TRIO INDICTED FOR CHASING NAACP LAWYERS, REPORTERS

No Indictments Returned For Moore Slayings

MIAMI — (INS) — A federal grand jury probing terror and violence in Florida Wednesday indicted seven reputed members of the Ku Klux Klan — a group which the jury earlier branded as being founded on the worst instincts of mankind.

Six of the indictments accused the suspects of making false statements before the jury. The other indictment charged the alleged Klansmen with making a false statement about membership in the hooded order, as well as giving false statements about his criminal record while applying for a federal job.

Those named were William J. Bogar, identified in the report as the former exalted cyclops of the Apopka Klavern; T. J. McMennany, Harvey S. Reischer, Emmet M. Hart, Ernest Glen Morton, all of Apopka, and Robert L. Judah, of Winter Garden.

FALSE STATEMENTS
Simon Smith Manning of nearby Orlando was accused of giving the false statements.

Bogar, McMennany and Hart were accused of the flogging of two Negroes and attempting to waylay reporters and attorneys for the defendants in the notorious Grove-land rape case in 1950.

The grand jury identified the riders in the threatened car as Horace Hill, Daytona Beach, and Frank Williams, Washington, attorneys for the NAACP, Ted Poston, reporter for the New York Post, and Ramona Lowe, reporter for the Chicago Defender.

AUTOMOBILE CHASE
They escaped from the band of men after a wild automobile chase. Judah and Reischer were accused of lying when they denied beating two Negroes—one for union activities and one for no apparent reason.

Those indicted yesterday were ordered to report June 19 in Federal Court at Miami for arraignment. The jury, which started its meetings almost a year ago, also probed into the Christmas night bombing in 1951 that killed Negro leader Harry T. Moore and fatally injured his wife in their home at Mims, Fla.

No indictment was forthcoming on any phase of the murder. Last December 10, four persons including a Miami social worker were charged with perjury as a result of a grand jury investigation into a wave of bombings and attempted bombings of Negro and Jewish properties.

Other break-in with which police charged McKinley were the houses of A. B. Green of 800 Cypress Drive, Mrs. E. G. Mays of 935 Hawthorne, F. A. DeBardelen of 1664 Volentine, Clifford F. Moriarty of 650 Dickinson, Ralph Miller of 758 North McLean, Mrs. J. B. Guthrie 668 National, Bert Pilkington, 3064 Guernsey and Mrs. John Elliot 3034 Given.

Young Prince Charles, who made such a hit at his mother's coronation and enthroned himself in the hearts of the queen's guests, won honorary mention on the royal menu.

Foreign princess and commonwealth premiers, ambassadors and tribal chiefs and potentates, with members of the royal family, partook of such dishes as delicacies de sales Prince Charles (fish), Carre D'Agneau ala Windsor (lamb), salade royale, boite de fraises Reine Elizabeth (strawberries), and were serenaded by the Household Cavalry Orchestra.

The dinner was served in the white and gold ballroom, which, incidentally is appointed in scarlet and gold, by pages in state dress of black and heavy gold braid, heavy gold shoulder cords and red velvet breeches.

Queen Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, sat a huge table in the center of the room, set-off with ten-foot-high banks of flowers.

The queen wore a pink and pale green rainbow tulle dress, with a spray of pink roses over her right shoulder which continued across

"Anti-Negro Fund"
Dismissal Of College Prexy Asked By City

DEMOREST, Ga. — A resolution calling on the trustees to oust Dr. James E. Walter as president of Piedmont College was disclosed here Wednesday. It was passed unanimously by the mayor and city council on May 5.

President Walter has been a target of sharp criticism from local citizens, the alumni and other groups since he accepted a $500-a-month grant from the Texas Educa-

Heart Attack Proves Fatal To Dr. Hickman

A heart attack proved fatal to Dr. S. B. Hickman, early Wednesday morning at his residence 24 S. Parkway.

Dr. Hickman was a native of Springfield, Ill., and began his practice of medicine on Beale St. during the early part of 1914. He was inducted to Armed Forces in World War I and attained the ranks of a captain. He held several citations while serving in the medical corps.

Dr. Hickman was a staunch supporter of the American Legion and gave his time to train the first Drum and Bugle Corps of Booker T. and Manassas High School.

He was considered as one of Memphis best prepared Medics and was well liked by all who knew him. In 1933 he was married to his present wife, Mrs. Annie B. Hickman, practice medicine on Beale Street. He was affiliated with the Friendly Clinic and at the time of his death he maintained his office in the same building where the Friendly Clinic was at one time operated.

Dr. Hickman was an Elk, a member of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity and a devout Catholic.

He is survived by his wife—Mrs. Annie B. Hickman and a niece Mrs. Grendetia Scott of Little Rock, Arkansas.

Funeral services in charge of T. H. Hayes and Sons will probably be held tomorrow.

Judge Dismisses Daddy Grace's Libel Petition

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (ANP) — The local U. S. District Court last week dismissed a $200,000 libel suit filed by Daddy Grace, well-known religious leader, against Color magazine in connection with an article the journal printed last year.

Judge Ben Moore dismissed the suit when Daddy Grace, whose name is C. M. Grace, failed to appear to prosecute.

Claiming that the magazine printed its story with malice, Daddy Grace had filed suit against the article in the July-August 1952 issue. The story basically claimed four points:

1. Daddy Grace is not a citizen of the United States.
2. The evangelist is not an ordained minister of any "religious sect."
3. His church's properties are in his name, not that of his organization.
4. Ministers of "organized religious sects" did not accept Daddy Grace as a minister.

Daddy Grace in his suit claimed that the article had hurt his reputation and standing in the field of religion. He also denied the story's claim that white persons had financial interests and control of his church.

7 Bias Cases Before Court

By WILLIAM KERWIN
WASHINGTON — (INS) — Three important pronouncements on segregation are expected from the Supreme Court before it winds up the present term on June 15.

The court ploughed through most of the nearly 1,400 cases it has received since last October when the current term began.

During the period, the Justices have touched on almost every conceivable issue except, perhaps, the most controversial of all—segregation.

Police Solve Crimes In Airways-Lamar Section

Police solved the month-long string of crimes in the Airways-Lamar section, Tuesday when they arrested two 11 year old boys.

Four policemen in one squad car happened to be passing the used-car lot at 2350 Lamar at 5 a. m. Tuesday when they saw the two boys leaving. They questioned the lads and when the answers weren't convincing, took a look at the lot. They found a smashed window and several cars that had been entered, Chief of Detectives M. A. Hinds said.

The boys were turned over to Captain E. C. Wilson and Lt. M. J. Gilbert. Several hours later the detectives reported the boys admitted having been on a week-long crime spree, including three burglaries, two attempts at burglary and numerous auto prowls. These boys were the ones who have made many a motorist who parked near Fairgrounds Casino unhappy, police said.

Five charges were filed. The boys were turned over to Juvenile Court.

Mrs. Devarieste Guest At Presbyterian Monthly Meet

Mrs. A. L. Devarieste, member of Berean Presbyterian Church, New Orleans, La., was the guest at the monthly meeting of the Women of the Church, Parkway Gardens Presbyterian Church, Rev. A. E. Andrews, minister, Monday night, June 1 at the lovely residence of Mrs. E. M. McCulley, 1297 So. Bellevue.

The meeting was opened by the president with devotion and Bible study taught by Mrs. E. M. McCulley, chairman of Spiritual Growth. After the brief business session, Mrs. Gladys Ramsey, vice president and chairman of program was in charge of the conversation period which was very interesting.

Mrs. Devarieste was very informative to the newly organized women. She is on an extended tour as field representative where she stopped in Nashville, Tenn. before coming to the Bluff City Monday morning, June 1.

Other Women of the Church who were present were Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. E. M. Mason, Mrs. R. B. Suggs, Mrs. Ula Peete, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Smith.

She was house guest of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Andrew, 1463 So. Parkway E.

Anderson Says Navy Must Bow To Southern Customs

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NNPA) — Texas-born, reared and educated Secretary of the Navy Robert B. Anderson informed the White House last week that the Navy will continue to practice racial segregation in naval shipyards and other Navy installations in the South.

The excuse given for continuation of the practice by the Navy is compliance with local laws and customs.

In a letter to Major General Wilton E. Persons, special assistant to President Eisenhower, Anderson said the Navy must "in a very realistic way recognize the customs and usages prevailing in certain geographical areas of our country which the Navy had no part in creating."

GRADUAL DISSOLUTION
Anderson took the position that the Navy cannot take the initiative in dealing with the problem of racial segregation "but must content itself with being alert to take advantage of its gradual dissolution through the process of social education and understanding."

Major General Persons had inquired of the Navy about racial segregation among civilian employees of Navy yards at Charleston, S. C., and Norfolk, Va., after Representative Adam C. Powell, Democrat of New York, had protested against the practice.

"The Navy adopted in 1949 a policy of non-segregation of all service personnel in both the Navy and the Marine Corps, including utilization of housing, messing, berthing and other facilities, to meet the requirements of executive order issued by President Truman July 26, 1948.

EXECUTIVE ORDER
The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has charged that the Navy's policy of segregation of colored and white employees in naval yards is a violation of the executive order No. 9808 of July 26, 1948, which established the federal employment program of "separate but equal" service." Anderson said, "It was considered finally that they were not."

Knoxville Gets $46,753.92 From Two Legacies
KNOXVILLE Tenn. — Two legacies to Knoxville College have been announced by President James A. Goleston.

One of the gifts, totaling $46,753.92, is from the estate of the late Joseph C. Farquhar, a United Presbyterian from Clarinda, Iowa. To be applied to KC's endowment fund, this gift represents 30 per cent of the Farquhar estate. Another United Presbyterian College, Sterling College in Sterling, Kansas, received a legacy representing 25 per cent of the estate.

LOWER COURT
Finally, there is a District of Columbia restaurant segregation case. A lower court ruled in this fight that a downtown cafeteria could refuse to service to Negro patrons because a set of anti-segregation laws were legally passed by a now-defunct city assembly.

The Tribunal is also expected to pass laws for the anti-segregation at City expansion of the city and whether west coast landowners who boss Harry Bridges must spend the years in jail for perjury.

MINNEAPOLIS — The assuming of civil rights as a major issue in the U. S. was assailed this week by a Drew University faculty member as "an awful commentary on American Christianity."

The Rev. Dr. George D. Kelsey, former Morehouse College professor told the 165th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. that large numbers of Christians "have bowed down and worshipped the idol gods of race, class—and creedal groups."

He held that in a Christian, democratic civilization there is only one reason why human rights can be an issue at all and that is because Christians have "abandoned their own essentially religious foun-

POWELL AIDS JEWISH APPEAL—"Israel must be number one on our foreign assistance agenda," New York Congressman Adam Clayton Powell told 200 members of the jewelry industry at a dinner in New York's Essex House last week. Dr. Bunche Asks Peace In East

NEW YORK — (ANP) — Everyone will gain from peace in the Near East, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche told some 1,000 women attending a luncheon here for the presentation of the Louise Waterman Wise Youth Center, in Jerusalem to the State of Israel by the Women's Division of the American Jewish Congress.

Dr. Bunche, director of the UN trusteeship division, said: "Both Arabs and Jews — as well as the world at large — have much to gain from full peace in the Near East. Ultimately, both Arabs and Jews have very much to lose from the indefinite prolongation of the existing totally unsatisfactory state of affairs."

The Nobel prize recipient for 1950 then praised both parties for respecting the terms of the four-year old armistice agreement which helped to negotiate.

The presentation ceremony for the center was held in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel here.

The center — the first youth hostel to be built in Israel — will be used by the State of Israel's department of education and culture to train youth leaders and teachers.

SHUNNED REDS' GOOD LIFE— Pvt. L. Night of Los Angeles (left), and Pvt. Raymond Michalowski of New Jersey accidentally crossed the border into the Red zone of Germany while riding an elevated train last November. For six months they were held in Red prisons, during which time they were repeatedly asked to write letters to the Soviet government seeking asylum, and "enjoy the good life and careers there." The two military policemen were returned to West Germany last week, after the Reds found that the GIs would not succumb to promises. (Newspress Photo.)

petitor for two years 10 months. McKenney found there were no personal complaints registered against either applicant.

The Pullman Company denied there was any racial discrimination in the selection made for the higher job.

McKenney stated the company's "sole contention during the course of the investigation was that (the competitor) had received the appointment as Carmen helper apprentice because he was better qualified for the position than the complainant."

The state commissioner further contended that Greenidge's rejection was a "deliberate act" indicating "there is sufficient evidence to credit complainant's allegations."

Commissioner McKenney found "probable cause" of discrimination, but by law, his decision does not carry the power of enforcement since the company's head office is not in Massachusetts, but in Illinois. Consequently, McKenney requested the company to conciliate the case.

McKenney asserted in his report, "The Pullman company has in effect a discriminatory hiring and upgrading policy in that the company employs only colored personnel as porters and only white personnel as conductors."

Fraternity Ousted At Knox College

GALESBURG, Ill. — (ANS) — The faculty of Knox College at Galesburg, Ill., ousted the Phi Sigma Kappa chapter from the campus because of what it termed the national fraternity's "policy of racial discrimination."

The action was taken after the chapter's president, sophomore Jerry Klapper of Oak Park, Ill., and more than half the members resigned in protest against the national fraternity's refusal to permit the chapter to accept a Negro pledge.

Professor Proctor F. Sherwin, secretary of the Knox College faculty, said in announcing the immediate ousting of the fraternity:

THERE'LL BE A JUBILEE—Members of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority journeyed to Washington last week to present Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower with their sorority song, "There'll Be A Jubilee," which was adopted at their grand convention in Cleveland, Ohio last December. Pullman Co. Bias Charged

BOSTON, Mass. — (ANP) — Elwood S. McKenney, member of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, last week handed down a decision which indicated that the Pullman Company in Chicago, Illinois, practiced a biased employment policy in the case of Geo. C. Greenidge of Boston. Commissioner McKenney contended that the Pullman company's hiring policies in part were in violation of state law.

The decision is not binding. It can be appealed either to the full board of the Commission Against Discrimination or to the courts.

In McKenney's report, it was pointed out that Greenidge should have been named a Carmen helper apprentice with the Pullman Company last June. A majority of union nominating committee found the complainant qualified. However, the job went to another Roxbury man. Both men had served the company as car cleaners, Greenidge for six years eight months and his com-

Sidewalk Saints Are On The Increase

The most urgent need of our times is sanctity. We know the names of yesterday's saints, but what of holiness in our own day?

Tomorrow's saints are on earth today—their sanctity hidden, unrecognized. But I am convinced our generation is extremely productive of saints, more so doubtless than any other period of Christian history. What is even more wonderful and even more easily proved: our saints are found on every level of this generation's life, especially among laymen.

The heroic sanctity which I assert is the need of the hour shows up in the most surprising places. On Sunday, June 7, 1925, a humble workman, Matt Talbot, dies suddenly in a street. Under his clothes are found instruments of penance. For forty years he has practiced austerities reminiscent of legends of the hermits of old. None had known his sanctity during his lifetime. He dies. Interest is aroused. Within six months following the publication of a sketch of his life, twenty thousand copies have been bought up by other work-

Among the soldiers who die in World War I is a young lieutenant, killed as soon as he reaches the front. In his knapsack they find a spiritual diary revealing the heroic holiness which the Church gave him. It is the document of a saint. The spiritual reflections of that soldier have ever since inspired many thousands of young soldiers.

We hear so much of the evil geniuses of our day: of the dictators, the racketeers, the perverse and the traitors. It is well that we recall occasionally the other side of the ledger. Christian heroism, heroic holiness among men, is the one and only solution of the problems of life. It is precisely when the state of human history seems worst that God pours forth His most abundant graces and prepares for the richest harvest of holiness. It is my conviction that such a harvest is in preparation among us, and that this period of history will see more sanctity among the laity than any other century has witnessed. MR. AND MRS. PETER JONES HONOR MR. G. L. WASHINGTON

Mr. G. L. Washington, councillor for the United Negro College Fund and head of the last week-end in New York City, was honored last week-end by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jones. The Jones asked a few of their friends and Mr. Washington's friends over to their beautiful new ranch style home in the Parkway Gardens subdivision last Saturday night for an informal get-together with their house guest.

Under crystal lights amidst an array of vivid colored flowers, guests enjoyed cocktails and hors d'oeuvres that ranged up to caviar along with an elaborate service until late or shall we say early hours of the morning — They mingled from the living-dining area to the knotty pine rumpus room where they found hospitality at its height.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cash, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Roddy, President and Mrs. Hollis Price, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Walton, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Gibson, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers, Dr. and Mrs. O. B. Braithwaite, Mr. and Mrs. John Outlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. "Bill" Nabors, Mrs. Esther Brown, Mrs. Doris Bodden and Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Ancient Inca Festival Re-Enacted

With the huge stones of the ancient fortress of Sacsayhuaman as a backdrop, the most colorful festival in all South America will take place near Cuzco on June 24th, according to information received from the local Panagra (Pan American-Grace Airways) of-

Hundreds of Indians in authentic costumes will re-enact the moving ceremony by which the Incas paid their annual homage to the Sun God. The high point of the ceremony is the simulated sacrifice of a black llama, when the Priest of the Sun reads the future of his people for the coming year from the entrails of the animal.

The festival begins with a procession in which the Inca Emperor is carried on a golden litter to a throne located in the plain within the fortress. Magnificently dressed in the richest robes and wearing a great golden crown, the Inca carries an enormous scepter as symbol of his authority. This year, as at every festival since the first one in 1944, the role will again be taken by Agustin Espinoza, who has dedicated himself to a study of the majestic rite.

The Emperor is preceded by officials of his court who sweep the way in branches. When he arrives at the throne, the emperor says, "I

Canned Food Result Of A Contest

The whole of the vast canned food industry started as the result of a contest. In the time of Napoleon, when the French Government greatly needed some method for preserving supplies to feed its large army far from home, a "Competition" was announced for the best solution to the problem.

Nicholas Appert won that competition and the prize of twelve thousand francs by putting food into air-tight containers sterilized with heat.

A half century later, Pasteur discovered the micro-organisms responsible for spoilage of food and established the basic scientific facts on which the canned food industry rests.

TIPS ON FEEDING THE TRAVELING BABY

Having a baby in the house is no reason for being house-bound these days. With a few precautions and some careful planning—plus the baby conveniences now offered by certain travel lines—a trip can be fun for mother, baby, and even the fellow passengers!

First step, if the baby is on formula, is to check your doctor about switching to evaporated milk or condensed whole milk (easy to carry with you and make up as needed). Better make any change a week or so before you leave, so the baby can get used to the new taste.

Plan to travel in the middle of the week—more chance of finding an empty seat next to you for the baby. Also, the hostess or conductor can give you more time and attention.

Before you start, ask what baby services your travel line offers. For example, Colonial Air Lines, on its Bermuda and Canada runs, serves on-the-house menus of Strained Baby Foods from the Beech-Nut Packing Company. Choices include Chicken Soup or Vegetable and Beef Soup; Strained Carrots or Garden Vegetables; and, for dessert, Strained Peaches or Strained Bananas. Only thing you need to carry is the baby's formula. It's kept in a cooler, warmed at meal-time.

If you're traveling by train or by plane, take along jars of food the baby likes best—nothing new, nothing he has trouble digesting. Expect him to eat less than at home—there's so much going on. And don't forget a spoon, an open, and a bottle.

I read your column every Sunday and I certainly enjoy it. I am now 30, went as far as grade 11, have good habits, and I wish to take up some kind of trade so that I can help myself and my country. I have only a little finance.

—Br. Lady.

ANSWER: Ask your family doctor to inquire as to whether such a course is offered anywhere in your city. There should be one there. If not, you can contact the Red Cross and see if there is a possibility that a Home Care of the Sick Class can be organized under its auspices. Perhaps you can then solicit many others who will be interested in same.

It's No Longer The Clothes Horse. But The Middle-Bracket Shopper

We are in for a "bosomy" period of fashion, and all because America likes the curvaceous type of beauty, according to Harvey Berin, noted dress designer.

Channel Chatter

—by Franklin Johnston

Roxanne, hostess of CBS-TV's "Beat the Clock," who probably has more beauty titles than any other girl in TV, is now studying for a strictly non-glamorous dramatic role (Note pic). This rising young star has chosen to discard the obvious assets of face and figure and try for the part of a dyed-in-the-wool villainess on CBS-TV's "Dancer."

Casting a beauty as a villainess is a departure from standard network procedure, but the young producer-director team of Charley Russell and Sidney Lumet who turn out the "Danger" series are known for their radical departures from norm.

Latest development conceived by this unusual pair is that of casting nationally known comedians, singers and stage personalities other than dramatic actors in strictly dramatic parts. Their plans for future "Danger" casts include such personalities as Red Buttons, Garry Moore, Jackie Gleason and other nationally known comedians. Johnny Desmond, singing star of Don MacNeil's "Breakfast Club," is appearing in straight dramatic role as well.

If "Danger" is any indication of what Russell and Lumet are capable of, we'll go way out on a limb and predict a real future for the team.

The real arbiter of whether or not an idea will succeed is no longer the clothes-horse celebrity, but the middle-bracket shopper, Mr. Berin said. "She—the woman who buys her clothes in the nice stores of her city, buys them with care and economy—is the fashion designer's best friend and severest critic. Her reaction to a new style idea is the immediate test. Even the most sophisticated style trend-setter gives up an idea if it doesn't succeed in the American Market the first season."

The old phrase: "Dame Fashion dictates" is still true—with a difference, Mr. Berin believes. "The difference is that Dame Fashion today lives on Main Street instead of the rue de la Paix. She drives her own car and likes to cook party dinners. She expects to look young and pretty all her life and she wants to look slender but shapely even when she isn't."

"The rest is up to the fashion designer."

Our national habit of identifying ourselves with world idols is an infallible guide to the fashion designer of today," Mr. Berin said. "With a young queen in the limelight, Extra Span of Years and Longer Life—Mean Gracious Living—If Planned!

If you are a mature adult now, you have an extra span of years coming to you! At the present time, there are more than 18,000,000 persons past 65 in the United States, and these more leisured years can be made delightful dividends, provided proper planning is done to make them both useful and comfortable. The increase in life-expectancy makes it possible for us to trust that "the last of life, for which the first was made" can be counted in terms of decades—extra decades worth planning and thought.

Home decoration experts point out that two factors deserve special consideration by the mature: 1. You probably will condense your belongings and move to a smaller house or apartment making "easy-care" possible—a home that will give a maximum of luxuriousness with a minimum of demands. 2. You will be smart to select a few good pieces of "dual-purpose" furniture, such as the Hide-A-Bed by Simmons or the Sofa-Lounge Bed, as central pieces in your new smaller home arrangement. These pieces form a handsome sofa by day, a luxurious bed by night.

The flexible home furnishings of today make possible homes that are comfortable, easy to care for and smart—and the latter must be emphasized, for it contributes to happiness and a sense of well-being. Most people of maturity spend much time in their homes, and they want a pleasant refuge.

Do think through the possibilities such as easy-to-wash curtains and draperies, built-in bookcases, dual-purpose tables. Age is the time for adventure, and if you always have wanted a den or a game room, now will be more worthwhile than a formal dining room, for instance, that probably would be used only very occasionally. The Hide-A-Bed by Simmons comes in a wide range of smart fabrics and colors, and can well be the center of a living room, guest room and den.

New Power Tools Ease Country, Suburban Life

Picture Joe Doakes, American, standing before his new country home. Before him is a vast expanse of ground needing landscaping, including planning, plowing, harrowing, seeding and cultivating.

Farmers, too, are finding hand power equipment the answer to one of their most serious problems—lack of help. By mechanizing small, routine jobs around the farm, they are finding it possible to do more work with less effort and less money.

One of the newest machines designed especially for farm use is Simplicity's five horse-power utility tractor with all gear transmission permitting three forward speeds and reverse. With quickly interchangeable attachments, and power take-off to run other farm machines, its usefulness extends throughout the year. In fact, for some applications, this "walking type" tractor performs more effectively than either hand labor or a larger farm tractor, thereby filling a definite need and contributing to easier, better farming.

Joe has a problem, like thousands of city dwellers who have migrated to the more gracious, more healthful country life; but fortunately the manufacturers of power garden tools have been sympathetic to his problem and created new machines to make the transition as easy as possible.

For example, this year the Simplicity Manufacturing Co. of Port Washington, Wis., introduced its new 2 horsepower Model J, specifically designed for average yards, and available with reel or rotary lawn mower, rotary cultivator, rotary weed cutter and rotary snow plow—to provide "4-job" power for the most irksome chores Joe may encounter.

Garden tractor manufacturers are also helping Joe by providing instructions on how to use small power equipment properly. Simplicity's new manuals, for example, contain an entire section devoted to power gardening, including planning, plowing, harrowing, seeding and cultivating.

Make A Hearty Salad And Build A Meal Around It

When you think of salads, you should often think of them in terms of main dishes—for variety, economy and sheer deliciousness! Let this Tongue Barbecue Salad be your inspiration. A hearty, satisfying salad, it brings a new, QUICK way to prepare tomato soup with canned tomato sauce and lemon-flavored gelatin. Try it and enjoy it! This molded salad with soup, potato chips, dessert and beverage make a complete supper or company buffet.

TONGUE BARBECUE SALAD (Quick Tomato Aspic)

- 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water Dash of pepper
1 can (18 ounces) tomato sauce 1 cup diced cooked tongue
1 1/2 tablespoons vinegar 1 cup finely diced celery
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add tomato sauce, vinegar, salt, and pepper. Blend. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in tongue, celery, and pickle relish. Pour into 1-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with crisp salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise, seasoned with horse-radish or dry mustard. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Just A Little Better Than Dying, Says Alva Gimbel Of Korean Children

"Just a little better than dying..." This is the way the plight of the pitiful child war victim in Korea struck Alva Gimbel, one of the first civilian women to visit that devastated country.

Mrs. Gimbel, wife of Bernard Gimbel, the department store executive, travelled throughout Korea with the Rusk Mission of the American-Korean Foundation. The task was to study how to help the Koreans to eventually help themselves out of the terrible morass of homelessness, illness, starvation, and lack of every essential of life in which the three-year grind of war had left them. Dr. Rusk is an outstanding authority on rehabilitation and director of The Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, New York University-Bellevue Medical Center and Associate Editor, The New York Times. Mrs. Gimbel worked with him in developing his notable rehabilitation program. The Rusk Mission was sent at the request of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of President Eisenhower, who heads the American-Korean Foundation. The group flew to Korea and visited the major centers of the civilian population, analyzing the vital needs of the people if they are to remain alive now and later revive their national life.

"There are 10 million displaced persons in Korea today, people who have lost everything except their lives," Mrs. Gimbel said. "That in itself is staggering to face. But the children, quite naturally, tear at your heart at first sight. 100,000 Korean children have been orphaned by the war, and since Korean family ties are very close and strong, the orphans' loneliness is almost as touching a problem as his physical needs. They are housed in places without heat or windows, but as good as Korea can give them today."

"Some orphan centers have so few beds that the children have to sleep at either end with their feet meeting in the middle. They are virtually all suffering from malnutritional diseases. But they are amazingly alert and so eager to learn that they absorb the lessons from memory, even without paper or pencils, since the schools have few supplies. When we went into schoolrooms we could stand for a long time before a single child looked around, they were so absorbed in what the teacher was saying."

"The Korean's eagerness to do for himself is a national characteristic

According to Mrs. Gimbel, Americans who want to help right now can: 1. Contribute money to feed a Korean child at the rate of ten cents a day. 2. Work in a group to set your town to adopt a town in Korea in the future rehabilitation program. 3. Contribute to the training of Korean nurses (it costs $350 a year to train a nurse). 4. Send sewing machines, needles thread and clothing materials. Not used clothing.

Washington —(INS)— President Eisenhower told the American people last night "there will be no new Munich and no risk of a modern war—because such a war is unthinkable."

The President, acting as a panel chairman with four members of his cabinet, used television as a medium of a "folksy" talk on problems of government.

He declared that in the conduct of international affairs both appeasement and a risk of war will be avoided.

The President compared the operations of government with the running of a household—in a city or on a farm.

"You plan to keep your house in good order...we want to keep the government house in good order."

Mr. Eisenhower put strong emphasis on the importance of a balanced budget and said part of the "good order" is keeping expenses within income.

Reporting on his meeting with Talbot, Yorty said: "He said he could not agree to the 15.1 billion dollar expenditures limitation for fiscal 1954. Talbot said he protested it and it is off. This means that the administration is not going to carry out the program they announced because they found it is too drastic and they don't care to carry it out."

Along Sports Trail

In a few days balloting for players for the All-Star Game to be played in Cincinnati in July will start, and we have been wondering just how Jackie Robinson, the versatile star of the Brooklyn Dodgers will fare when all the votes are in.

It is true that Jackie is one of the all-time great players of the game and perhaps the greatest second baseman in the last decade. When he first came up to the Dodgers as the first Negro player ever to play in the major leagues, he was stationed at first base, mainly because of Eddie Stanky, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was the outstanding second sacker in the league at that time holding down the second base job for the Dodgers.

Branch Rickey, who at that time was the big man behind the Dodgers had brought Robinson to the team after a year at Montreal. Rickey had found Jackie to be the right man to pioneer the Negro's advent into the major leagues by his temperament, his ability and his background.

The insults and abuses which Jackie endured his first year in the league are well known. No other man but a Jackie-Robinson could have lived up to or through the things that Jackie encountered.

Dell's Baseball Life Stories Magazine, just recently off the press carries a story on Jackie Robinson which is a tribute to the man and also the magazine. One of the questions asked in the story in connection with the narrative is, has he helped or hurt the Negro?

The story starts off by quoting a statement from Branch Rickey, "Robinson is a man whose wounds you cannot see or share." It continues "Jackie Robinson is a fighter. Circumstances threw him an unavoidable challenge at birth and his unquenchable spirit has responded eagerly to it. His battle is one he can never win completely, or alone yet, knowing this, he is not daunted and his fervor is undimmed. He fights without malice, for he is not driven by hate, but emboldened by love. He loves his people and his country, and, should his efforts help to unite them in mutual honor and respect, that will be the victory he seeks.

By his achievements as an athlete and a person, he has already accelerated the closing of the gap. But at a price. In the words of Branch Rickey, Robinson is a man whose wounds you cannot see or share. For the measure of his success is not the dragons he has slain, but the fact of his survival. He has endured much and is undefeated."

Jackie made records, received recognition, for acting human or reacting as other players was booed, and is now on the road to immortal glory with no road map. The Brooklyn scouts had been right, he had it. From a pigeon-toed stance with bat held high, he hit hard and often. With uncommon agility for a big man, he fielded skillfully. Every play was all-out, as if his reputation depended on it.

He shifted to second base in 1948, when Stanky was sent to Boston, and in 1949 he enjoyed his biggest year. He led the league batting with a .342 average, led the league in stolen bases with 37 and was selected the Most Valuable Player. Since then he has never had a year below .300 and in 1951 his fielding set a new major league record for second basemen with a percentage of .992. On the record he was tremendous and a credit to the game.

By 1948, too, the restraints were eased. "Perhaps they would never be entirely taken off, but he had earned the right to act human. Umpire 'Butch' Henline thumbed him out of his first game on August 24th, but nobody thought much about it. Later as the incidents multiplied, a few boos began to be heard among the cheers. It was hard to put a finger on; his rhubarbs were probably no more numerous than those of other hair-trigger competitors, but he was Robinson, and the uneasy feeling grew that he was throwing his weight around.

He gestured that Umpire Bill Stewart was choking up, and got tossed out. He butted into a wrangle with Umpire Larry Goetz in Boston, and somebody kicked holes in the ump's dressing room and Jackie drew a fine. He got in a near-scrap with Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs. He felt Sal Maglie was throwing at him and laid down a bunt which resulted in a bruising collision. He raised a fuss by accusing the Yankees on a TV show of having an anti-Negro player policy. In each case there was plenty on his side, but nobody relished the performance. Has he helped or hurt the Negro with all this? A fairer question is, has he helped or hurt with his handling of his whole career? And to that there can be only one answer, he has helped, because that career, the records, the rhubarbs, everything has contributed to a better understanding among people.

What is the final assessment of a fellow like that? You have to take him for what he is, a great player, a trail blazer, a fighter and a Negro. If the spectacle of his efforts has at times been painful, he has held greater pain within him. If the fight has sometimes been brutal, who ever said fights should be charming? If he has sometimes been misguided, only second guessers can say so, for there has never been a map to mark his way.

When the balloting for the All-Star Game starts Robinson may not be voted to the second base spot, the third base spot or to left field, but we are certain that he will be named to some position for the game. Although he may not be in the starting lineup, he will be on hand and will see action in the game.

Men have been voted to the Hall of Fame for less than this!

Mrs. Butler Visits Here Enroute To Grandmother's Rites

Mr. Albert Butler of St. Louis, Mo. spent a few hours in Memphis enroute to the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Rachel Landers whose body will be interred in Tallulah, La. today.

She is survived by five grand children, Mrs. Rachel McCormick of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Tom Butler of Chicago, Ill., Albert J. Butler of St. Louis, Mo., Fannie Blackburn of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Jessie Lee ONeil of Las Vegas, Nevada, six great grandchildren.

Negro Is Crowned May Queen At Washington School

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—Miss Thelma Graham, a 21-year-old aspirant to a concert-singing career, last week was crowned "May Queen" at Clark College here, in recognition of her popularity on the campus.

When Miss Graham was announced as the choice of some 500 students to reign as "Queen," the entire student-body gave her a standing ovation. The enthusiasm was repeated when Dr. Paul Gaiser, president of the college, placed a crown of white roses on her black hair.

The stately Miss Graham is the first Negro co-ed to wear the crown in the 18-year history of the institution. As "Queen," she reigned over the three-day May fete which culminated in a prom. Her all-white court attended her during all events.

A contralto, she has been featured in numerous school musical affairs and hopes to attend Williamette University for her last two years of college in preparation for a career as a concert singer.

Layne & Bowler Defeats Orgill Bros. At Riverview By Score Of 11 To 4

Layne and Bowler's defeats Orgill Bros. at Riverview by the score of 11-4 in the first game of a double start, but their lead was short lived as the Cats of Layne and Bowler roared back to take over and was never headed. And the clever south-paw, Sonny Bracey, pitching for the team was never in serious trouble throughout the rest of the game.

In the second game Chester Frank the pitching manager of the Cella Cubs had the situation well in hand from the start and went on to win easily over the Ful-O-Pep Chicks 14-2.

At Klondyke Park, the Orioles were all set to move up in the league standing at the expense of the Turley Eagles. And that was what happened without a fight, the game was forfeited 9-0. In the second game the Federal Compress proved no match for those recharged Pirates that I promised last week would come back and they did just that. They plastered the Blues 14-9 before some 1,500 or more enthusiastic fans that jammed the field everywhere. Home runs, triples, doubles and singles were as cheap as watermelons in August. The Pirates took the lead and were never overtaken. The fans really got a bang out of the nine innings of anything could happen in the last ball and it did. The Blues put up a game finish as they rallied in the last innings of the game with seven runs to throw a scare into the ranks of the Pirates. But they were too far behind to catch up. Final score 14-9.

Memorial Day at Klondyke the Memphis Hardwood Stars and the Letter Carriers provided an evening of entertainment for Saturday baseball loving fans and what a nip and tuck battle it was with James Allen, a promising young right hander, who is in the opinion of many amateur baseball experts! has a very bright future pitching for the Stars. The old reliable Harry Nelson for the Postmen, with Sanders relieving him in the ninth to pick up his second win for the season; score 9-8.

The center of attraction was at Orange Mound where the Kerrville Giants had dug in to stop the wishing Beavers. It seemed that the

BY ELAINE BERRY
PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—An Episcopalian minister last week spearheaded a move to challenge Oregon's civil rights law.

He is the Rev. Elbert D. Riddick, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd here, and also president and chairman of the Civil Freedom Committee, an organization for which a petition was filed with the secretary of state against the bill.

Rev. Riddick and his group hope to obtain 23,376 signatures to petitions calling for state-wide vote on the issue. Should they succeed, the bill would go to the 1954 general election.

The 1953 legislature passed the civil rights bill over objections it is referred to popular vote. It will become law July 21 unless its opponents succeed in obtaining enough signatures on their referendum petitions.

The bill makes it illegal for public eating, lodging and amusement places to discriminate against any person because of religion or race, says the Urban League, said Rev. Edwin O. Berry, executive secretary. Riddick and his group may not be the real person behind the move to kill the bill. He said the committee which filed a referendum could be a front for other interests.

He did say this, however: "We know Riddick as consistently opposed to anything democratic. We are unconcerned about Riddick and Weede (vice president of the committee) if they are doing this by themselves. But if they are fronting for powerful interests who want to throw rocks, but hide their hands, then this thing is serious."

Bishop Benjamin D. Dagwell of the Oregon Episcopal diocese said Rev. Riddick is "legally within his rights, although I, of course, do not agree with him."

Dean Joseph L. O'Rillon of St. Stephens' Cathedral said Rev. Riddick is out of step with the official views of the diocese.

"When the civil rights bill was under consideration, the entire Portland area clergy voted a resolution favoring civil rights, and there was a lone dissenter, Rev. Riddick," Dean O'Rillon said.

In stating his position, Rev. Riddick said: "What we are after is to give the people the right to reaffirm their former vote. A civil rights bill was rejected in Portland in the 1950 election."

Mrs. Spaulding Praises Ike, Raps 'Impatience'

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — "The interest of my people is foremost on my agenda," Mrs. Jane Morrow Spaulding, assistant to the Secretary of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, told a group of Atlanta leaders on Sunday. Mrs. Spaulding was recently appointed to the position she now holds by President Eisenhower.

The widely known educator and welfare worker was guest for a brief period at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Green, 1193 Hunter Road, N. W. She spoke briefly to a group of local Republican leaders who assembled at the Green residence to hear her. Her primary reason for visiting Atlanta was to address the Booker T. Washington High School commencement activities at the Atlanta Municipal Auditorium.

Mrs. Spaulding praised the Eisenhower administration for its initial efforts to do a good job and warned Negro citizens that "our work has just begun." She also warned against impatience on the part of those who expect "things to change overnight."

As a staunch Republican, Mrs. Spaulding said that "many of our people have returned to the fold." She said she expects to see others return in the future.

An orchid was presented Mrs. Spaulding by the Negro Republican Women of Atlanta. The presentation was made by Mrs. Cassandra Maxwell Birnie, local attorney.

Remarks were made by Robert R. Snodgrass, chairman of the 5th Republican District; W. J. Shaw, secretary, State Republican Central Committee; Mrs. W. A. Scott, Mrs. D. R. Green and C. E. Yates.

Seafood au Gratin Roll-Ups

Developed in the Calumet Test Kitchen
Here's a "shore dinner" that you can serve with confidence when hubby brings home the boss as a surprise! These simple roll-ups hold a delicious filling as refreshing as a sea breeze. Your emergency shelf offers the canned fish—every other ingredient is a staple.

LUNCHEON PANCAKES
1 cup sifted flour
1 1/4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Combine egg yolks and milk; add gradually to flour, beating only until smooth. Add shortening. Fold in egg whites. Pour about 1/2 cup of the batter for each pancake on hot griddle and bake. Spread hot pancakes with Seafood au Gratin. Roll up each pancake and serve at once. Makes 5 servings.

SEAFOOD AU GRATIN
Dish of pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1 cup cooked or canned shrimp
1 cup flaked canned crabmeat
other shortening

Melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and seasonings and blend. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over low heat until thickened. Add cheese, stirring until melted. Then add shrimp and crabmeat.

Grassroots Opinion

MARION, ILL., WEEKLY LEADER: "The great principle of democracy can be applied to the religious field... Respect for one's neighbors, whether or not he agrees with your strict beliefs, is an American principle too often abused."

ALMA, MICHIGAN, RECORD: "A wholly changed attitude toward the dollar is held by the Eisenhower administration compared with the attitude toward it since 1933. Now the dollar is beginning to assume some importance in its own right, instead of merely serving as a tool to accomplish some purpose of the government."

Race Soprano On Radio Show

NEW YORK—Camilla Williams, leading soprano with the New York Opera Company, will be featured as guest on CBS Radio's "There's Music in the Air" Friday, June 5, as she joins Donald Richards, Clark Dennis, Betty Cox, The Serenaders and Alfredo Antonini's orchestra on the full-hour music program.

Miss Williams will be heard with The Serenaders in "I'll See You Again" from Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," and "The Song Is You" from Jerome Kern's "Music in the Air." With the orchestra, Miss Williams sings "Something Wonderful" from Richard Rodgers' "The King and I" and "Allez-Vous En" from Cole Porter's latest Broadway musical "Can-Can."

THE HEALTH WORLD FORUM BY A. E. HORNE, M. D. An S.N.S. Feature

ANEMIA The term "anemia" is applied to any deficiency in the quantity or quality of the blood as manifested by a reduction in the number of red blood cells or in the amount of hemoglobin each red blood cell contains. Hemoglobin is the name applied to the iron-protein portion of a red blood cell. The causes of anemia, sometimes obscure, can usually be divided into three general classes: the loss of blood; the defective formation of blood; and the increased destruction of blood.
