'53 Football Highlighted By 7-6 Win Over Hendrix

A three-year victory drouth in football was broken October 22, when the Lynx nosed out the Hendrix Warriors from Conway, Arkansas, by a score of 7-6. The last previous victory was a 63-0 win from Central College on October 9, 1949. Southwestern did not field a team in 1951.

At the end of the game, Southwestern students, who have always taken athletics in stride, burst forth in a spontaneous victory celebration that exceeded anything seen on the campus since the defeat of Vanderbilt in 1936. Rushing upon the field, they hoisted to their shoulders Captain Reg Germany and Jimmy Higgason, who scored the winning touchdown, while other players gave the same treatment to Coach Glenn Johnson.

Several hundred celebrants then gathered just outside Fargason Field and called in chorus for players to come from the dressing room and acknowledge their cheers. They then captured President Rhodes, and when he joined the ring, they chorused a chant of "No classes tomorrow." Overpowered by this well-executed coup, he promised to intercede with Dean Johnson in their behalf. His intercession was successful.

The mob then divided. Part marched over to the lawn of the Kappa Sigma house and held an hour-long pep session. The rest leaped into cars and with horns wide open, shattering the ether of noiseless Memphis, they hied to Parkside Restaurant out on East Parkway, and all but disjointed the place. The proprietor, Mr. Pete Kay, looked on goodhumoredly as the joyous celebrants snakedanced in and around the restaurant, obstructed traffic on Parkway, and whooped it up with singing and cheering, both organized and disorganized.

The game itself was a thriller. Hendrix scored first and was threatening to repeat when Jimmy Higgason, alert and hard-driving back from Pine Bluff, Arkansas, intercepted a Warrior pass on his goal line, and twisted his way through opponents to mid field and then outran three pursuers. Crawford Street kicked the goal with only inches to spare. At the half the score was 7-6.

In the second half Hendrix threatened and as often, the Lynx beat back the threat, more than once by the skin of their fangs. The last minutes left the stands all but exhausted. Lynx fumbles, penalties, and punts that failed to develop gave Hendrix repeated scoring opportunities, but the Cats, buoyed up by the Spirit of 7-6 (no apologies for the pun) stopped every thrust—not quite cold, but at least cool. The game ended with

Mary Marsh

Mary Marsh Will Leave Southwestern January 1

With keen regret, Southwestern announces the resignation, effective January 1, 1954, of Miss Mary Marsh, who has been in the library since 1930 and head librarian since 1931. It has been through the guidance of Miss Marsh that the Library has been built up to its present size and that its services have been so widely extended. She untiringly held before the community the urgent need for a larger library, and she has worked unstintingly and unselfishly for the betterment of the College and the Library, in particular.

Because of the cramped and insufficient space allocated to the library on the third floor of Palmer Hall, Miss Marsh realized the need for constant reorganization of facilities and methods of operation so that the Library could meet the needs of the college community. Included in the original plans for the College was a separate library building, but as the years went by and additional space was not provided, she made every effort to make this lack known to the public.

When in 1947 Mr. Herbert Darnell donated a collection of books to be used at the discretion of the librarian, she held a sale of those books which were not usable by the Library and with the proceeds, which amounted to $105, started the Southwestern Library Fund. Through her persuasion it was decided that all library fines should go

Adult Education Program Centers in New Library

On November 4, two hundred Memphians gathered in the Burrow Library to celebrate the opening of the Memphis Adult Education Center. The principal feature of the occasion was a speech made by Mr. Robert J. Blakeley, Director of the Fund for Education's Test Cities Program. His subject was "Half Realized Dreams." He pointed out the great advantage that can come to the people of Memphis if they will take advantage of the programs of the Adult Education Center. It is not enough, he said, to provide opportunities for the people; they must also be given a stimulus to avail themselves of these opportunities.

Dr. John Osman, for some years a member of the Southwestern faculty and Director of Southwestern's program for Adult Education and now associated with the Test Cities project, spoke of the myth that education ends upon graduation from college. The Adult Education movement, he said, is dedicated to the purpose of continuing education indefinitely, to the end that Americans may be enabled to live up to their world responsibility.

Dr. Granville D. Davis, President of Little Rock Junior College, pointed out that the project promotes discussion groups and provides materials for discussion.

President Peyton N. Rhodes turned the Adult Education program over to Mayor Frank Tobey, who in turn presented to Mr. Thomas F. Turley, Jr., Chairman of the Memphis Adult Education Council, a document signifying the inauguration of the Test Cities project in Memphis.

Mr. Van Court Pritchard, council member, also spoke. Dr. Laurence F. Kinney, Southwestern professor and coordinator of the project, presided.

It was announced during the past summer that the Ford Foundation Fund for Adult Education had made Memphis one of twelve cities in the United States in which multiple programs of education for adults would be sponsored. The college offered to the city of Memphis the use of the north wing of the lower level of the Library for the Center. To finance the experiment the Directors of the Fund ear-marked $42,000 for Memphis to be distributed over a three-year period.

The program of the Center for 1953-54 includes fifteen programs for the people of Memphis. They are as follows:

1. The Jeffersonian Heritage, a series of half-hour radio programs broadcast over station WMPS on Mondays, to the ball in the Warriors' possession on the four-yard line, but not many fans would have bet that the battling Lynx Cats would have allowed a score, even had ample time been left.

The Lynx of 1953 are a better football team than the 1952 outfit. They have shown a strong defense except against passing, and considerable offensive punch, which has been largely nullified by excessive fumbling, probably the result of shifting from the single-wing to the split-T at the beginning of the season.

An encouraging factor is the considerable number of strong and promising new men on the squad. Hope springs eternal, and athletic-minded alumni are looking forward, with considerable basis for optimism, to a still better team next fall.

which a number of groups have agreed to tune in.

2. World Affairs Are Your Affairs, a ten-session course utilizing a book of essays, films, and discussion.
3. World Politics, a ten-session discussion program with selected readings. This program is now or will soon be under way in one hundred American cities.
4. Great Books, a series of discussion meetings, centering upon the major works of great minds and artists such as Milton, St. Augustine, and Machiavelli, to name only three. This is a continuation of a program launched some years ago at Southwestern. There are groups now engaged on the first, second, third and seventh year of discussion under this program.
5. The Film Tells A Story, presenting five great American and foreign films, showing a development in the movies.
6. The Universe Around Us, a course in science for nonscientists, with meetings on Wednesday evenings for eight weeks.
7. Human Freedom, a program of ten meetings, limited to twenty-five participants. It will center around certain writings of Locke, Hamilton, Rousseau, and the like.
8. 'Way Beyond the West, a study in the thought of Asia in fourteen meetings, utilizing tape recordings of lectures by Allan W. Watts of the American Academy of Asian Studies.
9. An Introduction to Music, an eight-session program intended to provide a deeper understanding and appreciation of music.
10. Great Men and Great Issues in Our American Heritage, a series utilizing films and books and intended to illuminate the issues faced by the founding fathers of the Republic.
11. Russian Foreign Policy, a study of Russian political philosophy in the light of the history of the Russian people.
12. American Foreign Policy, offered after January and open to those who have had a preliminary course in World Politics.

Alumnae Now Eligible For Membership in AAUW

Official notification has been received by President Peyton N. Rhodes that Southwestern at Memphis is on the approved list of the American Association of University Women. Southwestern women graduates holding the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science degrees are now eligible for membership in the Association. This is retroactive to include past alumnae.

This information came from Miss Henrietta M. Thompson, vice-president from the Southeast Central Region of the Association. The action was taken at the recent Washington meeting of the Board of Directors of the Association of which Dr. Susan B. Riley, of George Peabody College for Teachers, is the national president. Dean Flora Rawls, of Memphis State College, is state president, and the Memphis Branch is headed by Miss Eleanor Richmond, Southwestern alumna and assistant principal of Humes High School.

Mrs. C. L. Townsend, former Dean of Women and now Professor of Sociology at Southwestern, who has long been a member of the Memphis Branch of AAUW, urges Southwestern alumnae to take advantage of the opportunity to join this forward-looking educational organization. The Acting Dean of Women, Miss Eleanor Bosworth, also welcomes the many privileges open to Southwestern alumnae through membership in AAUW.

13. Biblical Studies, organized in two sections, each with not over thirty participants, and designed as a study of the Gospels in the light of recent research.
14. The Future of Cities, a series on the problems faced by metropolitan centers,

Three Memphis Business Men

Three new members have been added to the important Executive Committee of Southwestern by the Board of Directors. They are Norfleet Turner, President of the First National Bank of Memphis; A. Van Pritchard, General Agent for the Connecticut Life Insurance Company; and R. Don Warren, Vice President of Stratton-Warren Hardware Company.

Mr. Turner has been President of his bank since 1943. He has been prominent in civic affairs, having served several times as Director of the Community Chest and in the Chamber of Commerce and the local chapter of the Red Cross.

Mr. Pritchard is one of the organizers of the Memphis Life Managers Association, and he has served several times as its President. His many activities include Chairmanship of the Community Chest Drive. He is a member of Idlewild Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Warren has also been one of the most active of Memphis men in civic affairs and civic organizations. He has served as director in such important organizations as the Metropolitan YMCA, and the Memphis Rotary Club. He also is a member of Idlewild Presbyterian Church.

President Rhodes and members of the Board of Directors have expressed the deepest of pleasure at being able to enlist the services of three such able and distinguished men.

15. Let's Talk About, a series of discussion meetings based on reprints of challenging articles dealing with certain problems faced by the world today.

into this fund, and at the same time she conceived the idea for the Southwestern Library Memorial Fund, to which people in the community were asked to contribute. By the end of 1949 there was around $15,000 in this fund.

The announcement by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Burrow in June 1950 of their generous donation of the money for the erection of the Burrow Library was the happy culmination of all the hopes for a new library building.

Miss Marsh labored long and diligently in cooperation with the architects and the administrators in charge in order that the new building would incorporate the best technical facilities for the functioning of the building as a modern and well equipped library; so it was particularly fitting that she should have played a prominent part in the service of dedication of the new Burrow Library last October 8.

With the completion of the Burrow Library and the setting into operation of its intricate mechanism, she feels that her services to Southwestern can be terminated, and has made plans to enter a more specialized field of library work in New York.

A native of Monticello, Georgia, Miss Marsh received her B. S. degree from Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia, and her A. B. Library Science from Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia. She came to Southwestern in September 1930 as assistant librarian in charge of cataloging, having worked in the Atlanta Public Library in the cataloging department and at Limestone College, Gaffney, S. C. as librarian. The following June she became head librarian at Southwestern and has held that position until the present time.

During her years at the college here she continued to broaden her interests and outlook through post-graduate courses at various universities and through extensive travel. In 1936 she was one of a group of Southern college librarians chosen by the General Education Board to take summer courses in college library administration at the University of Chicago, and the next summer she returned for further courses.

In 1938 she sailed to England for study at Oxford University, and after completing her course she travelled on the Continent. She asked for a leave of absence from Southwestern in 1941 in order to do work in the army library in Puerto Rico, and when war was declared, she had the leave extended until June 1944, working in various bases in the West Indies. Her other travels include Mexico, Cuba, Bermuda, Canada, Europe, and the United States.

One of the most notable of the achievements of Miss Marsh during her tenure as Librarian is the fact that the book shelves are now open for the users to go into them and select those books which they need. This had not been the case for many years, since Southwestern's library, like most other libraries, had "closed stacks," which make books available only from the card catalog.

Another accomplishment of Miss Marsh at Southwestern is the enlargement of the

Marked Increase In Use of Library Noted

Southwestern's new Burrow Library is proving to be a boon to the student body surpassing all expectations. Student use of library facilities has increased by an estimated one hundred per cent over last year. The Reading Room has seen constant use by unusually large numbers of students. The Browsing Room is nearly always filled, and the individual study desks have been very popular, especially with advanced students. The increased use of records by music majors has caused the library staff to work overtime. The Conference and Seminar Rooms have been so well liked by professors that it has been necessary to reserve them in advance.

In addition to all this, students evidently love to loiter in and around the building. Faculty and students alike are exceedingly proud of it and have made it the outstanding show place of the campus.

The dedication of the Library was the principal event on the campus during the autumn months. On the evening of October 8, about two thousand guests gathered in the area in front of the Library to witness the formal dedication ceremonies.

The principal speaker was Dr. Clarence H. Faust, of New York, head of the Fund for the Advancement of Education, who stressed the importance of the library as the meeting place of the minds of today's students with the great minds of all the ages.

Four speakers preceding Dr. Faust ex-book collection from 18,000 volumes to 70,000, part of which growth is attributable to normal expansion, but much credit is due Miss Marsh for her continual interest in keeping the library up to date. She also has added to the regular and accepted services of the library the circulation of slides and records for the use of professors in the classroom and the lending of framed prints to dormitory students.

Miss Marsh's resignation is a great loss to the College and to the community at large.

pressed gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Burrow for the gift of the Library: the Rev. Frank W. Price, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., on behalf of the four supporting synods of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee; Mayor Frank Tobey, on behalf of the City of Memphis; Dean A. Theodore Johnson on behalf of the College; and William Hughes, President of the Student Body of Southwestern, on behalf of the students. Mr. Hughes presented to Mr. Burrow a twenty-five page book containing the signatures of the students of Southwestern and a message of appreciation from them.

A highlight of the ceremony was the presentation of the key to the Library and the opening of the doors. Mr. Walk C. Jones, Jr., of the firm of Walk C. Jones and Walk C. Jones, Jr., Architects, handed the key to Mr. Burrow, who in turn presented it to Mr. Sidney W. Farnsworth, Chairman of the Board of Directors. Mr. Burrow passed it to Miss Mary Marsh, head librarian, who turned the key in the doors and opened them wide.

Following the ceremonies, the guests literally thronged the building and were conducted on tours by students.

Marianna Gracey

The campus was deeply shocked to learn of the sudden death on last July 4 of Miss Marianna Gracey, Assistant Dean of Women. Miss Gracey, a graduate of Southwestern of the Class of 1950 with Distinction in Spanish, had assumed her duties at the College only last spring.

During her student days she held the Hugh M. Neely Scholarship for four years and was prominent in campus affairs. She served as President of the Kappa Delta Sorority, was a member of TORCH, Senior women's honorary society, and Alpha Theta Phi, honorary scholastic fraternity. Following her graduation she was chosen as exchange student to tour Europe during the summer months of 1950.

Her selection as Assistant Dean of Women is an indication of the high regard in which she was held by her alma mater.

Report on the 1953 Southwestern Alumni Fund

(As of November 28, 1953)

The 1953 Alumni Fund is rapidly moving into its final stage, and we are announcing the names of contributors, the percentage of participation of classes, and the percentage of all alumni in the Fund as of November 28, 1953.

There is still time for those who have not yet contributed to do so before the 1953 Alumni Fund ends on December 31. A final report will be given early in 1954.

To further show our appreciation to alumni who make a contribution to the College, regardless of what the contribution is for, we are counting in this report all contributions made by alumni. The name of the alumnus is placed under his class, and the amount contributed is included in the total amount of money contributed to the College by alumni throughout the year. All donations other than those to the Living Endowment Fund, Neely Mallory Memorial Gymnasium, Scholarship Fund, and General Fund will be listed under "Miscellaneous." We feel it is only right for alumni who make donations to Southwestern for things other than the four standard Alumni Fund projects to be recognized as alumni contributors, and are happy to include them in our Alumni Fund for the year in which contributions are made.

Alums Came Home To Campus On October 30

Alumni, students, and friends of Southwestern celebrated the 1953 Homecoming with two days of festivities. On Friday night, October 30, the alumni had their annual Pre-Homecoming Dinner-Dance at the University Club. This event was attended by a large number of alumni who enjoyed the food, fellowship, program and the dance that followed.

Special guests at the dinner were President and Mrs. Peyton N. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Farnsworth and Dr. Moore Moore, Sr. President-Emeritus and Mrs. Charles E. Diehl were unable to attend. Other special guests were Miss Elizabeth Carter, Homecoming Queen, and her escort, Bill Hughes, President of the Southwestern Student Body; Miss Lisa Rollow, S Club Princess, escorted by the president, Bennie Lamberth; and Miss Margaret Jones, Football Team Princess, escorted by the team captain, Reginald Germany. Tommy Cunningham, Commissioner of Social Activities at Southwestern, was also a guest. He reviewed the program for the next day on the campus, and extended an invitation to the alumni to participate.

Bob Amis, President of the Southwestern Alumni Association, presided at the dinner, and Jim Wadlington did a fine job of serving as Master of Ceremonies. Dr. R. P. Richardson, Vice-President in charge of Development at Southwestern, gave a short talk on the progress being made at the College and something of a report on its present situation. Jimmy Collier, Vice-President in charge of Reunions, Southwestern Alumni Association, was general chairman of the function.

The trophies for having the largest number of their alumni present at the dinner went to SAE Fraternity and Chi Omega Sorority. At the door-prize drawing, Craft Dewey won two tickets to the French Film Series being sponsored by the Adult Education Center and the Alliance Francaise.

Saturday's activities got off to an early start with a parade by the students in decorated cars in the vicinity of the campus. Fraternity and sorority members busied themselves putting the finishing touches on their lawn decorations before the judges arrived on the campus at 12 noon.

Every organization had an excellent display this year, and by and large these exhibits were perhaps the best ever done by the Greek lettrists.

Miss Jane Cullins, Memphis Commercial Appeal staff, Mr. Charles Taylor, Jr., President of the 1953 Memphis Cotton Carnival Association, and Mr. T. J. Foley, Jr., of the Early Maxwell Associates, chose the winner in each group. They selected Sigma Nu Fraternity and Delta Delta Delta Sorority for first place winners, with Kappa Alpha Fraternity and Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority second. All the lawn decorations received high praise from the judges as well as from the many alumni, students and friends who saw them.

A strong Millsaps Major football team made things a little unpleasant for the large crowd that turned out for the football game in the afternoon, beating our Lynx to the tune of 40-0. It really wasn't as bad as the score sounds though, since leaky pass defense and fumbleitis offset creditable ground defense and offense.

At the half, Homecoming Queen Elizabeth Carter and her Princesses, Lisa Rollow and Margaret Jones, were introduced and presented with flowers. Also at the half Bob Amis, President of the Alumni Association, presented trophies to the first and second place winners in the Lawn Decoration Contest.

After the game, all fraternities held open house, followed by the Homecoming Dance in the Gymnasium from 9 until 12.

Sw. Men of Memphis Grow in Number, Activity

The Southwestern Men of Memphis have been quite active lately, with a great deal of interest and enthusiasm being shown in the organization. The new officers, elected last spring, are Ed Boldt, President; Ed Thompson, Vice-president; John Ricker, Secretary; and Ira Pyron, Jr., Treasurer. With top-notch programs being given, the attendance at these monthly luncheon meetings has been excellent.

In addition to the monthly luncheon meetings, several other get-togethers have been held. One of these functions was a barbecue last August at Stanley Snow's Adanac Lodge. Swimming, sunning, horseshoe pitching, eating, good fun and fellowship were the order of the afternoon and evening. Highlight of the day was the horseshoe tournament. Dr. Henry Turner was victorious over a large field in the singles matches, defeating Dr. John D. Hughes in a hotly contested affair. Goodbar Morgan teamed up with champion Henry Turner to defeat Bill Haynes and Dr. Perry Bynum for the doubles championship. Ed Boldt and the other officers were so pleased over the turnout that they plan to make this barbecue an annual affair. Henry Springer and Ira Pyron, Jr. were in charge.

The evening dinner meeting held at the University Club on October 15 was another outstanding event. Captain Guy King, '48, recently released from a Korean prisoner of war camp, was the guest speaker. Captain King gave a most interesting talk on his experiences in Korea to a large group of Southwestern men.

With an active membership of about a hundred, and a steady increase evident, President Boldt and the other officers are making plans for increased activity by the Southwestern Men of Memphis.

In this view of the Homecomers, the faces of many alumni appear.

Dr. Harris E. Kirk Dies

The Rev. Dr. Harris E. Kirk, one of the most distinguished of Southwestern alumni, died on November 7 in the manse of Franklin Street Presbyterian Church in Baltimore, of which church he had been pastor for fifty-two years.

Widely regarded as the outstanding pulpit orator of the Southern Presbyterian Church, he had served as Moderator of the General Assembly in 1928 and was the author of a number of books on religious subjects. For many years he spent the summers in England, where he was annually visiting minister at London's Westminster Congregational Chapel.

Dr. Kirk was born in Pulaski, Tennessee, on October 12, 1872, and graduated from Southwestern Presbyterian University in 1897. After holding pastorates in Nashville, Tennessee, and Florence, Alabama, he was called to the Franklin Street Church in Baltimore in 1901. He was later awarded the D. D. and LL. D. degrees by his alma mater. In 1925 he had the opportunity to become the pastor of the largest and wealthiest Presbyterian church in the East, the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York, but preferred to remain in Baltimore.

He was Professor of Biblical Literature in Goucher for a number of years and delivered occasional lectures at Johns Hopkins, not only on religious subjects, but also on the Romantic poet, William Blake, of whose works he was an accomplished interpreter. He lectured at many other colleges in various parts of the United States. For example, for seven consecutive years he delivered the annual lecture on historical Christianity at Princeton.

His last visit to Southwestern was in 1947, when, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation, he delivered the baccalaureate sermon. It will be remembered as one of the outstanding addresses of its kind given within memory at Southwestern.

Dr. Kirk is survived by his widow, the former Helen McCormick, of Bessemer, Alabama; two daughters, Mrs. Julius Lane Wilson, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Harry Jacques Verner, Jr., of Baltimore; and a son, Harris E. Kirk, Jr., also of Baltimore.
