Following Ever's Funeral

WITHERS IS BEATEN, JAILED IN JACKSON

Snatched By Cops In Miss.

Ernest Withers, Sr., the popular photographer, is back in Memphis with a couple of knots on his head, a bruised body, a torn coat and a handful of exposed film, but he's mighty happy to be out of the clutches of the Jackson, Miss. law enforcement officers.

Mr. Withers was swooped up by Jackson policemen, beaten about the head and body, tossed into a penal farm truck and hauled off to the Fairgrounds "prison" during the climax of a demonstration that followed the Saturday funeral of Medgar Evers, the NAACP field secretary who was murdered Wednesday morning a week ago.

The photographer, who had been assigned by several papers to "cover" the funeral, spent four hours in prison, one hour of which he and other prisoners were forced to stand with their hands and heads against a wall.

ERNEST WITHERS, SR.

Film in his camera was snatched out by arresting officers, exposed to light, and later returned to him. Mr. Withers, his son Perry and two Memphis reporters had worked their way to the corner of Fairhill and Capital where policemen had formed a human barricade blocking about 400 hand-clapping, singing and jeering youngsters bent on breaking through and marching on the heart of town. The young freedom marchers threw bricks and bottles at the cops and shouted "Shoot, shoot, shoot."

Evers Funeral Sparks Racial Demonstration

JACKSON, Miss. — (UPI) — A gripping funeral ceremony and 20-block "mournful march" for slain integration leader Medgar Evers fired the emotions of Jackson's Negroes June 15 and sparked a new anti-segregation demonstration.

NAACP's REPLY TO REV. BARR

The Memphis Branch NAACP this week answered one of its most recent critics, the Rev. James M. Barr, minister of the liberal Unitarian Church.

The Unitarian minister, in "An Open Letter to the NAACP," made it clear that he is opposed to racial discrimination but questioned the right of the civil rights organization to picket private property and to demand admission to churches that refuse Negroes.

The letter to the NAACP said "It is your organization which is violating the rights of American citizens by demanding something that is purely voluntary and private."

The minister also pointed out that he would not pastor a church that would not admit Negroes.

Several of Rev. Mr. Barr's members agreed with the criticism, but another member, Mrs. Lawrence Coe of the City Board of Education, voiced disagreement.

The NAACP's answer to Rev. Mr. Barr follows:

"The NAACP was organized for only one purpose — to rid this nation of every vestige of racial discrimination. To achieve this goal, the association has been forced by the deefenders of bigotry, some of whom appear as Christians, ministers of the gospel or friends of the Negro, to use varying techniques — moral persuasion, legal persuasion, lawsuits, political pressure, education."

Pool Victim, 60, Buried Wednesday

Sixty-year-old George Wright Sr., of 3216 Winslow, who was found dead on the bottom of the Holiday Inn pool at 875 Pennsylvania last Friday, was buried Wednesday of this week in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Funeral services were held Tuesday night from the J. H. Snow Funeral Home, 1382 Florida Street, with the Rev. B. M. Holmes officiating.

Mr. Wright, a retired car cleaner for Illinois Central Railroad, apparently fell into the pool, investigating detectives said. No marks were found on his body.

He was fully dressed when found. The deceased was the husband of Mrs. Annie R. Wright and father of George Wright Jr. and Carnell Wright of New York City, Mrs. Katie Adams of Chicago and Miss Wendolyn Wright of Memphis.

Bishop Hickman At Avery Chapel AME

Bishop E. L. Hickman will speak at 3:30 p. m., Sunday, June 23, during the Men's Day program at Avery Chapel AME Church, Trigg at Neptune.

The pastor, the Rev. Peter G. Crawford, will deliver the 11 o'clock sermon. A union fellowship is scheduled for Sunday evening starting at 7:30.

J. W. Strong is general chairman of Men's Day.

About 500 of singing, clapping demonstrators — led by two white college professors — surged into the downtown area and stood on a street corner taunting police by shouting: "Shoot, shoot, shoot." This was an apparent reference to the fact Evers was killed in the driveway of his home by a sniper who fired on him from a weed-covered vacant lot.

Patrolmen armed with riot guns and nightsticks, and backed up by fire hoses and police dogs, moved in to break up the crowd. Twenty-seven were arrested.

HUGE CROWD
The persons who took part in the violence represented only a fraction of the crowd that turned out for the funeral. Rocks and bottles were hurled at the officers and Mayor Allen Thompson addressed the city by radio and television to urge all residents to stay out of the downtown area.

Still No Big Rush On 'Y' Swim Pool

Closing of public swimming pools by the city continues to have little effect on attendance at Abe Schaff Branch of the Y M C A.

Dan Partee, an official of the "Y" reports that any increase in attendance may be due to the closing of L E Brown Swimming Pool, however the swimming attendance has shown no definite increase.

The "Y" also announced plans to remain open on Mondays and Tuesdays until 9:30 p. m. The pools normally stay open after dark only on Thursdays and Fridays when MARCHING TO FUNERAL HOME — Following funeral services Saturday in Jackson, Miss. for the slain NAACP official, Medgar Evers, his remains were removed from Masonic Temple and driven 20 blocks to Collins Funeral Home. Fifty cars followed the hearse and nearly 4000 persons marched behind the cars. Some of the marchers are shown here. A demonstration near the downtown area took place after marchers reached the funeral home.

TRIBUTE TO MEDGAR EVERS — Dr. T. R. M. Howard of Chicago and formerly of Mound Bayou, Miss., the first man to give assassinated Medgar Evers a job, speaks from platform of Masonic Temple in Jackson, Miss. at Mr. Evers' funeral. Dr. Howard stands above the flag-draped casket which was surrounded by more than 50 floral designs. The 90-minute funeral was witnessed by Ralph Bunche, Roy Wilkins, Martin Luther King, Dick Gregory, Ralph Abernathy and 4000 others. The body was shipped to Washington, D.C. for a national burial.

Inside Memphis

DOUGLASS HIGH SCHOOL is in the market for a new head football coach to replace A. D. Miller, now principal of Booker T. Washington Evening School.

CITY SWIMMING POOLS will be opened soon, but segregated in a different manner, insiders say. They believe the swim spots will be opened for boys ONLY four days a week, and for girls ONLY three days a week. At least two pools located in "explosive" areas will not be opened at all, the inside informants report.

BOARD OF EDUCATION has not announced it yet, but a principal of an elementary school on the southside is expected to be moved up to the rank of supervisor.

RECREATION DEPARTMENT officials must have forgotten those conspicuous "Negro" signs tacked on doors leading to the formerly all-Negro division out at the playgrounds' headquarters.

ONE MEMPHIS YOUTH in Jackson, Miss. for Medgar Evers' funeral couldn't resist joining the bottle-throwing brigade. "I've just got to throw one bottle," he said. And, he did.

32 Attend Memorial Services For Evers

Haygood And Lawson Pay Tribute To NAACP Leader Slain In Jackson, Miss.

NAACP-sponsored memorial services, paying tribute to murdered Medgar Evers of Jackson, Miss., attracted 32 persons to Centenary Methodist Church on Saturday morning. Lack of time to properly publicize the services is believed the reason for the small attendance. Mr. Evers was slain in his front yard early Wednesday morning and the Memphis memorial services were announced at a press conference Thursday evening.

Presiding at the services was the Rev. James Lawson, Jr., pastor of Centenary and a prominent figure in the freedom movement. He was assisted by the Rev. Lawrence Haygood, pastor of Parkway Gardens Presbyterian Church. In the pulpit and delivering one of the prayers was the Rev. James M. Lawson Sr., retired Methodist minister of Cleveland, Ohio, who is here visiting his son. Noah Bond of Centenary was at the organ. A teaching solo was rendered by Miss Barbara Whitney.

MEDGAR EVERS
SLAIN MISSISSIPPI NAACP LEADER — Medgar Evers, Mississippi field secretary of the NAACP slain by an assassin in Jackson early Wednesday morning, June 12, is shown addressing a recent rally. Evers' death spurred over $22,000 in rewards for the arrest and conviction of his ambush slayer. He had been in the Mississippi field, one of the toughest in the NAACP's wide operations.

Miss. Leaders To Decide Next Move In Tense Jackson

By LLOYD V. JEFFERS

JACKSON, Miss. — (UPI) — Charles Evers, brother of slain integration leader Medgar Evers, sought Monday to settle an internal struggle for Negro leadership in the tense civil rights battle in this staunchly segregated Mississippi capital.

Whatever the outcome, new street demonstrations were anticipated here. Other protests were expected to resume in the South after a weekend of violence in North Carolina and protests in other southern states.

The fight pitted militant Negroes demanding immediate action at whatever price against the disciples of the non-violent movement whose leader is Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta.

In Boston, Negroes went ahead with plans for a boycott Tuesday of the city's Negro junior and senior high schools. National Guardsmen remained on duty in racially-torn Cambridge, Md. where Negroes met Monday night to determine whether to resume their demonstrations.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Advancement for the Advancement of Colored People, led a "freedom march" of 100 persons in Englewood, N. J., protesting alleged segregation in the city's Lincoln Elementary school.

It was Wilkins, in a weekend speech in Alexandria, Va., who touched publicly on the growing rift between Negro organizations during the anti-segregation drives across the Southland.

RAPS BIVAL GROUPS
He accused such militant groups as the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), both now active in Jackson, of taking the "publicity while the NAACP furnishes the manpower and pays the bill."

Wilkins, in Jackson Saturday for Evers' funeral, referred to his organization as the "daddy" of all groups striving to take over the leadership in Jackson where more than 800 Negroes have been jailed since demonstrations began here in early May.

Charles Evers, of Chicago, was named to succeed Medgar Evers as the NAACP's Mississippi field secretary, on a temporary basis. There were indications that Evers would follow his brother's non-violent policy.

"I have no malice in my heart toward the city where my brother was slain. This is just a job that has to be done," he said prior to a strategy meeting involving NAACP leaders CORE and SNCC representatives.

Jackson Negroes earlier promised to renew their demonstrations this week unless the city met demands for desegregation.

The body of Evers, shot in the back by a sniper in Jackson, arrived Monday in Washington. About 1,000 persons followed a hearse 25 blocks to a funeral home where it will remain until Wednesday's burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

Elsewhere in the nation: President Kennedy outlined his civil rights bill to congressional leaders of both parties. The legislation is expected to be submitted Wednesday.

New demonstrations were threatened in Gadsden, Ala. CORE Field Director Marvin Robinson said, "We are going to give them Gadsden merchants hell."

Fifteen Negroes were arrested on trespassing charges at a Charleston, S. C. drug store. It brought to 100 the number jailed in the city's outbreak of protests.

Twenty-five business leaders in Fayetteville, N. C., where Negroes and whites battled during the weekend, called for restaurant desegregation. Mayor Wilbur Clark expressed disappointment over the lack of volunteers to serve on a biracial committee.

Municipal Judge Calvin Berry postponed the trials of 36 civil rights demonstrators in Danville, Va., another potential powder keg. The Supreme Court rejected an appeal of a ruling which upset a pupil assignment plan adopted by Charlottesville, Va., elementary schools because it was discriminatory.

Savannah, Ga., Mayor Maboon Maclean said he would take whatever steps necessary, including asking Gov. Carl Sanders to declare martial law, if demonstrations in the Georgia city got out of hand.

NAACP LEADER KILLED—Ministers G. R. Haughton (center) and A. L. Johnson, Negro civil rights leaders, told a mass meeting in Jackson, Miss., that the Negro community should go into mourning for one month and "to wear black and refrain from shopping." They were lamenting the murder of Medgar Evers (inset), Mississippi Field Secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mrs. Evers appealed to the group of 400 persons, telling them: "I do not want his death to be in vain." President Kennedy announced he was appalled by slaying.

NAACP's Clarence Mitchell Blames Evers Death On U.S.

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A Negro leader Thursday laid the blame for the death of Medgar Evers at the doorstep of the federal government for "a policy of too little, too late" in protecting the rights of Southern Negroes.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People NAACP, told a House Judiciary subcommittee was told of an assault on the Mississippi Negro leader while he was a bus passenger at Meridian, Miss.

Since then, Mitchell said, Evers' home had been bombed and his life threatened on numerous occasions. The subcommittee is considering a number of civil rights bills in advance of the program to be submitted by President Kennedy next week.

Mitchell said he hoped Congress would hear the evidence this time and pass broad civil rights legislation to protect Negro rights.

"In spite of the arrests, the assaults, the humiliations" of Negroes and "numerous pleas of the U.S. Department of Justice," Mitchell said, "the government did not make massive changes until the television cameras were focused on burned buses and maimed humans in the dreadful attack on freedom riders."

Mitchell testified in place of Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP who was unable to make his scheduled appearance because of "serious problems," presumably arising from the death of Evers.

Evers was to have been a witness at Thursday's hearing and Dr. Aaron Henry, president of the Mississippi conference of the NAACP who had planned to appear with him, told the subcommittee sadly "this man was perhaps the closest friend I had."

Court Asked To Bar Vote Poll Bias

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Justice Department Tuesday asked the U. S. District Court in Macon, Ga., to bar continued racial segregation at polling places and in voting tabulations in Jones County, Ga.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the complaint was brought only after unsuccessful efforts to secure voluntary desegregation.

It was the 36th such suit filed by the department. Like earlier cases the action charged that such segregation violates the Civil Rights Acts of 1967 and 1960.

The complaint named the Jones County Democratic Executive Committee, its chairman and nine members; the County Board of Registrars and three of its members, and J. Harris Morton, ordinary of the county.

Kennedy said the complaint did not charge that the Negroes are being deprived of their right to register to vote. He said it asserted that the defendants have required Negro voters to use segregated polling places and have tabulated the Negro vote separately.

The defendants have indicated they continue these practices in future elections, the Attorney General said.

The Department asked the court for both preliminary and permanent injunctions. A special election for county commissioner is scheduled in Jones County July 10.

Morton supervises the conduct of general and special elections in Jones County. The Democratic committee conducts party primary elections under Georgia state law. The Board of Registrars is responsible for preparing voter registration lists.

In addition to Morton, Tuesday's complaint named: James C. Balkcom, chairman, and L. F. Bishop, and Pulliam, Celder Bivins, Brinson Cooper, Willie Jackson, Carl Williams, Joe C. Greene and O. R. Kitchens, members of the Jones County Democratic executive committee, and Reuben Johnson Stewart, Hubert Washburn, and Ralph Childs of the County Board of Registrars.

Savannah Mayor Closes Two Parks
SAVANNAH, Ga. — (UPI) — City Manager A. A. Don Mendonsa ordered two historic downtown parks closed Tuesday in the face of renewed Negro demonstrations. Mendonsa ordered Johnson Square and Wright Square off limits and closed to any public assembly effective immediately.

Bob Kennedy Calls Southerners
JACKSON, Miss. — (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy personally placed a series of telephone calls Tuesday trying to head off new racial disorders in Jackson, Danville, Va., and Cambridge, Md.

Following the calls, Negro leaders in Danville and Cambridge announced they were cancelling demonstrations pending new negotiations.

The Jackson talks apparently were less productive. Mayor Allen C. Thompson said he had received several calls during the day from the attorney general, who was following up a conversation President Kennedy had with Thompson Monday.

Republican Help Needed To Pass Rights Measures

By GEORGE J. MARDER
WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Republicans hold the balance of power in Congress on civil rights legislation.

It is not clear yet how it will be used. But this much is clear: the administration cannot hope to pass the legislation without substantial GOP help.

The Democrats are so badly split on the issue that the administration cannot muster a majority for any meaningful program on its own.

The Republicans also are split, but not nearly as widely. The GOP position ranges from New York Sen. Jacob A. Javits, who would support the strongest legislation President Kennedy proposes to Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater who has still to be convinced of the need for a bill.

MAKE NO FORMAL PLEDGES
The President so far has not asked for any Republican commitments, and no formal GOP pledges of support are being made. House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind., made that clear after a White House briefing in proposals Mr. Kennedy will send to Congress next week.

For the moment, the Republicans are keeping a free hand. But at some time they and the Democratic leadership will have to get together on the broad outlines of a bill.

The decisive fight will come in the Senate. This is not to say the fight in the House will be pitiable. It will be rugged enough.

But whatever the House does, the final shape of the legislation will be determined in the Senate, with the GOP having a decisive say.

THERE ARE NO REASONS FOR THIS
The inability of the Democrats to muster a majority vote for civil rights within their own ranks.

The difficulty of smashing a Southern filibuster.

There are only two ways to break a filibuster and on both GOP help is a must.

WOULD PROLONG SESSION
One way is to allow the Southerners to talk themselves out. That means keeping the Senate in prolonged session-weeks and possibly even months-on the one subject of civil rights. At a certain point the leaders must face up to that: whether to end a filibuster by physical endurance, compromise, or surrender.

If the decision is made to put the Senate through the physical endurance test, a quorum of members must be at hand at all times to transact business that means Republicans as well as Democrats must be ready to face the ordeal.

Usually the leaders and the Senate itself have been unwilling to press the test to a conclusion. It ties up all other business and makes the Senate a poor example to the world of democracy at work.

MARY MARTEL

Husband Disappeared Several Months Ago, But His Wife Did Not Report It

Dear Mary:
My father disappeared several months ago and my mother never reported it. He left one afternoon saying he was going to the store and did not return. Shouldn't his disappearance be reported?

Concerned Daughter
Dear Daughter:
Ordinarily I would say yes but since this happened several months ago and your mother did not report it I believe that there may be something in the situation you do not know about. Talk it over with your mother. She might tell you why she did not report the disappearance. Let her know this is worrying you.

Dear Mary:
My sister left her husband and brought herself and her five children home to stay. She has been with us over a year now and has made no effort to get a regular job. She works occasionally and does not contribute to the house. Her support and that of the children has to come from me and our father. I am tired of contributing more than my share to the expenses of the home. I can't save anything or buy the things I want because of this. My mother and father do not want me to say anything to her. What can I do?

Dear Put-upon:
Ask your parents to set a fixed amount for your room and board. Work out a budget for yourself and follow it. Tell them why you want to pay a fixed amount.

TELL OF BRUTALITY OF MISSISSIPPI POLICE - Mrs. Fannie Mae Hamer (L) and Miss Annell Ponder.

2 Women Charge Police Beating In Winona, Mississippi Arrest

By STANLEY S. SCOTT

ATLANTA, Ga. - (SNS) - Two women field supervisors affiliated with an Atlanta-based civil rights organization returned to the city this week after being confined four days in a Mississippi jail, and displayed scars of a brutal beating and gave a horrifying account of inhuman treatment at the hands of police in the Delta state.

Miss Annell Ponder, 30, of 25 Burbank Dr., SW, Apt. 3, and Mrs. Fannie Lou Hamer, 46, of Ruleville, Mississippi, both field supervisors for the Citizenship Education Program of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, were released from the Winona, Mississippi jail on $200 bonds each after being taken into custody with four other civil rights workers Sunday.

Miss Ponder, whose eyes were swollen and puffed black, displayed bruises and lacerations about the body along with Mrs. Hamer, who had a knot on her head the size of an egg.

While waiting at the SCLC offices on Auburn Ave. to tell their Mississippi experience to a regional FBI agent, they stated to this reporter that they were returning from Charleston, S. C. on a Trailways bus and got off at the bus stop in Winona to get food at the bus stop lunch counter when the policemen entered flailing their night sticks and cursing.

Miss Ponder said six of the ten voter - registration workers were hauled off to jail where they were later beaten with night sticks and

Miss Hamer, whose back and other parts of her body showed signs of a brutal beating, said: "I was made to lay down on a bed while the Negro men were ordered to beat me until I stopped screaming and calling on the Lord."

"One of the white policemen pulled my dress up," Mrs. Hamer said, "and they were trying to feel under my clothes."

Mrs. Hamer said that when a 15-year-old girl in their group was asked by the policeman, "what are we supposed to do?" she stated, "you are supposed to protect us."

Mrs. Hamer further said the teenager was later hit in the head with a black jack by one of the policemen and bled profusely.

The Negro civil rights workers were released on $200 bonds Wednesday afternoon on charges of disorderly conduct - resisting arrest.

Miss Ponder, looking back on her experience, said: "The great disappointment was to get to court and find no one from the Justice Department to help us."

"The same people that tried us were the people that almost beat us to death," Mrs. Hamer said, "we are tired of it."

It was reported that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, once contacted the Justice Department on Sunday and no one showed up until the Negroes were being released from jail.

Mrs. Hamer told the Atlanta Daily World that she planned to return to Mississippi and continue her civil rights activities.

Medgar Evers, Mississippi state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot in the back and killed Tuesday night at Jackson when he stepped from his car to enter his home.

They Favor Fluoridation

Among those speaking for fluoridation of Memphis water at a meeting with the City Commission last Thursday was Dr. Vasco A. Smith, prominent Memphis dentist. Dr. Smith said all recognized health organizations in the U.S. have endorsed fluoridation, that the city officials should take the opinion of these experts as it does in other civic issues.

Find Medgar Evers' Slayer, Push The Cause He Represented

The ambush slaying of Medgar W. Evers, 37-year-old Mississippi NAACP field secretary, brings anguish and shame to the nation. That he should die, through such an act of barbarity and cowardice, reflects the temper and times of Mississippi, in the face of this nation's struggles to make democracy a reality for all.

We hope that the killer or killers of Medgar Evers will be found and prosecuted to the letter of the law. It is commendable that the NAACP quickly offered $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the assassin. The city of Jackson posted $5,000, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters $5,000, the American Guild of Variety Artists $1,000 and the Jackson, Miss., newspapers $1,000 within hours after the dastardly act.

Those seriously working to clarify and guarantee civil rights for every citizen in the nation will take the Evers' murder as the signal for increasing their dedication and zeal for the righteous cause. He must not have died in vain!

The President Was Fortright In His Speech; Now, Let Congress Face Up To The Challenge

Prefacing one of the greatest civil rights plans in history, President John F. Kennedy told the nation over a TV-Radio hookup that it faces a moral crisis as a result of the rising tide of Negro discontent - over segregation and discrimination.

Among the highlights, the President summoned both parties to the common responsibility of equality in opportunity, in education and the right to work.

The President was timely in stressing of the right of Negro students to seek equality in the area of education. Said he: "It is our duty to extend to them the same privilege that we would ask for ourselves."

His ungraceful capitulation is only another evidence that no state is sovereign in fact; that each is a part of the union and must in its laws and usage conform to the patterns and within the bounds set by the parent Union.

It is now clearly up to the Congress to act. It should move into action to resolve the race issues where constitutional rights are concerned. Such action would have the effect of reducing some of the controversy over the issue.

The Strongest Weapon The Fight For Rights - - Vote

tion and -or public demonstrations. "Unfortunately, the many racial disturbances which we are experiencing in our country today are due primarily to the denial, by public officials, of the right of the Negro to publicly express dissatisfaction of his complaint. The Negro is not permitted to picket, to march, to sit-in; in fact, in many communities, including our own, it is illegal for the Negro to boycott.

"It is indeed regrettable that as a whole the churches of Memphis have not assumed the moral obligation of Christians in this struggle for human dignity. Rev. Barr states that - I would not pastor a church that excludes Negroes then hastens to add, however, that if his church wants to exclude persons for 'any reason' it has the right to do so, arbitrarily or otherwise. If Rev. Barr's conception of the church is that of a purely private social type organization then perhaps he is right, but if the church is the 'body of Christ,' if the church is founded by Christ, purchased by his blood, then the church is to be ruled, governed and regulated by the teaching of Christ. It is not 'my' church 'your' church or even 'our' church; it is 'His' church and we are not free to do what 'He' want, but what 'He' wants. Certainly, no church is worthy of that name if it denies any individual the right to enter its doors.

"Two classes of citizens (Negro and white - inferior and superior) are not sanctioned by our Constitution with its several amendments even though discriminatory practices are prevalent in every part of our nation.

"We of the NAACP shall continue to fight for all rights guaranteed to all citizens under our Constitution - the right of the individual to be employed according to his ability; the right of any individual to be served and treated with respect by all business establishments open to the public. We shall never cease in our efforts to make our Constitution a reality.

"This nation cannot long endure if it fails, legally or morally to solve its racial problems or if it sacrifices the dignity of the individual at the expense of the 'right to own private property.'" town area. Many leaders, some of them still wearing the black armbands they had on at Evers' funeral, also circulated through the crowd.

Following the disturbance, Col. Hilton Vance of the Mississippi adjutant general's office told United Press International, "We have alerted some national guard units to be prepared." He stressed the troops merely had been alerted, and not called up.

Earlier it was disclosed President Kennedy had sent Evers' widow a letter offering his "sincerest condolences." He told her the goals which Evers "did so much to promote will enable his children and the generations to follow to share fully and equally in the benefits and advantages our nation has to offer."

More than 5,000 mourners, including Mrs. Evers and two of her three young children were present at the funeral services, conducted at the Masonic Temple.

Later the body was borne through the streets in an ivory colored hearse to a funeral home. Hundreds of Negroes paraded solemnly in the path of the hearse.

Roy Wilkins, a close friend of Evers' and the executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the organization for which Evers worked, delivered the principal talk.

He referred to Evers as a "martyr in the crusade for human liberty," and declared: "For a little while he loaned us and his people the great strength of his body and his spirit.

Capitol Spotlight

By DAN DAY

John F. Kennedy's "Time For Greatness"

WASHINGTON - (NNPA) - The upcoming civil rights hassle on Capitol Hill will surely offer President Kennedy his "time for greatness."

New civil rights legislation being called for by powerful liberal forces will represent a "thorn in the side" in next year's Presidential elections.

How he will deal with balky Southern Democrats and overcome the delaying tactics of the conservative wing will decide whether he should take his place with Lincoln. For like the sixteenth President, Mr. Kennedy is in a similar situation today.

Lincoln, the politician, worried more about alienating political opinion than freeing the four million slaves.

Mr. Kennedy, the politician, would like to keep his party and his strength intact while he makes good with a second Emancipation Proclamation.

He is "caught between the devil and the deep blue sea." In his own words, "ties of frustration and discord are burning in every city."

Said Rev. Mr. Haygood, "This is an occasion to confess the sins of the church and the sins of America."

"The slaying of Mr. Evers (NAACP field secretary in Mississippi) will cause people around the world to see the sins of man. There will be the creation of a new society in Mississippi and in America as a result of this death," he declared.

The minister of Centenary said: "America has no right to mourn Mr. Evers' death. A nation that has fostered slavery and then segregation should not have a day of mourning for Mr. Evers. It should be a day of repentance."

MY WEEKLY SERMON

SLANDER
TEXT: He that utters a slander is a fool - PROVERBS 10:18
Slanders, false accusations how they hurt. Remember, a lie believed will do you as much harm as a truth that is in the minds of the unrighteous.

Our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ was most slandered, the most falsely accused, the most lied about being that ever wore flesh. The lies, accusations nailed him to a Roman Cross.

He was called a glutton, a wine bibber, a blasphemer and a devil. "If they did those things to Him who was sinless, what shall they do to us?"

Today in every field of righteous endeavor he that is most outstanding, he that is most nearly pure must live perpetually in the white light of publicity and receive the darts of the evil.

Whether the leadership of righteousness be invested in a person with a cause, in an institution, or in a product, slander, envy and jealousy are forever at work.

In every worthwhile field the reward and punishment are always the same. The reward is wide spread recognition, the punishment, fierce denial and slander. When one's endeavors become a standard they also become a target for the arrows of the envious.

If your effort is mediocre, you will be let alone. If your work is a masterpiece it will set a multitude of tongues to wagging. Jealousy does not protrude its forked tongue when your work is ordinary. No one will try to slander you unless your life's endeavoring is stamped with a seal of a genius.

A leader is always assailed because he is a leader. Envy, Jealousy, Slander are merely added proof of genuine, righteous leadership. Failing to equal or excel, the jealous slanderers seek to destroy.

There is nothing new in this; envy, fear, greed, all avail nothing, great teacher, great preacher, great labor leader, master worker, stainless saint each in his turn is assailed. That which is good, pure, righteous, honest, true eventually makes itself known. No matter how loud the clamor of denial; that which deserves to live, lives.

Our Lord and Savior suffered, shed sinless blood, nailed to a cross but on the third day he conquered. Jesus who suffered most from slanders is able to help us. If our enemies increase and satans shots be multiplied, Jesus is able. He is able to deliver us, to guide us, to shield and protect us.

Let us never lose heart nor be discouraged; our Lord and Savior is able. Just ask Him and He will carry you through.

"The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom then shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life: Of whom shall I be afraid?"

Remember "He that utters a slander is a fool." The fool says in his heart there is no god."

League. Rev. Mr. McDaniel said he has discovered that industry and business firms are leaning more to longtime workers and almost ignoring summer job-seekers.

He also pointed out that automation and in-migration are responsible too for the employment shortage.

There is a feeling in some circles that racial unrest is serving as a factor in the job situation.

Rev. Mr. McDaniel pointed out that white youths are facing similar experiences in their search for summer jobs.

Some youngsters are working however, especially those whose families have connections with various firms.

But, for those without connections "This has been the worst summer for finding employment in the nearly 20 years I have been with the Urban League," said the UL director.

"The placements we have made," he said, "have been for persons convincingly interested in fulltime employment."

"The jobs that have gone to women have been in the age bracket of 25 to 35," he added, "and the placement we have made for men have been in the age limit of 21 to 31. Older people and younger people have had very limited work opportunities."

When the penal farm truck drove up, policemen made a grab for anyone within their reach. They had been eyeing Withers as he made pictures and he was one of the first they nabbed. "Two of them winged me, each grabbing one of my arms," he said.

"My feet were half in the air and half on the ground as they hustled me to the truck. I was trying to hold onto my camera and trying to duck the blows all at the same time," Withers said.

"The prison truck was already packed when I got there and while I was trying to get in those guys were hitting me from all angles," he told the World.

Thaddeus T. Stokes, editor of the Tri-State Defender, who rode with Mr. Withers to Jackson, was successful in contacting a high police official in the Mississippi capital. The official nally released Withers without charge.

The police victim complained of headaches Tuesday and said he planned visiting a doctor for an examination.

Mark Stansbury, another Memphis photographer and free-lance reporter, flew to Jackson to cover the funeral for Jet. He was not with Withers at the time of the arrests.

James Meredith, the Ole Miss student, rode around Jackson in his Thunderbird almost unnoticed.

The Masonic Temple, scene of Mr. Evers' funeral, has a seating capacity of 3000. But an extra 1000 managed to jam the aisles and dining and kitchen area.

Temperature outside the temple was 103. It was much hotter inside.

There were 50 or more floral designs, with Dick Gregory's and the NAACP's placed at the foot of the casket. Gregory was there, along with Ralph Bunche, Congressman Diggs, Martin Luther King and Ralph Abernathy.

Fifty cars followed the hearse to the funeral home after rites had been said, and thousands of marchers followed the cars.

Dr. John T. Wilson of Lockheed Aircraft Plant in California is monitoring a test where a pressure suit is being studied for its suitability for use in high altitude of space equivalent flight.

LOCKHEED STUDIES AEROSPACE MEDICINE

BURBANK, Calif. — What are some of the hazards which will face astronauts as they extend their journey to the moon and outer space on planetary flights? Will these spacemen have the physical endurance to cope with whatever situations that arise during their important missions? An intensive effort is being made by the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation to answer these questions.

Among those doing research on space medicine and attempting to assess the hazards which these astronauts might encounter in their space travels is John T. Wilson, Jr., M. D., a development planning specialist in science and technology, at the Burbank, California plant.

Dr. Wilson is a member of the Corporate Development Planning Department, a group of 16 persons trained in economics, science, aeronautics, and military science. The department is chiefly concerned with planning for the use of scientific discoveries and technological advances in the present and future business of the company. As part of this task, Dr. Wilson coordinates the activities of more than 100 biological scientists working in the plants at Marietta, Georgia; Burbank, and Sunnyvale, California.

A group is a study which attempts to predict the methods of transportation which will be in use in the year 1985. For the present, however, the company is studying the design features of a supersonic passenger aircraft capable of speeds of 2,500 to 3,000 miles per hour, enabling it to cross the Atlantic in less time than it now takes to travel from New York to San Francisco.

A native of Birmingham, Alabama, Dr. Wilson received his early education at Parker High School of that city. He won a scholarship where he received his Bachelor's degree with honors in 1946. His M. D. was earned at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons. The following three years were spent in internship and training in internal medicine in New York. Later, Dr. Wilson took special training in Industrial Medicine at the Institute of Industrial Health, University of Cincinnati, from which he received the Doctor of Science degree in 1956. Subsequently, an additional period of training was undertaken with the New York State Division of Industrial Hygiene, where he served as a consultant in industrial medicine investigating occupational diseases and recommending preventive and corrective procedures.

300 Students Attend Pre-Africa Orientation

NEW YORK — Prior to their departure for Africa, 300 American and Canadian students will attend the 1963 Operations Crossroads Africa orientation session at Douglass College, New Brunswick, New Jersey, from June 18-24.

Selected from the nearly 4,000 applicants for this summer's program, these students will live and work with African students for 2 months, building schools, clinics and libraries. There will also be two teacher-training projects, one in Liberia and one in Gabon. In all, 27 teams will be in 20 countries; this year brought 64 requests for Crossroads teams from 30 African nations.

Highlighting the six-day orientation will be a dinner and dance on June 20 for the African delegates to the U. N. and their wives; a reception for the West Africa group at the home of the Ghanaian Ambassador and his wife — His Excellency and Mrs. Alex Quaison-Sackey on June 21; addresses by: Dr. James H. Robinson, Director of Operation Crossroads Africa; Mr. Roy Wilkins, Executive Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., on the subject of Race Relations; Mr. Christopher Thoron of the U. S. Mission to the United Nations on "The U. N. and Its Role in Africa"; Dr. Elliott Skinner and Dr. Hugh Smythe on "Pan Africanism"; Dr. Bonita Vallen on "The Role of Women in Africa"; and finally, discussing "The Role of Religion in Africa" will be Rabbi Israel Mowshowitz, Reverend Theodore L. Tucker and Father Richard Armstrong.

Pentagon Acts To Improve Status Of Negro Workers

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — Three recent orders sent to the field by the Pentagon should improve promotional opportunities for colored employees of the military services.

The latest, dispatched last week by the Defense Department, directed that representatives from headquarters personally review employment records at establishments in the South and arrange for spot promotions where appropriate.

A second directive required that annual reports be rendered on the use of Negroes in Civil Service pay grades below $10,000 a year, while a third asked quarterly reports from all major commanders on the number of Negroes in higher pay grades.

AJC Pushes Arrest Of Evers' Killer

NEW YORK — The American Jewish Congress this week sent the following telegram to President Kennedy in the White House on the murder of Medgar Evers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Jackson, Miss.

The message was signed by Rabbi Joachim Prinz, president of the

M. M. Not to be confused with the Peace Corps, Operation Crossroads Africa is a private, non-profit organization supported entirely by voluntary contributions. Also, each student must raise $500 of the total cost in order to participate. It has seen 787 students of all religious, ethnic and racial backgrounds to Africa since 1958. Last June President Kennedy said of Crossroads: "This group and this effort really were the progenitors of the Peace Corps and what this organization has been doing for a number of years led to the establishment of what I considered to be the most encouraging indication of the desire for service, not only in this country but all around the world, that we have seen in recent years." In light of the interracial struggle presently being waged in the United States, the impact of the Crossroads program as a combatant to an unfavorable national image in the new African nations cannot be overemphasized.

The East Africa group will leave from Idlewild on June 23 at 9:00 AM and the West Africa group on June 24 at 5:00 PM — both aboard Air France.

Sailors Prove Ambassadors Of Good Will For Nation

By LUCILE SELZ
(NNPA Roving Correspondent)

RHODES, Greece — (NNPA) — The United States may project to the world an ugly image in Alabama and Mississippi, but here at remote Greek island of Rhodes it is a benevolent one.

At the same time that Negroes were tormented and deprived of their rights in the South, their fellow colored Americans on the seas have been treated to equal opportunity and the niceties of life.

These men of the United States Sixth Fleet are aboard the USS Enterprise, the world's first and largest nuclear powered aircraft carrier, which along with its attending destroyers insures America's control of the seas.

The Enterprise, whose name is famous in U. S. Naval history, and whose predecessors participated in great battles, is presently on a peaceful mission.

VISITS PORTS

The largest moving object ever made and capable of speeds in excess of 40 miles per hour, she steams into various Mediterranean and Middle East ports, bringing the American message of deterrent strength capable of carrying out our overseas commitments.

If American security were threatened, however, the Enterprise with her attack planes could unleash more destructive power than all the bomber strikes of World War II.

At each port of call, the local people are welcomed abroad as part of the Navy's good will program. Anyone who wishes can obtain a coffee ticket and American citizens need only show their passports. Motor launches take visitors to the site of the carrier out in the harbor past the long line of destroyers and the frigate Balbridge the only other nuclear powered ship in the bay.

A favorite display on deck is the orange uniforms worn by the pilots, similar to those worn by the Astronauts. The vivid color is for easy detection, and the suit is provided with survival equipment including a gas-mask for making distilled water.

Lifted by open shaft to the four and-one-half-acre flight deck, where more than a hundred aircraft stand in readiness, the visitor has the opportunity to talk to men who fly and maintain these F4B Panthers and Vigilantes.

First Mechanic Charles P. Scott, a colored sailor from California, smiled proudly as he explained how he had saved two planes which ran out of fuel.

While in civilian life some of the men are still "segregated," in the Navy they are completely integrated.

"We all feel the same here," volunteered D. M. Mack, a Negro from St. Louis, whose duty keeps him in the engine room.

Lester Davis, of Winston-Salem, N. C., a radar technician, agreed, "Segregation" was no problem on the Enterprise. However, he conceded that after a drinking spree on shore his shipmates can make him feel unwanted.

Supply Ensign Merritt, of Norfolk, Va., said he was "satisfied" with his experience on board the Enterprise and plans to make the Navy his career.

"Negroes are given a real opportunity here," chimed in a yeoman storekeeper.

Congress: "American Jewish Congress urges the fullest possible mobilization of Federal resources to apprehend the killer of Medgar Evers, NAACP field secretary in Mississippi. The killing is a plain attempt to halt by terror any assertion by Mississippi Negroes of their rights under the Federal Constitution. It is a direct subversion of our democratic institutions. All other efforts to give reality to the constitutional guarantees of equality will be nullified if the perpetrators of this shocking act of brutally escape punishment."

"The Children's Choice," a study of the racial injustices faced by Negroes in the North will be presented on ABC News' "Directions '63" Sunday, June 23 (ABC-TV, 2-2:30 p. m. EDT).

The photo essay will focus on the family of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Creary, who lives with their six children in the Harlem section of New York City. The still photo by Ed Lettau will paint a portrait of the family's daily life and will illustrate the pressures confronting segregated populations in the North.

Speaking over the photographs, and commenting on the Negroes' problems, will be leading New York City experts in the field of race relations. They include:

Dr. Dan W. Dodson, Director of the Center for Human Relations, New York University.

Arthur Rogers, member of the New York City Youth Board.

Methodists Donate $493, 643 To Race Relations Projects

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Methodists across the nation gave almost half a million dollars to a Race Relations offering during the past fiscal year. The total of $493,643 was $87,597 more than the previous year and the largest annual amount since the offering was begun in 1941.

The funds will go to 12 Negro colleges and one student center, all related to The Methodist Church, said the Rev. Dr. James S. Thomas, Nashville, staff member of the Methodist Board of Education.

Most of the amount was contributed on Race Relations Sunday, last Feb. 10, but contributions were received during the rest of the fiscal year, which ended May 31.

On the annual Race Relations Sunday, members of The Methodist Church seek to promote better relations between the races, and many ministers preach on race relations.

The offering will help Morgan Christian Center, Baltimore, Md., and the following colleges: Bennett, Greensboro, N. C.; Bethune-Cookman, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Claflin, Orangeburg, S. C.; Clark, Atlanta, Ga.; Dillard University, New Orleans; Huston-Tillotson, Austin, Texas; Meharry, Nashville, Tenn.; Morristown at Morristown, Tenn.; Paine, Augusta, Ga.; Philander Smith, Little Rock, Ark.; Rust, Holy Springs, Miss.; and Wiley, Marshall, Texas.

Union President Urges Kennedy To Push Opportunities

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy was urged to include equal employment opportunities legislation (FEPC) in his civil rights proposals by IUE President James B. Carey in a letter sent Saturday from the trade union leader to the President.

"It would be a demoralizing fraud to tell a Negro that the color of his skin will no longer be used to prevent him from buying a meal or renting a hotel room if we do not guarantee to him the opportunity to earn money so that he may use these facilities," Carey pointed out.

Carey also noted that the President's speech to the nation on civil rights last week has placed him "in the forefront of the greatest moral crusade in America today."

U. S. Policy On Jamaican Immigrants Said Insulting

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — American "discrimination" against Jamaican immigrants was bitterly assailed in New York last week by Prime Minister Sir Alexander Bustamante.

The Jamaican leader, who also holds the portfolio of Minister of External Affairs, said the present American policy was "an insult" to his country and his people.

He told a press conference: "All the independent countries of the Western Hemisphere, with the exception of Jamaica and Trinidad, are allowed unlimited entry to the United States for qualified immigrants. We take that as an insult to ourselves."

Sir Alexander said he had personally mentioned the matter to Mr. Kennedy during his talks in Washington.

Judge Moore To Act In Bias Case Involving N. Y. Job

NEW YORK — (NNPA) — Retired Federal Judge Herman E. Moore was scheduled to leave his home in the Virgin Islands this week to act as a special hearing officer in a case involving a discrimination charge.

The City Commission on Human Rights has a case before it charging that Anne M. Kelley, a deputy commissioner of Commerce and Industrial Development, asked the State Employment Service to send her a "white" secretary.

Miss Kelley has denied the charge, but Acting New York Mayor Paul R. Serrano immediately announced that Judge Moore would decide the case.

The judge, now 69, served on the U. S. District Court for the Virgin Islands from 1939 to 1958.

ELEANOR

At A Time Like This
(Meditating on the Death of Medgar Evers)

He does not answer at a time like this
When every moment is precious
And every man priceless —
Even this one who does not answer,
And even this one who knows it.
Faked mirrors are useless where such clear streams abound.
He searched and found the waters.
Yet he does not answer. Why?
My love is his love.
Together we must save our love
Must destroy this mocking wall that has been built —
And do it quickly.
This semicircle structure drenched
With human blood must stand no longer;
The best in it should be in that which we must Build quickly if we would save our love;
Not to one side only, but a rock-based circle
Thick and high and strong, sealed with the best
In everyone, even this one
Who does not answer.
He does not answer at a time like this
When every moment is precious
And every man priceless;
Every man each by name.
The tiniest screw must not be missing from a plane.
Oh, you killed him —
At a time like this!

NOTE: The above verse was published in the book "Of Men and Trees" authored by Ethel Williams Wright in 1954. This is a moving and poignantly written book of verse dealing with the most important subjects of our troubled age — the need of men to understand their fellow men and to learn to live with one another in harmony, regardless of creed or color; the essential organic unity of God, man and nature; the healing sanity of the trees, hills and flowers around us. The author sings gently but strongly of the unity that links all things in the universe through love and mutual understanding.

To The Law

Great Law, great defender, great justice,
You are not great enough.
The weakest are unprotected,
The guiltiest walk unmolested:
By our sides;
Not great enough to handle those,
To see the saddest victims, nor recognize
The subtle fiend who crushed him
'Til the final spark was gone, leaving
A mere existence exposed in its decay;
Not great enough to handle these
Who make an open sepulcher
Of life's highway.

Church Council Appoints Regier To Emergency Unit

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The Rev. Dr. Jon (correct) L. Regier, River Edge, N. J., executive secretary of the National Council of Churches' Division of Home Missions has been appointed chief of staff of the Council's emergency Commission on Religion and Race.

Council president J. Irwin Miller, who made the appointment, said the Commission would act immediately to mobilize the resources of all units of the National Council and its member denominations in a planned strategy against all forms of racial injustice in American life. The Commission is authorized to call for demonstrations in "every major city in the United States," to be organized by local councils of churches, church women, and church men, in order to "witness to our determination that the church shall be fully involved in a continuing effort to change the segregated pattern of American life."

But this is no excuse for not removing the unlawful barriers which now exist to equal protection and equal opportunity.

Let us not forget that many of those who protest loudest against new federal laws of enforce Constitutional rights are the same who defended without qualification state laws which deny civil rights.

Segregation in many places is not just a matter of local custom, but a consequence of state laws and policies totally repugnant to the guarantees of the Constitution.

Henry Says U. S. Is Partner In Miss. Oppression

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — The Federal government was revealed last week as one of the greatest contributors to unemployment of Negroes in Mississippi when Aaron Henry, president, Mississippi State NAACP, listed more than 26 federal bureaus in the state which do not employ Negroes.

Henry, testifying before a House Judiciary Subcommittee (No. 5), told the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D-N. Y.), "that not a single Negro serves in the National Guard in the State of Mississippi although much of the funds used to support this project is Federal money."

The NAACP leader said the record of the Federal government in employment of Negroes is nearly as bad as that of the state government where, with the exception of the Board of Education, "not a single Negro is employed."

He then listed some 55 state bureaus and agencies in which he said Negroes are not employed.

The leader, accompanied by Congressman Charles C. Diggs (D-Mich.) and NAACP Washington Bureau chief, Clarence Mitchell said the chief problem in the state are to be found in the areas of law enforcement and the courts, employment, education, voting rights, and human dignity.

During the course of his testimony, Henry enumerated difficulties encountered by Negroes throughout the state which ranged not only from unemployment, but to arrests, beatings and murder by Mississippi authorities.

The public schools are still 100 percent segregated despite legal rulings to the contrary. Fewer than 15,000 of 980,000 Negroes in Mississippi are registered voters and white have committed indignities upon Negroes, including the lassoing of a nine-year old girl from a speeding car and dragging her down the street, to the killing of a Negro soldier on a bus because he chose to sit where he wanted to.

Henry, himself, the committee, learned, has been taken from his home and thrown in jail and tried for various offenses which, he said were concocted by Mississippi authorities.

"Why can Mississippi authorities get away with this kind of continued treatment against the Negro?" he asked.

Because of the Federal government, declared Henry. He then listed a number of ways the Federal government could help to bring democracy to Mississippi.

Congo Artist Made Lincoln Look Colored

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — A Congressional subcommittee was told that it wasn't the United States Information Agency idea the Geo. Washington and Abraham Lincoln should look "colored" in portraits shown in Leopoldville.

USIA Director Edward R. Murrow explained that a local Congolese artist used sepia colored paper which gave both the background and the subjects "an overall brown cast."

He said the agency commissioned the Congolese artist to do the portraits "to give him a local angle." There was nothing in either picture that would "indicate that either man was a Negro," he added.

"WHY DIDN'T THEY HIT ME BACK?"

"Nobody gets lynched. Colored people who make trouble just disappear. . . . People say they went North. But everybody knows what really happens — they get taken out and drowned. There is a strong tide in the Bay."

That was Lesson Number One for the white boy in the leather jacket. He learned it well. So it was easy — and right — when he took along his brass knuckles to teach picketing Freedom Riders in Easton, Maryland, their lesson.

But he couldn't understand those people. "Were they yellow?" he wondered. "Why the hell didn't they get mad and hit back? I hit this one guy as hard as I ever hit anyone in my life. . . . I had to find those guys and ask them why they hadn't hit me back."

Twenty two year old Eddie Dickerson found them, and asked them — and he stayed with them. His family disowned him. His white friends never spoke to him again.

UL, 5 Other Groups Salute Nurse Staupers

NEW YORK — Continued exploitation of the selfless dedication and courage of America's nurses, through inadequate support and compensation for the profession they pursue, "might well be one of our greatest mistakes of the 20th Century."

That note of caution was expressed by Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, in addressing more than 200 at a testimonial luncheon, June 8. The event was held in honor of Mabel Keaton Staupers, R. N., "grand dame" of the nation's 170,000 registered nurses and a pioneer in the fight for equal opportunity for Negro nurses.

"The debt that we owe the nurses of this country can only be exceeded by our present responsibility to see that the members of this noble profession, now and in the future, receive their proper status and deserved rewards," said Mr. Young, a member of the Surgeon General's Committee on Nursing, on which Mrs. Staupers also served.

The luncheon gathering, held in the Windsor Ballroom of the Commodore Hotel, drew a "who's who" turnout of civic, cultural and educational leadership of the area. The event was sponsored jointly by the National Urban League; American Caribbean Scholarship Fund; National Chi Eta Phi Sorority and Omicron Chapter; National Council of Negro Women; the NAACP, and St. Philip's Church, New York.

The American Caribbean Scholarship Fund was represented by Mrs. Herman Stoute; Chi Eta Phi by Mrs. Leota P. Brown; the National Council of Negro Women by Miss Dorothy I. Helget; the American Nurses Association by Miss Cornelia S. Knight; and the National League for Nursing by Mrs. Estelle M. Osborne.

The NAACP was represented by several of its national Board and staff members. Also attending was Mrs. Arthur B. McKinley, social secretary at the Embassy of Viet Nam in Washington.

Presiding at the gathering was the Honorable James L. Watson, New York State Senator. The Reverend Dr. M. Moran Weston of St. Philip's Church, gave the benediction.

Mrs. Staupers pioneered in the fight to make nursing the high level field it is today, but more particularly, she undertook to champion Negro girls in nursing.

Conference Fund Backs Kennedy's Anti-Bias Stand

NEW ORLEANS — The Executive Committee of the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF) voted full support of President Kennedy's proposals for ending racial discrimination. A telegram pledging such support was sent to the White House.

At a special meeting here, the leaders of the integrationist organization urged Kennedy to hold fast to his proposals and "to cope creatively with the problem of unemployment and the need for job training."

The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, Birmingham leader and president of SCEF, said the group also asked Kennedy to push for legislation empowering the Justice Department to file suit in any violation of constitutional rights.

FIRMNESS SOUGHT "We urge you not to be awayed by the noisy voices of the past coming from the Southern Dixiecrats, acting in alliance with conservative Republicans," SCEF told Kennedy.

"Instead throw your weight fully with the thousands of Southerners, many of them silent, who can represent the voice of the future and will respond to leadership from you on a program that is to the benefit of all of us, Negro and white. This is the time for the voice of the President to be heard throughout the land."

While he was here for the Executive Committee meeting, threats were made to bomb Mr. Shuttlesworth's home in Cincinnati, and a police guard was placed around the residence. He pastors a church in Cincinnati but maintains voting residence in Birmingham.

Small Businesses Which Discriminate Target of Proposal

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — A bill to stop the Small Business Administration from making loans to those firms that practice race discrimination was introduced in the Senate Monday.

In bringing the bill to the Senate floor, Wisconsin Sen. William Proxmire said:

Church Council Appoints Regier To Emergency Unit

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The Rev. Dr. Jon (correct) L. Regier, River Edge, N. J., executive secretary of the National Council of Churches' Division of Home Missions has been appointed chief of staff of the Council's emergency Commission on Religion and Race.

Council president J. Irwin Miller, who made the appointment, said the Commission would act immediately to mobilize the resources of all units of the National Council and its member denominations in a planned strategy against all forms of racial injustice in American life.

The Commission is authorized to call for demonstrations in "every major city in the United States," to be organized by local councils of churches, church women, and church men, in order to "witness to our determination that the church shall be fully involved in a continuing effort to change the segregated pattern of American life."

Formation of the 25-member Commission was begun immediately following unanimous action last Friday by the Council's policy-making General Board, which also invited Roman Catholic and Jewish leadership to join action against segregation and called on all communions in the Council to eliminate discrimination in their churches.

Dr. Regier, who is giving immediate full-time staff leadership in the first phase of the Commission's operation, was honored by a Negro seat of learning in 1959 when Payne Theological Seminary at Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, O., conferred on him a Doctor of Divinity degree.

Chairman of the Commission is the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, New York, Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Vice-chairmen are: Bishop B. Julian Smith of Chicago, Ill., president of the Board of Education of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church; Mrs. J. Fount Tullman of Nashville, Tenn., president of the Women's Division of the Methodist Church; and the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, Philadelphia, Pa., stated clerk (chief executive officer) of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

Leighton Defends "Top Playboy"

CHICAGO — (ANP) — One of the nation's top criminal lawyers last week was rushed to the defense of the nation's top "playboy" after the latter was arrested and then released in $400 bond on a charge of publishing and circulating an obscene magazine which carried nude or nearly nude pictures of movie actress Jayne Mansfield.

The revealing pictures of Miss Mansfield are contained in the June 6 issue of the magazine.

Facing the charge at a hearing set for June 26 is Hugh Hefner, 37-year-old bachelor - publisher of the "play" Playboy Magazine. Hefner also has initiated a number of playboy clubs in various cities, one of the largest located here.

One of the two attorneys representing him is Harvard-educated George N. Leighton, one of the most successful criminal and civil rights lawyers in the nation. The other Hefner counsel is Maurice Rosenfield.

is involved. "For such a firm to use these funds to enable it to expand its discriminatory policies is wrong and there is no moral, political or financial justification for it."

Mr. Proxmire, a Democrat, is chairman of the Small Business Subcommittee of the Senate's Banking Committee. His Subcommittee has jurisdiction over the authorization of all funds to the SBA.

Sunday School Lesson

GOD IN HIS WORLD International Sunday School Lesson for June 23, 1963.

MEMORY SELECTION: "The heavens are telling the glory of God; and the firmament proclaims his handiwork." — (Psalms 19:1)

LESSON TEXT: Psalms 19:1-6; 85:1-7; 148.

The purpose of our study today is to help adults discover ways that God's creation witnesses to his existence, goodness, wisdom, and power.

The three psalms we are studying today are all beautiful, and express one topic - God in his world. Psalms 19: 4c-6 could almost be called a song to the sun god. It is clear, however, that the true praise does not belong to the sun, but to the Creator of the sun. The apostle Paul also saw God revealed in nature. Paul felt that the creation itself can reveal the power and deity of the Creator, and that any man's claim that he cannot know what God is like is invalid.

In earliest times men saw God so fully in nature that they tended to identify God with nature. That almost any unexplained event in nature, such as a falling rock or a flash of lightning, or the "with-drawal" of the sun - could be a signal for fear, awe and worship. The nature psalms nowhere make this mistake. Their worship is never to the "gods" revealed in nature, but always to the one God who created and is responsible for the sun, the moon, the stars, the rain, the lightning, the rivers, and all that is. The worship of one God by the Jews is readily seen.

DESTROY OUR FAITH Many people feel that science is attempting to destroy our faith in God. It is typical of the history of the relationship of the church and science. Many scholars in earlier centuries have been condemned as heretics because their questioning minds cast doubt on things that had been accepted widely in times past. But if we sincerely believe that all truth is from God and in God, there can be no conflict between science and faith. But if we believe that all truth is contained in the Bible rather than in God, we will see conflict. Let us examine this point.

The Bible affirms time and again that God is at work in nature. This is a claim of faith, and we believe it to be true. But this does not mean that we must accept every point of view expressed in the Bible as "scientific." For the Bible was not, and is not a book of science. The biblical picture of the universe places the earth in the center, with layers of "heavens" above the earth leading to God's throne. This is an attempt to explain the overwhelming majesty of God and the importance of man, his child. But it is not a picture of the true relationship of the earth to the sun and to other planets. We affirm the Bible's central truth, but we cannot accept its scientific description of the atmosphere.

The teaching of evolution does not need to disturb our faith. It is an attempt to explain the almost incredible variety of life that exists. Evolution does not and cannot say where God is in these changes. We believe, however, that he is at work in them, that it is through His rich creative genius that the varieties come to be. And so we are not disturbed that scientists may be discovering some of the methods by which he has worked. To him alone is the glory and the honor. Men are but thinking his thoughts after him.

SPIRITUAL PERSONS If all the substance of our bodies, with its "space" squeezed out, are but specks of dirt - where are we? Has science led us once again to the very doorstep of the spiritual? We are not visible because we are spiritual persons. All the high qualities of human life - the ability to think, reason and love, to appreciate goodness, truth, beauty - come from the development of spiritual capacities. We are basically invisible. The physical aspect of nature indicates the need for a Creator. How much more, then, does the moral and spiritual nature of man cry out for a Creator whose nature is at least the highest that we know of mankind?

If God is the Creator of all that is, we have a obligation to continue the exploration of this universe, for all truth is from God and in God. Realizing this, we need never fear where truth will lead us, for it will always lead to him.

Crack Bias In D. C. Suburban Housing

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — A new Maryland group, formed to promote fair housing in suburban Washington, has reported some success in desegregating areas in near-by Silver Spring and Rockville, Md.

The Suburban Maryland Fair Housing, Inc., announced at its first annual meeting held June 10 that two Negro families will move soon to Silver Spring and three families will occupy homes in Rockville.

Formed last November, the 850-member organization is accepting listings from white homeowners in suburban areas who are willing to sell to nonwhites. A report on the "clearing house" operation said the lack of sufficient listings continues to be a primary problem. The group also has set up a subcommittee to coordinate the desegregation of all-white apartment buildings.

Dentist Names Kin, NAACP Among $360,000 Estate Heirs

CLEVELAND — (ANP) — The estate and bequeathed to a son and a daughter, valued at $360,000, left by a Cleveland dentist, which includes his widow and son and the NAACP among several conditional beneficiaries, was uncovered here last week.

The will of Dr. Bertrand C. Styles dated Jan. 18, 1960, came to light last week when the National City Bank made a request in Probate Court for authority to assess $23,000 representing the balance due on promissory notes totaling $32,000 against the estate.

In the strange and somewhat complicated will, Dr. Bertrand - as signed the bulk of his estate to Mrs. Styles, but gave the bank discretionary powers to make payments to her and her son with the provision only that his widow be maintained in the manner in which she has been accustomed.

Their son, Myron C., was bequeathed $10,000, but he will inherit the entire estate if his mother dies before he does. If both die, the estate will go to the grandchildren.

The NAACP was listed as a major beneficiary, if and when there are no survivors of the Styles family. Dr. Styles also made other provisions for Karamu House here; the University of Michigan Dental School to establish a scholarship fund for dental students; Mt. Zion Congregational Church to establish a Bertrand C. Styles Memorial Fund and Atlanta university to supplement its scholarship fund.

The estate consists of $325,000 in stocks and $45,000 in real estate.

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — The World Food Congress was told last week how Dr. D. W. Harrison, of Washington, was able to supply high-protein lunches for school children in Ghana at a cost of five or six cents a day.

His company, a non-profit corporation, used whole-grain soybean bread, soybean milk and peanut butter manufactured in Ghana for the first time, and fish flour imported from abroad.

By combining these foods, it was possible to give a child 30 or 40 grams of protein daily.

Central State Track Coach To Work With Nigeria Team

By HENRY "SKIP" SIMMONS

WILBERFORCE, Ohio — Central State (O.) College's youthful track coach, Doye Youngblade, has been appointed by the U. S. State Department to coach Nigerians in the arts of track and field for the coming year and will take a one year leave of absence from his present post to do so.

The Brooklyn (N.Y.) native began his coaching career as an undergraduate at Central State, assisting Gaston "Country" Lewis with cross-country. After his graduation in 1960, Youngblade took charge of the cross-country and track teams and has built them into national small college powerhouses in just three years.

During the time he has been head track mentor, the Marauders have won the NCAA National Small College Cross-Country title twice (they did not compete in 1961); the All-Ohio Track title three times; the Ohio AAU title three times; the Mid-Western Athletic Association (MWAA) track title three times; and the Livingston Relays team title three times.

In addition, the Youngblade-coached cindermen have grabbed off the NAIA District 22 title twice; the Ohio State Relays title twice; and a score of individual first places in major relays such as the Drake Relays, and the Mason-Dixon Relays.

For two-and-one half seasons, the Marauders went undefeated in dual meet competition against such stalwarts as Ohio State, Cincinnati, Dayton, Bowling Green, Ohio University, Western Reserve, etc. This season, the CSC trackmen fell to

COMMENT ON SPORTS

FOOTBALL • • • •

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The executive secretary of the alumni of Ohio State University spoke some blunt and sensational words recently, John B. (Jack) Fallon advocated that the university stop charging admission for its football games and stop spending money to recruit athletes.

He said so much money was being spent on athletes at Ohio State that the university couldn't afford to help many high school valedictorians.

and those who are there to teach, Fallon declared.

Of course, the executive secretary is right. He will not have his way, or win this battle, even though he has just won a vote of vindication from Ohio State alumni. His opposition to sending Ohio State's football team to the Rose Bowl in 1962 made him a controversial figure, and his recent speech on football at the university was his first since that time.

Fallon says he isn't against football but that he just wants it brought into balance with the rest of the university.

From time to time conscientious individuals speak out against over-emphasis of football at our various colleges and universities, and they are almost invariably right. But college football is so popular with many of the alumni that it is always very difficult to de-emphasize it.

It is the most enjoyed link of many alumni to their alma mater. As such, it is asking a lot to appeal to their intellectual convictions to give it up.

But it is unquestionably true that college football as we know it in American universities and colleges is ridiculously over-emphasized. The main purpose at every school should be to educate the students, and to do this a good faculty is needed. This is more important than a good football team. But those individuals like Fallon are still voices in the wilderness. They will be heard but their advice will not be followed — by very many.

VIEWS OF REAL ESTATE

By JESSE L. WILLIAMS

"And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil." John 3:19, the Bible.

"Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God; and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God, for God is love." — 1 John 4:7 and 8, The Bible.

Sales management, training of salesmen — large firms usually put more emphasis on training than do the small companies in real estate, due to lack of finance. The second reason for lack of vital training of a company's salesman, is the attitude of management toward training. Some members of management have a very negative attitude toward training of salesmen, and then the salesmen working with that firm obtain very little training.

As to the value of training, no one would think of sending his children to public or private school and know the teachers were not trained to teach. The average school teacher must go to formal school four years above the high school level in order to obtain a license to teach other peoples' children. Well, real estate brokers and salesmen why not follow the example that has been set by the teaching profession? Then you'll know more about giving service in real estate. The time is now.

Who trains? The training function is handled in a number of ways. The responsibility for training rests with the line officials. In a company with no training specialists, not only is the responsibility for training that of the line, but all activities involved in training must be carried on by line executives.

Thus, in the typical small firm any training the salesmen receives is planned and carried out by the sales manager. The greatest reason for any salesman not earning a good living in real estate is due to the lack of training of the salesmen of the company.

In addition to the knowledge any salesman or broker has now, he or she should by all means, be willing and demonstrate, to attend all conferences and conventions he or she knows about now, if it is at all possible.

Notice: National Association of Real Estate Brokers, Inc. (Realtor) Convention, August 25-29, Sherman House Hotel, Chicago, Ill.

All salesmen are invited to attend and join now.

The two-hour program is a fast moving, dramatic and human document which traces the Champ's career from his humble beginnings as an Alabama share cropper's son to the highest peak of the heavy-weight boxing championship of the world. North Vs South In Annual Classic

By J. D. WILLIAMS

The Semi-pro Baseball League's 11th annual All-Star game will be unfolded this Sunday-afternoon, June 23, starting at 2 o'clock in Bellevue Park. The contest is expected to attract a record crowd. Pre-game activities start at 1:30.

It will be the North against the South, with Z. L. Pittman of the Flamingo Carriers, Sylvester Shaw of the South Memphis Chicks and James Cox of the Memphis Lions managing the South's top players, and Lonzo Patterson of the Klondike Angels and Anderson Jackson of the Barsotti Dodgers holding down managerial roles for the North.

The South has won the last three of the all-star games and piled up a total of six victories since the classic was started in 1953. Martin Stadium was the scene of the first contest and three were played at Russwood before both ball parks were demolished. Largest crowd to witness one of these games was estimated at 2,000 back in 1955 at Martin Stadium when the North won a zig-zag battle, 12-11.

In the battle slated for this Sunday, the North will have the edge in the pitching department while the South will present several outstanding hitters.

Players for the two teams were selected from 26 teams.

Winners of Sunday's game will meet the top all-star team from Nashville at a date yet to be announced.

Is it proper to call for Gordon's by name in English Pubs?

It's not a matter of being proper. It's unnecessary. For when most Englishmen ask for gin, they expect to get Gordon's. After all, its distinctive dryness and delicate flavour have been a part of English life for 194 years. Americans, however, have been enjoying Gordon's for a somewhat shorter span of time. So it is wise (and proper) to specify Gordon's by name. Your first sip of a Gordon's martini will tell you why it's the biggest selling gin over here as well as in England and the rest of the world.

Humiliation, Ridicule Used To Break Morale

JACKSON, Miss. — (ANP)—It is apparent to anyone who has watched the civil rights struggle in the streets of this capital city that a new technique for fighting Negro militancy is evolving.

The fire hose and police dog tactics of Birmingham's vanquished police commissioner, Eugene "Bull" Connor, are not being employed here. The fire department has lots of high pressure hose and there's plenty of water available. The police here also have dogs, clubs and guns. But these are not the chief weapons used to defend the status quo.

Instead the technique of humiliation is being used.

Everything is being done to crush the spirits of the Negro demonstrators by treating them with contempt and disdain. The local press, particularly the insulting, pro-segregationist Jackson Daily News and its rabid editor, Jimmy Ward, is also working hard to undermine the confidence of Jackson Negro citizens in their national leaders, particularly the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., and Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary.

Wilkins was arrested here recently for picketing a local store during anti-segregation demonstrations and charged with restraint of trade. Also arrested on the same charge was Medgar Evers, local NAACP field representative. He was killed Tuesday night.

As an example of the technique of disdain and humiliation, the white police refuse to touch Negroes. Instead, they are using Negro convicts borrowed from the local prisons to feed protesters into vehicles that carry them to a place of detention. When any of the protesters is bulky, it's the Negro convicts who do the lifting.

Also, everytime a demonstrator is seen with an American flag, the flag is confiscated. Some observers see this as a move by officials to indicate a feeling that Negroes are not American citizens.

Instead of using paddy wagons or buses, as has been done elsewhere, police here are using garbage trucks to transport those arrested.

The humiliation is not restricted to Negroes. The Negro convicts are used to haul away whites as well, as they did in the case of Barbara Masser, a white woman from Concord, Mass. She was pulled away by two of the husky cons after she picketed city hall. She was with three Negro pickets. All four were arrested.

Everything is being done to give the convicts assisting the police an aura of respectability. Suggestions have been made that they be financially compensated for their "valuable services" and it was even proposed that they be deputized. The impression is clear that a law breaker who cooperates with the whites can command more respect than a law abiding Negro who seeks his constitutional rights.

FAIRGROUNDS MOTE

Most of those arrested recently are carried to a makeshift compound at the Fairgrounds, referred to sarcastically as the "fairgrounds motel." The place, however, is no picnic ground to the Negro protesters quartered there, who include youths from Tougaloo Christian college. There was a report of police brutality there, as one of those being held complained that a fellow demonstrator was forced against a wall and "hit on the arms." Officials quickly denied the charge.

Heroes Of Emancipation

ALEXANDER CRUMMELL

"Let our posterity know that we their ancestors, uncultured and unlearned, amid all trials and temptations, were men of integrity. . . . were enabled to resist the seductions of ease and the intimidations of power; were true to themselves, the age in which they lived, their abstract race, and the cause of man; shrunk not from trial, nor from sufferings — but conscious of Responsibility and impelled by Duty, gave themselves up to the vindication of the high hopes, and the lofty aims of true Humanity!" So wrote Alexander Crummell, one of the two most highly educated American Negroes of his day.

Crummell was born a slave about 1821. While still in his teens he escaped to the North. Along with Henry Highland Garnet, he matriculated at an academy established by Abolitionists in Canaan, New Hampshire. These youngsters incurred the hostility of the townsfolk when they participated in the speechmaking at a Fourth of July celebration. The aroused citizenry hitched forty-five yoke of oxen to the school building, dragged it to a swamp and fired a parting salute to the Negro boys as they rode off to New York aboard

INSTITUTE ENROLLEE
Crummell, after the disastrous Fourth of July incident, enrolled at Onelda Institute, founded by the Quaker Abolitionist, Beriah Green, for colored youth. After completing his studies there, he was refused admission to an Episcopal seminary, but subsequently accepted at another in Boston. As a young student in 1840, he wrote the official proclamation of the Convention of Negroes in New York State, in which he stressed that Negroes belonged to America and that in accordance with the Declaration of Independence and with the Constitution they formed a part of it.

In 1842, Crummell opened his own Episcopal Chapel in Providence, Mass. After several months, his congregation dwindled and he asked his Bishop for a larger constituency. The Bishop sent him to Philadelphia with a letter to Bishop Onderdonk who advised Crummell that he would receive him into his diocese on one condition: no Negro priest could sit in his church convention, and no Negro church could ask for representation in it. Crummell replied: "I will never enter your diocese on such terms." Crummell later founded a chapel

The two students from Alabama had enrolled after overcoming the resistance of Governor George Wallace with the aid of Deputy Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach.

Meredith's Parents Tell Of Reaction In His Home Town

KANSAS CITY, Kans. — (ANP)

Mr. and Mrs. Moses (Cap) Meredith of Kosciusko, Miss., parents of James Meredith, Mississippi university's first Negro student admitted during mob violence turmoil, revealed that their son has had a rugged road to travel from early childhood in his quest for an education.

Stopping here last week, the

In New York. During this time, he became noted for his contribution in shaping a philosophy for the awakening Negro in his struggle for freedom. To this cause, Crummell brought a scholar's temper, familiarity with literature which a knowledge of history and a made it possible for him to write incisive essays and articles on a wide range of Negro themes. He zealously campaigned for the abolition of slavery and made frequent appearances in behalf of the anti-slavery movement.

SOLICITS FUNDS

In 1848, Crummell went to England to solicit funds for a new church he planned to build in New York. While speaking there he attracted the attention of such leadership.

house guests of relatives Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Allen, Merediths are on a vacation tour to the West coast with Mrs. Meredith's brother, Wallace Reid of Vallejo, Calif.

Meredith revealed that he had farmed many years before moving to the city where he and his family live. Most of his ten children, including James, who were brought up on the farm, had to walk four and one-half miles to get to the Negro school and the same distance back during their elementary school years.

"Many times the white students in buses, going to their schools, threw rocks at the walking Negro boys and girls," Meredith said. He said that the habit was stopped after the Negro boys filled their pockets with stones and began to fight back by throwing rocks at the students on the buses. "They began to stop chucking at the colored boys and girls," the father said.

After the Supreme Court decision in 1954, the Merediths said but they were not equal to the white schools. "They built some chicken coops," the father said.

"Our children had to go to school. We made it a must," the father said. "James was always a kid who wanted an education."

Since their son has been attending the University of Mississippi, the Merediths said they have discovered that many of their hometown neighbors and friends "stay away from us and have very little to say."

"They are scared of the white folks. They would tell the colored to stay away from us. I call them the scared Jesus folk," Meredith said.

Even at the church the Merediths attends, Mrs. Meredith said the pastor has never uttered a word about their son entering Ole Miss; but some of the other Negro churches have spoken out favorably about James integrating the university.

I don't depend on man; I depend upon God, for my protection, Meredith said after revealing that we have no fear.

During the time of the mob violence on the campus in Oxford, Miss., the Merediths said someone shot into their home.

"We received phone calls, we got letters. One said: Take James Meredith out. We don't want any more Merediths raised in Mississippi, the mother reported.

At one time he was getting about 100 letters and messages a day.

Memphian One Of Last To Talk With Slain NAACP Aide

JACKSON, Miss. — (ANP) — A dentist, who is vice president of the Memphis NAACP and his wife, who is executive secretary of the branch, were among the last persons to talk with Medgar Evers before he was slain by a sniper's bullet in the back here last week.

Dr. Vasco A. Smith Jr., was principal speaker at an NAACP meeting at New Jerusalem Baptist Church. Mrs. Smith was in the audience.

Evers was seated near Dr. Smith on the platform. The Smiths stayed overnight at the I. S. Sanders home in Jackson. The Sanders operate a dress shop.

"Medgar came by the Sanders home after the meeting to talk to Mrs. Smith and me," Dr. Smith said.

WITH LAWYERS

"The meeting was over between 10:30 and 11, and it was just before midnight when he came. He remained until after midnight. He

Some would include pieces of rope, Mrs. Meredith added.

Asked if they advised or talked with their son about his trials at the University of Mississippi, the father stated that on one occasion when James came home for a visit and planned to return to school, his father suggested that James take a different route, so that he might escape trouble on the road back to the university.

He told me then, Cap, that's no trouble. We have run too much.

When he got ready to go to enroll in the university, we took him up town to one of the big stores and picked out a suit for $85. We wanted him to look nice. They were just as nice to us in the store, and they still are nice to us and they ask about him, the father related.

Mrs. Meredith laughed as he recalled that he and another son went out to buy a used car, while the son was on a visit in Kosciusko. The white salesman asked them: Who are you? Are you any kin to that James Meredith? The father said the dealer refused to sell them anything when he learned that they were kin. We went right on to another used car place and they welcomed us and did not ask who we were.

had been with some NAACP lawyers who are preparing a brief in appeal to the court decision against demonstrations.

"He left the lawyers to come by and see us. With him was Clotter Current, national director of branches.

"Medgar got a call from the lawyers at the Sanders home that they needed more legalized paper. He was being followed all day. He had taken Current home.

HAS BEEN FOLLOWED
"At the Sanders home, he had to be safely tucked in, they turned told us he was being followed all day. He said he believed it was police who had been following. It's too bad they didn't follow him home. Perhaps when they saw he was approaching home and would left to get it for them. I presume away."

"Medgar was an old and close friend of Mrs. Smith and myself. We were distressed to get the news. If I had to make an opinion, I would say his death will only redouble the determination of the NAACP in Mississippi. It will focus attention on the immediate thing and probably will help put over President Kennedy's proposed Civil Rights legislation."

FIREMAN'S POLE MUST GO

TULSA, Okla. — Firemen at the new central fire station will not have a pole to slide down when called to a fire. Too many firemen have been hurt sliding down and living quarters were moved to the first floor.

G. L. Sartain, fire chief, said living quarters on the second floor and the pole originated in the days when horses lived on the first floor.
