Ford Rd. School 6-Year Reading Project Praised

A report on a six-year reading project started last September at Ford Road School was given last week by the principal, Isaiah Goodrich, before a capacity audience which included Superintendent of Shelby County Schools George H. Barnes.

The project was started with the knowledge that there exists a definite need for raising the reading ability of many students in all county and city schools.

"This experimental project was designed to diagnose, then improve the reading abilities and habits of the pupils at Ford Road School, with emphasis on the use of the various word recognition skills and improvement in comprehension," said Principal Goodrich.

As an initial step, a committee of teachers and parents was organized to do research on techniques and materials used in similar studies.

One of the barriers in coping with the reading problem of the pupils successfully was the wide range of abilities at each grade level. Since reading is the one factor that influences most learning in other subjects, the pupils were grouped by the teachers according to their reading performance in previous classrooms activities and results from reading achievement test scores.

Sparkling Talent At Universal Life

The personnel of Universal Life Insurance Company's Home Office, 480 Linden, was surprised to find so much new and dormant talent in their midst. This talent was uncovered by three members of Universal's Sub-Forum Committee charged with the responsibility for the April Forum Hour.

Determined to fulfill their charge, Miss Aurelia Rodman, Mrs. Florence Williams and Mrs. Le Eleanor Benson scouted the building in search of talent. The result was 10 acts performed by nine young ladies, excluding the chairman, Miss Rodman, who led devotion, and Mrs. Williams, a committee member, who introduced newcomers and assured the program's continuity with her wit and finesse as mistress of ceremonies.

The program was many-sided. Mrs. Elma Tunstall Isabell started the talent show with "Wine and Roses" sung to the music of Robert Talley. Other soloists were Mrs. Louise Polk, who sang "Somewhere over the Rainbow," also with Robert Talley, and Mrs. Marguerite Moseley, singing "Misty," accompanied by Miss Griselda Brooks. Pope John Said "Gravely Ill"

VATICAN CITY - (UPI) - Pope John XXIII lay gravely ill Monday night with a disease that steadily sapped his strength. Hushed crowds assembled outside his palace to pray.

A team of three doctors was in constant attendance on the 81-year old pontiff whose internal hemorrhages have greatly weakened him. They were reported giving blood transfusions and other treatment but fears increased for the Pope's life.

The Milan newspaper Corriere Della Sera said the Pope told a man who visited him recently that: "I know very well what is the matter with me and I also know that I have only three or four weeks of life."

There were increasing reports the pontiff was suffering from cancer and the same paper quoted Dr. Piero Mazzoni, one of the three attending physicians, as saying, "We are in the hands of God rather than science."

CANCER REPORTS VARY Official Vatican statements gave the impression that the pontiff was rallying from what was described as stomach trouble and "acute anemia." The Vatican has not confirmed or denied published reports he is suffering from cancer.

Vatican spokesmen said Monday night the Pope's condition "continued its improvement" during the afternoon.

Private Vatican statements did not echo the optimism of official statements but said the Pope was lucid. Clement Cardinal Micara, the Pope's vicar, said Monday the pontiff would not be able to attend a Corpus Christi procession scheduled almost three weeks hence.

The Pope's illness raised doubts whether he would be able to meet President Kennedy late in June. There was no official cancellation. However, Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger was scheduled Monday to discuss the Vatican and Rome visits.

New Rights Bills Aimed At Schools And Businesses

WASHINGTON - (NNPA) - Two Senators, one a Democrat and the other a Republican, told a press conference on May 22 that two new civil rights bills they are sponsoring have "a good chance" of passage.

One bill would permit the Attorney General to sue school boards which fail to undertake desegregation plans, while the other would ban racial discrimination in state-licensed hotels, theaters and restaurants.

Senators John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) and Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) said the two bills, which make up the second and third in their "package of civil rights bills," were slated for introduction on Thursday.

Their first bill was a voting rights measure prohibiting literacy tests unless equally applied to all persons. It was introduced last Feb. 4.

Mr. Cooper said the bill won the support of 26 other Senators and its provisions were subsequently written into the Administration's voting rights bill.

The public schools bill authorizes the Attorney General to initiate suits in the name of the United

Mt. Pisgah News

By BARBARA FLEMING AND BARBARA CASH

On May 28, 1963 commencement exercise was held in the gymnasium for the graduating class. With this outstanding class leaving our campus, we, the principal, faculty, and remaining student body, extend our wishes for your success.

It's been a wonderful year for everyone. We're looking for everybody back in September to make Mt. Pisgah famous in her beginning ninth year. The teachers were nice to the student body and we want them to know that we appreciate their concern for our futures.

As we glance back on the ending term we think of our basketball team that did a wonderful job the past season. We're losing a few of our men. Namely, Captain Herbert Brooks, co-captain Cleathur Morris, trainer Paton Smith and Willie Smith. Our coach, Mr. James Scott has accomplished a job well done.

We're looking for a good team this year also. Some of the boys you can look for are, Alton Ivy, Sammy Morris, Charles Herndon, William Gatlin, Clyde Brooks and Earl Brooks. From these and others will come a good team, and we know they aren't going to let us down.

On May 16, the Band and Glee Club held their third annual musical under the supervision of Mrs. Mal Hunt and Mr. Archie Bradley. We want to thank all the parents and friends for coming out.

As we look around the campus we see some of the top couples that you can look for in September. Some are J. B. Stout and Rob Mae Cash, Clyde Brooks and Beatrice Bonds, Carolyn Herring and Clinton Prescott, Barbara Fleming and Earl Brooks.

What would happen next term if a certain girl would quit fibbing on everybody.

Beverly could see William every day.

Clyde and Beatrice, Barbara and Earl would go steady.

Questions: Beverly who will you make eyes at next term?

Barbara Oash will you find the key and unlock your heart?

Sammy will you rescue Hattie B's drowning heart?

Dedications: The Love of My Man - Beverly and William.

Give Me A Chance - Hattie and Sammy.

We whistled into Washington, D. C. last weekend and it was a delightful two days of activities as I think back over the events that happened a bit too fast for me to think joining me in the Nation's Capital was an old friend, Mrs. T. R. M. Howard (Helen) of Chicago and we were guests at The Statler Hilton Hotel.

of last week in Nashville. The Ellands were all ears to hear from their old and close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Maceo Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Sallie Bartholomew and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Humes (who formerly lived in D. C.) and sent hello to every one around that they know. Again they sent a special hello to Dr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers and Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Speight, referring affectionately to Mrs. Speight as "Bootsie". We must tell you that Pastel Room at the Shoreham was a kingly spot where a Combo (a four-man twist band) dressed in bright colors to go with the decor of the room, made twisters out of the non-twisters and occasionally they played a Conventional tune.

The Red Carpet was very definitely rolled out several times over the week-end. Among those making things pleasant for us were Mrs. Robble Thompson who met me at the airport early. Mrs. Lula Lewis, Consultant in the Travel Section of U. S. I. A. and her stately mother, Mrs. Jessie Poole. Mrs. Clarice Wade, Manager of the Center of Operations in the Cultural Division, Information Service Center Service, U. S. I. A. Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, just back from Diplomatic Services in the Far East. Mrs. Cecelia Westerstrom of the Passport and Visa Division of the State Department. Mr. Leonard Atwell and Mr. Keith Balles, Personnel Officer of the Far East.

The Pen and Sword Room at the Statler got to be our favorite spot for eating. Among the many friends that we chatted with were Dr. and Mrs. Willard Dean who have relatives here, Dr. W. B. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Woods and the Sugarmons. Mrs. Cora Flاند, a native and long time prominent matron in Memphis. Simeon Booker, Jet Representative in D. C. Helen and I even took time out to tour the White House.

Others extending courtesies were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arlington (member of Helen's family). Dr. and Mrs. James Carpenter (she the former Emmette Harris of Memphis) who is a beauty and forcefully bright at their hillside mansion on Argyle. Incidentally Mrs. Carpenter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Carpenter of Hyde Park Street, Memphis and sister of the popular couple, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Harris in Evergreen Gardens, Memphis. We spent much of the early evening (where we had dinner with) Dr. and Mrs. J. Thomas (she Wilhelmina who is an incredibly well read matron who is principal of a Washington, D. C. School.

Miss Peggie Cox was maid of honor. She wore a lovely pink chiffon gown and she too carried white orchids. Floyd Harrison, Jr. was best man.

The bride was graduated from Tennessee State University and is now an instructor at the A. B. Hill Elementary School.

Mr. Spraggins, is a graduate of the Franklin School of Science and Arts and is presently employed as Medical Technologist at the E. H. Crump Hospital and Medical Associates Clinic.

Also claiming interest on the Spring calendar is the recent marriage of Marshall Maple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Maple to Miss Earline Purdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Purdy also of Memphis.

The pretty young bride was graduated from Manassas High School and was a recent graduate of the John Gaston Practical Nursing School and is now serving as a Practical Nurse.

Mr. Maple was also graduated from Manassas High School and received his B. A. Degree from A. M. and N. State College at Pine Bluff after which he served two years in the United States Army as a Specialist in the S-4 Property Branch Office. He is now working at his first Alma Mater, Manassas, as an English Teacher.

According to MRS. ALMA BOOTH, General Chairman of the Sickle Cell Anemia Drive, you are invited to a Reception on Friday June 7 to be given at the University of Tennessee Student Center.

Dr. Clara Brawner arrived home last week with her younger sister, MISS ALPHA BRAWNER who is in with a broken leg. Miss Brawner made her New York's Townhall recital last winter. The young artist is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Jeff Brawner.

MR. THOMAS HARRIS, JR. is much improved after an automobile accident and is home with his family.

MRS. ANN WEATHERS and her young daughter, Letitia were in Kalamazoo, Michigan last week for a visit with Mrs. Weather's son, Walter Hall who is quite a guy around the campus.

Lakeview School In Closing Play
Lakeview Elementary School staged a closing play last Monday in the school's auditorium. The three-act play was entitled: "The Prince Who Could Not Dance." ## Witnesses Seek Extension Of Civil Rights Commission

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — Five witnesses told a Senate Constitutional Rights Subcommittee Tuesday that the life of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission should be extended for at least another four years. The commission, headed by Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University, will go out of business this year unless Congress votes it new life. The lead-off witness, Sen. Philip A. Hart (D.-Mich.) said the commission has "done an excellent job" of investigating and reporting on civil rights since it was created in 1957. He pointed to the "quicken pace of the effort by American Negroes to achieve their full civil rights" and said good information, and the communication of it, is needed now more than ever. "If Birmingham teaches us anything," he said, "it illustrates what happens in a community when the lines of communication between the races fail, and what happens when a sizeable portion of American citizens are frustrated beyond the breaking point in their efforts to exercise the most basic rights of citizenship."

Episcopal Church Asks Members To Aid Rights Drive

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church issued an extraordinary personal appeal Saturday to 3.5 million American Episcopalians to become "actively involved" in the fight for Negro rights. In a pastoral letter that will be read Sunday morning from the pulpits of many Episcopal churches, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger warned of "the possible imminence of catastrophe" unless American society acts more swiftly to grant the "legitimate" demands of Negroes for basic human rights. He said the Episcopal Church has "made clear on many occasions" its conviction that racial discrimination is contrary to the teaching of Christ. But there is now "urgent need to demonstrate by specific actions" that the church is fighting on the side of "those who are victims of oppression."

that it includes a provision restricting rather than broadening its rules. Another member of the subcommittee, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R.-N. Y.) charged that, as a result of the commission's report, "We are compelled to admit" the federal government "is a financial partner in practices designed to perpetuate segregation in hospitals, in public libraries and even in research programs..." ## Children Should Play in Their Own Yards And Not Disturb Neighbors

DEAR MARY: Now that school is nearly out and beautiful days are ahead please write something about the children who annoy the neighbors, litter the streets and yards with paper, sticks and stones, and in general make pests of themselves running across other's grass and getting into flower beds, screaming and yelling. In the neighborhood where I live the people all have large yards both back and front and I feel the children should play in their own yards and not in those of the neighbors who have no children. Good neighborhood relations can be spoiled by undisciplined behavior of children. Won't you please write about this? MRS. F. A. O. DEAR MRS. F. A. O. You have covered the subject very well by describing the behavior and suggesting a solution. I hope parents will read and cooperate by keeping up with their children. DEAR MARY: My sister has been sneaking out with a married man for about three months and lies to our mother about where she is going and who with. Whenever I say anything to her about it she tells me I am jealous and says she will beat me up if I tell on her. Should I tell mother? DEAR BROTHER: Ordinarily I would say yes, tell your mother, but since she has been going on for three months I have a sneaking suspicion that your mother already knows and for reasons of her own has said nothing. You do the same.

Council Hails "Sit-In" Decision Of High Court

The Executive Committee of the Southern Regional Council Saturday made the following statement:

"By its decisions of May 20, 1963 in the 'sit-in' cases, the Supreme Court moved our law a long step nearer the American ideal of equal rights.

"These decisions confront the South again with an historic choice. They set before us a renewed opportunity for the kind of magnanimity - and intelligence - which we turned our backs on in 1954. The South nine years ago was called on by the national will for greatness; instead, it responded with a self-blighting display of malice and futility. The recent events in Birmingham are only the latest episode of this impoverishing of the regional spirit.

"The Court's decision of May 20 came, however, at a time of promising events as well. In several southern cities - Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro, Knoxville, and Nashville among others - there has arisen an unprecedented awareness among civic leaders that segregation must end, without delay, in all public and business services.

"Equality is an American ideal. It has become also a practical necessity. But it is first of all an issue of human decency.

NEEDS OUTGROWN

"In the United States, and particularly in the South, we are adopting measures which already are outgrown by Negro needs and impatience. Had we years ago vigorously defended voting rights in the courts, had we made beginnings in the desegregation of public accommodations and fair services, had we established rules to protect fair and equal employment rights, had we done these and other like things then - which we are beginning to do now - they might have been in time. They are not any longer.

"The legitimate unrest of Negro citizens requires a statesmanship adequate for the times, from national, state, and local governments, and from private businesses.

"We need to turn from the mere defense of voting rights against criminal violation to the positive assurance of voting rights; from token school desegregation to a loving concern for the education of all our children. We need in all of American life to accept and benefit from each other.

"Negro Southerners, supported by white people of good will, have been the South's moral leaders these last few years. The whole region and the nation owe them a debt for what they have accomplished, and for their continued faith in American institutions.

We need, in the spirit of Judge Tuttle's ruling of May 22 regarding

PASTOR,
MISSISSIPPI BLVD. CHRISTIAN CHURCH

WE ARE PILGRIMS

Text: "We Are Pilgrims" (The Bible) Heb. 11:13

"Life is like a mountain railroad with an engineer that's brave we must make the run successful from the cradle to the grave."

Life is like a railroad journey. We are but pilgrims.

I recall a journey... a journey I made which left with me a lasting and vivid impression of the aspects of pilgrimage accompanying travel via railroad. It was my journey on the railroad to Washington, D. C. A journey freighted with many rich lessons for every pilgrim.

My first lesson accompanying this journey was a lesson of faith, confidence... trust. I boarded the train in Memphis. I wasn't afraid, I wasn't worried. I just took it for granted that the engineer would take me on to my destination. I had faith in his skill. I was confident that the construction and operation of the locomotive would get me to Washington. So, I remained calm, and poised, and at ease as I began my journey.

In life, I'll keep my pulse. I'll keep calm. My heavenly Father is the "engineer" on the train of life. I cannot understand it. It is good that I can't. For a God comprehended is no god at all.

To continue my journey to Washington... Soon after leaving Memphis I fell asleep. But before surrendering myself to the arms of morpheus I thought of the words in the 127th Psalm "He giveth His beloved sleep" words as beautiful as a strain of heavenly music. So I thanked God for sleep. I awoke the next morning. God had not forgotten me. He had not forgotten to hand out the sun. I looked out of the car window.

I saw the mountains... the Blue Ridge, the Smokies. I said, "that is God's love piled up." I looked down into the deep valleys. I said, "that is God's love deep down." I saw the fields of waving corn, the gardens, the apple trees, and other varieties of trees "looking at God all day, and lifting their leafy arms to pray." I said, "that is God's magnificence." I saw the grazing cattle, the marble quarries, the streams of water, the fields. I said, "that is God's loving providence stored up and growing up."

I watched the sheep nibbling the wet grass. I thought "All we, like sheep, have gone astray."

As we progressed toward Washington a series of vivid kaleidoscopic impressions registered on my consciousness. Bridge across deep chasms... a lesson to the pilgrim I thought of a bridge built by God, a bridge that cannot break... strengthened and secured by two wooden beams... and their form is the form of a cross. He... Jesus... will draw all men across that bridge.

Around the winding curves we traveled. A lesson to the pilgrim that if we cannot go through, we will go around.

We travelled. People, people, people I saw. Some... to me... funny looking... all sizes, all heights, all shapes, all shades. I said to myself "all these are God's children, and he wants me to love them, one and all. For, if you want to see Jesus, you've got to love everybody."

Soon rain clouds shrouded the heavens and then the rain, rain, rain, rain... in a few hours, and again the sunshine. How like life... "into each life some rain must fall; some days must be dark and dreary."

Again night fall... a thrilling sight-the moon was like a giant yellow chrysanthemum in a garden of twinkling stars. I said, "that is God's huge flower garden."

Then other lights... lesser light... the lights of the nation's capital... a lesson: "Man is the keeper of the lesser lights... the lower lights."

Yes, life is like a nation's railroads. And we are traveling at the rate of sixty heart-beats per minute. But we are not afraid. Why?

"Blessed Jesus, thou wilt guide us, till we reach the blissful shore, where the angels wait to join us in that sweet forevermore!"

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Selassie Hails JFK Efforts To End Race Bias

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia - (UPI) - Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie, who hosted the recent African summit conference, Tuesday praised President Kennedy's efforts to combat racial discrimination in the United States. Selassie told newsmen he will visit Kennedy in Washington later this year. He specified no date.

The Emperor noted that a resolution passed by the African conference was softened in its condemnation of racial discrimination in the United States. It also recognized the Kennedy administration's efforts to ease the situation.

TUBMAN SUGGESTS CHANGES

He said the changes in the resolution were made at the instigation of Liberian President William V. S. Tubman.

"I am of the same opinion," Selassie said, "in view of the fact that the United States government is doing its best to discard racial discrimination."

The independent nations of Africa plan to support the "peaceful liberation" of the continent, the Emperor said, and will contribute a percentage of their income to liberation movements in the remaining colonies.

"ONLY GOD KNOWS"

"But if peaceful means do not succeed, only time and God know what will happen."

The summit conference which ended here last week approved proposals for African unity and for helping Africans in dependent territories achieve sovereignty. Selassie said he believes African heads of state should meet once a year for five to ten years until the projected new organization of African unity is well established. He said he personally is satisfied with the results of the summit conference of 38 heads of state.

Judge Tuttle Shows Humanitarian Qualities In Law In Birmingham School Board Ruling

Nothing better illustrates the humanitarian qualities of the order of Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle overruling the expulsion and suspension of some 1,000 pupils from the Birmingham Public Schools, because they participated in demonstrations.

Judge Tuttle displayed broad concern not only for the progress and welfare of the pupils, but more basic for the economic status of their parents, in knocking out a ruling of U.S. District Judge Clarence Allgood, which refused the children permission to return to their classes.

The jurist in ordering Theo R. Wright, Birmingham school superintendent, to inform immediately all principals of the system that the letter ordering the students suspended because they had been arrested for participation in integration demonstrations, had been rescinded, showed infinite concern for the pupils, who were about to be denied completion of a semester's work.

There is vast significance in Judge Tuttle's ruling although no one would question the fundamental right of school authorities to discipline their pupils. This basic right is untainted by his order to the Birmingham school board. His philosophy strikes to the roots of the question of interrupted education under any guise of pretext.

Judge Tuttle boldly states that in his order which reads: "On the record before me it appears shocking that a board of education, interested in the education of children, should thus destroy the value of one term of schooling for so many children at a time when all persons professionally interested in the education process and the welfare of young people are bending their efforts towards minimizing school dropouts and emphasizing the need for continuing education..."

While Judge Tuttle noted that while this was not the basis for his order, it was "based upon a clear right to the relief sought..."

Judge Tuttle has not negated the right of school authorities to maintain broad control of student discipline. He understands that education must be obtained in the classroom and not in the street.

The solution, as Judge Tuttle sees it, is not remedied by the harsh extreme of expulsion or suspension, when the school year is so near complete.

Serious Campaign Pledges And Their Prices

It is a pity we have a hangover of politicians who owe their being to the spurious campaign promises they have been allowed to make. These date beyond Gov. Faubus and his school that sprang into full swing after the court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

Gov. Faubus, of Arkansas, was the first governor to at least indirectly attempt to thwart the decision of a federal court over the integration issue. And unfortunately, the white voters of Arkansas saw fit to reelect him, apparently in support of his segregation stand.

Then came along Governor Ross Barnett, of Mississippi, who not only set himself up as registrar of the University of Mississippi, but his action provoked violence and caused the death of two men as well as injuries to many people.

Now coming upon the scene is Governor Wallace, of Alabama, who vouches for the same promises to stand in the door of the University of Alabama to attempt physically to bar the entrance of any Negro to register in that institution.

Of course the efforts of Gov. Wallace will prove futile, just as were those of Faubus and Barnett. But regardless how the situation comes out, we suspect Wallace will say, "I did all I could, but the federal government was too strong." Moreover, it is probable that the white voters of Alabama will fall for this explanation.

Of course the nation's stock will depreciate, the tax payers will foot an additional bill, but what do things like these matter to men who have bid cards they did not hold and made promises they could not keep?

Resistance to desegregation by certain states rights officials in some southern states seems still to pay off. But after the final court adjudications in the Barnett and Wallace cases, perhaps it will be a different story. In the meantime we hope more persons will become qualified and vote and strengthen the two party system. Then the voters can put some party responsibility on more of their officials, and candidates who take an extreme position where the race issue is concerned.

President Kennedy And Congress Must Lead Fight Against Race Discrimination

During President Kennedy's most recent news conference, in which he was quoted as saying that he is conferring with top governmental officials on the possibility of instituting new Civil Rights legislation, seems to have struck at the core of the problem involving racial discrimination in America.

Leading exponents of racial equality have insisted all along that the federal government must lead the fight through the sponsoring of legislation which would prevent discrimination in the broad areas of American life, where the Negro is systematically excluded.

The Atlanta Negro Voters League and the Fifth Congressional District of the Georgia Voters League, organizations not given to making light-hearted gestures, recently petitioned the President and both Houses of Congress to "lend their influence to the adopting of legislation which would enable the Department of Justice to initiate or assist in the desegregation of any public school or college where such action has not already been taken."

Gloster B. Current, director of NAACP national branches, was heard to say last week: "We want more action from the President... we want the federal government to have the power to intervene affirmatively in order to guarantee basic constitutional rights."

Current also called on Kennedy to enact Part III which was omitted from the Civil Rights package of 1957 and 1960. He said the Department of Justice "must have a strengthened hand to deal with states and municipalities which are today maintaining rigid segregation practices by police state methods."

We firmly concur that the President of the United States and the Congress must institute positive legislation, rather than mere lip-service and token action, if America is to soon shake off the chains of discrimination within minority groups.

Uganda Minister Raps U. S. Bias (Birmingham Style) At Africa Meet

Hits Image Of Archtype Democracy Before World

By WILLIAM A. PAYNE

(ANP United Nations Correspondent)

ADDIS ABABA — (ANP) — Prime Minister Apollo Milton Obote of Uganda, taking time out from the historic African summit meeting here released an open letter to President Kennedy in which he assailed the United States for attempting to project its image before the world as the archetype of democracy and the champion of freedom when people of African descent are not free in America. He was responding to a message that the U.S. President had sent to the conference.

Northside Boys Challenge All Super Stock Cars

By EMEL J. SCOTT, JR.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(GNS)—The Northside Boys racing team has challenged all super stock cars, including Chevys, Fords and Pontiacs, this Saturday night. They have a new '63 Dodge (Ramcharger) which has 413 h.p. and 426 cu. in.

The Northside Boys racing team, stationed at the corner of Northside Drive and Jones Ave., are positive that they will bring home the super stock money this Saturday night by defeating Wallace "Fox" Jones in the '62 Ford, the Johnson Brothers, Joe "Jo Jo" Johnson in his '61 406 Ford, Roosevelt Johnson driving his '63 427 Ford, which he calls "White Lightning," Pete "Fireball" Lester in his 406 Chevy, which reads "Come on let me show you where its at," and Thomas "T.V." Holcombe, driving his 409 Chevy, the Hustler, also Little Jack with his 425 Chevy 63.

There will be a rerun for the super stock class this week end because of the rain which started as the super stock cars were called to the line. Two of the cars got a chance to run before the rain; they were Fireball and Fox. The Fox won but only by a car length. This will also be a rerun.

It seems that Fireball is running better every week. Saturday night, Fireball closed the gap from two car lengths to one. Pete had the Fox all the way by a half car length, but about 40 feet from the finish line Pete dropped a push rod which enabled Fox to ease by a little. It seems that both of the Dodge drivers and two of the owners which are Vernon Daniels (Lavern) and James (Cloud) are going to have to learn a little more about getting the Dodge off the line, and after that is done, it should be easy to push the buttons without missing.

Time trials begin at 7:30, eliminations begin promptly at 9:30, and after this time, no other cars may class up. The 4th of July there will be $1,000.00 prize money for all classes. All super stock cars are asked to be there at 8:30, so everyone will know which cars are to run the return match from last week—a drivers meeting, Houston Bros. Drag Strip, Fairburn, Ga.

Obote, whose East African country was granted independence from Britain October 9, 1962, declared that while the African Foreign Ministers conference which met earlier had attacked segregation in dependent African territories, "the situation in Alabama is not much different."

The Uganda leader said the foreign ministers had passed resolutions against the apartheid (segregationist) government of South Africa, condemned the racial policies of the Portuguese in Angola and Mozambique, and attacked the white supremacist rule of the white settlers in Southern Rhodesia.

REFERS TO BIRMINGHAM

"One feels that there is an iron curtain which has been drawn over the events that have been taking place in Birmingham, Alabama, in the United States," Obote said during a press conference. He charged that even while the conference was in session Negroes have been blasted with fire hoses, cranked up to such pressure that the water could strip the bark off trees.

"The police have deliberately set snarling dogs upon our own kith and kin," the Uganda prime minister continued. "The only offenses which these people have committed are that they are black and that they have demanded the right to be free and to hold their heads up as equal citizens of the United States."

Obote's most dramatic statement and one which should convince any cynics about Africa's interest in the American Negro came when he declared for the world to know:

"We in Africa, who have borne the white man's burden for decades and centuries, who have fought for and attained the self-same right that the American Negroes are now striving for, feel that our own freedom and independence would be a mere sham if our black brethren elsewhere in Africa and in the United States still remain in political, social and economic bondage."

Freedom For 9 Freedom Walkers Sought By SNCC

Officials of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee announced Monday the beginning of a nation-wide petition campaign to free nine imprisoned Freedom Walkers who were arrested moments after they crossed the Alabama State line on May 3.

Nine white and Negro men from SNCC and the Congress of Racial Equality are now in Kibby State Prison, Montgomery, Alabama. Other walkers, arrested this week, are in the Etowah County Jail near Gadsden.

SNCC officials in Atlanta reported that a petition drive has already been started by the New York Friends of SNCC, 5 Beekman Street, New York City.

The nine men took up the walk of William Moore, a Baltimore postal employee slain on route 11 April 23. Moore had been making a trek from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss., where he hoped to present a letter to Gov. Ross Barnett asking for human relations based on mutual respect.

Jury Deliberating Black Muslims' Fate Locked Up

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — An all-Caucasian jury, deliberating the fate of 14 members of the black Muslim cult accused of assault during a riot against police on May 25, was locked up for the weekend.

Superior Judge David Coleman ordered the panel of 10 women and two men to return to an undisclosed downtown hotel and to return to court Mon. to resume deliberations. The jurors began weighing the case earlier Saturday.

Authorities maintained a tight secrecy over the activities of the panel. They would not give the name of the hotel and would only say the jurors would "take a bus ride" Sunday.

Coleman instructed the panel and formally placed the case in its hands Friday. Then the panel was locked up in the hotel for the night.

During the street riot last April 27 outside a Muslim temple here, one sect member was shot and killed, six more were wounded and seven policemen were injured. The melee began when 2 officers started to question two Negroes about a load of clothing in their parked car.

Thirteen of the culprits face felony assault charges. The 14th, John Morris, a Black Muslim minister, was charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

'Unite Or Perish' Nkrumah Warns

ADDIS ABABA — (NNPA) — "There is no time to waste — we must unite or perish," is the warning given last Monday by President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana to the "summit" meeting of 31 African states.

Mr. Nkrumah described the three-day meeting of the chiefs of African states as a "most historic occasion."

He said he was confident that "by our concerted efforts and determination we shall lay the foundation for a continental union of African states."

But observers, noting that Ghana had not submitted such a plan to the conference, said the idea apparently received only cool support from the other African states.

Two Agriculture Employees Get Superior Service Awards

WASHINGTON — A home economist of the Missouri Cooperative Extension Service, who believes in going "the second mile," and a chauffeur for five Secretaries of Agriculture, who always tries to provide the "little extras," received Superior Service Awards last Friday from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The honorees are Mrs. Ella B. Stackhouse of Kansas City, Mo., and Bernard E. Richardson of Washington, D. C. They and 79 others received honor awards — certificates, medals, and lapel emblems — from Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman during Honor Award Ceremonies on the Washington Monument Grounds.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, speaker for the occasion, told some 3,000 USDA employees who were in attendance: "I am proud to join with you in recognizing these of your co-workers in the Department of Agriculture for their outstanding individual contributions to the greater well-being of the nation."

FARM AND HOME WORK — Mrs. Stackhouse was honored for her unusually successful farm and home improvement work with rural Negro families in Pemiscot and Dunklin counties where she served as associate home demonstration agent from 1944 until last fall when she was transferred to Kansas City. In her new post, Mrs. Stackhouse will advise urban families on ways of improving homes and family living. The Missouri Extension Service, which emphasizes the home economist's willingness to go "the second mile," explains that she will help organize and serve community improvement clubs in Kansas City.

Mrs. Stackhouse was born in Clarksdale, Miss. She holds a B. S. degree from Lincoln University of Missouri, and an M. S. from Cornell.

Mr. Richardson, a native of Chattanooga, Tenn., came to work for the Department in 1942 as the chauffeur for Secretary Claude R. Wickard, and has stayed on to serve Secretaries Clinton P. Anderson, Charles F. Brannan, Ezra Taft Benson, and Orville L. Freeman.

In recommending him for the award, Secretary Freeman said, "Mr. Richardson is always most cooperative and cheerful and makes every effort to provide the little extras in the way of service which distinguishes between the good employee and the superior one."

Prior to joining the Department Mr. Richardson worked for the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Airline Railroads.

Federal Help For Prince Edward Students Sought

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has been petitioned by the NAACP for federal assistance in solving problems of Negro youngsters in Prince Edward County, Va. school — less since 1959.

Officials closed public schools there rather than comply with a court ruling ordering desegregation. Prince Edward County was one of the governmental units cited in the Supreme Court ruling on Jim Crow schools on May 17, 1954.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, who conveyed the request to the President on May 13, noted the announcement by the Department of Justice that some remedial educational program will be sponsored by the federal government.

The petition signed by 695 Negro citizens of Prince Edward County, asked for a survey on the size and nature of the educational problems involved in re-establishing public schools, and for a comprehensive program designed to help children prepare for the reopening of schools.

The latter would include: a rapid learning program for illiterate children; a strong remedial program; and a specially designed project aimed at challenging the older children to finish their education.

The NAACP noted that American "has sent specialists to distant lands to help distressed people."

"The children of Prince Edward County need a program which will match in purpose, scope and quality, the best social and technical assistance project which our government has done anywhere in the world," the petition asserts.

In a related statement, Dr. John A. Morsell, assistant to the NAACP's executive secretary, said the NAACP and the Virginia Teachers Association will conduct a temporary instructional program this summer if federal assistance is not ready by then.

The teachers group, headed by Dr. J. Rupert Picott, will supervise the utilization of student teacher groups such as the Queens College, N. Y., contingent, Dr. Morsell said.

Lasker Fellowships Awarded To Grads

NEW YORK — Three young women graduates of three United Negro College Fund schools have been awarded 1963 Florida and Louisa Lasker Fellowships for graduate study in American universities of their choice. It is announced by W. J. Trent Jr., executive director of the Fund.

All are honor students and campus leaders. They are: Jeanette D. Edwards of Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va.; Carolyn L. Rooks of Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala.; and Evalina Williams of Bennett College, Greensboro, N. C.

The purpose of the Lasker Fellowships, Mr. Trent said, "is to seek out senior women at our Fund's member institutions who possess exceptional ability, personality, and leadership qualities — and to help some of them by financing all or part of their first year of graduate study."

"Since the establishment of the Lasker Fellowship program in 1950, 30 young women have received grants under it, and 15 of them have achieved their master's degrees. Twenty-seven award winners had studied under fellowships at the end of the current academic year and 24 of them successfully completed their first year of advanced study. Only three, through circumstances beyond their control, were unable to carry through. This 13-year record is most satisfying and encouraging."

Sunday School Lesson

LIGHT FROM GOD'S LAW

International Sunday School Lesson for June 2, 1963.

MEMORY SELECTION: "The precept of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart; the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes." — (Psalms 119:33-40)

LESSON TEXT: Psalms 119:33-40; 105-112; 19: 7-14.

Continuing our study of the Psalms, today we endeavor to help people discover how God's law gives spiritual direction for living.

The three portions of two psalms that comprise our Scripture all express a devout man's love for the law of God. As with everything else in life, any discussion of the law of God among Christians will bring forth many attitudes. These attitudes often vary, not at the point of keeping the laws, but rather in the motivation for keeping them. The fundamental difference lies in the purpose and meaning of obedience.

Some people obey the law unquestioningly, in so far as is possible, because they are terrified to do otherwise. To them God is a taskmaster, a tyrant, a despot. Fear is the dominant motive in relationship to him. Others obey from a sense of expediency. These people may seek to obey God's laws to play safe in case He really exists. We must not, however judge such persons harshly; have we not sometimes refused to do the wrong, but because we felt we might get caught? Almost every human being, at one time or another in his life, has been faced with a situation such as this.

How often have we heard it said to a child — or even been guilty of it ourselves — "You must be a good girl (or boy) or no one will like you." Applying the same attitude in our own personal relationship with God is not too different. But, strange as it seems, God loves us whether we are good or bad. This is the joyous good

OBEBYING GOD'S LAW

Some seek security in obeying God's laws as they understand them. Such people see every action or possible action as either black or white. Whenever they are faced by a difficult decision, they simply find a law that they feel applies to the situation and act accordingly. Then they can leave the responsibility to God. And at the opposite extreme is the person known to the early church as an "antinomian," one who was "against the law." The most extreme of these believed that Christ had so fulfilled the law that he eliminated its purpose completely. Therefore, no one was bound by it. Christ died that men may do what they please knowing that God will love them.

How blessed is that Christian who obeys God's laws not from fear, expediency, expectation of reward, or the desire for security, but because of his love for God. This is the motivation for which the antinomians were searching. However, we are not so much free from law as we are free to live in Christ's love, to do what Christ within our souls approves. If Christ's spirit leads us, we are called to highly disciplined living.

WE MUST PRAY — We must pray: "Give me understanding." For if we understand some of the reasons for the laws, we find it easier to observe them with the whole heart. We must

New Miami Bank To Begin Operations

MIAMI — (ANP) — More than $1,000,000 was subscribed to the Roosevelt Savings and Loan Association at an organizational meeting held at the Seville hotel, Miami Beach.

A 12-man board comprised of seven whites and five Negroes was selected to direct Miami's second integrated savings and loan association. Dr. Elmer A. Ward, pioneer businessman and ardent civic worker, was selected president. Other officers are Garth C. Reeves and Irving Kipnis, vice president; Mrs. Dana Dorsey Chapman, secretary; Hervert Wallach, treasurer and John B. Orr Jr., chairman of the board.

Board members include Mrs. Athalie Range, Frank M. Buchanan, Dr. Stanley Weinkle, Leonard Treister, Lyle Roberts and Charles R. Hadley. Roosevelt S and L will open for business July 1.

pray: "Lead Me . . . in addition to knowledge and understanding, we need the close relationship with God expressed in this prayer. God is not commanding — "Go on alone." He is with us, leading. The laws of God and his love shown in Christ are never in conflict, although our understandings of his laws may be. But the love of Christ must bind us to gether. Furthermore, indulgence is not the same as love. In order to be truly good, a doctor must sometimes hurt. Similarly, good laws may, in the long run, be one of the best expressions of love.

To understand God's law, we must live in and by the spirit of Christ, sensitive to his guidance, aware of his presence. The love of Christ is the highest principle of our Christian life.

Campaign To End Jim Crow Schools Being Intensified

NEW YORK — The NAACP will shortly open a new phase of its campaign to end segregation in the non-southern public school systems, General Counsel Robert L. Carter has announced.

The new phase of the campaign, which will include approximately 25 states, is based on a decision of the

New Jersey Commissioner of Education regarding de facto segregation in the Orange public schools in a case brought by the NAACP.

In his ruling on May 16 Commissioner Frederick M. Raubinger found that "extreme racial imbalance, where means exist to prevent it, constitutes under New Jersey law a deprivation of educational opportunity for the pupils compelled to attend the school." He ordered the Orange school board to submit a plan to end segregation by July 1, 1963.

"ACROSS THE BOARD"
At a news conference on May 18 Mr. Carter stated that this decision meant "complete rather than token school integration" and was applicable "across the board" to all communities in the state. The NAACP drive will seek to secure similar policy statements from other Eastern and Western school commissioners.

As a first step in the campaign the NAACP will conduct a survey to determine whether commissioners of education, in states where de facto segregation exists, have the constitutional power to order desegregation. The survey will also seek to determine if there are communities where school children are compelled by school district lines to attend segregated schools.

Efforts will be made to persuade education commissioners to enunciate a statewide policy to remove segregated schools. Failing that, if requests are made to the NAACP assistance in processing petitions before the commissioners will be given.

Where Commissioners of Education believe they lack the authority to desegregate schools, appropriate cases will be filed in the Federal District Courts.

Terminating the school issue in the North "explosive," Mr. Carter said Negro parents feel their children are being "short-changed in education" because of de facto segregation. He called for northern educators to "look anew at the issues involved" and for school boards and education commissioners to "start reviewing" their policies.

BUSINESS ED. AWARD WINNER — Glenda Clark (center), a North Carolina College senior, receives a National Business Education Award of Merit from Dr. James F. Tucker, NCC Commerce Department head. Nominated for the award by Dr. Mary F. Suggs (right), departmental supervisor of teacher education, Miss Clark, a native of Benson, N.C., will be included in the 1964 National Business Education Yearbook.

Companies Urged To Halt Discrimination

NEW YORK — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week called upon 34 major corporations operating chain establishments throughout the country to order an immediate end to racial discrimination in service and employment in all of their local outlets.

In telegrams to leading hotel, restaurant, variety and drug store and theatre chains, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins urged prompt action in light of "sweeping decisions handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court."

The Court ruled in six sit-in and other anti-segregation demonstration cases that a state cannot constitutionally require segregation or use its police power to enforce separation of the races. The cases originated in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, North and South Carolina. Representing the defendants in the cases were attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc.

Mr. Wilkins, in identical telegrams dispatched on May 21, urged the companies "to announce pub-

Public Defender Legislation Sought

WASHINGTON — The AFL-CIO has emphasized its support for "public defender" legislation to assure adequate legal counsel for all defendants in federal court actions.

In a letter to Rep. Emanuel Celler (D. N. Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Andrew J. Blemiller, director of the AFL-CIO Department of Legislation, urged approval of the Criminal Justice Act of 1963 (HR-4816). The measure would direct each federal district court to set up a program that would supply legal representation for defendants who cannot afford to hire a lawyer themselves.

"The right to adequate legal counsel is essential to maintain due process of law and other basic democratic procedures," Blemiller wrote. "This right must not be denied to any citizen simply because he lacks funds. Therefore the AFL-CIO supports legislation which will authorize and direct our federal judicial system to appoint public defenders to protect the rights of those citizens who cannot afford adequate legal counsel."

He asked that the letter be made a part of the record of hearings now under way on the proposal.

Housing Project Rioting Breaks Out In Roxbury

BOSTON — (UPI) — Rioting broke out Saturday, May 25 near a housing project in Roxbury. Four persons, including a policeman and a 21-year old girl, were injured before it was brought under control.

Police said the brawl started with a broken bottle fight between a Negro youth and a white youth near the Orchard housing project shortly before 6 p. m. EDT.

The disturbance spread quickly and before long involved upwards of 60 persons, mostly young men, with another 300 to 500 residents of the densely populated area milling around on the fringes, police said.

The neighborhood has about a 60-40 ratio of Negro families to white families in the housing project. It is a generally shabby area of small businesses and tenement blocks.

Police claimed the outbreak was not a race riot. One officer said, "It was a case of a bunch of people watching a good fight, that's all."

Squads of police managed to contain the fracas in a four-block area near the project in the vicinity of the Darborn School.

Police arrested three youths and a woman and held them on charges of suspicion of assault and battery with dangerous weapons: knives and a baseball bat. A woman was arrested on suspicion of disturbing the peace.

Illinois Gets First Negro U. S. Court Reporter

CHICAGO — (ANP) — The first official Negro U. S. court reporter for the Northern District of Illinois, was sworn in by U. S. Judge James B. Parsons, at the Federal Building here recently.

He is Roscoe C. Giles, Jr., 44, son of Dr. Roscoe C. Giles, Sr., prominent Chicago surgeon.

The appointee was immediately assigned to the court of Judge Joseph B. Perry, who named him to the post.

Judge Perry participated in the swearing in ceremony in his chambers. Commenting on the appointment, he said, "I want this understood, and I think it should be the policy in all appointments. I did not select Mr. Giles because he is a Negro. I appointed him because he is well qualified for the job."

"I also wanted a good family man and he also measures up to that. I interviewed several persons after he came to me, but I knew I wanted him at first. I am confident he will do an efficient job."

Giles' education includes study at the Institute Verdi, Vienna, Austria; completion of studies at Englewood High School, Dartmouth College, Stentype School, San Francisco, and the College of Commerce, Chicago.

He was serving as staff assistant court reporter to Judge Parsons until he was appointed by Judge Perry. He fills a vacancy on Judge Perry's staff, created by the transfer of Edward Newlander, who is leaving for California to assume a similar post after serving Judge Perry for 14 years.

SCHOOL GETS GRANTS TO FIGHT DELINQUENCY

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — A grant of $120,000 has been awarded Howard University to start a permanent training program center aimed at combating juvenile delinquency in Washington.

In making the announcement Thursday, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy said the money was "only a drop in the bucket" and urged Congress to appropriate sufficient funds to provide needed educational and recreational facilities.

Howard President James M. Nabrit, Jr., said the center would first offer training courses to juvenile court probation officers, "welfare department aid-to-dependent children caseworkers and school guidance counselors.

Another grant for $118,700, provided by the Washington Action for Youth program, went to Cardozo High School for an experimental program in which returning Peace Corps volunteers will play an important role.

The Peace Corpsmen will serve as teachers at the Second Precinct high school.

He also served four years in the Army and for two years was a teacher in the New York public school system.

His most recent position was Employment and Placement Officer for the New York Region, where he helped develop and carry out employee relations policies for the Department and maintained liaison with the Civil Service Commission in matters involving personnel management.

A native New Yorker, Strachan is married and lives at 2140 Madison Avenue, New York City.

Nkrumah Calls For New Code Of Conduct Among Ghanaians

ACCRA, Ghana — The President of Ghana has urged the nation to strive to revive those virtues and values, which he said "our fathers based their high standards of moral conduct and behaviour."

Osagyefo Dr. Kwame Nkrumah made this appeal in this May Day broadcast to the Republic, in which he announced that Ghana's Seven-Year Development would be launched in a few months.

Dr. Nkrumah declared that the Plan was intended to transform Ghana into a modern, industrial state. The President said that visitors to Ghana were impressed by the progress the nation was making, and he mentioned the new factories that were rising across the nation, also new hospitals, schools and universities. There was hardly a remote village, the President said "which has not benefitted already from the great strides made in our progress and development."

MORAL SUPPORT URGED

Osagyefo explained, that all those advancements were meaningless if they were not supported by a "strong moral and spiritual foundation" and he warned that if moral degeneration was combined with technological and scientific progress then Ghana would surely fall.

The President criticized the pattern of discourtesy, and laziness which he said was evident among workers in private industry, government agencies and hospitals. He was also appalled at the reports that reached him about the behaviour of Ghana's young women in bars, dance halls and other public places.

"These young women," Osagyefo emphasized, "will be the mothers of the next generation, and they have a duty to themselves and to Ghana to maintain the highest standard of health, decency and morality in our society."

Dr. Nkrumah announced that the Government would soon introduce a system of national training which would be so arranged that immediately before admission to secondary schools, all male children would do a three - month period of national training. At the end of secondary school course and before entering a university, they would undergo a further three - month period of training. All university graduates on leaving the university would also complete six months training. The training scheme, the President said, would help to inculcate in the nation's youth, those virtues and disciplines necessary in the service of Ghana and all Africa.

NEW TEXTILES FACTORY FOR GHANA

In partnership with West Germany's Coultinho Caro Company, the Government of Ghana has agreed to the establishment of a textile mill in the nation's new harbour town of Tema.

The cost for the proposed factory is an estimated eleven million dollars, and it would create employment for more than one thousand people, many of whom will be skilled workers. To help Ghanaians acquire the necessary skills for the project, forty of them will be sent to France under a special training scheme.

The West German Company has since signed the agreement with President Nkrumah's Government, and when the factory begins its operations, it is expected to produce more than twenty - million square yards of African prints annually.

FHA Asked To Bar Funds To Biased Builders

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — The American Civil Liberties Union called on the Federal Housing Administration last week to bar federal funds to builders for future construction if they refuse to admit Negroes into existing housing built with government assistance.

Such a regulation the ACLU told the FHA, would help to fill one of the major gaps in President Kennedy's executive order of last fall designed to end racial discrimination in federally - assisted housing.

The order applies only to housing constructed after November 20, 1962.

The ACLU's views were contained in a letter sent May 17 to FHA Commissioner Philip N. Brownstein by John de J. Pemberton, Jr., the executive director, and David Carliner, chairman of the Union's National Capital Area affiliate.

GHANA TO GET BATTERY FACTORY

Ghana's first battery factory is scheduled to begin operations in December of this year, and will produce an estimated twenty - thousand batteries annually.

The project is a joint Ghanaian-British venture, known as the Ghana Battery and Electrical Company, and according to a spokesman for the firm, its production capacity will be capable of supplying the entire country with batteries, and at quality as high as those imported.

The factory is to be built at Sekondi, a city located among Ghana's West Coast and will cost an estimated ninety - thousand dollars.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE UP IN GHANA

A recent report by Ghana's Ministry of Education has shown a substantial increase in the number of children now attending primary and middle schools, as compared to twenty years ago.

The report states that there are now nine - hundred - thousand children enrolled in the 7,025 primary and middle schools throughout the country. Twenty years ago, the figure was only 90,000.

The Ministry Report also notes that 18,866 students enrolled in the nation's secondary schools in 1962, of which number 4,381 were girls. The report also explains that as well as being the preliminary to university studies, secondary education in Ghana is becoming the basic level of education requirement for training in the increasing wide range of skills which the nation's expanding economy needs.

E. J. (OX) Clemons Named Jackson State Coach

Pres. Jacob L. Reddix Picks Ex-Morris Brown Grid Chief

By MARION E. JACKSON

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—Veteran Edward J. (Ox) Clemons was named head football coach at Jackson State College, Jackson, Miss., Saturday night. The announcement was made at the school's athletic banquet by Dr. Jacob L. Reddix, the school president.

He will succeed John A. Merritt, two-time national and SWAC coach of the year for 1961-62, who recently resigned to accept the top spot at Tennessee A&I State University.

Clemons, will be permitted to name three assistants of his own choice and will have four others employed by the institution. For Clemons, the Jackson State College assignment will be his "first" at a state-supported institution. His coaching career spans more than 27 years of employment at Edward Waters College, Rust College, Lane College and Morris Brown College.

It was believed that the end of Clemons when he called it quits at Morris Brown College after 13 seasons. He joined the Purple Wolverines in 1949 as an assistant to Dr. Art's P. Graves. In 1960, the late Dr. W. A. Fountain elevated Clemons to head coach.

At Morris Brown, Ox Clemons enjoyed his best season in 1951, when he won the mythical national Negro championship, posting a 10-1 record. His lone defeat was a 13-12 defeat at the hands of the late Henry A. Kean, Sr. In Nashville's Sulphur Dell, Clemons was one of the two SWAC coaches to defeat A. S. (Jake) Gathner during the past decade. This stirring triumph was posted at Tallahassee, Fla., when the Purple Wolverines stunned the Gathners, 20-13.

In accepting the Jackson State College job, Clemons will be matching wits with coaches, who take pride in coaching in the what is described as the "toughest small college conference in the nation." The assignment will hardly faze Clemons. He was a burly-burly left tackle at Paul Quinn College, Waco, Texas, 1923-25 and at Morris Brown College, 1928-28.

Ox turned prematurely white-haired battling the land-grant colleges from his private college domain. The challenge never fazed him. He battled them all whether in the SWAC, CIAA, MWA or SIAC. He chalked up some stunning triumphs.

After a humiliating 34-14 rout at the hands of Clark College last Thanksgiving Day, Clemons announced his retirement. The sports pages of the nation gave him a thunderous ovation in his self-imposed exile.

Hardly, had the ink dried on the story of Clemons' retirement when the grapevine began to rumble with a leak that he was under consideration for the head coach job at Tennessee A. and I. State University.

Clemons skillfully feinted the scoutlebutts, but there began a mounting murmur that he was headed somewhere.

It appeared that Clemons had what was believed to be a head-leading when Merritt was signed by Dr. W. S. Davis and Ulysses M. Pherson was talked for Jackson State College.

The Clemons dropped up in talk for a stop-gap job at Savannah State College, but this balloon never got off the ground.

Ox was in business, Friday, May 24 — a day he will never forget — when President Reddix telephoned him to come and talk turkey. Clemons will go to Jackson, Miss., Monday, June 3 to assume his new position.

President Reddix told the Atlanta Daily World that "although, regretation of Salem Baptist and its pastor, Rev. C. Clay, will be guests. The public is invited.

Hammerin' Hank Aaron Returns To Fence-Busting Stride Again

By DAN HANLEY

(United Press International)

MILWAUKEE — (UPI) — Hammerin' Hank Aaron, who hit a puny .206 and had just one home run during spring training, is back in fence busting stride again and gunning for the National League's triple crown of batting in 1963.

The Milwaukee Braves slugger right now leads the league with 13 home runs and 34 runs batted in. His average of .327 ranks close to the top of the current best 10 hitters in the league.

The 29-year old veteran outfielder, a member of the league's all-star team eight times, had a ready explanation for his showing in the grapefruit circuit and his resurgence at the plate.

"It was those young pitchers you see in spring training," said Aaron. "You're not familiar with them and some of them get pretty wild, making a guy stay on his toes and not too close in the batting box."

FORCED TO SHIFT

Then, the past few years Aaron was forced to shift on occasion from his familiar position in right-field and play in center because of the Braves' continuous problem there after Billy Bruton was traded to Detroit after the 1960 season.

Aaron claimed the shuffling from right to center, where he didn't feel particularly at home, caused him to worry more about his fielding and his batting suffered because of it.

Now, however, manager Bobby

Bragan has made almost every other conceivable shift in his lineup, but has left Aaron in right field. This has made Hank very happy and he's expressing his gratitude with a big year at the plate thus far.

Aaron's concern this year is winning the batting, home run and runs batted in crowns-titles he has held singularly in the past but never collectively for the same season.

LED LEAGUE

In 1956, Aaron led the league in batting with a .323 average. He did it again in 1959 with a .355 average. In 1967 his 44 home runs were tops, and that same year he was also the league leader with 132 runs batted in. He also led in RBI in 1960 with 126.

Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals was the last league player to take all three crowns, and that was 26 years ago.

Aaron is off to one of his best starts ever. In 1967 when he won the home run and RBI crowns he had 12 home runs, 34 RBI and an average of .335 for the first 39 games. In 1969, the year his batting average was tops, Aaron had 13 home runs, 44 RBI and an average of .431 at the end of 39 games.

Emile Griffith Will Try To "Fence In" Luis Rodrigues

By JACK CUDDY

UPI Sports Writer

KIAMESHA LAKE, N. Y. — (UPI) — Joe Louis once said of a fleet-footed ring opponent: "He can run but he can't hide."

And Emile Griffith says today about his Luis Rodrigues: "He can't run if you fence him in."

It has taken 25-year-old Griffith of New York a long time to learn that alleged fact about Cuban Rodrigues of Miami Beach. It has taken a total of 25 rounds. And the lesson costs Griffith the world welterweight crown.

Here in the Catskill Mountains, at the swanky Concord Hotel, ex-champion Griffith is grimly practicing a pattern of footwork that will "build a fence" he hopes, and force champion Rodrigues against the ring ropes or into corners during their return title fight at Madison Square Garden, June 8.

Although Rodrigues never has been stopped in his 53 fights, Griffith said today, "I may be able to knock him out if I can force him to fight me - instead of just running and holding."

WIDE SHOULDERED — If Griffith, with the wide shoulders and very small waist, can beat the nimble Cuban with the squashed-banana nose next month in their nationally televised fight, he will establish a new welterweight record for having won the 147-pound title three times.

Emile took it from the late Benny Kid Paret, lost it back to Paret, recaptured it from Paret, and then lost it to Rodrigues at Los Angeles on a unanimous decision, March 21.

That 15-round title bout with Rodrigues at Los Angeles was the second fight between Emile and 25-year-old Luis. They had fought a non-title 10-rounder at New York, Dec. 17, 1960, when Griffith won the decision.

"I'll admit that my Los Angeles fight in March with Rodrigues was not one of my best performances," Emile said frankly today. "But in my heart I know I really won that fight and should have got the decision. Remember, 80 per cent of the fans in the Dodgers stadium were Latin American, and I know that influenced the officials."

But there'll be a flock of Latin-Americans fans at the Garden fight on June 8, he was reminded.

LOWER PERCENTAGE — "That's true," he admitted, "but the percentage will be a lot lower and I'll be a lot better this time."

Griffith, who came to New York from the Virgin Islands at the age of 18, is using Bernard Forbes — a 19-year-old cousin from the Virgin Islands as one of his sparring partners. Bernard, also a welterweight, has had much amateur experience

Mack Of LeMoyné To National Meet

Milton Mack, the fleet-footed advanced freshman at LeMoyné College, and Coach Jerry C. Johnson leave by plane Thursday of this week for Sioux Falls, South Dakota where Mack will run the 440-yard event in the NAIA national track meet.

The meet is scheduled for Friday and Saturday. Mack, a graduate of Booker T. Washington High School, won the 44-yard run at the Alabama State College Invitational Meet in the time of :49.1, and later broke a record set at Arkansas AM&N College's Invitational Meet last year by running the distance in :48.1.

He suffered dismal disappointment early this month when he was disqualified after winning the 440 by 20 yards in :47.0 at the SIAC meet in Atlanta. An official claimed he stepped out of his lane.

COMMENT ON SPORTS

By PETE FRITCHIE

WASHINGTON, D. C. — That controversial balk rule and its interpretation has produced baseball's biggest comedy thus far in the young 1963 season.

And the rash of calls has prompted suggestions for a song title change of that old favorite, to "Take Me Out To The Balk Game."

Perhaps a hidden meaning to what is happening is that pitchers are no longer the pampered lot of the national pastime. It's all probably a matter of the hitters finally catching up. As short as 15 years ago, the mound cops were the game's elite. And rightly so. Great, hardwork hurlers dominated the game.

The barnage of home runs has changed all that. It's now a slugger's paradise, no matter what the reason, live ball, stronger players, whip-lash bats, etc.

The fans now pay to see the ball orbit by such solid-fuel propellants as Mantle, Maris, Mays, Cepeda, Killebrew, Gentile, Aaron, Matthews, Banks, and their cohorts.

Gone are the suspenseful duels pitting Bob Feller against the classic lefty, Hal Newhouse. Those battles were not considered a Cleveland Indians versus Detroit Tigers encounter, but a face-to-face contest between personalities.

ing class, all classes are in an 8 to 12 period of the morning.

Rapid Robert meets Prince Hal. The pitchers were in their heyday then. Listeners hovered close to parlor radios following the fate of Feller the flame thrower as he challenged the titled one, who conjured up visions of a modern knight - errant in search of chivalrous deeds.

Those acid tests appear gone forever. Other individual conflicts preceded that era and some have come after. But their caliber has declined.

The only semblance of a contemporary rivalry is perhaps the Jack Sanford - Don Drysdale matches. They are frequently thrown together when their California sponsors the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers collide.

Of course, Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves must be excluded from any personal conflict. The old man exhibits no particular animosity. He singles out no opponent to glorify in defeat, for his private credo seems to be that all should fall when facing the Wonder.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER, UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(UPI) — While National League pitchers were moaning about balks, balks, balks, they also were lowering the boom, boom, boom to the home run hitters.

Homer production was running about the same in the American League but was off slightly more than 20 per cent in the National over a similar period of last season. The drop in the NL—from 291 last year to 236, this season through Monday's games might be attributed in part to the enlarged strike zone and pressure put on the pitchers by those monstrous calls of "balk."

But Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals probably comes closer to the truth:

"This used to be a slugger's league," says Stan, "but the cycle is changing with the new, bigger parks and bonuses to bid pitchers.

It's getting to be a pitcher's league."

COLTS SUFFER LETDOWN — The Houston Colts suffered the biggest homer letdown over the early weeks due partly to the trade that sent Roman Mejias to the Boston Red Sox. Houston had 30 homers in its first 33 games last season and only eight in 33 in '63. Mejias had eight of Houston's first 30-round trippers last season.

The New York Mets and Cincinnati Reds both were 11 short of their 1962 totals, though the Mets were playing better ball by far than they a year ago.

Only St. Louis up three, Milwaukee up two and Philadelphia up one showed an "improvement" over their early weeks of last season.

In the American League most clubs were close to last year's pace or slightly over with the exception of the slumping Minnesota Twins, who were down 22 from '62. Bob Allison has been getting his share but the other early leaders of '62 — Harmon Killebrew, Rich Rollins and Zolo Versalles have been mighty quiet.

YANKEES OFF TWO — The New York Yankees, perennial home run leaders, were off only two from last year but still led both leagues in production with 37 at the Monday checkpoint. Tom Tresh 7 and Elston Howard 6 were the biggest gunners but Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle were beginning to find the rage.

Of the usual leaders, only Hank Aaron of the Braves got off the mark with an impressive show. Hank hit 11 in his first 33 games to lead both leagues at that point.

But Killebrew, last year's American League leader with 48, and San Francisco's Willie Mays, who led the National with 49, were back in the field.

Except for getting the breaks with an enlarged strike zone, new for both leagues, National League pitchers were choking off the homers despite some new and stringent regulations.

BALK SETTLED — First was that balk business that presumably has been settled now the rule actually has been amended to delete the "one second stop" stipulation in a pitcher's delivery with men on base. Pitchers now can make only a momentary stop without worrying about a full second.

In addition, NL pitchers right from the start were limited to five warm-up pitches instead of the usual eight per inning and must take their regular place in the on-deck circle when waiting for a turn at bat.

American League pitchers were granted eight warm-up pitches per inning through the first 30 days of the season, then five thereafter.

The boys over in the National proved the limited warm-up, designed to speed up the game, is no great handicap. They're turning it into a pitcher's league anyway.

Round 'n Round With Golfing

In spite of the differences we are having with the weather, we are still playing as regularly as possible.

For several days during the week there was a lot of players on the golf course. Think of the Open Golf tournament which was held last week at the Colonial Golf Course. This could be an open invitation to your professional prowess—but first ask yourself these questions: Have I practiced enough, am I putting right, am I driving up to par, or am I ready to participate with such big league competition? These are questions all pros ask themselves. In order to become professional you must take interest and have plenty of solid practice.

W. O. Speight, Ike Watson, Jimmy Herndon, and "Top" Sawyer played 18 holes in what was a definitely excellent and magnificent game. They played this game at Fuller Park and I might add that they are some of the finest golfers in the Bluff City, having just returned from a golf tournament on the West Coast.

Chester Cade, Andrew Bland, William Knight, and the park's caretaker are all getting set for their foursome. After that, they intend to participate in a grudge battle. This should be one golf game to watch.

Grambling Edges Florida A&M 3-2 In NAIA Playoff

By COLLIE J. NICHOLSON

GRAMBLING La. — (SPL) — Pinch hitter Bennie Harris lashed a line shot to centerfield in the 10th inning Monday, May 20, to enable Grambling to edge Florida A&M 3-2 in the NAIA District 6-B playoff.

Harris, speedy John Wyatt and righthander Bob Williams played major rolls in the come-from-behind victory.

The Tigers had to rebound from a discouraging two-run deficit to subdue the Rattlers.

Florida utilized timely hitting and a shaky Grambling defense to push across single digits in the first and second stanzas.

Grambling shoved across its first run in the seventh on back-to-back singles by Wyatt and Frank Garnett.

Garrett, a top major league prospect was felled by a fast ball in the next inning and was hospitalized overnight for observation.

The Tigers scored their second run on a freakish inside-the-park homer by Wyatt.

He circled the bases with his dazzling speed before Paul Creal could retrace himself and relay the ball deep in left field.

A hit batter, a BALK and a key sacrifice hit by Wyatt set the stage for Harris' game winning blow.

Grambling accumulated eight hits off two Rattler hurlers. John Kelly started for Florida but bowed to Moses McGray in the seventh. McGray was the loser.

Williams survive a shaky start to post his ninth victory of the season. He has one setback.

The tall ace allowed seven hits and struckout 15.

FIRST NEGRO CATHOLIC PRIEST ORDAINED HERE

By GEORGE M. COLEMAN

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—

Two young seminarians — one a Negro and the other white — were ordained side by side Saturday, May 25, as priests of the Roman Catholic Church in colorful ceremonies at the Cathedral of Christ the King while a large interracial audience looked on.

The Rev. William E. Calhoun, a graduate of Morehouse College, and the Rev. Matthew W. Kemp, who attended schools in Decatur, Ga., prostrated themselves before the altar, and then joined Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan in completing mass after they were declared priests of the church.

Father Calhoun thus became the first Negro priest in the Archdiocese of Atlanta, where both he and Father Kemp will serve the 71-county area.

The colorful ordination service, performed before approximately 600 spectators, who sat without regard to race, lasted slightly more than an hour.

It began with a long procession of priests led by altar boys clad in red robes and white tunics, and a unit of the Knights of Columbus, dressed in white plumed helmets and white robes over blue uniforms, while they carried swords upon which a crucifix was engraved.

The procession went to the altar under the raised, crossed swords of the knights, where the archbishop sat before the kneeling candidates and spoke in Latin while a priest interpreted in English.

This portion of the rites resembled a marriage ceremony with the archbishop asking the people to testify to the character of those about to become priests, and urging any who could speak against them to "come forward and confidentially speak."

Then "reassured by the silence of consent" of the people, the archbishop prayed for wisdom for the priests to "keep God's commandment," and to "maintain in your deportment the purity of life. Your preaching must be a spiritual medicine for the people... to help build the house of God."

Then came the Ceremony of Prostration in which the two seminarians lay face down on the floor as a "sign of unworthiness and need of assistance," while rays in Latin were offered for some 15 minutes.

The two candidates then knelt before the archbishop who placed both hands on each of their heads without speaking, and then raised his right hand, extended over the new priests... The same act was repeated by every priest present, during a complete silence throughout the church — each priest with his right hand extended over the candidates "as though the heavens open and the Spirit comes down to take possession" of the new priests. The candidates were then robed in the holy vestments of the church. Their hands were tied together and placed in holy water... The archbishop washed his hands, indicating the candidates are now priests.

A prayer was offered for their success "in what they have undertaken," and the two priests joined the archbishop in completing the mass, all three of them leading it together to indicated "there is but one priest, and one sacrifice."

Father Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Calhoun, of 135 Griffin Street, was confirmed into the church while in the Air Force in Germany. Both he and Father Kemp completed studies at St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, Md. Father Calhoun will offer mass today at Our Lady of Lourdes Church at 11 a. m., and Benediction at 4 p. m. Father Kemp will offer his first mass at St. Mary of the Visitation Church in Clinton.

Organizations Combining Against "States Rights"

WASHINGTON—Civil rights organizations, labor unions, politicians, newspapers and good-government groups are now combining their efforts in opposition to the campaign for the campaign for three "states rights" amendments to the Constitution.

The proposed amendments are being pushed by a committee of state legislators and officials. This group is using the device, never before invoked, of petitioning Congress to call a constitutional convention on the proposals. Two-thirds of the state legislatures, 34 would have to ask Congress to call the convention.

The campaign for the proposed amendments got underway quietly in January of this year and was making rapid progress. There was no publicity and frequently no debate in the state legislatures voting for the proposals.

Now that the liberal forces have gone to work, utilizing the press and other communication media in opposition to the proposed amendments, much of the rapid progress made in early months has slowed almost to a stop.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

One of the proposed amendments would remove all constitutional restrictions on how the states apportion their legislatures, and bar Federal courts from dealing with the problem. The effect would be to wipe out the Supreme Court's apportionment decision of 1962, which opened legislative districts to the scrutiny of Federal courts.

The second amendment would permit the state legislatures themselves to amend the Constitution in the future, without consideration in any national forum. Amendments must now be approved either by Congress or by a national convention.

The third amendment would set up a "Court of the Union" to review decisions of the Supreme Court. It would be made up of the Chief Justices of the 50 states.

A dozen state legislatures have approved the apportionment amendment, 11 the proposal on the amending process and 3 the suggested Court of the Union.

OPPOSITION STARTS

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other civil rights organizations started to protest. They said the apportionment proposal could be used to rig legislatures against Negroes a politically powerful argument in northern urban states.

Other critical comments were made by such groups as the American Jewish Committee, the American Civil Liberties Union, the Liberal Party in New York and others concerned with civil liberties. Branches of the League of Women Voters began taking interest.

National publicity about the campaign began last month. This has apparently been responsible for arousing various forces that could be expected to oppose the amendments once they knew about them.

Newspapers and other communications media began to note the swift progress of the amendments. Chief Justice Earl Warren commented in a speech, on the lack of attention they had been getting.

Then last week, President Kennedy spoke critically of the proposed amendments at his news conference. He said he believed that the efforts to pass them would "come to nothing, and will be glad when they do."

L. A. Minister Charges Frameup In Morals Arrest

LOS ANGELES — (ANP) — A young Baptist minister was one of several persons including his 35 year old woman church secretary taken into custody last week on morals charges involving prostitution.

Rev. Timothy M. Chambers, pastor of New Greater Harvest Baptist church, and his secretary, Loraine Jenkins, and three men face charges of conspiracy to commit offenses at a preliminary hearing scheduled for June 13.

Arrested along with Rev. Chambers and Miss Jenkins were Elister Trice, and George Bynoe, switchboard operator at the Watkins Hotel.

Miss Jenkins, police said, was arrested on four vice counts, including prostitution.

OPEN HOUSE HELD

Last Jan. 3, Rev. Chambers held open house for members of his congregation and other friends at his new $100,000 home in the Hollywood Hills.

Chambers and his secretary, who were released after original bail of $25,000 each were reduced to $5,000 vehemently denied the charges.

The ultrafashionable minister said the charges stemmed from harassment he had previously been subjected to by police vice officers.

The harassment ended, he said, when board members of his church demanded and received an apology from a police captain last February.

The attorney charged that vice officers were "out to get" Chambers since the incident and quoted one of them as remarking to the minister, "You made our faces red by sending that letter."

In the complaint against the suspect, issued by Judge Ernestine Stahlhut, Chambers allegedly arranged a series of meetings to induce undercover police — women Marie Gomez and Marion Helenkamp to engage in prostitution.

According to the complaint, Chambers on April 29 met with Miss Gomez at his luxurious Hollywood home and was later joined by Trice and Davis. The quartet then accompanied the woman to a Sunset Strip night club, and on May 2, the minister allegedly received monetary proceeds from prostitution.
