

BABY IN PAPER BAG FOUND IN DOWNTOWN ALLEY

Memphis police ran up against some tough cases during the Thanksgiving weekend, but the most shocking was the discovery of a battered 8-month-old baby in a paper sack.

A nightwatchman found the baby late Saturday at the rear of Ambrose Sporting Goods Store, 191 Madison.

Elvis Anderson, employed by Burns Night Patrol Service, said he was checking a rear door of the building when he noticed the sack containing the baby. The sack was on the ground in an alley.

John Gaston Hospital officials said the baby boy weighed 12 pounds and 6 ounces. They said the baby's skull had been fractured and that a fracture on the rib cage appeared to be healing.

The baby was in poor condition.

Police also were investigating two holiday killings. Robert Lewis Moody, 30, of 776 Walnut, died at John Gaston Friday, several hours after he was shot in the chest. He was found lying on a sidewalk on Walnut near Ioka.

James H. Wilson of 752 Walnut was being held under $5,000 bond in connection with the killing. Police said the slaying followed an argument over a pistol.

Another fatal shooting took place around 6:30 p.m. Thursday in front of Union Chevrolet Co. at 2200 Lamar. A witness was quoted by police as saying he heard the shot and then saw the victim stagger a few feet and fall.

The victim was identified as James Edward Hill, 23, 1493 South Willett.

The witness said the man was shot while struggling with two other men who fled after the shooting and joined a third man on the nearby viaduct.

Police sent out a plea this week to persons who may have witnessed the slaying. "We need their help," said Capt. R. A. Cochran.

Memphians In Final Tribute To Popular Bill Nabors

Memphians this week mourned one of the city's better known citizens, William F. (Bill) Nabors, who died Friday morning at Methodist Hospital following a long illness.

Mr. Nabors, 56, a native Memphian, was manager of William O. Foote and Edward O. Cleaborn housing projects for the Memphis Housing Authority. He also was a public relation man for the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Memphis.

He resided at 1387 South Parkway East with his wife, Mrs. Carrie Seward Nabors, a city school teacher, and his father, S. J. Nabors, long-time real estate and insurance man. A brother, Juan W. Nabors, resides in Cleveland, Ohio, where he is a public school teacher.

The deceased was the uncle of William Grant Nabors, a concert pianist of Rome, Italy.

Cigar-smoking Bill Nabors was known by thousands of Memphians many more throughout the nation. He attended LeMoine College and had been associated with the Memphis Housing Authority 28 years. He was manager of Dixie Homes and LeMoine Gardens before taking over management of Foote-Cleaborn Homes.

He was a member of First Baptist Church (Lauderdale) and a director of Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association. He was a member of Omega Psi Phi fratern-ty and treasurer of the National Market Developers, a public relations organization.

Mr. Nabors was the son-in-law of the late Dr. J. H. Seward, who died a few weeks ago, and Mrs. Maudine T. Seward.

Hundreds of Memphians and out-of-towners viewed the remains Sunday evening in the main chapel of T. H. Hayes and Sons.

Funeral rites, originally scheduled to be held at the site of the grave in Elmwood Cemetery, were conducted from T. H. Hayes chapel Monday morning at 11. The service was made because of chilly weather.

Some of Memphis' most fashionable citizens crowded into the flower-banked chapel for the brief service. Among those attending were representatives from the Memphis Housing Authority and the Coca-Cola Company.

Elder Blaid T. Hunt of Mississippi Boulevard Christian Church read the scripture and a touching prayer was offered by Judge B. L. Hooks, pastor of Greater Middle Baptist Church. The eulogy was given by Dr. H. O. Nabell, minister of First Baptist (Lauderdale).

Rev. Roy Love In Traffic Jam

Police slapped city and state charges of driving while intoxicated, failure to yield right of way, improper backing and being drunk against a prominent Memphis minister Monday evening.

The charges were placed against the Rev. Roy Love of 567 Vance, popular 70-year-old minister of 38th/Nebo Baptist Church at Vance and Lauderdale.

He was arrested at the corner of Poplar and Rembert around 6:15 p.m.

Police said they arrested Rev. Mr. Love after he pulled from a stop sign on Rembert and struck the right side of a car east-bound on Poplar. They said he then backed into the left side of a Memphis Transit Authority bus which was also east-bound on Poplar.

Arresting officers said the minister refused an intoximeter test.

The general chairman of the campaign, Miss Harry Simons, principal of Magnolia Elementary School, said gifts reported at the kickoff meeting included $1,723 from LeMoine's faculty and staff, $1,105 from Shelby County schools, $563 from clubs and organizations and $1,633.06 received by LeMoine for UNCF after last year's campaign.

Early Start For Two In Council Race

Two Negro citizens announced this week for positions on the City Council under the new Mayor-Council charter.

Announcing as candidates in the October 1967 election were O. W. Pickett, real estate man of 776 Neptune, and Dan J. Thomas, contractor, of 312 West Waldorf.

Mr. Pickett, a Republican and closely associated with Lt. George W. Lee, was the first to announce. He said he would seek the District 7 seat which includes downtown Memphis from Wells to Crump Boulevard and from the Mississippi River to Watkins.

There are 18,500 registered voters in the district.

The 46-year-old Mr. Pickett, who ran unsuccessfully in a recent bid for the State Legislature, said he is seeking the new office in order to fight the city's poverty areas as a spokesman on the Council.

Oddly enough, Mr. Pickett opposed the new Mayor-Council type of government when it was presented to voters last month. He contended the Progress organization, which drafted the new charter, was illegally constituted.

Mr. Thomas, a well-known Memphian, said he will run for the District 6 seat. He said there are 25,000 Negro voters in the district.

$500,000 Sent To 33 UNCF Member Colleges

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The United Negro College Fund last week distributed $500,000 to its 33 member colleges and universities.

The money will be used by the fund's member institutions to bolster scholarship aid to more than 16,000 students, improve facilities and build library holdings. Additional funds derived from the 1966 appeal, which has a goal of $5,174,000, will be distributed in January. Thus far this year, the organization has disbursed a total of $900,000 in contributed funds.

The nationwide drive is now $250,000 ahead of last year, with many communities reporting collections 10 per cent above 1965. Rochester, N. Y., has exceeded last year's collection and is the first city in the country to surpass its 1966 goal. Other cities ahead of previous year-end totals include Syracuse, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Houston, Augusta, Tusculoussa and Denver.

Contributions to the fund's annual campaign are divided among the member institutions according to a formula agreed upon by the member colleges. One-half is divided equally, and the remainder is distributed on the basis of enrollment and financial status of each of the schools.

The predominantly Negro colleges and universities served by the United Negro College Fund enroll nearly 33,000 students without regard to race, creed or color.

During the past two decades, the United Negro College Fund has received more than $95-million.

Inside Memphis

ODELL DOTSON of 1089 Beach, International Harvester employee, president of the 14th Ward Civic Club and a sifter and marcher during the fight to eliminate segregation in Memphis, was sporting a desegregated haircut this week. He was turned down when he entered the white shop in Greyhound Bus Station but later was accepted as a customer in the barbershop located in Methodist Hospital. He has filed a complaint against the shop that refused him.

JESSE H. TURNER may not be permitted to continue as president of the local NAACP. The national office of the civil rights organization is concerned about its branch presidents who also hold political offices. A poll is being taken of all NAACP branch memberships and if the majority votes 'No' it would mean the end to Mr. Turner's presidency for the time being. Or, he could resign his seat on the Shelby County Court.

FRIENDS OF LYDEL SIMS, newly appointed postmaster for Memphis, gave him a warm reception Sunday evening at an informal affair in the assembly room of Union Protective Life Insurance Company.

Color was added to the occasion by the participation of the uniformed 100 - piece senior band, robed 100 - voice Senior Glee Club and the green and gold programs produced by the Vocational Office Occupations Class under supervision of Miss Rosa Robinson.

Mt. Moriah Plans Big Homecoming

The pastor, Rev. R. W. Norsworthy, the officers and members of the Mount Moriah Baptist Church, Orange Mound, are observing their annual homecoming services, Sunday, Dec. 4, at 11 o'clock.

Mt. Moriah has, for the last 18 years, used this day for a dual purpose. First, it was set aside for the purpose of raising funds to bring Christmas cheer to the unfortunate, not just the unfortunate of the church, but to any one in need that was reported to the church.

Second, the occasion is used to bring together families as well as all members of the church in a spiritual as well as a fellowship gathering.

The homecoming services are greatly enhanced by contributions of guest artists. Saluting the families and members - of the church Sunday morning in the unique way that only she can do such things is Miss Irma Iaverne Clanton of the St. John Baptist Church, Vaner Avenue and English teacher at Melrose High School.

Further interest and enjoyment will be added by Mrs. Ruth Brown of Ebenezer Baptist Church. Mrs. Brown with her singing has moved congregations all over the city. Leading off in the church school at 9:30 will be Joseph Carr of Mt. Zion Baptist Church and a social studies teacher at Booker T. Washington High School. Chairman and co-chairman respectively of the homecoming program are J. D. Springer and Arnette Hirsch.

Need For Strong Negro Colleges Is Stressed

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. — Need for strengthening the quality of predominantly Negro colleges was stressed here Sunday, November 20 by Dr. John Potts, president of Voorhees College in Denmark, South Carolina.

Dr. Potts was the speaker at the dedication of three new Fayetteville State College buildings, a classroom structure and men's and women's dormitories.

Improvement of Negro colleges can come from foundation support, aid from federal agencies, alumni giveings, help from business and industry and an interchange in joint planning with prestige universities, Dr. Potts said.

The speaker said that favorable changes taking place in the south include the integration of schools, attraction of more industries, and providing more opportunities for Negro graduates in their own region.

Dr. J. W. Seabrook, president emeritus of the college, praised Emil Rosenthal of Goldsboro, trustee for over 25 years, for whom the classroom building was named. Dr. Seabrook said Rosenthal was a "visionary who formulated policy, short and long range in development."

He Turns Up His Nose; After All He's Fat Cat

CHICAGO — UPI — Flat Nose turns up his nose at other cats during his daily stroll in the back yard.

He can afford to display aristocratic aloofness. He is probably the richest cat in Chicago.

Flat Nose, who is 19 - years - old, is the last survivor of five cats who were named beneficiaries of the bulk of a $25,000 estate in 1961.

By conservative estimates, he's worth $15,000.

William J. Fields, 77, who takes care of the cat and stands to inherit what's left of the estate, said Flat Nose "doesn't associate with other cats — just stays by himself" when he's put out for fresh air.

"Mostly he sleeps on one of the twin beds in his room during the day," Fields said. "When he is not sleeping, he follows me around the house."

The five cats were owned by Mrs. Margaret Montgomery. When she died in 1960, she left a will providing that most of her estate go to the cats. The will provided further that Fields, a personal friend, was to care for the cats and would

Backlash Never Materialized In Recent Elections

WASHINGTON, D.C. — (SNS) — "The predicted white backlash in the 1966 elections failed to materialize," declared Cong. John Conyers, Jr. (D-Mich.) in a speech prepared for delivery at Washington's Prince Hall Masonic Temple. "The only phenomenon observed in the November elections was the coming out from under the rocks of anti-Negro, anti-liberal voters who have been a-round all the time. Many other factors were operative in the losses suffered by Democrats which cannot be attributed to the so-called 'backlash'."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, subtract 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

CHICAGO, Ill.—Veteran tourists will tell you that the most frightening of all air travel experiences is an aircraft lost in the sky. It is a fact that the most hazardous of all into the great blue yonder adventure is the takeoff and landing.

It was supposed to be a lark as we climbed aboard United Air Lines Charter 5644 for Chicago's O'Hare Field. Glad tidings was the news that a steak dinner would be served aboard.

No oracle or seer peering into his crystal ball would have forecast the fantastic script which haunted the Falcons. It was routine flying to Chicago, but once over the Windy City, the most feared of all sky travel menaced the Midwest.

All commercial aviation stood helpless far above O'Hare acknowledging the spectre of danger in the fog below. Hour after hour giant transcontinentals, planes were stacked up over Chicago and if ever the profile of an armada was visible one could envision it in the bulldip of planes over O'Hare.

Giant Ernie Wheelwright put on his customary apparel, that is the devil — may — care. Jack Hurst, Bill Conover and Tom Gligo played cards, with occasional outbursts against their airborne financial losses.

Up in the front compartment of the giant airliner E. M. (Bud) Erickson, general manager of the Falcons, kept up morale with a spirited conversation.

Nothing is so gripping as enforced silence, brought about by the hopeless helplessness of the Almighty. For God is all powerful and his control of the elements confirmed the majesty of God.

Tuskegee Opens Basketball Season Against Stillman

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — Coach Oscar J. Catlin, Jr.'s Tuskegee Institute Golden Tigers will officially open their 21st game, 1966-67 SIAC basketball campaign against the Stillman College Tigers, eight p. m., Tuesday, Dec. 6, at Stillman gym in Tuscaloosa.

Howard University To Play 24-Game Basketball State

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Howard University will open a 24-game varsity basketball schedule Thursday, December 1, when it meets Millersville (Pa.) State College at the Howard Gymnasium, Sixth and Girard Streets, northwest.

Howard coach Marshall T. Emery, who will begin his first year at the University, is very optimistic about this year's team. "I will place major emphasis on winning," the new mentor said.

Four starters from last year's team are back this year. They are Aaron Shingler, a 6-foot-4 senior, Ed Taylor, a 6-foot-10 junior, and Karl Hodge, a 6-foot-5 junior.

The fifth starting slot will probably be filled by either Charles Spruick, a 6-foot-2 sophomore from Richmond, Va., or Ellison Peppers, a 6-foot-3 junior from Washington.

Gale Sayers Powers Chicago Bears Past Atlanta Falcons

CHICAGO, Ill.—Gale Sayers, the NFL Rookie of the Year, radar-targeted field goal specialist Roger Le Clerc, and ex-Wisconsin star Jimmy Jones, and unheralded signalcaller Rudy Bukich, fired the Chicago Bears over the Atlanta Falcons 23-6, Sunday in bitter cold and rainswept Wrigley Field.

LeClerc kicked three field goals to subdue the bristling Falcon defense, but the Bears had the winning margin in the first quarter as Bukich passed 10 yards to Jones, with 9:08 gone on the clock.

Believe it or not the Falcons has more problems than a one-armed paper hanger in containing Sayers, the unrelentable and prodigious 6-0, 198-pound wizard from Kansas, who is everything and more than they've written about him.

So proof positive was Sayers' saffaris that he dangerously threatened Ed Riek Casares' all time club mark.

Rebuilding Task Faces S. C. State Cage Coach

ORANGETOWN, S. C. — With only two of his starters from a great baseball team returning, South Carolina State's Coach Ed Martin faces a tremendous task as he begins his twelfth season as head mentor of the Bulldogs eagles.

Three rugged 86" freshmen will vie for the starting pivot spot; Louis Ross of Orlando, Florida, Wilbert Goodwin, Columbia, S. C., and Carl Greenfield of Dorchester, N. J. help in the corners should come from two good-shooting freshmen, Jerry Harris of Philadelphia and Juan Smith of Fountain, S. C.

Three sophomores join Cheeseboro in their bid for starting roles and all are forwards. Paul Johnson, George Bush, and Jam Mills, each of these lettered last season but lack the experience necessary for the tough SIAC competition.

The Hobbie Shop, a women's specialty store operated entirely by FIA students, has opened at the corner of Marietta and Forsyth Streets in the heart of the central business district.

Sayers had an NFL record breaking 21 yards average of 16 attempts in three categories in the 4ers game (113 on 9 rushes), 89 on 2 pass receptions; 134 on 5 punt returns.

Use of satellites for ship navigation is urged.

Predict Negro To Make Impact On Top Politics

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special) — The November 8 elections indicate that political action among Negroes in the South will soon become an important factor in national politics according to an analysis of election returns by Deputy Chairman Louis Martin of the Democratic National Committee.

Three Negroes were elected to the Texas legislature, one to the senate and two to the lower house for the first time in this century. Tennessee elected six Negroes to the legislature where they will join two Negroes already elected to the legislature in the primary and general elections narrowly missed in Alabama and Florida. All those elected in these states are Democrats.

While candidates for the legislatures got most of the attention, Negroes have begun to move politically on the county level, running for County Sheriff, Tax Collector, Boards of Education, Coroner, Road Commissioner and Magistrates. Lucius B. Amerson of Tuskegee, Alabama won the most important county victory on November 8 — Sheriff of Macon County, the first Negro sheriff since Reconstruction in the deep South. In the same county, L. A. Locklar was elected Tax Collector and Harold Webb won in the race for Macon County's Board of Revenue. In another Alabama county, Sumter, J. R. Weatherly, a Negro, was elected Coroner and in Green County, Alabama, a Negro, Peter Kirksey was elected to the Board of Education.

In Mississippi, where Negro registration and voting have been most difficult, the first Negro to win elective office in modern times is Robert Lee Williams, who won as a Member of the Board of Education of Jefferson County. In Louisiana, three School Board Members were elected, Francis Joseph Atlas of East Carroll Parish, and Alvin White, Jr. and Raymond Minor of West Feliciana Parish.

There were 5,000,376 Negroes of voting age in the eleven Southern states according to the 1960 Census and the estimated registration in 1960 was 1,410,148, or 28.2 of the total potential. As of November 3, 1966, the Negroes registered in the eleven states was estimated to be above 2,600,000 or about 50 per cent of the potential. Most of this increase in registration has taken place since the passage of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

The success of Negro candidates on November 8 in many states is expected to stimulate a greater political interest among the rank and file of Negroes and inspire more candidates to get in local, county and state races.

An analysis of the impact of the Negro vote in the general races shows clearly that the time may soon come when racist candidates will find it more and more difficult to win important state-wide political offices.

The November 8 victories of Negro candidates will be a strong factor in increasing registration and political activity because now there is concrete evidence that progress is possible.

A WEIGHTY GAME — Don't be surprised if you fail to recognize actor Roger Carmel on the screen. He literally changes size for each portrayal. 6'2" Carmel recently went from 277 pounds to 160 for a stage production of "Amalie Mame" and for his current role in Universal's "Banning" producer Dick Berg had the actor GAIN 50 pounds!

The recent Blues Bowl Game would have been an ideal setting for the playoffs between the Co-Champions for the life, as well as the game for the Blues Bowl Classic. A similar situation occurred last year in the regular scheduled game between Manassas and Melrose, which had been postponed. These playoffs would have been just the thing for the fans and the Classic.

Just whether it is agreed as to the better team, the 1966 Thunderbolts or the Manassas Tigers, the fans will form their own conclusions. Overall for the season, the Thunderbolts finished the season in a blaze of glory in turning back Howard High of Chattanooga in the Blues Bowl Game 25-6 for a 9-1-1 record. Manassas dropped its final game to Brainerd High of Chattanooga 45-21 for 8-2-1 record for the season.

NEW YORK — Four members of the powerful Notre Dame team, three players from Michigan State's undefeated Big Ten champions and two each from three other schools around the nation were named today to the 1966 All-American football team chosen by the American Football Coaches Association.

Twenty-five players, including quarterbacks Bob Griese of Rose Bowl-bound Purdue and Steve Spurrier of Florida, gained positions on the team for their outstanding performances during the 1966 collegiate football season. Thirteen players were named to first team offensive spots while 12 gained posts on the defensive club in voting by more than 500 of the nation's football coaches.

Two Notre Dame players won first team offensive berths along with two members of the Alabama team which ranks among the nation's finest. Two members of the Irish defensive club also were named.

Coaches' voting was so close at defensive tackle spots that it was decided to name three to the team. The list of players was:

Orange Blossom Classic, RC Cola Go Together

MIAMI—(SPECIAL)—"RC Cola and the Classic go together like 'peas in a pod'" is the favorite saying in this famed tropical paradise as the dates draw closer for the famed Orange Blossom Classic and Festival which will be sponsored by Florida A&M University, Tallahassee, December 2-3.

The reason—the international soft drink firm plays a vital role in providing the key "extra" to the host school and its visiting opponent that contribute to making the event one of the glamour sports attractions in the nation.

For the fifth consecutive year Royal Crown Cola Co. will give more than 100 specially designed and inscribed watches to the players and coaches of both teams, who will be honored at the fourth annual Royal Crown-sponsored Players' and Coaches' dinner that will be held Friday evening, Dec. 2, at the swank Seville Hotel, Miami Beach. In addition, Royal Crown Cola Co. will provide huge and beautiful championship and runner-up trophies to the participating teams.

The trophies will be spotlighted during the mammoth parade on December 3 in the RC "Trophy Car" which in four years, has become one of the favorite of the thousands of viewers who line the parade route. A new RC feature this year will be the introduction of competitive awards—trophies—in the top three high school bands that participate in the parade.

Nehi-Royal Crown Bottling Company, Miami, will again host youth parade participants at a record hop at the Washington High School Gymnasium, following the parade and will provide food and RC Cola to all those in attendance. Royal Crown Cola Co. participation in the "classic" is but one phase of a year-long program of activity in key national sports events which include—co-sponsorship of all All-American Banquet with the New Pittsburgh Courier, principal sponsorship of the Texas Southern University Relays; and sponsorship of the French Lick Invitational Amateur Golf Tournament.

Each phase of RC's "Classic" participation represents an innovation in the famed event. To date the international soft drink firm is the only company which plays so vital a role in activities of this nature by providing specially designed and inscribed watches in such quantity, and Players' and Coaches' Banquet. In addition RC provides speakers for the banquet and gifts to the college owners, their attendants, and wives of the school presidents and coaching staff.

Representing Royal Crown Cola Co. at this year's "classic" will be—A. W. "Woody" Ansley, Jr., manager, Syrup Department; Harry Stephens, Jr., manager, special market activities, Midwest Division; and Chuck Smith, director, special market activities.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

The Prep League football season ended, as everyone knows in a tie between the Father Bertrand Thunderbolts and the Manassas Tigers, as each team finished with identical records of 5-1-1, and therein lies the question for the "Monday Morning Quarterbacks," just which one of the teams is the better.

True, statistics-wise, Bertrand might have the edge, as the Thunderbolts were the leading scoring team in the league as well as against all competition, while at the same time, the Tigers edged the Thunderbolts 33-32, the narrowest of margins. Yet, the performance by both teams against two mutual members of the league adds to the discussion.

Just as a matter for comparison, Bertrand lost to Manassas for its only defeat, while Carver, the team that defeated Manassas was easy pickings for Bertrand, as the Thunderbolts were victorious 26-12, while Manassas was stopped by Carver 27-18. Bertrand wins over Carver 28-12. Carver turns back Manassas 27-18, and Manassas edges Bertrand 33-32. Now, what have you?

Then again, as we mentioned, both teams had one tie game. Bertrand tied Washington 13-13, while Manassas romped over Washington 32-18, a mere 19 points better than the Bertrand total, one Manassas fans point out that the Manassas defeat came in the Tigers' first game of the season, and that the team improved as the season progressed.

Some Bertrand fans claim the same explanation, the tie game with Washington, as the first game of the season, and the Thunderbolts' play got better with each game, which may not prove anything. The clincher is the Douglass games. Manassas barely managed a 14-14 tie with Douglass, while Bertrand stumped the Red Devils 26-0, which adds more to the unresolved question which team was the better.

The 1966 season will go down, in history as the year of the Co-Champions. The Bertrand Thunderbolts and the Manassas Tigers, so far as the record is concerned. To the loyal followers and partisans of each team, their favorites are champions, while to the non-partisan fans it is unanswered.

The question is being badgered back and forth Along The Trail, that a playoff should be between teams finishing the season in a tie after the regular schedule has ended, to determine an undisputed champion. We learn that this is frowned upon, and the powers that be are satisfied to leave the results as they are at the season's end.

It isn't often that teams play each other twice in the same season, although it happens occasionally. There was a time that a defeated team was anxious and willing to play the second game, while the winner was somewhat indifferent or cold to the idea. The idea might well be worth reconsidering.
