In that effort, it is important for the members of the college community to be well informed regarding campus crime statistics, crime reporting procedures and crime prevention.

The particular crime categories cited in this annual report are those required by federal legislation, specifically the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act of 1998.

If you have any questions about any part of this report, please contact John Blaisdell, Director of Campus Safety (901-843-3881).

Rhodes College Vision Statement

Rhodes College aspires to graduate students with a lifelong passion for learning, a compassion for others, and the ability to translate academic study and personal concern into effective leadership and action in their communities and the world. We will achieve our aspiration through four strategic imperatives:

1. Student Access

To attract and retain a talented, diverse student body and engage these students in a challenging, inclusive and culturally-broadening college experience.

2. Student Learning

To ensure our faculty and staff have the talent, the time and the resources to inspire and involve our students in meaningful study, research and services.

3. Student Engagement

To enhance student opportunities for learning in Memphis.

4. Student Inspiration

To provide a residential place of learning that inspires integrity and high achievement through its beauty, its emphasis on values, its Presbyterian history, and its heritage as a leader in the liberal arts and sciences.

Adopted by the Rhodes Board of Trustees January 17, 2003

Campus Safety Mission Statement

To provide for the safety and security of all persons and property within the Rhodes community so as to enable the educational commitment of the College to go forward.

The Role of Campus Safety

The Campus Safety Office is structured within the Rhodes' Division of Student Affairs, putting Campus Safety in close contact with all aspects of student life.

The primary mission of the Campus Safety Department is to preserve the safety and security of the campus community to enable the mission of the college to go forward. This mission includes comprehensive efforts aimed at protecting our community from threats to both person and property. Although the Campus Safety staff is considered a private security and safety force, they are responsible for holding community members accountable to all state and local laws, college policies and procedures, security, safety and emergency responses. As a "first responder" Campus Safety stands ready and well trained to provide support services to meet the many and varied needs of the Rhodes Community.

Due to the importance of Campus Safety, students are advised that it is a specific offense of the student code of conduct to fail to comply with the directions of a college official including those of Campus Safety or to fail to identify oneself to a college official including those officers in Campus Safety.

Campus Enforcement Policy Statement

- Campus safety does not have authority to arrest
- Memphis Police Department has enforcement authority
- Accurate and prompt reporting
 - a) 24/7 staff that will respond and take reports
 - b) Daily crime logs are maintained by the Director of Campus Safety and available upon request.

Monitoring and Reporting of Criminal Activity

- Cameras
- FOBS
- Emergency Phones
- 24/7 Security

Student behavior off campus is subject to the laws of the state of Tennessee and enforcement by Memphis Police Department. Additionally, students can also be held accountable for their behavior off campus administratively by the college.

Rhodes College Student Handbook Alcohol & Social Event Policy

Social and Alcohol Policy

Philosophy

In 2009, led by a group of students, the college adopted the following statement:

As a community we embrace the vision of a healthy and balanced social environment, grounded in trust and open communication among faculty, staff, and students. Such an environment fosters personal and community growth and embodies a sense of responsibility and accountability to self and others. This vision depends upon each member's commitment to achieve and maintain inclusiveness, consistency, continual education, and the growth of shared traditions. This is our duty to one another.

Rhodes supports behavior and social interactions that are:

- Legal
- Responsible
- Healthy
- Reflective of our community values

Expectations and Procedures

Responsible and Healthy Behavior

- There is a time and place for alcohol consumption that is consistent with certain college activities and times of day. Behavior should demonstrate respect for the campus, its visitors, and its community.
- Reasonable and safe consumption happens when drinking is done in moderation and not toward a goal of inebriation. When drinking is the focus of an activity or gathering, consumption is less likely to be reasonable and safe. Drinking during or before certain high-risk activities or in conjunction with health conditions or medications is dangerous to both the student and his or her surrounding community.
- Public intoxication is not a community value or activity endorsed by the social policy or alcohol policy of the College. Public intoxication is defined as a state of inebriation indicating impaired judgment, visible intoxication, or behavior that endangers or threatens the welfare of self and others.
- Good Samaritan Statement: The health and safety of students is a priority for the Rhodes community. Because of this, the College has adopted a Good Samaritan Statement, and students are expected to assist fellow community members by utilizing this service. Students are to contact Campus Safety or Residence Life staff when they believe an impaired/intoxicated student is in need of assistance. In case of a medical emergency, students should call 911. When a student or organization calls for assistance, neither the student/organization, nor the impaired student will be subject to an alcohol violation, unless the student involved demonstrates a repeated lack of care for him/herself and the campus community. This policy does not protect students from violations of other college policies, such as threatening/causing physical harm, sexual assault, harassment, damage to property, hazing, etc. Nor does this policy prevent action by local and state authorities. Staff members will record names of intoxicated students to allow for appropriate follow-up, which may result in timely completion of alcohol education programs, assessment, or treatment, depending upon the level of concern for the student's health and safety.
- In order to promote safer alcohol consumption and individual responsibility, common containers, including kegs, are not permitted.
- The College supplies wristbands to students who have turned 21, have had the requisite training, and signed their registration card. Use of the wristband greatly eases students' proof of legal age.

Hosting Events and Parties

All events planned and hosted by Rhodes College departments and registered organizations must use the Events Management System to:

- Reserve the location (indoor, outdoor, and off-campus) three days prior to the event start date. If coordination with other departments listed below, arrangements are needed at least three days in advance.
- Arrange catering through Aramark and request any of the following: set-up from Physical Plant (chairs, tables, stage, etc.), AV equipment from the Barret Media Center, Campus Safety if cash is collected or security is needed, and publicity through Communications.
- In planning of events where alcohol is anticipated, the host will work with the advisor (if student group) or the VP for Finance and Business Affairs (faculty and staff) and Campus Safety to plan logistics and procedures related to compliance with the law, organizational rules and by-laws, and the well-being of guests.

- Advertising for events must follow the Posting Signs Policy in the Student Handbook.
- Clean-up of events on campus must be completed by 8 a.m. the following morning unless an earlier time is requested in advance.

Regulatory and Contractual Compliance

- Aramark is Rhodes College's approved contract vendor for food and beverages.
- In compliance with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, possession and consumption of alcohol is prohibited at National Collegiate Athletic Association athletic events.
- No organization shall furnish alcoholic beverages to students on campus or at any College function.
- Requests for exceptions to these procedures should be made to the Dean of Students for student groups or the VP for Finance and Business Affairs for other groups.

Good Samaritan Policy

The health and safety of students is a priority for the Rhodes community. Because of this, the college has adapted a Good Samaritan Policy. Rhodes College Student Handbook Policy on Drugs

Drug-Free Workplace

Rhodes complies with the requirement of the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988. The college will not tolerate the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensing, possession, or use of a controlled substance or the misuse of medications or other legal drugs on the Rhodes campus. Such activity is associated with criminal activity, and it is a threat to the personal safety of the people who work and live on the campus, and a threat to the reputation and mission of the college.

The possession, use, sale or distribution of illegal drugs, the misuse or abuse of medications or other legal drugs on the Rhodes campus is prohibited. Such conduct:

1. Violates the law;
2. Violates one's physical and mental health; and
3. Violates the fabric of the community with serious security risks resulting in dealing with individuals operating outside the law.

The students, faculty and staff of Rhodes, as citizens, are responsible for knowing and complying with all applicable state and local laws that make it a crime to possess, sell, deliver or manufacture those drugs considered to be "controlled substances" by the state of Tennessee. Any member of the Rhodes community who violates the law is subject to both prosecution and punishment by civil authorities and to disciplinary proceedings by the College.

Students, faculty or staff at Rhodes are subject to disciplinary action for the possession, manufacture, use, sale or distribution (by either sale or gift) of any quantity of any prescription drug or controlled substance or for being under the influence of any prescription drug or controlled substance, except for the appropriate use of an over-the-counter medication or for the prescribed use of medication in accordance with the instructions of a licensed physician.

Controlled substances include, but are not limited to, marijuana, cocaine, cocaine derivatives, heroin, amphetamines, barbiturates, LSD, PCP, and substances typically known as "designer drugs" such as "ecstasy" or "eve." Possession of paraphernalia associated with the use, possession or manufacture of a prescription drug or controlled substance is prohibited. Students, faculty or staff also are subject to disciplinary action for the misuse or abuse of mind-altering substances (e.g., Amyl Nitrate, Ephedrine, etc.).

The penalties to be imposed by the college may range from probation to suspension or expulsion from one's place of residence, to expulsion from enrollment, or termination from employment. However, the following minimum penalties shall be imposed, at the discretion of the college.

Student Penalties

The minimum penalty for a first-time violation of the Drug Policy for misuse or abuse of legal drugs or the illegal use or possession of a prescription drug, controlled substance or drug paraphernalia will be a $100 fine, disciplinary probation for a full year, and requirement for participation in a drug abuse education and/or treatment program. Parental notification is also likely. Any student who violates the Drug Policy for misuse or abuse of legal or illegal use or possession of a prescription drug, controlled substance or drug paraphernalia for a second time will be suspended from the College for at least one year.

Failure to complete a required drug class or a drug evaluation within six weeks will result in: (1) the inability to register at enrollment clearance for the following semester until requirements are met; and (2) the possibility of additional sanctions.

The penalty for a violation of the Drug Policy for sale, distribution or manufacture for sale of a prescription drug, controlled or mind-altering substance, or drug paraphernalia will be permanent expulsion from the College.

Employee Penalties

All Rhodes College employees are responsible for compliance with the College Drug Policy. The following employee regulations represent the college's policy concerning illegal drugs:

1. While at work, all employees are prohibited from being under the influence of illegal drugs. Violations of this regulation will be subject to discipline, including termination.
2. The sale, possession, transfer or purchase of illegal drugs on college property or while performing college business is strictly prohibited. Any such actions will be reported to appropriate law enforcement officials and is cause for immediate termination.
3. Employees who exhibit chronic erratic or unusual behavior, incur excessive absences or incidents of tardiness, are involved in a work-related accident or otherwise give the college reasonable cause to believe they are under the influence of drugs will be subject to drug and alcohol testing.

Appeals Process: Employees will have the right to appeal any disciplinary action that is consistent with the appeals process as described in the college handbook.

Summary of State Law Concerning Drugs

The following summary of the Tennessee Code Annotated is provided to promote increased awareness of the Tennessee laws concerning controlled substances. This summary is not intended to be a restatement of the law nor a summary of all of the laws relating to controlled substances. All members of the Rhodes community are responsible for compliance with laws concerning controlled substances.

It is a criminal offense to knowingly manufacture, deliver, sell or possess with the intent to manufacture, deliver or sell controlled substances. The state of Tennessee defines seven categories of controlled substances. Depending upon the type and quantity of substance, felony penalties include fines ranging from $5,000 to $500,000 and imprisonment for not less than one year to not more than 60 years.

For misdemeanor possession of a controlled substance, the penalty is imprisonment of not more than 11 months and 29 days and a $2,500 fine.

The term “drug paraphernalia” means any equipment, products and materials of any kind that are primarily used, intended for use or designed for the use by the person in possession of them in planting, propagating, cultivating, growing, harvesting, manufacturing, compounding, converting, producing, processing, preparing, testing, analyzing, packaging, repackaging, storing, containing, concealing, injecting, ingesting, inhaling or otherwise introducing into the human body, a controlled substance. (T.C.A. 22-42A-1).

The maximum penalty for unlicensed possession of drug paraphernalia is a Class A misdemeanor with imprisonment up to 11 months and 29 days in jail and a $2,500 fine.

The maximum penalty for the unlicensed possession of drug paraphernalia with intent to sell, deliver or manufacture a controlled substance is a Class E felony with imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than six years or a fine of not more than $5,000 or both.

Health Risks

People who abuse alcohol or drugs risk damage to both their mental and physical health. The following information includes some health risks associated with misuse of alcohol and drugs.

Alcohol: Alcohol consumption causes a number of changes in behavior and physiology. Even low doses significantly impair judgment, coordination and abstract mental functioning. Statistics show that alcohol use is involved in a majority of violent behaviors on college campuses, including acquaintance rape, vandalism, fights and incidents of drinking and driving. Continued abuse may lead to dependency, which often causes permanent damage to vital organs and deterioration of a healthy lifestyle.

Cannabis (Marijuana, Hashish): The use of marijuana may impair or reduce short-term memory and comprehension, alter sense of time and reduce coordination and energy level. Users often have a lowered immune system and an increased risk of lung cancer. The active ingredient in marijuana, THC, is stored in the fatty tissues of the brain and reproductive system for a minimum of 28 to 30 days.

Hallucinogens: Lysergic acid (LSD), mescaline and psilocybin cause illusions and hallucinations. The user may experience panic, confusion, suspicion, anxiety and loss of control. Delayed effects, or flashbacks, can occur even when use has ceased. Phencyclidine (PCP) affects the section of the brain that controls the intellect and keeps instincts in check. Because the drug blocks pain receptors, violent PCP episodes may result in self-inflicted injuries.

Cocaine/Crack: Cocaine users often have a stuffy, runny nose and may have a perforated nasal septum. The immediate effects of cocaine use include dilated pupils and elevated blood pressure, heart rate, respiratory rate and body temperature, followed by depression. Crack, or freebase rock cocaine, is extremely addictive and can cause delirium, hallucinations, blurred vision, severe chest pain, muscle spasms, convulsions and even death.

Amphetamines: Amphetamines can cause a rapid or irregular heartbeat, tremors, loss of coordination, collapse and death. Heavy users are prone to irrational acts.

Heroin: heroin is an opiate drug that causes the body to have diminished pain reactions. The use of heroin can result in coma or death due to a reduction in heart rate.

Rhodes Weapon Policy

The possession by students, employees or visitors of weapons of any type—including but not limited to firearms, B-B guns, pellet guns, bows and arrows, hunting knives, explosives or any other object that could be used as a deadly weapon—is strictly prohibited on college property.

Any violations of this policy should be reported immediately to Campus Safety at 843-3880. Prohibition of such weapons extends to the property and/or vehicles controlled by a subject if on campus and/or in the immediate surrounding areas of campus. Questions regarding this policy should be directed to the Director of Campus Safety.

Reporting of Crimes

Rhodes College encourages the prompt reporting of any incident that compromises the safety, health or rights of the campus community. The Campus Safety Department is the primary responder for campus emergencies. Rhodes College and Campus Safety work cooperatively with local law enforcement agencies when criminal activity is perpetrated by students beyond the jurisdiction of the college.

The Director of Campus Safety reviews the crime statistics reports to avoid duplicating statistics and for the proper classification of the offense. Statistics received from the Memphis Police Department are compared to the campus crime log to avoid duplication of reported offenses. The statistics reported herein have been obtained from the following sources:

- Rhodes College Campus Safety Department
- Memphis Police Department
- Faculty/Staff of Rhodes College

Offenses within this report are listed under four location types, which are as follows:

On campus: Any building or property owned or controlled by an institution of higher education within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution and use by the institution in direct support of or in a manner related to the institution's educational purposes, including residence halls and property within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution that is owned by the institution but controlled by another person, is used by students and supports institutional purposes.

On campus – includes all crimes reported in resident halls.

Noncampus Building: Any building or property owned or controlled by a student organization recognized by the institution and any building or property owned or controlled by an institution of higher education that is used in direct support of, or in relation to, the institution's educational purposes, is frequently used by students and is not within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution.

Public Property: All public property that is within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution such as a sidewalk, street, thoroughfare or parking area and is adjacent to a facility owned or controlled by the institution if the facility is used by the institution in direct support of, or in a manner related to, the institution's educational purpose.

Residence Hall: All residence halls or other residential facilities for students on campus.

Crime Prevention

Crime prevention is defined as the anticipation, recognition, and appraisal of a crime risk and the initiation of some action to remove or reduce that risk. Below are recommendations that can reduce the risk of being victimized:

- Lock your door whenever you leave your room for any length of time.
- Always lock your vehicle doors.
- Never prop open a residence hall door or a fence gate.
- Do not leave valuables or cash in plain view.
- Do not loan your room key or fob to anyone.
- Do not put your name or address on your room key.
- Take all valuables with you when you leave school for extended periods, such as breaks.
- Itemize your possessions on file, recording the description and serial number. Keep a copy of a file in a safe place.
- Never let unauthorized persons into your room, residence hall or secure areas. Always ask for identification and report any suspicious activity to Campus Safety.
- Avoid working or studying alone in a campus building. If working late, contact Campus Safety for an escort.

Crime Reporting

Rhodes College strongly encourages any victim of or a witness to a crime that occurs within the jurisdiction of Rhodes College regardless of its nature to report the incident immediately to Campus Safety to ensure that prompt and appropriate action can be taken. Crimes occurring off campus should be reported to the local law enforcement agency having proper jurisdiction. If you are unsure of the proper jurisdiction, contact Campus Safety and they will assist you in contacting the proper agency.

Things to remember when reporting a crime

- Obtain a description of the perpetrator: Attempt to obtain the sex, age, race, hair color, clothing and distinguishable features. Also attempt to obtain the vehicle information, such as a plate number, color, type of vehicle and direction of travel.
- Preserve the crime scene: Do not touch any items involved in the incident. Close off the area of the incident and do not allow anyone into the crime scene until the police arrive.
- Sexual assault: If you are the victim of a sexual assault, report it immediately. Preserve the physical evidence. Do not bathe, douche, use the toilet or change clothing. If you have been raped, you should seek medical treatment immediately regardless of whether you report the matter to the police. (Further information is found under Sexual Assault and Rape on pgs. 12-18)
- Telephone harassment: Obscene or threatening telephone calls should be reported immediately. Other harassing phone calls should be reported if they persist. If you receive such a call, remain calm and hang up. Do not talk or try to discover who the caller is. If calling persists, keep a log of the times calls were received, what was said and a description of the callers voice.
- Bomb threats: If you know of a bomb threat, report it immediately to the Director of Campus Safety at ext. 3881 or Campus Safety at ext. 3880. Notify your supervisor, department head then wait for instructions.
- Indecent exposure: Exposing one's self is a crime in Tennessee. If you observe someone doing this, contact Campus Safety. If off campus, contact the local law enforcement agency having proper jurisdiction.

Confidential Reporting

Rhodes College encourages the reporting of all crimes, yet we also recognize the necessity of maintaining confidentiality. As such, witnesses or victims may choose to report on a voluntary and confidential basis to either, the Dean of Students, Director of Residential Life, Director of Campus Safety, Chaplin or any other staff or faculty member of Rhodes College.

All crimes falling under the criteria of the FBI Uniform Crime Reporting Guide will be included in the annual disclosure of crime statistics. Statistical reporting shall not require the divulgence of privileged information.

Who Can You Report A Crime To

On Campus: Campus Safety is the preferred department to report a crime to. However, in addition to Campus Safety, you may report a crime to any of the following staff members:

- Dean of Students – Carol Casey – 843-3815

Security And Building Access

Rhodes College Campus Safety Officers are responsible for assisting in the enforcement of rules and regulations established by the college and the Department of Campus Safety. They are also among the primary responders to incidents within the campus jurisdiction. Other services provided by Campus Safety, include but are not limited to:

- Campus patrol, either on foot or in a vehicle.
- Building checks.
- Parking enforcement/permit checking.
- Security surveys.
- Security escorts.
- Documenting incidents that occur on campus.

Throughout the year, safety and crime prevention tips will be offered. Campus Safety interacts and cooperates with local law enforcement agencies and requests that all crimes or suspected crimes be reported immediately. You may report a crime by contacting Campus Safety at Ext. 3880. Campus Safety is located at #5 Spann on Tutwiler Avenue and University Street.

Most campus facilities are open during normal business hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Certain facilities, buildings and offices may be restricted as to hours of access. Access to residence buildings and areas are restricted to residents, their guests, college staff for the purpose of maintenance, housekeeping, security and other administrative functions. Room keys and electronic fobs are issued to all resident students and fobs to all commuter students. All keys and fobs remain the property of the college and may not be duplicated. Lost or stolen keys or fobs should be reported immediately to the Resident Assistant or Campus Safety. The lock will then be changed and new keys/fobs will be issued to the student. If a student is locked out of their room, a staff member may open their room door only after proper identification/room assignment is verified. In the event the resident's student ID is locked in the room, the staff member will remain in the hallway with the door open until identification is produced.

Afterhours access to academic building is on an as-needed and only those names provided to Campus Safety will be allowed access. Student workers are issued to certain academic areas with prior arrangements.

Guests And Visitors

Rhodes has always welcomed guests and visitors to the campus. However, we also recognize that there are certain identification, safety and security problems attendant with this practice. Therefore, it is essential that guidelines be established to insure the well being of the college community. While it is impossible to cover every variable, the following general policies apply with respect to visitors to the campus.

Visitors to the campus are generally prospective students and parents, alumni, and those who have business with academic or administrative departments. Once the identity and purpose of these persons are confirmed they should always be made to feel welcome and accorded the same amenities that faculty, staff and students are allowed.

Guests of students are welcome on campus. Guests staying with a student overnight along with their host-student must register with Campus Safety in person. Guests are expected to remain under the auspices of the host student and the host student bears the responsibility for the guest's behavior and compliance with campus policy. Rhodes accessible keys should never be loaned to guests. Guests are not allowed during exams. When it appears that guests have been completely abandoned by a host, they will be asked to leave the campus. Host responsibilities for a guest should not be transferred from one student to another.

Visitors arriving at a Welcome Center to see a student, faculty member or staff person, will be detained until the host can be located by the officer by phone. If the host cannot be located, the visit will not be allowed. If the host is located, he/she must authorize the visit before entry is allowed. Students expecting a visitor, who is not staying overnight, may call the Campus Safety Welcome Centers (Bailey - #3894; Phillips - #3883) and advise the officer on duty whom to expect, the time of arrival, and the name of the host. If this is done, the visit is allowed regardless of phone confirmation of visit. If you're unable to connect to a Welcome Center, you may call the Campus Safety Control Center at #3880.

Timely Warning

When a crime occurs that poses a threat to the campus community, a timely warning will be issued. Once a situation has been identified and or the appropriate information received, the campus community will be notified via print, phone call or electronic media within 24 hours but no later than 48 hours.

The Clery Act, enacted by the Congress and signed into law by the President in 1990 as the Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990, requires all institutions of higher education to make timely warning reports to the campus community on certain crimes that represent a continuing threat to students and employees and that were reported to officials with significant responsibility for student and campus activities, campus police or local police. These reports according to the legislation will be disseminated in a manner that will aid in the prevention of similar occurrences.

To meet the provisions of this portion of the legislation and to fulfill our duty to monitor and to reduce campus crime and the fear of crime, the Office of Campus Safety maintains a campus alert system. Campus alerts are used when crimes reported to the office of Campus Safety represent an imminent or continuing threat to students and employees.

The Director of Campus Safety consults with members of the campus alert team, as deemed necessary, to determine if a report represents such a threat. Members of the campus alert team include, but are not limited to, the Director of Campus Safety, either the Dean of Students or the Associate Dean of Students, either the Executive Assistant to the President or the Special Assistant to the President for Community Relations, and the Director of Communications (four persons). When warranted, the campus alert is written by the Director of Communications or her designee and the draft is approved by the campus alert team.

The alert typically contains the following information about the event: date, time, location, criminal activity. Descriptions of suspects involved in alleged criminal activity are used only when the witness or victim is certain about the information and there are multiple and specific descriptions provided that can aid in identification. The alert is signed by the Director of Campus Safety and posted on building bulletin boards and emailed to the Rhodes College community within one business day of the occurrence of the crime or the determination that a crime trend poses a threat.

Campus Sex Crimes Prevention Act (CSCPA)

The federal Campus Sex Crime Prevention Act (CSCPA-Section 1601 of Public Law 106-386) amends the Jacob Wetterling Crimes Against Children and Sexually Violent Offender Registration Act. In addition to the Wetterling Act, CSCPA also amended the Clery Act, an annual crime reporting law and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) to allow disclosure of this information regarding students.

As provided in the Wetterling Act, any person required to register under a state sex offender registration program must notify the state regarding each institution of higher education in that state at which he or she is employed or is enrolled and must alert the state of any changes in enrollment or employment status.

Sex offender registration information is to be transmitted from each state to the law enforcement agency where the registered sex offender resides. In Tennessee, the sex offender list is maintained at the county level. You can locate the Tennessee Sex Offender Registry Map of the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation at <http://tnmap.state.tn.us/sor/> or the Shelby County Sheriff's Department at <http://www.shelby-sheriff.org/>. If you have any questions concerning the sex offender registry, contact Campus Safety and we can assist you with your needs.

Sexual Harassment And Assault Policy

Sexual Harassment

Rhodes College is committed to providing a working, educational, social, and residential environment for all members of our college community, including all faculty, staff, and students, that is free from sexual harassment. Sexual harassment in any form is unacceptable behavior and will not be tolerated. It is a form of misconduct that undermines the institutional mission of the college. Sexual harassment may be defined as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, physical conduct, written, verbal or electronic communication or printed materials of a sexual nature when:

1. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment or educational experience;
2. Submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as the basis for employment or academic decisions affecting such individual; and/or
3. Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work, academic performance, participation in co-curricular activities, or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working, learning, social, or residential environment.

Sexual harassment can take many forms, and the determination of what constitutes sexual harassment will vary according to the particular circumstances. Sexual harassment may be described generally as unwelcome sexual behavior that a reasonable person would find offensive and that adversely affects the working, learning, or campus-living environment. Such conduct can have the effect of unreasonably interfering with academic performance and create an intimidating, hostile, or offensive learning environment, thereby infringing upon the rights of third parties and the rights of the student to whom it is directed.

It is the responsibility of managers, supervisors, department chairpersons, directors and the President's Staff to ensure that employees and contract employees under their direction or supervision are informed of this policy. In order to promote and uphold the college's commitment to a harassment-free environment, it is the responsibility of all members of the college community to report alleged violations of this policy to the appropriate college official. Allegations involving a faculty or staff member should be reported either to the Provost or the Director of Human Resources. Allegations against a student should be reported to the Dean of Students. Investigations will be conducted as promptly and in as confidential a manner as possible. Anyone who retaliates against any individual making complaints of sexual harassment, or anyone making a false or malicious charge against a member of the community is in violation of this policy and will be subject to sanctions accordingly. Violations of this policy involving college employees will be dealt with according to Rhodes policies regarding “Dismissal for Cause” and “Employee Discipline.” Allegations against students will be dealt with by the procedure outlined below.

Sexual Assault

Sexual assault includes but may not be limited to rape, forcible sodomy or sexual penetration with an inanimate object, the intentional touching of unwilling person's intimate parts (defined as genitalia, groin, breast or buttocks, or clothing covering them), or forcing an unwilling person to touch another's intimate parts. To constitute an assault, the above acts must be committed without the consent of the victim, by threat or intimidation, or through the use of the victim's mental or physical helplessness of which the accused was aware or should have been aware.

Sexual assault will not be tolerated in the Rhodes community. It may be punishable by both civil and criminal legal action and constitutes a serious violation of the Standards of the Rhodes Community and the Sexual Harassment and Assault Policy.

Geographic Jurisdiction

To fall within the jurisdiction of these procedures, the act of sexual harassment or assault must be committed against a Rhodes student by a Rhodes student or employee (a) on college-owned or leased property or (b) at a college-related function. Because students may also be sanctioned for conduct which constitutes a hazard to the health, safety, or well being of members of the college community or which is detrimental to the college's interest whether such conduct occurs on campus, off campus or at college-sponsored events, the college reserves the right to pursue disciplinary action of off-campus incidents on a case by case basis.

Reporting Sexual Harassment And Assault Among Students

Students who wish to report violations of this policy by other students should file a complaint with the Dean of Students. Students are encouraged to have a trusted friend accompany them for support as they determine with the Dean which course of action the student is most comfortable with. Rhodes is required by law to ask students who report any degree of rape occurring on Rhodes property if they wish to file a police report. Students are not required to file a police report. If a student chooses to file a report, the Memphis Police Department, in cooperation with Rhodes Campus Safety, will interview the student and determine if she or he wishes to press criminal charges. Students retain the right to determine for themselves whether or not to pursue criminal charges. Students who wish to pursue criminal or civil charges are encouraged to seek the advice of an attorney. A student who chooses not to press criminal charges may still pursue any of the administrative options outlined below with the college. Any complaints filed with the Dean of Students or law enforcement should be filed as soon as possible after the occurrence to facilitate a prompt and thorough investigation.

Any student who is the victim of harassment or assault (whether on or off campus) is encouraged to use the confidential services of the Counseling and Student Development Center (843-3128). Information regarding sexual assault disclosed to Counseling Center Staff is confidential and will not be reported to the Dean's office, parents, or law enforcement agencies without the express written consent of the student. Students who have been sexually assaulted may also use the off-campus services of the Memphis Sexual Assault Resource Center (272-2020) in conjunction with a required police report.

The college offers procedural options for the resolution of cases of alleged sexual harassment or assault when the complainant and accused are Rhodes students. Students should choose the option that they feel best addresses their circumstances. Procedural Options II and III provide an opportunity for both parties in the dispute to present their versions of the incident and to come to an understanding about the nature of the incident and its effect on the complainant, the accused and the college community. It must be noted that the use of any of these procedures does not preclude the use of other dispute resolution options, including civil and/or criminal legal action.

Procedural Option I – Individual Action: It is not uncommon for students to pursue some type of individual action to resolve a problem, either before or instead of a formal complaint process. While individual action is no substitute for good policy and procedures nor advisable in certain situations, it can be an important tool for ending sexual harassment and/or restoring the victim's sense of personal control and dignity. Examples of individual action include:

1. Keeping a log of times, dates, places, witnesses, the nature of the harassment, what the accused said and did, how you responded, etc.
2. Telling a supportive friend, co-worker, family member or counselor about it. This can help ease the feelings of isolation and shame, and perhaps uncover similar experiences by others with the accused. Incidents are usually not isolated; most harassers have typically harassed others; and
3. Writing a specific kind of letter to the harasser that includes:
 - a) The writer's factual account of what happened, but without any subjective evaluation of such. This account should be as detailed as possible, including dates, places, and descriptions of the incidents.
 - b) A description of how those events made or still make the writer feel, e.g., disgusted, afraid, uneasy, confused, disappointed, etc., and
 - c) What the writer wants to happen next and in the future. This part may be very short, since most writers usually just want the behavior to stop, e.g., “Please return my books now, and don't call me again.”

The letter should be delivered only to the accused, in person, or by registered or certified mail. The writer should keep at least one copy of the letter. If the letter does not achieve its purpose, the letter can be used to support further complaints or future legal action. In most cases, the harasser is astonished at the writer's view of his or her behavior, fearful of a formal complaint, and concerned about who else may have seen the letter. The recipient of the letter seldom writes back. Nonetheless, sometimes the person may want to apologize or discuss the situation. The writer is not obligated to do so. He or she can simply reiterate the written request per the letter, noting that further discussion is not necessary. Individuals considering individual, informal, or formal resolution options may seek confidential support, information, and guidance from the Counseling and Student Development Center.

Procedural Option II – Mediation: The mediation process provides an alternative to the Administrative Hearing Process (Option III). It is intended to allow the two or more students involved in alleged sexual harassment or assault to discuss their respective understandings of the incident with each other with the assistance of the trained mediator. Mediation is designed to encourage each person to be honest and direct with the other and to accept personal responsibility where appropriate. Its goal is to facilitate the resolution of the incident to the satisfaction of both persons involved. Requests for mediation should be filed in writing with the Dean of Students. Unless the Dean determines otherwise, based on special circumstances, mediation is available only while the accused is a Rhodes student. Both students must voluntarily enter into mediation. The Dean will work with both parties to determine their willingness to participate in mediation and to verify that mediation is their choice at this time among the alternatives provided by the college.

Mediation Procedures: When both parties have agreed to mediation, the Dean of Students, will assign a mediator from the staff or faculty of the college. The Dean will listen to valid objections by either party about the choice of a mediator. The Dean may choose another mediator if the Dean deems it necessary. The mediator will contact both parties to set a date, time and location of the mediation session(s). The Dean will assign a mediator within two weeks of the agreement to participate in mediation, and every reasonable effort will be made to complete the mediation session(s) within two weeks of the assignment of a mediator.

The only parties present at the mediation session(s) will be the students directly involved in the incident and the mediator. During the mediation process the mediator will:

1. Ask the complainant and then the accused to give their versions of the incident in question, including both factual information and their feelings;
2. Identify key issues that emerge in the first step and make these known to both persons;
3. Seek the agreement of both parties on the issues;
4. Facilitate discussion as the two parties consider each issue more completely and as they generate solutions for each; and
5. Work with both parties to develop a written document that will include a statement of agreement on each issue. Any activity or behavior that either party has agreed to perform following the mediation should be included in this agreement.

The written mediation agreement shall be signed by both parties and approved by the Dean of Students. The Dean shall have the power to impose a sanction for a violation of the agreement by either party, including, but not limited to, probation, suspension or expulsion. If either party feels the terms of the agreement have not been met, her or she may contact the Dean. The Dean shall ask the mediator to investigate the allegation of noncompliance by discussing the allegation with both parties and consider any evidence presented by either party on the issue of noncompliance. The mediator will present the evidence to the Dean and if the allegation is supported, the Dean shall determine the appropriate sanction and notify both parties. Because participation in the mediation process is entirely voluntary and the final result is product of mutual agreement, the process is not appealable.

If either party is dissatisfied with the mediation process, at any time prior to signing of a written agreement, the party may request that the mediation process cease. An Administrative Hearing (Option III) may be pursued by the complainant at any point prior to the signing of the statement of agreement if the complainant or accused requests that the mediation process cease.

In order to promote honest and direct communication among the parties and the mediator and to facilitate the completion of agreed-upon terms, all statements made in the mediation process must remain confidential. In the event that an Administrative Hearing is requested after some part of the mediation process has taken place, only the complaint will be forwarded to the Dean.

Only the party making the statement may disclose the statement made during the mediation process in the investigation or hearing processes. The Student Affairs Office will keep copies of the complaint form, the mediation agreement, and any documentation concerning completion of or non-compliance with the agreed-upon activities or behavior.

Procedural Option III – Administrative Hearing: The Dean of Students or the Dean's designee conducts an Administrative Hearing, and a member or members of the Sexual Harassment and Assault Hearing Board selected by the Dean.

An Administrative Hearing is the method for the formal adjudication of cases involving sexual harassment or assault among students. The hearing encourages an open exchange of information within the framework of this confidential procedure. While every effort will be made to ensure fairness for the parties involved, the process shall not be bound by rules or criminal or civil procedure. All participants in all stages of the hearing process shall keep information learned in the course of the hearing, including the outcome of the hearing, confidential.

Students who believe that they have been a victim of sexual harassment or assault while enrolled at Rhodes who desire an administrative hearing should file a written complaint with the Dean of Students. If the incident was a sexual assault, the student is encouraged to consider whether to report the matter to the appropriate law enforcement authorities. Any complaints filed with the Dean or law enforcement should be filed as soon as possible after the occurrence to facilitate a prompt and thorough investigation. The Dean shall designate a member or member(s) of the staff to investigate the complaint of harassment or assault, along with intimidation or other charges associated with the complaint. The report of this investigation shall be submitted to the Dean. If after the investigation, the Dean finds that there is reason for a hearing, the Dean shall inform the parties involved in writing. The accused shall be provided the following information:

1. The nature of the charges;
2. The name of the complainant;
3. The date, time and place of the Administrative Hearing; and
4. The name or names, when applicable, of the faculty and/or staff selected from the Sexual Harassment and Assault Hearing Board who will participate in the Administrative Hearing with the Dean.

If after the investigation, no substantial reason is found to warrant further action, the Dean will notify both parties that the matter will be resolved by other means. The Dean of Students shall meet with the complainant and the accused at least three days prior to the hearing if reasonably possible. At this time, the Dean shall review the hearing procedures and discuss any procedural questions raised.

Administrative Hearing Procedures

1. Persons Present. During the Administrative hearing, only the complainant, the accused, the Dean and the faculty and/or staff from the Hearing Board shall be entitled to be present. If the Dean chooses to have the college's attorney present at the hearing, either party may choose to have an attorney present as well. Witnesses, other than the complainant, the accused and their representatives may remain in the room only while giving their testimony, unless the Dean and the parties agree otherwise.
2. Rule of Procedure and Evidence. The Dean shall decide all procedural and evidentiary questions raised during the hearing. The Dean shall not be bound by the rules of procedure or evidence applicable to judicial or administrative proceedings. The Dean may adopt such rules of procedure, if any, the Dean deems appropriate. The Dean may allow any evidence that the Dean determined to be competent, material, and relevant to the matter under consideration.
3. Recording. The Dean shall arrange for the proceedings to be recorded and shall arrange for the recording to be available to either party upon request.
4. Statements. The parties may make opening statements at the beginning of the hearing and closing statement at the end of the hearing. The complainant shall have the right to make the first statement and a rebuttal closing statement.
5. Presentation of Evidence. First the complainant and then the accused shall have the right to present any witnesses, documents and other evidence. The complainant shall have the right to present rebuttal evidence following the presentation of the accused's evidence.
6. Decision. The Dean, after careful consideration of the evidence, will provide to both parties the Dean's decision including the Dean's (a) conclusions as to the alleged offense and (b) sanctions, if any, imposed against the accused.
7. Sanctions. If the Dean finds the accused in violation of any charge, the Dean may impose any sanction the Dean deems appropriate, including without limitation, a warning, probation, suspension or expulsion.
8. Appeals. Either the complainant or the accused may appeal the decision of the Dean by notifying the President's Office of his or her intent to appeal within ten days after the receipt of the written decision. A written statement outlining the grounds for the appeal shall accompany notification of appeal. Grounds for appeal are limited to alleged error in the procedure, alleged errors in the interpretation of this policy, and allegations that the conclusion or sanction is unsupported by the record. The President or his designee shall provide the accused, the complainant and the Dean with copies of the President's decision within thirty days after the receipt of the appeal, or such longer period as determined to be for good use. The decision may include affirmation, reversal or modification on the Dean's decision. The President or his designee's decision shall be final.

Rhodes will make every reasonable effort to protect the privacy of the individuals involved in consultations, informal complaints, and hearing, insofar as it is feasible, considering Rhodes' duty to investigate the complaint and take appropriate action.

Sexual Harassment and Assault Education Committee

Rhodes has established the Sexual Harassment and Assault Education Committee to assist in the enforcement of these policies, to educate the Rhodes community and to advise the Counseling and Student Development Center about outreach programming. The Committee includes a Convener (Director of Counseling and Student Development), two students (one man, one woman), two staff (one man, one woman) and two faculty members (one man, one woman). The Provost, the Dean of Students and the Vice President of Finance, acting jointly, will make the appointments.

Reduce the Risk of Sexual Assault

No one can eliminate the risk of sexual assault. It can happen to anyone, no matter how intelligent or careful they are. There are steps we can all take to reduce the risk of being assaulted or of committing assault. Keep the safety tips below in mind and practice them:

- According to the Center of Addiction and Substance Abuse, 90% of all sexual assaults involve alcohol or drug use, so if you choose to drink, drink responsibly. If you are drunk or high, you may not recognize behaviors which place you at risk. Assume that if you are having sex with someone who is drunk or high, you probably do not have that person's consent.
- Only consume drinks that you have poured or that come in a pre-sealed container that someone opened in your view. Premixed drinks can have more alcohol than you might want. Also, new drugs like Rophynol (also known as roofies, ropy, etc.) can be dissolved in drinks, and can cause you to lose consciousness quickly. If you lose track of your drink at a party, get a new one. Don't drink anything that has been sitting unattended.
- If you leave a party with a new friend, first let close friends know where you are going and when to expect you back.
- Double-date on the first few dates if you don't know your date well.
- Know that being invited back to someone's room does not equal the gaining or giving of consent for sexual activity of any degree.
- Stop your friends if you see them doing something that puts them at risk for either committing sexual assault or for being sexually assaulted.

What To Do if You Have Been Sexually Assaulted

Go to a safe place. You will likely be in shock after a sexual assault. Go where you have a friend you can trust. Do not bathe, shower, douche, urinate, defecate, or brush your teeth after the assault. It's understandable that you will want to cleanse yourself, but before you do you will need to think about reporting the assault.

Talk with someone you trust: Many people believe that assault is a taboo subject. However, that is not true! Talking with someone you trust will help you begin healing from the assault. Talking will also let people in your life know how to help you. A friend or trained counselor may also be able to help you sort through your thoughts about reporting it to the authorities.

Seek medical help: Medical help is important to 1) ensure that you are physically okay, 2) preserve evidence in the event that you do want to report the crime, and 3) protect you from the possibility of sexually transmitted diseases or pregnancy.

Consider your reporting options: To fall within Rhodes' jurisdiction, the act of sexual harassment or assault must have been committed against a Rhodes student or employee (a) on college-owned or leased property, or (b) at a college-related function. Because students may also be sanctioned for conduct which constitutes a hazard to the health, safety or well-being of members of the college community or which is detrimental to the college's interest, whether such conduct occurs on campus, off campus, or at college-sponsored events, the college reserves the right to pursue disciplinary action regarding off-campus incidents on a case-by-case basis.

Should I Report Sexual Assault?

It is your life. It is your body. You are the only one who decides whether or not to report a sexual assault. Deciding whether or not to report an assault is one of the steps you will take to regain a sense of control over your life. As you make your decisions, it is often very helpful to talk with people you trust, but always remember that you will decide what is best for you to do.

More than 80% of sexual assaults occur between two people who know each other. In such cases, people sometimes hesitate to report an assault that has been committed by someone they know and whom they have trusted in the past. Having had your trust violated by the assault, you may be reluctant to talk to anyone about what has happened. Seek out the people you trust most— friends, a family member, a counselor. Sexual assault often creates in survivors a sense of isolation. Speaking to someone you trust is one way to break down that sense of isolation and remind yourself that there are still people in the world who deserve your trust. Having survived a sexual assault, you will have many difficult decisions to make and many strong emotions to deal with. In the days and weeks after the assault, many survivors find that it helps to enlist support from people they love and trust.

Sexual assault is difficult to prosecute because it often has only two witnesses – the survivor and the person who committed the assault – and it may involve little external evidence. As you decide whether or not to pursue civil or criminal proceedings, it may be helpful to speak to an attorney.

Students deciding whether or not to report a sexual assault should inform themselves of all their options – those available to them through the college and those available through the police. Reporting a sexual assault can provide the survivor with the opportunity to confront the person who committed the assault. Reporting may also make it possible for the perpetrators of a sexual assault to be held accountable for their actions. Whatever you decide, remember that there is no single "right" decision. Only the survivor can weigh the costs and benefits of whether or not to report an assault. The right decision for you will be whatever decision allows you to regain a sense of control over your own life.

Healing From the Trauma of Sexual Assault

Survivors of sexual assault often experience emotional and physical reactions days or even months after the assault. These reactions fall into three general stages, but remember that each person's experience is unique. There is no set time frame for each stage. Some people may experience some stages and not others. Each person will heal at his or her own pace.

The initial stage: The survivor may experience shock – a sense of being emotionally numb or distant from your own feelings – disbelief, fear, anger and phobic reactions to the place where the sexual assault occurred. Some people experience sleep disturbance and nightmares. Others may experience flashbacks, a momentary sense that they are reliving the assault. These feelings will become less frequent and intense over time, as the person heals emotionally.

The second stage: The survivor begins to feel that things are back to normal as he or she takes steps to regain a sense of control over his or her life. Survivors may minimize the impact of the sexual assault at this time.

The third stage: The survivor may feel many of the same feelings that occurred initially. Survivors may feel depressed or have dramatic mood swings. They may feel alienated from others or withdraw into themselves. They also may startle more easily or feel numb at times.

In any of these stages, as individuals take the steps necessary to regain a sense of control of their lives, and as they make their own peace with that they have survived, they may find it helpful to speak with a counselor. Remember that although sexual assault is a terrible thing, and the memory of it may feel overwhelming at times, it does not define who you are. All of the positive things that were true about you before the sexual assault are still true.

How Family, Friends, Faculty and Staff Can Help Survivors of Sexual Assault

Hearing about a sexual assault, especially of someone close to you, often brings up many intense, uncomfortable feelings. You may feel rage, fear, sadness, disbelief and confusion, or you may feel an emotional numbness in the face or so much pain. All of these feelings are normal response when you discover that someone you care about has been assaulted. These feelings can leave you feeling helpless, but there are things you can do to help.

- Ask the survivor what they need.
- Listen non-judgmentally and give emotional support. Many survivors blame themselves in some way. Assure the person that no one deserves to be sexually assaulted. Assure the person that although the experience has been traumatic, recovery and healing are possible.
- Maintain confidentiality unless you are required by Rhodes policy to report the information. If you are required to report it, tell the survivor of your requirement.
- Do not pressure or make unwanted decisions for the person.
- Separate your needs and how you think you would feel in this situation from what the person before you needs and feels.
- Don't ask questions that could be interpreted as blaming, such as "Why didn't you fight back?" or "What were you wearing?" or "Why did you go to his/her room?"
- Let the survivor talk at his or her own pace. Let them know that they can talk about whatever they need to talk about, in their own way.
- If you are not sure whether it is OK to hug or touch as survivor, ask them.
- Let the survivor know about the resources available to them listed in the Student Handbook.

A Note About Shame

Although survivors experience many feelings in the days, weeks or months after a sexual assault, including fear, anger, and depression, shame is almost universal, especially when they have been sexually assaulted by someone they know. People often blame themselves, feeling that the assault wouldn't have happened if they hadn't "gotten themselves into the situation." It is important to remember that errors of judgment are never the same as being responsible for being sexually assaulted. The person who committed the sexual assault is the person who is responsible.

Sexual Assault Victims Bill Of Rights

1. The RIGHT of the accuser and the accused to the same opportunities to have others present during a campus disciplinary proceeding.
2. The RIGHT of the accuser and the accused to be informed of the outcome of any campus disciplinary proceeding involving an alleged sexual assault.
3. The RIGHT of the victimized students to be informed of their options to notify proper law enforcement authorities, and the option to be assisted by campus authorities in the notification, if the student chooses.
4. The RIGHT to access counseling services either as established by the college or other victim services.
5. Whom Can I Talk To?

A more difficult question may be, “Who can I trust?” especially if you were assaulted by someone you know. If you wish to speak with someone on campus in confidence, we recommend seeking assistance from the Student Counseling Center of the Chaplain. Confidentiality will only be broken in cases of clear and imminent danger to self or others and for alleged child or elderly abuse. You can also talk with any RA, faculty, staff or administrator about the harassment or assault. However, keep in mind that, because sexual harassment and assault are destructive to the entire college community, Rhodes will not tolerate such behaviors. Therefore, all RAs, faculty, staff and administrators – with the exception of the Counseling Center staff, the Chaplain, the College Nurse and Physicians – are mandated by the college policy to report any knowledge gained regarding allegations of sexual harassment or assault. This isn’t to discourage you from talking with someone! This is to ensure that any perpetrators of sexual harassment or assault will be held accountable according to our policy.
