Dr. Chase calls it a "hazing attitude." It's aim is to "make men" out of freshmen. But "nobody ever developed a man out of anybody by treating him as a child. Fraternities do not realize the fact that their attitude toward freshmen should be precisely that of older brothers toward younger brothers in whom they are interested, and not that of masters toward slaves. You have a splendid opportunity to help develop men. As it is you are putting a handicap in the way of that opportunity."

KAMPUS KRAX

THEN THERE WAS CLOUGH EATON WHO RETURNED FROM THE WEST WITH THE REMARK THAT HE CAME FROM THE WEST WHERE MEN WERE MEN AND PANSIES WERE FLOWERS.

John Henry—Professor the next room is on fire!

Prof. MacCorkle—Why worry me? Am I in the next room?

Dr. Hartley—Now if you had $5 and loaned Erskine $2 and Jones $1 and Bearden $2, how much would you have left?

Stewart—I wouldn't have no sense.

Tit for Tat

"You haven't darned these socks of mine yet have you," asked the indignant husband.

The calm and collected wife answered demurely, "You haven't bought me a new fall coat have you?"

"No," replied the spouse.

"Then," continued the wife, "If you don't give a wrap I don't give a darn."

DON'T SAY THAT THE GIRL IS SPOILED—IT MAY BE THE PERFUME THAT SHE USES.

Can You Imagine It?

This is the way to write a thoroughly angry business letter:

"Sir, my typist, being a lady, cannot take down what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot write it. You, being neither, can guess it all."—Authorship Unknown.

Heidelberg—What is college?

Veazey—A four year loaf, that takes a lot of dough.

Father—Why are you so far behind in your studies, my son?

Holloway—So that I may pursue them, father.

CATHERINE D.—I SEE WHERE A MAN MARRIED A WOMAN FOR MONEY. YOU WOULDN'T MARRY ME FOR MONEY, WOULD YOU?

DABNEY—WHY, CERTAINLY NOT, MY DEAR! I WOULDN'T MARRY YOU FOR ALL TIE MONEY IN THE WORLD.

Barbour—You know my folks sure are lucky, they don't have to buy me any new books this year.

Pickens—Yeah, how's that?

Barbour—Well, you see, I'm taking all my last year's subjects over again this year.

Mary Allie—Do you think of me at all times, dear?

Malcolm—Not at street crossings, dearest.

"Your father looks very distinguished with his snow-white hair," said the college frosh to his roommate.

"Yes, answered Gammage, he's got me to thank for that."

WILLIS — WELL? THERE'S JUST NO USE TALKING—.

Poor Old Adam

"Aw, Eve, now you've gone and put my dress suit in the salad again."

Prof.—"Can you tell me what makes the Tower of Pisa lean?"

Sanders—"Naw, I wish I did; I'd take some myself."

Frances D.—I hear that the zoologists found a lamb in South America that could run 40 miles an hour.

Dr. Lackey—That's about the only kind of a lamb that could keep up with Mary nowadays.

"Tate," asked Capers, "is it correct to say that you 'water' a horse when he is thirsty?"

"Yeah."

"Well, then," said Capers, picking up a saucer, "I'm going to milk the cat."

He—"Say I could love my girl more if she wasn't so skinny."

She—"You shouldn't say 'skinny;' in the best places they say slender."

He—"Say, listen, in the best places she is skinny."

FROSH LEARN SYSTEM

"Ignorance of the law is no excuse" is a maxim that everyone knows. And it is applicable here on the Southwestern campus.

Freshmen, expected to be dumb in many things, are not expected to be dumb in regard to the honor system. Every student of the school should be, and has the opportunity to be familiar with the strict requirements of that system.

There will be the usual expulsions from the student body for dishonesty in academic work this year unless the new men know what constitutes a violation of the law and what does not. Every freshman ought to safeguard himself by seeing that all work assigned him of a personal nature is done without the help of anyone. This applies to laboratory work as well as to classroom work.

In writing themes it is cheating and a punishable offense to copy the words of a reference book. Of course marked quotations and excerpts are permissible.

It is our belief that most offences against the honor system are committed through ignorance and are not intentional. Therefore stamp out ignorance.

FACULTY RULING GOOD

The faculty ruling to eliminate the evil of roaring motorcycles on the campus during school hours is a good one.

It may seem strange that students should object to something that interferes with class work, but such is the case, and campus opinion is heartily in accord with the action of the faculty.

Excessive racing of engines, either of automobiles or motorcycles, is unnecessary and usually is only a means of attracting attention to the owner who seeks to demonstrate what a dare-devil he is.

It is a wise thing to stop motorcycles from tearing at a breakneck sped through the campus.

LET'S WATCH THE MANNERS

"Spit" may be a horrid word and all that, but something must be said to stop excessive expectoration in the College Store.

An announcement in chapel to the above effect drew the laughs of the student body who took the matter too much as a joke.

In a supposed center of culture such as Southwestern it should be unnecessary to speak to the students about this. But the evil exists and it must be eliminated.

Tobacco chewers, who are entirely within their rights when they chew in private or among those whom they do not offend should the women of the campus. They should have a decent respect for the feelings of others.

When Southwestern becomes a club for thugs, roughnecks, tough eggs, and men of that caliber, spitting will be in vogue. But as long as some pretense of culture and gentlemanliness is alive such offensive practices will not be tolerated.

JUST A BIT OF DORM LIFE

EVERGREEN HALL

We recommend that a telephone service be installed between Red's and Jimmy's rooms and the upstairs corner room in Stewart. Specially for those late conversations.

Cora Lee Coppedge visited her home town last week. She found Rosedale, Mississippi, rather quiet, but she declared that there is nothing like a visit to pep you up.

The K. D.'s Saturday brought several town girls in to spend the night and partake of a bit of dormitory life.

Marjorie Hutton has departed for Cincinnati, and so there'll be no more blues, at least played as she could play them.

Nell Davis has returned from Nashville, where she spent last week-end at a student conference.

CALVIN HALL

Common rumor over Calvin Hall has it that Meeks Hinson, who is not particularly desirous that the freshmen should throw him in the pond, and to warn off any such incident, has placed a sign of complete information and detailed direction over the bed of Jinks Joyner, his roommate. Jinks is High Priest of the Sanhedrin and the freshmen some night in their haste might make a pardonable mistake and induce Hinson to go with them on a ride to the nearest pond. The sign over Joyner's bed reads, "This is Him, Freshmen." Smart Lad!

All this stuff about dormitory students being lazy is a lot of bunk. Proof is given by the fact that two inmates get up at the invigorating hour of six and go out on the track every morning to prepare for the coming cross-country season. Carol Cloar and Freshman Thomas are the two ambitious lads. That's just two. But didn't we say all.

Prayer meetings are held in room 202 every night under the direction of Russell Cross and William Bensberg. The meetings come as a result of the agitation on the part of the Southwestern Christian Union to make the religious life of the campus more predominant.

Nomination for the biggest bullshooter in the entire hall, Bill Walker. You should hear him some time when he gets strung out on a startling tale. It's a treat.

Little Mac (looking at a leopard at the zoo)—"Say, bud, is that the dotted lion that the insurance man spoke about when he lent you his pen?"

"HERE'S WHERE I LOSE GROUND," SAID KNIGHT, AS HE STEPPED INTO THE BATHTUB.

SUE TO LOU

Dear Lou:

Well there is no football game on for this Saturday so there isn't much to say. I think the team is just saving up for the Ole Miss game myself. Too bad about Butch's shoulder. He may be ready to play next Saturday though. Since there is an open afternoon on the calendar you might know somebody would do something about it. Well anyway the Chi O's are having luncheon at their lodge and after that there will be an informal open house.

The A. O. Pi freshettes had a hay ride the end of last week. It was some hay ride too and everybody had a big time!

Kathryn Brown, Anne Galbreath, Emily Wallace and Cordelia Jones, chaperoned by Professor Albert Erskine will make a weekend trip to Nashville, the Vanderbilt-Tulane game being the attraction.

Frances Durham is going up for the game too and not with a crowd of girls either.

Yes you are right. Peggy Walker is wearing a frat pin, and what's more I know what kind it is and who it belongs to. If anybody else wants to know though they'll have to ask her.

Tomorrow night the Varsity Club will have its first dance. It promises to have everything you need for a good time with a big crowd. I can't wait.

I saw Claude McCormick and Dorothy Smith leaving school together yesterday. I wonder if Claude likes Dr. Wisewell very much. Would you?

We all wonder since when Margaret Tallichet and Henry Watkins think they rate sitting in the honor student's section of the library. My, but freshmen are dumb!

Too bad the weather man disapproved of the steak roast. I'll tell you about it next time I write.

Yours,
SUE.

Howry—"How would you like to marry a one-eyed man?"

Henderson—"Not at all."

Howry—"Better let me carry that umbrella then."

Margaret M.—"If you try to kiss me I'll yell for my father."

Razz—"Where is he?"

Margaret M.—"In South America."

ANNUAL STAFF IS CHOSEN NOW

Berson's Announcement Pays Rich Dividends

Response to an announcement made by Bill Berson, Editor-in-Chief of the Lynx, Southwestern annual, was very gratifying. Berson announced in chapel during the week that anyone desiring to work on the editorial staff of the annual should apply to him for a job as soon as possible, and many answered the call the first day. Editor Berson stated that he had plenty of helpers now for every department of the annual work.

Albert Erskine, business manager of the Lynx, has stated that he will organize his staff very soon but is not ready to issue a call for volunteers yet.

Meanwhile work on the annual is progressing with the taking of a new set of views of the campus and the buildings for the 1932 Lynx by E. H. Cassaday, contracted photographer for the annual. All individual pictures of the student body have not yet been taken and effort is being concentrated on the taking of these pictures so as not to delay the edition of the book due to the pictures being late.

DRAMATIC CLUB CHOOSES FROSH

Players Pick New Talent For Work of Year

Try-outs for membership in the Southwestern Players were held last week at which time twelve men students were selected by the judges as having the necessary qualities for membership in the organization. Try-outs for girls will be held in the early part of next week.

MAP OUT PLANS

The Players are planning to put on plays at intervals during the coming year and have mapped out a promising set of plans for the year's work and with the new talent being acquired from the increased membership they are expecting to have an interesting program of entertainments. Their first effort of the season will be the play to be presented tonight in conjunction with the Women's Undergraduate Society entertainment in Hardie Auditorium.

It is hoped that the Players will be able this year to put on a three-act play as the highlight of the season, a feature that was lacking last year as the usual play was incorporated with the annual Glee Club presentation as the "Pirates of Penzance"which was produced at the Ellis Auditorium near the close of the school year. The Players have not yet determined whether or not they will put on the individual production as was the practice in former years.

Electrocute Flies

Northfield, Minn. — Students at Carleton College here are flocking to a Northfield restaurant, not only because of the food, but to get a look at a new type of fly extinguisher.

A spare screen on the windows of the place is charged with 1½ volts of electricity—just enough to electrocute any fly attracted by the cooking. It works.

The King—What were you doing in the Queen's bedroom?

Casnova—Wondering how that Murad slogan is going to work.

Tom—They say that they can't get that dancer to do the hula for less than ten dollars.

Paul—Yes, that's her rock bottom.

Missionary To Mexico Enters School And Has Much of Interest To Relate

Miss Myrtle James Enrolls At Southwestern After Ten Years As Methodist Missionary

Southwestern has a new student. After ten years as a missionary of the Southern Methodist in Mexico, Miss Myrtle James has returned to America on furlough and is planning to spend her year in Memphis atteding college. Miss James is enjoying studying again after having been on the other side of the professorial chair for so many years. But she finds some of the subjects a bit hard to take up again.

Anylitical geometry is an especial source of difficulty, while Spanish, her everyday language for the last ten years, is very easy for her.

ON FURLOUGH

With the exception of a ten months sick leave in 1924, this is Miss James' first furlough since she went to the mission field in 1921. She is stationed in Monterey—Monterey the beautiful, the romantic. And according to Miss James Monterey's charm has not been exaggerated. She says that she has crossed the country of Mexico from border to border and has found no place so splendid in natural beauty as this lovely little city.

TEACHES SCHOOL

Miss James teaches in the instituto Laurens in Monterey. The institute is a school founded by the Rose Bud society which was begun by a group of little children each contributing five cents a week. Now the organization has spread throughout the Southern states and numbers adults among its members.

SCHOOL IS METHODIST

This school thus supported by the Methodists of America is considered the best school in Monterey and is attended by all children, ,Protestants and Catholics, whose parents are anxious to give them the best educational advantage and are willing to set aside religious prejudice to do so.

The last Mexican revolution had its northern outbreak in Monterey, and Miss James tells of how the school was turned into a hospital, a dispensary, and a canteen.

MEXICANS FRIENDLY

Having been entertained in veritable palaces and in the humblest one-room, dirt-floor huts, Miss James likes to speak of the hospitality of the Mexicans of all classes. She says that at first most of the Protestant converts were of the poorer people, but that now many of them come from the upper levels of society. The work is enlarging every day, native workers are replacing missionaries, and the present Protestant bishop of Mexico is himself a Mexican who received his theological training at Vanderbilt University.

Mexican school children are eager to learn, she says, and show remarkable aptness in picking up English. All of the school work is of course conducted in SpSanish, but English is taught in every grade.

Miss James adds that she likes Southwestern very much and is made very happy by the kind and friendly spirit shown by the students here.

Bare Bear Story

When a bear was killed by hunters in Turkey several days ago, a child who was lost four years ago was found with the animal, quite savage in its habits. The child's mother is now attempting to civilize him.

Squad Is Green

Stanford University, Cal. — Coach Jimmy Bradshaw of the Stanford freshman eleven has 63 men on his squad, and not one of them has had any experience as a fullback. Only two on the squad can boast of tackle experience.

Party Is Queer

The annual get-together party of students at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., is called the "I am me, Who are you?" party.

Beg Pardon

All newspapers sometimes make errors which are excusable but painful.

The Sou'wester is sorry that it printed in the last issue an article stating that Dorothy Whitten won the voice contest sponsored by Miss Ray Moore.

Dorothy Whitner, a junior transfer from Brenau, won the contest and will receive the prize of a scholarship of two voice lessons a week at Miss Moore's studio on Snowden avenue.

The obvious similarity of the two names is responsible for the inaccuracy of the article.

The Sou'wester wishes to thank members of the student body who called its attention to the error and wishes to state that it is always open for corrections.

Colleges Help

Washington — President Hoover's organization on unemployment relief has reported that colleges and universities are co-operating to relieve unemployment by making it easier this year for students to finance themselves in college, thus keeping them from joining the thousands seeking work.

HERE'S HOW TO BREAK IN PIPE

Authority Gives Good Way to Treat New Pipes

Cleveland, Ohio.—You college boys who have a tough time breaking in your new pipes, give thanks to Pipe Maker John Bessai, of this man's city, and try out his recipe for taking away that taste of varnish. Here it is:

Mix up a solution of one-half teaspoon of salt in one-eighth glass of water. Fill up the bowl of the pipe with the solution. If it's a straight stem job, hold your finger over the mouthpiece, if it is a curved stem, prop it up against something.

LET IT STAND

Let it stand not longer than ten minutes. Then shake out the water, fill up with tobacco and smoke at once, naturally. The salt crystallizes and forms a crust through which the taste of the wood cannot penetrate.

TWO TYPES OF SMOKERS

There are, whether you know it or not, two types of pipe smokers, hot smokers and cold smokers. The latter have at least four pipes, and smoke each one not longer than three days in succession. Then the pipe goes up to dry, and a fresh one is taken out. A pipe is never allowed to dry without cleaning. Thus a pipe gets a good week's rest between smokes.

Girls? We'd rather see you smoke your cigarets.

Chi Omega Sorority To Give Medal To Nation's Highest Achievement Woman

Distinguished Committee of Women Will Search for American Woman Having Achieved the Most

What American woman has the most notable accomplishment to her credit?

A committee of prominent women, including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the governor of New York, is hunting her. They have eight months in which to find her.

She must have achieved notable accomplishment in one branch of a large field—the professions, public affairs, art, letters, business, finance or education. Her judges will be leading representatives of each of these fields.

GIVE MEDAL

When she is found—and hundreds of eligible names will be canvassed in search for her—she will receive the National Achievement Award, a symbolic medal that is to be awarded next June for the first time.

The award, to be made annually thereafter to an outstanding woman, is sponsored by the national sorority of Chi Omega and is to be presented formally at the 1932 convention of that organization at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., next June.

In announcing the committee on award here today, Mrs. Mary Love Collins, national president of Chi Omega, said:

WOMEN LIKE WOMEN

"We have set up this award to show that women appreciate the abilities of other women and will give credit where credit is due."

Mrs. Roosevelt represents the field of public affairs on the committee on award. She is active in sociological and civic matters and is a member of America's most distinguished family in public affairs.

Miss Marjorie Nicolson, representing the field of letters, is Professor of English and Dean of Smith College. She is also author of a number of articles in her field.

Miss Mary Vail Andress, representing business and finance, is assistant cashier of Chase National Bank, New York. She has an enviable record for Red Cross relief work during the World war and for Near East relief work.

Miss Elizabeth Dyer, representing the field of education, is Director of the School of Household Administration, University of Cincinnati and President of the Ohio State Home Economics Association.

Dr. Beatrice M. Hinkle, representing the professions, opened the first psychotherapeutic clinic in America at Cornell Medical College and is a medical psychoanalysist of note.

Mrs. Laura Gardin Fraser, representing the field of art, is an eminent sculptor, and winner of several medals in her field.

DESIGN MEDAL

The presentation medal was designed by Miss Frances Grimes, a distinguished sculptor of New York, and is a compelling bit of art and symbolism. On one side is the inscription, "Achievement Serves and Ennobles," flanking a woman seated with a torch and spray of wheat in her hands. The torch rests on the ground, emblematic of the idea that it rests on a safe and secure foundation.

On the reverse of the medal appears the words, "Awarded as a Symbol for Achievement," surrounding a grecian altar, with a sprig of laurel on one side and a spray of wheat on the other.

AWARD OF INTEREST

The contemplated award of the Chi Omega medal is of particular interest to the large number of Chi Omegas living in this vicinity. The organization has an alumnae chapter here and an active chapter.

Officers of alumnae chapter are: Miss Roberta Gillis, president; Miss Louise Clark, vicepresident; Mrs. Hugh Raines, secretary; and Mrs. T. M. Deaton, treasurer.

Officers of active chapter are: Miss Anne Hudson, president; Miss Jane Barker, vice-president; Miss Annie Galbreath, secretary, and Miss Eloise Brett, treasurer.

New York.—According to Dr. Herbert E. Bruner, professor of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, more changes in college curriculums are now going on in this country than ever before.

President E. L. Hendricks of Central Missouri State Teachers College, has extended a personal invitation to Mahatma Gandhi to visit Warrensburg and the college campus if he comes to the United States. President Hendricks has met the Mahatma personally.

AGED MAN SAYS LOVE IS GREAT

Famous British Biologist Urges Youth to Love

London.—"Fall in love," is the best possible advice to youth, according to Sir J. Arthur Thomson, famous British biologist, now 70 years of age.

"If I were to give my advice, I would say to young people—fall in love," he declared. "To the middle aged—avoid bad debts. They are payable in old age and they are not pleasant.

"To the aged, I would say: Get young again. Join the society of the Old and Bold."

Falling in love, Sir Arthur declared, is really "rising in love." This chapter of life has more possibilities of uplift than any other, he thinks.

LOVE IS GREAT

"It is a pity that so much emphasis is laid on the physiological and so little on the psychological side of youth," he asserted. "Love is one of the two or three greatest opportunities of life.

"What is love? It has three notes which Browning said made not a sound but a chord. They are:

"Physical fondness, which is indispensable.

"Emotional attraction linked to the purely physical attraction, through the appeal of duty and strength.

"The note often missed altogether of higher sympathies in intelligence, purpose, and ideals which mean decency and good living.

"There is a great tendency to make a scapegoat of sex. The trouble is that youth is so miseducated. The fact is that youth has so few big interests and has ceased to strive after higher values.

"The safeguard is to fall in love."

Syrian Is Good

Philadelphia. — John Driebe of Scranton, candidate for halfback on the Temple University team this year, never saw a football until eight years ago when he first came to this country with his family from Syria. Driebe was a star high school player, showing his heels to many an American-born player who had been brought up with the game.

Co-Eds Battle For Smoking Privilege

Chicago. — In their fight for the right to smoke in sorority houses, co-eds at Northwestern University have used the name of no less than Frances Willard, founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Miss Jean Van Evera, woman's editor of the Daily Northwestern, undergraduate newspaper, said she had discovered in old files of the paper that the temperance leader at least once had been tempted to try a cigaret—and got caught.

"According to the files," Miss Van Evera said, "a preceptress came into Miss Willard's room and saw smoke curling from a bureau drawer. Pulling open the drawer, she was horrified to find a half-burned cigaret. Miss Willard apparently was just like any other girl.

Mrs. Edson Fowler, president of the Quadrangle Club at the University, issued the ban against the smoking in the sorority houses. The club supervises the houses.

MORE STUDENT THIS SEMESTER

National Survey Shows a Rise In City Colleges

Cleveland, Ohio.—American educational leaders this year predicted before the opening of colleges and universities that the depression would tend to increase the number of students attending higher educational institutions in the large cities, and to slightly reduce the number attending colleges and universities in the smaller towns.

The reason given for this prediction was the fact that many students hitherto attending small colleges away from home, would remain at home in the city and attend colleges there, where they could attend classes and still remain at home to eat and sleep, thus cutting down the expenses.

Shortly after the school year opened it appeared that in general the prediction was accurate, although definite figures were not available this week.

LYNX GRIND ON PREPARING FOR OLE MISS TILT

Coaches Slavedrive Team To Put Boys in Shape

AIR GAME IS STRONG Ole Miss Battered But On Their Toes For Game

"Will they do it?" Such is the question that many Southwestern alumns are asking themselves concerning the approaching Ole Miss-Southwestern game.

The Lynx have never been able to push over a victory on the boys from Mississippi, but the whole team to a man says that they will beat the Ole Missers this year, and how.

Coaches Haygood and Miller are putting the squad through some hard paces so that the boys will whitewash the visitors with a vengeance.

SQUAD IN SHAPE

The squad is in fine shape with the exception of Capt. Bill Walker and Butch Love, fleet-footed quarterback, who are now on the hospital list but will be available for the Ole Miss game.

The Southwestern passing defense got a good workout against the accurate passing of Permenter, Millsaps captain, last week. The Lynx broke up all the Millsaps passes that were anywhere near dangerous. However, the short pass defense was not so good.

The pass offense is also getting its share of attention. The backs are learning how to hold that agate and the ends are learning how to get into the clear spots. Southwestern passes spread havoc among the Millsaps pass defense last week, and a few weak points must be brushed up if the boys wish to put the Mississippians to rout.

AIR GAME STRONG

The aerial game of the Lynx should be one of its strong parts of attack against their opponents. You know that old saying that a strong passing attack makes a strong running attack and vice versa.

The Ole Miss team has had something of a suicide schedule this year, having met Tulane, Alabama, and Tennessee on successive Saturdays.

The Ole Miss team has lost three games while the Lynx team has won two and tied one. But the records can't be taken for anything as the two teams have not as yet met the same teams.

and Robert Pugh holding down the other terminal position. McCallum and Bixby are almost sure starters at the tackle positions. Givens and Linton, two 180 pound huskies will start at the guards Churchman is slated to start the game at center.

EAST AT QUARTER

In the backfield Tommy East will call signals from the quarterback position. East received a leg injury during practice this week and in case he isn't able to start Jolly will have charge of the team on the field. Thomas Huckabee and McLemore Elder will begin the game at half back. Big Red McLarty has the fullback position practically sewed up.

I'm the Gink

I'm the rough and tough gink who swaggers about the campus with an air of brutal superiority. I know everybody hates a sissy so I try to be just the opposite and so I cuss and fuss to show I'm not a pansy.

If the dirty jokes are going around, and I usually see that they are, I tell the dirtiest. If there's a little swearing to be done I outdo the others.

But in the College Store I shine most. The space is small so I domineer it with my loud tone and raucous horse laugh. Nobody thinks I'm a sissy, I bet.

I chew tobacco, too, in case you don't know it. That makes me look mannish. And when I want to spit I do so even if girls are present. The old store basket or any corner suffices.

Yes I'm rough and tough and mean and just a rambling, shambling, he-man and I know I'm admired because—I'm the Gink!

Suspend Princeton Players Who Drink

Princeton, N. J.—Students at Princeton University this week are still awaiting word as to whether five varsity football men are suspended for the year or only a week.

The five got in trouble one hot day last week after football practice when they journeyed to a Trenton, N. J., beer joint, and were there caught in the act by a member of the coaching staff.

Princeton's training rules are strict. The five admitted their guilt and turned in their football suits. No one knew how long their punishment would last.

LYNX STORM TO VICTORY OVER MILLSAPS BOYS

Cats Win 14-0, Weather Suitable for Swimming

PASSES GET RIGHT

Line Good On Defense, Backs Tote Ball Well

Neath a blazing sun more suitable for swimming than for football that aggressive Lynx Cat tamed the militant Millsaps Majors to the tune of 14-0 before a lackadaisical crowd on Homecoming Day last Friday down at Jackson, Mississippi. With the thermometer hovering near the century mark both teams were slowed up. However there were thrills galore in a game that threatened to be a 0-0 tie.

MAJORS MARCH

Receiving the ball deep in their own territory, the Lynx punted on first down. With lateral passes, double passes, triple passes and off tackle slants the Majors went marching down the field in a mighty effort to score before the Lynx men could get going. Aided by two penalties the Mississippians advanced to the thirty yard line. Here the Lynx held and punted out of danger. However, the Millsaps boys had tasted sweet yardage and back they came, throwing everything but the water bucket. The first quarter went to the militants as they had the ball most of the time.

LYNX GET GOING

Although both teams were on the point of melting they redoubled their efforts in the second period. It was not till then that Southwestern's powerful offense began to click. With savage bursts of speed and sharp off-tackle slants Newton, High, and Hinson fought their way down the field. But the Majors always held in the shadow of their goal posts.

BARBOUR PASSES

With only three minutes left in the first half Chauncey Barbour, pass slinger supreme, was sent in to the fray. "The Great" Barbour heaved the spheroid to alert receivers so successfully that when the half ended the ball was three yards from the Millsaps goal. Jinx Joyner showed the stuff on this drive down the field, especially on a smashing buck for nine yards through the middle of the Major's forward wall.

LYNX SCORE

When the kickoff whistle sounded for the second half there was a rested Lynx on the field ready to shoot the works. From then on it was the Lynx cat's game. There was no denying the potent smashes and swift end runs. A fine twenty-five yard run by High coupled with a bull's-eye pass from the dependable Herbert Newton put the ball on the Mississippian's five yard line, over which it was taken by Newton. Newton kicked the extra point.

SANDERSON SCORES

The cat had tasted blood and was on a rampage. Through the Millsaps line, around the ends, and through the air the Southwesterners lugged the apple down the field. In the last quarter Soak Sanderson, end, made a most beautiful leap high in the air to receive a fifty yard pass for a touchdown. Newton plunged over for the extra point. The game ended a few minutes later with the Lynx deep in the Major's territory and battering their tottering line to pieces.

BACKS GO GOOD

Considering the terrific heat the Lynx showed up pretty well in the battle but there is a world of work to be done before the team will be ready to take on the tough Ole Miss aggregation. Especially encouraging was the work of the backfield down at Jackson. They were running hard and blocking for each other with a viciousness that brought a pleased smile to Coach Haygood's face. Newton and Hinson ripped through the line time and again for nice gains while High, the Bounding Rubber Man from Bessamer, gave the ends fits. Jinx Joyner played a whale of a game as did Knight and Wamble. Barbour's passing was excellent.

LINE SHOWS STUFF

As for the line, they put up a battle that stopped the highly touted Millsaps offense dead in its tracks. It would be hard to pick the outstanding linesman of the day. Suffice it to say that all seven of these youngsters were playing heads up ball and throwing the Mississippi

CROSS COUNTRY MEN WORK OUT

Without the guiding hand of a regular coach, six Southwestern track men, Perry Bynum, Carol Cloar, Riley McGaughran, Elbert Huffman, Clark Porteus and Freshman Thomas, have been taking regular work-outs during the past two weeks in an endeavor to get in physical trim for the coming cross-country season. No meets as yet have been planned with other colleges, but the members of the team are expecting to run in several races held by different clubs and organizations in the city.

Cross-country activities have been on the wane this year with the resignation of Coach W. C. Rasberry, track coach for the past three years. His teams were highly successful in the past and cross-country had become an important sport.

MOST VETERANS

Most of the aspirants for the team are veterans of many a race and are capable of training themselves. Bynum, member of the team for three years began work at the beginning of last week. McGaughran is beginning his third year on the team and is a certain bet. Huffman and Porteus have been working out regularly and are quickllly rounding into shape. Cloar and Thomas are inexperienced, but will learn the fine points of the running game from the other members of the team.

Ann Harding Stars In "Devotion" at Orpheum

Ann Harding's new RKO Pathe production, "Devotion," her first starring vehicle of the new season, made from Pamela Wynne's well-known novel, "A Little Flat in the Temple," is showing at the RKO Orpheum Theater through next Thursday.

It is a new type of picture for Miss Harding in which she plays a double role—one as her charming self, and the other a dowdy, middle-aged governess.

A cast of extraordinary proportions has been assembled about this always dependable star. Leslie Howard plays the masculine lead, and in lesser roles are such fine character players as O. P. Heggie, Robert Williams, Dudley Digges, Louise Closser Hale, Allison Skipworth, Tempe Pigott, little Douglas Scott and many others. Robert Milton directed.—Adv.

Gay Round Of Social Days Ahead for Chapter

A series of social activities are planned by members of Kappa Delta sorority for the remainder of the month. An informal open house given by one of the members, a Hallowe'en party planned by the chapter, and a Founders' Day banquet are included in the list.

The Founders' Day banquet will be given in the Pompeiian room of the Hotel Peabody, Saturday evening, Oct. 24. The sorority was founded in 1897 and the banquet will be a celebration of its 34th anniversary.

Miss Nelle Martin, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Miss Elizabeth Smith, president of the Southwestern chapter, are in charge of arrangements.

Members of the alumnae chapter will be present as well as active chapter members and pledges.

Miss Catherine Davis will be hostess at an informal open house Saturday evening in her home, 1466 Carr avenue. The guest list will be limited to active chapter members, pledges, their escorts, and a number of stags.

Refreshing punch and cakes will be served during the evening.

The sorority lodge will be the scene of the Halloween open house to be given Friday evening, Oct. 30. The date is the eve of the Howard-Southwestern football game and members of the two teams will be specially invited guests.

The occasion will specially compliment the pledges of the chapter, Misses Dorothy Schoolfield, Rosalee Keenon, Mary Converse, Olive Black, Nancy Dinsmore, Mary Catherine Whitman, Jimmie Kate Johnson, and Gertrude Pullen.

The house will be decorated in the Halloween motif, with orange and black streamers, carnival hats, and confetti adding to the gayety. Guests will be costumed as spooks, ghosts and other apparitions associated with Halloween.

Man To Conquer Space

A book, "The Conquest of Space," by David Lasser, president of the Interplanetary Society, predicts that by 1950 man will be sailing in rocketships to the moon, Mars and Venus, and from continent to continent on earth in a few hours. In an introductory ote, Professor H. H. Sheldon, physicist and engineer of New York University, says that rocket study has already made enormous progress, a fact not generally known.

Chess Wizard Rodney Baine All There When It Comes To Kings, Pawns, & Co.

Frosh Has Uncanny Brain Power and Defeats Haden And Hartley Easily In Time-Honored Game

"Quick, Watson, the needle!"

In this fashion does Rodney Baine, chess player par excellence, sew up his games with the great minds which dare to clash with him in the classic game. In his career as a chess player, Baine has been the bane of existence of many master minds. Behind his canny moves is strung the wreckage of the good Prof. Haden and even Dean Hartley himself then whom there ain't no than whommer as a chess player around these parts.

BAINE IS CHAMP

Baine started out playing chess in Tupelo and soon elevated himself to the championship of that town. In an informal match he quickly disposed of the Mississippi A. & M. chess champion and then soundly thrashed the Ole Miss champ two games out of two in a formal match.

Baine made history at Southwest- three times, lost to him once, and drew one. Dean Hartley lost one game to the freshman and drew the second. All of which means that Rodney knows his pawns.

LAD HAS BRAINS

To prove that there really is a great brain behind his chess game Baine scored 198 on the Southwestern Intelligence Test, nine points higher than the highest mark made by the freshman class of last year.

Baine works on all the chess problems that appear in the local papers. He has solved extra difficult problems composed by experts, sometimes arriving at two solutions, much to the disgust of the composers.

Baine takes delicate care of his brain. Dame Rumor has it that he eats a head of lettuce every night just before retiring so that he will have plenty of mental energy to carry him through the gruelling contests of the next day. His calesthenics consist of seventeen deep breaths every morning on arising and nine full knee bends.

When asked how he got that way Baine replied, "I am just a normal American boy. As a youth I walked twelve miles to school every day and chopped wood."

John Henry Sorry

Among the many who were sorry that the Southwestern Christian Union steak roast at Piney Woods had to be postponed on account of wet weather was John Henry, aged campus darkey, who has been in the service of Southwestern for 37 years.

John Henry was "aiming" to go with the students.

The exclusive Chesterfield Cross-Blend is like that. It does much more than merely mix together a few tobaccos, as in ordinary blending. It actually unites the best qualities of one type of tobacco with the best qualities of other types.

Each brings out the best in the other—creating extra mildness, natural sweetness, and far better taste.

Chesterfield holds everlastingly to higher standards—

BETTER TOBACCOS, the mildest and ripest tobaccos that can be bought.

BETTER PAPER, pure, odorless, tasteless—the finest made.

BETTER MANUFACTURE, every step made safe by the highest scientific standards.

Nobody smokes a better cigarette than Chesterfield. And nobody ever will.
