COLLINS CHAPEL HOST TO CME CONFERENCE

Collins Chapel CME Church was the scene, November 7-11, of the 70th West Tennessee annual conference of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church. Reverend R. V. Johnson, host pastor to the convention, stated that about 500 persons were in attendance.

Bishop J. Arthur Hamlett, A. M. St. D. D., presided over the entire proceedings assisted by Presiding Elders Rev. M. Johnson, Memphis District; Rev. M. H. Burnett, Brownsville District and Rev. A. J. Buckley, Dyersburg District.

One of the most entertaining features of the meet was the "Evening of Music" program which featured the Collins Chapel Choir and several soloists. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Fairy Payton and Mrs. Mattie Walker. Mrs. Hazel Hale is the organist.

The Friday evening program was designated as "Lane College Hour." The delegates heard an address by Mrs. Lena Morton on behalf of Lane College. The Lane College Glee Club also rendered several selections.

Earlier Friday afternoon, a Recognition Tea was given in honor of the workers in Christian Education. Mrs. Thelma Watson, director of Christian Education for the 2nd Episcopal District, was one of the principal speakers.

The Women's Missionary Society met on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and was in charge of the program on Thursday evening. Business sessions and district reports made up a considerable part of the conference activity.

On Sunday morning at 8:45, a Mammoth Church School was held with the delegates to the conference and many local persons participating.

Rev. Hunt Urges Support To World

Rev. Blair T. Hunt, minister at the Mississippi Boulevard Christian Church, at the close of the morning service Sunday, praised the contribution of the Memphis World to this community, in making remarks presenting G. A. Scott, publisher of the Memphis World. Mr. Scott made a brief talk to the congregation and expressed congratulations to Dr. J. E. Walker and others who led the recent but unsuccessful campaign to elect Dr. Walker to membership on the City Board of Education. Publisher Scott also stated that "increased emphasis must be put on the strengthening of our moral and political position in this section of the nation." Rev. Hunt also presented Horace C. Johnson, circulation manager of the Memphis World.

Elder E. K. Burton of Mosuri, who concluded a two-week revival Sunday night at the church, "called upon the church to be more profound and more honest in its leadership." Elder Burton said, "We must heed the call of God, for a real man; one who is not afraid to stand up for the truth and also shoulder real responsibility to God and his fellowman."

Manassas Dethroned By Single Howard High TD

Mighty Manassas tumbled from the unbeaten ranks on what the disgruntled Tigers described as a "lucky break" on the part of Douglas High School - the "dark horse" of the fray.

The break came right after the half after a colorful - but scoreless - first half. Tiger Quarterback Spencer heaved a beautiful spiral intended for Montague, stellar Manassas end. Douglas's Mitchell, however, intercepted the pass and scooped the remaining 20 yards for the lone tally of the game.

This upsetting experience neatly took the Tigers out of a City League first place tie with St. Augustine. The Tigers hope to regain enough of their old steam by Wednesday night when they will meet the men from St. Augustine at Booker T. Washington Stadium.

If Manassas can defeat St. Augustine, which, according to Coach John Johnson, is likely, they will once more be in a first-place tie with St. Augustine.

"Crazed Man" On The Loose In Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—State police and Pulaski county officers are madly searching for a "crazed" Negro as darkness began to set upon the residential section near North Little Rock yesterday. The man described as "definitely Crazy" by a representative of Sheriff Tom Gulley, Friday afternoon engaged police in a running gun battle and then escaped. Previously he had threatened white residents with two shot guns.

State police dispatched several troopers to the scene to aid county officers. The man reportedly shot at two of the officers, but eluded capture.

Mississippian Sentenced To Life Imprisonment

MERIDIAN, Miss.—Jim Hampton, charged with murder in the death of a white DeKalb business man was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge John Green of Starkville.

Hampton was scheduled to face a jury trial, but suddenly changed his plea to guilty. McDade's body, the victim of a shotgun blast, was found in the middle of the street in front of a cafe operated by Hampton. After sludging arrest for a week, Hampton surrendered to police.

Walker's Managers Hail His Campaign As "Moral Victory"

Dr. Walker Thanks Campaign Supporters

By MARY T. DAVIS

Although Dr. J. E. Walker was defeated last week by the City Administration in his bid for position on the Memphis City Board of Education, leaders of both races feel that great progress was made because the Walker Campaign Committee delivered one third of their potential 22,000 voters while the white opposition had approximately one fourth of their number to go to the polls.

The first Negro to run in a city election for more than 50 years, Dr. Walker conceded his defeat at midnight Thursday and issued a statement to the press:

"Our campaign was conducted on a high moral plane without any reference to the racial angle; we ran as an American citizen. We lost the election but we feel our gain in self respect and better morale for all the people of Memphis will pay off in handsome dividends. "Had we not offered as a candidate one vote would have elected the entire machine ticket. We feel that the city of Memphis is more highly respected by the whole truth or our effort. When Democracy is practiced in any city in America our democratic ideals are given practical application in the eyes of the people. "We want to thank the white and (Continued On Page Five)

Walker Makes Good Showing In Race For School Board Post

Dr. J. E. Walker, the first Negro to run for an elective position in Memphis since Reconstruction Days was defeated last Thursday at the polls in what was described as a "light election."

The election returned the city administration to office with no opposition save for the school board post for which Dr. Walker was a candidate. The winners of the four school board positions all received over 2,000 votes. Dr. Walker received 7,433, according to one account of the returns.

Although the campaign was generally without "any reference to the racial angles," such a note crept in the campaigning on the day before Election Day.

On Wednesday, instruction sheets were distributed, allegedly by the administration, which had pictures of all candidates - Dr. Walker included. Besides the names of each administration candidate, a red "X" appeared. Dr. Walker's picture was printed on the sheet so dark that there could be no doubt that he was a Negro.

These instruction sheets were distributed in predominantly white wards. In wards with a larger Negro constituency, the instruction sheets bore no pictures - just the marks beside the administration candidates' names.

The Walker campaign headquarters issued a typewritten mimeographed instruction sheet. This sheet contained but one "X" - that being beside Dr. Walker's name. The "single-shot ballot," as such a ballot was called, was favored by the Walker supporters.

A protest of the distribution of this ballot facsimile was made to Election Commissioner Gilmer (Continued On Page Five)

Blind Fire Victim, Brother Buried In Hollywood Cemetery

Simple, brief funeral services were held at 11 a. m. Saturday for two-year-old James Lee Ewens and his nine-month-old brother, Henry. Both children died in a fire at their home Thursday at 1294 Cannon St. Their two older brothers, Jerry Lee, 3, and Leroy, 4, were saved from the flames by their mother's aunt, Mrs. Annie Mae Jones of 1343 Trigg St.

The fire occurred when the children's mother, Mrs. Frankie Ewens, left the house to take some clothes, she said. When she returned, she saw flames on the roof of the house.

Mrs. Jones rushed in the burning house and carried the two older children out. When she and Mrs. Ewens attempted to go back in for the younger pair, the smoke and flames forced them back out of the house.

The father of the children, Jim, is a patient at the Tuskegee Veterans' Hospital. A veteran of the Navy, he has been in the hospital for about three years.

Fire Marshall Whitaker said that an overheated flue was the cause of the fire. The home was heated by a coal stove in the front room where the two babies were lying - one in a crib, the other in a buggy.

The older of the two fire victims was blind. According to an official of the Qualls Funeral Home, which conducted the funeral arrangements, the bodies of both children were burned beyond recognition.

The tragedy raised Memphis's death rate by fire to three. During the previous week, November 2, another Negro child, Carolyn Wilkins, was killed by fire. The four-year-old victim was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Esau Wilkins of 226 S. Second St.

60,000 Hail First Negro Queen At Illinois University

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Miss Clarice Davis, 20-year-old Negro and first of her race ever chosen queen of University of Illinois homecoming festivities was cheered Saturday by 60,000 persons.

The throng packed Memorial Stadium in Champaign and saw Miss Davis, a senior in the Liberal Arts College, lead a colorful parade before the undefeated Illinois and Iowa University clashed in a Big Ten Conference football game.

Miss Davis was formally crowned queen Friday night at the homecoming dance. The crown was placed on her head by Chuck Studley, captain of the Illinois gridiron warriors.

The Chicago girl won out in a field that originally included 53 nominations for queen. More than 5,000 students voted in the election. The winner was chosen for her personality, poise, and beauty of face and figure.

The parade ended at the Queen's Box. On the stadium wall behind the box hung the flags of all schools in the conference.

Miss Davis smiled and waved to the crowd. She said: "This is the happiest day of my life."

Shooting Laid To Prejudice And Blind Trust

NEW YORK—As the shock of the slaying late Tuesday night by Sheriff Willis McCall of one of the defendants in the celebrated Grove land "rape" case and the serious wounding of the other began stirring a dazed America into action, two members of a fact-finding committee of clergymen who visited Lake County, Florida, in an effort to determine whether a fair trial would be possible for Samuel Shepherd and Walter Irvin, today called the shootings "the inevitable result of the apathy of prejudice and blind trust in McCall which we had encountered in our interviews."

In the offices of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in New York, Reverend Paul Moore, Jr., of the Grace Episcopal Church, Jersey City, and Professor S. Ralph Harlow of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., expressed the questions that have been plaguing stunned Americans since the first word of the shootings hit the newspapers. Reverend Moore, who was in Orlando at the time the incident occurred, said that even in the hate-riddled section of central Florida that was the scene of the tragedy, people were asking: "Why was the sheriff driving alone at night with two prisoners who had been condemned to death? Why were two cars used to bring them over from the penitentiary at Raiford and why was this done at night? Why did Sheriff McCall bypass the main thoroughfare to Tavares in favor of a longer and less frequented back road?"

Shepherd, who was slain, and Irvin, in critical condition in Waterman Memorial Hospital, Euclid, were en route with McCall to Tavares, where hearings were scheduled to be held Wednesday morning, November 7, on the motion filed by NAACP attorneys asking for a change of venue to another county. Deputy Sheriff James Yates, who is reported to have suggested some time ago that the prisoners attempt to "run," was ahead in another car. The change of venue motion was the first step in the retrial of the two, whose convictions and death sentences were unanimously reversed on April 8 of this year by the United States Supreme Court, with an historic concurring opinion by Justice Robert H. Jackson calling their first trial "one of the best examples of one of the worst menaces to American justice."

Stop Attack On Baker, White Urges Winchell

NEW YORK—"Americans who believe in freedom and equality for all citizens are increasingly shocked to learn that a man who has enjoyed the reputation of being one of democracy's staunchest defenders can resort to the tactics of reputation-destruction which you are using in the Storck Club affair against Miss Josephine Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rico," Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said today in a telegram to Walter Winchell, newspaper columnist and radio commentator.

Mr. White's telegram was inspired by a series of attacks Mr. Winchell has made upon Miss Baker in his column since she protested against discriminatory service in the Storck Club on the night of October 16. As guests of the Riccos, Miss Baker and Mrs. Charles Buchanan went to the restaurant and, though seated, were given discriminatory service, having to wait longer than an hour for food.

If these attacks upon Miss Baker continue, the NAACP leader told Mr. Winchell, "all of your previous expressions of righteous indignation involving civil rights and human dignity will come to naught. A great many Americans of both races have expressed their shock that your battle against bigotry stops when it reaches the doorsteps of your beloved Storck Club. The result is skepticism and even downright disbelief in your sincerity among many Americans who hitherto have applauded you. We urge you for your own sake to stop the rapid descent your prestige is suffering by sticking to the issue and not trying to destroy in petty anger those who exercise their right to disagree with you."

TWO HARLEM WOMEN WIN $168,000 SWEEPSTAKE

NEW YORK — (ANP) — Mrs. Maddie Skinner, 37, was simply amazed but happy over the news that her sweepstake ticket, won on Fleeting Moment won one of the first prizes of $140,000. The registered nurse, who resides at 127 W. 137th Street, Harlem, told reporters:

"I won't believe it until I get the check in my hands and then I won't believe it." Mrs. Marjorie Henderson, 37, of 137 W. 144th Street, who held a stub on third place winner, Bru nette, was equally as elated. She will receive $28,000.

Mrs. Skinner who has been nurse for four years, is the wife of an assistant foreman in the city sanitation department. She has a young adopted daughter. Tax officials estimated that the federal government will take between $75,000 and $85,000 of Mrs. Skinner's winning and the stub between $8,000 and $9,000.

Los Angeles Baptist Minister Honored

LOS ANGELES — In the midst of the huge crowd of more than 2,000 people at packed, beautiful St. Paul Baptist Church, the Rev. A. A. Peters and Rev. J. L. Branham were recipients of the Doctor of Divinity and the Doctor of Laws degrees respectively.

Direct-Phone Dialing Being Previewed

ENGLEWOOD, N. J. — The long awaited direct dialing of coast-to-coast telephone calls was previewed Friday in preparation for official opening of the long-range network tomorrow.

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company at its "sneak preview" in Englewood completed a dialed call to San Francisco in 14 seconds. Normal time is ten minutes.

In all, 13 areas are hooked into the system, including such widely scattered cities as Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Milwaukee and the San Francisco-Sacramento-Oakland area.

First Negro To N. C. League Of Municipalities

WINSTON SALEM, N. C. (AP) — History was made here last week when for the first time in its 42-year history two Negro members of city governing boards attended sessions of the North Carolina League of Municipalities.

They were the Rev. William R. Crawford, Winston-Salem alderman, and Dr. William M. Hampton, Greensboro councilman. Both are serving their first terms.

Rev. Crawford was elected June 5, and Dr. Hampton May 8.

The youthful physician, who received many votes from white areas, is the only member of the Greensboro body who has not previously held office.

Dr. Hampton said the exchange of ideas and fellowship with other city officials at the League meeting had been helpful.

Since he is the only physician on the council most problems of health, coming from either a Negro or white citizen, were referred to him.

PEMBROKE, Ga. (SNS) — Old John Barley Corn drew five years for two men here who plead guilty to manufacturing whiskey without a license. After a brief, but pointed lecture on the wiles of bootlegging and the fate now faced by more than a dozen persons accused of bootlegging in Atlanta because of the poison stuff caused the death of nearly forty persons, known to have drunk it, Judge Mel Price sentenced Edgar Johnson to serve two years in the penitentiary and Charlie Stewart to serve three.

Durham Church To Observe Anniversary

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Dr. Rose Butler Browne of the Department of Education at North Carolina College will deliver the annual Fellowship address Monday, November 12, at ceremonies celebrating the 58th anniversary of Covenant Presbyterian Church here. Chairman of the week-long program will be Solomon Dukes Jr. of the dean of men's office.

Dr. David Bradley of the Duke University Divinity School will preach the anniversary sermon on Sunday morning, November 11.

A highlight of the week will be the first annual Bazaar which will be sponsored by the women of the church under the leadership of Mrs. J. A. Cannon, wife of the pastor, the Rev. J. A. Cannon.

"Doc" Anderson Foretold Noted Song Writer's Success

Following is the true story of "Happy" Lawson as told by him in the presence of witnesses.

"I had been so many readers and spiritual workers I had become disgusted. After going to men with big names in front of their places who promised me everything but failed to deliver. I finally went to the greatest of them all, according to my personal belief.

"I then decided that if the boss helped me that much, then I can help myself. I called and made an appointment. His reading and his mystic work came out exactly as he predicted. 'Doc' Anderson predicted in April of 1947 that my song 'Anytime' would become famous. 'His predictions came true beyond my expectations. For this song 'Anytime,' featured by Edith Arnold on Victor records and Dick Haymes on Decca records have sold over six million copies. The song at this date is being revived and promises to be the biggest seller in the history of popular music.

North Carolina College Conference Meets Nov. 14

SALISBURY, N. C. — The 26th annual session of the North Carolina Negro College conference will convene here at Livingstone College in an all day meeting on Wednesday, November 14.

The theme for this year's conference is "The Implications of Integrative Trends in Higher Education."

Conference President Isaac Miller will open the session at 10 o'clock Wednesday. President W. J. Trent of Livingstone College will extend words of greeting at 10:15.

A series of committee reports from groups representing Auditing, Standards, and Admissions will precede an 11:15 keynote address. Discussions will follow each of the speeches during the conference.

The speaker for the first address of the morning is Dr. Ruel Gallagher. The educator will talk on the conference's general theme. Dr. Gallagher, former president of Talladega College and a well known educator, is now with the U. S. Office of Education.

Three other addresses are scheduled during the remainder of the day. Wendell P. Jones, dean of Elizabeth City State Teachers' College, will discuss the conference theme in relationship to "Teacher Preparation" at 2:15 and Dean Joseph A. Payne of Barber Scott College will talk on "The Role of the Negro College in the Light of Integrative Trends."

Dr. Richard K. Barksdale, professor of English at North Carolina College, Durham, is listed for the final address. His subject is "The Implications of Integrative Trends in the Preparation of Students."

Late afternoon reports from committees and election of officers at 5 p. m. end the 1951 sessions.

Man Shot And Robbed Of $700

BEAUFORT, S. C. (SNS) — Shot to death and robbed of $700, H. E. Wilson, a white grocer here was the victim of "blacked face" white youngsters, sheriff McTeer of Beaufort county reported.

Wilson was found dead from bullet wounds with $700 cash missing from his store, according to reports. The sheriff said that when he arrived on the scene the robbers had made good their escape. They are unidentified with the exception that they were of 'dark' complexion.

D. C. Wants No Confederate Flag-Waving

WASHINGTON, D. C. — You can sing "Dixie," all you want to, you can wear a ten gallon hat if you are from Texas. You can even talk with a Southern drawl. But don't wave or display from automobiles, the confederate flag around the Capitol grounds. If you do, you may run into trouble with the law.

That's what a southern gentleman found out as he attempted to park in the Capitol Plaza the other day. A brisk confederate flag was streaming from the radio aerial of his car, as he pulled up to the curb a vigilant cop edged up and told him that only one flag "flies on these grounds," and pointed to Old Glory on the dome of the Capitol building.

There is an ordinance forbidding the display of any flag or banner on the Capitol grounds. It was used to break up and discourage demonstration of various groups around the Capitol.

The recent fad of using the confederate flag on neck ties, for car decorations and other forms of display is causing many and varied comments. Southerners claim that it only shows a pride of being a southerner. They say it does not signify a recall of the Civil War feud between the states.

Some politicians in Washington have a new angle on the wide display of the confederate flag. They say the movement started to make southerners "south" conscious.

An old timer from South Carolina remembered that in 1948 when former governor of South Carolina, J. Strom Thurmond breezes into New York to deliver a Dixiecrat campaign before the Over Seas Press Club at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, he wore a special made lapel pin bearing the confederate flag emblem. When asked why he wore such emblem, the Dixiecrat replied, "this stands for 'dixiecrat'."

Latest Equipment To Be Furnished Pilots

BURBANK, Calif. Pilots of new Lockheed Super Constellation air transports will have at their fingertips about 1000 pounds of the latest electronic equipment to tell them how high is up, which way is there, what's down below and when they'll be home for supper.

Ready to go into airline service next month, the new Lockheed Constellation contains upwards of 10 navigation and communication aids. Designers have made provision to add even more, as soon as test of new electronic discoveries are complete.

One innovation due by 1953, engineers said, is a radar eye to detect equals 50 to 100 miles ahead, enabling pilots to skirt bumpy weather.

Improved equipment now being perfected will be available to augment, not replace, standard navigation-communication installations used for many years, it was reported.

New apparatus, giving fuller and more precise navigating data, will provide better signposting of air routes, faster speed, easier operation, maintenance economies and greater travel satisfaction, engineers explained.

Here are some of today's aircraft electronic trends.

Flush antennas—External wires, rods, humps and other outside antennas, which reduce speed, are being eliminated; some are now mounted inside the plane, beaming signals through plastic-stiffened fiberglass plates flush with the skin of the ship.

Improved maintenance—Quickly removable junction boxes, centralizing connections of thousands of wires, and increased use of conduit, speed aircraft servicing, by making equipment more accessible.

UNITED NATIONS NEWS

BY SAMUEL P. PERRY, JR. UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — At a press conference held last week in Paris, U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie declared that the sixth session of the General Assembly will be a significant period in the life of the United Nations.

"It may turn out to be one of the most important sessions since the UN was established," said Mr. Lie.

Mr. Lie expressed the hope that progress would be achieved in at least three important directions by the end of the Assembly: (1) the building of a collective security system; (2) the relaxation of East-West tensions; and resumption of efforts to find a solid base for peaceful coexistence within a reasonable time; (3) the development of a more equal and understanding partnership in political, security and economic matters within the universal framework of the U. N. between the industrialized nations of Europe, America and Australia on one hand, and the nations and peoples of Asia, Africa and parts of the Americas on the other."

UN economists commented recently on African cotton exports for the year 1950. Anglo-Egyptian Sudan exported 250,000 bales; the Belgian Congo, 192,000 bales; Angola, 30,000 bales; British East Africa (Uganda, Kenya, and Tanganyika), 333,000 bales; French Equatorial Africa, 120,000 bales; French West Africa, 12,000 bales; Mozambique, 112,000 bales; Nigeria, 75,000 bales; and other African countries, 15,000 bales.

According to UN reports as of July 31, 1951 the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan had no hand as to 161,000 bales; the Belgian Congo, 97,000 bales; British East Africa, 118,000 bales; French Equatorial Africa, 52,000 bales.

Voicing an opinion on the work of the thirteenth session of the Economic and Social Council, Ambassador Hernan Santa Cruz of Chile, president of the council, regretted the decision of the council to discontinue the Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities. He stated:

"It is true that provision has been made for methods of carrying on (the) work. The Council has decided to discontinue (it) at a time when there has actually been a recrudescence of racial discrimination in some countries.

By JEWEL GENTRY LEMOYNE A. K. A. S GIVE "COLLEGE CARAVAN"

Beta Tau Chapter of Alpha Kappa Sorority on the LeMoyne College campus, presented the latest in Coeds' fashion for classroom, afternoon, "after five" nights last Wednesday night at their "College Caravan," a fashionable dance where the latest styles were shown off in a "Revue" during intermission.

A large crowd of co-eds with their escorts for the most part, filled the Fote Homes Auditorium. The atmosphere was truly that of a college campus—youth, dignity and gaiety. Very unusual decorations highlighted by the AKA insignia were pennants of each greek organization and pictures of co-eds around the wall.

Models coming from each greek-letter organization, presented by Mrs. Edna Swingle, commentator, were Harry Thompson of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity; James Williams, Alpha pledge; Carrie Watson, Sigma Gamma Rho; Faye Gentry, Zeta Phi Beta; Lorene Anderson, Delta Sigma Theta; representing the Ivy Leaf Club were Evelyn Thomas, Elaine Emma Jean Exum, Betty Johnson; and Irma Freeman and Ethel Lois Isabel of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN TAYLOR CELEBRATE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

A very beautiful celebration was the Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor at their pretty Binghampton home, 2804 Yale Ave., Wednesday night. Mrs. Taylor wore an exquisite white-brocaded gown edged in black velvet.

Large yellow chrysanthemums decorated the entire living and dining area—a large basket added beauty to a television set, a gift from their children. The dining table was overlaid with a gold cloth which is traditional for a 50th Anniversary, and centered by a huge wedding cake with a large 50 in the top. The tiered cake was encircled with ferns and yellow roses. Delicious hors d'oeuvres filled the refreshment table at the punch bowl. At the punch bowl was the attractive Mrs. Eunice Rice, a friend to the family from Springfield, Ohio who wore a striking black draped frock. Her corsage of white orchids was at the waistline.

Greeting the many guests were the couple's children and their families, a most charming daughter, Mrs. Earl Anis of Xenia, Ohio who was a picture in an elaborate white ballerina length race strapless gown covered in rhinestones with white lace gloves of the same material. Her corsage was of yellow tea-roses with her was Mr. Anis, their young son, Phillip and a daughter, Evelyn Taylor who wore a pretty gold sheath dress. Another daughter, Mrs. Lorene Taylor of Chicago wore a very pretty—coffee—colored cocktail dress—her corsage was also of yellow tea-roses; Mrs. R. D. Gilliam of Memphis, daughter with her young daughter, Ebbie Jean in blue; Rev. W. H. Taylor, son with Mrs. Taylor who wore black; Mr. John Taylor, Jr., son with Mrs. Taylor who also wore black.

West Tenn. TB Hospital To Aid Meharry Students

A program has been established at the West Tennessee Tuberculosis Hospital whereby medical students at Meharry Medical College can receive specialized training in the nature and treatment of tuberculosis.

The start of the 1951 Meharry school year marked the first time that Negro medical students have been admitted for such study in the hospital. The program was developed through an agreement between college officials and Dr. F. H. Alley, superintendent of the hospital.

The students, all seniors in medical school, receive 21 days of extensive training. Their schedule includes making the rounds of the wards with staff physicians, hearing special lectures, participation in group discussions, studying X-Ray films and receiving training in specialized types of therapy.

The second group of seven students completed their tour of duty at the hospital last Thursday. To a man, they lauded the learning experience and the modern facilities and techniques in operation at the local hospital.

Student-doctor Roger Taylor, spokesman for the group, stated that, while working at the hospital, they were treated with complete professional courtesy. Although the students lived in private homes in the city, they took their meals like the rest of the staff in the hospital dining room.

At the end of his training, each student is rated on the basis of his performance and reports are sent to the college. After training in other areas, the students expect to be graduated next June.

In the group just having completed its training were: Estel Strawn, St. Joseph, Missouri, a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania; Wesley Slocum, New York; St. John's College in Brooklyn; J. H. Smith, Petersburg, Va.; Johnson C. Smith.

V. W. Rollins, New York, City College of New York; George Shelton, Dallas, Prairie View; LeMon Smith, High Point, N. C., Morehouse College and Roger Taylor, Dayton, O., Talladega.

Interracial High School Group Urges More Democracy

DETROIT—(ANP)—Three hundred public and parochial high school students of both races, attending an Institute for Democratic Living last week, at the Central YWCA stressed the needs of making America a better place for all races to live peacefully together by learning democratic living through practice and not merely by thoughts expressed on paper or by mouth.

The discussion was led by Miss Elizabeth Lewis, a colored student of Miller High, and Sally Nugent, a white student of Eastern High. Students condemned racial discrimination, and declared "that youngsters could do much more in breaking down narrow-mindedness of parents by associating with and bringing home classmates of minority groups."

They said that schools should emphasize the teaching of moral and spiritual values common to all religions, neither hindering nor abetting any one religion.

The youthful group said there should be a greater understanding between police and students and a studied effort to promote better interschool relations.

THE MYSTERIES OF LIFE

The high school students said they would rather learn about the mysteries of life from their parents than from school teachers.

They said some parents as well as teachers may not be good instructors in sex education.

The students concluded that this fault in sex education could be remedied by a special course for parents.

The institute was sponsored by the Detroit Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

St. Augustine Trounces Coahoma Junior College 13-0

The terrible Thunderbolts from St. Augustine's out-played and out-smarted their heavier rivals at Coahoma Junior College Friday afternoon to take the honors—13 to 0. The Clarksdale, Mississippi Junior college team didn't have a chance after the starting whistle according to observers.

The victory, which featured a 44-yard TD jaunt on the part of Alonzo Avant, gave the Thunderbolts a seasonal record to date of six victories without a loss or tie.

Avant's score came in the third period and he cooperated with Quarterback Leon Garrett in the fourth frame for another TD. From his own 25, yardline, Avant hit Garrett in the end zone with a perfect pass. Garrett then made his own extra point by running the ball from five yards out.

Coach W. P. Porter hopes that the experience of playing the old, heavier Junior college team will stand his men in good stead Wednesday night when they meet the Manassas Tigers in the most crucial game of the season.

Having been tied with Manassas for first-place honors in the City Prep League, the Thunderbolts forged ahead with the loss of Manassas to Howard.

If they lose the Wednesday contest in the Booker T. Washington Stadium, they will close out the season in a first-place tie. Starting for St. Augustine's in the Mississippi fray were: in addition to Garrett and Avant, Thomas Holliman, left end; S. Murphy (Captain), tackle; C. D. Gordon, tackle and W. Whitney at right guard.

Richardson. The complainants were informed that such literature was permissible.

Commissioner Richardson, who telephoned Nashville to receive confirmation on the legality of the ballot itself, had to call Nashville again to talk with State Attorney General Roy Beeler.

The second call, on Election Day concerned the distribution of the literature. In this instance, Mrs. Viola B. Cawthorn and Mrs. Fannie Carson were halted by election officials from distributing the ballots near the Second precinct in the 28th Ward.

When they contacted Mr. Richardson and he, in turn contacted Mr. Beeler - it was discovered that it was permissible for them to distribute the literature if they maintained the standard distance from the voting place.

Since the obtaining of this permission was so time-consuming, and since the ladies were afraid to risk the wrath of the officials by returning, they did not return to that particular district to campaign.

serve. All candidates appointed under the program will be ordered to General Line School, Newport, Rhode Island, for eight weeks of indoctrination. The first class to be convened at Newport will be 3 January 1952. The deadline for this class is that applications must reach the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington, D. C. by 1 December 1951.

Following the indoctrination course the newly commissioned ensigns will be ordered to various shore activities for duty in connection with personnel, public relations, training publications, intelligence, communications, logistics operations, or other similar duties.

A transfer program will be established to enable women reserve officers to apply for transfer to the regular Navy after completion of 18 months active duty.

Further information regarding this program may be obtained at the nearest Office of Naval Officer procurement, or any main Navy recruiting station.

The Campbells Announce Marriage Of Daughter

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Monroe Campbell have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Abbie Noel Campbell to Arthur A. Mitchell, Lieutenant, United States Air Force.

The impressive ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Sunday, the twenty-first of October, in the presence of relatives and friends of the popular young couple. Dr. Harry V. Richardson, P. D. of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia, former Chaplain at Tuskegee Institute performed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Tuskegee Institute. She enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1942 as War Office Candidate; was commissioned a Second Lieutenant at Des Moines, Iowa, upon the successful completion of the course; and after a tour of duty at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, and promoted to rank of Captain. She flew to England in January, 1945, and was stationed in London and Birmingham in England, and in Rouen and Paris, in France. Upon her discharge from the service Miss Campbell entered Columbia University and received her Master of Science degree in Home Economics from that institution in 1948. She joined the staff of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, in June, 1948. She was appointed staff dietitian at U. S. Veterans Hospital, Tuskegee, Alabama, September 1, 1949, which position she now holds.

Mrs. Mitchell holds the rank of Major in the Organized Reserve Corps.

Lt. Mitchell received the Bachelor of Science degree in Education from Tuskegee and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant from the ROTC unit at Tuskegee upon graduation. He was recently recalled to active duty at Kelly Air Force Base, Texas, as Civilian Sales Officer. Recently he completed a five weeks course in Practical Management.

Lt. Mitchell and his bride spent their honeymoon at American Beach in Florida.

of the election developed when Miss Rita Murphy attempted to cast her vote in the First precinct of the 51st Ward.

According to Miss Murphy, she attempted to vote the "single-shot" ballot. However, she stated, a colored lady in the poll office presumed to "show her how to vote" and filled in the ballot with "x's" for all the candidates for the other positions and three additional candidates for the school commission post.

Protests of these and other actions were lodged with the commission by Taylor C. D. Hayes, one of the coordinators for the Walker Campaign Committee.

Until the day preceding Election Day, however, there were no "incidents" in connection with Dr. Walker's campaign.

White and Negro poll-workers staffed the voting places. Returned to their offices were: Watkins Overton, Mayor; Claude Armour, John T. Dwyer, Frank T. Tobey, Sr. and Oscar P. Williams, City Commissioners; Julian B. Bondurant, Mrs. W. L. Pereday, Mrs. Arthur M. Seessel, Jr. and John T. Shea, School Commissioners.

Joseph S. Hicks, Tax Assessor; Beverly Bouse and Carl N. Stokes, City Judges and Elizabeth McCain, Judge of the Juvenile Court.

colored citizens who supported us in our effort to serve in an official capacity on the school board of the city of Memphis.

While the Walker Campaign Committee had been working quietly for all the candidates to qualify themselves to vote and helping the civic organizations of the city conduct voting schools, the city administration conducted no campaign until the day before election.

Several street corner meetings were held during the lunch hour in the downtown shopping and office district, while Mayor Watkins Overton made two fifteen minute radio addresses in the evening. In neither speech did he refer to Dr. Walker by name, but did state that "an attempt has been made to inject a racial issue into the campaign."

O. D. Bratton, prominent white lumberman, spoke Wednesday night over WHHM and WMPS in Dr. Walker's behalf. He was a substitute for his friend, Edmund Orgill, well known white civic leader of the city who was confined to bed with a bad cold. Mr. Orgill, issued a statement to both white dailies in which he stated his reasons for wanting Dr. Walker to be elected to the school board.

Significantly enough, Dr. Walker had votes in every precinct of the city and many of them illy-white areas.

Taylor C. D. Hayes and Attorney Benjamin L. Hooks, Managers of Dr. Walker's campaign said Friday that they were not discouraged by the 1-3 of their qual-

After games away, at Macon, Orangeburg, and Nashville, the Morris Brown College Purple Wolverines return home to wind up their regular season against the Benedict College Tigers, of Columbia, S. C., Saturday afternoon, and the Clark College Cardinal Panthers, their traditional home town rivals, on Thanksgiving Day. Game time will be 2:30 P. M., at Herndon Stadium.

The Tigers and Panthers are the two big obstacles in the path of the Purple Wolverines in their quest for the 1951 Southern Conference Championship. After taking over the leadership in the SIAC by rolling over Tuskegee, Bethune-Cookman, Florida, Allen, Fort Valley State and South Carolina State, the Wolverines will work overtime throughout the week for their important game with Benedict.

TIGERS MAY BE HARD TO HANDLE

The vastly improved Benedict Tigers may be hard to handle. Last year the Tigers chalked up a 5-2-1 record, piling up 101 points against only 66 points by their opponents. This season, after dropping their opener to Florida, they bounced Lane, bowed to Bethune-Cookman in a thriller, then brushed off Alabama A and M, Claflin and Allen. Head Coach George H. Sheets has developed a team with tremendous power, speed and deception and his great ground attack will be spearheaded by Halfbacks Rernell Jones, of Salisbury, N. C.; Leroy Huff, Chester, S. C.; Thomas Williams, Columbus, Ga.; Charles Lee, Newark, N. J.; and Fullback James Thompson, also of Salisbury. His kicking specialist is Nathaniel Hartman, another Columbus, Ga., lad.

PURPLES EAGER TO RETAIN CITY CROWN

In their annual Thanksgiving Day battle against the Clark Cardinal Panthers, the Purple Wolverines will be out to retain their city championship. This traditional Turkey Day Classic is expected to lure an overflow crowd to Herndon Stadium.

In both games Head Coach Edward J. Clemons and his assistants, Line Coach Clarence O. Brown, Backfield Coach William T. Greene, and Assistant Line Coach Thomas W. Caldwell will rely on their brilliant array of ball-carriers, clever pass patterns, and remarkable offensive and defensive line combinations.

"Miss Clark" Receives Acclaim Of Colorful Homecoming Throng

ATLANTA, Georgia — (SNS) — Slightly less than 5,000 spectators lined along Greensferry, Chestnut, and Hunter Streets, watched the colorful Clark College Homecoming parade which led the way to the Clark-Fisk football classic in Herndon Stadium at 2:30 yesterday.

Leading the parade was the versatile Clark College marching band, under the direction of Bandmaster Wayman Carver. The band, obviously full of victory spirit, turned in a king-sized performance for onlookers. No one was out of step. Majorettes Annie Mae Singleton and Joan McWilliams of New Orleans, Rosa Leigh Osborne, St. Petersburg, Florida; Marjorie Alexander of Tampa; Marilyn Roberts of New York City; and Gwendolyn Glover of Oakfield, Georgia, added charm to the band.

A long line of royalty, with "Miss Clark" out front, followed the band. The royal float, executed in red and white with a green terraced platform and the inscription "Miss Clark" attached, held the golden throne on which the regal queen was seated. Two pages who attended her, and her personal attendants, shared the float.

Behind the main float came the fraternity queens in yellow, gray, maroon, black and eight blue conical, sorority cars, campus organization floats, and student cars with cardinal and black colors flying.

HALF-TIME CEREMONIES

At Herndon Stadium, the band preceded by a parade of Clarkettes in cardinal and black, opened the half time show and brought the royalty from the press box where they had been watching the game and surveying the packed stands. First to step on the royal float was Miss Gloria Thomas of Atlanta, "Miss Alpha." She was escorted by Solomon Sears of Columbus, Ga. "Miss Omega," Miss Mae McCombs of Augusta, Ga., and escorted by Charles Jackson of Tampa, Florida, followed her. The Kappa Queen, Miss Dorothy Livingston of Miami came next, escorted by Avery Burress of Lochland, Ohio. Miss Joyce Butler of Atlanta, "Miss Sigma," escorted by Warner Hudson of Atlanta, was the last of the fraternity queens to mount the float.

From the Senior Class came Miss Willie Maude Knowles of Atlanta, "Miss Loyalty," representing "the Clark spirit at Homecoming," escorted by William Ogletree of Atlanta, came next.

"Miss Clark's" attendants, Miss Fannie Neeley of Athens, Ga., and Miss Charlie Mae Willman of New Orleans, escorted by Carson Lee of Columbus, Mississippi, and Nathaniel Thomas of Jacksonville, Florida, respectively, next mounted Her Royal Majesty's float.

While the band played a coronation march, "Miss Clark" lovely Miss Martha Lee of Barnesville, Georgia, escorted by Robert Lewis of Atlanta, ascended her throne to climax the spectacular presentation of queens.

The presentation brought cheers and applause. The time was gay. The spirit of the half-time show had not been dampened by what was to be the final outcome of the game; the score was 7-1. There were tense moments, and happy ones. President and Mrs. James F. Brawley watched the display of feminine pichtrude with interest and satisfaction as they had watched the first half. So did the 150 or more honor students from Cartersville, Forsyth, Barnesville,

Maroon Tigers Won On Drives Of 43, 62 Yards

BY JOEL SMITH
ATLANTA, Georgia — (SNS) —

The Morehouse College Maroon Tigers combined a brilliant running and passing attack to trip the Knoxville College Garnet and Blue Bulldogs, 13-6, in the final game of their 1951 grid campaign before a hometown crowd, Friday night under arcs, at Herndon Stadium.

The Maroon and White Tigers marched 43 and 62 yards to pay dirt in the second and fourth periods, with Daniel Stephens, of Atlanta, Lem Leverett, Fairfield, Ala., John Lester, St. Petersburg, Fla., Jackson Sheftall, Macon, Ga., doing most of the lugging and Quarterback Charles Chappelle, of Huntington, W. Va., pitching timely aerials to Co-Capt. Fleetwood Roberts, of Atlanta, Harry B. Smith, of Birmingham, Ala., and Clifton Hall, of New York City.

Sparked by Charles E. Latimer and Eugene Pettit, both of Knoxville, the Garnet and Blue Bulldogs moved the ball 56 yards to score their only touchdown in the third period.

Chappelle started pitching in the fourth period, and after Lester and Leverett moved the ball to the Knoxville 31, fired a 27-yard aerial to Hall to put the oval on the Bulldogs 27. An off-side penalty put the ball on the 1, and Chappelle scored on a "sneak." The try for point-after-touchdown was wide.

Victory Homecoming For Lincoln University

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Approximately 3000 persons joined alumni, students and faculty of Lincoln University (Mo.) in the 26th observance of Homecoming here Saturday, Nov. 3.

The spirited three-day observance was climaxed with a 35-14 victory by the Varsity Football team over the previously undefeated Alcorn eleven.

Supported by traditional Pep rallies, a Bon Fire, Queen Coronation, stunt shows and a parade, the non-athletic highlight of the day was the annual Business meeting of the General Alumni Association held in new Page Library at 11:30 a. m. A representative number of Alumni of the 85-old-institution discussed internal problems, institutional welfare and exchanged greetings in the meeting presided over by Association President N. A. Sweets, Editor, St. Louis Memorial services were conducted in honor of E. Y. Strawn, St. Joseph; Leroy Smith and W. A. Gunnell, St. Louis; Lewis H. Mills and Mrs. Little Dale (Woods) Mills, Poplar Bluff, and N. P. Barksdale, Jefferson City, Mo.

Spectators who filled every available space in the Lincoln Field bleachers were treated at half time to a spectacular drill exhibition by a select team of ROTC cadets under the direction of Major Herbert L. Tucker and assistants.

The well earned holiday from academic classes declared for Monday, Nov. 5, by the President of the University, provided ample relaxation from the hysteria of the weekend.

Atlantan Wins

BY GEORGE COLEMAN

ATLANTA, Georgia — (SNS) — Benny T. Smith "struck it rich" on October 31—maybe not rich—but much better off after he received a check for $380 as a winner on WAGA-TV's program "Strike It Rich."

Smith, a veteran of World War II, is the father of three children, ages three, four and eleven months. He lives with his family at 179 Linden Avenue in a two-room house.

That is why Smith wrote to "Strike It Rich." His letter stated he wanted to strike it rich so that he might better his living conditions and find an adequate place for his family to live.

Alumni To Share Spotlight At S'kegee Homecoming Nov. 16-18

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — All signs point to a gala celebration at Tuskegee Institute Friday and Saturday, November 16, 17 and 18. It will be the homecoming occasion for scores of members of the alumni who will assemble here from various sections of the country for the annual meeting of the General Alumni Association Friday afternoon and for the Homecoming football game at 1:30 Saturday with Allen University of Columbia, South Carolina. At the alumni meeting Willis I. Peck, Anderson, South Carolina, President of the Association, will preside.

Special recognition will be accorded members of the Class of 1901, celebrating the 50th anniversary of their graduation from the Institute. M. W. Freeman, Tuskegee Institute; McLain Birch, Little Rock, Arkansas; Joseph S. Shanklin, Barron, South Carolina; Cyrus Campbell, Atlanta, Georgia; Charles P. Adams, Granding, Louisiana; Augustus G. Neely, St. Augustine, Florida; Thomas D. Neely, Evansville, Indiana; and William L. Wilkinson, Topeka, Kansas will be in attendance.

Members of the Class of 1901, with more than 1,100 members expected to attend, will celebrate their 40th anniversary reunion by turning for the occasion to the Jesse O. Thomas Information Specialist, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington, D. C., who will be the principal speaker. L. J. Roberts, Bordentown, New Jersey; John L. Branch, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Birdie Thompson McClaskey, Ernest D. Marshall, Lexington, Kentucky; Preston B. Coleman, Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Flora Braz Johnson, Kilt Baldwin Chicago, J. Paul Chretien, San Antonio, Texas; Homer G. Neely, Palestine, Texas; Lehman D. Adams, Mansfield, Louisiana; Mrs. Lillie Lorte Shammou, Montgomery, Alabama; Mrs. Eddie Thornton Callaway, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Ethel McKesson Reynolds, Whittier, California, and Mrs. O. W. Pearson, Mrs. Lucille Washington Henry and Henry J. Moore, Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

At the banquet, Saturday evening in Tompkins Hall, honoring the returnees of the Class of 1901 and the Class of 1911, certificates printed on parchment paper will be awarded. The special guests will be presented by Capt. Alvin J. Neely, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association. Dr. F. D. Patterson, President of Tuskegee Institute, will present the awards. Members of the classes of 40 and 50 years ago will make brief statements about their achievements and accomplishments since graduation.

Hampton Faculty Endorses William, Mary Athletic Stand

HAMPTON, Va. — The Faculty of Hampton Institute here last week voted endorsement of the stand taken recently by the Faculty of the College of William and Mary for close faculty control of college athletics.

The W and M statement, which received wide newspaper attention in September, followed in the wake of an athletics scandal at the college, which resulted in the resignation of Dr. John E. Pomfret as president. A copy of the statement was sent to Hampton Institute as an official communication for the secretary of the Faculty, Dr. Victor H. Fields, who read it at the monthly meeting of the group on Wednesday night, November 7.

A motion for acceptance and endorsement of the statement, was passed by a unanimous voice vote. Dr. Stephen J. Wright '34, dean of Faculty, who placed consideration of the statement on the agenda, pointed out in answer to a Faculty member's question that Hampton Institute already has a close faculty check on athletics through committees like those recommended in the William and Mary statement — committees on admission, athletics, scholarships and student aid, and academic status.

A Hampton Institute spokesman interpreted the Faculty action "not as an attempt to enter into an internal discussion of the statement, but simply an opportunity to affirm principals in which Hampton Institute has always believed and to help awaken public sentiment generally on the question of keeping college athletics in their proper perspective."

The William and Mary statement declared that the W and M Faculty was "agreed that the fundamental cause of 'disclosed irregularities in the physical education and athletic departments' is an athletic policy which at William and Mary, as at many other American colleges and universities, has proceeded to the point of obscuring and corrupting the real purposes of an institution of higher learning."

The statement recommended that the athletic policy "must be truly extracurricular" and a "beneficial but distinctly subordinate activity of the College," with participants "attracted, admitted and governed by the College exactly as are all other students."

Miss Regina White Heads AKA's At Hampton Institute

HAMPTON, VA. — Miss Regina Vonora White of Brunswick, Ga., senior enrolled in the Division of Business at Hampton Institute, has been elected Tamlochus of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority for the year 1951-52.

Miss White is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scotia Mac White, 1417 Albany St., in Brunswick.

Chapel Sunday evening, November 18, the members of the alumnae will assemble in Dorothy Hall for further conversation and farewells.

USDA ANNOUNCES 1952 POTATO PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced a national production goal of 350 million bushels of 1952-crop potatoes. This compares with an estimated 1951 production of 337 million bushels.

The Department also announced acreage goals by States. With normal growing conditions, the State acreage goals would result in a total national production of approximately 350 million bushels of potatoes, which is viewed as adequate to meet domestic requirements and provide a reasonable reserve for contingencies. The acreage goals for the country as a whole total 1,565,300 acres, or 5,000 acres more than the Department goals for 1951. The production total of 350 million bushels greater than the amount suggested for 1951.

The acreage goals by States, in the following table, are based upon the volume of commercial marketings plus farm use in each State in the recent post-war years, and exclude that part of each State's production which it was necessary for the Department to buy during these years under mandatory price-support provisions of then existing legislation. Current yields per acre have been used as a basis for converting the production for each State into acreage goals. The goals represent total potato acreage for each State, as was the case in the 1951 acreage suggestions.

Federal Security Agency Releases "Health Book"

WASHINGTON — The Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency, this week announced publication of "Environmental Health," the first book in the Service's 153-year history dealing comprehensively with environmental health.

The modern concept of health is not simply freedom from suffering but the positive enjoyment of life in wholesome surroundings. It was pointed out by Mark D. Hollis, Assistant Surgeon General and Chief Engineer Officer of the Public Health Service.

"Public health practice today has achieved effective control of most communicable disease, thanks to sanitation, bacteriology, and antibiotics," Mr. Hollis continued.

"The future of public health practice, apart from keeping a tight sanitary defense against disease outbreaks, moves in the direction of overcoming metabolic and geriatric problems and improving the environment of all persons.

"In keeping with modern health principles," Mr. Hollis explained, "the emphasis in Environment and Health is on the need for positive health rather than treatment of sickness, prevention rather than cure of disease, and public rather than personal and individual well-being."

Environmental tasks in public health which are reviewed in the book include: control of water and atmospheric pollution; improvements in the sanitary control of food and milk and in sanitary facilities for water supply and sewage disposal in rural and sub-urban areas; measures to reduce home accidents and protect the health of men and women in the factory and the office; reduction of dental decay in children through fluoridation of public water supplies; modernization of refuse disposal systems; health problems of advancing chemical technology; achieving effective control of rats, flies, mosquitoes, ticks, and other disease-bearing pests and parasites.

The book discusses health measures applied to the natural environment: water, air, food and the various forms of animals and plant life which affect public health. The man-made environment -- environment of the home, the school, the working place, the park, swimming pool, and playground -- is discussed, along with health aspects

Education Board Offers Gift To Dillard University

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — Granville W. Woodson, civil engineer, left this week for Monrovia, Liberia, where he will be a consultant to the Division of Public Works of the Liberian government. He is assigned from Housing and Home Finance Agency division of international housing as a member of the United States Point IV mission.

Woodson's new duties will include those of an advisor on housing and land control regulations, and as an inspector of public works construction. Since 1949 he has been an engineer with the rank of major with the special mission of the U. S. Public Health Service which constructed large drainage and sanitation works.

Woodson resides at 3600 New Hampshire Avenue. He will be accompanied to Monrovia by his 11-year-old son. He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and took a master's degree in physics at Howard University.

1. This is a question every individual can answer for himself alone—for he will know what he has accomplished before becoming grown.
2. Life is all too short to let the youthful years flit away, then try to catch up, with but a few years left on earth to stay.
3. It is then men try to fit two years into one, which hastens their end, ere a new day is begun.
4. That earnest soul needs not to ask the question "What time is it?" when into each daily obligation he tries fairly and squarely to fit.
5. Time however will seem too short to that soul who is trying to be fair, and even for others at the close of day an extra burden is willing to bear.
6. Time is no worry to the man who makes every man a brother and would gladly do for one, what he would do for another.
7. He does not lose his time looking at a man's skin, but concerning himself only with his character within.

NEW ORLEANS — Following a recent survey of the Dillard University Library, the General Education Board offered a gift of $25,000 to help expand the book collection. This gift was conditional in that the University had to match it with a like sum. With the total $50,000 raised, the university has secured the services of Mr. William H. Carlson as a special consultant to direct the book purchasing program. Mr. Carlson is the Director of Libraries of the Oregon State System of Higher Education and will be on the Dillard campus for three months.

The purpose of this project is not only to enlarge the collection, but to give added depth and richness to the library. These educational materials will consist of books, films, recordings, maps, charts, documents, pamphlets and periodicals.

Tag — WHAT'S HAPPENING TO NEW YORK — Drunken parties, speeding cars, suggestive greeting cards and blatant commercialism, those are fast becoming the symbols of our celebration of one of the holiest days of the year, the anniversary of the birth of Christ. Our Christmas orgies of sex, liquor and smashup have reached the point where they are a national disgrace. Protest an article in the December issue of Pageant magazine entitled, "Are We Killing Christmas?"

What has happened to the real spiritual meaning of Christmas? It has dissolved into a vulgar, commercialized celebration that has nothing to do with the origin of the "holiday" which, of course, was once called "holy day." Take Christmas cards as an example, suggests Pageant. We send cards that are arty, folksy, humorous and even suggestive — but only rarely spiritual. Many of them have no Christmas meaning whatever. They are illustrated with pictures of cocktail shakers, cigarettes, ships, airplanes, dogs and sometimes even psychiatrists.

But perhaps the grossest travesty on the spiritual joy that Christmas should mean is the "office party" — sometimes held in homes and taverns too — which disguises drunkenness, vulgarity and even lewdness as legitimate Christmas jollification. In all too many homes, Christmas Day is not a time of church and family celebration, but a dull, remorseful hangover of aching or broken skulls. The "observance" of Christmas last year, points out Pageant, took 724 lives, 144 more than the previous year.

The holiday street scene in any American city bears out this growing misconception as to the meaning of Christmas. Starting even before Thanksgiving store windows are jammed with every materialistic luxury that can be bought. In every store a Santa Claus prompts greedy recitations of the bikes, games and toys that children want. But the Manger, concludes the Pageant article, is tucked away in the churches and must be deliberately sought out. Are we killing Christmas?

Operator, Give Me God

By Chaplain George A. Rosse, Captain, U. S. Navy

Somewhere in Korea, a Marine, Corporal Robert L. Mills, approached Hal Clancy, Staff Reporter for the Boston Traveler, and said: "Look, would you do something for me? Would you send a message to my kid, Cris? He's only three years old, and he's got himself all mixed up. I want to straighten him out."

"Okay," said Clancy. "You dictate your message to Cris."

The Marine squared his shoulders and began: "Dear Cris, I hear you tried to telephone God the other day. No, that's wrong. We have to start over. I'll tell you what happened, and then we'll start over. Okay?"

"Sure," the reporter said.

"Well," Mills expalined, "My kid, Cris, is pretty smart for three years old. When he gets troubles he never bothers with small fry. He goes straight to the top. He picks up the telephone and calls God. It's just his special way of praying."

guess. He doesn't mess around. See?"

"Strictly a big time operator," Clancy admitted.

Strictly, Mills agreed. "Well, here's what happened. I got a letter from my wife. She tells me Cris didn't like the idea of my going back into service so suddenly. So he asked God -- by telephone -- to please keep an eye on me and send me home. Only you know what happened? Cris turns to his mother and says, 'Nobody answers! God isn't in!' It really upset the kid not to get his call through. I'd like to write something that would clear up this for him. But I just don't know how to put it...."

It was a big problem.

A Marine Rifleman, who had been listening, said: "Well, look at it this way. Where were we when the kid made his phone call?"

Mills figured a bit. "Inchon, I guess," he said.

"A real hot place," the rifleman said. "Remember the beach, so smoky with shellfire you couldn't see. Remember how they were up on the hill throwing everything but the trees down on us, remember the seawell we had to climb?"

"It was a hot place. It was—the end of the line for some guys."

There were a few seconds of silence. And then the rifleman asked: "How do you feel, Bob?"

"Me? Fine!" Why shouldn't I? Nothing happened to me."

"That," the rifleman said, "is what I was thinking." Mills nodded slowly and grinned. He looked at the reporter. "You ready?" Hal Clancy said he was. Mills dictated: "Dear Cris, You got through just fine. Thanks!"

Pop Classics Re-Issued On New Speeds By RCA

NEW YORK CITY — Nov. '51 — RCA Victor is making available a treasure trove of popular albums by names that are now legend, recorded in the days when the artists were at their zenith. The new plates for public that has arisen since the advent of 45 and 33 1/2 rpm discs will welcome the transfer of these favorites of a decade ago to the modern speeds.

Two albums by swing immortal "Fats" Waller and duo pianists Pete Johnson and Albert Ammons are included in the collection of eleven albums. "Fats" Waller Favorites" covers 12 years of the late pianist's brilliant career and the "8 To The Bar" album of boogie masterpieces showcases the talents of the Johnson-Ammons team.

The orchestra of Duke Ellington is presented along with the bands of Benny Goodman, Tommy Dorsey, Larry Clinton, Artie Shaw, Sammy Kaye, Glen Miller and Freddie Martin in a selection of fox trots called "Smoke Rings," recorded in the late '30s and early '40s. Previously available only on 78-rpm platters, all of these works are now being issued on 45 and 78 rpm discs.

Plans Being Made To Expand Lockheed Plant

MARIETTA — Plans are being made for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation's Georgia Division to take its place in the nation's Civil Defense organization with a program comparable to that of a town of 25,000.

Working closely with National, State and local CD authorities, Plant Civil Defense Co-ordinator Alfred Ogram is working out procurement of suitable equipment and emergency supplies, and training of employees to fill auxiliary functions.

Paralleling a metropolitan civil defense program, the Lockheed organization will include employees trained to carry out duties as auxiliary nurses, firemen, policemen, wardens, rescue team members and ambulance drivers.

At peak production, Lockheed's Marietta plant will employ an estimated 25,000 persons. And Ogram said that though it will differ in some specific respects, the Civil Defense program will be comparable to that of a town of 25,000.

Ogram has been working closely with Area Civil Defense Director G. M. Phillips, of Atlanta, and Federal and State officials in order to integrate the Lockheed program closely into the overall organization.

Ogram emphasized that the Lockheed CD establishment can be used not only for bombing attack but for any emergency.

"Now that we live in such uneasy days," he said, "it is necessary that reasonable precautions be taken to minimize the results of possible catastrophe."

The Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen:

Q. I am a paralyzed veteran, and I received a $10,000 grant from VA to build a "wheelchair home." I want to get a GI loan to finance the rest of the cost. Will my loan be subject to Regulation X, such as the limited period for repayment, and the like?

A. No. GI loans made to disabled veterans for the acquisition of specially-adapted housing are not subject to the terms of Regulation X.

Q. Both of my sons, of whom I was dependent, died recently as the result of injuries incurred during World War II. Is it possible for me to receive death compensation payments on behalf of both?

A. Yes. You must, of course, file a claim with the VA, establishing dependency, and VA must determine whether both deaths were service-connected.

Q. For some reason, I never received my addressed envelope this month for paying NSLI premiums to the VA. What should I do?

A. Make your premium payment as usual. And enclose enough information about yourself so that VA can readily identify your insurance account; your insurance number, full name and address, and date of birth.

Q. I'm planning to move, and I haven't yet received my NSLI dividend payment. Is VA permitted to forward my check to my new address?

A. Yes. But first you should take two steps: (1) notify the VA dis-

LORD CALVERT For Men of Distinction

Successful men look for fine quality. They choose only the very best for themselves... and for their friends.

That's why men like W. Beverly Carter choose Lord Calvert, the whiskey of distinction.

No other whiskey can match Lord Calvert's unique flavor and distinctive lightness. It represents the choicest of all the millions of gallons we distill. And no other whiskey can match Lord Calvert's reputation for consistently fine quality.

Tonight, serve Lord Calvert yourself. Ask for it every time in bars and package stores.
