State Board Delays Integration At Memphis State University

The State Board of Education, as expected, granted Mem phis State University President Jack Millard Smith his request for a year's delay of scheduled integration at the college when it met in Nashville Wednesday to consider the plea.

The Board ruled it "is in the Letter Carriers To best interests of the community and both races that segregation in education be continued as remended by Smith."

> The Board voted in November of 1957 that MSU should cease barring students because of their race. But Smith, who describes himself as an arch segregationist, himself as an arch segregations, petitioned the Board last Aug. 8 to delay integration under the pretense that "considerable trouble and even violence will crupt if they (the Negro students) are ad-

One member of the Board, Mrs. Ferdinand Powell from Johnson City, refrained from voting.

Eight Negro students were eligible to enroll under the Board's 1957 ruling. Negro attorneys have promised immediate court action against the Board to get them admitted.

WILL REPRESENT LEAGUE

The Warriors, then, will represent the league against the Elite Giants of Nashville in a best 3 out of 5 series. Dates will be announced soon.

This is probably the last year that MSU will be segregated. Observers feel that the Board made the ruling as a delaying tactic, in that court, action could not be taken in time to get the Negro students in. However, federal courts are expected to rule soon that the Negro students must be admitted.

NEW BRANCH WILL OPEN WITHOUT SEGREGATION

NEW ORLEANS. - (UPI) - Two young Negroes registered at the New Orleans branch of Louisiana University Tuesday, the first of their race to be accepted as undergraduates in the LSU

The decision to admit the Ne-groes to the New Orleans branch marked compliance with a Federal Court order issued Monday which struck down segregation at the school even before it began its aca-demic life.

The Negroes, a boy and a girl, appeared outwardly calm as were the hundreds of white students who roamed the large registration hall signing up for classes at the new "commuter college." Most of the white students ignored the Negroes, 17-year-old Jo-sephine Ell, who said she will ma-lor in elementary education, and Harold Fontennette, 18, a major n social science

They were both neatly dressed, the boy in a conservative dark blue suit and the girl in a trim red and green checked dress.

School officials appeared friend-y and helpful as the Negro fresh-nen went through the enrollment procedure.

The first Negroes appeared on the campus Tuesday morning, but were barred from the campus while officials at the main branch of the university met in secret session in Baton Rouge.
The LSU officials decided to obey U.S. District Judge Herbert Christenberry's order. A telephone call to Dean Hitt at the New Orleans college gave the Negroes a green light to register.

The school joins a small number of other Louisiana colleges that has Negro students in undergraduate classes. They are McNeese State

In a letter to City Manager Dean Dauley, Rogers said the Justice De-partment had arranged a tempo-rary expansion of the staff of the U.S. marshal's office and would "cooperate fully" with Little Rock authorities in preserving peace.

In a companion letter to the Lit-tle Rock School Board, Rogers-promised the full help of the fed-eral government if the board seeks injunctions against possible trouble-makers. The board falled to seek such injunctions during last year's violence at the school.

TROOPS NOT MENTIONED

In neither letter did Rogers mention possible use of U.S. troops Justice Department officials said such action was not contemplated at present. But they did not rule out such a move which, they said, would have to be taken at a "higher level" presumably the White House. Department officials felt their two-pronged plan would be ade-

What To Use For Oily, Shiny Skin

Q .- Dear Mabel: My face is troubled all the time because of oiliness, so much that it just ruins good looks. Do you know anything that will help me? ... Marjorie.

A.—As you know there are more than twice as many oil ducts on the face than anywhere else and this often causes trouble like yours. The best cosmetic help I know is the greaseless bleaching cream called NADINOLA De Luxe that creams off the surface oil from your skin, cleans the skin at the same time and makes it clearer and fresher. NADIN-OLA De Luxe gives you other beauty benefits too in a brighter. smoother looking complexion. It comes in 2 sizes @ 69¢ and $1.25 and is fully guaranteed. You should use NADINOLA De Luxe night and morning like a cleansing cream. Try this. I think you'll be delighted . . . Mabel Collins ... NADINOLA,

Minn. Governor Urges Speedup In Racial Justice

CHICAGO. —(ANP)— The Hon Orville L. Freeman, Minnesota's youthful governor and staunch civil rights advocate, on Saturday urged a speed-up rather than a slowdown in progress toward interracia justice and equality in an eloquent address at a banquet highlighting the first National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice at the ence for Interracial Justice at the Edgewater Beach hotel here.

The conference, which brought together some 400 delegates from 35 Catholic Interracial Councils throughout the United States, provided the delegates as well as representatives of loading Catholic lessentatives of loading Catholic lay organizations, an opportunity to evaluate the current climate of race relations in the United States and to project plans for the positive and constructive promotion of more harmonious relations among the various racial groups. The confer-ence itself, which lasted four days. convened at Loyola University and Mundelein College.

GOVERNOR APPLAUDED

In his address, Gov. Freeman, an eloquent speaker, was interrupted with applause several times, especially when he referred to the need for positive leadership in the in-tegration crisis. He warned that cur security and survival in a very disturbed and unstable world may well depend upon our success in the field of human rights. Explaining how our actions at home bears upon our relations abroad, he said: "When we demonstrate to the world that we really mean to live up to our ideals of democracy, justice, and equality of opportunity, — then we will be where we should be, — on the offensive and not the defensive — in the struggle for men's minds and hearts throughout the world."

President Urged To Hit Police Attack

NEW YORK—Roy Wilkins, executive secertary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, today called upon President Eisenhower to express "the indignation felt by every decent American" at the arrest and maltreatment of the Rev. Dr. Mar-tin Luther King by Montgomery,

In a telegram dispatched today to the President at Newport, R. I. Mr. Wilkins said that the man-handling of Dr. King "has sheeked the nation and demands in the minds of millions of Americans a rebuke from the Chief Executive."

Previously, the NAACP leader bad wired Dr. King assuring him of the Association's support The NAACP, he said, "along with the rest of the nation is outraged at the treatment of you by the Montgomery police. We stand ready to assist in any way to our maximum ability."

We rush on so fast in these strenuous days, We're apt to find fault when it's better to praise. We judge a man's worth by the make of his car; We're anxious to find what his politics are. But somehow it seldom gets under the hide, The fact that the fellow we're living beside Is a fellow like us with a hankering too, For a grip of the hand, and a "How do you do!" With a heart that responds, in a welcome sincere If you'll just stop to fling him a message of cheer, And I know you'll coax out his sunniest smile, If you'll stop with this neighbor and visit awhile. —H. This lesson stresses the Christian importance of just dealings in economic relationships. This furthers our aim to show that a Ohristian must express justice in every type of daily relationship with others if he expects his life to be a symbol of the ideals of Christ.

In studying our Bible, we find that the writers of the Old Testawe need to be no less concerned with justice in these dealings, one with the other. Hamilton, Douglass Vie Tonight In Prep Opener

By MELVIN GREER

NO SENSIBLE PERSON at this time seems willing to predict the outcome of the 1958 Prep League championship race, although it seems to be the general consensus that it will largely be a fight to the finish among the Melrose Golden Wildcats, the Manassas Tigers, and the pressured Booker T. Washington Dubious bearing on this year's improving line which is charged Dubious Dear and outcome will depend upon the results of the game tonight (Friday) is "Red" Wallace And Junion is Melrose Stadium when the Auguarterback Carroll Holman, another welcome returnee, is back to help guide a rather tappin-paced backfield which is showing proclash with the title-hungry Doug-las Red Devils in the traditional season's opener. The Red Devils, with a more experienced backfield and a less experienced line, are given a tissue-thin edge over their South Side cousins.

Beating The Gun

There will be a dramatic sports story unfolding this year if Leroy Bolden can cut it with the Cleveland Browns. Bolden is making his first bid in professional football, and if determination and will have anything to do with it, it will be Bolden was a standout college performer at Michigan State for three seasons (freshmen were ellgible when he began his college ca-reer), and only a bothersome injury spoiled his final campaign for the Spartans. In the interim-since graduation,

With the Browns, he is involved in intense competition to earn a berth as a halfback. The fact that he is by far the smallest player on the training roster at Hiram Col-lege, near Cleveland, doesn't bother the gritty Bolden.

Bolden was known as a bread and-butter ball carrier at Michigan State. He earned that appellation because of his ability to supply yardage when a crucial down was coming up. It is too early to say that Bolden

"The Stride Toward Freedom"

Atlanta born Martin Luther King, Jr., in his new book "Stride Toward Freedom" adds another star to the constellation of brilliant authors whose gripping opinions of the day are molding sentiment on the current issues and doings of the time. Dr. King, who won his Ph.D., in his early twenties is well and widely known for his non-violent activities in dealing with the new order now so distasteful on many a horizon. His book, challenging and gripping in its narration, for the most is "Mrs. Rosa Parks, too tired to remain standing with plenty of seats available." Dr. King is a preacher; proud to be it; his grandfather and father before him were preachers and hence he comes of a preaching line. But he is more than a preacher as such; he is a civic contender and in addition to being a "voice crying in the wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord — and make it straight" he has risen high in the councils of world statesman-

His book is simple and down to earth in its exposures; there is not a single discordant note in the whole fabric unless one would call the right to live; free circulation in a free society and a more handsome and becoming presentation of the American form of government as prescribed by the Constitution of the United States, discordant.

While this would fall far short of a review, it might be interesting to state that his new book which tells the "Montgomery Story" begins with a first experience in segregation as a boy in Atlanta. This would take a business turn because it involves an incident in which his father took him to a store in Atlanta to buy shoes, and while they were sitting comfortably waiting their turn, the salesman courteously asked that they remove to a place provided for colored customers.

His father protested this by going elsewhere to buy shoes. No doubt this incident clung to the lintels of his self respect and pride until it finally came to flower in another clime in which Mrs. Rosa Parks would no longer be a mere seamstress standing on a bus while there were plenty of seats available. Dr. King has made a laudable contribution, not only with his life, but in the volume of his written pages.

The Staff Bows In Sorrow

Snatched untimely from life's busy chain, Be it said, they did not live in vain.

The Atlanta Daily World family is bowed in sorrow upon the drowning of two faithful employees in Chennault Lake Sunday afternoon. These men, Anno Hargrove, Sr. and Harry Ramsey, had worked in the mechanical department for 24 and 17 years respectively. They had excellent records and were loyal and dependable employees.

Anno Hargrove was night foreman while Harry Ramsey was a stereotyper.

Both were married men and had families and it is certain that the sympathy of all their fellow workers attends these families in this hour of their sad bereavement.

The drowning victims often went fishing together and it was on such a mission in a boat when they met their untimely deaths. But this was perhaps their first time to use a boat.

This tragedy in a lake would serve timely warning on those who love the water, to at all times be on guard.

TRAGEDY AT CHENNAULT LAKE - These two scenes show (top) recovery of the body of Harry Ramsey from an Atlanta lake Monday morning, and the placing of that body on a stretcher by funeral home employes. Mr. Ramsey's body was recovered sometime after that of Anno Hargrove, Sr., had been removed from the lake. Both had been fishing in the lake late Sunday night when a boot apparently capsized. They were Atlanta Daily World employees. (See story on page 8.) (Special Photos)

About 45 students, compared with about 60 Friday, stood on the Frisco Railroad tracks behind Van Buren High Monday before the last bell rang. Part of them broke away and with their parents beside them, returned to classes. Twenty - eight remained after school started. George Hudgins, 16, a Negro honor student, has left Van Buren and registered in a segregated school in Dardenelle, Ark., Kelley reported. 'I'm sorry to lose him.' Kelley said. "He was a level - headed fel-low. He kept things calm among the others' Hudgins was listed among the plaintiffs in Tate's suit. The others, all Negro students, are Thomas Leroy and Joe David Banks, Freddy Eugene Bell and Nathan-iel, Ernestine and Leroy Norwood Mrs. Georgia Bell, 70 Freddy Bell's grandmother, said she got the impression from the Negro students that they don't intend to return to school until they "get a decision from the judge."

In Alexandria, Arlington County and Richmond there was no breakthrough in the color barrier but federal judges made it clear that the arrangement was only temporary. Everything appeared to hinge on the Supreme Court's decision, possibly later in the week, on the integration stay granted Little. Rock, Ark., by a circuit court.

The Pulpit Voice

BY REV. HAMILTON T. BOSWELL (San Francisco, For Associated Negro Press)

Fretting and anxiety are words which characterize out times. In many ways people today are anxious about many things. It seems that the objectives which are set before us destroy in no little way, the sense of being in step with the real ongoing of life. Every day we meet those who because of much fretting about tomorrow are weighted down with care and den of growing things. The pros-pects of the day ahead were frightening to consider. It was appointment after appointment. Ahead of him were two important meetings the outcome of which could affect his entire future. And it was this inner disturbance caused by anxiety which led him hurriedly to find the stabalizing experience of meditation for calm and poise.

SPIRIT AT LOW EBB As he valked it seemed that his mind could not relax and find the inspiration he generally found in his books of devotions. It seemed that every step he took only excited the fretting which lay hold upon his mind. This he felt was one of those days when the spirit was at low ebb and possibly all he could do was to wait and remember in patience that the clouds always pass. Then it was that his troubled attention was attracted to a large clump of shrubbery which lay along the way. The thought heavy concern.

It was in just such a brooding that the Reverend Mr. Very Good began his early morning walk amid the quiet and hush of a garminute his mind was attune to the witness which the silent foliage was making before his very eyes.

Suddenly there was an insight Suddenly there was an insight of the fact of growth in what appeared to be the still quiet presence of the shrubbery as he stood amid them. Yes, that was true, he said to himself, these growing things are not just there they are growing, they are about the creative purposes of their existence. Yet they fret not, they appear so still, yet underneath they are alive with growth. They are so busy yet they are so calm. And strange it was but greatly welcomed, the fretthey are so caim.
