A Message From The President

On the first of July our much honored and much beloved president entered into a new relationship with Southwestern. Dr. Rhodes, whose service to the college spans an entire working career, now becomes Consultant for the Sciences. He will bring his great knowledge and wisdom to bear effectively for the benefit of Southwestern with the same vigor and vision which have characterized thirtynine years of service.

Alumnus Olim, Aeternum Amicus

Brought here by Dr. Charles E. Diehl from another place—who needs to say where—he proved himself a master teacher of physics, a formidable tennis player, and an altogether charming son of the Old Dominion. In his sixteen years as president, eleven major buildings have been constructed, and perhaps the jewel in the crown of his tenure is the now abuilding Thomas W. Briggs Student Center. It has been waggishly suggested that Dr. Rhodes will be long remembered as the guiding spirit who moved the Lynx Lair from a basement to a castle.

The history of any college can be written in the names of its benefactors, and during the years of Dr. Rhodes's presidency, the names of Burrow, Ellett, Bellingrath, Townsend, Briggs, Moore, and Halliburton have taken their hallowed places on the fabric of the college. Under Dr. Rhodes's leadership other equally tangible, if somewhat less obvious, advances were realized in the resources of Southwestern. The endowment rose in book value from $2,849,000 to approximately $5,000,000. Faculty salaries leapt from an average well under $5000 (the range was from $2000 to $5000) to an average just under $10,000. At the same time the student body grew in size and in academic stature: in 1949 there were 644 students; in 1965, 980 students, of whom 570 will be housed by the college.

The campus has been buzzing with construction this summer. The Thomas W. Briggs Student Center now rises majestically above the hubbub of masons and builders. North Hall, splendid in its newness, is now occupied by 124 men. A new parking lot has been completed in front of the Mallory Memorial Gymnasium, and additional parking areas have been developed at the Snowden Avenue entrance and along the mall in front of Palmer Hall. The second phase of the planned facilities at Fargason Field will be completed in time to provide adequate seating for thirty-five hundred spectators at our football games this season. We hope that as many of you as possible will attend these games.

The climax to Dr. Rhodes's long and distinguished career as president was attained at the dinner given for him and Mrs. Rhodes by their many friends in Memphis on June 23. On that occasion it was announced that the Ford Foundation had made Southwestern a Challenge Grant of $1,900,000 to be matched on a ratio of one dollar for every two secured during the next three years. The Ford Foundation has thus given Dr. Rhodes and the faculty a well-deserved honor for their academic achievement and their forward looking goals, and the Foundation has, with equal significance, recognized the generous support the college has received from all its friends. It should be emphasized that one of the major criteria used by the Foundation in making such grants is a college's past record of contributions. We can be pleased that the Foundation was sufficiently encouraged to offer Southwestern this challenge to raise its sights and to continue its record of achievement.

The success of history now becomes the challenge of the future.

HOMECOMING

It's RUSH RUSH RUSH RUSH! Yes, rush is the word around campus with everyone making plans for HOME-COMING, October 16th. Sororities and fraternities are working hard to get their displays up; committees are planning their last minute details; and the coaches are getting the team in shape for what promises to be the biggest Homecoming day yet!

The action starts Friday night, October 15 with a torchlight rally behind Mallory Memorial Gymnasium at 8:00 p.m. This is guaranteed to get everyone in high gear for the big day.

At 10:30 Saturday morning the judging of sorority/fraternity displays will begin. Then at 11:00 a.m. everyone is invited to see the new Southwestern movie, "To Meet Tomorrow" in Hardie Auditorium.

The Homecoming Luncheon is on the agenda at 12:15 in William Neely Mallory Memorial Gymnasium. Guests of honor will be the 1965 Homecoming royalty and all former homecoming royalty. The Southwestern Women of Memphis will present "mums" as favors to all the women who attend the luncheon

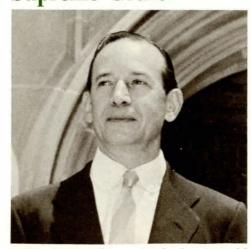

At 2:00 p.m. Southwestern's game with Millsaps will be held at Fargason Field. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 50c for children. Any child wearing a "Buddy Button" will be admitted free. During the half-time festivities, the Homecoming Queen and her court will be presented. Following the big game, fraternities and sororities will hold open house for all alumni and guests at 4:00.

Climaxing the exciting day, the Homecoming dance will be held at Rainbow Terrace. From 8:00 to 12:00 p.m. couples can dance to the music of the "Trendells." Tickets are $5.00 per couple and all alumni are invited. Make plans now to attend Homecoming this year. It will be a gala affair for all.

High Honor to SW Alumnus Fortas on Supreme Court

The highest honor in the legal world was bestowed upon Abe Fortas '30 in July, when President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed the Southwestern graduate to the Supreme Court.

The President indicated that Fortas, a former Memphian, was the first choice for the high tribunal, and added that he is recognized by leaders in many walks of life "as one of the nation's most able and respected citizens."

He was graduated with honors from Southwestern, and was the first winner of the Peres Memorial Scholarship named for Chancellor Israel Peres. In three years on the debating team, he helped score 17 victories. The team's three defeats were all away from home.

After his brilliant record at Southwestern, he went on to other high academic honors at Yale Law School, where he later taught.

Testimonial Dinner For Dr. and Mrs. Rhodes

Dr. and Mrs. Peyton N. Rhodes were honored with a testimonial dinner at Memphis Country Club June 23, 1965, prior to his retirement the following week. About 350 business officials, civic and social leaders, and educators gathered to pay tribute to their friend who had served as president of Southwestern At Memphis for sixteen years.

A framed scroll and a City Commission resolution honoring Dr. Rhodes were presented to "two of the first citizens of Memphis" by Mr. A. Van Pritchartt, chairman of the college's board of directors.

Dr. Rhodes spoke seriously about the responsibilities as president of Southwestern, but aimed a few remarks at the light side of the job.

A day's work was described as often a "daily avalanche of change" in which he might give advice about roses one minute and then discuss with a parent a student's problems.

Ford Foundation Grants

A major highlight of the evening was the announcement of a $1,900,000 grant to Southwestern At Memphis from the Ford Foundation. The grant is to be matched by $3,800,000 over a three year period.

Guest speaker for the dinner was Dr. John Osman, former faculty member and now senior staff member of the Brookings Institution in Washington, D. C. Dr. Osman, who also spoke at the college's recent commencement exercises, praised the past successes of Southwestern and predicted its strong role in the future of the nation and the Mid-South "in a post-industrial society where the emphasis is on ideas."

Pressures In The 1960's

With the impact of the Space Age and the population explosion on higher education becoming more apparent in the middle of the 1960's, there are both optimistic and cynical views of the future of liberal arts education.

More than twenty-five years ago, Alfred North Whitehead wrote the following: "Every epoch has its character determined by the way its populations react to the material events which they encounter. This reaction is determined by their basic beliefs-by their hopes, their fears, their judgments of what is worthwhile. They may rise to the greatness of an opportunity, seizing its drama, perfecting its art, exploiting its adventure, mastering intellectually and physically the network of relations that constitutes the very being of the epoch. On the other hand, they may collapse before the perplexities confronting them. How they act depends partly on their courage, partly on their intellectual grasp."

Some of the pressures in the 1960's which constitute this challenge are: one, the total amount of knowledge that must be communicated (as balanced against new teaching techniques); two, the greater number who will seek education in this country over the next few years; and three, the expansion of facilities and faculties to meet this challenge. At a conservative estimate the number of students able to do college work and seeking to go to college can be expected to double between 1960 and 1970, and triple by 1980. It will then continue upward at a less dramatic rate. It is therefore estimated that total operating costs of colleges will rise from a 1961-62 level of 4.3 billion dollars to a 1980 level of 15 billion dollars. To put it another way, personal gross income in the United States will probably double while operating expenses of higher education will increase by four times in this period. Obviously this will present a demand and a challenge, but we can afford it if we wish to have the finest in education. As an educator recently expressed it: financing higher education is a problem of policy, not of resources.

Cost of Education

What does this mean when translated into individual students and the problems of specific institutions? It would seem that a college education will cost between $5,000 and $25,000 for a four-year degree, depending on the location and type of the institution.

There will of course be an increasing number of scholarships and loans, but support for both public and private institutions must be greatly strengthened and increased if budgets are to be balanced during the decade. Alumni, church and corporate support are being supplemented to an increasing degree by the very significant grant programs of some of the large foundations, as well as a massive research, loan and grant program on the part of the Federal Government.

In addition to these external pressures of numbers of students and requirements of faculty and facilities, there are certain broad trends within the campus community which are greatly affecting the pattern of higher education in this country. These are briefly as follows:

A basic change in the academic calendars of some colleges. This involves a shift for example to the tri-mester system at such places as Bates College and the University of Pittsburgh. Under some of these arrangements, the first semester runs from early September to December, the second semester from January to late April, and the third semester in May and June, with a vacation in July and August.

2 A massive increase in research.

3 The creation and development of dozens of new colleges which are opening up throughout the country with conventional and experimental curricula.

4 The rise of master plans for states in higher education, whereby all of the state's universities, junior colleges, teacher colleges are brought under one system with a common chancellor, board, etc. (This is the pattern that is now being established in North Carolina, Georgia, California, etc. as opposed to that which one sees in a state such as Tennessee or Mississippi.)

The tremendous development of community (junior) colleges as well as senior colleges. (For example, in Florida there are thirty-one state junior colleges.)

The recognition of a permanent relationship between the Federal Government and the college or university.

7 An increase in certain curriculum innovations such as inter-disciplinary study. (This is an attempt to avoid what someone has called the huge cafeteria of specialized courses which have been created in some institutions to meet the often conflicting demands of professional and graduate schools.)

8 Independent study programs and comprehensive examinations. (These involve a greater burden of responsibility on the individual student who spends a smaller proportion of his time in class.)

Advanced standing. (Colleges for several years now, have experimented with the possibility of taking high school graduates directly into advanced courses in the college or university. For example, Harvard in recent years has taken 150 high school graduates directly into its sophomore class. Cornell has just announced that they will allow 40 selected students to obtain their Ph. D. degree in a six-year span.)

The increase in area studies such as an added emphasis on the non-Western world.

11 In addition to these more sweeping changes which have taken place, there has been a change in the content as well as the form of many college courses. This has been especially true in mathematics, languages, and English, basic science courses, etc.

Critics' Comments

There are of course some critics, both friendly and cynical, who view the developments which are taking place with mixed emotions. There is no doubt that the liberal arts college such as Southwestern must adjust to meet the pressures and trends of the Space Age. However there are those who warn that these adjustments or reactions to pressures may be a dangerous rather than a desirable evolution. For example, the late Dean Devane of Yale expressed the thought that, "The old ideal of the liberal college with its roughly common curriculum and its habits of discipline and order is better preserved perhaps in the small independent college than in the college in the university, where there are so many rival claims. Both kinds of college, however, have yielded many positions to pressures which are exerted by an affluent, materialistic and egalitarian society. The university colleges set the pace, but the small colleges follow. The tangible results of our social development may be seen in the enormous proliferation of colleges throughout the country, their eager hospitality to all applicants, their often frivolous and scandalous award of scholarships, their vast and indiscriminate programs of study, their casual intellectual standards and their elaborate development of athletics and other side shows. The public, with its low appreciation of learning, thinks of the college as a place where a career in athletics may be begun, good connections may be made, and a glossy social patina may be acquired. For its graduates the college provides a home for a hearty loyalty which one may cherish with a clear conscience and even a sense of virtue. In a violently iconoclastic age one does not easily surrender such a pleasant idolatry.'

There is little doubt that new patterns of higher education are emerging in this country. There is a definite shift from the Southwestern, Sewanee, Washington and Lee type of institution to the Memphis State University or University of California type of multiversity. The pattern for a state will probably become a series of small liberal arts colleges, a group of public, junior or community colleges scattered over the state, a group of private universities and a few public institutions such as Memphis State University, which will have a minimum of 15,000 students, and at least one large multiversity such as the University of Tennessee which will probably have up to 40,000 or 50,000 students by 1970.

The problem therefore is that the small college which had a certain 'personality" but at times lacked intellectual scope and stimulus is now tending to disappear, whereas the multiversity which has a certain degree of intellectual stimulation as a result of its research activity is perhaps lacking in personality.

In Conclusion

What is the impact of all of this on the individual student? The chancellor of the University System of North Carolina expressed the challenge and the problem when he said in a recent address, "On many campuses the student is treated as a surplus commodity and tolerated because it is customary to have his kind around." This is the sober warning that is quite appropriate today in the light of the pressures of 1965-66. In this decade, as never before, a college such as Southwestern has the responsibility to produce truly educated men and women of ability, character and integrity who, in the words of Dr. Nathan Pusey, President of Harvard University, "Through their beliefs and actions will go on to renew and strengthen true quality in the world's life; men and women of knowledge and faith who, ready to learn from others, will make an effort at honest appraisal of their culture, will recognize both its strength and its weakness, will try to see these aspects separately and fairly, and who then, not complaining or criticizing unreasonably, or turning away in supercilious indifference, will steadfastly set about working where they can-first of all perhaps with themselves-to improve that culture and to make not its shabbiness but its greatness available to others.'

TRANSFER OF THE CHECK from Mr. R. L. Goad, representing Gulf Oil, to Dr. A. O. Canon, representing Southwestern.

Numerous National Firms Help to Support Southwestern GULF GIVES UNRESTRICTED GRANT

Southwestern At Memphis has received a $1,000 unrestricted cash grant from Gulf Oil Corporation. Mr. R. L. Goad, area sales manager of Gulf, presented the check to Dr. Alfred O. Canon '44, dean of alumni and development.

It was one of 584 awards, totaling $595,500 that Gulf is distributing this year as direct, unrestricted grants to as many universities and colleges under its Aid-To-

Education Program.

In addition to direct grants, the other phases of Gulf's comprehensive Educational Assistance program include capital grants; Gulf merit scholarships to children of employees and annuitants; employee gift-matching to colleges; departmental assistance grants; graduate fellowships; and faculty supplementation grants.

Institutions eligible for direct grants are those which are privately operated and controlled, and which obtain a major portion of their financial support from non-tax sources.

Fourteen Join Faculty

At the beginning of the 117th session in September, Southwestern welcomed 14 new professors.

Dr. George M. Apperson comes to Southwestern as assistant professor of history from a former teaching position at Delta State in Cleveland, Mississippi. Dr. Apperson received his B.D. from Davidson College, Davidson, North Carolina in 1949 and his Ph.D. from the University of Virginia in May, 1964.

Mr. Edward A. Barnhardt, a Southwestern graduate, returns as assistant professor of physics. He received his B.S. from Southwestern in 1959 and his M.S. degree from Vanderbilt University in 1961. He has done particular research in the field of nuclear radiation effects. He has taught at Vanderbilt and at Western Kentucky State College. He and his wife, Judy, have two children, Ross Edward and Kathryn Lynn.

Dr. Richard Alexander Batey joins the faculty of Southwestern as acting assistant of Bible and religion. Dr. Batey was graduated from David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tennessee in 1955 with a B.A. degree magna cum laude. He received his B.D. degree from Vanderbilt University Divinity School in '58 and his Ph.D. in '61 from Vanderbilt Graduate School. He formerly taught at Harding Graduate School of Religion in Memphis, Tennessee. Dr. and Mrs. Batey have three

Mary Ellen Burton serves as visiting instructor of French and English on the Southwestern faculty. Miss Burton received her B.A. degree from Duke University, and her M.A. from the University of Arkansas. She has pursued graduate study at the Aix-en-Provence, France, where she was assistant d'anglais. Formerly she was a graduate assistant at the University of Arkansas in French and freshman English.

Dr. H. Franklin Clendenen joined the faculty of Southwestern as assistant professor of anthropology. He received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of California, Berkely, California. His Ph.D. was received from the University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon. He has taught at Western State College of Colorado and at the University of Arkansas. Dr. Clendenen and his wife, Gloria, have three children.

Dr. Yerger Hunt Clifton, who is an assistant professor of English on the Southwestern faculty, received his B.A. degree from Duke University, and his M.A. degree from the University of Virginia. Dr. Clifton received his Ph.D. from Trinity College, Dublin, and also studied at Oxford University and the University of Munich. He has formerly taught at William and Mary and at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Robert M. Cooper joined the faculty as associate professor of English, having received his B.A. from Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, and his M.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton. Dr. Cooper formerly taught at Roanoke College, Salem, Virginia. He writes a column for the Memphis Press-Scimitar entitled "Once Over Lightly." Dr. and Mrs. Cooper have a son, Robert, and a daughter, Ellen.

Mr. Douglas W. Hatfield came to Southwestern as an instructor in history from the University of Tennessee. He received his B.A. degree from Baylor University and M.A. from the University of Kentucky. His particular field of research is mid-nineteenth century Austrian history and he is completing his doctoral dissertation entitled: The German Policy of Prince Felix zu Schwarzenberg, 1848-52.

Mr. William Thomas Jolly, a graduate of Southwestern receiving his B.A. in 1952, joined the faculty as associate professor of classics. He received his M.A. degree from the University of Mississippi and is now a candidate for a Ph.D. at Tulane University. He formerly taught at Millsaps College in Jackson, Mississippi.

Mr. Robert A. Kitterer joined the faculty of Southwestern as assistant professor of political science. He received both his A.B. and M.A. degrees from Washington University, and also attended the University of Illinois. He has done particular research in the field of American government and politics. Mr. Kitterer formerly taught at Lindenwood College, a Presbyterian college for women, in St. Charles, Missouri.

Mr. Alvin H. Overbeck comes to the faculty of Southwestern as associate professor of German. He received his B.S. degree from Austin Peay State College in Clarksville, Tennessee, and is presently a candidate for an M.A. degree in German at the University of Mississippi. He has studied at the University of Minnesota, the University of Maryland, and at Monterey Pacific College. Mr. Overbeck is a retired major in the U.S. Army and has three children.

Mrs. Robert (Elaine) Rees joined the faculty as instructor in romance languages. She received her B.A. and M.A. degrees from Pacific Union College in Angwin, California, and received special education at Alliance Française and at Conservatoire de Geneve. Formerly Mrs. Rees taught at the Instituto Colombo-Venezolano, Colombo, South America, and at Modesto Junior College and Modesto Academy, Modesto, California. She and her husband have one child, Roger Lynn, age 51/2.

Dr. Herbert W. Smith is a part-time visiting instructor in psychology on the Southwestern faculty. He received his B.A. and M.A. from East Texas State, and his Ph.D. degree from Florida State University. He did work at the University of Tennessee as a Post-Doctoral trainee. His major research interests lie in the measurement problems in the behavioral sciences.

Mr. Joseph Russell Cave joined the faculty as part-time instructor in art. Mr. Cave studied at the University of Georgia and received his B.F.A. from San Francisco Art Institute in California.

He received his M.A. from San Francisco State College and his specialty field is painting. He has participated in several art shows.

117th Session Underway NORTH HALL OPENS

Friday, September 17, 1965 marked the beginning of the 117th session of Southwestern. The opening convocation, held in Hubert F. Fisher Memorial Garden on the campus, was highlighted with an address by Southwestern's new president, Dr. David Alexander '53.

Dr. Ray Allen '44, dean of admissions, and Mr. John Turpin '55, registrar, have announced that this is the largest entering group in Southwestern's history, comprising a total of 359 freshmen and transfer students!

New Residence Hall

The new men's residence hall, termed "North Hall" for the present, is being occupied this fall for the first time. The impressive $700,000 collegiate gothic structure, designed by longtime college architect H. Clinton Parrent of Nashville, is located along University Street just west of the Moore Moore Infirmary, and south of fraternity row.

The campus entrance at University and Snowden Streets has been enlarged and revamped, with a large parking area adjacent to North Hall. Old Stewart Hall on University will now be used for college purposes other than living quarters, as 124 male students will be housed in the new building.

Completely air conditioned, and combining the best features of present residence halls, North Hall's three wings will be adaptable for summer meetings of Church and continuing education groups.

Three Departments to Benefit NSF DONATES $18,900

Southwestern has received an $18,900 grant from the National Science Foundation as announced by president David Alexander. This falls under the National Science Foundation's continuing program of Undergraduate Research Participation to institutions of higher education. These grants are awarded once a year and are intended to assist colleges and universities in the development and maintenance of strong, well-balanced programs of research and education in the sciences.

The grant to Southwestern will be divided among the physics department ($1400), the biology department ($8400), and the chemistry department ($9100).

Under the direction of Mr. Frederick R. Stauffer, assistant professor of physics, the physics department will make radiometric studies of terrestrial and extra-terrestrial atmospheres including solar, stellar and planetary atmosphere.

The biology department, under the direction of Dr. Robert Lewis Amy, professor of biology, proposes these four areas of biological investigation:

1. Morphology of urogenital systems of various salamanderssupervised by Dr. Clinton L. Baker.

Effects of ultraviolet light on development of the wasp, Habrobracon - supervised by Dr. R. L. Amy.

3. Morphology and taxonomy studies in acoelomate invertebrates-supervised by Dr. Julian T. Darlington.

4. Genetic mapping studies in a strain of bacteriophage—supervised by Dr. Donald W. Fattig.

In the chemistry department the students will have the option of working in any of four areas.

1. Mechanisms in Free Radical Chemistry—supervised by Dr. Richard D. Gilliom, director of the program.

2. Carbanion Chemistry—supervised by Dr. Helmuth M. Gilow.

Analytical Biochemistry-supervised by Dr. Harold Lyons.

Reaction Kinetics—supervised by Dr. Raymond T. Vaughn.

The grant will extend from the fall of 1965 through the summer of 1966.

New to the Staff of Southwestern is the Reverend Mr. Edwin Witte Stock, Jr. '59, director of church relations and development. He will seek to develop closer ties between the college and its constituent supporting four synods.

Mr. Stock received his B.A. from Southwestern in philosophy and his B.D. from Union Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Richmond, Virginia. He received his Masters of Sacred Theology (S.T.M.) from Yale University Divinity School, New Haven, Connecticut. His particular field of research is Ethics-Sociology of Religion.

Mr. Stock was formerly pastor of Creedmoor Presbyterian Church, Toca, Louisiana, and of Carolyn Park Presbyterian Church in Arabi, Louisiana. He lives at 2997 Invergarry with wife, Martha Dale, and son, Edwin W. Stock III.

PARENTS' DAY 1965

October 30 will be Parents' Day at Southwestern this year. The special occasion will give parents of Southwestern students an opportunity to become better acquainted with the campus, the faculty, the courses of study, and many other facets of life at Southwestern.

Plans for the day include a morning coffee in the Adult Education Center, at which time parents will register, meet informally the faculty and staff of the College, and visit with each other. Classes will meet as usual and parents will be encouraged to accompany their children or visit whatever classes they desire. A complete class schedule will be provided.

A luncheon at noon, highlighted by an address by President David Alexander and entertainment by members of the student body, will precede a football game with The University of The South. Following this thrilling event, dormitories, fraternities, and sororities will hold "open house" for all visitors.

In the evening, the annual Kappa Delta "All-Sing" competition will climax a memorable day.

For many parents, this day affords an annual occasion for renewing friendships and making new acquaintances. For all, it is a "welcomed" event at Southwestern.

"To Meet Tomorrow"

The new Southwestern movie, "To Meet Tomorrow," is now available! This is the second sound/color motion picture of Southwestern. Both movies were produced and directed by Bob Ward and photographed by cameraman Buddy Morgan of the National Cotton Council.

The scenario, written by alumna Mrs. E. G. Ballenger (Elizabeth Ann Mahan '33), is designed to exemplify the church-related aspect of the college and to display the ideals of the institution as revealed in the day-to-day life of an average student. From the football field to the classroom . . . from the laboratory to a campus snowball fight . . . the movie presents a look into the fascinating world of collegiate activity! It stars hundreds of students, alumni, and faculty.

The fifteen minute movie will be of interest to civic, church, and alumni groups, and will be utilized by the development, public relations, and admissions departments of the college. If you desire to present this film to your club or group, write the public relations office of Southwestern At Memphis, 2000 North Parkway, and give three alternate dates if possible.

NASHVILLE ALUMNI MEETING

An alumni-parents meeting was held in Nashville on Sunday, July 25 at 7:00 p.m. at the home of alumnus J. W. Wood '41, 4424 Granny White Pike. There was an informal program during which President Alexander '53 spoke and answered questions on the future plans of the college.

Mrs. David K. Wilson, member of the Southwestern Board of Directors: her mother, Mrs. Justin Potter; the Reverend Mr. Henry R. Mahler, Jr.; Dean Alfred O. Cannon '44 and Mrs. Canon (Betty Brown '49); and Mrs. David Alexander (Catharine Coleman '55) were among those attending.

Alumni attending were: Mr. and Mrs. David F. Salmon (Maxine Bozeman '43) and daughter Donna; Mr. W. P. Puryear '32; Dr. Stephen Schillig '49; Mr. Herman J. Kaplan '50; Mrs. William Purvear (Claudia Owen '55) and her husband Bill Puryear; Juanita Shettlesworth '62; Lynn Bartlett '64; Elizabeth W. Cooper '30 and her husband A. B. Cooper; Lela Garner '63; and Robert H. Kincaid '38 and his Parents and students attending were: Mr. and Mrs. M. Duncan Currey, Jr. and daughter Mary; Mrs. T. Henry Evans and daughter Helen; Dr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Klein and son Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Steele, Sr. and son Don: Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Anderson and H. R. Anderson, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Barr, Jr., parents of James Victor III; Patricia Cayce; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Cooper, Jr. and daughter Trish; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Eason, parents of Glen Wilder; Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Everhart, parents of Michael Charles; Mr. and Mrs. B. Roy Kennedy, Jr., parents of John Lee; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Logan and son Ed; Mr. and Mrs. Ples McDonald; Mr. and Mrs. George S. Parrish and son Joel; Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Simpson; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith and son Jim; Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Tramel and son Jim; Mr. and Mrs. James R. Walker; and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Weaver and daughter Mary.

SOUTHWESTERN WOMEN OF MEMPHIS

The new officers for the academic year 1965-66 for the Southwestern Women of Memphis are as follows:

President Mrs. Joseph Sammons (Louise Blue '42)

Vice President......Mrs. Wells Awsumb (Gwen Robinson '37)

Secretary..... Mrs. James Dunn (Barbara Dean '42)

Mrs. Harris Bailey Treasurer.... (Mary Margaret Page '42)

Mrs. Sammons has announced the '65-66 schedule of meetings as follows: Thursday, September 30, there will be a coffee at 10:30 a.m. at the AOPi House. Dr. Alexander will be the guest and Dean Alfred O. Canon will speak on Southwestern's plans for the future.

Wednesday, January 26, 1966 the highlight of the year will be a 12:00 luncheon at the exciting New Summit Club atop the First National Bank Building. The club hopes to have a fashion show of new cruise fashions with a renowned personality as featured guest.

The Kappa Delta House will be the place for the meeting on Wednesday, March 30. There will be a "Snack Fest" at 12:00 noon.

Then at Commencement time a 4:00 tea will honor the graduating seniors. This will be held in the Burrow Library.

All women who have attended Southwestern are invited to these meetings, so come on and join in on the festivities ahead. This is guaranteed to be the best year yet!

Class of 1894

The Rev. Mr. John B. Gordon, of 2033 Elizabeth Avenue, Winston-Salem, N. C., is the recipient of the ODK walking cane, in recognition of his status as Southwestern's oldest living alumnus. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are now ninety-seven years of age, appreciated the honor extended to him by Omicron Delta Kappa, and are very much interested to know of the great progress that has been made at Southwestern since his college days.

Class of 1900

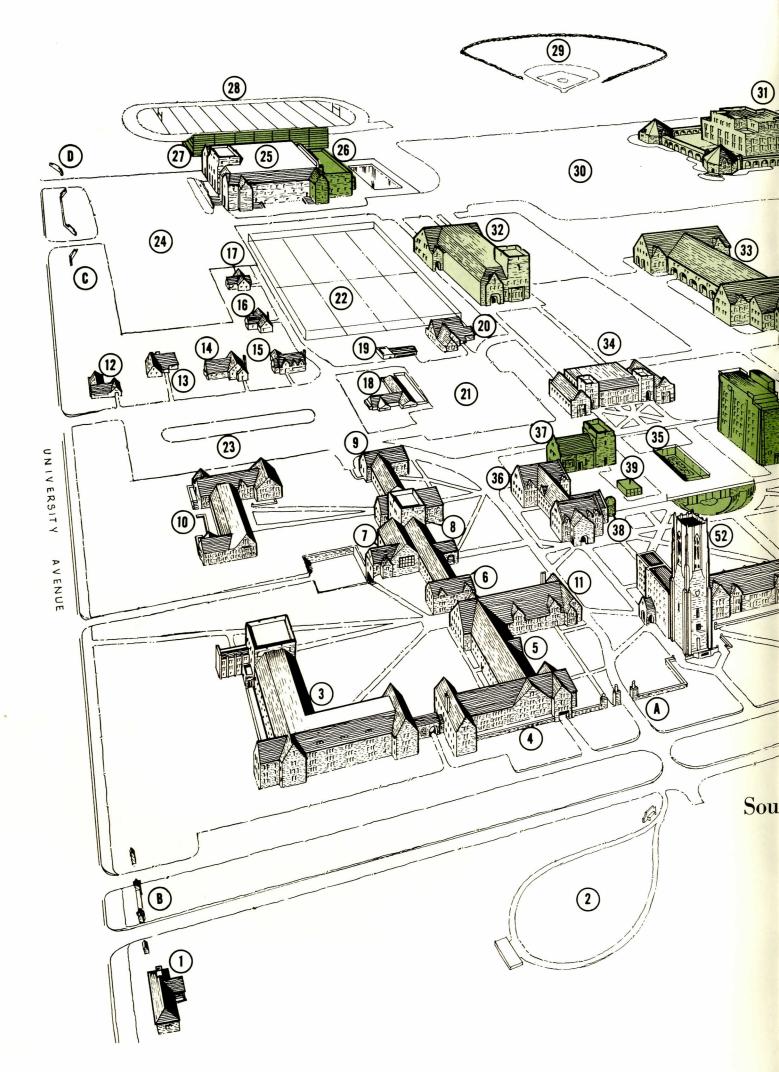

A. S. J. Shaw requested a class list recently, and wrote that "after serving 34 years in various offices of State Government I retired in 1958, and have devoted limited service to Home, Savings & Loan Association, which I organized in 1929." (Your editor understands that he is vicepresident of the association, 3301 South Western, Oklahoma City, Okla.) Since sending the class list, we have a new address for Mr. Lewis Gamaliel, architect-6112 Marty Lane, Shawnee Mission, Kansas 66202.

Castle Presbytery, Inc., 508 Marsh Road. Wilmington, Delaware 19809. Dr. Venable writes of visiting the Southwestern at Memphis campus a few years ago, "I was delighted to see the fine buildings which adorn the campus, and to know the splendid progress which the College has made since moving there." After receiving his B.A. degree from Southwestern he was graduated from Union Theological Seminary in 1918, and was granted the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Hampden Sydney College in 1931. Ordained in the Presbyterian Church in the United States. he served several Virginia and Kentucky pastorates and also served as Superintendent of Home Missions of the Norfolk Presbytery. In 1932 he went North, and has served faithfully and ably in the New Castle Presbytery ever since. Until his retirement he had been General Presbyter since 1955. He has been Moderator of the Presbytery, Chairman of the Christian Education Committee, and Chairman of Missions and Church Extension Committee. In the Synod he has served as Moderator, Chairman of the Synod's Christian Education Committee, and twice Chairman of the Synod Staff. In addition he has served on many committees of the Board of National Missions and the General Assembly. At the Testimonial Dinner given in his honor at the time of his retirement Dr. Venable stated that much of his first work was with young people, and that he looked forward to being busy in his new post of caring for the aging.

Class of 1919

Word from Mrs. W. H. Rothrock of Shelby, Miss., the sister of Barry Buford, is that Mr. Buford suffered a stroke in May of 1964 and has been in hospitals ever since—he is now in Clarksdale Hospital, Clarksdale, Miss., and would be happy to hear from his many friends of SPU days.

Class of 1922

Dr. Sam Monk was in town briefly during the summer, and is now in Washington, D. C., doing some special study at the Folger Memorial Shakespeare Library. Taking a sabbatical leave this year, he plans to go to England in February where he will work at the British Museum, and where he and Dr. and Mrs. John Henry Davis hope to have accommodations in the same hotel. Dr. Davis is also taking a sabbatical year, doing research, chiefly in the British Museum.

Class of 1925

A portrait of Mrs. William R. Atkinson, (Amelia Appleton) formerly headmistress of Hutchison School, was recently presented to the school by members of the graduating class of 1965, alumnae, and friends.

Class of 1928

Gordon Craig wrote during the summer of his continued vital interest in Southwestern. In June he broke a leg and was confined to a Rest Home at 630 South 19th St., Slaton, Texas.

Class of 1930

Morris Ford and Mrs. Ford were honored in June on the occasion of their twentieth anniversary with the First Baptist Church, Lubbock, Texas. During the past summer Morris returned for a brief visit to the campus—enjoyed seeing Charlie Diehl '31 and others.

Abe Fortas was appointed by President Johnson on July 28 to the United States Supreme Court. He succeeds Arthur J. Goldberg, who resigned to become U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations. The Fortas' acceptance came as a surprise—speculation having been that he would not be willing to accept any governmental post.

Recently heard from after a long silence was Ira Skinner, Jr., who transferred from Southwestern to the University of Alabama, where he received his bachelor's degree, graduated from Tulane Medical School, and earned an M.S. in surgery from the University of Minn. After interning he was associated with the Mayo Clinic from 1936-40, and since then has practiced medicine in San Antonio. Married to the former Maurine Stichter, they have three sons and a daughter. Mail should be addressed to him at the Skinner Clinic, 124 Dallas Street, San Antonio, Texas 78205.

Jimmy Hughes was one of twelve Memphians recently presented Superior Leadership Awards by the Chamber of Commerce. The recipients had all served as national presidents of their professional associations—Dr. Hughes was the 1965 president of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Class of 1932

J. R. Hyde, Jr., president of Malone & Hyde, Inc., 1700 Dunn, one of the nation's leading wholesale grocers, has announced that the firm has acquired capital stock of the Pic-Pac Food Stores, Inc., supermarket chain, in what is believed to have been the largest grocery store transaction in Memphis history. The number of shares or cost involved was not revealed.

Dorothy Cobb Martin (Mrs. Ezell) is included in the 4th edition of "Who's Who in American Women"; she teaches mathematics at the University of Chattanooga and lives at 2205 Ringgold Road.

Class of 1933

The Rev. James A. Overholser is author of a recently published book titled "A Contemporary Christian Philosophy of Religion." Since leaving Shady Grove Presbyterian Church in 1962, the Rev. Mr. Overholser has taught philosophy at Jamestown, N. D. Most recently he took a post as philosophy instructor at St. Andrews College (Presbyterian) at Laurinburg, N. C. Subject of his book is the church's problem of interpreting the Bible to people in our culture, living in a world influenced so tremendously by science. "Understanding the Bible in relation to modern ideas is part of the pressing need for an intellectual renewal in the church," he says. Above all, he feels that "Christ can be understood as a divine person in terms of modern thought."

Class of 1934

Dr. Andrew Edington, president of Schreiner Institute in Kerrville. Texas. spoke at Austin Seminary graduation ceremonies in May. Andy is past Moderator of the Synod of Texas and a ruling elder in the First Presbyterian Church of Kerrville. In addition to teaching Bible at Schreiner, he has also taught a regular Sunday morning Bible Hour on radio for ten years. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of Stillman College in Alabama and of the Peterson Foundation in Kerrville, and is president of the Conference of Southwest Foundations and the Texas Junior College Association. After graduation from Southwestern, he received an M.A. degree from the University of Alabama and was awarded the LL.D. degree at Austin College in Sherman. He is the author of a book entitled "The Big Search."

Ruth Park Simmons (Mrs. Ed.) is state president of the Women's Council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Class of 1935

There was a general exodus from the Jack Gordon home when Grace (Braun) and Jack headed for Portland, Oregon. . . . Returning to Yardley, Pa., were their 3 Robinson grandchildren, and their other grandchildren (the children of Ruth Starr and Al Strayhorn) moved into their new home on Kimbrough—the Strayhorns recently returned here from Clarksville, Tenn.

Rotarians from Memphis who attended the national convention in Atlantic City included Alvan Tate and Wilson Mount.

Henry Watkins, president of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corporation, recently graduated from the 27th session of the Executive Program in Business Administration held by the Columbia University Graduate School of Business. The six-week course is designed to help the 50 top-level executives who attend "to acquire new approaches and attitudes for forcefully meeting administrative problems in their technical and human aspects," to analyze policy problems from an organization-wide rather than from a departmental point of view, and to develop a broader understanding of the influences of today's economic-political-social environment on business and on the men who make policy decisions.

Mary Allie Taylor '33, a summer guest of Margaret "Talli" Tallichet Wyler (Mrs. William Wyler) and her famous film director husband, reports that "Talli" is "still a beauty, her face with its distinctive wide-apart blue eyes and framed with auburn hair reflecting the full and happy life she has had in Hollywood." The Wyler living-room boasts an antique pool table in addition to an array of collector's items of fine art-sculpture, paintings, brass, silver, jade-found in the Wylers' travels throughout Europe, the Middle East, and the Orient. They have four children-Cathy, married and living in New York, Judy in Washington, David, and Melanie, a schoolmate of Marie Louise (Trigg) and Frank Crump's daughter Rhoder, at Monte Sano in Switzerland. Mary Allie tells us that, although Talli has been a Californian for 28 years now, she remembers Southwestern classmates in vivid detail and wanted to hear about all of them.

Class of 1936 30th Reunion in April!

Duff Gaither was chairman of the summer educational clinic of the Real Estate Board of Memphis, at which Louis Weeks '37, spoke on "Securing Listings on New Homes." Duff was also Master of Protocol for the June meeting of the Tennessee Association of Real Estate Boards. Highpowered speakers coming for the meeting included the president-elect of Mortgage Bankers Association of America, Georgia's "Realtor of the Year"; and a former v-p of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and National Institute of Real Estate Brokers. In addition to all sorts of seminars, talks, etc. the entertainment schedule included a golf tournament, a river ride, tours of our new buildings downtown, our expansion in suburbs, the river front . . . to show the visitors some of the dynamic things happening in Memphis. President of the Tenn. Real Estate Boards is Charlie Piplar (married to Cecile Porter). . . . The meeting was attended by some 400 Tennessee real estate people.

Jameson Jones delivered a tribute to the late Adlai Stevenson at a public memorial service held at Calvary Episcopal Church under the auspices of the Memphis Chapter of the United Nations Association. Also participating in the program of prayers and meditation were the Rev. Robert P. Atkinson of Calvary and the Rev. James M. Barr of the Unitarian Church

"Hi" Lumkin (Brigadier General William H.) was selected in June to serve as The Assistant Judge Advocate General, Headquarters, USAF (AFJAG); and lives at 3409 Kohlmeier Road, Falls Church, Virginia, with his wife, the former Spurgeon Fulford, daughter Rebecca, and son William H., Jr. A veteran of WW II, Hi flew 55 combat missions and holds the Legion of Merit, the DFC, Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf Clusters, Distinguished Unit Citation, and various service and campaign ribbons. After graduation from Southwestern he received his LL.B. degree from the University of Alabama in 1939 (Mrs. Lumkin graduated in the same law class) and practiced law from then until his entry into military service in 1942. In 1945 he returned to civilian life and resumed practice of law in Centre, Alabama, where he soon became City Attorney. In 1947 he received his appointment as a Regular officer. having by this time been elected Cherokee County Solicitor. Shortly thereafter he transferred to the Air Force Judge Advocate General's Department.

Class of 1939

Ewing Carruthers spends a lot of time in his Twin Bonanza, servicing such accounts as the National Geographic Society in Washington, D. C., flying other insurance men (as he did this past summer) to Colorado Springs for a meeting of the Million Dollar Roundtable—of which he's a life member, calling on accounts all over the tri-state area and, for that matter, the entire country. Ewing is a representative for Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. and vice president of Donald Shepherd Co., national insurance consultants. He says the plane (bought in 1960) has paid for itself in increased business. Mrs. Carruthers is the former Jane Ogden '48—they live at 4134 Kriter Lane with their four children.

Bruce Crill is the new minister of Colonial Park Methodist Church, 5330 Park Avenue, having been transferred there in June from the First Methodist Church in Mayfield, Ky. After graduating from Southwestern Bruce earned his B.D. at Vanderbilt, and has a D.D. from Burton College and Seminary, Manitou Springs, Colo. He and Mrs. Crill, the former Nora May Moore, have two children, Ken, 21, and Judi, 18. The family lives at 5364 South Irvin.

B. T. Hunt is one of five Memphis Realtors included in the new directory of the American Society of Real Estate Counselors. Membership in the society, an affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, is based on broad knowledge and experience which qualifies one to advise owners, individual and corporate users and developers of real property, and governmental agencies on all types of real estate questions and problems.

David King visited the campus in August. Associated with the Methodist Publishing House in Nashville, he's in charge of official supplies for Methodist churches, lives in Madison, Tenn.

Class of 1940

P. A. Pearson writes, "I thoroughly enjoyed reading Dr. McBurney's speech and one fond memory that will be with me always was an essay by 'Mac' titled 'On Eating Eggs'." P. A. lives at 4119 Pixie Avenue, Apt. 18, Lakewood, Calif., is group merchandise manager for Sears. He received his B.S. from the University of Colorado (but says his brief time at Southwestern was one of the most profitable of his life). Associated with Sears for all of his business career-as merchandise manager in San Diego, sales promotion manager in Mexico City, and now Los Angeles group merchandise manager-he's the father of a nineteen year old daughter and a seventeen year old son.

Nancy (Caradine) and John Patton, 4044 North Walnut Grove Circle, jetted to Miami, then flew to Jamaica for a stay at Half Moon Hotel, to San Juan for four days at El Convento, and to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, where they "relaxed" at Bluebeard's Castle.

Jo and Charlie Perry, with son George, were in Memphis during the summer and visited the campus. They looked better than ever and were enthusiastic over all the beautiful new buildings—just wished they could have made the trip at the time of the class reunion.

Class of 1941

25th Reunion in April!

Col. and Mrs. Harold E. Bisbort (Penelope Mielenz) are at home at 1455 Altamont Drive, Decatur, Georgia . . . Col. Bisbort (Ret., Engineer Corps) has had tours of duty in such interesting places as Paris and Japan—to name but a few. They have four children, 17 year-old James, Patricia, 13, and Alan, 12, both born in Tokyo, and nine-year-old Mary Nell.

Eugenia Carter Lee (Mrs. Frank C.), 222 Colebrook Drive, San Antonio, was in town during August visiting her mother, Mrs. M. O. Carter, at Parkway House, and seeing old friends.

Jac Ruffin, formerly pastor of Little Rock's Second Presbyterian Church, has accepted a call to First Presbyterian Church in Natchez.

Small world . . . advertising exec Bill Van Dyke and Henry Watkins '35 are both with C.I.T., of which Henry is president. Bill and Dorothy (nee Wilkerson) live at 166 East 61st St., Apt. 15-G, in New York. (See CLASS OF 1935.)

J. W. Wood, 4424 Granny White Pike, Nashville, was host at a July gathering of Southwestern Alumni, parents of coming and incoming students, and other friends of the college and their wives and husbands. Guests of honor were President and Mrs. Alexander. Among the alumni present were Maxine Bozeman Salmon (Mrs. David F.) '43, W. P. Puryear, Jr. '32, Claudia Owen Puryear (Mrs. William, III) '55, Elizabeth Williams Cooper (Mrs. A. B.) '30, Lt. Col. Robert H. Kincaid '38, Herman Kaplan '50, Lynn Bartlett '64, Lela Garner '61, and Juanita Shettlesworth '62.

Frances Manire Winchester (Mrs. James), after enjoying a European holiday last Spring, returned home to a brandnew career—representative for Aetna Life Insurance Company.

Class of 1942

The home of Alex '39 and Sarah (Sparacino) Barzizza, at 8249 Highway 72, just out of Memphis, is a stately white columned residence reached by a winding driveway bordered by a white plantation fence, and set in the midst of 14 acres of lawn, trees, and shrubbery. Lovely to look at, it is a fascinating combination of Sarah's truly Renaissance variety of talents (remember, she was a music major-voice -at Southwestern) and hobbies. She is an acknowledged expert in the field of antiques, and one of her hobbies is collecting rare and unusual things—frequently from old homes being torn down to make way for 20th century "progress"-such as hand-carved ceilings and light fixtures. Portraits of Alex and their three sons and a self portrait are her work, as is a wall mural "fantasy tree" in the breakfast room, needlepoint on all the dining room chairs, hooked rugs, fiber glass window panels. She laid 3,000 bricks in the patio, and created in the patio wall a mosaic of St. Francis of Assisi (this became a family project with Alex and the boys helping her cut the tiles). Looking to the future, she plans to restore a 138-year-old home on a farm owned by Alex.

Bill Maybry, athletic director at Southwestern, attended a summer meeting of the College Basketball tournament committee of the National Collegiate Association, at Nag's Head, N. C. Bill's committee controls, directs, and supervises the Association's College Division basketball championship. Main action taken by the committee was expansion of the tournament from 32 to 36 teams.

Class of 1943

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Collier exchanged marriage vows in English and German during a ceremony June 7 in Lucerne, Switzerland. The bride is the former Tina Imback of Lucerne. Present for the ceremony was Mr. and Mrs. John Collier (Louise Wilbourne) '46, who had toured Europe before heading for the wedding festivities. After a continental honeymoon, Tina and Jimmy sailed from LeHavre, aboard the SS France, for New York. En route to Memphis they were the house guests of Julian and Chris Nall in Virginia, where they were honored at a seated dinner. (The Nalls subsequently vacationed -in July and August-in Hong Kong, Tokyo, the Philippines, and Taiwan.) The Colliers are at home at 696 South McLean.

Anne Middleton Jones (Mrs. Paul D.) is a social worker in Virginia (Prince Edward County, Dept. of Public Welfare, P. O. Box 43, Farmville, Va. 23901). Her daughter, Helen, is a college freshman this year.

John Whitsitt, 5507 South Angela, a vice president at First National Bank, was sent on quite an odyssey late last Spring . . . stopped off in the 50th state, soared across the Pacific aboard Japan Air Lines to Tokyo, then Osaka, and Kyoto, flew on to Hong Kong, Formosa, the Philippines, Thailand, India, Pakistan, Greece, and home through Paris.

Class of 1944

Ruth (Crumley) and Tom Fuhr met each other twenty some years ago at a church conference at Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee. On August 15 Tom—now Dr. Fuhr—became Dean of Students at Maryville College. Ruth writes that they are all (they have two daughters) delighted to be back in Tennessee. Tom has been the pastor of large congregations in New York and the mid-west, then for several years headed a church in a fast-growing community near San Francisco. Recently he has served as Dean of Students at Westminster College in Salt Lake City.

Class of 1945

Re the old saying "it's an ill wind that blows nobody good,"—Louisville is certainly lucky to have gained as newcomers the John Broadus family—and Minor's (Robertson) and John's myriad Memphis friends are still bewailing their loss. The Broadus's new address is 12216 Holly Lane, Anchorage, Kentucky... they moved in July, and John is associated with Philco, Inc., having received an offer so enticing as not to be refused.

Shirley Seagle Prothro (Mrs. Thompson, Jr.) was a summer visitor brightening the Memphis social scene. Her husband is head coach at the University of California at Los Angeles and their home address is 15963 Valleywood Road, Sherman Oaks.

Anne Howard Bailey has been writing t-v scripts in Canada for months, and getting more and more anxious to return to home base, Litchfield, Connecticut, where she's bought a 17th-or-18th century house which she plans to occupy.

Class of 1946 20th Reunion in April!

Emily Williamson Haizlip (Mrs. Henry H. Jr.), one of the busiest of our "civic-minded wife and mother" alumnae, is going to have an even heavier schedule than usual next Spring—Henry, executive vice president at First National Bank, is president of the 1966 Memphis Cotton Carnival.

Marion (Hollenberg) and Lawson Maury returned from Europe May 16; on the 17th their home at 510 Colonial Road was severely damaged by fire—garage, study, kitchen, breakfast-room and dining room were completely destroyed. Lucky in being able to lease a home three doors down the street, they are happily ensconced therein with their two sons, daughter, two dogs and cat while overseeing the rebuilding of the rooms that were destroyed and the addition of several others. They hope to be in the completed structure by November.

Class of 1947

Peggy Nash Rolfes (Mrs. Barney A.) is one of three deputy chairmen of the Women's Division for this fall's Shelby United Neighbors campaign.

Ann and Ed Dewey are the proud parents of a new son, William Chapman Dewey III, named for his grandfather and uncle (Bill '44), and born the last of May. He has a five-year-old sister, Jane, and a three-year-old brother, Tucker. Home is 2404 Madison Avenue.

Class of 1948

Ted Johnson, 17 St. Mary's Court, Brookline 46, Mass., visited family (Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Johnson) and friends in Memphis during the summer—he's connected with Lincoln Laboratories, Lexington, Mass., sponsored by M.I.T. and subsidized by the Air Force.

Also brightening the home scene during the summer was Mary Ann Robertson, copy editor of "Better Homes & Garden," Des Moines, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caffey Robertson.

Class of 1949

The Rev. George A. Chauncey moved to Richmond (3906 Brook Road) in August to assume his new post of Associate Secretary, Division of Christian Action, Board of Christian Education, Presbyterian Church U.S.

Clyde Smith (Cdr., US Navy), 709 Can Dota, Mt. Prospect, Ill., recently visited Eileen and Joe Roulhac '50 in Baltimore, where Joe is practicing law. The Roulhacs have a twelve-year-old daughter, Susan; live at 1609 Charmuth, Lutherville, Md.

Class of 1950

Anne (Dean '52) and Alan Babin have been transferred to Tulsa where Alan is district manager for Styro Products, Inc. They have five children, aged 13 through 4.

Virginia Vollmer Harvey (Mrs. Morton, Jr.) earned her master's degree in education from the University of Delaware in June. Her address is 15 Dickinson Lane, Wilmington.

Lee Pattee visited the Alumni Office during the summer, en route to Vicksburg. He's now a court reporter and partner in the firm of Kirk, Pattee & Associates in Los Angeles. His address there is 1223 South Elden Avenue.

James Price is Accountant Supervisor of American Overseas Petroleum Ltd. He and Mrs. Price live at 250 East 39th St., Apt. 9 K, New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Smith, 5712 Crawford Drive, Rockville, Md., have announced the birth of a son, Bryan William, born in October, 1964. They have two other children, Susan Leslie, 8, and Evan Edward, almost 5.

Class of 1951 15th Reunion in April!

Anne Caldwell holidayed in the British Isles with her brother, Capt. John Caldwell, his wife, and their baby daughter, whose home in England is at Branden, near his base at Lakenheath.

Jack Funkhouser is a member of the faculty of the University of Florida at Gainesville and is headmaster of Golden Hills Academy, a college preparatory school in Ocala, Florida.

Robert Kirk was transferred to Newfoundland this summer and expects to be based there for several years (he's a Commander in the Navy—medical branch). Mrs. Kirk and their three children were able to accompany him to the new base—they may be reached through the US Naval Hospital, c/o FPO, New York, N.Y. 09597.

Martha Ellen Davidson Maxwell (Mrs. John Rex) was one of the delegates attending the joint national meeting of the Symphony Orchestra League and Arts Councils of America in Washington this past June.

Class of 1952

John Cochran attended an Economicsin-Action seminar at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, Ohio, during the summer. In August he assumed a new position as Associate Professor of Finance at the Graduate School of Business of Georgia State College in Atlanta—is teaching courses in corporation finance and investments.

Dr. Marcus Orr, associate professor of history, has been elected chairman of the Memphis State University faculty council, which serves as liaison between Memphis State faculty members and administration.

Ed Rucks has been appointed by Atty. Gen. Phil Canale as an assistant attorney general—a post in which he does not engage in Criminal Court trials but handles special matters in other courts, including Federal, General Sessions and Chancery, and handles the increasing load of habeas corpus writs being filed by state prisoners bidding for freedom. Ed is married to the former Elizabeth Ann Ross and they live with their three children at 194 Cherokee Drive.

Mrs. Herman Ray Stallings (Margaret Smith) was crowned Marquesa of the third annual Baile de las Marquesas, Humboldt, Tenn. She will reign as marquesa for a year and crown her successor at next year's ball. Margaret is active in civic and church affairs in Humboldt and was a nominee for this year's "Young Woman of the Year" award.

Granville "Buddy" Allison, Jr., assistant city editor of the Commercial Appeal, was married in July to Miss Sylvia Marie Rice. They are at home at 74 North Willett.

David Morelock, chairman of the modern languages department at Memphis University School, was awarded summer scholarships to two separate institutions. The Educational Testing Association requested his aid in preparing a national French testing program at Princeton University to be used in secondary schools throughout the nation this fall. The other award was from the National Defense Education Act for six weeks study in advanced French courses at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville.

Class of 1954

Larry Bone is co-ordinator of county libraries for the Memphis Public Library. Among the many improvements noted since Larry joined the library system are a tremendous increase in circulation and approval by the county commission of double the amount of money available for library operations. This summer Larry was among 22 librarians participating in the American Library Association's Library—U.S.A. Exhibit in the United States Pavilion at the World's Fair in New York.

The Rev. Mr. Gerry M. Chance, 4519 Seminary Place, New Orleans, is working on his doctorate at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

Joanne Cunningham, 1007 Noelton, Nashville, has been teaching for the past several years at Ensworth School (Nashville) and this year is teaching music there, on a full-time basis. Immediately prior to these years at Ensworth, she spent two years in Germany, one in Regensburg and one in Munich, teaching in the U.S. Army schools, of which she writes, "This was a marvelous experience, loaded with travel, interesting people, and memorable experiences of all kinds. Just thinking about it gives me the wanderlust all over again, so I may be off again soon!"

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Lipscomb (Elizabeth Carter), 1914 Cherokee Drive, Jackson, Miss., announce the birth of a son, Joseph Hardy, on May 1, 1965.

Robert E. McClure, Jr., 1618 Oak Street, Pine Bluff, Ark., received the degree of Master of Christian Education at the Presbyterian School of Christian Education, Richmond, Virginia, in May.
