Monday, March 10, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Corinthians 3:18)
God, forgive my suspicious spirit. When new ideas are expressed, I listen with a negative ear, to find fault. I want everything to be my idea. God, heal my contentious mind and my need to get the credit. Give me a gentle, listening heart, a desire to understand others' views, and a willingness to change and to let others have the credit. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Tuesday, March 11, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Corinthians 2:9-10)
God, I was blind, but now I see. Thank You for opening my eyes to see beyond the physical and horizontal only. Thank You for opening my eyes to spiritual reality, where Your forgiveness becomes real, and where life is eternal. God, thank You for opening my eyes to behold Your majesty. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Wednesday, March 12, 2008 -- (Meditation: Philippians 4:6-7)
God, when I look at tomorrow, I don't know where I'll fit in. With competition, mergers, and new technology, my experience has less value. I'm not getting any younger. I'm scared. In the jostling between young ambition and old experience, I may not fit in. Grant me the strength to do the best I can, trusting You for the needs of tomorrow and for the peace that passes understanding. Through Christ, my Lord. Amen.

Thursday, March 13, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Peter 1:3)
God, I pray for those who are being manipulated by anger and threats . . . for those who are being manipulated by too much praise . . . and for those who are being manipulated by those who whine "poor me" to get what they want. God, give them courage to confront their abusers. Give them the self assurance that comes from knowing that they are loved by You, and the self-confidence that comes from trusting in You. Through Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen.

Friday, March 14, 2008 -- (Meditation: Proverbs 19:21)
God, I have accepted Your Son as my Savior. It is His lordship over my life that I have trouble with. Somehow, I think I know, better than You, what is best for my life. Only when I mess things up do I pray for Your help. O God, help me to realize, once again, that YOUR plan for my life is best. You know what I need -- both long term and short term. Help me to let go, and let You be in control of my life. Help me to surrender my will to Yours every day, knowing that You love me and forgive me. Help me to be a disciple as well as a believer. Amen.

Want to give Prayers At Work to friends?
Simply click "Reply" and send me their e-mail addresses.
Thank you. Jim Daughdrill
© Copyright 2008 James H. Daughdrill, Jr
Monday, March 10, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Corinthians 3:18)
God, forgive my suspicious spirit. When new ideas are expressed, I listen with a negative ear, to find fault. I want everything to be my idea.
God, heal my contentious mind and my need to get the credit. Give me a gentle, listening heart, a desire to understand others' views, and a willingness to change and to let others have the credit. In Jesus' name.
Amen.

Tuesday, March 11, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Corinthians 2:9-10)
God, I was blind, but now I see. Thank You for opening my eyes to see beyond the physical and horizontal only. Thank You for opening my eyes to spiritual reality, where Your forgiveness becomes real, and where life is eternal. God, thank You for opening my eyes to behold Your majesty.
In Jesus' name. Amen.

Wednesday, March 12, 2008 -- (Meditation: Philippians 4:6-7)
God, when I look at tomorrow, I don't know where I'll fit in. With competition, mergers, and new technology, my experience has less value.
I'm not getting any younger. I'm scared. In the jostling between young ambition and old experience, I may not fit in. Grant me the strength to do the best I can, trusting You for the needs of tomorrow and for the peace that passes understanding. Through Christ, my Lord. Amen.

Thursday, March 13, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Peter 1:3)
God, I pray for those who are being manipulated by anger and threats . . . for those who are being manipulated by too much praise . . . and for those who are being manipulated by those who whine "poor me" to get what they want. God, give them courage to confront their abusers. Give them the self assurance that comes from knowing that they are loved by You, and the self-confidence that comes from trusting in You. Through Jesus Christ, my Lord. Amen.

Friday, March 14, 2008 -- (Meditation: Proverbs 19:21)
God, I have accepted Your Son as my Savior. It is His lordship over my life that I have trouble with. Somehow, I think I know, better than You, what is best for my life. Only when I mess things up do I pray for Your help.
O God, help me to realize, once again, that YOUR plan for my life is best.
You know what I need -- both long term and short term. Help me to let go, and let You be in control of my life. Help me to surrender my will to Yours every day, knowing that You love me and forgive me. Help me to be a disciple as well as a believer. Amen.

Want to give Prayers At Work to friends?
Simply click "Reply" and send me their e-mail addresses.
Thank you. Jim Daughdrill
© Copyright 2008 James H. Daughdrill, Jr
Prayers At Work, Inc., 4646 Poplar Ave, Suite 543,