Students March On Capitol In Alabama With Silent Protest

White Students Join In Lunch Counter Protests

By United Pres International Police arrested more than 60 demonstrators in a Nashville, Tenn., bus station Wednesday in further outbreaks of the South's wave of protests against lunch counter segregation.

White sympathizers who joined Negro students in protests were convicted with them on simple trespassing charges at Winston Salem, N. C., but sentences were suspended. More white students joined Negroes in a restaurant protest at Durham, N. C.

In Durham, Duke and the University of North Carolina white students joined Negro students in a demonstration at a Howard Johnson's restaurant in which Gov. Luther H. Hodges and Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D.-N.C. have financial

Other "sitdown" incidents occurred at Columbia, S. C., and in Tampa, Sarasota and St. Petersburg, Fla., and a Negro student was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail for misconduct and destruction of property at Montgomery, Ala.

REFUSE TO LEAVE

The new mass arrests in Nashville occurred at a Greyhound bus station where the Negro demonstrators planned an "around-the clock" protest and refused to leave when police said a telephoned bomb threat had ben made and officers wanted the building cleared to con-

Police and firemen-rushed to the station and Asst. Fire Chief Russell Campbell said "we ordered them out for their own protection." Officials earlier ordered everyone not having a bus ticket to leave and a don't think it's unreasonable to Negro bought 61 tickets to suburmake them behave."

He considered himself to be a professional at the game of checkers. In fact, he styled himself as Memphis' best checker player.

Born at 593 S. Dudley St., he received his early education here. He was graduated from Atlanta University in Georgia. He was a member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. Also a member of Metropolitan Baptist church, he taught a Sunday School class there until ill health forced him to resign.

Both of Mr. Graham's parents were teachers. His mother, Mrs. Jennie P. Moore, retired from Memphis Public school system about nine years ago after teaching about 39 years. His father, the late I. J. Graham was principal at Kortrecht about 40 years.

Among survivors are his wife, Mrs. Wilhelmina Graham; two sons, I. J. Graham, Jr., and George Wesley Graham, a student at Morehouse College in Atlanta, Ga.; and two sisters; Mrs. Carrie Bell Reed of Chicago, Ill.; and Mrs. Virginia C. Pope of New York. N.

WASHINGTON, D. C. - (NNPA) - After listening to arguments Tuesday and Wednesday, the Supreme Court appeared to be faced with an easy decision in the Louisiana voter purge case.

racial integration" that account for much of the resistance toward Negroes moving into previously allwhite neighborhoods are analyzed and answered by the American Jewish Congress in a new study published Sunday.

Copies of the 16-page brochure were distributed at a quarterly meeting of the AJCongress national administrative an dexecutive committees in Stephen Wise Congress House, 15 East 84th St. The meeting will continue through this afternoon.

"The Myths of Racial Integra-tion" is designed to answer the arguments most often cited by foes of integration in education and housing, according to Mrs. Naomi Levine, director of the AJCongress program department and author of the analysis. The most recent sociological, anthropoligical and other social scientific evidence is presented to show that these arguments repeat "myths" or "fears' which are without basis in fact or reason, Mrs. Levine comments in a brief perface to the report.

The first "myth," according to the pamphlet, is that "Property values go down when Negroes or Puerto Ricans move into an all-white neighborhood." The report cites studies by Charles Abrams Luigi M. Laurenti and other housing authorities and real estate appraisers showing that property values decline as a result of "panic selling," not racial integration in housing. "An intelligent community that understand this issue — that will not be panicked or misled by fear or hysteria — has nothing to fear economically from integra-tion in housing," the sudy con-Myth No. 2 holds that "if one Negro or Puerto Rican moves into a neighborhood, a multitude will follow." The American Jewish Congress pamphlet points out that if residents behave "normally" and "stay put," their neighborhood will not change radically, adding: "It is unfortunately true, however, that many real estate men, because of the higher prices they can get by selling to Negroes, often try to urge white persons to move." "Negroes do not maintain their property" is Myth No. 3. Here the report points to integrated housing developments and neighborhoods in Germantown, Pa.; St. Louis, Mo.; and Queensivew Houses and Parkway Village, both in Queens, as evidence that "minority group families have kept their property as well as or better than the oldtime residents.'

The fourth myth holds that Negroes will not be able to keep up their mortgages and thus will be forced to sell their homes at lower prices to a poorer class of people." In reply to this charge, the sus figures showing that the counily advancing to better paid occupations and to greater security in jobs, as well as to higher education al levels.

Myth No. 5 says: "Neighborhoods should be homogeneous, with residents having the same cultural and economic background." The report notes that "educators and psychiatrists agree that neighborhoods containing persons of only one racial, religious, ethnic or economic background are not good for children or for adults," since they provide only "limited opportunity for broadening one's horizons and little or no opportunity for cultural enrichment."

Myth No. 6 holds that "if Negroes are permitted to live in the same areas as whites and go to the same schools, intermarriage will increase." Here the AJCongress brochure cites reports by the Group for the Advancement of Psychlatry (GAP) and the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues that such fears are groundless.

In Myth No. 7, the fear is that "social prestige will be lost if Negroes or Puerto Ricans live in your neighborhood." In answer to this myth, the report notes that "basically, a neighbarhood gains prestige from its appearance, from the stature of those who live in it and the quality of its community life ...

Myth No. 8 holds that "Negro children are innately less intelligent than white children. Integrated schools therefore will result in lower educational standards." This assumption, the brochure states, is 'flatly denied by all scientists.' The study concludes: "Negro and Puerto Rican children are not biologically less intelligent than white children. GOD'S HELP IS SURE son For March 6, 1960. MEMORY SELECTION: "God is present help in trouble." LESSON TEXT; Acts 22: 30 thru

In today's lesson we will consider how we can develop inner resources that will give us the extra fortification we need for times of troubles and stress.

Studying our text for today, we find that Paul, having declared he was a Pharisee, expounds the doctrine that severed them from the Sadducees-the resurrection of the dead. The Sadducees were mainly of the priestly order, and were on the political side of Rome. Reading further, we learn of the plot to take Paul's life, and of its exposure by his nephew.

Paul, in his religious teachings. has much to tell us about hardship and privation. In this instance Paul faced the threat of ambush and death with two sources of security. The first was the Roman AJCongress brochure points to cen- government and the Roman law. moment to use it. The second source of his security came from within, "The following night the Lord stood by him and said. "Take courage, for as you have testified about me at Jerusalem, 30 you must bear witness also at Rome." (Acts 23: 11.) Part of Pauls' serenity certainly came from the fact that he took opposition for granted and realized clearly, that "good' people could do bad things. He was a realist about the road that Christians travel if they are to deal with controversial issues,

> Another source of Paul's poise inquestionably came from the fact that he could understand what motivated his enemies to such action He himself had once felt as they felt; he had been a part of the mob that killed Stephen, And another thing, he knew that centive to learn. The final myth - No. 9 holds that "If Negroes or Puerto Ricans move into a white neighborhood. crime and delinquency will increase." The brochure replies: There can be no question but that slum conditions do go hand in hand with crime and delinquency. The way to protect a community from these social disease is to provide fair housing markets for all people, to give all people better education and employment opportunities an dto rigidly enforce housing, health, sanitary and police regulations so that every part of

We, as Paul, will find our security both from without and from within. The security from without will come from the law of the land, as did Paul's. The security from within will come, as it did with Paul, from loyalty to and fellowship with Christ. It is only when one has lived it societies where is no real legal protection that one realizes how important our whole tradition of law is. The Christian should be the first one to stand behind the laws of the land. It is the foundation, and the only one, upon This was a security from without and Paul did not hestlate for one which justice can be built. Education is, of course, important; and However, eventually it is a code of recognized laws behind which government will stand that the protects us. Every man and woman among us has a right, when dealing with controversial issues, to ask for the full protection of the law.

However, our security must come primarily from within. We sometimes tend to forget this. We, as was Paul, must be realistic about the road that Christian churches travel if they are to sund for anything. The powerful forces of organized selfishness, pride, lust, hate, and envy certainly do exist. There is no denying that. If you doubt their existence for one instance, all you have to do is try to do something about them. Their response will be instantaneous!

We must, however, also be realistic about ourselves. One of the most distressing things that has hurt many Christian who took a stand on any issue is the fact that very often it is the "good people," even church people, who are unfuir and unreasonable.

The jungle of selfishness, pride, lust, hate and envy is not behind us, disappearing as does the shoreline when a snip puts out to sea. It is, reather, underneath all of us, and it is only the religious life that helps us to rise above it. We will remain humble when we are realistic about ourselves and, as did Paul, will be able to understand and sympathize with the very people who will attack us when we summon up our courage to try to stand for something. We can also find inspiration when we think of Jesus .He had to face hardship because of his convictions As Christians we should always remember that others have a right to stand with the minority. Inperfect in our knowledge, we must be careful not to align ourselves with men against God. (These comments are based on outlines of the International Sunday School Lessons, copyrighted the International Council of Religious Education, and used

BEHAVIOR AND ENVIRONMENT

By Bob Bartos Manager, Friskies Research Kennels

Early environment has much to do with whether your dog turns into a brat or a model of doggy decorum. Almost without exception, a puppy comes into the world a happy, loving ball of fluff, just waiting to be loved in return. If he grows up into a pest rather than a pet to be proud of, it's generally the fault of the owner.

One common cause for problem dogs is keeping a puppy tied to a dog house or leaving him down in the cellar for hours or days on end. He'll either go a little berserk whenever he's given some freedom or a little much needed affection, or he'll turn shy and may squat

and dampen his surroundings out of sheer nervousness. The latter is an involuntary reaction and should not be taken as an infringement of house rules. Scolding the puppy will only make him more nervous and he'll make more mistakes.

Either type of puppy, the excitable or the shy, needs love and understanding, a closer contact with its human family.

That doesn't mean you have to give him the run of the house,

but do give him some freedom and contact with members of the family as often as possible.

Getting used to people and voices, he'll come to know the Frankly we had hoped Judge Taylor would stay out of this race and run for governor two years from now as Governor Buford Ellington cannot succeed himself. As matters stood, it looked as If Judge Taylor could have the governor's office "on a silver platter" as it were. Now he is going into the ring against an "old pro" and when he emerges, and we think Senator Kefauver will win, he will be badly battered and scarred, with enough enemies to hurt his chances for the governor-Thip two years hence.

We cannot see that Judge Taylor or former Governor Clement have anything to offer that would incline us to favor either of them over Senator Kefauver. If Judge Taylor is tied up with Justin Potter of Nashville, arch enemy of TVA, we can see a bitter campaign ahead, but we will stay with Kefauver.

HEART-SICKENING

Those to whom this hate literature is addressed will not stop to reason, but proceed with an aroused hatred for the Negro race. When we read this scurrilous, putrid, venomous scandalous stuff, we grew sick at heart to think that millions are now being pooled to carry on the vicious campaign.

There is just one ray of hope in this nefarious atempt to foil a race in its attempt to enjoy full citizenship which has been purchased at the price of sweat and tears and blood, and that is, sometimes we can over-kill an ene-my and thereby make friends and sympathizers for his cause. Let us fervenetly hope and pray that this may be the current situation where the issue of states' and civil rights are being fought stubbornly in the halls of Congress.

The current campa'gn against the Negro is the nation's dirty work and as such cannot be singled off by the Negro and the nation. This scurritous campaign is just as threatening as the wave

Integration At Home Lags Behind Air Force Abroad

Integration, which is still a burning issue in America, is no longer a major problem in the United States Air Forces in Europe, according to the March issue of EBONY Magazine.

In Germany and France, the magazine reports. Negroes are commanding white men and white men are commanding Negroes without friction or fuss. In the churches, which are at least 20 years ahead of civilian churches. Negro chaplains are administering to predominantly-white congregations.

A Negro, EBONY reveals, is one of the top four officers in the US AFE (United States Air Forces in Europe) command, Major General Benjamin Oliver Davis, former commander of the famed 99th Pursuit Squadron, is deputy chief of staff for operations. He is the highest ranking Negro officer in armed services history. As operations chief, Major General Davis supervises the heart of the USAFE command, the combat arm. Should war come US AFE fighters, bombers and missiles will bear the brunt of the West's is Davis' job to prepare USAFE for its mission. No other Negro in American history, the magazine says has been entrusted with such a heavy responsibility.

EBONY reporters traveled 9,000 miles to background the photo story. Airmen and officers interviewed said the program, which began in 1949 is working well. But they listed several areas of tension. Love is one problem. There are periodic crises over German and French women and Negro men. Intermarriage is also a sore thumb.

Most Negro officers said, however, that they are treated fairly by their white colleagues and commanders Captain William King, a chaplain from Talladega, Alabama, put it this way. "The battle has been fought and won in here and nobody thinks of it anymore. Before the integration program started, a man who was for integration had to be pretty shrewd to keep out of trouble. Now if you are against it, you have to be pretty shrewd to stay out of trouble."

Dr. Mays Speaks In Norfolk, Va.

Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College of Atlanta, Ga., called for travelers on the high road of life where men recognize the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man in his address here last week at the preaching mission at the Norfolk Arena.

Speaking at the mission which is now interracial and unsegregated, Dr. Mays said only those who choose to walk on the high road of life are really free. They are free from race hatred and prejudice, be said.

About 1,800 people heard the educator who was introduced as a leader in the field of education and race relations. There was a small three-fourths of the people in attendance were Negroes.

White people have dropped out since the 1954 Supreme Court desegregation decision. And recent developments, the latest being the sit-down protest against counter segregation, clearly are driving lots of white people in Virginia and other sections of the South away from anything resembling racial integration even though it be a matter of religious worship.

First Negro As Police Lieutenant

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ANP) On March 1, the nation's capital got it's first Negro plainclothes police lieutenant. He is Det. Sgt. Shirley F. O'Neill, a much com-mended veteran of 18 years on the police force.

He became the first Negro plain-clothesman to reach that rank in the records of the Metropolitan Police Department.

Another Negro, Lt. Daniel D. Pittman, held the rank of lieutenant when he retired in 1955 but he was
