CIVIL RIGHTS NOW 'LAW OF LAND'

American Spirit Seen In Law-- CUCRL

NEW YORK — (UPI) — The Council for United Civil Rights Leadership, in an Independence Day statement, July 4th expressed the belief that "the historic spirit of America has now been embodied in the law of the land" with the enactment of the civil rights bill.

"We profoundly hope that compliance will prove to be widespread and that neither litigation nor demonstration will become necessary in most communities.

"We look forward to an end to the need for protest and contest," the statement said.

The council represents most of the major civil rights organizations, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Urban League, the Congress of Racial Equality, and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Meanwhile, Frank Eleazer, of United Press International, wrote: "For the nation's sweeping new civil rights law many congressmen say you can thank or blame not only the leaders who sponsored it but also the leaders who fought it.

"With benefit of hindsight they say the fate of the most far-reaching anti-discrimination measure since the post Civil War era may have been sealed before it was even proposed — on the day in May, 1963, when Eugene Bull Connor, then police commissioner of Birmingham, Ala., turned loose the dogs and the hoses on Negro demonstrators.

"It was only a few weeks later that President John F. Kennedy, soon to be assassinated, abandoned his previous plan to seek a moderate extension of minority voting right laws and laid before Congress a full-scale civil rights package.

"Initially, nobody in Congress thought much of the chances for final enactment of a law that would open doors of hotels and restaurants to patronage of all solvent, orderly comers.

President Signs House Passed Historic Laws

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON—(UPI)—Congress passed the civil rights bill July 2 and President Johnson signed it into the law of the land with a plea that all Americans join in this effort "to bring justice and hope to all of our people and to bring peace to our land."

The measure, born in the violence of the Negro protest movement against discrimination, completed its congressional journey around 2 p. m. EDT Thursday when

Maceo Walker Chosen By Pres. Johnson

A. Maceo Walker, president of Tri-State Bank and Universal Life Insurance Company, goes to Washington soon to learn more about the operation of the National Citizens Committee for Community Relations of which he is a member.

He was named to the committee last week by President Lyndon Johnson.

Mr. Walker, a prominent Democrat and former member of the Memphis Transit Authority, wired his acceptance last Saturday.

Carl Carson, car rental executive and MTA member, is also a member of the committee.

President Johnson, in his wire to Mr. Walker, said: "It is ocntemplated that after the organization of the community relations service there will be a meeting of this Citizens Committee at which time the directions of the overall national program will be fully spelled out and your own role will be more cleary defined.

"I urge you as a private citizen to use your leadership in the meantime to promote a spirit of acceptance and observance in your own community and business area."

Turner Is Threatened; Tea Room Serving All!

NAACP President Jesse H. Turner received several threatening telephone calls, but other than that it was calm here as the nationwide Civil Rights Bill became law.

Normal Tea Room, the popular student restaurant near Memphis State University, desegregated Monday after refusing to serve Negroes last Friday.

The tea room had been one of the few spots in Memphis refusing to serve Negroes. NAACP youth group picketed the restaurant several weeks before the Civil Rights Bill was signed.

In another important move, Kemmons Wilson, president of the 488-member Holiday Inns of America, Monday ordered all inns to end segregation with "careful tact and restraint."

In handing down the order, he said: "Seldom does a democracy enjoy unanimity on any question, but we all know that the successful operation of a democratic nation requires that its people abide by its law, popular or unpopular."

Mr. Turner received the threatening telephone calls last week. He was told he should look behind him all the time. The calls also threatened his wife and their children.

The NAACP head reported the calls to police but did not ask for protection.

NLRB Rules Union Racism Violative

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — In a precedent—shattering ruling, the National Labor Relations Board said Thursday that a union practicing racial discrimination is guilty of unfair labor practices under federal law.

The decision, if upheld by the courts after the expected appeal, could open the door for the NLRB to receive many more complaints of racial discrimination by unions.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) hailed the ruling as "a most significant breakthrough" of "almost revolutionary proportions so far as labor law is concerned."

Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel, said the ruling places a new tool in the hands of Negroes seeking equal job opportunities.

Involved in the case was the Hughes Tool Company's plant at Houston, Tex., and Loca's 1 and 2 of the Independent Metal Workers Union, which is not affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Local 1 is all white and Local 2 is Negro.

The NLRB unanimously ruled that Local 1 was guilty of violating the National Labor Relations Act by not processing a grievance filed by Ivory Davis, a Negro worker who belonged to Local 2.

The contract with the Hughes Tool Company provided for job segregation and greater job opportunities for white workers, including an apprenticeship program from which Negroes were excluded.

Davis' grievance was that he was eliminated from a list of Hughes employes who had applied for apprentice training. When Local 1 refused to press this grievance, he took his complaint to the NLRB.

The majority ruling took the position that a union commits an unfair labor practice when, in its capacity as bargaining representative of all the employes, it causes discrimination against some of them along racial lines.

Gorine College Grads Get Degrees

Gorine College of Cosmetology and Physio Therapy, Inc., 449 Beale held its annual commencement program at Pentecostal Temple, Sunday, uly 5, at 3 p. m. Class night was observed with a banquet Friday night, June 26, at Universal Lite.

Rev. B. L. Hooks was the commencement speaker. He was introduced by Otha L. Brandon, of the Gorine board of trustees. Mrs. Loretta Kateo, board secretary, presented the candidates for graduation who were presented diplomas by Rev. S. A. Owen, also a trustee.

Others appearing on the program were Miss Marguerite Hall, who gave the salutatory address; Bishop J. O. Patterson, meditation; Mrs. Ilean Roberts, Eloise Morgan, Bertha Givhan, Mrs. Mary Robinson and Elizabeth Carr Mincy.

The college choir, under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Beauchamp, rendered music.

The school's year book is dedicated to the late Madam Gold S. Morgan Young, who founded the beauty school in 1911 at Greenwood, Miss. A pioneer in the field of beauty culture, Madam Young moved her school to Memphis in 1919, where she remained at its helm until her death in October 1963.

Mrs. Vassie B. Edingbourgh, who worked closely with Madam Young, is now director.

Funeral services for Mr. Plummer Huddleson were held at St. Mark Baptist Church, Hennings, Tenn., on June 28. Rev. P. H. Baker delivered the eulogy. Barlow Funeral Home was in charge.

Other participants in the services were Mrs. Arthelia Mason who sang a solo; Mrs. Jessie Lake who read the obituary, and Mrs. Lucille Flaggs, who acknowledged the messages of condolence. Selections were "What a Friend," and "Leave it There."

NEW HOPE CME CHURCH

New Hope CME Church of Hennings was in high spirit Sunday, July 5, when the pastor, Rev. H. L. Olaker, brought a touching message, after which communion was served by the pastor, assisted by the Stewardess Board. The subject of the message was "When The Cross Gets too Heavy, Bring it to Jesus."

Everyone was happy to see Mrs. Lillie Sue Miller back and in the choir with such good singing.

After services the pastor, Rev. Olaker, and five other cars motored to the Rock of Ages CME Church at Tiptonville, pastored by Rev. W. H. Sims, where they were courteously received.

An elaborate dinner was served in the high school cafeteria. After feasting on many kinds of vegetables, macaroni and cheese, creamed sweet potatoes, fresh fish, barbecued chicken, ribs, fried chicken, boiled ham, and for dessert, pies and cakes of all kinds, we, the pastor and members of New Hope, were even given food to take home. Your reporter, being a choir member, was in the midst of everything. A feature of the dinner was a yellow layer cake with white cocoanut filling, made espeically for their pastor, Rev. Sims, who divided it with the visitors.

After dinner, services were called to order with the New Hope choir leading off with a selection. Mr. Fred oMntgomery sang "How I Got Over."

Rev. H. L. Olaker brought a fiery message which was enjoyed by all. The visiting choir and home choir rendered several numbers. Mr. Franklin Green sang a solo.

The pastor and members of New Hope shall remember this day for a long time.

We are also grateful to Mr. Fred Montgomery, Mr. Franklin Green, Mr. Otis Fields, Mr. J. Plummer and all others for the use of their cars.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Sims have as their house guest, his brother, Mr. Blonie Bates of Chicago, Ill.

On the sick list this week are Mrs. Willie Ada Curry, Mrs. Josephine Allen of Hennings, Mrs. Fred Montgomery and Mrs. Maggie Halliburton.

The young people of New Hope CME Church had a nice program Sunday night along with a visiting choir. They raised $30.00.

Please continue to leave news for your reporter at Thomas Funeral Home as early as possible in order to meet the deadline.

Jaxon 'Bomber' Gives Names Of Other Klansmen In Crime

By RANDOLPH PENDLETON

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (UPI) — Confessed dynamiter William Rosecrans spread the blame for blowing up a Negro home here to five Ku Klux Klansmen on trial for conspiracy Friday, testifying they all knew that dynamite they stole "would be used on niggers."

Rosecrans, brought here from the federal prison at Tallahassee where he is serving a seven-year term for the Feb. 16 bombing of a Negro boy's home—in which no one was badly injured—also to'd the 12-man jury of whites that two of the defendants, Barton Griffin and Robert Gentry, helped him steal dynamite.

The three, Rosecrans said took 13 cases of dynamite, each containing 125 sticks with blasting caps, from two storage sheds in a wooded area north of Jacksonville.

Rosecrans, slightly built, crew cut and wearing an oversized dark blue suit, said under prosecution questioning that all five of the defendants "understood the dynamite would be used on niggers."

He said he had joined the K'an himself in January of this year, with Griffin's help, "to fight niggers."

The Indiana mechanic said he and the five Klansmen charged with conspiring with him in the bombing of the home of 6-year-old Donald Godfrey, also had made homemade bombs and discussed using them on a local NAACP headquarters as well as on a liquor store run by whites but which catered to Negroes.

About the Godfrey home bombing itself, which Rosecrans admitted actually carrying out, he testified it was Griffin who to'd him the day before the bombing that "tonight would be a good night to get the nigger in Lackawanna."

Lackawanna is the elementary school which the Godfrey boy integrated under a federal court order.

Griffin had also said earlier after the dynamite was stolen that the first blast would be at the home of "he boy in Lackawanna," Rosecrans said.

He said the charge used to wreck the home consisted of 20 sticks of dynamite stuffed into a one-gallon can with eight feet of fuse.

The charge was made up in the garage of defendant Donald Eugene Spegal, Rosecrans said. He said he recal'ed telling Spegal as they prepared it, "This ought to do a good job."

He said primer cord and the fuse were taped to the can in the garage of Willie Eugene Wilson, another of the defendants.

The fifth man on trial is Jacky Don Harden. All the defendants have been officials of local Klan groups.

Sheriff Candidate Morris Raps Hinds

Charging that Sheriff M. A. Hinds is guilty of a "thinly veiled attempt to perpetuate himself in office,' Bul Morris, candidate for Sheriff, ripped into the present administration of the sheriff's department.

"Our Sheriff announced that he is running for constable and at the same time, announced his endorsement of his chief deputy for sheriff," Morris said.

"How naive does the Sheriff think the people of this county are? It's obvious that he only intends to bide his time as constable until he can regain the reins of the sheriff's office through one device or another," Morris added.

"I wouldnt be surprised to see the would - be constable named as chief deputy — if his protege could be elected. But I don't think he can be. The people aren't going to fall for this game of political leapfrog.

"Citizens of this county are tired of the inept, inefficient and suspicious operation of the Sheriff's Department.

"They are looking for a change — change which once again will return the honored office to public trust."

Candidate Morris opened his headquarters Tuesday night, July 7, at 1661 Madison Avenue.

The Links' formal banquet at Nassau was the MOST.. Speaker for the ocasion was Atty. Constance Mot ey of the NAACP National Defense Office. Also claiming much attention were Dr. John W. Davis former president of West Virginia State College, and Atty. Elreta Alexander, the Links' legal advisor. An international salute was given by Dr. Helen Edmonds.

BREAKFAST ON SUNDAY CLIMAXES ASSEMBLY

Link Lugusta Colston, chairman and president of the Greater Miami Chapter, presided at the closing event, a beautifu'ly planned breakfast .... It was Link Fairfax Holmes of Denver who gave the invocation ... and Link Josephine B. Smith, national officer, who saluted the group assembled .... and among those honored at this climaxing event were Link Sara Scott, co-founder of the organization .... Link Katie Greene of Philly who is another all-around person ..... Link Pauline Weeden, past president .... Link Daisy Lampkins (who has often visited Memphis) .... Link Evelyn Reynolds (wife of the famed Atty. Hobson Reynolds and author of three books in her own rights .... Mrs. Anna Julian and her famed husband, a connecting Link, Dr. Percy Julian ... and Mrs. Gertrude Nabrit Thomas who has served the national as financial secretary.

LINKS ENTERTAINED BY ROYALTY

With a doubt ,an invitation from SIR ROLAND SYMONETTE, premier, and LADY SYMONETTE and SIR STAFFORD SANDS, minister of finance and tourism and LADY SANDS to attend a cocktail party at the mansion and estate of Sir Stafford Sands and Lady Sands was the most .. To say that the estate was beautiful is putting it mild ..... Cars were stopped outside the compound ... and guards stood at the gates where more than 500 guests entered. We went directly to the living area ..... on thru the drawing room to the back verando where four bars were set up on split level areas. .... Guests milled around in the huge back garden and made pictures of a fountain and statues that stood in the background of the compound. Elegance, warmth and charm were shown by the English royalty. Food and open face sandwiches were served with cocktails by more than 50 waiters and bartenders. This affair was most unusual and most outstanding for all of us .... and Sir Sands and Sir Symonette and their ladies posed for pictures with many Links .... especially the national officers.

LINKS PROPOSE $75,000 FOR ORGANIZATIONS

In one of the climaxing meetings, Links agreed to give $75,000 (for the next three years) to the NAACP chair of law, Educational Foundation ... to the Youthmobile Employment Opportunities Clinic ... the National Urban League .... and to the Operation Security, The United States Defense Bond Program .... and this announcement was made by our national president who was presented on Friday by Link Maude Reid, chairman of the Assembly and Member of the Greater Miami Chapter.

LINKS NOTICED

Among the national officers and visitors (who spoke) that I managed to see in the crowds .... and those we came in contact with were Link Vivian Beamon (whom we are proud to have as our "first lady") ..... Link Pauline (Polly) Wheeden, past president ..... Dr. Helen Edmonds .... Senator Constant Motley who introduced us to her young son and husband ..... Dr. oDrothy Davis, past president of West Virginia State College and father of Mrs. Dorothy McDaniels of Memphis who asked about Dorothy and family .... as he told us that he went to Morehouse to see yound Ted .... and inquired about the Mason sisters, Julia and Ruth, and Dr. Leland Atkins to whom he fee's very close ..... Link Anna Julian of Chicago and Phoenix .... Link Geraldine Smith .... Link Sara Scott, co-founder whom we saw only in passing ..... Link Mamie Williams, Link Minnie Gaston of the Gaston Interprises in Birmingham who holds the money for Links ..... Elreta Alexander, famed lawyer who wears her wealth with ease .... and it was said that she lent 15 members hats to wear to the luncheon .... Link Norv'eate Downing of New Port News who has stopped off here .... Link Ursula Morrell of California who a close friend to Helen Howard one of the founders of this chapter).

A number of other Links that we chatted with and were around with were Link Geraldine Solomon who is close to my relatives in Phoenix, Ruby Johnson of St. Louis .... Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moses (our past regional chairman and her friendly husband, E'mer, who was given an award for having attended every Links Assembly .... Mrs. Ann Robinson ,attractive Houston matron who often visited Marion Johns here .... Mr. and Mrs. C. Vance, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pogg, Mr. and Mrs. Luther White, Mrs. A. Gillespie all of Cleveland who asked about the Leland Atkins Mrs. Will Florence Robins of K. C. who has been the Maceo Walker's house guest here .... Mrs. Sadie Washington of Langston .... Mrs. Dorothy Harrison, past national president of De'ta Sigma Theta and spouce of the past President of Langston University .... Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Holmes (a popular Denver couple related to the R. S. Lewis family of Memphis) ..... Mrs. Ruth White of Dallas .... Mrs. Augusta Morgan of Oklahoma City (both having visited Mrs. Kelso Hozay here .... Mrs. Portia Trenholm, past regional director of Alpha Kappa Alpha and wife of the late President of Alabama State College at Montgomery .... Mr. and Mrs. Reddix (she is Daisy of Jackson, Miss.) ..... Herb Wright of Phillip Morris who was there in his gracious manner .... Mrs. Frances Matlock of Chicago who heads publicity for Links .... and Mrs. Mildred Freeman and Mrs. Margaret Sims (both Nashville Links).

We were also around with Mrs. Viola Borders (Bobbie) and her sister Mrs. Lois Hovell of Fort Worth and Alexandria, La. ..... Mrs. C. W. (Mutell) Flint, Sr., of Ft. Worth all who have visited Dr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers and Mrs. Kelso here .... Mrs. Nannette Williams (wife of the late famed Dr. Frank Williams and cousin to Mrs. Inez Woods here who has often visited the Maceo Walkers ..... Mrs. Peggie Hunter and Mrs. Silverene Young, close friend and sister-in-law to Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Young .... with them was Mrs. "Smitty" Taliferro .... With us most of the time was my relative, Mrs. Vera Godwell, wife of Dr. John Codwell. Mrs. Evelyn Jones, a charming Cincinnatian with whom many Memphians have spent much time ... Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Mitchell of Tuskegee whom we met with Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Ish at the residence of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barnette .... Link Margaret Davis Bowen wife of a prominent late Methodist bishop and a past president of Alpha Kappa Alpha who inquired about Mrs. Ethel Perkins with whom she worked close'y in the sorority .... Mrs. Thelma Ayres Hardiman (a native of Memphis) who is still leading .... and heading committees .... Coming from Buffalo with Thelma was another Link .... and we spent tie in their Ocean side suite .... Another Memphian that we were around with was Link Christine Meade, a national officer and leader in the Links who came from her home in Seattle ..... Christine is the sister of Mrs. Valeria Jefferies on South Parkway (Mrs. Leo) .... Mrs. A. Randolph who visited Sallie Bartho'omew here, Mrs. Juanita Toomer of Atlanta ..., Mrs. Ruth Hubbard of Cleveland who also talked about the L. L. Atkins.

Popular Mrs. Katie Green of Philly who was with Alma much of the time ..... Mrs. Gwen Floyd whom we all know in Little Rock and in the hotel we ran into a newly married couple, the former Miss Peggie Hilliard who was recently married to Mr. J. Underwood of Cleveland. Miss Hilliard is the niece of Mrs. Ruth Parker (John) who entertained for them several weeks ago. The couple stopped at the Emera'd Beach where Alma and I were guests.

Thelma Ayers Hardiman was vice chairman of the nominating committee .. and also members of this comm. were Alma Booth and Harriette Walker. Harriette also served as a member of the leadership team under problems on the forum and she was one of the hostesses at the luncheon.

The Walkers went by ship to Nassau ... as many others did. Many Links, Bob-o-Links and Connecting Links took the Island Hopping to Kingston, Jamaica, San Juan in Puerto Rico and to St. Thomas.

SAINT CECELIA GUILD LAWN PARTY IS TREMENDOUS SUCCESS

On a hot evening, many members of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and their friends were thrilled to get out into the open .... and for sure many of them attended the annual lawn party given by the Saint Cecelia Guild of the church on the back lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osburne.

The real rugcutters (the young set) had a whole side for dancing for themselves .... Games were played and there was enough food for all.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tarpley were the very first to be seen when we entered (she taking over prizes). Others noticed during the evening were Mr .and Mrs. John Johnson and their youngsters, LaJuana and Jeana. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jones, Mrs. Wendell Robinson, Mrs. Helen Shelby, Mr .and Mrs. Willie Anderson, Mrs. Pearl Gordon and her small son, Johnnie .... Mrs. D. E. MR. AND MRS. RALPH O. JOHNSON following wedding ceremony at Mt. Olive CME Church. The bride is the former Miss Sarita Brown of Memphis. Mr. Johnson is from Orlando, Fla.

Miss Brown Wed To Ralph Johnson

A wedding of outstanding interest in several states was the late June uniting of Miss Sarita Brown to Ralph O. Johnson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown Sr. of 1550 South Wellington. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mrs. O. T. Johnson of Orlando, Fla.

The Marriage was solemnized before a packed audience of relatives, friends and out-of-town guests at Mount Olive Cathedral (where two of the bride's late great uncles had pastored) by the Rev. T. C. Lightfoot.

Baskets of white stock, an archway made of greenery and gardenias and glowing white tapers added rich notes in the high-domed church. Mr. Wilford Glenn played an arrengement of nuptial music.

The very attractive young bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an elaborate gown of silk organza that featured an empire bodice accented with chantilly lace. The skirt was designed with chapel train. A pearl tiera held her shoulder-length veil of il'usion .. and she carried a prayer book beautifully decorated with pearls and topped by a white orchid.

Miss Shirley Johnson of Waycross, Ga. was maid-of-honor and bridesmaids were Miss Mayolene Williams of St. Louis, Mrs. Gloria Henry of Orlando, Fla.; Miss Gloria Massey of Memphis and Mrs. Joyce Lynom Young, the bride's cousin, also of Memphis.

They wore identical gowns of peau de soie fashioned along sheath lines with full silk organza skirts forming a full skirt. Their headdresses were yellow and they carried cascades of yellow roses.

Lee McElroy, the groom's cousin who came from his home in Orlando, was bestman. Ushers were Dennis Eze'l of Orlando, Ronnie Mitchell of Orlando, Noble Sissle Jr., (son of the famed band director) of New York City and the bride's brother, Alfred R. Brown.

The little flower girl, Toya E. Pinkston and cousin to the bride, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Pinkston. The ring-bearer, L. Lloyd Pinkston and cousin to the bride, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Pinkston.

The bride's mother wore a lovely gown of pink chantilly lace designed with a full skirt. Her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Rachel Brown, wore a lovely gown of beige lace and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Beal of Laurel, Miss., wore a stunning dress of Blue crepe. All wore purple orchids.

Among the other out-of-town guests who came for the wedding were Mrs. Ann Powell, the bride's aunt who came from her home in Louisville .... Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thrope, the bride's uncle and aunt of Tallahassee, Fla., and their youngsters, Elaine, Edwin, Charles and Jean.

Other members of the family seen chatting together immediately after the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pinkston, the bride's uncle and aunt and their kids, Paula and Howard, Jr. ..... and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Pinkston, another uncle and aunt whose youngsters were in the wedding, and Mrs. Mattie Tyus, the bride's aunt.

Immediately after the wedding, the bride's parents entertained with an elaborately planned reception at their new and recently decorated home on South Wellington.

The living and dining area was decorated with white stock and greenery ... and at intervals white wedding bells were seen in this setting as well as in the huge back flower garden where the over-flowing crowd stood enjoying the beauty of the garden.

The bride's table, overlaid with a satin cloth, held a three - tiered cake flanked by sterling candelabras that stood on either side and was garnished with sprays of lilies of the valley.

Two L-shaped refreshment tables, overlaid with yellow and white satin cloths, were in the back gardens. - Catering the event was Mrs. Jana Porter and her catering service.

Serving as hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Mattye B. Tyuys, the bride's aunt .... Miss Myrna D. Williams, the bride's cousin .... Miss Genevieve Jones, Mrs. Bernice Williams, the bride's aunt .... Mrs. Gloria Lindsey, and Miss Phyllis Nichols.

Among the many guests who congratulated the radiant young coup'e were Miss Charlsey Hurd, Mrs. S. W. Wilson, Mrs. Kathleen Dunford, Mrs. Norean Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Winston, Mrs. Myrtle Crawford and her twin sister, Mrs. Mildred Hodges; Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. McLemore. MissErma Laws, Miss Velma Lois Jones, Mr. W. H. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lindsey, Jr., Mrs. J. L. Tolbert and Mrs Willie Lewis;

Mrs. Ophelis Flowers, Mrs. Margaret Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McNairy, Mrs. Phillip Johnson, Mrs. Floy Johnson, Mrs. Gertrude Armstrong, Mrs. Narcissa Jones, the bride's aunt ..... Miss Mary Range, Dr. W. O. Speight, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lynom, Mrs. Willie Turner, Mrs. Ernestine Scott, Mrs. Bobbie Reddick, Mrs. Minnie Allen, Mrs. Katherine Alfred, Mrs. Clinton Ray, Mrs. Caffrey Bartholomew and Mrs. Louise Sanford.

VIEWS OF REAL ESTATE

By JESSE L. WILLIAMS

"There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death."—Proverbs 16 Chapter, 25 Verse.—The Holy Bible.

"If ye love me, keep my commandments."—John 14 Chapter, 15 Verse—The Holy Bible

FEDERAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATION

At the outset, the legislation which established the federal housing administration had two broad objective: first, titles I and II undertook to entice timid investment money to come out of hiding and start work in the construction field.

By shifting much of the risk from private investors to a governmental agency, it was hoped that employment in the building trades would be stimulated and that production schedules in the durable goods industries would be stepped up. By these means it was hoped that FHA would contribute to recovery from the depression that was present.

The second major objective at the beginning was expressed in title III. Those who were disappointed that the home loan bank system set up a credit reserve program based upon loans to be repaid by the borrowers, instead of a mortgage discount system that would enable mortgagees to free their capital by the sa'e of mortgages in order that they could finance new mortgages, looked to this title III to meet their requirements.

FUNCTIONS OF FHA.

Since its organization in 1934, a variety of functions have been added to the FHA program. These are changing times in Real Estate as in every walk of this life. A Real Estate Salesman or Broker must keep abreast with these changes. Sometimes, ask your real estate salesman or broker what conventions, conferences or any discussions pertaining to real estate has he attended recently, and if not any encourage him to do so from now on if he intends to give the best of service to his c'ients.

Just about all our school teachers, medical men or lawyers must do this very thing in order to keep up with the latest techniques and changes in his or her field. Why not our real estate salesmen and brokers?

Mrs. Avent Hosts LCC's

The last meeting of the Ladies Community Club was held at the home of Mrs. Maylee Avant, 1656 Arkansas St.

The president, Mrs. T. J. Colston, presided, with Mrs. Lelia Crawford leading the devotions. Committee reports were heard and household hints given by Mrs. L. B. Hawkins.

Enjoying the delicious repast served by the hostess were: Mesdames Rosielee Lee, Mamie Miller, Jessie Johnson, C. H. Grimes, Loise Houston, Hannah Holloway, Fannie Clark, Milas Watkins, Adeline Henry, Thyal Mae Jones, Fannie Royal, Amanda Kyles, Mattie French, Addie Wright, Kentie W. Green and Mrs. Ressie Jackson, who voiced thanks to the hostess.

Mrs. Margie Arnold, 1637 Hanauer, was a gracious hostess to the previous meeting.

The next meeting is scheduled for July 14, 7:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Edna Brown.

Touring Teenagers Will Lunch Here

A group of teen - age girls and boys from nine southern and border states entered their gateway to the future when they boarded two buses in Montgomery, Ala., Tuesday, June 30.

They are participants in the cross country "Delta Teen - Lift" organized to help culturally - deprived children prepare themselves for new opportunities.

Accomanied by 6 adult tour leaders, the 32 girls and 11 boys will visit colleges, libraries, museums, business and industiral firms, newspaper, radio and television stations, airports, science laboratories and points of historical interest in Montgomery, Birmingham and Huntsville, Ala.; Chattanooga and Nashville, Tenn.; Louisville, Ky. and St. Louis, Mo. Before returning to their hometowns, they will participate in a career conference in St. Louis.

They will have dinner in Memphis this Sunday, July 12, at 2 p. m. on the return trip to Montgomery.

Delta Sigma Theta, a national women's interracial public service organization, is sponsoring and paying all expenses for this experiment in motivating teenagers to continue their education and plan for new careers being opened to Negro youth.

It is the second "Delta Teen-Lift". Last summer the sorority took one busload of children on a similar adventure which began in Atlanta, Ga., and ended in Washington, D. C.

Civil Rights – The Law

President Lyndon B. Johnson signed into law July 2nd the nation's most sweeping civil rights bill since "reconstruction days."

The President reportedly used the same table President Lincoln used 101 years ago for the historic signing of his Emancipation Proclamation to add his signature to the freedom legislation.

Submitted a little over a year ago by the late President John F. Kennedy the bill hurdled its final barrier on July 2 when the House voted final approval of amendments, 289-126.

Passage of the measure culminates the longest and bitterest fight ever staged on the Senate floor. Weakening amendments tore away constantly at the bill's structure during its stay in the Senate, but it is still the strongest weapon against die-hard discrimination ever to emerge from Capitol Hill.

Its bi-partisan backers made history on June 10 by voting a gag rule which limited debate on the bill and virtually shattered the prime weapon of Dixiecrat opponents — the filibuster.

The bill was guided during its rocky course through the Senate by a powerful and influential bi-partisan group composed of Senators Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.; Evertt Dirksen, R-Ill.; Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.; Kenneth Keating, R-New York; Jacob Javits, R-New York; Warren Mabnuson, D-Wash., and Phillip Hart, D-Mich.

Chief provisions are Title II and Title VI, banning discrimination in public accommodations and the withholdng of federal funds for various programs including hospital construction, from states that discriminate.

An Opportunity To Improve Transportation

Recent Congressional passage of the $375-million mass transit bill authorizing federal grants to help major cities rescue their outmoded mass transportation problems could be a boom for the Atlanta area

Atlanta and the five metropolitan area governments appropriated $300-thousand almost two years ago to study the feasibility of a rapid transit system in the city and surrounding counties. The study pointed to an immediate need for such a transportation program.

In November, local county governments will have an opportunity to vote in the general election on a constitutional amendment to decide whether they would like to have rapid transportation in their individual areas.

A program to overcome existing apathy surrounding the far-reaching federally assisted transit program has been undertaken by former Gov. Ernest Vandiver and his Committee of 100 citizens. If Atlanta is to move ahead for her rightful place in this century, a transportation program to move thousands of citizens to and from work in a matter of minutes is all essential.

The federal mass transit bill, which is contingent upon development of a workable local program, provides two-thirds of the funds and local governments pick up the balance of the tab.

The bill provides federal money for purchase of right-of-way, parking facilities, stations and terminals, rail cars and buses.

We who believe in progress for our city should rally behind this constitutional amendment in November. Now is the time to halt the present and future traffic bottlenecks in Atlanta.

PRESIDENT SIGNS

the House passed it on a 289 to 126 vote.

The House action, stamping approval on the compromise version which had passed the Senate June 19, came one year and two weeks after the late President John F. Kennedy sent the bill to Congress.

Five hours later, in an impressive ceremony in the White House, Johnson put his signature to the bill. The proceedings including a 10-minute televised address to the nation by the President, were attended by senators, representatives, Cabinet members, and civil rights, religious and labor leaders .

BILL A "CHALLENGE"

The President, in his address, said the bill is "a chalelnge to all of us to go to work to eliminate the last vestiges of injustice in our beloved country."

He then announced a five -point program to implement the bill, starting with the appointment of former Florida Gov. Leroy Collins as head of the Community Relations Service.

Collins now is president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

The purpose of the Community Relations Service, established by the bill, is to conciliate racial disputes before the federal government would have to step in.

Johnson also said he would appoint a committee of distinguished Americans to help Collins.

OTHER POINTS

The other three points he announced were:

He will send Congress a supplemental appropriation to pay the costs of imlementing the law, and will request fast action.

He met with his Cabinet Thursday to ask them to see that government agencies do their duty under the bill.

He will ask officials to meet with representative groups around the country to discuss implementation of the bill.

Among those at the White House Thursday night were the Rev. Martin Luther King, Roy Wilkins and Clarence Mitchell of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; James Farmer, head of the Congress of Racial Equality, and Whitney Young of the Urban League.

Also present was veteran labor leader A. Phillip Randolph, the prime mover in the civil rights march on Washington last Aug. 28.

LONG FILIBUSTER

The bill that passed Congress Thursday originally passed the House last February, on a 290 to 130 vote. Then it went to the Senate, where it became bogged down in the longest filibuster in the nation's history, before passage on June 19.

The measure had to go back to the House because the Senate bill was an amended version of the House legislation. The House Thursday accepted the Senate amendments, which placed emphasis on first seeking voluntary compliance without federal intervention, and on initial reliance on state or local anti - discrimination laws where they exist.

This compromise was largely worked out by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, with the assistance of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Both were in the White House for the signing ceremony.

Johnson, in his speech, paid tribute to the Republicans who supported the bill.

OPENING REMARK

The President opened his address with the remark that "188 years ago this week, a small band of valient men began a struggle for freedom.

"They pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor, not only to found a nation, but to forge an ideal of freedom — not only for political independence but for personal liberty — not only to eliminate foreign rule but to establish the rule of justice in the affairs of men."

He said those who founded America knew that freedom would be secure only if each generation fought to renew and enlarge its meaning.

"Now our generation of Americans have been called on to continue the unending search for justice within our own borders," he said.

"We believe all men are created equal. Yet many are denied equal treatment.

"We believe all men have certain unalienable rights. Yet many Americans do not enjoy those rights.

"He believe all men are entitled to the blessings of liberty. Yet millions are being deprived of those blessings — not because of their own failures, but because of the color of their skin."

EMBEDDED IN HISTORY

The President declared that the reasons for this are deeply embedded in history and tradition and the nature of man.

"We can understand — without rancor or hatred — how this happened," he said. "But it cannot continue."

He declared, "our Constitution, the foundation of our republic, forbids it. The principles of our freedom forbid it. Morality forbids it. And the law I will sign tonight forbids it."

At the end of Thursday's vote in the House, a breakdown of the final roll call showed 153 Democrats and 136 Republicans voting for the bill, and 91 Democrats and 35 Republicans voting against.

CHANGES VOTE

One of the major moments of the House debate came when a Southern Democrat, Rep. Charles L. Weltner of Georgia, announced that he would vote in favor of the Senate version even though he voted against House passage of the bill last February.

Weltner is a moderate who two years ago ousted segregationist James C. Davis from the seat he held for the Atlanta area.

The 36 - year -old Weltner said he could have voted "no" Thursday with "tradition and safety." But he declared: "I believe a greater cause can be served. Change, swift and certain, is upon us, and we in the South face some difficult decisions.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

LODGE THINKS IKE WILL SPEAK OUT IN TIME

ST. LOUIS — (UPI) — Former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said Tuesday he thinks former President Eisenhower will make a "positive statement" about the Republican presidential nomination before the start of the GOP National Convention next Monday.

Lodge was here for a day of campaigning for Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton's presidential candidacy.

Scranton said in Chicago Monday night he does not expect Eisenhower to support any one before the San Francisco convention.

At Gettysburg, Pa., an Eisenhower aide said there would be no statement "of any kind" about the announcement of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president, to nominate Scranton at San Francisco.

Lodge did not specify what form the expected "positive statement" would take.

Former President Eisenhower and his brother, president of John Hopkins University, will travel together to the GOP National Convention. It was reported in San Francisco that Dr. Eisenhower would make a direct appeal to his brother to back Scranton.

Lodge said he had a "wonderful hearing" with some of the Missouri delegates now committed to Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

However, just about the time Lodge's plane flew to St. Louis from Kansas, Milburn Shaw, St. Louis Republican chairman and a convention delegate, said he will vote on the first ballot for Goldwater. About 21 of the 24 Missouri delegates are for Goldwater.

Both of the Tuggles are graduates of Philander Smith College in Little Rock, Ark.

Mr. Tuggle was treated at John Gaston for minor injuries and released. His son, Aurnia, 5, was treated for minor head injuries and dismissed.

Investigating officers said a car being driven east on Poplar by Miss Anna F. Boyanton, 18, of 4737 Given, struck the northbound car driven by Mr. Tuggle and spun it around and into the bus which was stopped at the northeast corner. None of the bus passengers were hurt.

Miss Boyanton, who was charged with running a red light, was admitted to St. Joseph Hospital with a broken left arm and possible internal injuries.

President Johnson's wire went on to say:

"Enactment of the Civil Rights Bill will challenge all Americans to join in an affirmative voluntary effort to preserve order and to achieve the goal of equal treatment and opportunity for all Americans. To encourage and assist this voluntary citizens effort, a community relations service will be established by the bill under Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges. The service will assist communities in preventing or resolving racial disputes and tensions through reason, persuasion, and conciliation."

President Johnson said the nation - wide committee of distinguished citizens from all walks of life will augment the work of the Community Relations Service.

"I want as its members leading Americans who will lend their influence, their skill, and their time to the crucial task of fostering voluntary observance of the provisions of the bill," he added.

Mr. Bass attended the club's endorsement meeting and was introduced by Attorney Willis.

ON THE REPUBLICAN side of the fence, two candidates whose qualifying petitions were contested by the Republican Primary Board were officially approved Monday as legislative candidates in the upcoming primary.

Approved by the board were O. W. Pickett, seeking Pos. 1, and W. Leslie Lay, running for Pos. 3 in the State House of Representatives.

A third candidate, Freeman Smith, withdrew his petition.

Petitions of the three men were contested because of reported discrepancies in signatures and addresses.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES BATTS, JR.

Miss Bottoms Becomes Bride Of James Batts, Jr.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—

Miss Myrtle Janice Bottoms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bottoms, Sr., became the bride of James Archie Batts, Jr., on June 20th, in a ceremony solemnized at Sisters Chapel, Spelman College, with the bride's father, Rev. Lawrence W. Bottoms, and Rev. Murray G. Branch officiating.

In a most elegant setting of seven branch candlelabras and palms, large basket arrangements of stock mums, carnations and vlley lillies filled the air with sweet fragrance. The white satin pradue banked in flowers and greenery with white satin streamers led to the pews.

The bride was lovely in a chapel length gown of imported off -white peau de soie embroidered with French lace and seed pearls from the neckline to the hem of the train. Her off - white illusion veil fell from the jewelled flowers of seed pearls and crystals. The only jewelry worn were tiny double pearl earrings borrowed from the matron of honor, sister of the bride.

BRIDESMAIDS

The bridesmaids were: Miss Joan Stallworth, Tuskegee Ala. (cousin of the bride), Yvonne Robinson, Atlanta, Mesdames Celestine B. Bottoms (sister in law) of the bride), and Liticia B. Alfred (sister in law of the bride), and Liticia B. Alfred (sister in law of the bride), Camp Chanute A. F. B., Ill. Dr. Jean Bottoms Perry (sister of the bride) Washington, D. C. was the matron of honor. Sharon and Deborah Stallworth, Selma, Ala., were junior bridesmaids. All wore white linen dresses with yellow appligned flowers and moss green velvet trim. The headdress was white with illusion veiling; the shoes and gloves were also white.

The flower girl, little Miss Leticia O'Teele Alfred (niece of the bride) was charming in an all white lace dress scalloped at the hemline. She carried a white satin basket of flowers. The ring bearer, Wendell Clyde Perry (nephew of the bride) wore a white linen suit and carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

The candle lighters, Mrs. Sylvia Cook and Miss Barbara Neal were duplicates of the bridesmaids.

The groomsmen were: Lawrence Bottoms, Jr., Douglas Burch, T. M. Alexander, Jr. and Melvin Randolph. The best man was Horace Kyle Sims.

MOTHER OF PRINCIPALS

The bride's mother was radiant in a short length gown of delicate pink silk crepe embossed with crystals and seed pearls with hat of matching color, done in rose petals and illusion veiling. Her shoes and long gloves were of the same hue.

The mother of the groom wore a short length pink gown draped to the side with pink chiffon. Her hat, shoes, and gloves were also pink. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids.

The soloist was the lovely Mrs. Nettie Shepherd, organist Mrs. Grace Smith. The guest book was kept by Mrs. Jo Ann Alexander. The hostesses were: Mrs. J. R. Wilson, Mrs. G. L. Chandler, Mrs. Dorothy Alexander, Mrs. Marge Harper, Mrs. Clara Ivy Wilson, Mrs. A. V. Jett, Mrs. Ruth Scott and Mrs. Isabelle Iobin.

The senior ushers were: Charles Bryant, W. David Walker, W. N. Harper, R. A. Billings, A. V. Cohen, Samuel Cook, G. L. Chandler and Clark Blackshear.

Mrs. Nelle Blackshear directed the wedding.

Immediately following the wedding, the bride's parents entertainedwith a reception in Read Hall.

The gifts were on display at the home of the bride's parents, 182 Chicamauga Pl., S. W.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS

Out of Town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Redding, Jacksonville, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Alton Adams, Jr., Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Joseph Griswold, Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Grady Northe, Mobile, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Weavers, Athens, Ga., Mrs. Lucille Croft Howell, Gadsden, Ala., Dr. Julian Perry, Washington, D. C. and Dr. Dewitt C. Alford, Camp Chanute A. F. B., Illinois.

Some activities prior to the wedding were as follows: a miscellaneous shower given by the Capital Avenue School Faculty, a miscellaneous shower given by the bridesmaids.

Brunch given by Mrs. J. R. Wilson, Sr., and her daughter, Mrs. Thaddeus Olive, was beautifully done, served on the lovely terrace of Pine Oaks. Under the sound of whispering pines, the tables centered with nosegays of balley lilies and chrysanthemums gave a setting of a veritable fairyland. This was truly a family affair with the grandchildren of Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Bottoms, being invited guests.

The bride's luncheon was given by Mrs. Clark Blackshear. As usual in her unique way, the luncheon was a thing of beauty. She used as her motiff, gold and white. The table was covered with yellow linen and the centerpiece was yellow and white flowers flanked by crystal candelabras holding gold and white taper .The tapers held the gold and white china love birds.

After a delectable repast, the guests were escorted to the playroom where the bride to be as well as the other guests were pleasantly surprised by the game, "Jewels for Janice." Each letter gave sincere advice for a long life of happiness and under each letter was a box containing jewelry for Janice. The mothers of the bride and groom to be, were honored with a gift of jewelry.

Negro Enrollment

e'ementary schools was 34,093.

The average enrollment in white and predominantly white elementary schools was 29,908.

This breakdown shows Negroes outnumber whites in public elementary schools by 4,185.

It also represents an increase in the elementary area of 1,005 Negro pupils against a loss of 479 white pupils.

On the high school level last year there was an increase of 948 white pupils and 930 Negro pupils.

There were 11,303 in white high schools and 6,703 in Negro high schools.

There was an increase of 871 Negro students against a loss of 201 white students in junior high schools. Total Negroes enrolled in junior high schools: 12,759. Total whites enrolled in junior high schools: 13,548.

The Board of Education noted that "these figures show a total average membership of 108,314 for (the past) school year against an average membership of 105,240 for the school year 1962-63 excluding special education classes). This is an increase of 3,074 pupils. Of this 3,074 increase, 2,806 is the increase in Negro pupils and 268 is the increase in white pupils.

"These figures indicate that the Negro school population is increasing at a much rapid rate than the the white. They also indicate that the high schools still have not received the full impact of the larger classes that have existed at lower levels for some years."

pel of J. O. Patterson Funeral Home. The young woman's body was buried Wednesday morning in Mason, Tenn.

Charged with manslaughter Friday in connection with the death of Mrs. Roach was Tommie Lue Ivy, 36, of 1172 Marble, after he surrendered at Central Police Headquarters.

Mr. Ivy was quoted by Homicide Capt. E. C. Swann as saying Mrs. Roach jumped from his moving car at Watkins near Cedarhurst after an argument.

Captain Swann said Ivy told him he left the scene after the young woman jumped because he had no insurance and was afraid. He was released after posting $1,000 bond.

Police spent more thn two days seeking the driver of the car in which Mrs. Roach had been a passenger. They were seeking an automobile described as a 1955 or 1956 blue and pink Ford.

A 16 - year -old boy, Rex Warren, of 1818 Portland, reported seeing Mrs. Roach in the street after a car with an opened door passed him.

She remained unidentified several hours.

The young woman was the wife of Walker D. Roach and mother of Birdie Jean, Robert, Dorothy, Walker D. Jr., Mary, Rickie, Patricia and Carless Roach.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex Deener. The deceased was the sister of Mrs. Nathan Davis and James Alex Deener.

INVESTMENTS

TEXT: "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" —Mark 8:36, 37.

We all make investments, something to eat, something to wear, an education, a family, stocks and bonds. Bethlehem Steel.

Seeds make more seeds, money makes more money. Therefore, make your money work. Blessed are the who can make their money work for God and their fellowmen.

You may not have money to invest but you can invest your brain. Happy is the person who is thoughtful, who is educated. Thanks be to God for scholars who have invested their brains and unfolded mysteries and enlightened their generation.

But to invest a soul is beyond measure the most glorious achievement of man or woman, boy or girl. Since like produces like, money produces money. seeds produce seeds, brain produce brain, to invest a soul the gains are in character, influence, and service not only for the investor, but for his fellowmen. Such was the investment of Jesus Christ.

The spiritual market, like the material market, is loaded with fake schemes that perish with the sunset. Prudence must teach you beware, beware of the cultists with their Cadillacs, beware of the racketeers with their arousements; hold fast to the old time religion. Don't fall for the goldbrick. a goldbrick is a delusion. Hold on to Christ. Remember the right will triumph. The Christian life is the best investment that any man or woman, boy or girl can make. The worth of the soul is of inestimable value.

The gain of the world is uncertain gain. It is a temporary gain. A woman of reputed wealth died, some asked, "what did she leave?" The answer came, "she left everything." There are no pockets in funeral shrouds.

I read of a woman whose house was on fire. She was very busy in removing her funiture, her clothes, her goods, but she forgot her child. who lay asleep in a rear room in a cradle. At last she thought of her poor baby and feverishly and screamingly ran into the burning house to save the baby. But it was too late. The flames prevented her from reaching the room where lay her babe in its cradle. Agonizingly she moaned: "O my child! my child! I have saved most of the furniture, my clothes, my goods, but I have lost my child!"

Friends there is nothing to mitigate the loss of the soul. It is the loss of losses, the death of deaths, a catastrophe unequal in extent, unparalled in meaning.

What would you give in exchange for your soul if God would call you away today? We have only today, tomorrow is not promised us.

Nor was it believed likely by the legislative cynics that Congress was in any way likely to pass a long-discussed Fair Employment Practices Law.

"Today, both public accommodations and FEPC are federal law ,along with other provisions including one that wrecks a main Southern argument over the past decade against the Supreme Court's 1954 school integration decision.

"The contention has been that the court's ruling was illegal, since Congress never had acted to bar race discrimination in schools. Now, in effect, Congress has, by providing new machinery for implementation of the court ruling and, in some cases, federal help needed by schools in complying. Voting rights of Negroes also have been further bolstered by law."

"New Creative Period" Seen By President

By DONALD H. MAY
(United Press International)

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. — (UPI) — President Johnson believes passage of the civil rights bill will allow the administration and Congress to enter a "new creative period" of work on a wide range of domestic issues that had been shoved to the background, it was disclosed Sunday.

White House sources said the President plans to utilize the next two weeks while Congress is recessed to organize a series of "task forces" to study long range problems, such as health education, growth of metropolitan areas and federal state and local financial relations.

Sources close to the President said he feels that many of these problems have been shunted aside or complicated by the civil rights issue.

With passage of the civil rights bill last Thursday, the President feels the nation now can go ahead with the other issues they said.

As he prepared to return to Washington from a holiday weekend at the ranch, the President was described as "highly pleased and gratified" at the record of Congress recently.

Bethune - Cookman Site Of Bethune Birthday Weekend

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Bethune Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida is the site of the Mary McLeod Bethune Birthday Weekend, July 10-12, 1964. The memorial celebration, organized by the National Council of Negro Women, is expected to be the biggest council reunion of current times.

Requests for transportation and reservations are pouring into the Washington, D. C. National Headquarters from all over the country. A special train will leave New York July 9th and will stop in Newark, New Jersey; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Baltimore, Maryland; Washington, D. C.; Richmond, Virginia; Wilson, North Carolina; Florence, South Carolina and Jacksonville, Florida, enroute to Daytona Beach.

The three-day conference headed by Miss Dorothy I. Height, National President National Council of Negro Women will include: business meetings, speeches, workshops and recreation on Bethune Volusia Beach.

In a special message to NCNW members, Miss Height said. "The Senate of the United States passed the Civil Rights Bill and now we seek successful compliance with the Civil Rights Act.

"This matter is of such great importance that we are holding our Bethune Birthday Weekend conference when women from all parts of the country will be working around the theme "Women in the Quest for Equality."

"Peeping Tom" Charge Is Probed

MONROE, N. C. — The Monroe Defense Committee announced July 4 that it is investigating the case of Mr. Hubert Barrett, 24 year old Negro father of two children who is being held in the Monroe Jail on an alleged "Peeping Tom" charge.

The committee's chairman, Clarence H. Seniors, reports that the committee has some strong reasons to believe that the defendant is innocent, and the committee questions the accuracy of the story in the MONROE JOURNAL 6-26-64) bearing the headline "CAUGHT IN THE ACT" — which on its face, consciously attempts to convict the defendant. "Because of its inflammatory nature which will surely serve to mark the victim for the rest of his life, it has already engendered great public hostility towards the victim and makes it impossible for him to receive a fair trial.

Can't Guard Mississippi Rights Workers--Kennedy

WASHINGTON — The Federal government is unable to provide preventive protection for civil rights workers in Mississippi, according to Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

The Attorney General's remarks were reported to newsmen, Wednesday, June 24, by NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins, following a 90 - minute meeting which Mr. Wilkins and a delegation from the NAACP convention had with Mr. Kennedy.

Mr. Kennedy assured the NAACP leaders, Mr. Wilkins said, that the FBI force in Mississippi had been beefed-up and that there would be a thorough investigation into the disappearance of the three civil rights workers.

The Secretary said the NAACP delegation warned the Attorney General that if no improvement is made in Mississippi, Negroes will explore "other means by which they made in Mississippi, Negroes will can make their just indignation felt."

TO EXPLORE SITUATION

Mr. Kennedy, said Mr. Wilkins promised to explore ways of increasing the Federal presence in Mississippi short of armed force and indicated he hoped the State itself would provide protection.

While Mr. Wilkins and the NAACP committee were meeting with the Attorney General and his assistant, Burke Marshall ,nearly 2,000 delegates to the 55th annual NAACP convention were staging a quiet, orderly march on the Justice Department. The protest march and committee to meet with Mr. Kennedy were authorized by the convention Tuesday, when delegates unaniously adopted an emergency resolution on Mississippi, calling for action to halt the terror in that state.

The committee ,accompanied by Mrs. Medger Evers and two of her three children, included Bishop Stephen G Spottswood, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors; Mr. Wilkins; Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel; Dr. Aaron E. Henry, president, Mississippi NAACP State Conference of Branches; Charles Evers, brother of the slain Medgar Evers and Mississippi NAACP field secretary; Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington Bureau; Alfred Williams, Muskegon, Mich., chairman, National Youth Work Committee; and William Booth, Jamaica, N. Y., vice chairman, Resolutions Committee.

Following the conference, Mr. Kennedy came down to street-level and shook hands with those in the vanguard of the procession which had circled the Department of Justice building while the committee was meeting in the Attorney General's Office.

Says President Can Take Action In Mississippi

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Citing four specific sections of law which would empower the U. S. to protect civil rights workers in Mississippi, CORE National Director James Farmer wired President Johnson urging immediate Federal intercession. Farmer's action was based on a resolution unanimously adopted by CORE's National Action Council on the eve of plenary sessions of the organization's annual convention here.

Taking issue with a statement made June 24 by Attorney General Robert Kennedy that the Federal government lacks power, Farmer cited four sections of Federal law.

One is Section 333, Title 10, which cites the President's power "to take such action as he considers necessary to suppress, in a state any insurrection, domestic violence, unlawful combination, or conspiracy, if it opposes or obstructs the execution of the laws of the United States or impedes the course of justice under those laws."

Another is Section 18, Titles 240-243 dealing with situations in which a state officer, under the color of law, suppresses constitutional rights. The two others are the specific laws establishing federal marshals and setting-up the FBI.

Federal Court Allows 'Rights' Action At World's Fair Site

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Civil rights groups, represented by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund and other attorneys, this week won the right to pass out handbills protesting southern discrimination at certain World's Fair pavilions.

Federal District Court Judge Harold R. Tayler also found the Fair's regulation prohibiting picketing to be vague, arbitrary and an unconstitutional burden on the enjoyment of free speech.

He suggested that the anti-picketing regulation be rewritten so as to allow reasonable picketing demonstrations.

Jack Greenberg, the Fund's director-counsel, stated that "we are pleased that the Court upheld our contention that state action so permeates the Fair's operation that it must now obey the free speech requirements of the fourteenth amendment.

"This means that the civil rights organizations with whom we brought this suit may peacefully protest the racial discriminatory practices of southern states which have pavilions at the Fair."

Judge Tyler stated that the World's Fair, is "so impregnated with and supported by state and city action as to place it within the ambit of the fourteenth amendment."

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund-led attorneys pointed out that the Fair has leased its property from the city, the city receives income from the Fair, the Fair is exempt from city and state taxes and all Fair buildings and improvements will become city property when the Fair closes.

These conditions, the attorneys contended, make the Fair subject to the restraints of the U. S. Constitution, against interfering with freedom of speech, even though the Fair is a private corporation at this time.

Judge Tyler agreed.

Plaintiffs in the action were James Farmer, Executive Director of the Congress of Racial Equality; Eugene T. Reed, President of the New York State Conference of the N.A.A.C.P.; Rev. Gardner Taylor Pastor of Concord Baptist Church in Brooklyn; and Rev. Robert J. Stone, Assistant Director of the Presbyterian Council on Religion and Race.

Attorneys joining Mr. Greenberg in this action were Carl Rachlin, general counsel of the Congress of Racial Equality; Howard Squadron, New York City; and Constance Baker Motley and Michael Meltsner of the Fund's New York City headquarters.

3 Elected Directors Of Fund

NEW YORK — Three prominent Chicagoans - Lyle M. Spencer, Bernard Weissbourd, and Dr. Percy L. Julian - have been elected to the Board of Directors of the Fund for the Republic, Inc., it was announced this week.

All three are also members of the Fund's Chicago Committee, which is participating in a onee million dollar annual national campaign during the next ten years in support of the Fund's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. The Center, headed by former University of Chicago Chancellor, Robert M. Hutchins, is located in Santa Barbara, California and is an educational organization devoted to studying major challenges facing democratic institutions throughout the world.

Mr. Spencer, 2130 N. Lakeview Avenue, Chicago, is president and co-founder of Science Research Associates, Inc., the largest commercial publisher of standardized tests in the United States.

Mr. Weissbourd, 722 Sheridan Road, Evanston, is president of Metropolitan Structures, Inc., builders of apartments and office buildings in Chicago, Baltimore and Detroit. As a chemist, he worked on the Manhattan atom bomb project at the University of Chicago, and is also a former partner of the law firm of Antonow and Weissbourd, Chicago.

Dr. Julian, 515 North East Avenue, Oak Park, an internationally - known chemist and founder and retired president of Julian Laboratories, Franklin Park, is a research consultant.

The Chicago Committee will participate in an international convocation of world leaders in New York City February 18-20, 1965 on the "Peace on Earth" encyclical of the late Pope John XXIII.

Arkansas Council To Discuss Effect Of Rights Bill

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (UPI) — The Council on Community Affairs, an organization of Negro professional and social groups, plans to meet this week to discus sthe effect of the civil rights bill.

"We need to take a close-up inventory of exactly what progress has been made and where and when work on what is not in line with the new legislation," said council president William Townsend.

He said he understood there was some acceptance of the civil rights law but an inventory was needed "so that when we act we don't embarass ourselves or anybody else." He did not give a date for the meeting.

Ozell Sutton, assistant director of the biracial Arkansas Council of Human Affairs, said some restaurants serve Negroes and the major hotels accept them. Also he said, Negroes ride busses and attend theaters on a integrated basis.

L. C. Bates, a field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said a decision would be made early this week whether a state NAACP meeting was needed to plan action under the civil rights bill.

Wilkins To Write Book On Rights Experiences

NEW YORK — Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has agreed to write a book covering his more than three decades of activity in the civil rights movement. McGraw-Hill will publish the book, as yet untitled, early next year.

Mr. Wilkins has been NAACP executive secretary since 1955. He joined the Associations staff in 1931 as assistant secretary and has served in various other leadership capacities including editor of The Crisis, administrator, and acting executive secretary in the absences of his predecessor, the late Walter White.

NAACP Hails NLRB Anti-Bias Decision

WASHINGTON — The National Labor Relations Board's ruling that discrimination by labor unions is an unfair labor practice, is "a most significant breakthrough," NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter said here July 2.

Under this decision, Mr. Carter said, "Negro workers may obtain, without cost through the facilities of the NLRB, protection against trade union discrimination.

The new ruling construes a union's duty of fair representation as barring segregated locals and exclusion of Negro employees in the bargaining units from membership in the union."

Under previous Board decisions, only discrimination on the grounds of union membership or non-membership was held to be an unfair labor practice. The Board's new decision affirmed as earlier ruling by the trial examiner.

Further protection is provided Negro union members under Section (b) (3), of the Act, the NAACP counsel pointed out. The ruling, he said, "places a duty to bargain on the union which is owed not only to the employer, but also the employees it represents.

FORCEFUL STATEMENT

"It is the Board's most forceful statement of the position that unions have an obligation to enter into contracts with the employer which do not discriminate against any employee on the basis of his color."

The charges of discrimination were filed on behalf of members of the all - Negro Local 2 of the Independent Metal Workers Union. In 1962, when Ivory Davis, a Negro member of Local 2, was denied admission to a company - sponsored apprenticeship training course, the white local refused to a company-sponsored apprenticeship training course, the white local refused to process his grievance. At the request of Local 2, the NAACP entered the case on Oct. 24, 1962, and filed a motion with the National Labor Relations Board asking that Local 1's certification be rescinded. The NAACP also asked that this motion be consolidated with unfair labor practices proceedings previously instituted by the National Labor Relations Board against Local 1.

For the first time in the Board's history, it has ruled that racial discrimination by a union in MEMBERSHIP policies — such as exclusion or segregation of Negroes — is a violation of the duty of fair representation under Section 9 (a) of the National Labor Relations Act. Previously, the Board had ruled only that a union's racial discrimination in bargaining was a violation of its duty towards employees it represents.

The Board however accepted Mr. Carter's argument that membership policies are both the symptom and the cause of unfair treatment of Negro workers. On the one hand, it is the attitude of racial discrimination which leads to the establishment of racial criteria for full membership. On the other hand, the fact that Negroes have no voice in the formulation of collective bargaining policies in the all - white union leads to discrimination in bargaining and contract administraton.

Mrs. Evers Calls Rights Law 'Shot In Arm,' Not End

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Medgar W. Evers, widow of the slain Mississippi Field Secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Friday, June 26, that enactment of the civil rights law would be like a "shot in the arm" for the Negro's struggle for equality and justice. She cautioned, however, that no one should feel himself because the Act still had to be tested.

Speaking to nearly 26, that enactment of the civil rights law would be like a "shot in the arm" for the Negro's struggle for equality and justice. She cautioned, however, that no one should fool himself because the Act still had to be tested.

Speaking to nearly 2,500 delegates who attended the NAACP Freedom Fun and Awards Dinner he'd during the Association's 55th annual convention, Mrs. Evers made an earnest plea for each of her listeners to work individually "and collectively with the courage and determination of those gone on before to complete the unfinished business of democracy . . . ."

"People the world over are looking to us, the NAACP, for leadership," declared the attractive mother of three. "We must supply that leadership with a will to sacrifice and rededicate ourselves daily to the task ahead."

"I believe," she continued, "you believe in this country and what it stands for. If we did not, never could we have forged ahead to this point. We need more people of good will — more workers in the cause of freedom who will join us as the moral issues become clearer daily."

Population Growth Found Fastest In South America Area

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The area of the world's fastest population growth is the northern half of South America, not India or China as generally believed, the Population Reference Bureau said Sunday.

The bureau said the population of the area is 121 million and is growing at the rate of 3.2 per cent annually. At this rate, the bureau said, the population of the nine-nation area will double by 1985.

The countries in the 5.3 million square-mile area are Bolivia, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru and Venezuela, plus the British, Dutch and French Guianas.

The bureau said the cause of the population explosion in the area was the growing imbalance between births and deaths. Births in the area range from 41 to 50 per 1,000 population annually, while deaths range from 10 to 25, according to 1963 census figures.

Announcements and application forms may be obtained from many post offices, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission's Information and Examining Office, 1900 E Street N. W., Washington, D. C. 20415.

AKA National Convention In Philadelphia Aug. 9-14

BALTIMORE, Md. — In Philadelphia come August 9, the Forty-First National Convention of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority will open its sessions, and will continue through August 14, with more than two thousand women expected from all over the United States, parts of Africa, and the Caribbean Islands. Headquarters will be at the Sheraton Hotel.

Hosting the delegation is Omega Omega Chapter; Mrs. Leona Baylor is president. Assisting are Gamma Epsilon, undergraduate city chapter with Barbara Taylor as president, and Delta Mu at Temple University where Donna Seymour is chapter head.

The outlook is for the biggest convention in the history of the Sorority. In light of the Convention theme: "Advancement Through Knowledge and Action," the delegates will hold a variety of business sessions, workshops, panels, and special events.

Presiding over the Convention will be Mrs. Julia B. Purnell general president of the Sorority, and director of reading services at Southern Unversity, aBton Rouge, Louisiana.

The Public Meeting, Monday night, August 10, has as its speaker Dr. Martin Luther King. Other speakers for the weeklong meeting are A. Whitney Young, Jr., Executive Director of the National Urban League, and Lerone Bennett, Jr., Undergraduate Luncheon speaker. The luncheon will culminate the Undergraduate Congress, a brand new feature of the 1964 Convention designed to give the younger members of the organization experience in directing their own affairs, identifying and finding ways of solving their own problems as relate to scholarship, rushing, pledging, and initiation.

To Reveal Why Negroes Not In Space Center Jobs

HOUSTON — (UPI) — The Manned Spacecraft Center Houston's elite employer, expects to receive a report soon from Texas Southern University indicating why more Negroes are not working at the space center.

The TSU survey lasting around a year, is expected to culminate in a report before the end of July.

Wesley Hjornevik ,an assistant director of the spacecraft center, said few Negro students in the Houston area are trained enough in school to get MSC jobs.

"Many feel that, even if they get a college degree, they are still going to end up as truck drivers." Hjornevik said.

But a school official said qualified Negro graduates were not applying for jobs at the space center, for various reasons.

The men working on the TSU study were asked to recommend what the space center can do to raise the number of Negroes eligible for work there and to see what kind of training the Negroes are getting.

"We are not going to lower our standards just to provide jobs," Hjornevik said, "but I would regard it as a dereliction of duty if we had not tried to tap a sizable portion of the labor market."

Of the approximately 4,000 on the MSC payrolls, 79 are Negroes, 38 of them in administrative, scientific and clerical jobs and 41 in unskilled jobs.

SPORTS OF THE WORLD

BY MARION E. JACKSON

The major league All-Star game emerged as a national institution at the Century of Progress World's Fair in Chicago, Ill., in 1933. Now, 35 years later, the dream of the late Arch Ward, then sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, was reborn again at the New York World's Fair as the series was evened at 17-17-1. There is proximity in the inaugural game, played in the American League's Comiskey Park before 49,000 and the 50,800 who saw the heroics of Johnny Gillison, Willie Mays, Juan Marichael, Orlando Cepeda and John Edwards in the Wildest finish in All-Star history.

If history repeats itself, then the American League should have triumphed. The Americans had stormed back to tie the score at 3-3 in the sixth.

Dick Radatz, the monster of the Boston Red Sox bullpen, seemingly was invincible on the mound. The scoreboard heralded his holdover masterpiece of strikeouts from the '63 showpiece and in the cards it was all over.

It looked hopeless as Juan Marichal came on to relieve southpaw Chris Short, in what appeared an ill - fated adventure for the National League.

—0—

The truism that the ball game is never over until the last man is out has never been more fact than in Tuesday's thriller. Mays walked on a 3-2 pitch. Orlando Cepeda blooped a single into short right-field, as the all - time San Francisco Giants centerfielder pulled up at third, but the N. Y. Yankees' sometime flawless Joe Pepitone sent a high throw to teammate Elston Howard and Wondrous Willie raced home with the tying run.

—0—

Edwards was promptly passed by Radatz, but the strategy backfired as Callison hit a homerun over the rightfield wall scoring Flood and Edwards ahead of him, to account for four runs, two hits and one error.

—0—

Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins had rocketed the Americans to a 1-0 lead by singling home a run in the first inning at Shea Stadium, only a stone's throw from the N. Y. World Fair. Jim Fregosi of the Los Angeles Angels had opened with a single to leftfield and moved up to second on a passed ball by Milwaukee catcher Joe Torre.

—0—

The passed ball was a costly one since it prevented a potential double play when Minnesota's Tony Oliva bounced to starting pitcher Don Drysdale. The Los Angeles righthander then promptly struck out dangerous Mickey Mantle, but Jim Fregosi had scored from second with an unearned run.

Dean Chance, was the American League pitcher, working with only one day's rest, and he sizzped through the first three batters faced.

—0—

Johnny Wyatt of the Kansas City Athletics, was the American League pitcher as the Nationals tied the score 1-1 as Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs drove his first heave over the rightfield wall for a home run. Mays fouled to Howard, but the dramatics were yet to come, although the theatrics were tempered as Cepeda grounded to Bob Allison. For like a bolt out of the blue, Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals blasted another Wyatt miscue over the left field fence putting the Nationals ahead 2-1.

The National League padded its lead to 3-1 at the expense of Minnesota right hander Camilo Pascual in the fifth.

Camilo Pascual, the American League's third pitcher, retired the first two batters in the fifth, Ron Hunt and Johnny Callison, pinch-hitting for Bunning, but then was tripped for a single by Roberto Clemente and a run-producing double by Dick Groat.

Leo Cardenas ran for Groat and was left stranded at second base when Williams bounced out.

This should have been the decisive factor with the Nationals' touted pitching, as Oliva struck out. However, Mantle singled to center, followed by a Killebrew hit. Allison flied to Mays, as both runners held. Oncoming Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles promptly tripled.

Short went in to pitch for the National League, Cardenas went to short and Callison to right field. Olive struck out. Mantle singled to center. Killebrew singled to center, Mantle stopping at second. Allison flied to Mays, the runners holding. Robinson tripled to right center, scoring Mantle and Killebrew and tying the score at 3-3.

The pitcher - rich National League was far from the stockpiled circuit which fans had envisioned. Of the pitchers on the winning team, four had worked as late as Sunday — Sandy Koufax, Dick Ellsworth, Juan Marichal and Dick Farrell.

Of necessity, Nationl Legue manager Walt Alston was forced to rely upon his own Los Angeles Dodger Don Drysdale and Christ Short, the Philadelphia Phillies' southpaw. In all, Alston used no - hit pitcher Drysdale, Jim Bunning of the Phillies, Chris Short and Marichal.

Manager Al Lopez, regular boss of the Chicago White Sox, called upon Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels (5-5) who was followed to the mound by Camile Pascual of the Twins, Radatz of the Boston Red Sox and Farrell. Three of the American league All - Star pitchers worked Sunday, Whitey Ford of the Yankees, Juan Pizarro of the White Sox and Gary Peters. Two other Americans pitched Saturday — Camilo Pascual and Gary Peters.

Floyd Patterson Issues Challenge To Cassius Clay

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(UPI)—Floyd Patterson, elated at his most impressive victory in three years, has challenged champion Cassius Clay to a heavyweight title fight but Clay loudly declined because "Patterson's a nobody."

Clays retusal in Chicago was loud enough to echo clear across the Atlantic, but it did not lessen Floyd's pleasure.

—0—

Patterson, the only man to win the heavyweight crown twice, was frankly delighted at his lonsided 12- round decision over blood-smeared and eye - bruised Eddie Machen before 40,000 roaring fans in Stockholm's Reasunda Soccer Stadium Sunday night.

Machen of Los Angeles, nearly 32, was bleeding freely from a cut under his left eye at the finish and the eye itself was nearly closed.

In adidtion he had taken two trips to the canvas in the 10th and 11th rounds after being knocked off balance by left hooks to the head. Referee Teddy J. Waltham of England mercifully called them "slips" since the usual mandatory, eight-count was not in force.

However, Waltham — secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control — gave Machen only one round and called two even. Waltham, scoring on a five - point basis, favored Patterson, 59-49. He was the only scoring official. There were no judges.

The defeat snapped Machen's knockout string at five straight. "I think my win qualified me to fight Clay for the title," said 29 - year-old Floyd. He added, "particularly if Sonny Liston doesn't get his license back from the World Boxing Association."

Several weeks ago the WBA dropped Liston out of the rankings because of an automobile escapade in Denver, Colo.

Clay, attending a meeting of Black Muslims at Chicago, declared: "Patterson's a nobody. I'm not anxious to fight one of those unknown fighters. Cassius then announced he would not fight before 1965.

However at Louisville, Ky., manager Bill Faversham said Clay might fight either Liston or Doug Jones of New York in September or October, "but we will not consent to a Clay - Patterson match because Patterson isn't next in line."

M'BROWN WOLVERINES TO PLAY NINE-GAME FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

By JOEL W. SMITH

To Open Against Benedict Sept .26 At Columbia, S.C.

The Morris Brown College Purple Wolverines will play a nine-game football schedule this fall, launching their 1964 grind against the Benedict College Tigers, on Saturday, September 26, at Columbia, S.C.

This schedule, formidable as usual, was arranged by Director of Athletics and Head Football Coach M. J. Powell, Jr., early in the spring and was released in an attractive Press - Radio - TV Guide.

JOEL W. SMITH

As in former years the Purple Wolverines will play some of the top teams of the SIAC, the Mid - Western Association and the CIAA, which means there isn't a soft touch anywhere on the list of opponents.

After opening the season with a conference game against Benedict, the Purple Wolverines will journey to Nashville, Tenn., to go against the Tennessee A&I State University Big Blues, Saturday, October 3.

Returning to SIAC competition, the Morris Brown gridmen play host to the Bethune - Cookman College Wildcats in their seasonal debut before a hometown crowd on Saturday, October 10, at Herndon Memorial Stadium.

RATTLERS COME TO TOWN ON OCT. 17

The always - strong Florida A. & M. University Rattlers come to town on Saturday, October 17, to continue their long gridiron feud with the Purple Wolverines. This will be one of Atlanta's big games, and as usual is expected to lure an overflow crowd.

The Purple Wolverines will then play three straight games - away from home, making their second appearance of the season at Columbia on October 24 where they take on the Allen University Yellow Jackets; and Saturday, October 31 will find them back in Birmingham, Ala., for the second - year-in - a row, to tackle the Miles College Golden Bears.

Durham, N. C., will be the next stop, with the North Carolina College Eagles playing host to the Wolverines on Saturday afternoon; and this inter - conference battle will be followed by a conference encounter with the South Carolina State Bulldogs, under lights on Friday November 13, at Herndon Memorial Stadium.

The wind - up for the Wolverines will be traditional big Thanksgiving Day Classic with Clark College Panthers, on Thursday, November 26. This annual battle between friendly neighborhood rivals is also expected to attract a full - house to Herndon Memorial Stadium.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Sept. 26 — Benedict College, Columbia, S. C.
Oct. 3 — Tenessee A. & I. State University, Nashvile, Tenn.
Oct. 10 — Bethune - Cookman College, Atlanta.
Oct. 17 — Florida A. & M. University, Atlanta.
Oct. 24 — Allen University, Columbia, S. C.
Oct. 31 — Miles College, Birmingham, Ala.
Nov. 7 — North Carolina College, Durham, N. C.
Nov. 13 — South Carolina State College, Atlanta (Night)
Nov. 26 —Clark College, (Thanksgiving Day Classic), Atlanta.

50,800 See Nationals Tie 35-Year Classic, 17-17-1

By FRED DOWN
(UPI Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—(UPI)—Johnny Callison, a 25-year-old surprise addition to the team, delivered a dramatic three-home run with two out in the ninth inning Tuesday to give the National League a 7-4 victory over the American League in the 35th mid-summer All-Star baseball classic.

The blow brought a crowd of 50,850 at sumtuous Shea Stadium roaring to its feet and also enabled the National League to tie the 31-year -old series, begun in conjunction with the Chicago World's Fair in 1933, for the first time.

The seventh victory in the last eight games by the Nationals evened the series at 17 -17-1.

It was a spectacular victory for the Nationals, who had moved off to an early 3-1 lead with the aid of homers by Billy Williams and Ken Boyer ,only to fall behind in the seventh inning and then, for two innings, seem helpless before the overpowering pitching of Dick (The Monster) Radatz.

Coming into the game in the seventh after a sacrifice fly by Jim Fregosi had scored Elston Howard with a run that put the Americans ahead, 4-3, Radatz struck out four of the first six men he faced and had the crowd gasping in awe at his tremendous power.

A FLASH RALLY

But the Nationals suddenly struck without warning in the ninth with a flash rally that produced the most dramatic ending to an All-Star Game since Ted Williams won the 1941 game for the Americans with a similar ninth - inning homer.

—3—

Willie Mays walked on a 3-2 pitch to open the frame and then whisked down to second for his sixth steal in All - Star competition. Orlando Cepeda, hitless in 20 previous All - Star appearances, then punched a fly into short right field for a single — and all at once the Americans found themselves on a merry - go - round.

Mays took a wide turn at third and Joe Pepitone, who had fielded the ball in short right field, made a hurried throw to the plate which bounded crazily over Elston Howard's mitt. Mays promptly went ripping over the plate in a cloud of dust while Cepeda went down to second with a potential winning run.

Radatz got Boyer on a pop to third, walked Johnny Edwards intentionally and then blew down pinch hitter Hank Aaron on strikes.

That left it up to Callison, the Phillies' outfielder from Quails, Okla., who was named to the National League squad by Manager Walter Alston in a move that surprised many experts in the league.

IT WAS GONE

Only five - feet, 10 inches, and 180 pounds, the medium - sized Callison hit Radatz' first pitch on a line into the right field stands above the 341 - foot sign. There was never any doubt about it from the moment it was hit — big Radatz just turned and walked off the mound.

Although Mays scored on Pepitone's error, Callison's homer made all four runs in the ninth inning earned and also dealt Radatz the defeat.

Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants, who pitched a perfect top half of the ninth, received credit for the victory. The loss was a bitter blow to the Americans, who had battled back from a 3-1 deficit to take a 4-3 lead.

The Ameriacns scored an unearned run against Don Drysdale in the first inning on Fregosi's game — opening single, a passed ball by Joe Torre and Harmon Killebrew's line single to left field. Drysdale, however, then retired seven men in order and went out in favor of Jim Perfect — Game Bunning at the start of the fourth, trailing 1-0.

Bunning, who made history at Shea Stadium by pitching the first perfect game in modern National League history. June 21, and made it again Tuesday by becoming the first pitcher ever to see All - Star action for both leagues, was tapped for singles by Killebrew and Brooks Robinson in the fourth inning and retired the Ameriacns, 1-2-3 in the fifth.

WYATT BOMBED

With Bunning's appearance, the Nationals sounded their big offensive guns for the first time after being held to two singles by Dean Chance for the first three innings.

Kansas City's Johnny Wyatt was Chance's replacement and Williams greeted him with a soaring homer over the 371 - foot sign in right centerfield.

Wyatt fed another home run ball to Boyer and the St. Louis Cardinals third baseman drove it over the left field fence at the 358 - foot mark to put the Nationals in front, 2-1.

They added a third run in the fifth inning when Roberto Clemente singled with one out and scored all the way from first on Dick Groat's double to left center.

At this point Alston defied percentages by bringing in the left-handed Chris Short of the Phillies to pitch for the Nationals and quickly discovered his mistake.

With one out, Mickey Mantle knocked a screaming single to center field and Killebrew lined the third of his three singles to left.

Short got Bob Allison on a fly to Mays but Robinson drilled a 350-foot triple to right center to deliver the tying run.

RADATZ GETS CALL

Dick Farrell was the new National League pitcher at the start of the seventh. He immediately violated the first rule of pitching by hitting Howard and thereby "giving" him first base.

Pinch - hitter Rocky Colavito then rocketed a double into left field and Howard plodded to third. The Yankee catcher scored easily after Mays took Fregosi's sacrifice fly about 340 feet from the plate in straight - away center field.

With victory within his grasp at the start of the seventh, Manager Al Lopez signalled to the bullpen and out came the menacing figure of Radatz, the Boston Red Sox relief ace.

It had been six up and six down for Radatz when he entered the ninth with the American League needing only three little putouts to preserve an All - Star supremacy it had maintained since Babe Ruth won the inaugural 1933 game with a home run.

Unfortunately for the American League, the big fellows got only two of 'em.

Three Pros Deadlocked In Golf Tourney

Three smooth - stroking Atlanta professionals, one currently stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., are deadlocked at the halfway mark of the Annual Amateur and Open Golf Tournament, which got underway Saturday, July 4th over the New Lincoln Golf and Country Club.

Larry Brown, of Atlanta; Middleton "Joe Louis" Gates, Atlanta; and Nathaniel Starks, also of Atlanta, but stationed at Fort Benning, toured the New Lincoln layout in sub - par 64 figures and are now deadlocked in first place in the Pro Division.

Locked - up in a three - way tie for second place with 65's are Lee Elder, of Nashville, Tenn.; Willie Grier, also of Nashville; and Loby Blair, of Atlanta.

Albert Ellis captured medalist honors in the championship flight of the Amateur Division, also carding a sub - par 64; M. Walker was low for other amateurs with a 71; S. L. Hall led in the Senior Division with an 84, with Dr. H. M. Holmes right on his heels with an 85; and Mrs. M. M. Carney, of Nashville, Tenn., set the pace in the Women's Division with a 77; with Miss Beatrice Taylor, defending champion, 10 strokes back with an 88.

In the most spectacular shot of the day, J. Robert "Honey" Smith chipped in an eagle deuce on the long No. 18, with other members of the foursome, Lee Elder, Larry Brown and Kenneth Sharp, putting for birdie three's.

Play will continue today with golfers teeing off on the final 18 holes at 9 a. m.

Five Southern U. Gridders Will Report To Pro Teams

BATON ROUGE, La. — For well over a month, five former Southern University gridders have been going through a rigorous day-by-day training schedule.

This group of ex - Jaguars — all of the 1964 team — will soon join an eager flock of former collegians who will be taking a fling at playing football for pay for the first time with teams of both the National Football League and the American Football League.

Southern's five professional football aspirants will report to four teams of the NFL and AFL.

Sidney Williams, credited with being the best defensive end in the history of Southern University and a first team selection to the NAIA All - American defensive team, will report to the Cleveland Browns of the NFL.

Williams, 6-1 and 245 pounds, was drafted by the Browns in the last player drafts, then signed with the Cleveland entry after numerous conferences with teams of the AFL. Williams is a Houston, Tex., native.

Alvin Haymond, a New Orleans halfback who specialized in returning punts and kick offs back at a dazzling pace in addition to his regular backfield duties, inked with the Baltimore Colts of the NFL.

At 5-11 and 195 pounds, Haymond, a former all - SWAC performer, was not only elusive, but moved forward with a surprising thrust of power and speed.

Completing the list of entries into the NFL fold will be hulking Clyde Williams, a 240 pound guard who calls Minden home.

Williams, in addition to being one of Southern's most feared linemen, was also a great team leader and has been described as a terrific inspiration for the other members of the team. Williams is ticketed for play with the Minnesota Vikings.

Fullback Mack Hill and Center Martin Tansil will both report to the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League.

Hill, a bruising, powerfully build 230 pounder, gained fame with his antics of taking the shortest distance between his point of departure and the goal line — going the straight line method — and bowling over anyone in his wake on his goalward trek.

The big Floridian is expected to be a valuable asset to the chiefs because of his defensive powers.

Tansil, a rugged competitor who methodically goes about his business of making shambles of the enemy's offensive plans, stands six-feet even and pits the scales at 241 pounds.

The quintet of gridders represents the largest group from a Southern University team for any given year entering professional football.

In the case of each gridder, a susbstantial bonus was involved in the signing, and each one is possessed with enough physical equipment to stick with his particular team.

TODAYS SPORT PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY — UPI Sports Writer

WASHINGTON — (UPI) —Name the greatest sports surprises you've ever seen and you have to put Ken Venturi's victory in the U. S. Open golf championship on the list.

If you're a baseball buff there are a million of them. For openers you might go with the way the swaggering Giants disgraced Cleveland four in a row or the manner in which the Dodgers humiliated the Yankees last time out.

But remember that they were champions of their own division. This guy for a quartet of years had been from nowhere, the skills which were so promising damaged by aches and pains and his thinking altered by personal problems and doubts.

CLAY A SURPRISE

It had to raise your eyebrows when Cassius Clay wanted out of the ring in his fight with Sonny Liston, was shoved into action and then weaved and bobbed and danced to an astonishing, almost unbelievable, triumph for the heavyweight championship of the world Liston lost it sitting.

But there were a lot of big guns trained on the Open championship. Fire - tested guys like Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Bob Charles were looking for the big prize and you don't find them failing to answer the starter's bell.

There was a fellow who made a big bet on Rocky Marciano when the stupid whispers were around that the Rock might be starched by Archie Moore. He knew that nobody ever could get to the Rock. So his heart almost stopped when old Archie smashed Marciano to the floor. Marciano got up, like it figured, and in his anger put out the lights for the old mongoose.

LOOKED FOR CHARGE

Which is the way it looked to figure even after Venturi racked up a 66 like shooting fish in a barrel in the first of the two final rounds. Because Palmer, the late - running Whirlaway of the golf gaff, was only two shots back of Venturi and everybody knew he would make his bid coming down the stretch. This would be Jim Thorpe or Bronco Nagurski against an Ivy League also ran.

But, as it developed, this was a little horse aptly named "Upset" handing Man O'War his only defeat. This was Cinderella Jimmy Braddock off the docks to slug the heavyweight crown off Max Baer's head.

This was 16 - year -old Bob Mathias, injured thigh taped and agony etched on his face, winning the Olympic decathlon from the world's strongest men in the dusk at Helsinki.

This was Ken Venturi as he won, not barely but decisively, from the best that could be sent against him.

Bailiff Guilty Of Tipsy Driving

CLEVELAND — (ANP) — A municipal court jury returned a guilty verdict here last week against Rufus J. Allen, suspended bailiff of municipal Judge Theodore M. Williams, on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Allen was arrested after his auto struck a parked car last April 16. The arresting officers said they found Allen was intoxicated at the time, and testified he challenged a policeman to a fight when he was booked at police station.

The suspended bailiff, who is also an accountant for the law firm of City Council Majority Leader Charles V. Carr, testified the accident occurred after he was blinded by on coming headlights.

Sentencing was deferred until July 10, pending a probation report. In the meantime, Allen will remain under suspension until his case is disposed of.

Woman Sues For Non-Support, Is Shot By Mate

TAMPA, Fla. (ANP) — A 25-year-old woman was shot three times early last Thursday morning apparently because she had sued her estranged husband for non-support.

Capt. N. H. Brown of the Homicide division said Mrs. Ceola Lanier is in fair condition at Tampa General hospital with bullet wounds in the upper right hip and lower abdomen. According to the police officer, Mrs. Lanier was shot by her husband, William 24, Capt. Brown gave the following account of the shooting:

Mrs. Lanier filed suit for non-support, and was obliged, meanwhile, to work as a tomato picker. While in the rear of a farm truck, en route to pick tomatoes, she saw her husband. She jumped from the rear of the truck and ran to the front, climbing into the cab. Passengers in the cab jumped to safety via another door when they saw William with a gun. Mrs. Lanier was shot as she attempted to escape from the cab. Her husband fled and was reported to be still at large.

Cardinals Hold Lead; Rawhides, Braves Climb In Ga.-Ala. Loop

Things are getting hotter in the Georgia - Alabama Amateur Baseball League. The Atlanta Cardinals are holding their lead in Western Division; the Rockdale Rawhides have taken over the lead in the Eastern Division; while the Atlanta Braves have started an uphill club.

Sunday, the Cardinals took two from the tough Clarkston Falcons, 5-2 and 4-3; while the Rockdale Rawhides posted a 15-1 and 6-0 shutout over the Atlanta Vikings. The Macon Bombers kept moving by beating the Athens Red Sox, 7-3 and 4-3 and the Atlanta Braves knocked -off the Atlanta Yankees, 6-2 and 2-1.

In other twinbills, the defending champion Woodland Braves hit their 1963 stride and polished off the LaGrange City Cats, 2-1 and 9-7; while the Atlanta Angels defeated the Ben Hill Dodgers, 23-6 in the opener and the finale ended in a 4-4 tie.

CARDINALS, FALCONS IN 10-INNING BATTLE

The opener between the Cardinals and Falcons developed into a pitching duel between Benny Grant, of the Cardinals, and James Johnson, of the Falcons, and turned out to be a 10 - inning thriller. Grant was the winning pitcher.

The Falcons tallied twice in the second inning, when E. Lester hit a round - tripper. Sylvester Clark and James Lester slammed triples for the Cardinals.

In the second game, Ted Bowman drove in two runs with a double to give Eddie James Jones the win. Joe Swann took the loss.

Winning pitchers for the Rockdale Rawhides in their double -win over the Atlanta Vikings were Vic Newman and John Roberts. Losing hurlers for the Vikings were James Johnson and Horace Walker.

BEN HILL, MACON TO INVADE McMILLER PARK

For one of the big doubleheaders on Sunday, July 12, the Ben Hill Dodgers and Macon Bombers will invade Mack Miller Park, at Hamilton, Ga., and are expected to attract a banner crowd. The other scheduled twinbills for this weekend will be announced in the next release.

Collins Begins Talk Series With Dixie Governors

WASHINGTON, —UPI— Former Florida Gov. Leroy Collins flew South Tuesday for a series of strictly private discussions with Dixie governors on compliance with the new civil rights law.

Collins is chief of the Community Relations Service created by the law to mediates and help resolve racial disputes voluntarily. He was accompanied by Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, former governor of North Carolina, and by former Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington.

Their first stop was Richmond, where Virginia Gov. Albertis S. Harrison told newsmen in advence that the people of his state should obey the law unless it is ruledunconstitutional.

The Collins delegation also was to meet North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford late Tuesday. Neither Harrison nor Sanford knew exactly what Collins wanted to talk about, and Collins himself kept his itinerary secret.

Evidently Collins' aim is to establish rapport with as many Southern governors as he can privately without fanfare. It was not know which other state leaders Collins intended to see, although Gov. Donald Russell of South Carolina said Collins had wired him asking for an off-the-record meeting.

Collins has resigned his $75,000-a-year presidency of the National Association of Broadcasters to accept his appointment by President Johnson to head the Community Relations Service at $20,000 a year.

Chased From Cafe

PINE BLUFF — (UPI) — Seven or eight Negroes were chased from a cafe Saturday by white patrons, police said.

It was the first racial incident reported in Arkansas since passage of the civil rights bill.

The fracas was over and both Negroes and whites involved were gone by the time police arrived. Witnesses told officers one of the white men in the cafe tore the shirt off one of the Negroes

Nation's Leaders Were Witnesses

By MERRIMAN SMITH
(UPI White House Reporter)

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Roman Catholic prelate far back in the East Room of the White House quietly made the sign of the Cross.

The sparkplug of many Negro demonstrations in the South, the Rev. Martin Luther King, murmured, "Thrilling." Senator Hubert H. Humphrey. D-Minn. beamed with satisfaction.

These were the reactions as President Johnson using something over 100 pens, signed into law the long-embattled Civil Rights Act of 1964.

"This is a proud triumph," the President said gravely. looking directly into a textreading device atop a big zoom leans of the main camera that piped the historic ceremony onto television.

The signing ceremony brought together more than 200 official guests who gathered at the north side of the specious ballroom. Approximately an equal number of reporters, photogrephers. television and newsreel cameramen, sound engineers, lighting experts, and other technicians filled the south side of the room.

The President sat at a small table in the center with racks holding 72 pens. Once he got to the actual signing, however. these proved insufficient and legislative aides arranged for additional supplies.

There seemed to be no particular seating order for the guests. Cabinet members werescattered through the group. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was in the front row, as were Humphrey. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill.; Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind.; and Rep. Emanuel Cellar, D-N. Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

King sat in a second-row seat between George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO, and Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.

Guests cosisted largely of the Cabinet; ranking officials of the Justice Department including F. B. I. Director J. Edgar Hoover; the Civil Rights Commission; leaders of the major Negro organizations and a number of representatives and senators from both parties.

The President's wife, Lady Bird, in a brilliant red dress with a short beaded back jacket. arrived as the ceremony began, and sat in a fort row seat which had been saved for her.

The president spoke swiftly but with great emphasis as he called on all Americans to "close the springs of racial poison" and "eliminate the last vestiges of injustice in our beloved America."

Tshombe Planning Virtual One-Man Congo Government

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo — (UPI) — Premier - Designate Moise Tshombe proposed Tuesday a new Congolese government that would be almost a one man show. It would exclude all member of the outgoing government, including Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Tshombe would become premier, foreign minister, information chief and head of economic coordination — jobs which would give him personal control of rejuvenating a nation that is bankrupt and torn by revolts in five provinces.

At the United Nations in New York, the Soviet Union accused the Western powers of "hatching a new pot against the national independence" of the Congo. Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko attacked Tshombe as "a hireling of imperialism."

A series of anti - government revolts was reported Tuesday to have spread to Manjema Province in the eastern Congo with Communist - backed rebels terrorizing the population at Lalima, 150 miles west of Bukavu. Rebellions already were reported in Kivu, Kwilu, Orientale and North Katanga provinces.

But there were indications a radio appeal by Tshombe to rebel leaders Monday night might be paying off.

Reports reaching here Tuesday said rebels in Uvira, a principal town of Kivu Province had offered to halt hostilities if the government would stop attacking them with rocket carrying T28 planes supplied by the United States.

Tshombe, speaking at an impromptu news conference, said he would present President Joseph Kasavubu with a list of 12 cabinet ministers that conspicuously lacked any previous government official.

Miss. School Boards Told To Desegregate

By ROBERT GORDAN

JACKSON, Miss.—(UPI)—A federal judge ordered, but protested, Mississippi's first public school desegregation to begin this September in the cities of Jackson and Biloxi and in Leake County.

School officials in the three areas earlier were given until July 15 to submit plans for integration of at least one grade in September.

Trustees of the Jackson schools immediately announced they would appeal the ruling to the U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Apeals, and, if necessary, to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Judge Sidney Mize, in the first 26 pages of his written opinion, reviewed testimony from school officials that desegregation would be harmful, and that Negroes were biologically inferior to whites. He said the evidence was "uncontested."

At the middle of the 27th and last page, however, Mize said he felt he was required by previous rulings to enter the order "although it is contrary to the facts and the law applicable thereto. . ."

Mize said in his opinion "the facts of this case point up a most serious situation and indeed 'cry out' for a reappraisal and complete reconsideration of the findings of the U. S. Supreme Court in the Brown decision."

The Brown case was the famous 1964 decision in which the high court ruled that forced school segregation on the basis of race was unconstitutional.

The plaintiffs in the Jackson suit included the children of integration leader Medgar Evers, who was shot in the back from ambush last summer.

Group of top integration leaders continued a tour of the state to test the new civil rights law and obtain a first-hand account of the Mississippi racial situation.

The group stopped off at Meridian Tuesday to confer with Mrs. Fannie Lee Chaney, mother of one of three civil rights workers who disappeared 16-days ago while investigating a fire at a Negro church in Philadelphia, Miss.

A search for the three continued without success.

At Moss Point, in extreme southeast Mississippi, police continued an investigation into the wounding of a 17-year-old Negro girl, hit by gunfire Monday night as she left a voter registration rally.

Cemetery Segregation Held To Be Grotesque

FLINT — (ANP) — Saying that 'In a sense it seems highly grotesque to spend such time and legal effort in considering the rights of dead bodies when we have not as a society yet secured full rights for the living", Judge Stewart A. Newblatt ruled last that a cemetery association here must permit burial of a Negro if asked to do so by the owner of the lot to be used.

Judge Newblatt's ruling came in an opinion concerning a suit brought by J. Merrill Spencer, owner of the Spencer Funeral Home against the Flint Memorial Association which operates Flint Memorial Park.

According to the mortician's suit, the association on Jan. 4, 1961, refused to accept the body of a Negro for burial. Spencer had obtained ownership of the lot in question in the cemetery. Spencer claimed he and the family of the dead person "suffered great humiliation and shame "because of the refusal.

Spencer's suit asked that the court enter an order for a mandatory injunction requiring the association to honor his certificate of ownership of the burial lot and to afford him all the rights and privileges incident to the ownership."

Meanwhile, the association had argued that a contract "signed by all purchases contained a provision that the cemetery can be used for burial only of bodies of members of the Caucasian race."

The association said Spencer knew of the restriction when he purchased the lot and that the restriction has been in effect and followed since the cemetery was opened in July 1933.

"All purchasers are advised that the restriction is binding," said an association spokesman.

However, Judge Newblatt held that the restrictive clause in the contract is "unenforceable" because of decision in similar cases in other states.

Judge Newblatt stated that cemeteries maintained by a particular religious faith can restrict burial rites to members of that faith. But he pointed out that "the Flint Memorial Park Association does not have any religious or fraternal aspect to its operation and merely sells lots to the general public without qualification other than the restrictions."

Bilbo Still Symbol, Life In Mississippi

By ANDREW J. REESE, JR.

JACKSON, Miss. — (UPI) — On the ground floor of Mississippi's high-domed state capitol stands a bronze statue of the man who — nearly 17 years after his death — still symbolizes the strong racial views of this Deep South state.

Visitors often pause at the statute, read the inscription at the bottom, and recall some of the tories about the late Theodore G. Bilbo, who served Mississippi as tate senator, lieutenant governor, governor and U. S. senator.

His fiery speeches, his plan to end all Negroes back to Africa, his unyielding stand on race - mixing made Bilbo one of the most controversial political figures in the nation. But the voters back home loved him.

Many changes have been made around the capitol since Bilbo's death in 1947. But his beliefs continue to echo through the legislative chambers where today's lawmakers are grappling with the greatest threat to segregation that Mississippi has faced since reconstruction.

SCHOOL PLAN

In the House and Senate, three stories above Bilbo's statute, worried legislators are racing the clock to come up with a plan to circumvent possible court - ordered mixing in public schools.

Mississippi is the only state which has not made at least a token start toward school desegregation since the supreme court's 1954 ruling. But school officials in four areas - Jackson, Biloxi, Clarksdale and Leake County -are under court order to submit plans this month for integration to begin in September.

The constitution permits the legislature to close all public schools but Gov. Paul Johnson has made it clear this is the "last thing I would ever want to do."

Instead, a plan has been devised providing state and locally financed tuition grants to children attending private schools. Sponsors said it would give children a "freedom of choice" between private education and attending mixed classes in public schools.

VIRGINIA PLAN

The proposal was based in part on a similar plan used in Surry County, Va. A federal judge recently ruled against the grants in the Surry County case, but Johnson said the decision was not applicable to Mississippi and "should not deter us in our efforts to solve successfully our problems. . . "

He noted that the Mississippi plan does not envision abolishment of public schools.

GEA To 'Walkout' Of NEA Over Integration Order

United Press International

The Georgia Education Association plans a meeting soon with other Southern teacher groups to consider a walk-out from the National Education Association over the issue of integration.

According to GEA Executive Secretary Frank Hughes, the meeting will be held within the next 60 days.

The issue arose during the NEA convention on Seattle last week at which a resolution was approved calling for an end to racial segregation in the professional association by July 1, 1968.

Georgia like many other Southern states has two teacher organizations - the GEA which is all - white and the Georgia Teachers and Education Association which is Negro. Both group are affiliated with the NEA.

The NEA resolution gives its executive committee authority to expel any affiliate which does not meet the integration daedline.

Hughes said the meeting would be held to discuss possible courses of action. It was disclosed that educators from Floride, Louisiana, Mississipp and South Carolna have expressed interest in such a meeting.

Holiday Inn Units Told To Obey Rights Law

MEMPHIS — (UPI) — The head of the giant Holiday Inn motel has urged its members to end segregation in accordance with the new civil rights law and to instruct staff members on its use with "careful tact and restraint," it was disclosed Monday.

Kemmons Wilson, chairman of the Holiday Inns of America board, wrote a letter dated July 2 telling the 488 inn-keepers "the law must be observed."

Wilson suggested each owner or innkeeper "who feels he will be affected by this law in an unusual way" should be on hand at all times during the transition period.

A copy of Wilson's letter was sent to each major competitor.

Lodge Believes Presidency-Rights Interdependent

BOSTON — (UPI) — Former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said Wednesday night no one who turns his back on the principle that the federal government has a role to play in civil rights will ever be elected president.

Lodge made the statement to newsmen at Logan International Airport after flying here to spend a few days at his home in suburban Beverly.

Earlier, at a National Press Club luncheon in Washington, Lodge refused to commit himself to support Sen. Barry Goldwater if the Arizona conservative wins the Republican presidential nomination.

Lodge, who resigned as envoy to South Viet Nam to campaign for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton for the nomination, praised Scranton's position that federal action is necessary in the civil rights struggle.

"No one is ever going to be president of the United States who turns his back on that principle," Lodge said. He did not refer by name to Goldwater, who voted against the civil rights bill passed by the Senate last week.

DR. JOHN O. GROSS PRESENTS $100,000 TO BETHUNE-COOKMAN COLLEGE—DAYTONA BEACH, Florida—At the recent Central Jurisdictional Conference, Dr. John O. Gross, General Secretary of the Division of Higher Education of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, presented to Dr. Richard V. Moore, president of Bethune-Cookman College, a check for $100,000. This was in fulfillment of a pledge made by the Division of Higher Education to give to Bethune-Cookman College $100,000 toward a $500,000 goal. The college raised $4000,000. The $500,000 was used for the current expansion program, which included the remodeling of the College Chapel, the erection of the President's Residence and the erection of the new 12 rooms classroom building, now under construction. The fulfillment of this pladge enables the college to construct the indicated buildings debt-free.?

This grant comes from World Service Capital Fund, an amount set aside by the church as challenge money for Negro schools. So far, $453,794 has been expended for the quadrennium on five projects. The total cost of these building programs is $2,260,000.

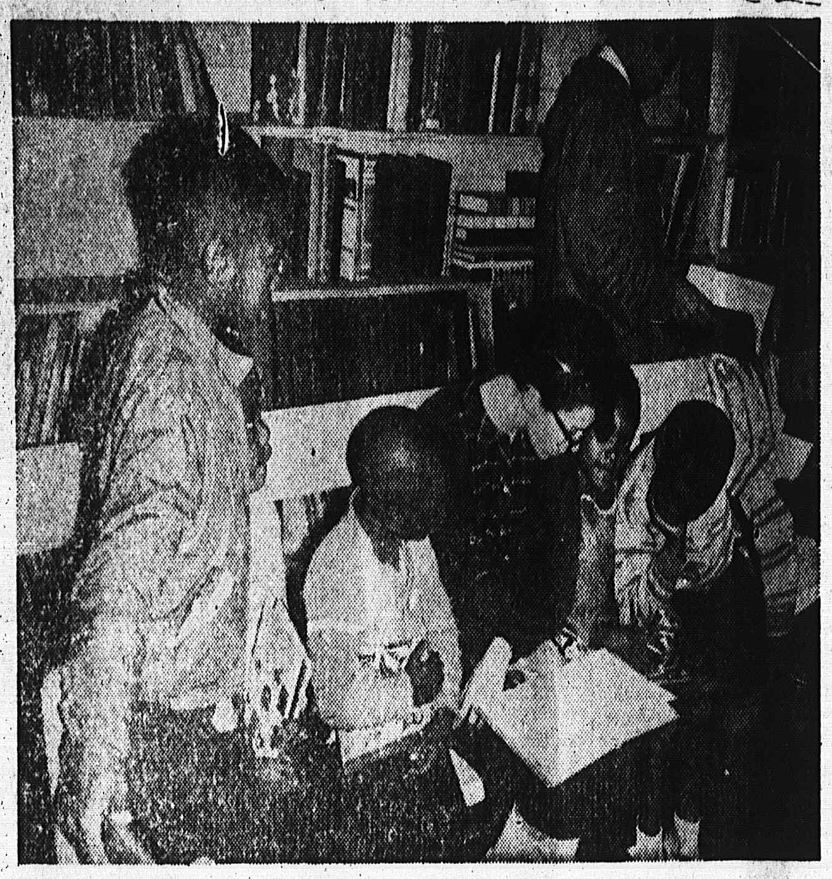
Mrs. Schwerner in CORE Center



MRS. RITA SCHWERNER, now a widow, reads to a group of children at CORE's community center in Meridian, Mississippi. Her husband, Michael Schwerner, co-director of the community center, was one of the three civil rights workers who vanished on June 21 and are believed to be dead. The other two are James Chaney and Andrew Goodman.

Job Crisis Continues, Hill Says

WASHINGTON — "Negroes may be winning the broad legal and social struggles for equality but we are losing the battle for economic justice," the NAACP Labor Secretary said here recently.

Herbert Hill reported to delegates attending the Association's 55th annual convention, June 26, on the continuing and deepening Negro unemploymet crisis and stated that it seriously endangers the gains of the last 20 years and adversely effects the economic well being of the entire Negro community in the United States.

Negro workers in the country are today experiencing the equivalent of a general economic depression, he said. Since December 1952, the gap between the average income of Negro and white waze earners has been steadily increasing.

Mr. Hill cited Michigan as an example where the ratio of average Negro income to white income dropped from 87 per cent in 1949 to 76 per cent in 1959 and has consistently deteriorated since then.

Since the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity was established in March 1961, the NAACP has filed 932 complaints, he reported. The Association's cases represent 40 per cent of the total number received by the Committee.

When the new Federal Employment Comission is established under Title 7 of the Civil Rights Bill, Mr. Hill said the NAACP would file "a comprehensive series of complaints against major national multiplant corporations and trade unions responsible for maintaining a pattern of discriminatory racial practices."

TEACHERS PLAN SPECIAL READING PROGRAM — Approximately one and hundred fifty teachers from throughout the State met at the Fort Valley State College, June5-6 to finalize plans and procedures for an intensive reading program designed primarily for potential dropouts this summer.

The special classes began on June 11 and are to continue for a two-month period.

Dr. Thelma T. Murray, Professor of English and Education and Chairman of Humanities, Fort Valley State College, served as general chairman of the meeting. She was assisted by Dr. Lynette Saine, Professor of Education, Atlanta University; Miss Madie Kincy, State Curriculum and Instructional Consultant; Mrs. Ruth Reed, Curriculum Director, Peach County, and Mrs. E. C. Morse, teacher, Peace County Elementary School.

President C. V. Troup extended them greetings.

President Told Of New Opportunities As School Bars End

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Lyndon B. Johnson was told July 2 by Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, president of the United Negro College Fund, that "as barriers to equal opportunity continue to fall, more young people, saved from deprivation, indignity and despair, will be able to go on to higher education and prepare themselves for the greater opportunities which will surely come."

Dr. Patterson, who founded the Fund, America's first educational community chest, in 1944, met with President Johnson to report on the first phase of the Emancipation Centennial Campaign for $50,000,000 launched by the late President Kennedy on September 12, 1963. Dr. aPtterson said that $33,000,000 had been raised in cash and pledges to date, the largest amount raised by a campaign of this nature in so short a time.

"We are very proud of this splendid result," Dr. Patterson said," and believe it to be a mark of recognition that our colleges are contributing to the national effort to prepare American citizens for leadership opportunities, while giving special recognition to the urgent needs of Negro youth."

32 COLLEGES SUPPORTED

The United Negro College Fund has been contributing to the support of 32 colleges and universities in 11 Southern states for the past 20 years. More than 28,000 students are currently enrolled in these schools. About 75 per cent of the students are receiving either scholarship or work aid, although tuition and living costs are lower than in other colleges.

The campaign's second phase is being conducted on a regional basis, headed by presidents of member colleges and universities. Dr. Patterson said the $20,000,000 is still needed for special education projects, faculty salaries and scholarship aid. Member colleges have been conducting special programs to help freshmen overcome educational deficiences resulting from inadequate preparation in segregated primary and secondary schools. In recent years they have also instituted enrichment programs for faculty member and students. Additional funds will make possible the expansion of these programs.

Seven million dollars have already been distributed to member institutions. This money is being used for repairs or the erection of new buildings.

Patience Of Mississippi Farmer "Sorely Tired"

By LEON DANIEL

PHLADELPHIA, Miss.—(UP)—J. R. (Bud) Cole, a wiry Negro farmer, is a patient man. His patience has been sorely tried.

It took 58 years to produce a man like Cole. Some of them were lean years. But there were good years too, such as the last one when his 80 acres of cotton yielded 11 bales.

For Cole, this year was one of the bad ones. On the night of June 16 he attended a deacons and elders meeting at Mount Zion Methodist Church.

When he left the church, Cole and two other Negro men were beaten by a gang of white men. A few hours later the church burned to the ground.

The following Sunday three young civil rights workers talked with Cole and inspected the ruins of the church. Several hours later the three men ,two whites and a Negro were stopped for speeding jailed and released about six hours later. They have not been seen since.

NOT ACTIVE

Cole, one of the last persons to see the missing men, claims he was never active in the civil rights movement.

He said he has never attempted to register to vote. "But I'm going to one of these days."

Cole, who quit school after the seventh grade, said he had understood the three missing civil rights workers came into the community to aid Negroes.

"I feel like they came to help us." he said quietly. "Somebody's got to help us".

He said he neither supported nor opposed the plan to use the church for a freedom school this summer.

"I don't think we should push too fast," he said but added that he thought the school was to "help us learn" and he was in favor of this

Cole, who sent 3 of his 10 children to college with money he borrowed from the bank here, said he had talked to FBI agents at length since he was beaten.

But he said no Neshoba Philadelphia County officers had investigated the beating or the fire at the church.

He said he had not been harassed since the night he was beaten. "Im not scared," he said. "But I feel bad and I don't want to talk about it anymore."

Meanwhile the search for Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, two white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, a Negro from nearby Meridian, went on.

Some 400 U. S. Navy men from Meridian, FBI agents and state investigators concentrated the search Sunday in Lee County which adjoins Neshoba County on the east.

Playboy Club Suit Hailed By Greenberg

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The NAACP Legal Defense Fund this week praised the Playboy Club of New Orleans for its suit against Louisiana laws prohibiting Negroes from attending the Club.

Jack Greenberg, the Fund's director - counsel, called the Playboy suit a major legal step by a private firm aimed, at breaking down racial barriers in the south.

Sunday School Lesson

GOD'S CONCERN FOR HIS PEOPLE

International Sunday School Lesson for July 12, 1964.

MEMORY SELECTION: "Blessed by the Lord, who daily bears us up; God is our salvation."

— (Psalms 68:19).

LESSON TEXT: Exodus 2 through 4.

The theme of our lesson for today has been studied many times before .... God's concern for his people .... and will be studied many times again. It will never, however, be needlessly repetitious, for every day someone, somewhere, meets what seem to be insurmountable problems, and the spirit falters and courage grows dim. Therefore, the theme of God's concern can be immeasurably comforting to those in distress, and pleads its own case, needing no defense.

The mighty hand of God is evidenced in the life of Moses, as related in the Book of Exodus.

Pharaoh had decreed that all boy babies of the Hebrews were to be put to death. This was the only way that Pharaoh, in his irrational fear of the might the Israelites might one day wield, could think of to cope with the problem of the growing population of the nomad Israelites. Therefore, the mother of Moses, made a little boat and placed her baby in it, knowing that the princess came daily to bathe in the waters of the Nile.

The princess, upon discovering the boy child in the boat, so little and helpless, took Moses back with her, and raised him as a prince, and loved him. He had all the advantages of one of royal birth, learning much of government; he also had, however, his national birthright deep within him, and it was this that eventually led him back to his own people. Indignant at the mistreatment of a slave, he slew an Egyptian, and then fled in fear of his life.

His wanderings brought him to the rescue of some girls drawing water from an oasis, who were being mistreated by nomads. This led to his joining the tribe whose womenfolk he had succoured, and he eventually married the sheik's eldest daughter. And it was while he was shepherding his father -in-law's sheep on Mount Sinai that he saw the burning bush, and was summoned by God to meet his destiny — a destiny that had been God's purpose all along.

From Moses and the laws which he would later receive on Mount Sinai would come the basic laws of society for Western civilization, based on God's Ten Commandments.

Thus, from the evil decree of one man (Pharaoh) came the good of multitudes.

It is therefore an unescapable fact that the life of Moses teaches us that sometimes God can use the evil deeds of wicked men to praise him; that no matter how black our sins may be (Moses was a murderer) yet God can use if we come in faith and trust. He will forgive us and give us a sense of renewal and dedication ,if we are but willing to accept Him.

Are our spirits alert enough to see the evil around us? Are we strong enough to do what we must to succour the more unfortunate among us when they need a champion? Not, of course, by killing, as Moses did. Life was cheap in those days. Unfortunately, too often, it is cheap today. But such is not God's purpose. God meant for us to live righteously, in love for our brothers, guided by his Commandments.

Moses was entrusted with leading his people out of slavery, with putting them back on the right path. We, too, are entrusted to do God's work. We may not have the spectacular opportunity afforded Moses. But if we look around, and see someone in trouble .. lonely, lost, hopeless . . . and extend a helping hand — we are doing God's will. It may seem trivial to us at the time, but to the recipient that one small act may appear momentous, because he will be reminded that God has not forgotten him .. that He sent someone to evidence his caring, and set him on his feet again.

Tearful Appeal For Help

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (UPI) — A 23-year-old field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality in Mississippi made a tearful appeal Saturday for more help, saying "19 of our people have been killed or are missing" in the past two years.

Dave Dennis reported on the Missippi situation to CORE delegates at the 22nd annual national convention.

Mrs. Fannie Lee Chaney of Meridian, Miss., mother of James Chaney, one of three missing civil rights workers in Mississippi, said "I'm still hoping that he is somewhere alive.'

Dennis, who visibly broke into tears before the 700 delegates, decried inter - organizational bickering and said "People are dying down there - they don't come back".

The appeal brought a standing ovation from the delegates.

A resolution was adopted to build a new community center in Meridian, Miss., as a memorial to the three missing civil rights workers.

Burned Car In Miss. Shows U. S. Poverty--Shriver

WASHINGTON — The burning of the car of three voter registration workers in Mississippi shows the world "the poverty of American law and power of spirit," the head of President Johnson's poverty program said last week.

Speaking to delegates to the NAACP 55th annual convention, Sargent Shriver, special assistant for the President's Task Force on the War Against Poverty, said "this is the kind of poverty you have been working so 'ong to end. This is the kind of poverty the civil rights bill now before Congress is designed to eliminate from all parts of American life."

Mr. Shriver told the delegates that the 8,000 Peace Corps volunteers who are working to end poverty around the world, have not had one single incident of violence.

"We have heard talk of backward people on other continents," he said "But when we think of that burned can — and think back to Medgar Evers and Emmett Till and other victims of American violence — we must ask ourselves, who is really backward?" he continued.

Mr. Shriver congratulated the members of the Association for their "long enduring dedicated leadership." The NAACP, he said, represents "the power of the people to bring laws into existence and get them enforced by the ancient and honorable methods of public petition, demonstrations and marches."

President Johnson's war on poverty attacks each of the four points which President Kennedy mentioned three years ago in his statement on the Negro revolution employment, education, health and economic opportunities, Mr. Shriver told the delegates.

The war on poverty "attacks each one of these points," he said. "Not because Negroes are affected, but because all poor people are affected by the deprivation of employment, education ,health and economic opportunities," he said.

"Eighty per cent of the poor people in America are white. President Johnson's war against poverty, therefore, is not a war to help Negroes alone," he continued. "It is a war for the benefit of all Americans — poor and rich."

Also appearing at the all-day session on poverty at the NAACP convention was Dr. Vivian Henderson of Fisk University. Relating the problem of poverty to the Negro population, Dr. Henderson told the delegates that using the annual income figure of $3,000 as the line between poverty and non-poverty, "in 1962, 44 out of every 100 Negro families had less than $3,000 per year compared with 17 out of every 100 white families.

Elks' Parade To Be International

MIAMI, Fla. — The Elk's Grand Lodge Parade will take on an international flavor when it moves through the streets of downtown Miami during its convention Aug. 21-28.

Two lodges in Chinese costumes and several lodges from the Bahamas are expected to participate in the two-hour spectacle comprising some 45 marching units on Aug. 25, according to W. O. Perry, convention chairman.

Headed by the colorful Homestead Air Force Base Color Guard and the crack Nassau Police Marching Band, the parade will move south on NW Third Avenue from NW 13th Street to West Flagler, then east to SE Third Avenue before disbanding.

Perry said the parade will include 10 marching bands. 10 decorated floats and more than 25 other marching units.

He said about 10,000 conventioners are expected to attend this 65th Annual Grand Lodge Convention.

Sen. Ellender Urges 'Let The Courts Decide'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D.-La., who fought long and bitterly against the civil rights bill, Saturday, July 4 termed disobedience to the anti- discrimination law as "indefensible and dangerous."

Ellender urged the South to let the courts decide the final outcome of the historic measure in his weekly radio program broadcast in New Orleans.

"I cannot agree with those who advocated flagrant and perhaps violent opposition to any statute enacted by Congress," Ellender said adding however that some measures are passed "without good and substantial reasons."

Nevertheless, "the fact remains that until changed or repealed or else declared unconstitutional, the laws enacted by Congress must be respected," he said.

"If any can be defied, law will be diminished. The result would be widespread strife and discord enveloping the land-a condition which leads to anarchy or the absence of law and order," Ellender said.
