"VICIOUS" CAMPAIGN OF ROCK AND EGG THROWING CAUSES STUDENTS TO BE ABSENT

CLINTON, Tenn. — (SNE) — The 11 Negro students of the previously all-white high school here were absent from classes Wednesday due to reports of their being victims of egg and stone throwing and other alleged acts of discrimination.

It has been reported that on Tuesday afternoon, two of the Negro boy students left school after telling Principal D. J. Brittain Jr. they were "tired of being molested."

School officials called it a "vicious" campaign to oust the Negroes from the recently Federal Court ordered integrated classes.

After two white boys were reported to have hurled eggs at Negro girl students Tuesday, Brittain asked for police protection for the Negro students.

The Negroes also said that they were cursed by white boys in the school library on Tuesday.

Other complaints by Negro students told of their being jostled and pushed in the hallways, of obscene notes being left in their desks, while one Negro student said that he was constantly being provoked by white students to fight them.

Frank E. Irwin, superintendent of education, is said to have ordered Brittain to make no further statements concerning the school situation.

There were indications from several school officials that the parents of the Negro students were "thinking seriously" of permanently withdrawing their children from the school.

Wednesday was the first day that the Negroes had stayed away from classes, despite the bitter demonstrations from milling crowds about

Attack Charge Is Laid To Son Of Clinton Mayor

CLINTON, Tenn. — (ANP) — More dimension over the school integration situation arose here last week as the son of the city's Mayor went to jail and was later released on bond following an argument in which he allegedly attempted assault on a 20-year-old truck driver.

Burford Lewallen, son of Clinton Mayor W. E. Lewallen and an attorney for the Anderson County school board during its fight to maintain segregation at Clinton High schools, was freed under $1,000 bond after being arrested on an attempted murder charge brought about by James Duncan, a truck driver.

Duncan said that Lewallen pulled a gun on him at a service station.

"Lewallen shook hands with my brother in uniform, but I told him I didn't want to shake hands. I told him you're one of the— loving persons in Clinton," Duncan said.

Duncan then stated that Lewallen pulled a gun and said, "I'll shoot you right here."

The town of Clinton was recently torn by riots when the High school opened its doors to Negro students this fall.

While running through the weeds, the youths came upon the skeleton at the lot on 1100 block of Locust Road.

The youths told their parents who notified the police. Police identified the clothing, walking cane, and shoes as those of 60-year-old Zack Young, a former patient of Shelby County Hospital.

Young had been missing from the hospital since last July.

Police said that there was no evidence of foul play.

The five youths who made the discovery were: Billy Clark, 7, of 1183 Locust Road; Jimmy Gamble, 10, of 1182 Locust Road; Jimmy Vaughn, 12, and his brother, Richard Vaughn, 10, both of 1208 Chelsea and Elmer Hall 12 of 1228 Locust Road.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche is reported to have said he will definitely appoint a successor to Judge Crawford's seat if the vacancy occurs while he is still governor of Ohio. The governor's term expires Jan. 14. He was elected U. S. Senator in the November general election.

Judge Crawford was elevated to the Court of Appeals during the same election.

However, Gov. Lausche refused to indicate who would receive the appointment. "I have not actively thought of the successor." Nevertheless, I will make the appointment if I'm still in office," he continued. "Not to do so would be wrong."

Another source reveals that the governor will defer the appointment to permit Republican governor-elect C. William O'Neil, to fill the vacancy of the judgeship.

If Judge Crawford waits until after Jan. 14 to resign then his successor would be appointed by O'Neil. Crawford's present term expires Jan. 1, 1961. His new term as Appellate Court judge starts Feb. 9.

Judge Crawford refused to comment.

Carter was appointed municipal court judge in Dayton in 1953. However, he failed to win an election about six months later.

The successor would serve Crawford's term until November, 1958, when an election would be held to pick a judge for the remaining three years.

Judge Carter is the husband of the former Esther Scott, of Atlanta. She is a member of the Scott family, owners of the Scott Newspaper Syndicate of Atlanta, Ga.

with only a few incidents taking place is evidence that much progress is being made.

"However, inasmuch as there are some organizations engaged in resisting integration, the Tennessee Council of Churches, on the basis of Christian conviction and commitment, urges the governor, the state board of education, the state legislature, and the local school boards to work together to the end that Tennessee school systems be brought into harmony with the letter and the spirit of the United States Supreme Court decision of May 17, 1954.

"The Tennessee Council of Churches brings to the attention of the churches the fact that the organized opposition to desegregation has openly stated it proposes legal control of church schools in order to obtain its ends. Such action is basically contrary to our evangelical principle of separation of church and state."

Some 48 religious leaders, representing 11 denominations and who were from 15 cities throughout the state, attended the sixth annual meeting of the council which was held in the Methodist board of evangelism in Nashville.

END TO SEGREGATION AND ONE PARTY RULE IS SEEN

Southerners Say Bias On Way Out In South

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Three southern educators have agreed that segregation is on the way out in the south as surely as the one-crop economy and the one-party political system.

Harry S. Ashmore, educator and editor of the Arkansas Gazette, said the three-way change in the southern way of life is "so inter-related as to be virtually one and none can survive the other."

He predicted a mass migration of the Negro population from South to North as a part of the desegregation process.

Ashmore spoke in a forum on race relations with Alonzo G. Moron, president of the Hampton, Va. Institute, and Omer Carmichael, superintendent of Louisville Ky., schools.

They appeared before the 43rd Annual Meeting of the anti-Defamation League of B'Nai B'Rith which re-elected Henry E. Schultz, of New York, as national chairman.

Schultz warned in opening the race relations forum that a by-product of the school desegregation fight is increased anti-semitism.

He said that some leaders of White Citizens Councils have long anti-semitic records and are causing damage that "will not easily be repaired" by stirring up prejudices against all minorities.

NO COLOR BAR Moron said the improved legal status of the Negro is a result of "intelligent use of the courts of the land" and urged continued legal action in building "a Democracy that has no color bar."

He added: "But we must not neglect the continuing job of convincing our hearts and minds that there are questions here of morals as well as of legal precepts."

Carmichael who has been congratulated by President Eisenhower for peaceful integration of Louisville Schools, said each community is different and desegregation

Trial Of Man In Triple Slaying Set

HAMBURG, Ark. — (ANP) — The trial of a 63-year-old Negro accused of first degree murder in the triple slaying of two white men and a Negro woman last Oct. 20 near Crossett, Ark., was set last week to be heard Dec. 5.

In announcing the trial date Prosecutor A. J. Linder said he felt the defendant was entitled to a trial prior to the regular March session of court.

Linder requested a special trial in Circuit Court here because Frank Simmons, the accused, could not make bond.

Simmons was arrested three weeks ago after he admitted fatally shooting Fred Watkins and George Wells two white men, and Mrs. Hattie Mae Williams, a Negro woman, after the trio allegedly cursed him vehemently.

The three were struck by shotgun blasts as they sat in Watkins' car on a rural road, Simmons told officers that Watkins and his companions had abused him and he feared for his life.

Montgomery Bus Ruling Is Cited

BY RAYMOND F. TISBY

The suit filed in Federal District Court here by postal employee O. Z. Evers against the Memphis Street Railway Company and local officials attacking Memphis and Tennessee's bus segregation laws moved in a new, and legally shorter, direction when his attorneys filed a motion seeking a summary judgment in the bus case.

A summary judgment is asked when the suit in question involves a point of law and not factual issues.

OHIO ATTY. MENTIONED FOR COUNTY JUDGESHIP

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The name of Russell Carter, a Negro attorney of Dayton, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Judge Calvin Crawford of Montgomery County Common Pleas Court.

Two other names were also suggested. They were: Neal F. Zimmers and Maurice Russell, both are also Dayton Municipal Court judges. All three men are registered Democrats.

Church Council Urges Desegregation Action

Gov. Frank Clement, the state board of education and legislature were urged to desegregate the state's public schools in a resolution passed by the Tennessee Council of Churches meeting in Nashville, the Memphis World learned.

The resolution was unanimously passed after being introduced by the Rev. Oswald Schrag, white Congregational Christian minister who teaches at Flsk University.

The resolution said that organized opposition to desegregation seeks "legal control of church schools in order to obtain its ends. Such action is basically contrary to our evangelical principle of separation of church and state."

Some 48 religious leaders, representing 11 denominations and who were from 15 cities throughout the state, attended the sixth annual meeting of the council which was held in the Methodist board of evangelism in Nashville.

The text of resolution: "We are grateful for the progress that has been made in Tennessee and elsewhere in the field of human relations. The reports of newspapers relating that thousands of white and Negro children are attending schools together in the United States for the first time must be tailored to local conditions. The Louisville program was described by Carmichael as acceptance of the Supreme Court integration decision, preparation of the community for change, cooperation of all officials and a friendly press.

Earlier, the Anti-Defamation League heard an analysis of intelligence tests intended to demonstrate that Negroes as a group are not innately inferior in intelligence to white citizens.

Robert D. North, Assistant Director of the Educational Records Bureau of New York City, said any lag between Negroes and whites in intelligence tests can be traced to environmental differences.

NEW BUS CASE ACTION

tion now pending, was filed by Atty. H. T. Lockard, president of the Memphis NAACP and Atty. Thurgood Marshall and Robert Carter of the national NAACP legal staff.

Apparently based on the recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling in the Montgomery bus case, although affidavits of the recent Supreme Court ruling were not filed with the document, the motion said:

"There is no genuine issue as to any material fact and the plaintiffs are entitled to judgment in the matter of law."

The motion requests that district court Judge Marion Boyd hold a hearing on the motion at 9:30 a. m. on Dec. 14 "or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard."

Evers filed the suit earlier this year when he and a fellow postal worker boarded a Crosstown bus and took a seat near the front. Asked by the operator to move, which they refused to do, the operator stopped the bus and then apparently called the police.

Two police officers boarded the bus on Bellevue near Walker and gave Evers the option of moving to the rear, getting off the bus or being arrested. Evers charged in the original suit.

Recently a three judge court was appointed to hear the trial

however, should the secret motion be approved by Judge Boyd the district court trial need not be heard.

NO STATE LAW REQUIRING BUS SEGREGATION IT SEEMS

According to a recent statement by State Public Service Commissioner Hammond Fowler, it would appear there is no state law requiring bus segregation.

Tennessee's only law requiring segregated buses applies to those operated in cities, Fowler stated.

An act of 1905 requires companies operating streetcar lines to segregate passengers by race, but was not amended to make it applicable to motor or electrically driven buses, Fowler explained.

Thus Commissioner Fowler reasoned, there can be no court interpretation that it means anything more than what it says, namely streetcars.

Parents File Suit For Entry Into Ky. School

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (ANP) — Contending that "the school board has refused to integrate its school's elementary schools within its jurisdiction," six Negro children and their parents last week filed suit in U. S. District Court here for immediate desegregation of Scott County elementary schools.

The suit said that the children were refused admission to Eastern elementary school September 10 and were assigned to Ed Davis School in the Georgetown Independent School District.

The complaint added that the board does not maintain an elementary school for Negro children. Additionally, the petition asked that the six children be admitted immediately to presently all-white schools and that Scott school officials be permanently enjoined from requiring Negroes to attend a particular school because of race.

Sees No Guarantee Of Continued Peace

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Tuesday there is no assurance of continued peace in the Middle East. Radford also told a newsman after attending a briefing session with the House Foreign Affairs Committee that "things are quiet there now, but still unsettled."

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., summarized for the House Committee developments in the Middle East, and in Hungary. Committee Chairman James P. Richards (D) S. C., said he also discussed "certain critical issues with which the U. S. is confronted."

Richards added in a formal statement issued after the three-hour meeting that Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, reviewed the situation in Eastern Europe and the Middle East on the basis of latest available information.

Rep. Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D) N. C., remarked to newsmen afterward that "I feel a little better after listening to them, but I still don't feel well."

Richards said Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming surveyed the world petroleum situation resulting from the closing down of the Suez Canal and the procedures "which are being prepared for meeting the situation."

Escapee Quizzed In Murder Case

NEW ORLEANS — (ANP) — George Graham, 42-year-old — escapee from a North Carolina prison work gang, is being considered a prime suspect in the unsolved double murder of a Chinese laundryman and his 19-year-old stepdaughter here last May.

Graham surrendered to police last week because he was in need of hospitalization. He said he came here from North Carolina, after escaping from a prison work gang in 1955. He had been serving a long term sentence for manslaughter.

Police described the prisoner was a "hot suspect" because he lived a block away from the laundry shop where the couple were stabbed and beaten to death.

"Angry" At Woman, Man Admits Fire

CINCINNATI, Ohio. — (ANP) — A 29-year-old man told police here last week that he started a fire that killed eight persons in a three-story apartment building two weeks ago because he was a "little mad" at a lady friend.

Arthur Lee Redmon confessed starting the fire in a five-page statement, but said he did it to "scare" Mrs. Johnetta Clark after trying unsuccessfully for a reconciliation by telephone after quarreling with the woman.

Mrs. Clark lived in the brick apartment building. She lost two of her children in the blaze which also killed a 26-year-old mother and her five children.

Mrs. Clark escaped injury in the fire.

MRS. VIVIAN TARPLEY saw her son, Augustus White, a pre-med student at Brown University star in the game Thanksgiving when Brown won. But the week before The Providence Journal at Providence, R. I. (where Brown is located) carried a picture and a long story on Augustus who was said to have played 60 minutes and took part in 60 out of Brown's 68 plays. The story was written by Pete McCarthy who said that Gus' work on the defense earned for him a score of 80 under the grading system employed by the Brown coaching staff.

In the key play of the game (according to Mr. McCarthy) Augustus needed no coaching as to what course to take. He judged it momentarily, as if in sheer disbelief that it was a football he was hurdling, and then took off for the goal line.

The sports writer went on to say that Augustus White, a pre-medical student, has made the Dean's List since his sophomore year. Gus, he said, and I quit, has a conflict between lab and football, but will report late to football practice so as to lose no grounds. Despite the press of football and studies, Gus is probably the busiest man on the Brown campus.

During his freshman year he won numerals in wrestling—was initiated into Delta Upsilon Fraternity, won football letters, was a member of Lacrosse Club and the Brown Youth Guidance Program.

As a sophomore, Augustus was a member of The Vigilance Committee; corresponding secretary of Lacrosse Club, Brown Youth Guidance Program, varsity football; secretary of class, dormitory, member of Brown Key and made the Dean's List.

As a junior, the handsome Memphis lad was a member of the varsity football, Rushing Choir of his frat, Dean's List, pledgee master of fraternity, Spring week-end committee and the Cammarium Club.

This year Augustus has been sensational as a student. He is president of his fraternity, Cammarium Club, member of class cabinet; Dean's List and the Sphinx Club.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES STEGALL and their pretty baby daughter Martha were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ashton Hayes and their mother, Mrs. Naomi Ross who is spending the winter here. The Stegalls hail from Cincinnati. Mrs. Ross lives in Chattanooga.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Horne spent the holidays in Nashville where they attended the Thanksgiving game and visited Mr. and Mrs. John Oyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perkins had as their guests last weekend Miss Olive B. McLin, instructor of English at St. Petersburg, Fla., Miss McLin, who is organizer and past-president of the Florida State Council of English Teachers, was enroute to St. Louis where she is attending the National Council of English Teachers. With Miss McLin was Miss Franke A. Berry, instructor of English at Middleton High School at Tampa. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins had the two ladies for breakfast and showed them the city Sunday. Mrs. Powers Thornton was also hostess to Miss Berry who is an old friend, Mrs. Perkins heads the English Department at Manassas High School here.

Hoxsey Cancer Treatment Termed Worthless By Gov't

WASHINGTON D. C. — For the second time, a Federal court has determined that the Hoxsey medicines for internal cancer are worthless. Yesterday, after a six-week trial in the Federal court at Pittsburgh, the jury returned a verdict that these medicines, in pill form, were illegally offered as an effective treatment for cancer.

The public should know, however that this action does not end the manage of this fake treatment. It merely means that half a million of the Hoxsey pills which were seized shortly after the opening of a second Hoxsey Clinic at Forge, Pa., will now be destroyed. An injunction is being sought to stop further interstate shipment of the pills. We intend to use every legal means within our power to protect consumers from being victimized by this worthless treatment.

In the meantime it is of the utmost importance that cancer patients and their families, who may be planning to try the Hoxsey treatment either at Dallas, Texas or Forge, Pa., should acquaint themselves with the facts about it. All such persons are advised to secure a copy of the Public Warning which was issued by the Food and Drug Administration last April.

Roy Wilkins Calls For Senate Move On Filibuster

Wants End To So-Called "Tyranny" Of Minority

NEW YORK — "It is imperative that the Senate act at the beginning of the 85th Congress to end" the filibuster, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said today in identical telegrams to Senate majority and minority leaders, Senators Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Texas) and William F. Knowland (R., Calif.).

In another telegram to Richard M. Nixon, Mr. Wilkins reminded the Vice President that "the humane principles of modern Republicanism" for which you and President Eisenhower stand cannot be realized as long as a small group of senators can kill the administration's legislative proposals. To achieve this goal the tyranny of the minority must be ended.

The telegrams were prompted by announcement on Thanksgiving Day that six northern Democratic senators were preparing to make an all-out effort to revise Senate Rule 22 in order to make it possible to end a filibuster by a simple majority vote. Under the present rule, 64 of the Senate's 96 members must vote to stop the marathon talkfest which certain southern senators use to prevent a vote on civil rights bills. Joining Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in announcing this proposal were Senators Paul H. Douglas, Illinois, Wayne Morse and Richard L. Neuberger, Oregon; James E. Murray, Montana; and Pat McNamara, Michigan. The revision of the Senate rule is one of several proposals advanced by the group.

The NAACP, Mr. Wilkins told Senators Johnson and Knowland, "strongly urges you to rally the support of senators of your party for revision of Senate Rule 22 to curb the destructive filibuster. As long as the filibuster remains, civil rights pledges in party platforms and other such pronouncements are meaningless."

The filibuster, the NAACP leader said, not only "neglects the democratic process" but also "jeopardizes our role as leader of the free world." In this time of world crisis, he declared, "we cannot afford the damaging impact of this sinister device to paralyze Congress."

Noting the vice president's "strategic role in any effort to end the filibuster" and citing Mr. Nixon's advocacy of "equal rights for all citizens," Mr. Wilkins called upon him "for aid in eliminating the chief roadblock to civil rights legislation."

Newcombe Wins Cy Young Memorial Award

NEW YORK — (INS) — Don Newcombe's ability to win the big ones was "seconded" Wednesday when the big Brooklyn Dodger righthander was named the winner of the first annual Cy Young Memorial Award, as the outstanding pitcher in the Major Leagues.

The designation of Newcombe by a 16-man committee of the baseball writers' association, gave the 27-year-old right-hander a 27-game winning fastball an honors "double" for the 1956 season.

Huge Newk, a frustrating failure in two World Series starts against the New York Yankees, also won the award as the National League's most valuable player.

MAGLIE SECOND

The temperamental pitcher received 10 out of 16 votes cast by the writers. Second place went to Sal Maglie of the Dodgers, who was Newcombe's runnerup in the MVP balloting.

Maglie, who compiled a 13-5 record for Brooklyn, received four votes.

Two southpaw standouts, Warren Spahn (20-11) of the Milwaukee Braves and Whitey Ford (19-6) of the Yankees, received a vote each.

The major leagues decided to establish the Young Throphy award at the All-Star game in Washington last July.

Newcombe had a 27-7 record for the season with five shutouts and 18 complete games. His earned-run average was 3.09 and he allowed only 46 walks in 268 innings.

COME LITTLE CHILDREN

Oh come little children; Come one and all.

To Jesus whose cradle was only a stall;

In a stable cold and bare He was born.

Oh that Happy Christmas early at morn.

He came down on earth from His heaven above.

That all little children might learn of His love;

He called them to come as little lambs to His fold

That beautiful story will never grow old.

He blessed them and placed His hand on each head

And looked up to heaven and sweet prayers He said;

For their spiritual guidance and love day by day,

And peace and true happiness all of their way.

God still is calling His children today,

And pleading to them in His own gentle way.

If we only will listen and answer His call,

He will lead us and guide us and not let fall.

First love your Savior with all heart and mind,

Then honor your parents and to them be kind.

Do by your neighbor as you'd have him do you;

The Golden Rule teaches us that we must do.

God has little children all ages we're told,

Some are quite young while others are old;

To reach heaven safe and in peace see His face.

All must come as little children seeking His grace.

American Athletes Cling To Lead In Olympic Games

By BOB CONSIDINE

MELBOURNE — (INS) — America's runaway express in the Olympic games ran into a stubborn Soviet roadblock Wednesday, but title-favored U. S. athletes captured gold medals in the 110-meter Hurdles and the Shot Put to stay 92 points ahead of Russia in the unofficial team standings.

Olympic marks were left for dead as Lee Calhoun of Gary, Ind., rushed home first in front of a 1-2-3 American finish in the hurdles and Heroulan Parry O'Brien of the U. S. Air Force took the shot out crown to raise the U. S. Gold Medal total to 18.

KUTS PACES RUSSIANS

But the Red forces led by Vladimir Kuts, the tireless sailor who brilliantly fashioned the second double of the games with an Olympic record victory in the 5,000 meter run, had their best day of this 16th Olympiad, with triumphs in four finals.

In addition to the sensational win by Kuts the Russian modern pentathlon team nosed out a Yankee snafu that finished a surprisingly high second. Soviet heel-and-toe specialists ankle across one, two and three in the 20-kilometer walk and a Red muscle moll won the javelin toss.

When all the action ceased before another capacity crowd of 100,000, which included an eager sports fan named Philip Duke of Edinburgh, the U. S. led Russia in the games with 18 Gold Medals to 10 and 306 points to 214. Stragglers far behind were Germany, Australia and Sweden.

Uncle Sam figured to have more medal ammunition on tap in some of the events scheduled for Thursday.

U. S. CAGERS WIN

The all-victorious U. S. basketball team, which made it five straight wins by topping Brazil, 113 to 51, Wednesday night, had a "show-down" semi-final battle on tap against Russia. We figured to beat the Reds.

The swimming, dominated by Australia's youngsters, also got under way Thursday with Uncle Sam's mermen and mermaids hopeful of picking up valuable points. Our side had very little hope, however, in the steeplechase final or in the trials for the stellar attraction 1,500 meter run.

UCLA giant Rafer Johnson, Milt Campbell and Rev. Bob Richards were eager to gain another 1-2-3 sweep for Uncle Sam as competition began in the gruelling decathlon.

Along with Bobby Morrow, our lanky Texas cowboy, the Russian Naval officer is the only holder of two Olympic Gold Medals — and Bobby most likely will pick up a third in the 400-meter relays.

The red-shirted Red, making little upercutting motions with his arms, his blond hair rising and falling with the rhythm of a metronome, led from beginning to end in the 5,000. Alone, running through waves of cheers he finished as if escaping for his life, his lips pulled back from his teeth in a half snarl, half tortured look.

Britain's Gordon Pirie and Derek Robtson finished second and third, respectively, behind the Russian while Hungary's Milos Szabo was fourth.

Russia's pentathlon team overtook the Americans in the 14,000 meter cross country final to complete the five part test in riding, shooting, swimming, fencing and running in first place.

Form Teen-Age "White Council" Group In Tenn.

CLINTON, Tenn. — (ANP) — A group of teen-aged high school students were issued a charter here last week for a group called "White Youth."

Organized two weeks ago and headed by Carolyn Hutton, a 17-year-old junior at Clinton High School, the group was issued a constitution papers by Joel Meredith, Anderson County registrar of deces.

The young girl said that six new members had been admitted to the group at one of its recent meetings. The total membership is now 107.

The youths in the organization are students at Clinton, Lake City and Norris High Schools.

BITES DOG-CATCHER

Huntington Park, Calif. — A jury couldn't agree recently on whether Mrs. Margie Gomes, 26, was guilty of battery for biting a dog-catcher. The dog-catcher, Donald Baird, testified she bit him on the arm as he was trying to snare her beagle pup. Mrs. Gomes said Baird twisted her around and shoved her against the back door of the truck, so she bit him. A new trial was set.

"Small Group" Of Clinton Students In Race Riot Try

CLINTON, Tenn. — (INS) — Clinton High School students were formally warned Tuesday to cease their anti-integration demonstrations which have seen Negro students stoned and pelted with eggs in the past two days.

Principal D. J. Brittain, Jr., Tuesday blamed a "small group" of white students for what he described as racial "friction" during the past couple of weeks.

SEVERAL STONED

Several Negroes were stoned outside the school building Monday and a group of Negro girls had eggs hurled at them Tuesday, Brittain said that no one was injured.

The principal said that he had names of 8 or 10 students described as ringleaders of a group of about 40 who oppose attendance at the school of Negro students.

"Anyone who shows these Negroes any kindness gets unpleasant treatment from this group," he said.

The principal laid blame for the white students action on pressure exerted by adults. He said the students met in a local club with a group of adults over the weekend.

NONE LEFT SCHOOL

Brittain said none of the Negro students involved in the "friction" had left school on this account. He said 10 of the 12 Negro students admitted under orders of a Federal Court and under protection of the National Guard, were still in school. One other student dropped out because of illness, he said, and another's family moved away.

"It's a mean and ugly situation," Brittain said. He declined to identify the Negro victims of the incidents, explaining:

"We've got all the trouble in the world that we want without stirring up more."

Onitsuka attributes his hen's success to new breeding techniques that have led to a new registered breed, called the Hawaiian Reds.

Florida A & M To Play Tenn. State Tigers Before 50,000

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida A and M University Rattlers will meet the Tennessee State University Tigers in the 24th annual Orange Blossom Classic on December 1.

This long waited clash between the two top Negro teams in the nation will be played in Miami's spacious Orange Bowl Stadium and an expected crowd of 50,000 grid fans will pour through the turnstiles to witness this championship tilt.

Both teams are undefeated and untied. Florida A and M has scored 367 points and held the opposition to 57 points (add Saturday's score. Tennessee State has amassed 334 points to opponents 25.

These two teams have the greatest offensive machines and the strongest defensive walls. Negro football has seen in a long time. According to a recent NCAA release, the Rattlers are leading the nation total offense and are fifth in total defense. Tennessee State is fourth in total defense.

All ingredients have been thrown in to make this grid extravaganza the greatest sporting event of the fall. Tennessee's head coach Howard Gentry was an All-American tackle under Florida's head mentor Jake Gaither back in 1941.

Gentry will be matching his learning against his old teacher and trying to knock his alma mater from the ranks of the unbeaten and untied elevens. Gaither will be trying to continue his winning habits as only he knows how.

There will be no letup from excitement. The TSU and FAMU marching bands will keep the fans entertained with spectacular pregame and half time performances. Both bands claimed to be the best in the country.

Both TSU and FAMU have the best whether it is line or back field play. Florida has the greatest, fastest, and most powerful set of backs than any team in the country. The Rattlers have two All-American halfbacks in Willie Galtmore and Al Fraizer.

Fraizer has scored 12 touchdowns and kicked 16 PAT's for a remarkable mid-season total of 88 points. Galtmore has piled up 400 yards rushing for average of 999 yards per carry.

Scouts reports show that TSU has a fleet of backs, depth, a strong line, and will hit you from in the air or on the ground. This is the game to see, and as football fans are saying on the corners, in barber shops, beauty salons, or wherever they gather: "It is a match."

Higher Living Standards, Population Are Factors

CHICAGO — (ANP) — The future of Negro businesses already established and the lot of those to come have a very bright future in the vast expanding population's demand for higher living standards.

Likened to our educational system, the business structure of our society is constantly expanding and blossoming into a wide dispersal of both large and small firms where ever there are needs to be filled.

Some 1 1/2 million new businesses are predicted to come about in America by 1976. Currently, there are 4.2 million small firms in the nation and by 1976, in order to keep abreast with present trends, there will have to be 5.7 million by 1976.

This fact has a very significant bearing on the Negro who is entering the thought of going into business himself, but is undecided about the type of firm, small business or outlet that he would like to start.

Growth and progress are shared by all members of a business community and big businesses are not necessarily aloof from, but rather are intertwined with small businesses. How large a firm may grow is not controlled by a preconceived theory, but by the size and nature of the needs a business seeks to fill, and the skill its management displays in filling them.

The man contemplating his own business would do well to consider and remember that, to be meaningful, "the size of a firm is of little significance as long as it is related to its function."

Many Negroes have gone into businesses such as restaurants, record shops, grocery stores, taverns, and the like and are either successful or in the red up to their necks. Small businesses thrive because the needs of so many millions of people can best be served by them. When they fail it is probably because the need of the community for that particular service was filled elsewhere.

Big businesses and small business are different only in the fact that one or the other is performing best, the needs of a community. Many large companies cannot adequately fill the needs of a community and vice versa.

With the standard of living in America rapidly and constantly increasing, there will be an ever-present need for more businesses, both large and small to fill the needs of an advancing people.

There are any number of businesses the Negro could consider starting, without limiting himself to certain kinds of businesses.

It can hardly be said that the curtain red or candlestick business is any more expensive than the tavern business. And there is a definite market for curtain rods and candle sticks, as far-fetched as it may appear.

Asks Three State Meeting On Migrant Labor Problem

NEW YORK — Spokesmen for the NAACP and the National Child Labor Committee, called upon Gov. Averell Harriman last week to convene a regional migrant labor conference involving New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The proposal was made by Herbert Hill, NAACP labor secretary, and Sol Markoff, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, during their appearance on the New York radio program, "Reports from the Labor Front," on November 21. The program was broadcast over the facilities of Station WEVD.

In a joint statement, the speakers declared that recent investigations "have shown that flagrant abuses involving child labor, lack of adequate housing and miserable working conditions still characterize the lot of southern Negroes along the Atlantic Coast migrant labor stream."

"The states of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey are now in competition in seeking the vitally necessary supply of migrant labor for harvesting and food processing operations," the statement continued. "A serious problem is created by the lack of uniform statutes and standards among the three states."

"A great contribution towards eliminating many difficulties experienced by migrant laborers would be the creation of uniform regulations for living and working conditions and joint-enforcement procedures of state laws," the statement concluded.

Representatives of the NAACP and the National Child Labor Committee previously made requests for such a conference to officials of the New York State Department of Labor.

The "Reports from the Labor Front" program is conducted by Joseph Tavin, manager of Local 142 of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL-CIO.

Citizens Question West's Stand On "Volunteers"

LONDON — (INS) — Many citizens of the Western world wondered why the West did not call the Russian bluff by threatening to send volunteers to fight in Hungary.

Outwardly it seemed like a simple idea and strongly appropriate in view of the Russian threat to send "volunteers" to the Middle East. One member of Britain's Parliament, Conservative M. P. David Price, declared in the House of Commons that "if there were the slightest chance of an international brigade succeeding I should be the first to join."

Such volunteers, of course, would have received no official backing from Western governments. But the Hungarian rebels were calling for help and plenty of Westerners could have been found to organize, finance and fight in such an international brigade on a private basis.

If such a movement ever began, however, it never reached an organized stage. The swiftness of victory and then disaster in Hungary allowed no time for the forming of an international brigade.

A more important stumbling block lay in the attitude of the Western governments, which carefully avoided any official mention of possible volunteer aid to Hungary and unofficially took a very unhappy view of the idea.

In the opinion of informed Western circles, any such move would have gained little and risked a great deal.

Political geographers need no innumerable obstacles to any volunteer force trying to reach Hungary. Hungary is surrounded on three sides by Communist states — Romania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia — and on the fourth by the world's most nervous neutral, Austria.

The Austrians undoubtedly would have refused flatly to allow any organized volunteer force to cross their territory enroute to Hungary, and might even have taken steps to prevent individuals or small groups from filtering through.

They could have been blamed for taking such a stand. As it was, there were ominous rumblings from Russia over medical supplies obtained by the Hungarians in Austria (although these went to both sides as a humanitarian action).

Born In Slavery, Man Dies Worth $340,000

BRIDGEPORT, La. — (ANP) — Last Tuesday closed the final chapter in the life of a 97-year-old Negro man who was born into slavery, never learned to read or write, but was worth more than $340,000 when he died.

Newton Smith was born on the McCain plantation here in 1859. Last week when Hazel Stroud, a white merchant, estimated Smith's land alone, he found that the 2,000 acres of top-grade cotton-producing earth is worth $340,000. This doesn't include the mineral rights, pecan orchards or Smith's modest home.

Stroud said Smith was four years old when the Emancipation Proclamation gave him his freedom.

GENESCO, N. Y. — For the first time since the Livingston County Republican, a weekly newspaper, was founded in 1837, the publisher announced that subscription rates would be increased from the original rate of $2 per year to $3 per year. Rising production and distribution costs made the increase necessary, the publisher announced. In 1855, Smith began farming after borrowing money from the late Frank McCain to buy two oxen. McCain was the son of the man who owned Smith.

The next year, Smith bought two mules. Then, during his third year, he saved enough money to buy 40 acres of land.

Smith's farming operation grew rapidly and soon he realized he needed a bookkeeper. To meet this need, he sent his wife, Rosa, to school.

The ex-slave often did other kinds of work and at one time used 100 mules in his business, which included building levees, clearing passages for highways and hauling jobs in oil fields.

A Wintery Treat For Centenary Youth

At Camp Aldersgate
BY JOSEPH R. WHITE
Teenage News Correspondent

Memphis has had camping expeditions given before, but the one coming up December 1st at camp Aldersgate in Little Rock, Arkansas, is different. It's a "Wintery Treat" — camping as it was conceived and is planned by Centenary's youth organization.

The camp will feature a motor caravan from Memphis to Little Rock, Ark.; a visit to Philander Smith College; and will hold workshops for the youth in learning and gaining more knowledge of the Methodist Church.

It was dreamed up by the Methodist Youth Fellowship, a youth organization of the Methodist Church, and will be tagged as their first camping expedition this year.

TOPS IN YOUTH PROGRAMS

Directing the trip will be Miss Myrtle Gentry, superintendent of the Youth department and Neverson Jones, District president of the State Intermediate Fellowship department, who are guiding the youth of Centenary of high peaks of Christian living through wholesome, good and clean recreation.

Successing in all their past endeavors, the members of MYF have presented several activities with great success, such as their hay ride, Tom Thumb weddings and many other programs. Credited for some success in these programs are the youth officers who are Miss Peggy McNairy, president of the Older Youth; Miss Pearl Crosby, secretary of the Older Youth; Miss Paulette Hawkins, president of the Intermediate Youth; and Miss Shirley Pierce, secretary of the Intermediate youth department.

Rounding out what promises to be a big pleasure and exciting expedition is the tour of Philander Smith's campus where the youth will spend the night. The officers also urge youth of other churches to go.

Their motorcade which will leave Sunday, is expected to wrap up the wintery treat program Upon returning home three young people will be selected to report and thank the church and individuals for their financial contributions who were: The Men's Bible Class, the Women's Society of Christian Service, the Young Adult Fellowship, the Methodist Men, R. S. Lewis and Thomas Willis.

Round trip to camp Aldersgate is $5.00 for the two-day expedition. The Rev. D. M. Grisham is minister.

IN CONCERT AT THREE HIGH SCHOOLS — The Memphis Sinfonietta, directed by Dax Vincent de Frank, will give concerts at Melrose, Booker Washington and Manassas high schools, sponsored by the Memphis Orchestral Society. The first concert will be held Dec. 4 at Melrose, 2:30. Admission is 35 cents. Adults may attend if seating capacity permits.

Your Teeth

Don't Pick Up That Toothpick

BY PETER GRAVIN, DMD
Lay that toothpick down!
About the only good use for a toothpick is to keep a party sandwich together.

True, you can still find advertisements offering solid gold picks for sale.

But almost any dentist will tell you that this advertisement comes 50 years too late. Some years ago, it was very fashionable to settle back in your chair after a satisfying meal and pick your teeth in front of everyone.

And always the well-dressed gentleman carried a gold toothpick on his watch chain.

But those days, like the dodo bird are gone forever. Not only does present-day etiquette condemn it, but so do the rules of good dental health. We now know that picking the teeth can cause severe damage to the soft gums around the teeth.

When eating some foods, such as stringy beef or celery, many of us have experienced the uneasy feeling of food between our teeth.

This can happen to anyone, even those whose teeth are in the best condition. A toothbrush and dental floss usually will suffice to remove these particles.

When you find it necessary to dig with a toothpick after every meal, you are facing trouble. The chief reasons for food to continually pack between the teeth are dental decay between the teeth, or improper contact between adjacent teeth.

The toothpick is a poor weapon

SENATORS BACK 16-POINT PLAN

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NPPA) Representative Frank Thompson, Jr., Democrat, of New Jersey, has endorsed the 16-point program sponsored by six Western Democratic Senators.

In a letter to Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Thompson said the 16-point program did not go far enough. He said it should include "constructive alternatives" to the Eisenhower Administration's foreign policy and call for an expanded student exchange program, aid to underdeveloped countries on a co-operative basis, aid to the aged, and national representative and self-government for the District of Columbia.

The 16-point program, which includes civil rights legislation and amendment of the Senate cloture rule, is sponsored by Senators Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Paul Douglas of Illinois, Wayne Morse and Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon, James E. Murray of Montana and Pat McNamara of Michigan.

Changes Mark Church Meeting

FAYETTEVILLE. — Changes affecting every district of the Central North Carolina Conference, A. M. E. Zion Church, were made by presiding prelate Raymond L. Jones, when he read the appointments at the close of the 77th session, held at Evans Chapel Church Nov. 21-22.

There has been much speculation as to who would be named to preside over the Durham and Sanford districts, due to the death of Revs. W. W. Logg and J. W. Marsh, but many were surprised when there were pastoral shifts.

The Rev. J. W. Hatch, who has

City Denies It Sold Golf Links To Stop Integration

GREENSBORO, N. C. (ANP) — The city of Greensboro denied in Middle District Federal Court last week that it leased a public golf course in order to deny Negroes the privilege of using it.

The city made the statement in an answer filed to dismiss an anti-segregation suit brought against it and other parties by a group of Negro golfers.

The Negroes, in the suit filed Oct. 27, charged the city and the city school board, owners of the land on which Gillespie Park Golf Course is situated, with discrimination against them because of their race.

In its answer, the city admits that the land is owned by it and the school board, and that the facilities are leased to and operated by Gillespie Park Golf Club.

The city claims, however, that it "has no knowledge sufficient to form a belief as to whether the facilities are available for use, comfort, convenience, enjoyment and pleasure of white citizens only."

Answers to the action are yet to be filed by the city school board and the golf club.

Negroes who filed the suit are Arthur Leo Jr., Lonnie Reynolds, pastored Franklin Chapel Church, Laurinburg, for more than four years, was named presiding elder and appointed to the Fayetteville District. The Rev. J. A. Brown who has headed the Fayetteville District for a number of years was appointed to the Durham District. The Rev. T. J. Young returned to the Raleigh District after an absence of three years. The Rev. G. F. Maddins moved to the Sanford District and the Rev. S. Riggs was transferred from the Pee Dee Conference (S. C.) and put in charge of the Laurinburg District. Rev. B. W. Moncure, who has been in Red-spring for sometime will be the presiding elder of the Lancaster District, S. C.

Topping the pastoral changes was the transfer of the Rev. D. L. Conyers, from the Western North Carolina Conference to Franklin Chapel, Laurinburg. This district also saw the Rev. D. G. Glover sent from Jonesboro to Red-spring and Rev. T. H. Murphy from Pineview to Maxton. Revs. J. A. Ashley and H. T. McLean left the Fayetteville District and will serve the Park-ton Circuit and McLaughlin Chapel, respectively.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

From time to time we are tempted to stick our collective necks out in regards to sports events only to snatch it back intact, and sometimes we wonder whether we will survive the many whacks and fashes that have been thrust into it by those who differed with us, and were relentless in expressing their variance.

We are about to go out on another such limb in speaking our mind in regards to the fight for the heavyweight title Friday night. We don't propose to be the final word in sports matters that are coming up, yet, we sometimes express our beliefs in regards to the outcome of coming events.

So, we string along with Floyd Patterson in his fight with the veteran Archie Moore in his Friday night melee in Chicago. We are not at all ignorant of the ring prowess of Moore, as he has been around a long time and has fought and mastered all in the light heavy weight division, as well as stepping over into the heavyweight division to tangle with the best in that division.

Yet, it must be taken into consideration that Moore is the old man as far as fighters go, and although, he has been around and has met the top fighters, it must be remembered that one of the greatest enemies of all fighters is "Father time" who is also unyielding in the final analysis.

is an up-and-coming fighter with plenty of youth (21), and having tangled with some of the more promising fighters and have given a good account of himself. A young fighter develops as fast in striving to reach the top, as the "has been" regresses after reaching his peak.

Patterson, by the same process could be a much better fighter than he was when he won the decision over hard punching Hurricane Jackson last summer. It is only natural to assume that a coming fighter must have improved as he nears his destiny. Patterson has all the natural artillery to carry him to the top, and his victory over the Hurricane gave him the needed confidence.

We realize that we are at variance with such boxing authorities and connoisseurs as the two former heavyweight champions Rocky Marciano and Joe Louis, as they are in accord with the idea that Patterson is doomed for destruction. Rocky is quoted as saying "It is hard to go against Archie's big punch and experience, and so the edge has to go to Moore."

Louis states, according to reports, "Patterson just isn't rough enough to handle a puncher like Moore. I look for a knockout by the tenth round."

With the dash and fire of youth, the slugging ability of which he is capable, his stamina and all his natural ability, we string along with Patterson to fool all those who feel that he does not possess enough of the ability to absorb a punch, and then be able to counter-punch his way to victory.

It must be borne in mind the old adage "Youth must be served," and with a difference of some 18 years, Moore is likely to find himself in for a very rough evening. In some games age is a great asset, but when it comes to sports as strenuous as boxing, baseball, football, and many others, with other things being equal, youth will tell.

Archie Moore may have more ring experience and "savvy" as we sometimes refer to it, but after all he is on the downward slope as fighters go, and time has taken its toll. We grant you that he was a rugged competitor in his day, and could take a lot of punishment, along with a devastating punch, but after all he is not the fighter he once was, and after a ripe old age in the ring, a fighter goes back faster than he did when he first leaves his peak. At 39-plus in the fight business, what can be expected?

On the other hand, Patterson

St. Augustine Meets Merry For Dist. Prep Grid Title

The St. Augustine Thunderbolts will journey to Jackson, Tenn. today to take on the Merry High team in a game tonight for the District Championship.

The winner of tonight's game will play for the State Championship at Melrose Stadium next week.

Coach W. P. Porter and his assistants have had the Thunderbolts working out each day in preparation for the Merry High game. Coach Porter reports that his squad is in good condition for the Friday night game.

He plans to use his strongest lineup against Merry High in order that the Thunderbolts will represent Memphis in the State Title game.

Eight of the Thunderbolts were named to the All-Memphis Team, by the special committee of the Coaches and Officials Association of the Prep League. Five were selected on the Defensive Team with three being named to the Offensive Team. All of them will see action in the game with Merry High.

60 DAYS FOR "HEALER"

"HEALER" SENTENCED FOR PRACTICING MEDICINE WITHOUT A LICENSE

For practicing medicine without a license, a self-professed "healer" was sentenced to 60-days at the Penal Farm with a $200 fine being included in the Criminal Court decision.

Sentenced is George B. Hartson of 954 Clark who heard Asst. Atty. Gen. Lloyd Rhodes tell the court that the "healer" had prescribed charms, ointment for the body containing olive oil and ammonia and the taking of pills for patients with fees up to $80 having been charged the victims.

Judge Sellers was told by one of the jurors that he considered the punishment too light, since a person's health could have been endangered by the administering of the pills.

Mr. Rhodes said that the sentence was similar to that given in previous cases.

Arnie Sowell Sets Pace And Then Fades-Out

MELBOURNE — (INS) — Crestfallen Arnie Sowell cringed through a week's growth of beard after his fade-out in the Olympic 800-meter Monday and insisted, "I would rather lose in a fast race than win in a slow one."

He lost in a fast one — he and the three men who preceded him to the tape broke the Olympic record — but it was a crushing blow to the slim Pittsburgh business administration student.

He led the pack until the last 220 yards, where the winner, America's Tom Courtney, collared him. Then Sowell fell back to fourth place and Olympic oblivion.

"I ran out of gas, that's all," the 21-year-old runner said sadly. "I don't want to take anything away from Tom. He ran a great race. I wanted to set a fast pace and kill them off. I guess I did just the opposite and killed myself off."

Grambling Tigers To Play 26-Game Basketball Slate

BY COLLIE J. NICHOLSON

GRAMBLING, La. — (Special) — Coach Fred Hobby released Grambling's 26-game basketball schedule with some dry humor Monday and immediately pre-announced "rough going" for his basket-swallowing warriors.

Hobby, who assumes the epic role of leading a Grambling squad without the individual effectiveness of All-American Bob Hopkins, will open the season here in the Grambling Invitational Tournament Dec. 7-8.

Jackson State College, Wiley and Xavier are the other tournament participants.

During the next three months, the Tigers will expose their fangs against teams from four conferences and eight states.

Albany State In Atlanta Cage Tourney

ALBANY, GA. — The Extra Point Club of Atlanta, Georgia which annually sponsors an invitational Basketball Tournament in the Gate City has tendered invites to eight Southern colleges to participate in this year's affair. One of the eight is Albany State College, Fort Valley State, Morehouse, Clark Morris Brown, Alabama State, South Carolina State, and Florida A & M round out the remaining seven.

Albany State was last season's champions in the Southeastern Athletic Conference. Albany also bowled over several S. I. A. C. foes and virtually the same team is expected to be in harness this year.

While the hardwood fortunes of Albany State College may still lie in the cob-webs of last year's team word has it that there are several young hopefuls of high promise out to make the starting five. With most small colleges as in the case with Albany State, limitations on team and coaching personnel dictate that Basketball preparations get underway only after the close of the gridiron season. This, of course, works a hardship on the smaller schools and decidedly favors the schools with large enrollments and ample coaching strategists. Only in the case where there is basketball alone does the exception exist.

This Tournament early in December has the advantage of giving coaches premiere look into how well their teams may be expected to stand up under early pressure, the shortcomings of their conditioning methods. The aptness with which their players take to new plays and it serves as a barometer in general for changes in operations that lie ahead.

IKE IN AUGUSTA FOR GOLF

AUGUSTA, — (INS) — President Eisenhower, with a wary eye on the international scene, began a delayed golfing vacation Monday in Augusta.

The Chief Executive arrived at his winter golfing retreat shortly after 1 p. m. (EST) accompanied by the first lady and an expanded corps of aids to help keep him in instantaneous touch with developments in Washington.

With in a few minutes he was happily whaling practice shots at the plush Augusta National Golf Club, where he planned to play nine holes later in the afternoon. The temperature was in the low 90s, with a warm Georgia sun.

Before leaving Washington, the President visited with a dozen Hungarian refugees, most of whom had arrived in this country within the last 48 hours.

He declared in a statement that Soviet brutality in the iron curtain country represented the "ultimate that Tyranny can do to a people."

Mr. Eisenhower made a final decision to take his golfing holiday only Monday morning, after a last-minute review of the international situation with aids.

Worst Diphtheria Outbreak In Ten Years In Detroit

DETROIT, — (INS) — Detroit in the grip of its worst diphtheria outbreak in 10 years, created nine new cases of the dread disease Wednesday to bring the city's total for the season to 101.

Five diphtheria deaths have been reported since the outbreak started in October.

The total so far this year is more than five times the 18 cases, including one death, reported in entire 1955, but health department officials still say they do not consider the outbreak to be of epidemic proportions.

Among Wednesday new cases are a 30-year-old mother and four of her children.

Coach Bell said it is hard to find men, who play basketball with the aid of the professional, like Charles Lewis, McKinley Dillingham.

Floyd Brannon, guards, James Davis and Willie Starkey, forwards. They graduated.

But freshmen and sophomores have pressure among them who are showing up well on the practice court. They include Randolph Moore, Paris, Ky.; John Hayes Tampa, Fla.; Charles Frazier, Jacksonville, Fla.; Ronald Blackstone.

The Taking Of Statue Of "This New Republicanism"

The tumult and the shouting die, but never the dust raised in the recent national campaign, when this "New Republicanism" drew so many varied comments.

The President, however kept the "even tenor of his way." He had long made a choice of the GOP and fully realized that there was sufficient ingredients within the framework of the Grand Old Party for the working out of those principles so much in demand in a new era of changed conditions and stream-line precision.

Highly noticeable among the epochal happenings during the campaign, were those former Franklin D. Roosevelt Democrats, among the new converts of that faith, on happy return to the party of their fathers.

"But man cannot live by bread alone" runs an old scriptural writ, and this was seen during the recent years when segregation drew such bold attention and that scorching fire which began the melting of those "wings of wax" on which it had soared ever since the 1896 Plessy Vs. Ferguson decision which declared that there could be two, separate but equal facilities; two Republics in one; two faiths upon a single ideal and two Gods, going in different directions, but could be consistently and comfortably served.

Now, that the election is history and those pronouncements made on the stumps occupied by the GOP adherents are proving more than empty campaign promises, but strokes of activation, there are those left on the decks where they heard the whisper, "man cannot live by bread alone," attempting to chide this "New Republicanism."

It will be a sad day in America when it can be said that a sworn officer is playing cheap politics, when he is insisting upon the carrying out of the provisions of his oath.

Nope, we do not believe that any sworn officer in the high personnel of the government will fear to carry out the mandates of his superior, the Constitution of the United States.

This "New Republicanism" is continuing to show the country and the world that it meant what it said on the campaign stump; that it meant what it said after the election, through the attorney general of the United States - will mean just what it says - when Herbert Brownell Jr., reaches his climax after his opinion on those documents he has ordered to Washington by Dec. 14th, for study and a proper directive.

Now Comes The Christmas Shopping Season

In its refreshing vigor and that noisy jingle bell environment, from the Thanksgiving festivals, we are ushered into the very shadow of Christmas. This season of the year, when the glory of autumn spreads over the rural spaces of trees, putting on the last golden touch, preparatory for the evening gowns of frost and snow, there is but one single thought; the closing of old records and the beginning of a more determined spirit for the new.

The dividing line between the old and the new is the Yuletide spirit. In that the thoughts of giving out-distances every other impulse. The marts and the gift shopping centers realize this more than any other industries among us and they well understand how to fix up their shops and windows in order to make the most of this great occasion.

With Thanksgiving coming somewhat earlier, there are a few more shopping days between the two. This is a fine arrangement and hardly had this national feast-day passed off, when the Christmas spirit came in.

The shop windows, the streets and places of business are putting on new dress. They are making their annual appeals to those who can be counted on to make the Yuletide season one of joyous thanksgiving.

The advertisers and the merchants are to be congratulated for their contributions to this occasion.

The Yuletide season is hereby officially welcomed. Let it help in brightening the corners and enlivening the dull spirit that the long drag of a colorful and unsettled year has thrown across the path of mankind.

Interracial Program Top Feature At Women's Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C. - The 21st Annual Convention of the National Council of Negro Women closed Sunday morning, Nov. 18, with the final meeting of the Board of Directors. Sessions were held at the Willard Hotel in Washington.

An outstanding feature of the convention was an interracial conference of women with participants from many sections of the country, representing most of the national women's organizations.

Marjorie Parker, National Program Chairman of NCNW, who was assisted by Dr. Lorraine Williams, Convention Chairman. Dr. Williams was supported by a group of able educators, social and civic workers.

The Board of Directors met Wednesday night, November 15, at Council House, with the National President, Mrs. William T. Mason, presiding. A social hour followed the Board meeting, courtesy of the Washington Council, with Mrs. Hallie Lovingsgood as chairman.

The convention session opened on Thursday morning at the Willard Hotel with special devotions led by Dr. Alma Ilery, National Chaplain. Mrs. Eula W. Harris, President of the CME Church Women's Connectional Missionary Council gave the invocation. Eulogy to the late Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, Founder, was given by Dr. Arenia Mallory, First Vice President. Mrs. Margaret G. Simms National Director of Junior Councils, spoke for the youth of the country.

Thursday sessions included reports from the presidents of twenty-one national affiliates and the following regional directors: Mrs. Daisy S. George, Region I; Mrs. Richard Layne, Region V; Mrs. Belzora S. Ward, Region IV and Mrs. Ruth Caston Mueller, Region VII.

Travel reports by Dr. Nancy Bullock McGhee, Second Vice President; Dr. Marguerite Cartwright of New York and Mrs. Sadie J. Carter Williams of New York were enlightening and well received.

Mrs. Marian Fletcher Croson, NCNW observer to the United Nations gave a detailed account of her work at the United Nations and the work accomplished by NCNW in support of the United Nations.

Foreign visitors, Mrs. Gertrude Middle of South Africa and The Honorable Audrey Jeffers of Trinidad were warmly received and both spoke during the course of the meeting, bringing greetings from the women of their countries.

A feature of the Thursday meeting was a President's "Get-To-gether" - a buffet supper where Miss Margaret Rawler, former president of the National Association of Business and Professional Women was the speaker. The affair was chaired by Mrs. Mildred Dudley, President of the Philadelphia Council.

The Interracial Conference opened on Friday, November 16, in the Grand Ballroom of the hotel. Several hundred women from various parts of the United States assembled to hear the keynoters, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Dr. Mordecai Johnson. Mrs. Roosevelt said in part that the first thing that must be done is to secure the protection of the right to vote.

Dr. Johnson called upon church women to be crusaders in surmounting barriers to civil and human rights. He called on the women to "come out from the segregated wardens." He attacked real estate interests for their bad housing policies. Dr. Lorraine Williams gave the objectives of the conference and Dr. Dorothy B. Peete gave the conference story.

Women of both races represented the churches, civic and welfare groups, colleges and the home name together for round table discussions on the immediate to human and civil rights. Many ideas were advanced. They discussed separation of the races through law and custom; ignorance on the part of many; fear, greed and other factors.

Following the morning session, a Friendship Luncheon was held featuring Dr. Willa Player, President of Bennett College and George S. Mitchell, Executive Director of the Southern Regional Council, as speakers. Miss Cleome Lewis was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Ramos Harris. The luncheon was chaired by Mrs. Montrosa Frazier, Iota Phi Lambda Sorority.

The keynoter for the afternoon session was Dr. Frank Graham, United States Representative with the United Nations for India and Pakistan, who spoke of the global concept of human rights and the urgency to revise our standards. Round table discussions were resumed until the meeting was adjourned.

An International Festival of Arts was held Friday night in the Departmental Auditorium of the Department of Labor. Representatives from India, Haiti, Guam, Indonesia and the United States appeared on the program. The Honorable Mason Sears, United States Trust-ship Council, United Nations, was the speaker. Mrs. Ethel Ramos Harris, Chairman of the Department of Fine Arts was in charge of the Festival of Arts. Following the program, the President's Reception was held in the conference room adjoining the Auditorium, where the Loula Vaughn Jones String Ensemble of Howard University rendered several selections. A special feature during the reception was an exhibition of paintings by Lois Jones Pierre-Noel.

On Saturday morning, November 17, the Interracial Conference of Women closed with summations of the round table discussions by Dr. Nancy Bullock McGhee, second vice president, and Mrs. Arnetta Wallace, President of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. The commitment was given by Miss Lilace Reid Barnes, president of the National Young Women's Christian Association.

An Analysis Of Current Legal Developments

By S. A. WILBURN Attorney and Counselor at Law 322 1/2 Beale Street

RENT LEGAL DEV. DISMISSED TEACHERS SEEK RULING

A court action attacking the South Carolina law under which seventeen Negro teachers were fired because of their membership in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is currently underway. The argument has been advanced that the law violated the federal constitution. This will necessitate a ruling as to whether or not such a statute may be sustained as a valid exercise of the police power of the state.

While each state has the inherent right as well as the duty to enact such laws as will best protect the health, safety and welfare of its citizens, it seems rather arbitrary and unreasonable to single out one organization and make it the subject of specific legislation. Although there are many cases which indicate a range of subjects which may be freely regulated by the state through its law-making process, it is equally clear that such laws must not be arbitrary, unreasonable or unrelated to a valid legislative objective.

If this law be sustained as valid legislation, a further extension of state power through similar legislation can be expected elsewhere with the resulting effect of almost eliminating the benefits of the recent rulings against segregation.

MEALTIME MELODIES!

BY LEOD GAMMON

This is the entertaining season. Xmas is definitely getting into the air. Just listen to the trend of your friends conversations and you don't even have to go down town to get that "certain feeling."

Since this is the season of good will and good cheer we want to plan good eating too. You know the three just seem to go hand in hand. Leoda Gammon Of course, home-makers have to keep in mind periods of relaxed rest for the entire family including sleep and the regular health habits. According to an article in the American Medical Journal by Doctor Edward P. Luongo there is evidence that sedentary living and poor health habits are the real culprits in coronary disease and not hard work, over-exercised or occupational stress. These health habit defects often start taking their toll during teenage years or at least 10 to 15 years prior to our fourth or fifth decade in life. All this leads us to know that even during the Yuletide season the family's health must be kept in mind.

Now here is a little recipe that you are sure to find to your liking, called Cranberry Raisin Rolls. This is some good eating that has a right good share of good nutrition too!

to stockpiles in drug stores and physicians' offices. The Federal Government still has 17 million dollars left from a 53-million-dollar fund voted by Congress to help pay for vaccine for children and expectant mothers. The vaccine can now be purchased by adults in all states.

Folsom noted that surveys show a 75 per cent drop in paralytic polio among children vaccinated with only one or two shots. He said an even greater reduction could be expected as more persons receive all three injections.

He called on physicians, schools, government officials, as well as parents, to cooperate in the effort to bring the inoculations to as many people as possible.

The Air Force lieutenant refused to be extradited and was supported by Ohio Gov. Frank Lausche who refused extradition. Recently Saunders was discharged from the service. Carter said Lt. Saunders forfeited a $2,000 bond on the charge and declared "as far as we're concerned the case is closed."

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING by KELLEY ROOS

CHAPTER 1 I was in a hurry. There are things worse than death. This was one of those things, and it wasn't going to happen to me. Gently, but firmly, I nudged a lovely old lady out of my way and walked faster.

When Paul's line had been busy, I hadn't waited to call again. I had wrapped my inefficient jet black hair up in a scarf. I had hustled into some lipstick, tightened my nylons, slipped into my coat and set out for Paul's. At the moment Paul was the most important man in my life.

The newsdealer at the corner of Lexington and Sixtieth said, "Hello, Mrs. Barton. How is Mr. Barton?" "Mr. Barton!" I snorted. "In France you can shoot your husband for less and get national sympathy. But here in America? I hook my head."

I crossed Fifty-ninth, turned west on Fifty-eighth, and I was at Paul's. A new girl sat at the reception desk. "Where's Paul?" I said. "Busy. Your name, please?" "Connie Barton. Where's Paul?" "Do you have an appointment, Miss Barton?" "Mrs. Barton?" To be completely frank about it, Mrs. Steve Barton. Like an utter innocent, I had married the man. "Where's Paul?"

Paul came mincing out of the booth section of the shop. He looked elegant and efficient in his white, high-collared frock. He had a wife and four children, but for professional reasons he played it chic, wan and very aesthetic during business hours. This beauty parlor supported the wife and four children.

"Mrs. Barton!" He was glad to see me. He was always glad to see me. I was a constant challenge to the artist in him. "Mrs. Barton, what can...?" "Have you an empty booth?" "Yes... number five." "Follow me," I said. I set down in front of the mirror. Paul stood behind me, looking at me in the mirror as I yanked the scarf off my head. He put his hands in my hair. "Magnificent," he said. "Coal mist, ebony flame."

"A blonde, very blonde, as blonde as you can get," I said. "Make me a blonde." "No." His lips were tight. "That I cannot do to you." "You have no choice. Do as I tell you or all New York will hear the truth about you. About your wife and four children..." "Five now." "I'd even tell about your playing football in high school, how you got an offer from Tulane you'll be de-frocked, kicked out of your union, run out of town... you impostor, you!" "Mrs. Barton..." "Break out the platinum!"

had let myself get dowdy on Wednesdays, dull and unprovocative. He had found someone younger and gayer, someone beautiful and glamorous with a more up-to-date bag of feminine tricks. He was bored with me. Five years, less just three days, was a long time to be married.

But there were still moments when I thought I might be wrong, when I had reason to believe that I was still the girl for him. There was our anniversary party next Saturday, for instance. He was knocking himself out to make it a real celebration... dinner at Karl's, the theater, the Rosewood Room for supper, champagne and good music.

But he was probably doing that just to build character with me, to keep me happy as I milled and toiled as his housekeeper. Finally, today, I had faced it. There was another woman. I would have to take steps.

"Paul," I said, "proceed. Do your damdest, rise to new heights." "Mrs. Barton..." "Listen, you... today's Wednesday. Time is short." "All right, Mrs. Barton, all right."

One hour and twenty minutes later, my old set at the Wee Tokeneke Country club would have deplored me. My dear aunt and uncle who had raised me, not for this, would have disowned me. I wouldn't have been allowed near the Connecticut College for Women. I would have been run off the University of Bridgeport campus, too... by the nearest undergraduate into the nearest dormitory. I was that blonde.

"Well?" Paul asked tremulously, the plaintive, eager artist. I inspected myself a little more in the mirror. "Do me a new make-up, Paul. The eyebrows... a new mouth..."

He went back to work. "Well?" he asked. "The mouth... make it more generous." "It was already generous, Mrs. Barton."

"Make it more inviting, then. A big hello. Give me lower lip." "This time it was I who asked, 'Well?'"

"Mrs. Barton, coloring the hair, a new make-up does not make a blonde. There are other things." I stood up, took a deep breath and walked a small circle around Paul.

He said, in a small voice, "Mrs. Barton, look..." "Yes?" I murmured. "Look, perhaps a bite to eat, then... well, I could give up swimming at the 'Y' tonight." I thanked Paul from the bottom of my heart, but he didn't when I went back out into the world, a new woman, a blonde.

Come to heading into trouble where she expects to least. Continue "The Blonde Died Dancing" here in...
