FRIAR QUILTS GOVERNOR'S RACE, BACKS ORGILL

Considers Memphis Mayor Best Qualified For Post

G. Edward Friar quit 18 months of campaigning this week to back Mayor Edmund Orgill. In the following statement, Mr. Friar explains why he is backing the Memphis mayor:

Wilbun's Campaign Headquarters To Open On Vance Ave. July 26

Atty. S. A. Wilbun, a candidate for the state legislature in the Aug. 7 primary, has scheduled a formal opening of his campaign headquarters at 656 Vance Ave. for 3 to 8 p.m. Saturday, July 26, announced Atty. R. Sugarman, campaign manager for Wilbun.

Atty. Sugarman appealed for volunteer workers to participate in a telephone campaign for Wilbun, a baby-sitting committee and an automobile transportation brigade. He said any person interested should come to the headquarters. He also suggested that each ward should select a woman and a man as co-chairmen to organize their ward to help get-out-the-vote during the Aug. 7 primary.

The public is invited to visit Wilbun's headquarters for the formal opening said Sugarman. Refreshments will be served.

"For one who has hazarded his ease, his security, his interests, his popularity and his career for a cause in which he so deeply believes, this cannot be an easy decision. However, it is obvious now, that under the realities that exist, the people are considering only two men in the race, and that one of these two men, either Edmund Orgill or Buford Ellington, will be the next governor of Tennessee.

"I do not know Edmund Orgill well, either personally or politically. I have seen him five or six times during the course of this campaign when we have appeared publicly as opposing each other. We have never been on the same side of any state-wide political race and, as far as I know, our interests have conflicted constantly through the years. However, I consider him to be a man of honesty, integrity, ability, and of sincere purpose.

A TRAGEDY TO MAINTAIN CLEMENT ADMINISTRATION

"On the other hand I do know Buford Ellington, both personally and politically. In my opinion, the continuation of the Clement administration through the willing hands of Ellington would be a tragedy which the people do not want and cannot afford.

"It is my belief that fully 65 per cent of the people of Tennessee want a change in government. Having been sincere in my fight to give them that change, I believe my personal willingness to serve should yield to the greater cause of achieving the desired objective — the elimination of (Continued On Page Eight)

"Rights" Commission Chairman Outlines Local Level Solution

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NNPA) — The Civil Rights Commission will seek solutions to racial problems at the local community level, Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University and chairman of the Commission, indicated after he had talked with President Eisenhower Tuesday.

His call at the White House was just a routine visit with the President, Dr. Hannah told reporters. He said it was the first chat he has had with Mr. Eisenhower about some of their problems in six months.

Asked specifically about Virginia, Dr. Hannah said that state's advisory committee has been approved but has not yet met. "I hope that Gov. (John S.) Battle is going to get them together one of these (Continued On Page Eight)

Women Urged To Push Registration Throughout City

Dr. J. E. Walker, chairman of the Shelby County Democratic Club, called for "100 volunteer women to knock on doors in a block-to-block drive to get registered voters to the polling places during the Aug. 7 primary elections.

The appeal was made by Dr. Walker during a Democratic meeting at Universal Life Insurance building Tuesday evening.

"I want this brigade of 100 women together with ward leaders and other civic workers to go from door to door—telling of the virtues of those candidates our club has endorsed and telling of the sins of their opponents," urged the chairman.

The Shelby County Democratic club publicly endorsed only four candidates during a political rally at the Fair Grounds Monday. They were: Mayor Edmund Orgill for governor; Senator Albert Gore for U. S. Senate; Atty. S. A. Wilbun for state legislator; General Ses- (Continued On Page Eight)

Attorneys Hit Endorsement Of Judges By Democratic Club

By THADDEUS T. STOKES
Rumblings reverberated in the legal profession after the Shelby County Democratic club publicly endorsed General Sessions Court Judge Robert Hoffman at the Fair Grounds Monday evening for judge of Chancery Court, division one, a position also being sought by incumbent Chancellor Rives Manker. Several attorneys-at-law expressed opposition to any organization publicly endorsing any judge. Consensus of these lawyers was "both men are able and impartial jurists and they decide case according to law and facts without regards to persons involved."

The attorneys also expressed a feeling that "no political organizational pressure should be used to put one judge against the other."

The Memphis World, in an attempt to interview the city's 10 Negro lawyers concerning the endorsement, presents the views of Atty. A. A. Latting.

Dr. Latting received his A. B. Degree from Fisk University and his J. D. Degree from Northwestern University School of Law. He is a member of the bar of the Supreme Courts of Arkansas, Tennessee, and the United States of America. The oldest practicing Negro lawyer in Memphis, he is called the Dean of the Negro lawyers.

QUESTION. — Dr. Latting, will you make a statement concerning your position with reference to the present campaign as it relates to the election of judges and the effect on the Negro lawyer?

ANSWER. — I think that it is an (Continued On Page Eight)

Noted Contralto Marian Anderson Named By President Eisenhower To United Nations

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Eisenhower named noted contralto Marian Anderson and six other new members of the American delegation to the 13th session of the United Nations Assembly opening September 16.

Miss Anderson who has been hailed as the "Lady from Philadelphia" following her successful tour of Asia-Africa has been cited by numerous American patriotic organizations as an "Ambassador of Goodwill."

The noted singer's junket was filmed by the Columbia Broadcasting System and presented to a coast-to-coast television audience by Edward R. Murrow. The filmed sequence has since been presented to theatre and armed forces audiences as one of the finest examples of courage and democracy.

Eisenhower, in addition to appointing Miss Anderson, also sent to the Senate for confirmation reappointment for three holdover members of the delegation: Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. Ambassador to the UN; James J. Wadsworth, Lodge's deputy, and Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, who serves on the UN Human Rights Commission.

Senate Unit Bars Switchblade Knives In Interstate Traffic

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A Senate committee approved legislation Wednesday to outlaw interstate traffic in switchblade knives which a New York judge said had become the trademark of young hoodlum gangs.

The Interstate Commerce Committee acted after hearing testimony of New York State Supreme Court Justice John E. Cane and other members of a New York committee to ban teen-age weapons.

Cane said more than 1,200,000 switchblade and gravity knives were being sold each year, "principally to youth." He said such knives "have become the trademark of gangs."

Cane displayed a small arsenal of knives, zip guns and other weapons of teen-age gang warfare. He said many of the knives were being imported from Italy. Chairman Warren Magnuson D-Wash. said the weapons showed how times had changed. "When I was a boy juvenile delinquent was a kid who owned six cents on an overdue library book," he said. "One said New York and 11 other states had banned switchblade and gravity knives but that we are stymied by federal laws which permit teen-agers to obtain them through mail order houses.

GROUNDBREAKING FOR ORPHANAGE. — Four Memphians instrumental in making the dream of an orphanage for Negro children came nearer to being a reality are seen here breaking ground for the project at the site of the proposed building near Whitehaven-Capeville and Horn Lake Roads in south Shelby County. From left to right are: Juvenile Court Judge Elizabeth McCain, Rev. W. J. Golden, who inspired the project, J. A. Parsons, president of Goodwill Homes for Children, Inc., and Bert Ferguson, manager of WDIA, which gave $40,000 toward the building. The orphanage will be built by Edward H. Davis contractors at a cost of $74,888.

Dr. Golden explained that "my dream is coming true... some years ago I conceived the idea of a home like this for children and I shared that dream with many of the people here today."

Voters Expected To Concentrate On Governor's Race In Primary

Negro Republicans Unopposed In Race; Real Vote In November

The political eyes of the Negro electorate in Tennessee are focused on two forthcoming elections which have generated much activity throughout the Volunteer State as the crucial days of balloting come into view.

Of particular interest to the state's heavy Negro electorate is the gubernatorial race August 7 and the bi-partisan November election.

Top-seeded in Negroes' eyes for the state helm is Memphis Mayor Edmund Orgill who is making a strong bid to succeed Gov. Clement. The November election gained a rallying point when three Memphis Negroes qualified to run for state posts. Orgill, who is running against Tip Taylor, Buford Ellington and Sen. Allen, has predicted victory for himself and his strong backing. He has picked up endorsements from such voting strongholds as Memphis, Nashville, Chattanooga and Knoxville. His prominence in other areas is steadily increasing over that of his two major opponents, Taylor and Ellington.

Allen is a dark horse. All of the gubernatorial candidates promised to uphold Southern tradition along the lines of segregation, but only Orgill publicly stated that regardless of his personal views, he will follow the law of the land. He was referring particularly to the school desegregation situation in which many Southern leaders have vowed to de- (Continued On Page Eight)

Aug. 4 Hearing Before 8th Circuit Court, St. Louis

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Justice Department has ordered a brief prepared for possible use in the Little Rock school segregation appeal, officials disclosed Tuesday.

Officials said the brief would be used if the department decides to intervene when the case comes up for hearing before the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis Aug. 4.

The court will review a ruling by Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley postponing school integration at Little Rock for 2 1/2 years.

Officials declined to say what positions the government intends to take in the case.

A request mailed to the Supreme Court asked for a recall of records of the case from federal district court here and from the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeal at St. Louis.

Shelby County Democrats Endorse Four Candidates

Four candidates were publicly endorsed by the Shelby County Democratic Club Monday night, during a political rally at the Fair Grounds. Endorsed were Mayor Edmund Orgill, Senator Albert Gore, Judge Robert Hoffman and Atty. S. A. Wilbun.

Mayor Edmund Orgill had an estimated 250 persons at the political rally "my campaign is coming about in good shape throughout the state."

He rushed back from Ripley where he addressed a group concerning his gubernatorial candidacy earlier that night. He was about an hour and half late for the meeting which was sponsored by the Shelby County Democratic Club.

Taking a slap at Buford Ellington, he said "Gov. Clement is trying to succeed himself."

Mayor Orgill went on to explain plans in his platform about industrial development, more jobs, higher earning, rural road improvement, pay raise for teachers and mental health improvements.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Burke entertain dentist, physicians and pharmacists from Arkansas and parts of Oklahoma and Texas. Cocktail dinner follows at Texas Race Track. About 100 guests were complimented at a lavish affair Thursday when Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Burke were hosts at an all-day party at their stately Forrest City estate.

The event, a clinic held every summer for medical men, started off with short sessions for the medical men and a short get-together for the Auxiliary women and visiting ladies.

Dr. Leland Atkins, prominent Memphis physician and assistant vice president of staff at Collins Chapel Hospital, spoke to the men on "Dynamic Concepts in the Treatment of Congestive Heart Failure."

HILL FAMILY MEET FOR FAMILY RE-UNION
Going back to their home in Detroit after a pleasant re-union here were members of the Hill family. Mrs. Beulah Hill, mother of the group that came; Mrs. Lucille Hill Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lemons, Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Hill, Jr. and their two sons, Allen and Rodney. Coming down with them was Mrs. Shelton Hill's mother, Mrs. J. O. Kagle, also of Detroit. Here they were the house guests of Mrs. Hill's two elder daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Newman and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Patton.

Guests gathered from early morning to 10 noon. In the upstairs rumpus room and bar with the hors d'oeuvres table close by Cards and pool were the games. Many of the guests gathered on the second floor terrace and on the lawn.

PICNIC COMPLIMENTS VISITORS
Mr. and Mrs. Casey Terry of 289 Flynn Road and Mr. and Mrs. Holloway Adair of 170 West Person complimented the group of former week-end at Fuller Park. The entire Hill family attended with the Pattons and Newmans, who also joined in with the honorees who were Mrs. Clyde Turner, Mrs. J. R. Lemons and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lemons Mr. and Mrs. "Bill" Clinton entertained for them at dinner on Wednesday at their South Parkway home.

The ladies later gathered in the huge living-dining area for a brief get-together. It was here that Mrs. Burke had each guest introduce himself. However, she went back over the group presenting the "royalty" (whom we are proud to claim in the South); Mrs. B. C. Venson of Memphis, who is national president of the Dental Auxiliary, and Mrs. T. J. Collier, president-elect of the National Medical Auxiliary who hails from Hot Springs. Both ladies spoke briefly to the group.

STOPPED IN at the beautiful South Parkway East home of Dr. and Mrs. Leland Atkins Sunday evening. There I ran into Mr. and Mrs. Sam Langford, long time friends to the Atkins since their days in Cleveland, Dr. Atkins' native home where Mr. and Mrs. Langford own and operate a large modern super-market. While there Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, Jr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Speight, Jr. and Mrs. A. L. Lattin, whose family is still at Fox Lake, dropped in. With Dr. Lattin was an old friend who was his house-guest, Mr. Giles A. Hubert, professor of economics at Dillard University in New Orleans. Mr. Hubert served for six years in the diplomatic service in Europe.

Others asked to speak were Mrs. E. D. Pernetter of Port Arthur, Texas, who is president of the Gulf Dental, Medical and Pharmaceutical Auxiliary, who came from her home for the week-end with the Burkes along with Dr. Pernetter, Mrs. Fred Rivers, president of the Shelby County Auxiliary at Memphis, Mrs. E. A. Mollie Dumas, wife of a prominent Chicago physician; Mrs. M. L. Walton of Mississippi; Mrs. J. H. Blunt of Detroit, close friend of Mrs. Burke's late mother, who spoke of Mrs. Burke as a beautiful personality as her mother; Mrs. W. C. Stovall of Louisiana; Mrs. E. P. Shannon of Mississippi; Mrs. Georgia Morris, wife of the late Dr. Morris of Camden, who is now manager of the Baptist hotel at Hot Springs; Mrs. C. A. Lawiah, prominent Pine Bluff matron and wife of the famed Dr. Lawiah; and your columnist, who represented the press.

MEMPHIS, AT THE BEAUTIFUL South Parkway East home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Fields, Sr. was a perfect setting for a hot evening Saturday evening when their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Homer Frazier, entertained a few of the "ladies" on the back-side lawn patio. The Fraziers, who drove in Friday on one of their usual week-end trips with their parents, complimented Mrs. Lucille Greene of Nashville who drove down with them, and Mrs. Westley Groves, the former Miss Helen Ann Hayes, Mrs. Frazier and Mrs. Groves have been close friends since their years in the first grade at school, and it was quite coincidental that they should run into each other here in Memphis.

Mrs. Burke later presented Mrs. Sadie Wier who gave hints on charm. Mrs. Wier was superbly at ease in her talk, she emphasized the fact that a "charming personality opens doors in success." "Charm," said Mrs. Wier, "is measured by one's consideration for other people by confidence in yourself and by good manners."

A buffet table was arranged on a side patio. It was decorated with rustic cloths. Smaller tables were arranged all around the large buffet table. It was around this table, following dinner, that the charming Mrs. Burke presented to each guest a "charming personality" which we found cosmetics, personal and household treats.

Mrs. Groves, who resides in Kansas City, came for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Jr. and to bring her seven-week-old baby son Mr. and Mrs. Fields were all-out in their usual gracious manner.

At exactly 6 p.m. all of the guests followed the Burkes to the Race Tracks in West Memphis where the 100 guests had seats at tables on the side patio.

Guests sat around on the large patio where colorful flowers grow up in the center. All of the petit foods were cooked on the gas pit right on the patio (a real cool spot). Among the few guests who went out for an evening of fun were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willis, Miss Erma Laws, Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Vasco Smith, and your columnist, a relative who went out just for a friendly visit.

Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Martin will go to Detroit this week for a game. Before returning home the popular sportsman will go to several other Northern cities before going to the Dental Convention in Pittsburgh.

THE REV. AND MRS. MASON (she is the former Miss Vivian Seymour) both natives of Memphis, were in town visiting relatives last week. The Masons were en route to New York City where they took the Queen Mary to Europe this week.

WORKERS SACKED

Their fears were justified when a few days ago, Aluminum Jamaica, a bauxite mining company, sacked a large number of its workers. It was not known whether the company intended to reduce output of this export commodity principally because of reports current abroad that Russia entered the aluminum market to under-sell the U. S. and other western powers.

Minister Says Home Bombing May Not Involve Race Issue

DURHAM, N. C. (ANP)—The Rev. Warren Carr, chairman, mayor's committee on human relations, told committee members that the bombing of his "home" might not involve the race issue.

He cautioned that there might be some "red faces over the bombing before the business is over."

"There is at this point more reason to believe this is either than racial incident," Carr said. "For several years I've been trying to change the ways of some young hoodlums."

Earlier, he said he had "received animosity" from kids he'd tried to be friend.

Carr indicated he believed the bombing to be an attempt to intimidate him rather than injure him or his family.

He warned committeemen to "read lightly on the racial aspects" until the facts are fully known. The bomb was identified at Fort Bragg as a stimulator hand grenade of the type used by the army.

Much of the present concern over motion pictures is derived from ideas as to the effects of certain productions on children and adolescents.

If this is the basic foundation on which regulation must rest, then it follows that the solutions to the problem must be accommodated to the evil to be prevented.

Exactly what the influence of the motion picture, or any mass media, might be is a very complex problem about which specialists do not specifically agree.

Other factors that must be taken into consideration are, firstly, that the impact of the movie depends greatly on what the personality makeup of the child already is.

Secondly, the impact must be seen in the perspective of the total environment, which includes the school, the neighborhood, the gang, the church, the newspaper, the comic booklets, the radio programs, other movies, and, above all, the family.

When the motion picture is viewed in relation to the other media of mass communication, certain conclusions must be drawn.

LESS ATTAINABLE
On the one hand, movies are less easily attainable than "comic" books or television. The presentations are less numerous and relatively more expensive.

However, branching off from the question of saturation, which is of chief importance in the television

Powell Says Nation Must Push Decency

Fight For Negro Rights Declared Part Of Pattern

CHICAGO (ANP)—The fight for Negro rights is a "fight to make America respect" Rev. Adam C. Powell declared last week.

Powell spoke before more than 500 persons at the fifth annual rally of the Chicago Conference for Brotherhood in Durbar vocational high school, where he was presented a Brotherhood award for his "honest and forthright stand in the struggle for human rights."

Powell declared that this country "doesn't deserve to endure" if Negro rights are denied.

POLICY-WRITING
"Our country has become a second-class power. We can't become a first-class power again unless we abolish second-class citizenship. The foreign policy of the U. S. no longer is written by John Foster Dulles, it is written in Little Rock and Montgomery," he said.

"We will always welcome the constructive advice of friends, but we don't need any ivory-tower liberals, black or white, to tell us what to do," he concluded.

Citizen Arrested In Third New Orleans Bus "Incident"

NEW ORLEANS. — (ANP) — The Crescent City had its third bus "incident" last week. Nathaniel Cator, Negro businessman, was arrested by police and charged with assault for allegedly molesting a white woman who was seated beside him in a public bus. Taken to court the case was continued until October 14 and he was placed under a $100 bond.

According to Cator he was seated on a bus near the window on his way home after working on the river front. He did not note who was the passenger sitting beside him until the left after riding only a few blocks.

Then he said he noted a misdeed white woman leave hurriedly and stop and talk with the conductor. He says he saw the conductor leave the car also and a few minutes later a policeman came and arrested him and took him to jail. There the police struck him but stopped after talking with each other.

GOOD CITIZEN
Cator is a home owner, has three children in public school and one in high school. He is reputedly a regular church-goer and bears a good reputation.

In the two other cases, "whites were the aggressors. Those two whites were immediately found guilty. The first was fined $25.00

Sunday School Lesson

JUSTICE IN COMMUNITY LIFE
International Sunday School Lesson for July 27, 1958.
MEMORY SELECTION: "Love does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." (Romans 13:10.)

LESSON TEXT: Leviticus 19: 11-18; Deuteronomy 15: 7-8; Romans 13: 8-10; James 2: 1-13.

In the unit studied this month we have concerned ourselves with the meaning and significance of justice. We have tried to find the real meaning of justice and mercy as revealed in the nature of God himself. Our goal has been to determine how justice and mercy are important to Christian living in all areas of experience.

Earlier we noted that Jesus teaching about the kingdom of God were highly personal. But "social groups are under the law of love, too. The question for discussion today is: How can the principles of justice be expressed by Christians in their community life? How can we translate into Christian action the desires and motives of our heart?"

Jesus taught that the essence of the family should be broken down and that the love that is normally (and naturally) confined within its limits should be extended to include the family of all mankind. (It will be remembered that in the story of the good Samaritan Jesus showed that the neighbor need not live nearby, nor be of the same nationality sect.)

Turning to the Book of Leviticus, and reading that particular excerpt which has been chosen as part of

BASIS OF PARTIALITY
Paul saw the chief threat to neighborly love in self-love and sought to overcome this self-love through requesting the Christian "not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think." (Romans 12:3.) The basis of partiality is often self-love. The individual deems himself to be the fit companion of the wealthy, or the brilliant, or the famous. He defers to such, but disregards the less noble neighbor. But the Christian ethic for society is the fulfillment of the ends of all persons in the community.

The goal of love is also the goal of social justice. Therefore it follows that an aim of love should be the establishing and maintaining of social justice. Christian social justice aims at the extension of neighborly love to groups of persons. It seeks the good of the group, but also indirectly the good of each individual member of the group.

If one is firmly committed to the principle of freedom to worship God as the individual desires, not only will he tolerate the views of others, but he will speak for their right to be different. He will resist every attempt to grant any one denomination or sect an advantage over the others. He will not ever seek a favored position for his own religious body. Furthermore, he will, on occasion, find himself in the unpopular position of defending the rights of a group with whom he does not agree. Attempts to harass or license any religious group will be attacked as an abridgement of a basic right.

Experimental Arlington Private School Falls Afoul First Test

ARLINGTON, Va. — (NPA) — An "experimental" Arlington private school, intended to pave the way for segregated private schools over present temptation to the good man. As each one of us seeks social justice for others, we are tempted to pride. This is another thing against which we must be on our guard.

EMBRACE WHOLE WORLD
Neither do Christians have any license to sit back contentedly because some evil has been rectified. The law of love is continuous and full and complete justice are the goals for which we must strive. The early Christians regarded themselves as a community. The Gospel declared that love was the only satisfactory basis of community. This basis of love must enlarge itself from the core of Christianity, to embrace the whole world, making the "brotherhood of man truly a 'brotherhood'."

Class struggles have not rent the United States as they have many other nations. It behooves society to foster even greater justice for all classes so that class identification will not destroy the spirit of community. The Christian has a higher motivation.

These comments are based on outlines of the International Sunday School Lesson, copyrighted by the International Council of Religious Education, and used by permission.)

Secretary Jack Rathbone of the segregationist Defenders of State Sovereignty and Individual Liberty, the school's sponsor, was ordered by the county zoning department to apply for a private school permit.

This probably would mean refusal to grant the permit, because it is believed the Defenders' school could not meet stiff county regulations.

Meanwhile, however, the school was opened.

However long its life, it probably will be the most unusual educational institutional on record.

Defenders' Secretary Jack Rathbone said pupils of all grade levels — first through senior high school — will be taught all academic subjects.

Sixteen former teachers — retired for a variety of reasons — will be in charge of eight classes. "One will teach and the other will observe," Mr. Rathbone said.

The school can handle only 100 pupils. Staff members will serve as volunteers without pay and everything will be free.

SPORTS OF THE WORLD

BY MARION E. JACKSON

A scheduling problem looms in the not-too-distant future for SEC colleges in the unrelenting Segregation States. The authority for this is Bill Murray, the North Carolinian who made good as head football coach at Duke University. Murray envisions mounting woes for Southern schools because of the integration question. If the Duke coach is correct there is a hole already in the dike holding back the flood waters of integration.

Murray is quoted in an interview by Tom Coffey which appeared in the July 3 issue of the Savannah News as stating that Maryland already has some Negro trackmen and there'll probably be Negro football at some Atlantic Coast Conference schools, but not those in the state of South Carolina.

Murray noted that "it might be that the Georgia and South Carolina schools will have to form a conference of their own. If, say, Maryland brought a Negro player to play Duke at Durham, we could play them, but South Carolina and Clemson couldn't."

Will Chamberlain in his copyrighted Look magazine retirement story revealed that he had been offered a scholarship to play at North Carolina State College. He told that several other Southern colleges had offered him grants-in-aid.

It now seems evident that Georgia Tech, the University of Georgia, Clemson, Louisiana State University and Tulane University are going to feel the increasing miseries over the limited orbit in which it can play. For colleges in North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee which have been traditional opponents in other years are more and

ALL WELL DENIED BOXING LICENSE IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO. — (UPI) — The California Athletic Commission revoked the manager's license of boxing figure Al Weill Wednesday and at the same time gave a vote of confidence to promoter William Rosensohn, who will stage the Floyd Patterson-Boy Harris world heavyweight title bout in Los Angeles.

Weill was given 30 days in which to appeal the lifting of his license. "We revoked his license because he lied to us at a previous hearing," said Jack Urch, boxing commission enforcement officer.

But when the questioning was finished, Dr. Dan Kilroy, chairman of the commission, announced: "We want to thank Mr. Rosensohn for his straight-forward answers and for coming before the commission of his own will."

Carbo, an underworld figure, is blamed in some circles for running a "combination" that controls boxing. The commission also approved the change in the date for the Pete Rademacher-Zora Foley fight in Los Angeles from July 24 to July 25; and the Carmen Basilio-Art Aragon battle from Aug. 28 to Sept. 5.

Referring to the Houston clubs of '56 and '57, Harry says, "those two are a combination of youth and experience. There were several old pros to balance a few good young ones."

Vet Information

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Fuller information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran and since my discharge, have been operating a small business of my own. I am eligible under the law for a GI loan. Can I use my GI loan to help me expand my business?

Q—This fall, I expect to be taking a night course in law under the Korean GI Bill. I will be starting a full four-year course, and at an accredited school, but will only be attending at night. For purpose of my VA training allowance will this be considered full-time or part-time training?

Q—A young man of my acquaintance, the child of a World War II friend now deceased, is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education Act. He would, however, need some special program of education because of a disability. Does the law make provision for that type of training?

Q—We've just had a baby born in our family. I still want my wife to remain as beneficiary of my GI insurance policy, but if I wish to have my son's name also there as beneficiary in case of my wife's death, can I do that?

Q—Yes, your son would thus be named as contingent beneficiary. Get a change of beneficiary form at any VA office. Fill it out, adding your son's name after your wife as contingent beneficiary. Send the completed form to the VA District Office where you pay your premiums.

Q—Yes, the law includes special restorative training to help eligible young men and women overcome the effects of disabilities.

Q—Well, the law does not allow a veteran of 30 with a broken right wrist, hope to build a reputation in the once-great division—or even hold the title for long. Particularly a veteran who was reputedly a "lazy" fighter.

Well, the Joe Brown of today is perhaps the most respected champion in any division. His wrist healed perfectly and he displayed a truly remarkable combination of speed, ringcraft and explosiveness in 10 bouts since he won the crown. They included four title defenses.

At 32, Brown will make his fifth defense Wednesday night against 26-year-old Kenny Lane, a speedy southpaw, at Tipton, Tex. Will Joe hammer on to greater glory or succumb to youth? He's favored at 2-1.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Harry (The Hat) Walker believes his 1958 Houston Bulls will provide much future help to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Manager Walker, former National League batting champion, says his Bulls of the class "A" Texas League are having a hard fight this season for a first division berth because it's an unusually young outfit, though loaded with prospects.

His youngsters were mired in second division until lately but now are coming on. Harry, who led the National circuit with a .263 for the Cardinals and Phillies in 1947, is shedding no tears about this year's struggle in the Texas race.

Second STRAIGHT Last year his Bulls became the first club in 15 years to win the Dixie series for the second straight time, when they beat Atlanta's Southern Association standard-bearers.

Mention of the word "Dixie" because he was the younger brother of the Dodgers' famous outfielder, Fred Dixie Walker—the National League batting champ in '44, with a .357.

Referring to the Houston clubs of '56 and '57, Harry says, "those two are a combination of youth and experience. There were several old pros to balance a few good young ones."

He rates Lloyd Merritt, Jim Donahue and Don Choate as other sure-fire prospects. All five are right-handers.

The pilot from Pascagoula, Miss., is very hot on outfielders Charles Bonus Baby James and Ellis Burton, a Negro switch-hitter. His best promising infielder are third baseman Jim McKnight, shortstop Waldo Gonzalez and second-sacker Waldo Shannon, Jr.

And there's catcher Ed Czerniakowski pronounced churn-uh-kow-ski who's playing his first pro season," Walker explains. "He's really going to be a good one."

James, now hitting around .280, will make the major within two years, Harry predicts, "and that's pretty good for a fellow who jumped straight from college to a Class Double-A league."
