INAUGURATION OF DR. JOHN DAVID ALEXANDER, JR.

Academic processions, convocations and assemblies are virtually routine on a college campus, but one event commands the attention of all, both on campus and off: The inauguration of a new college president.

Transcending the immediate college community, an inauguration stirs the interest of countless civic leaders, citizens and persons engaged in nationwide collegiate activities.

The inauguration of Dr. John David Alexander, Jr. '53, as the sixteenth president of Southwestern At Memphis, took place on the south terrace of the Richard Halliburton Memorial Tower on Tuesday, May 3, 1966, before some 2,000 people.

"The Servant College"

Before the inaugural convocation at 2:00 p.m., official representatives joined the faculty and student body in Evergreen Presbyterian Church, adjacent to the campus, to hear an address by Dr. W. Taylor Reveley, president of Hampden-Sydney College (Virginia). The former Southwestern dean of admissions spoke on "The Servant College."

More than 500 attended the luncheon which followed in William Neely Mallory Memorial Gymnasium.

The Inaugural Convocation

Nature, manifested in the exhilarating coloration of an early May afternoon, set the stage for the impressive inaugural convocation. The warm spring scene was enhanced by the varicolored hoods of procession participants.

Following the invocation by Dr. Paul Tudor Jones '32, pastor of Idlewild Presbyterian Church in Memphis, a brief welcome was expressed by Mr. A. Van Pritchartt, chairman of the board of directors and executive committee.

Mr. Donald M. Hollingsworth '67, president of the student body, presented greetings from the student body; Mr. James M. Breytspraak '38 spoke on behalf of the Southwestern Alumni Association; Dr. Jameson M. Jones '36, dean of the college, gave greetings from the faculty; and greetings from the Church were rendered by Dr. Frank H. Caldwell, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.

Mr. Edgar Trevor Williams, Warden of Rhodes House and Secretary of the Rhodes Trust, balanced his own brand of British levity with serious academic cogitations. His talk was both entertaining and thought-provoking.

Induction of the President

Dr. Peyton Nalle Rhodes, president emeritus, presented Dr. Alexander to the assemblage, after which the brief, yet impressive, installation was performed by Mr. Pritchartt. A prayer of dedication was then rendered by Dr. W. J. Millard '20.

In his inaugural address, Dr. Alexander stated, "... As I see it (Southwestern) faces three kinds of challenge if it is to continue the enterprise so bravely begun by Dr. Diehl and so firmly established by Dr. Rhodes. There is the challenge of integrity within; there is the challenge of commitment to outreach; there is the challenge of the conviction and proclamation of transcendent values. At these points the life of this college intersects with the life of the community, the region and the nation, and with the continuing mission of the Church to witness among the young. These three intersections, I believe, . . . declare what the program of this college, Southwestern At Memphis, must remain. ..."

Recessional

The inaugural convocation concluded with the benediction by Dr. Van M. Arnold, pastor of Evergreen Presbyterian Church, after which the recessional was punctuated by the pealing of the bell in the Richard Halliburton Memorial Tower.

A reception on the south terrace of Palmer Hall, during which President and Mrs. Alexander greeted guests, brought the inaugural proceedings to a close.

Innovation Meets Tradition Alumni Weekend - 1966

Alumni toured several new campus facilities as they returned for this year's Alumni Weekend in May.

North Hall, a new men's residence hall located west of the refectory, was occupied in the fall of 1965; the Thomas W. Briggs Student Center, a long-awaited dream of both students and faculty, had at last become a reality. The Emily Simpson Courtenay Modern Language Center, located in the Student Center, had so graciously been added for the convenience of foreign language students.

More than thirty guests attended a dinner Friday night, May 6, for members of classes 1903 through 1920. Later, they were honored with a reception in the East Lounge of the Briggs Student Center, a location which provided a marked contrast for those who remembered the old college at Clarksville.

Class of '41 Honored

Saturday, May 7, was a big day, starting with a luncheon in the Catherine Burrow Refectory for the members of the class of 1941, celebrating their twenty-fifth reunion. The main speaker at the luncheon was Dr. William P. Murphy '41, professor of law at the University of Missouri Law School. Another interesting feature was a projection of "pictures of then and now", narrated by Mrs. John Mc-Loughlin (Harriette Hollis '41). The script was written by Miss Susan O'Brien '41. Following the luncheon, Dr. Alfred O. Canon '44, dean of alumni and development, conducted a tour of the campus, pointing out the many changes.

A patio party, preceding the dinner that night, gave alumni a chance to visit members of all classes. Mr. James W. (Jasper) Wood '41 of Nashville, Tennessee, delivered an entertaining talk at the annual supper in Wil-"Jasper" Wood liam Neely Mallory Me-

Highlight of the evening was the announcement of the 1966-67 officers and the presentation of the gavel to Mr. John Whitsitt '43 as new president.

To climax a wonderful day, the class of 1941 and companion classes of 1938 through 1944 enjoyed dancing to the music of Louie Perrinne at the University Club. Mr. Bill Morgan '41, who was in charge of the arrangements, and Dr. Bland Cannon, as master of ceremonies, helped make the occasion a memorable one.

Morning Worship Service

In contrast to the previous day's light tone, a morning worship service was held in Hardie Auditorium Sunday, May 8 at 11:00 a.m. for members of the class of 1941 and their families. Other alumni also attended to hear the Reverend Mr. Jac Ruffin '41, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Natchez, Mississippi, who conducted the service

As Alumni Weekend drew to a close, it was noted that the hallowed halls have changed a bit in appearance, but there still remains the warmth of welcome and the fond memories which are so vividly stirred on these reunions.

Dr. Clinton L. Baker, professor of biology, reports that Kenneth Ray Barker '61 has received a Ph.D. degree in zoology from the University of Texas.

Barker, who received his M.S. degree from the University of Mississippi in 1963, is teaching at the University of Texas this summer and has been awarded a postgraduate research scholarship for the 1966-67 academic year.

Officers of the Southwestern Alumni Association for 1966-67 are: John Whitsitt '43 of Memphis, president; Wallace Mayton '40 of Memphis, president-elect; and Mrs. Elder Shearon, Jr. (Bebe Harsh '41) of Memphis, secretary.

Mr. Reynolds Council Member Mr. Hardison Mr. Jones Council Member Council Member

Elected council members-at-large outside Shelby County were Eugene P. Hardison '41 of Senatobia, Mississippi; and Everarde Jones '45 of Tchula, Mississippi. Allen Reynolds '60 of Memphis, was elected as Shelby County council member-at-large.

Pattern Gifts Challenge Campaign

With less than two years remaining to qualify for last year's offer of $1.9 million from the Ford Foundation, Southwestern has received pledges for over 33% of the required matching funds. The Ford Foundation offer stipulates that the college raise twice the proffered amount no later than June 30, 1968.

Impressive Gifts

Among the recent notable contributions are:

- $100,000 from Mr. C. M. Gooch, Memphis philanthropist and lumberman.
- $75,000 from the Memphis Clearing House Association. Participating banks are First National, National Bank of Commerce, State Savings and Union Planters National.
- $50,000 from Buckman Laboratories Inc. of Memphis for a biology/mathematics library in the proposed Science Center.
- $25,000 from National Trust Life Insurance Company of Memphis.
- $20,000 from Memphis Publishing Company, publishers of the Press-Scimitar and Commercial Appeal.

Briggs Student Center Dedicated

The members of the class of 1966 had only one month to enjoy the facilities of the new Thomas W. Briggs Student Center, but they left the campus with the mental satisfaction of having seen old Fargason Field transferred into the imposing stone edifice which was officially dedicated on Monday, May 2, 1966.

Recent graduates also have the satisfaction of knowing that, as alumni, they are welcome to visit the Student Center at any time, and that, perhaps, their children, as students, will make use of the Student Center in the nottoo-distant future.

Brief Program

Dr. David Alexander, president of Southwestern At Memphis, presided over the dedicatory ceremonies, held at 2:00 in the afternoon on the west side of the building.

An expression of appreciation on behalf of the college was presented by Dr. Peyton N. Rhodes, president emeritus, to Mrs. Thomas W. Briggs and to students, alumni and friends of the college who made the Center a reality. Speaking on behalf of the students was Mr. Donald M. Hollingsworth '67, student body president. The Reverend Mr. Stewart W. Yandle, a member of the board of directors and pastor of Lakeview Presbyterian Church in New Orleans, rendered the dedicatory prayer. Members of the audience were requested to move to the southwest terrace entrance for the ribbon-cutting ceremony by Mrs. Briggs, after which the program was continued in the main lounge of the building. The dedicatory plaque was unveiled by Mrs. Rosanne Beringer, president of Welcome Wagon International, an organization founded by Mr. Thomas W. Briggs. Mr. A. Van Pritchartt, chairman of the board of directors and executive committee, read the plaque to those in attendance.

Dr. Alexander assisted Mrs. Briggs as she unveiled a beautiful oil portrait of her late husband.

Courtenay Language Center

At the conclusion of the dedication exercises members of the audience were invited to participate in conducted tours of the building, including the Emily Simpson Courtenay Modern Language Center.

Made possible by Mrs. David K. Wilson, a member of the board of directors, and her mother, Mrs. Justin Potter, both of Nashville, Tennessee, the Modern Language Center was established in honor of Mrs. Walter R. Courtenay, whose husband is pastor of Nashville's First Presbyterian Church.

The 30-station Center contains modern electronic devices for recording and reproducing the human voice, and more than triples the size of the college's previous language center.

MRS. THOMAS W. BRIGGS, assisted by President David Alexander '53, prepares to cut the ribbon and officially open the new Student Center.

$10,000 Instrument For Chemistry Research

Through the efforts of Dr. Harold Lyons, professor of chemistry, Mr. W. J. Anthony, plant manager of Velsicol Chemical Company, and Dr. John Duckworth of Methodist Hospital, Velsicol Chemical Company has donated to the college an instrument, called the Beckman Megachrom Gas Chromatograph, valued at over $10,000. The chemistry department will use this instrument for separating the individual components of complex mixtures of organic compounds which may be difficult or impossible to separate by other procedures. The gas chromatograph can accomplish in a matter of minutes what formerly may have required several days of tedious fractional distillation.

This instrument will be of great value in organic chemical research since it will enable the organic chemists to isolate extremely pure samples of difficult-toprepare compounds. It will also be available for use by undergraduate chemistry majors who elect organic chemistry research.

CLIMAXING THE DEDICATORY CEREMONY, Mrs. Thomas W. Briggs unveils an oil portrait of her late husband.

UNVEILING THE PLAQUE in the Briggs Student Center main lounge is Mrs. Rosanne Beringer, president of Welcome Wagon International. Mr. A. Van Pritchartt, chairman of the board of directors and executive committee, read the inscription to the gathering.

Dr. Edgar F. Shannon, president of the University of Virginia, headlined a special program at the banquet following the dedication of the Thomas W. Briggs Student Center.

117th Graduation Exercises 1966 Commencement Program

Some 180 members of the class of 1966 moved into the alumni realm at 10:00 a.m. on Monday, June 6, 1966, during the graduation exercises for Southwestern's 117th commencement. The ceremony, traditionally held in the Hubert F. Fisher Memorial Garden, was moved to Evergreen Presbyterian Church, due to an early morning rain.

The baccalaureate service was on the preceding day in Second Presbyterian Church, with Dr. Jameson M. Jones '36, dean of the college and professor of moral philosophy, delivering the

A tea, honoring the seniors, their husbands, wives, parents and friends, was held Sunday afternoon in Burrow Library, sponsored by the Southwestern Women of Memphis. That night, the senior class banquet featured an address by Dr. E. Llewellyn Queener, professor of psychology.

Delivering the commencement address was Mr. Lewis L. Strauss, corporation executive and former Secretary of Commerce of the United States, who received an honorary degree during the graduating exercises.

HOMECOMING

Mr. Goodbar Morgan '31, director of alumni affairs, announces that Saturday, November 12 has been designated "Homecoming Day 1966."

Six Receive Distinction HONORARY DEGREES

Two college presidents were among those receiving honorary degrees from Southwestern during commencement exercises June 6. Six distinguished men, clad in scholarly robes, were honored for outstanding service in their communities.

Mr. Lewis L. Strauss of Washington, D. C. was presented a Doctor of Science (D.Sc.) degree. Educated in Richmond, Virginia, he was secretary to Herbert Hoover, 1917-1919, and was a member of the U.S. delegation to the Final Armistice Convention at the close of World War I. From 1919 to 1946 he was engaged in the banking business. During World War II, he had various assignments and retired as a Rear Admiral in 1958. In 1946 President Truman appointed him to the first Atomic Energy Commission, from which he resigned in 1950. During the period 1950-1953, he served as a consultant to John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and the Messrs. Rockefeller. In 1953 President Eisenhower reappointed him to the Atomic Energy Commission. He presently serves as director of various corporations and operates a farm in Virginia, specializing in purebred cattle.

Dr. Cecil C. Humphreys, president of Memphis State University, received an honorary Doctor of Laws (LL.D.) degree. A native of Paris, Tennessee, he received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Tennessee, and his doctorate from New York University in 1957. After serving two years in the Navy, he returned to Memphis State as athletic director, assistant to the president, director of the graduate school, and coordinator of public relations. He was named president of the university in 1960.

Dr. Taylor Reveley, a native of Knoxville, Tennessee, received an honorary Doctor of Laws (LL.D.) degree. Dr. Reveley, who was a former faculty member and dean of admissions and records at Southwestern, received his A.B. degree from Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia, his B.D. degree from Union Theological Seminary, Virginia, and his Ph.D. from Duke University. He joined the faculty of Southwestern in 1946 as college chaplain and assistant professor of Bible; in 1952 he was named associate professor of Bible and Humanities; in 1957 he became dean of admissions and records, continuing his professorship. On August 1, 1963, he became president of Hampden-Sydney. Dr. Reveley is an ordained minister in the Presbyterian Church, U.S. His daughter, Caroline, graduated from Southwestern, receiving her B.A. in the same ceremony in which her father received his honorary degree.

Mr. William Forrest Bowld of Germantown, Tennessee, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Humanities (HH.D.) degree. A native of Indiana, he attended Purdue University. He served in the A.E.F. in World War I, being discharged with the rank of 1st Lieutenant. From 1920 to 1955 he worked with Proctor & Gamble (Buckeye subsidiaries) successively as chemist, plant superintendent, manager and vice president of the Chemical Pulp Division. He served as vice president and general manager, and director of Buckeye Cellulose Corporation. He retired from active management in July, 1955. An alderman in the city of Germantown, Tennessee, Mr. Bowld is chairman of the Board of Memphis Hospitals, has been Potentate of the Al Chymia Shrine Temple, and is an Elder in the Second Presbyterian Church of Memphis. He is foreman of the Shelby County Grand Jury, a position he has held since November, 1957.

The Reverend Mr. Robert E. Cogswell, a native of Memphis now serving as pastor of Shelbyville, Tennessee's First Presbyterian Church, received an honorary Doctor of Divinity (D.D.) degree. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Southwestern in 1942, graduating with honors in philosophy. He received Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Theology degrees from Union Theological Seminary in Virginia. While a student at Southwestern, he was designated the national Omicron Delta Kappa Scholar, and later received the Thomas Cary Johnson Fellowship from Union Theological Seminary. He has served as Moderator of the Presbyteries of New Orleans, St. Louis, and Columbia, and has served as member and chairman of numerous presbytery and synod committees. He is presently vice chairman of the Council of the Synod of Tennessee and chairman of the Council of the Presbytery of Columbia.

The Reverend Mr. Edward Craig Hay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham, Alabama, received a Doctor of Divinity (D.D.) degree. A native of the Carolinas, he received his A.B. degree cum laude from Davidson College (North Carolina) and his B.D. and Th.M. degrees from Louisville (Kentucky) Presbyterian Theological Seminary. While in seminary, he received the Patterson Fellowship for Graduate Studies, and was awarded prizes for the highest general average in the junior class and for the highest grade on the Comprehensive Bible Examination. He served in the Infantry during World War II, attaining the rank of Major. He was ordained in the Presbyterian Church, U.S. in May, 1949, and served pastorates in Ken-tucky, Tennessee and Florida before going to Birmingham, Alabama. He has three sons and a daughter.

Fortas Slated for Degree

Mr. Abe Fortas, Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court and former Memphian, was to be conferred an honorary Doctor of Civil Law (D.C.L.), but was unable to attend the ceremony, because the nation's highest court was in session. Mr. Justice Fortas will be the guest speaker for Southwestern's Opening Convocation on Friday, September 16, at 8:15 a.m. and at that time will be awarded the honorary degree. He graduated from Southwestern in 1930 with first class honors in English and second class honors in political science. He received his LL.B. degree from Yale in 1933 and served as an assistant professor of law there until 1937. He served as Undersecretary of the Interior from 1942-46, and was advisor to the U.S. delegation to the United Nations in San Francisco and London in 1945 and 1946. Last year President Johnson appointed Mr. Fortas to succeed Arthur J. Goldberg on the Supreme Court.

ALGERNON SYDNEY SULLIVAN AWARDS

The coveted Algernon Sydney Sullivan Awards, announced annually during graduation exercises, are traditionally presented to one man and one woman of the graduating class of that year, and to one other person who is not a Southwestern student.

Student winners this year were Miss Auralia Lee Crowell of Mobile, Alabama and Mr. Charles Ernest McLean III of Sheffield, Alabama.

"Rarely does anyone meet a person whose spirit of service and dedication to the college and its students is as self-giving as Bummie Crowell's,' the student selection committee stated. "Always willing to listen to any student who comes to her for advice or with a problem too big to be faced alone, she displays an insight into people and their concerns. She will gladly walk hand in hand with anyone through a dark period of trial. Her deep and sincere concern for her fellow students is hereby recognized."

"A high moral character" and "an unselfish attitude" were phrases describing Charles McLean. "... Known to his fraternity brothers as 'Big Brother to all', and to his as a 'philosopher of living', his humanity is matched by a distinguished mind. To all who have been associated with him in campus organizations and daily life, he is known as one who listens with patience and responds with feeling, as one who shares himself with others.'

Mrs. Rhodes Honored

The non-student award was given to

Mrs. Peyton N. Rhodes, wife of Southwestern's president emeritus. President David Alexander, in reading the citation, stated: "...This year's non-student Sullivan Award is given to an individual who in service to the larger community, as well as to the college, has given liberally of talent and spirit, time and energy."

She "has characteristically done all duty presented by circumstance with affection and selfless devotion. No task, however menial, escapes her scrutiny and attention. All responsibilities are discharged with self-effacing perfection and gracious elegance. Southwestern owes more to this individual than to almost any other; yet, with unfailing care for others and for the welfare of the college, she sought no reward or craved any notice. I warrant this and more can be said of Memphis's debt to the one whom we honor now . . .'

Memorial to Joanne E. Hunt Scholarship Founded

A $3,000 scholarship has been established in memory of Miss Joanne Elizabeth Hunt, 1960 graduate of Southwestern. The scholarship, established by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Jones, of 2195 Poplar, Memphis, Tenn., will become effective with the 1966-67 academic session and will be awarded to a student primarily interested in dramatics. The mother of Joanne, Mrs. Jones, is the former Mrs. John E. Hunt of Marianna, Arkansas.

Miss Hunt, who received her B.A. with distinction in English, was very active in extra-curricular activities at Southwestern. She was interested in dramatics, a member of the choir, and a staff member of The Sou'wester. She was secretary-treasurer of the Independent Women, treasurer of Sans Souci, a student counselor, and a recipient of the Delta Delta Delta Alliance Scholarship.

Drama Career

After graduating from Southwestern, Joanne took a medical records librarian course at the Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, and in 1962 moved to Helena, Arkansas, where she was employed at the Helena Hospital as Medical Records Librarian. While in Helena she continued her interest in dramatics by helping to reorganize the Little Theatre group. During her two years in Helena she worked in all phases of the theatre, acting, directing, and was business manager for the group when she left in 1964. She appeared in several productions throughout the Mid-South.

At Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, Joanne started her graduate work and continued her dramatic career in Chicago. In September, 1964 she accepted a position with the American Medical Association in Chicago doing medical writing research and speech writing.

Contributions to the Joanne Elizabeth Hunt Memorial Scholarship may be made through the assistant treasurer's office at Southwestern.

AN APPRECIATION

I wish to take this opportunity to express my grateful appreciation and thanks to all my former students and other friends for their kind recognition of me on the occasion of my retirement from Southwestern this year.

The security measures surrounding the work of a certain committee, consisting of Robert C. Meacham '42, Louisa McLean Stephens '44, and William E. Mc-Clure '51, would be a model for Uncle Sam to follow. To my complete surprise a special presentation of a check for almost twelve hundred dollars (tax free!) was made by Bill McClure at the alumni supper on the evening of May 7. A few days later Goodbar Morgan presented me with a box containing many letters and greetings from former students and others.

To this committee and all others who participated in this recognition I wish to express my sincere thanks. Your gift and gracious words are deeply appreciated. Your continued esteem and friendship through the years are very dear to me. My wife, Polly, joins me in thanking you and in wishing you well in the years ahead.

A sociology major at Southwestern.

"Joe" was tapped by Psi Chi, national honorary psychology fraternity, on the Dean's list, and a member and officer of Kappa Sigma. A talented baritone, he was a member of the Southwestern Singers while at Southwestern and was active in off campus musical circles as well. After graduation, he continued his studies at the New York School of Social Work of the Graduate School of Columbia University, and studied voice with several well-known teachers, particularly Maestro Fabri, Madame Maria Kurenko, and Madame Elda Ercole. He had several months training under Leo Mueller, conductor and artistic director of the Halifax Symphony. During this period he studied the roles of Scarpia, in "Tos-ca;" Germont, in "Traviata;" and the Count, in "The Marriage of Figaro." He appeared in concerts in the East, and sang in quartet with the Metropolitan's Gabor Carelli, Margaret Di Benedetto, and Patricia Parker. He spent the summer of 1956 traveling in Europe, and, during the summer of 1960, he was honored by the Memphis Chapter of the English Speaking Union when he was selected as its representative for a good will tour of England. His blithe spirit and compassionate concern for others in distress masked his natural shyness and reserve.

A funeral service was held in Memphis on Monday afternoon, June 6, followed by interment in the Rhodes family cemetery plot at Crozet, Virginia, on June 8.

Both young men graduated from Southside, received B.S. degrees in physics from Southwestern, and have recently completed their Ph.D. degrees in physics from Johns Hopkins University. Both held Union Carbide Scholarships at Southwestern, were elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and held National Science Foundation Fellowships while at Johns Hopkins.

Southwestern Mourns Death of Dr. Kinney

The great bell in the Richard Halliburton Memorial Tower tolled on April 19, 1966 with the passing of Dr. Laurence F. Kinney, long-time chairman of the Bible department at Southwestern and widely-known Bible scholar, lecturer, and author.

Dr. Kinney, who had come to Southwestern in 1944 and remained an active member of the faculty until January, 1966, was highly respected by both students and faculty. He held the Albert Bruce Curry Chair of Bible; he was a past director and one of the founders of the Adult Education Center, and a leader in the Institute for Executive Leadership. He served as chairman of the faculty committee on Curriculum and Instruction and as director of academic relations of the Adult Education Center.

Active in civic affairs, Dr. Kinney was a popular speaker with local and Mid-South organizations, having served as moderator of Memphis Presbytery. He wrote the 1962 denominational study book on First Corinthians, Not Like Ordinary Men, for use throughout the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Held Five Degrees

Dr. Kinney held an A.B. degree and an honorary LL.D. degree from Hampden-Sydney College, a B.D. from Union Theological Seminary in Virginia, an A.M. and Ph.D. from the University of Virginia, and had studied abroad at the University of Edinburg in Scotland.

Before coming to Southwestern, Dr. Kinney taught at the Assembly's Training School in Richmond, now the Presbyterian School of Christian Education. During this time he served as visiting professor at Richmond Theological Seminary and at the Richmond Division of the College of William and Mary.

Dr. Kinney was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary Forensic Society, the Southern Society for Philosophy and Religion, the National Association of Biblical Instructors, and past president of the Presbyterian Educational Association of the South.

Services for Dr. Kinney were held at Idlewild Presbyterian Church and were conducted by Dr. David Alexander '53, president of Southwestern, and Dr. Paul Tudor Jones '32, pastor of Idlewild. Dr. Kinney leaves his wife, Mrs. Kathryn P. Kinney, who resides at 2029 Hallwood Drive, a daughter, Mrs. Robert F. Ferm of Claremont, Cal., a son, Lt. Laurence F. Kinney, Jr. '62 of Beal Air Force Base, Cal., his mother, and three sisters.

Class of 1895

The Alumni Office has received notice that Mr. Robert Tutwiler Meriwether died in the early part of 1964. The last surviving mem-ber of the class of 1895, Mr. Meriwether earned the B.S. degree from Southwestern and, in 1899, took a degree in civil engineering from the University of Tennessee; he was a resident of Clarksville, Tenn.

Class of 1903

Dr. Charles Lewis Power was one of the alumni attending on May 6 the dinner and reception honoring alumni through the class of 1920. Dr. Power's guest for the evening was Mrs. Charles A. Mewborn, Sr., to whom he was married Saturday, May 21. The wedding ceremony took place at the Raleigh Presbyterian Church and was followed by a reception at the Durham Home, 6005 Stage Road. Dr. and Mrs. Power reside at the Stage Road address.

Class of 1904

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walthal were among those who attended the dinner and reception honoring alumni through the class of 1920. Mr. Walthal has been continuously in bus-iness in Memphis since 1904 and still goes to his office every day. He and Mrs. Walthal are the parents of a son and daughter, both of whom attended Southwestern.

Class of 1905

The family of Mr. William McConnell Gaillard, who resided at 254 Pine Hill Drive, Mobile, Alabama, has informed the Alumni Office of Mr. Gaillard's death March 6. Gaillard's brother, Dr. Thomas H. Gaillard, is also a Southwestern alumnus, a member of the class of 1903.

Class of 1906

The Alumni Office has received notice of the death of Dr. John C. Culley, of Oxford, Mississippi. Date of Dr. Culley's death is not known.

Class of 1910

Mr. George McAfee Buchanan, of Holly Springs, Miss., died several years ago, ac-cording to word recently received in the Alumni Office.

Attending the dinner and reception hon-Mr. Everett Woods. Accompanying him were two charming ladies, Mrs. Woods, and his sister, Miss Alice Woods—Miss Alice has the distinction of having been the only young woman to attend classes at S.P.U. before it was coeducational. She was recently honored at a luncheon given by the Southwestern Women of Memphis, a group comprising alumnae living in and near Memphis. Mr. Woods is a prominent architect. He and Mrs. Woods are the parents of two daughters and a son, all of whom are Southwestern alumni.

Class of 1911

The Alumni Office has received notice that

The Alumni Office has received notice that Mr. Robert Clive Wilcox, of 119 Glenwood, Clarksville, Tenn., died in September, 1963. Mr. Alfred C. Glassell, of Shreveport, died Saturday, May 21, at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, where he had been a patient for ten days. Born on a Louisiana plantation in 1889 and educated at Chamberlain-Hunt Academy at Port Gibson, Mississippi, and Southwestern Presbyterian Uni-versity at Clarksville, he entered the oil business shortly after leaving college. In 1917 he made his first major oil venture, which resulted in extensive oil producing interests throughout Louisiana and later in Texas. In 1926 he founded the Interester Hotel Co. 1926 he founded the Interstate Hotel Co.,

the initial step in his ultimate ownership of a chain of hotels in Baton Rouge, Lafayette, Shreveport, and Monroe, Louisiana. Glassell served on Southwestern's board of directors from 1929 to 1938 and again from 1943 to 1958. He was a founder and the first president of Ducks Unlimited, a former chairman of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, and a trustee of the Wildlife Management Institute of Washington, D. C. During his tenure as president of Ducks Unlimited, Mr. Glassell was named "sports-man of the Year." In 1961 he was given a special award for his work in wildlife conservation and this year was named "Conser-vationist of the Year" by the Outdoor Writers Association. He was one of the founders of the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation and a former director of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association; a deacon at the First Presbyterian Church in Shreveport, where he built a chapel memorializing his parents; and a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason. He leaves a son, Alfred C. Glassell, Jr., of Houston, Texas; three daughters, Mrs. W. M. Comegys, Jr., of Shreveport; Mrs. John H. Crichton, of Palm Beach, Florida; and Mrs. Addison Wood, of Naples, Florida; and brother, Mr. Ashton Glassell '20, of Shreve-port; a stepson, Charles Stringfellow, of Alpine, Texas; 17 grandchildren and one great-grandson.

A letter from Dr. S. E. McFadden, 301 Marginal Street, Somerville, Tennessee, ex-pressed regret that he could not come to the alumni dinner and reception on May 6, and extended best wishes to those in attendance.

Class of 1912

Members of the class of 1912 who attended Members of the class of 1912 who attended the dinner and reception honoring alumni through the class of 1920 included Judge John T. Gray of Brownsville, Chancellor of the Ninth Chancery Division of Tennessee, and P. W. Bell, 1763 Eastmoreland. Attend-ing with Judge Gray was Mrs. Gray; their son, John T., Jr., is a member of the class of 1953 and lives in Palo Alto, California. With Mr. Bell came his daughter, Ann, a member of the class of 1941, observing its twenty-fifth reunion the following day.

Fred Seip, Sr., former resident of Clarks-ville, Tenn., died in April at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elsie McElvoy, 15 South Circle Drive, Chapel Hill, N. C. A native of Alexandria, La., Mr. Seip had lived in Chapel Hill since the death of his wife, Mrs. Mar-userite. Budelph Sein gir yoare ago Ho was guerite Rudolph Seip, six years ago. He was a graduate of Sewanee Military Academy, and was a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity at Southwestern. A communicant of the Episcopal Church, Mr. Seip was an audi-tor and was connected with the tobacco busines; in Clarksville for many years. He was an ardent sports fan. Baseball was his favorite sport, and he knew the records of many famous players, present and past. He was also a Colonel on the Louisiana Gover-nor's staff. Surviving are Mrs. McElvoy; a son. Fred Seip, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga.; and two brothers, Micah and James Seip, of Alexandria.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Campbell, Merion Gardens, Merion, Pennsylvania, were in an automobile accident last year, as a result of which Mrs. Campbell suffered a ruptured disc. They have a married son and three grandchildren.

Class of 1915

The Alumni Office has recently received notice of the death of Mr. Henry Pickens. We had last heard from Mr. Pickens in We had last heard from Mr. Pickens in Sept., 1964, at which time he and Mrs. Pickens resided at 1701 Asheville Road, Hendersonville, N. C. Mr. Pickens held the Ph.B. degree from Yale University and the LL.B. from Chattanooga College of Law. Dur-ing WW I he served as an officer with the A.E.F. (twelve months overseas). Subsequently he was for many years an insurance broker in New York City, maintaining his own company offices at 754 Fifth Avenue. After his retirement, he and Mrs. Pickens moved to Hendersonville. Their son, Mr.

Andrew R. Pickens, lives in Titusville, Penn-sylvania.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Warren attended the dinner and reception on May 6, and Dr. Warren subsequently wrote, in part, "It was good to meet with several of my school mates of many years ago. It had been quite a long time since I had seen some of those who were present . . . I am guessing that all the alumni present enjoyed the delightful evening, just as my wife and I did." The Warrens should be addressed at 2467 Arthur Road, Germantown, Tennessee.

Class of 1916

Dr. T. T. Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Williams, Tunica, Mississippi, was the only member of the 50-year class who could attend the dinner and reception on May 6, though several others wrote to express their regrets at being unable to come. A letter from Mr. John (Jack) Edmiston, Kellyville, Oklahoma, Box 248, reads, "I regret to say I will be unable to attend the Reunion of the class of 1916. Please remember me to those who do attend. if possible, and tell them I have thought about them many times in the past 50 years. I have learned to appreciate Southwestern more and more as the years have gone by. If Pete Richardson happens to be at the University during this time, please give him my kind regards. I recently saw "Stout" Gordon and heard him preach at Gainesville, Florida. There were no vacant seats; and he sure packs the people in, after 35 years or more at the same church." Dr. C. C. Edmondson, 304 Frederick St., Waukesha, Wisconsin, has retired due to illness and was unable to come to Memphis, but Mrs. Edmondson wrote to say how sorry he was and to extend his greetings to fellow alumni. A letter from Mr. L. Rogers McLain, Tampa, Florida, conveyed his greetings to the group.

In the April, 1966 issue of the Southwestern News a list of Southwestern alumni with Ph.D.'s in chemistry was published. We regret that the name of Dr. Donald D. Bodé was not included. Dr. Bodé, a member of the Class of 1929 at Southwestern, received his Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Virginia in 1934.

The Alumni Office is aware of the fact that its records may not be entirely accurate, and therefore will welcome hearing from any alumni whose names should have appeared on this list or similar lists which may appear, but were left off due to records being incomplete. Your patience, understanding and help in efforts to obtain an accurate record on these particular projects will be appreciated.

Thank you. Goodbar Morgan Director of Alumni Affairs

Class of 1917

The class of 1917 was represented at the dinner and reception by Dr. Robert Price Richardson, Mr. David Black, and Mr. Ernest Mays. Dr. and Mrs. Richardson had been present for the inauguration of President Alexander earlier in the week.

Mr. Richard E. Davis wrote on May 1, "Thanks for the invitation to the alumni dinner Friday evening (for the oldsters), but it now seems that the press of business will prevent my attendance. Maybe it will be possible for me to attend the 50th anniversary of my graduation next year. At least, I hope so." Mr. Davis is the editor and publisher of "The Herald-Register," Trenton, Tennessee.

Class of 1920

Patrick Henry Cross, retired businessman and investor, died March 24 at his cabin on Ginger Creek, Kentucky Lake. Mr. Cross was married to the former Miss Mary Frances Pennebaker, a member of the class of 1924; they made their home at historic "Emerald Hill" in Clarksville, Tenn. He was associated with M. L. Cross Co. for years, and before retiring was a stockholder and operator of the Clarksville Ice and Coal Company. During World War I he served in the Navy, and had attended Culver Military Academy before entering Southwestern, where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. He was a communicant of Trinity Episcopal Church and a member of the Blue Wing Hunting Club.

The only member of the class of 1920 who could attend the reception May 6 honoring members of the classes from 1903-1920 was Dr. Walter J. Millard, who was accompanied by Mrs. Millard. However, a letter from Mr. Edgar Francisco, 704 Van Dorn Avenue, Holly Springs, Mississippi, states, "Certainly appreciated invitation to be with you on May 6th—my wife and I also appreciated invitation to dine at 6:30 that evening . . . As we are leaving May 2nd for California and Colorado it will be impossible to attend . . . The invitation and list were appreciated more than we can say." A letter from Mr. Mercer L. Gewin, Box 381, DeKalb, Mississippi, says, "I regret very much that I will not be able to attend the dinner and reception. My wife is slightly ill, to the extent she would not feel up to the trip, and I don't care to come alone. I appreciate the invitation, and the list enclosed is surely helpful. I have already written, and had a reply from a classmate, of whom I had long ago lost sight."

*EDITOR'S NOTE: It is with deep regret that we announce Mr. Francisco's death, on May 24, while on the western trip of which he wrote in the above letter. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church, Holly Springs, on May 27. In addition to Mrs. Francisco, he is survived by a son, Edgar Francisco III, '52, who resides in New Haven, Connecticut.

Class of 1922

The Alumni Office has been notified that Mr. William W. Irby, of Clarksville, Tenn., died on August 12, 1963. His son, W. W. Irby, Jr., resides at 308 Shanee Terrace in Clarksville.

One of the giants in the field of education in this country, Dr. Samuel Proctor Mc-Cutchen, died March 7 at Orange (N. J.) Memorial Hospital. He and Mrs. McCutchen made their home at 28 Hickory Drive, Maplewood, N. J. Professor of Social Studies at New York University's School of Education from 1941 until his retirement last year as chairman of the department, he was chairman of the University Senate in 1963-64, and president of the National Council for Social Studies in 1962. He had received the "Great Teacher Award" of New York University's Alumni Federation, and he was the co-author of America's second most widely used high school textbook on American history, titled "History of a Free People."

Class of 1926

John Riley was recently elected Junior Grand Warden of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Tennessee, culminating a proud history in Masonry. Mr. Riley is public relations manager of Southern Bell Telephone Company, Jackson, Tennessee. A past president of the Men's Bible Class at the First Presbyterian Church, he is an assistant Sunday School teacher and an elder. His activities as a Rotarian include charter membership and first president of Winchester Rotary, president of the Humboldt chapter, and charter membership in the Selmer Rotary Club. He is also a charter member of the Jackson North Side Lions Club and is serving his second term on the extension committee of Lions District 121. A past president of the Jackson Council of Telephone Pioneers of America, he is chairman of the Disaster Relief Committee of the Madison County Chapter of the American Red Cross; president of the Jackson-Madison County Health, Welfare and Safety Council; and a member of Southern Bell's "100-20" Club. He and Mrs. Riley live at 2911 Humboldt Highway. Their daughter, Anne, is a Southwestern graduate, and is married to an alumnus, Dr. Robert I. Bourne. Jr., of Camden, Tennessee.

I. Bourne, Jr., of Camden, Tennessee. Louise (Mayo '30) and Johnny Rollow, 822 Charles Place, and their daughter, Ann (Mrs. Neil Ross '52), of Clarksville, Tenn., flew to Germany in April and were met in Weisbaden by Lisa (Rollow) and Jeff Justis, both of whom are members of the class of 1955. Jeff, a doctor and USAF Major, was on leave for three weeks, during which the whole family toured Central Europe together.

Class of 1927

Eleanor Richmond was honored at the spring regional meeting of the Tennessee Division of American Association of University Women. The meeting, held in Mobile, saw the establishment of an endowment unit in the AAUW Fellowships Fund named in her honor. Eleanor has served as president of the state organization and of the Memphis chapter.

Class of 1928

Kenneth Perrine, 50 Randolph Road, Birmingham, Alabama, was one of the attorneys representing James E. Mills, editor of the "Birmingham Post-Herald," in a case taken before the U. S. Supreme Court, which struck down a state statute as gagging the press on election day.

Class of 1929

Wilson Mount has resigned his position as music director of St. Luke's Methodist Church in Memphis to go to the First Methodist Church of Union City, Tenn. The latter recently broke ground for a new education building and Wilson will be in charge of recreation and education. He will also serve as minister of music of the 1,000 member congregation.

Colie Stoltz is quite understandably proud of the fact that his music store has been chosen fourth in a national "Retailer of the Year" competition for outstanding brand name retail advertising and promotion. Colie also keeps busy as an orchestra leader, something he has been doing ever since he organized and led the first campus band at Southwestern in 1925. Bob Johnson '35 wrote in his "Press-Scimitar" column, "From that band, he drew the nucleus of his dance orchestra which was the first Memphis band to make an international vaudeville tour. "We played the bigtime circuit, Loew's and Pantages, all over the U. S., up into Canada, down into Mexico,' Colie said. He had 10 men, and they played with all the big turns of the day . . . Hayden Reynolds ('28), retired mayor of Starkville, was on piano . . . One musician, Jeff Causey ('27), is with Warner Bros. in Calif. now, and *Mackie Newton ('27) is a big manufacturer in California."

living in Puerto Rico, where they may be addressed at Box 22172, University of Puerto Rico Station, Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico 00932. John is on the faculty of the University.

John is on the faculty of the University. Mary McCollum Hunt (Mrs. Stanley A.), 635 Anastasia, Coral Gables, Fla. 33134, writes that she was sorry not to be present for the Alumni Day reunion. She had a valid excuse for not coming that day, since her daughter's wedding took place May 6, the day before. Other news of the Hunts is that they have a son serving in the Army and a they have a son serving in the Army and a two year old grandson. Mary, in the customer relations department of Sears Roebuck, owns up to the fact that at times "the Christian forbearance we were taught at Southwestern comes in handy. However, the work is interesting and never dull!"

W. Hamilton Walker '36, of Holly Springs, Miss., and Memphis, prominent physician and head of the urology department at Ken-nedy Veterans Hospital, died suddenly Jan-uary 29. Valedictorian of his class at University of Tenn. College of Medicine, he had his own clinic for years but had given up private practice in more recent years and devoted his time exclusively to Kennedy. of Memphis, no sooner saw daughter Cathy (class of '69) home from surgery that made her miss nearly all of her participation in the 1966 Cotton Carnival Court, than she was off to Nashville for the diocesan con-vention of the Episcopal Church. On the heels of that occasion, Gwen was anticipating the forthcoming nuptials of her son, George '61, and Betsy Breytspraak '63, daughter of Libby (Jones '40) and Jim '38, on June 14. To her mother plan to sail July 7 for Rome, where they will be joined by the Awsumbs' other son, Carl, who will have completed two years service with the Peace Corps in Africa; the three will then tour Italy, France, Switzerland, and England before sailing for home

John R. Pepper and Oscar Hurt '29 are among recently elected and installed vestry-men of St. John's Episcopal Church here.

Class of 1938

Jim Breytspraak has been named assistant vice president and division manager of Na-tional Trust Life Insurance Co., to head development of an ordinary life division. With 19 years' experience in life insurance, Jim for the past seven years has been area manager for Franklin Life and a partner in Breytspraak & Sheffe Insurance Agency. In his new position he will also serve as a staff consultant to the agency vice president, as ordinary consultant to the combination of field forces, and consultant on group life for the home office personnel.

Class of 1939

Ewing Carruthers has been elected pres-ident of the Association for Advanced Life Underwriting, with headquarters in Wash-ington, D. C. Membership to AALU is by invitation; the organization works primarily on legislative problems and keeping its members abreast of tax matters and legislation affecting them and their policy holders. Ex-cept for time out for Navy service during WW II, Ewing has been with Mutual Life Ins. Co. ever since graduation from Southwestern. In addition to this continuing asso-ciation, he is vice president of Donald Shep-herd Co. of Boston, insurance consulting firm, and does much of his business by flying to see his clients in his own twin-engine plane.

Class of 1940

Bill Jemison is a member of the executive committee of the 1966 Memphis Area Chamber of Commerce.

Jane (Lederer) and Wilson Northcross were the hosts, representing Pepper Sound Studios of Memphis, of which Wilson is executive vice president, on a recent trip to Paris. The company chartered a KLM Royal Dutch Airline DC-8 jet liner, and flew 127 broadcasters from all over the country to Paris for a week. This was Jane's first time to Europe . . . Wilson did his grand tour in WW II but never got to France even then. They have made arrangements to charter another similar flight, to Rome, in September.

Class of 1941

Bebe Harsh Shearon (Mrs. Elder) has been elected—officially and by acclamation! —as Chairman of the Class's next reunion, in 1971, and Frank England was "railroaded" —also by acclamation—as co-chairman. This action was duly taken at the reunion luncheon, following a program it would be hard to equal for humor, good fellowship, happy reminiscence, and underlying depths, revealing undeviating seriousness of purpose and thanksgiving. Certain it is, that Bebe and Frank will be excellent reunion chairmen— indeed, after the baptism of fire they under-went in organizing the 25th, it seems fairly safe to assume that the 30th will be a breeze.

In short, the "twenty-fifth reunion of the class of 1941" was an unmitigated success, from the early hours Saturday morning, May 7, when class members began arriving on campus, until their departure following the family church services held in Hardie Audi-torium Sunday morning. Each class member will receive during the summer a full report on all the activities of the weekend, so further details are omitted here. Our sincere appreciation, meanwhile, to all who gave so generously of their time and talent in en-suring such a happy outcome for this once in a lifetime occasion: Henry Boothe, Bland Cannon, Diana Crump, Pat Davis, Harry Hill, Cannon, Diana Crump, Pat Davis, Harry Hill, Elise Miles, Bill Morgan, Susan O'Brien, Elisabeth Scarborough, Bebe Shearon, Mary Elizabeth Walker, Frances Winchester, Ki Cavender, Frank England, Harriette Mc-Loughlin, Billy Murphy, Ruth & Baxter Poun-cey, Jac Ruffin, Elizabeth Wallace and Jasper Wood.

George W. Clarke, previously a member of the faculty at Presbyterian College, Clinton, the faculty at Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., recently accepted an appointment to the faculty at West Georgia College, Car-rollton, Ga. His brother, J. N. Clarke, is a member of the class of 1929 and his nephew, J. N. Bill Holeman, attorney at law, formerly associated with the law firm of Ross, Stark, Matzkin and Day, announces the removal of his office for the general practice of law to 815 Fifteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. Several months ago Memphis was revisited by Sam McCulloch and his wife. As always, they had interesting things to recount. Some four years ago they went to Mexico so Sam could concentrate on writing. He found, instead, that he was advising the village council on sanitation and myriad other problems. The outcome was that he joined the United States Information Service, as a cultural affairs officer. For two years he was stain Asuncion, Paraguay, where he tioned helped Paraguayan educational, cultural, and civic leaders develop five health and educa-tion centers. The centers offer classes in subjects ranging from cooking to leadership. In another project, Sam "spent more than a year assisting the National University of Asuncion in forming a department for training Paraguayans to teach English in sec-ondary schools and colleges." In response to queries about leftist street demonstrations, he said, "Latin Americans by and large are extremely happy over America's position of world leadership . . . In Asuncion, practically everyone you meet is pro-American. They are a very warm and friendly people—at least they were to us." The McCullochs were to begin another three-year tour after their Memphis visit-this time in Santiago, Chile.

Charles Reed is one of the 1966 directors of the Memphis Area Chamber of Commerce. Saw Charlie, our class president, on Alumni Day and at the 1941 Class Dance at the Uni-versity Club that night. He plans to start getting a reunion committee all primed this summer, so we can have a really good show when our TWENTY-FIFTH rolls around next spring. We have a lot to live up to, trying to outdo recent 25th Anniversary classes!

Class of 1943

Richard Allen, 328 South Fenwick, was recently elected first vice-president of the Memphis Cotton Exchange, a post which traditionally leads to the presidency the succeeding year.

Julian Nall has been installed as a deacon Trinity Presbyterian Church, Arlington, at Virginia.

The Alumni Office was notified in April that Dr. Lee Norwood Vaught, Jr., 123 Rebel Avenue, New Orleans, La., died three years ago.

Sally Johnston Schultz, married to a Major in the USAF and the mother of three daughters, wrote, "We have been fortunate to be stationed in many interesting places both in the U. S. and overseas. The most unforgettable experiences happened during our three year tour in Tripoli, Libya, North Africa. We visited the neighboring areas of Athens, Greece, Istabul, Damascus, Jerusalem, Italy and other parts of the continent as well as England. Other areas such as Egypt, Tunisia, Morocco, we found to be as fascinating as the studies we had about them. I could almost hear the remarks of Drs. Kelso and Davis as these facts came to be real . . . We enjoyed seeing the beautiful Southwestern campus on Easter ... wish all of you the best and hope to see you at our "25th"... we are most grateful for the opportunity for a liberal arts education. It was and still is a most rewarding ex-Perience." Reid Smith Mimi Reid Smith has two sons, 17 and 15 years old, by a former marriage,

All are pictured in the charming Christ-mas card Mimi lent us. Nancy Kizer Sorrells, Trenton, Tennessee, wrote that the Sor-rells' oldest daughter has been accepted at Southwestern ("I'm so happy over that!"). Mary Beth (Wilson) and John Spain, Grosse Point, Michigan, have three sons, the oldest of whom is a Southwestern freshman. Mabel Boone Stoudemayer, Greenville, South Carolina, was sorry she could not come to the reunion.
