Inside Memphis

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT the two local sororities that showed up the same place and same time Saturday for luncheon meetings, with one of the groups finding it necessary to stand by until the other had completed its business-and-eat session. The confused managers of the eating establishment had been under the impression that both groups were one and the same.

BLUFF CITY JAYCEES' Sunday afternoon tribute to George Grider, former U. S. Representative from this area, attracted a small gathering of about 150. Earlier announcement that Mr. Grider was leaving Memphis for good may have had something to do with size of the crowd.

Turns Trick Before Record Indoor Crowd Of 37,321

By ED FITE (UPI Sports Writer)

HOUSTON—(UPI)—Cassius Clay pounded and humiliated Ernie Terrell's challenge to his world heavyweight boxing supremacy Monday night and then punished him with a bloody, unanimous 15-round decision over the World Boxing Association titlist.

Clay was never in trouble and was constantly in command of the action - packed scrap before 37,321 in the Houston Astrodome. He actually stole Terrell's thunder by doing much of the heavy damage to Terrell's blood-smeared face with lefts - supposedly Terrell's favorite weapon.

Clay weighed 212½ pounds and Terrell weighed 212½.

It was Clay's 28th consecutive victory without a defeat and his eighth defense of the title he wrested from Sonny Liston in February, 1964.

Locomotive Firemen And Enginemen Plan Rally Feb. 15

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — Labor relations problems on U. S. railroads in 1967 will be discussed at a rally here of locomotive engineers, helpers (firemen) and hostlers sponsored by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

H. E. Gilbert, President of the International rail union, will address morning and evening meetings scheduled for Wednesday, February 15, at 10:00 a. m., and 8:00 p. m., at the Holiday Inn No. 4, N. E. Expressway (I-85) and Piedmont Rd., Atlanta, Georgia.

In announcing plans for the rally, Gilbert said that the deterioration of railroad safety, that followed the removal of nearly 20,000 locomotive helpers (firemen) from their jobs in 1964, is one of the major problems to be discussed.

A closely related problem, according to Gilbert, is "the growing and serious shortage of trained locomotive engineers." He said the separation of thousands of firemen by rail management had been "shortsighted."

"Now railroads are hard pressed for trained and qualified firemen to move up as locomotive engineers," Gilbert stated.

Other items marked for discussion at the BLF&E - sponsored rally include the threat of federal anti-strike legislation, and the uniting of existing rail unions into fewer but stronger organizations.

Executive Director Of GEA Accused Of Confusing Teachers

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — House appropriations Committee chairman James H. Slippy Floyd Tuesday accused the executive director of the Georgia Education Association of deliberately confusing Georgia's teachers.

Floyd said director Frank Hughes should "go jump in the creek and get himself another job."

Several other committee members joined Floyd and told hundreds of letters they received from teachers angry over "outs" the committee was making in the education budget.

"Nobody has been cut as yet," Floyd said.

He accused Hughes of sending five form letters to school teachers to be used as a guide in writing to the committee.

"If Mr. Hughes is trying to confuse somebody and I was a school teacher, I think I would be looking for a new executive secretary," Floyd said.

Charges Harassment

Rep. Jones Lane of Staeboro said the volume of letters he and other committee members received amounted to harassment. "We're going to help them teachers all we can, and I'd appreciate it if they'd ease ease up," Lane said.

Rep. Tom Murphy of Bremen, Gov. Lester Maddox's floor leader said he lost his temper with Hughes during a meeting several days ago and added, "I may be responsible for part of those letters."

"This gentleman and members of his staff came in my office and proceeded to chew me up pretty good," Murphy said.

"They were threatening me," he added. "I tried to be as polite as possible, but I finally lost my Irish temper."

Floyd said teachers were misled and asked newsmen attending the committee meeting to tell readers and listeners the truth to help stop the unfriendly letters from teachers.

Floyd and Murphy said some letters could not be read at the meeting because there are ladies in the room."

Lone Gunman Robs Macon Bank Of $5,000

MACON, Ga. — UPI — A lone gunman robbed the Peoples Bank of Macon Tuesday afternoon of about $5,000 then fled in a stolen car he abandoned two blocks away.

Police said the man described as in his late 20's and having dark curly hair, pulled a .25-caliber pistol on a woman teller and ordered her to fill a brown paper bag with money.

Bank officials said an audit was underway but that a preliminary check indicated something just under $5,000 was missing.

The teller told police the man first filled out a loan application under the name of Bill James. He then asked how long it would take for the application to be approved. When he was told one day, he pulled the gun.

A police search concentrated in the downtown area after the stolen cream colored Pontiac was found abandoned in the Chammer of Commerce parking lot two blocks from the bank.

Officers said the car was stolen earlier in the day from a used car lot in Macon. The theft had not been discovered because the car dealer had assumed a purchaser picked up the car.

Top Leaders:

Urge Business Take Over Rights Cause

WASHINGTON—(CNS)—The nation's top civil rights leaders, the mayors of five major cities and Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey joined last week in calling for a new coalition of government, business, labor and voluntary organizations to work for full equality.

Humphrey and NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins and National Urban League Director Whitney Young made the dramatic pleas before 500 representatives of top firms at the swank Sheraton Park Hotel in far northwest Washington.

Other speakers who emphasized the increasing need for equal opportunity included Sen. J. M. Montoya, D-New Mexico; Stephen Sliuman, chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and Edward Sylvester, director of the Federal Contracts Compliance office of the Department of Labor and Hobart Taylor, director of the Export-Import Bank.

The mayors of Baltimore, Boston, Milwaukee, Oakland and Houston, Texas, also urged business leaders to support massive government training for the unemployed as well as integrated housing and school desegregation to eliminate the tense problems of ghetto areas.

The country can afford to continue its progressive domestic program for all citizens and maintain its international obligations in Viet Nam, Humphrey declared at the close of the fifth annual conference of key delegates from 35 major firms belonging to the conference. They employ over 9 million workers.

Plans for Progress is an association of major business firms pledged to use fair employment practices in the recruiting, training and hiring of all employees. It was organized by President Johnson when he was vice-president in 1961.

GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT Explaining that the Gross National Product is approaching three quarters of a trillion dollars, Humphrey told the leading captains of industry at the final dinner session "we cannot afford not to continue our programs for full opportunity and social justice."

Many are wondering, the Vice President said, if the continued Viet Nam war will mean a cutback in funds here, but "the answer is that we cannot and will not stand idly by and watch valuable human resources of this society wasted and scattered and turned away from the mainstream," he said.

"The protest of the marcher . . . yes even the protest of the rioter, is becoming the progress of a new job, of a new neighbor, of a new school, of a new opportunity," said Humphrey.

THE CITY AND THE NEGRO Earlier during the two day meeting, Wilkins told the businessmen "the solution to the problems of the cities is the solution to the problems of the Negro."

The civil rights movement must be concerned with urban development because 74 percent of the population lives in the cities and 70 percent of the nation's Negroes live there, Wilkins said.

Any cutback in programs designed to aid the cities can be just as dangerous as cutting back the war in Viet Nam, said Wilkins, because they contain most of the 33 percent unemployed Negro teen-agers.

YOUTH UNEMPLOYED "The question of whether we have these . . . youths unemployed is just as important as whether our troops sweep through the Mekong Delta," he added, because "they are full of nothing but muscle and mischief."

Business must decide between supporting government and responsible leaders seeking to bring Negroes into the mainstream of society or dealing with "the Stokely Carmichaels and black power preachers who say there is no chance, so let's tear it up," said Wilkins.

There are 400,000 unemployed

Negro youths who need training, and jobs continued Whitney Young who also spoke at the conference here.

He urged emphasis on private and government programs "to channel the frustration and anger of these idle youths into creative energy."

UP TO YOU "It is up to you whether to make these youngsters a chronic dependent or a productive commodity consumer," Young told the businessmen. "If the cities become poorer and blacker, it will not only hurt the people, but it will hurt business, he added.

Despite the establishment of Plans for Progress in 1960, voluntary fair employment programs may not be enough, said Shulman, chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

SLOW PROGRESS A study of equal employment operations revealed that 30 firms which belonged to Plans for Progress employ 2.6 percent Negroes in white collar position and 30 firms not belonging to the voluntary plan employ 2.7 percent in the same category.

Of the first 100 firms in the Plans for Progress for five years, there is less than three percent Negro employment, said Shulman. "Whatever the reason, to the Negro the results are disappointing," he added.

The Federal Contracts Compliance office of the Department of Labor also seeks to enforce equal employment programs in all firms having government contracts, Edward Sylvester, director, told the delegates.

REPUBLICAN AGREES Appearing at the opening of the meeting, Republican Mayor Theodore McKeldin of Baltimore agreed with Democratic Mayor John Collins of Boston in calling for business leadership in urban renewal and anti-poverty programs.

"It is not government's responsibility to solve the major problems of the cities," said McKeldin. "Government is supposed to create the climate for business to make the change," he added.

He also recommended preferential hiring of Negro employees, re-development programs in slum areas and recruitment of workers from ghetto areas by "changing your policies and corraling people from the streets."

Americus School Board Accepts HEW Demands

AMERICUS, Ga. — UPI — Americus School Board announced Tuesday it will accept demands of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to secure the release of about $120,000 in federal school funds.

HEW withdrew the funds last year, charging the schooy system was not in total compliance with federal school desegregation guidelines.

The board adopted a resolution pledging four objectives during the current school year. . . . To set up a voluntary teacher exchange whereby white teachers would exchange duties for one week with six Negro teachers.

To employ 12 Negro teaching aides for school, attained predominantly by white children. . . . To employ six full-time classroom teachers who represent minority race at the school in the system and six part-time supervisory personnel in the same category for the 1967-68 school year.

To increase enrollment of Negro children in white neighborhood schools to a total of 10 percent or about 150 to 200.

NEGRO HISTORY WEEK

Beginning February 12th, Negro History and Negro History Week will "come alive" again; that does not say there is a lull in Negro History as such. It is just a modest reminder of the great contributions of a group, and a recalling of what historians of the day did not tell.

We said in this column on another occasion, Negro History is world history; that the Negro is first an American and whatever his contributions are they should automatically become part of American History. In fact, one can observe that the word "Negro" is being deleted in many of the stories and public mentions meant for the identification of the color of the individual under discussion.

But regardless of this recent current trend, we must never try to avoid being identified with our own racial group. We agree where racial identity is not essential in a necessary description, it may be considered incidental.

Be that as it may, Negro History Week will be observed again next week. Plans have already been made to present prominent speakers on forums, at schools and educational centers. The late Dr. Carter G. Woodson is the chief originator of this national observance. But for that movement, so designated, many worthwhile contributions our people have given the nation and the world might not be known to the credit of the Negro race.

The annual observance of Negro History Week started back in 1926 and has become one of the most powerful agencies of research known to anthropology. From these research programs, many fine points of history, hardly remotely touching Negro

Congratulations, Paschal Brothers

(From The Atlanta Daily World) The new Paschal's Motor Hotel is the apex of an inspiring story that should be a challenge for every ambitious youth in America.

This beautiful million dollar addition to Paschal Enterprises is not only the realization of a 13 year old James Paschal, when he was a boot-black in Thompson, Georgia.

It is not only the double dream of Mr. Paschal and his brother Robert.

It is a swift, wonderful story that most Atlantans have watched with their own eyes, (not read from pages of history books).

This was such a swift rise from the little restaurant across the street that caught the fancy of the college crowd only a few short years ago. This was a quick move to a leading restaurant, talked about as a wonderful addition to the city, and then La Carrousel Lounge, that has become a metropolitan must among people who go places.

These brothers have steadily grown, bootblack, small grocery, right on up to what is now seen as a leading business in this city, where new buildings and exquisite surroundings are the by word.

We salute these brothers, and urge youths in Atlanta to pay close attention to their story, if they are interested in self and community advancement.

New Congressmen See No Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON - (CNS) - Civil rights bills are not to be passed in this session of the 90th Congress unless the mood of the century changes, new Republican and Democratic members of the House of Representatives agreed this week.

Several measures may be introduced emphasizing enforcement and implementation of already existing laws, but they have little chance for passage without a new push by civil rights groups or strong administration support, said the speaker at the Capital Press Club forum on the outlook for legislation.

Five new Republican members of the Congress who appeared on the panel pledged themselves to work for equal opportunity and fair housing laws through their party regardless of prevailing sentiment.

NEED RIGHT MOOD

But, conditions have to be right, throughout the congressional districts, said Rep. Charles Whalen, R-Ohio, who authored his state's open occupancy legislation. "Congress must reflect the will of the people," he said.

"If a fair housing law would not pass the 89th Congress, it certainly not pass the 90th," Whalen added. A fair housing amendment was dropped last session from a proposed civil rights bill which was later scrapped also.

Rep. William O. Cowger, R-Ky., also said he would have voted for a fair housing law in the last Congress and predicted the Republicans will support progressive legislation despite the conservative mood of the nation.

FORMER LOUISVILLE MAYOR

Cowger, a former liberal mayor of Louisville, is organizer and president of the Freshmen Republican group in the new Congress, called the 90th Club.

The congressman doubted if any meaningful civil rights or social legislation can pass without strong impetus from the White House, however.

Both Democratic Reps. John Blaylock of Michigan and Phillip

Rep. Powell Agrees To Testify Before House Committee

WASHINGTON - UPI - Adam Clayton Powell accepted Monday an invitation to testify before a special committee examining his fitness to serve in Congress.

But there were indications that the Negro minister-politician would answer only questions dealing with constitutional issues.

On Jan. 10, opening day of the 90th Congress, the 11-term representative from Harlem was denied his seat pending an investigation into his "right" to it. The select committee has until Feb. 24 to recommend to the House whether it should vote to seat him.

Powell sent a 9-man committee a telegram Monday from his vacation retreat on the island of Bimini. It said: "I will appear Wednesday at 10 a.m. with counsel." The hearing is scheduled to be open. Under house rules, however, Powell can ask to testify in closed sessions. One of his eight lawyers said it had not been decided whether Powell would ask for a closed confrontation.

Powell's lawyers have filed a scholarly brief in which they contend that under the Constitution the House cannot deny a duly elected member his seat unless he fails to meet the age, citizenship or residency qualifications.

Powell has no qualms about answering questions on those points. He claims he meets all three requirements.

But the committee also wants to ask him about:

- A libel suit which has been plaguing him in New York for seven years. He has been held to be in contempt of court and saddled with a $168,000 judgment. Last week he paid $33,000 of that amount to a Harlem widow who brought the suit.

Lincoln-Douglass Celebration Set

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. -

A mammoth Lincoln-Douglass Celebration sponsored by the Colored Voters League of Greater Chattanooga will be held Sunday, February 19 at 3:00 p. m. at the ARTHUR L. WALKER St. James Baptist Church, 825 Mable Street, where the Rev. James A. McCullough is pastor.

A very unique program has been planned for this momentous occasion.

Mr. Arthur L. Walker, Executive Secretary of the James A. Henry Branch of the Y. M. C. A., will deliver the principal address. Mr. Walker is a native of Oklahoma, and a graduate of Taft High School there. He received his B. S. degree from Langston University. He was a teacher and football coach for two years at the St. Joseph High School, St. Joseph, Missouri. Mr. Walker is married and lives in the Washington Hills area.

Rev. McCullough will give the invocation. Music will be furnished by the St. James Choir, Riverside High School Choir and Miss Margaret Hobday. Rev. C. B. Holloway will serve as the master of ceremonies.

Special guests will include Mayor Ralph Kelley and Commissioner Bonnie Turner and others. Ushers will be members of the Elks Lodge, Mr. Sam Simson, Commander.

POWELL BEST CHAIRMAN

"I had hoped... the Republicans would be able to take advantage of our dilemma, but I don't think they will," added the Democratic representative.

The vote to oust Rep. Adam Clayton Powell was a mistake by both parties because the Harlem Congressman was one of the best chairmen of the Congress, regardless of his personal faults, declared Burton.

"DON'T OWN NEGROES"

The party leadership must learn that just because Negroes who live in the ghettos vote Democratic, they don't own their vote, said the Californian.

Republican members must also stand up and oppose their party when they are wrong on such issues as open housing, said Rep. Theodore R. Kupferman, who proposed stronger civil rights laws in the last Congress.

Students Told U.S. Must Be Sincere About Democracy

ATLANTA, Ga. - (SNS) -

In an address to a large group of Atlanta University Center students Sunday afternoon, James H. Sheldon said as a leading country today, the U. S. must pay price of world leadership by being "more responsible and more dedicated" towards democratic principles both at home and abroad.

As an international newspaper figure, the speaker added that the U. S. was the "most responsible, richest and most powerful country today" and that it had strong obligations to feed the underfed, to keep world peace and to proclaim democracy.

The occasion held at Sisters Chapel, Spelman College, marked the 25th annual Atlanta University Center Convocation sponsored by Clark College, Interdenominational Theological Center, Morehouse College, Morris Brown College, Spelman and Atlanta University.

Sheldon continued that there is no reasonable excuse today for two-thirds of the world population to be underfed and one-third are actually near starvation. "It is morally wrong and technologically unnecessary," he said.

In preservation of peace, the speaker said that this country must establish law and order world-wide and rededicate self to idea of world organization. As a subtle defense for U. S. policy in Vietnam, he said that the United States can't remedy situation by giving up, because it has a military obligation to develop and restore independence to less developed areas, particularly areas of South East Asia. "No government is perfect," he added.

On the home front, he praised the efforts of Atlanta University in its defense of civil rights. He explained that a country can't practice justice and expect other countries to practice justice. He continued that he has also been successful efforts of the Peace Corps and was pleased with its work.

In response to pressing demands for more space for a growing youth population and for the sophisticated machines of modern medicine, a campaign was begun in December to raise $2,450,000 for the expansion and modernization of that hospital's facilities. Slightly more than one half of the $2,450,000 is anticipated from Hill Burton Funds, the remainder from a community-wide appeal.

Businessmen who are participating in the campaign have raised $670,000 through person to person contact. The remainder will now be sought through a general public appeal by the members of LeBonheur Club.

Pledges over a three year period are welcomed. Contributions may be mailed to LeBonheur Children's Hospital, 33103.

MY WEEKLY SERMON

By REV. BLAIR T. HUNT, PASTOR MISSISSIPPI BAPTIST CHURCH MEMPHIS, TENN.

MY WEEKLY SERMON

SUBJECT: "THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD" TEXT: PSALMS 23:1 "THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD, I SHALL NOT WANT."

LET US MEDITATE UPON THE FIRST FIVE WORDS IN THE TWENTY THIRD PSALM.

The words of the Twenty-Third Psalm written centuries and centuries ago are as fresh as if written yesterday. They are at home in every language and dialect. They touch us, in're us, comfort us not as an echo from three thousand years ago, but as the voice of a living friend in the living present.

The child repeats them at his mother's knees; the scholar expands on them his choicest learning and language; the plain, simple Christian loves them for their beauty and simplicity; the church-choirs in a mighty chorus lift them up to Heaven with sweetness like melted pearls; on those who are sick they fall on their ear and heart as comforting music.

The words, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," bring God intimately before us in the most endearing character.

The oftener we repeat "The Lord Is My Shepherd" the more our hearts go forth to God in Love. The word "M" is so important. Each child of God can say, "He is Mine." Yes, we are the sheep of His Pasture and the Guests of His Table. We are one of Jehovah's flock living in His fold forever.

He is mine and I am His. His name gives poise to our spirit, rest to the weary; He renews our strength; He leads us; He guides us; He builds a wall of protection around us; He feeds us; He heals us. Yes, He is our All in All.

The words of our text would never have reached us had they been simply the words of a man though the man be a poet, a Hero and a King. These words are the Voice of God's Spirit in the Psalmist David. In continuity we see them again and again in the Old Testament and in the New Testament the image of God as our Shepherd.

The likeness passes on from the Old Testament to the New Testament. In the New Testament Christ is the Chief Shepherd, who employs under Shepherds to feed His flock. Read John 16:16-17. After His Resurrection we hear Jesus saying to Peter, "Feed My Sheep" In Isaiah 40:11, Christ's tender care of individuals, even the youngest, is represented. "He shall feed His flock like a Shepherd; He shall gather the lambs with His arm, and carry them in His bosom, and gently lead those that are with young."

Jesus Christ was this image, this likeness, to Himself as seeking and saving the lost (Luke 15:3-7), feeding each one who follows Him, laying down His life for His flock. (John 10:1-10) In Revelation 7:16-17 we see the Divine Shepherd gathering His whole flock in safe rest and joy of Heaven.

Can we say, "The Lord Is My Shepherd; He is all that we need?" If we cannot, the Gospel has not yet fulfilled its mission in our heart and life. If we can truly say "The Lord Is My Shepherd" then we can fearlessly cast all our burdens and cares on Him and finish the verse "I Shall Not Want" for my Shepherd cares for me.

Terrell, who became only the second man ever to go the distance with Clay since he won the title, had his left eye virtually closed from the fifth round on and Clay opened a free-bleeding cut over Terrell's right eye in the eighth round and carried the fight to the challenger so viciously at that point that it appeared that he might finish him right there-or in the ninth - as he had predicted before the fight.

But Terrell hunk in there gamely although his own attack was stilled because he had to defend a bleeding cut over his eye.

It appeared that Clay actually was carrying the challenger during the later rounds, but the champion emph. cally denied that and declared he "just couldn't knock him out."

"I hit him at will after the eighth round," Clay said, "but he laid all over me and I couldn't put him away."

Senate Approves Expanded Benefits To Viet Veterans

WASHINGTON - UPI - The Senate Tuesday approved expanded benefits to veterans of the Vietnam war.

Passed by voice vote and sent to the House was a bill to increase such benefits as veterans' hospital care, increased compensation to wounded veterans and their families, and financial aid for car purchases by seriously disabled former servicemen.

President Johnson asked for these as well as even broader benefits in a special message to Congress eight days ago. The speedy action on a portion of the package was helped by groundwork done last year when a similar bill was approved by the Senate but died in the House.

Still pending are bills to increase GI life insurance from a present maximum of $10,000 to a minimum of $12,000 and a ceiling of $30,000.

The bill passed Tuesday would cost $79.9 million during the first five years of increased benefits. Receiving the new benefits would be veterans in the service since Aug. 5, 1964.

School Principal On Education Panel

LAWRENCEVILLE, Va. — Fitz Turner, principal of James Solomon Russell High School here and a teacher or administrator in Old Dominion public schools for 24 years, is one of a 17-member panel recently named to study and update the standards of the State Board of Education for accreditation of Virginia's public, private, and parochial high schools.

The 43-year-old native of Drewryville, Va., as far as could be determined, is the first of his race appointed to a state accreditation study committee for secondary schools. The last two study groups recommended criteria that became effective in 1950 and 1960 for ten-year periods.

Dr. Woodrow W. Wilkerson, state superintendent of public instruction, announced the selections for the panel. Mr. Turner's selection was endorsed by Brunswick County Supt. E. E. Will. At Dr. Wilkerson's request the State Board of Education authorized the study at its December 9th meeting.

There are regional standards for accrediting elementary schools. The state overseas accreditation on the high school and college levels only. The panel's recommendations are expected to be ready within a year for the state board's consideration. The presumably revised and strengthened standards normally would become effective at the start of 1970. The first meeting of the Committee on Revision of Standards for Accrediting Secondary Schools is set for Jan. 31 in Richmond.

Mr. Turner is the current and last president of the 10,000-member Virginia Teachers Association, whose formal merger with the larger and predominantly white Virginia Education Association was effective January 1st. He continues to serve in that post during an indefinite transition period while the VTA closes up shop. He and other key VTA executives are expected to be voted responsible positions with the merged body.

Mr. Turner became principal of Russell High here in the fall of 1959. Prior to that he taught at East Suffolk (Va.) High School (now John W. Kennedy High) for 13 years beginning in 1946.

He is a graduate of Southampton (Va.) County Training School, now Riverbend High at Courtland, and of Virginia State College, Petersburg, where in 1944 he received his B.S. degree and in 1946 the M.S. degree in school administration. The son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. S. Turner of Drewryville, he is married to the former Miss Ida Carter of Southampton County. They have one son, Fitz III, age 12.

At Russell High, Mr. Turner supervises a staff of 48 teachers and two assistant principals and an enrollment of 1,135 of whom 197 are currently seniors. The appointee has been active in educational, church, and civic activities since his college graduation.

Before assuming the top VTA post last November, Mr. Turner was at various times president and executive secretary of the VTA Fourth District, embracing Lawrenceville; president of the VTA's Second District in Tidewater Virginia; and president of the Nansemond County (Va.) Teachers Association. He is the immediate past-president of the VTA's Department of Second School Principals. For the past five years he has been either district or state delegate to annual conventions of the National Education Association.

Mr. Turner is a member of the NEA, National Association of School Principals, of the VEA, Brunswick County (Va.) Community Action Committee, Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Lawrenceville, First Baptist Church, and Pleasant Plains Baptist Church, Drewryville.

Editor Claims No Racism In Efforts To Get Powell

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — A former Mississippi newspaper editor now residing in Alabama said here this week that racism is not involved in the efforts to unseat U. S. Congressman Adam Clayton Powell.

P. D. East, editor of the monthly PETAL PAPER, said that he personally likes Powell because of his (Powell's) "honesty," explaining further "I hate to see him go, but I don't think he is a victim of racism."

East, a native of Columbia, Miss., became nationally known when his paper supported the U. S. Supreme Court's Decision regarding the desegregation of schools. East is one of several personalities appearing at Tuskegee Institute during an interim between semesters program, Jan. 25-Febr. 4.

"When asked what he thought concerned citizens ought to do for Congressman Powell, East replied "Nothing. He is a respectable man. He is a victim of his own doings."

"Powell is a victim," East said, because "he was honest and open" with his doings. "Mr. Powell was arrogant, which I like," the speaker continued. "Not an arrogant Negro, just an arrogant American." During his informal conversation with faculty and students here, East also said:

He believed California's Ronald Reagan was a man who held "grudges," a factor that East said would not make a greater leader. He said California was in for "four detrimental years."

"The only thing that Mrs. Wallace (of Alabama) has done, except appoint constables in Macon County, is make the banks pay two per cent on state funds."

And, he could not generalize about the need for future civil rights demonstrations. Depending on what was needed and wanted," he said it might be best to "march, sit in or go to court." It was an "individual situation."

Historians Ignored Negroes' Contributions Says Franklin

RALEIGH, N.C. — "We live in a nation so young, yet so unenlightened on the history of the Negro people," Dr. John Hope Franklin internationally known historian, told the faculty, students and visitors at Shaw University in Greenleaf Auditorium Friday morning, January 27.

Addressing an assembly audience, the renowned professor of American History at the University of Chicago, was introduced by John Rodman Larkins a trustee of Shaw.

Using as his subject, "The New American History," Dr. Franklin declared "One historian wrote a book during this generation in which he stated, 'So far as I know, Negroes have made no significant contributions.'"

He further commented, "This author completely ignored the fact that Negroes have fought in all wars, their role in the building of great and prosperous nations, developing crops and adding to the economy in general," he received lower wages.

Author of a number of books, including "From Slavery to Freedom" Dr. Franklin cited many beliefs held by some American years ago. Among these were the oft-quoted theory that the Negro is innately inferior since his role required no thought, and, some believed, Franklin said, that what Negroes did do was not worthy of attention.

"Some historians," the illustrious speaker averred, "had no understanding of the fact that Negroes have been most conscientious and zealous keepers of this country's conscience. They have shared the white man's problems."

"After contributing to the winning of the civil war," said Dr. Franklin, the race found itself left out of everything.

"A group of North Carolina Negroes met in Raleigh in 1865 and wrote a letter to the President insisting that since they had suffered in the war, they wanted the right to vote," adding, "white North Carolinians who had been fighting against the United States were given this right, while the Negro, fighting for his country, was denied this same inalienable privilege."

The replica

The recipients of more than eight honorary degrees from various institutions throughout the nation, Franklin continued, "In a sense, the peak when James Meredith entered the University of Mississippi in September of 1962."

He then traced the Negro's progress to the battles at Birmingham, Alabama, the March on Washington on August 28, 1963, and expressed his amazement upon returning from England to find the change wrought by the civil rights movement.

"No real thought had been given by white men before this about the race problem," he stated.

"The long range result of the Negro's quest for equality," Franklin believes, "is the view that the history of this nation must be re-examined and criticized in order to get the roles of all American accurately reported."

He reminded his audience that as a result of integration, "writing books about the Negro's history has become big business. However, many people are only concerned with the financial aspect of the book, rather than the accuracy of its contents."

Citing the fallacy of complete integration in the North, the Fisk and Harvard-educated professor declared, "Many bad influences are often brought to bear on publishers, even writers to print books devoid of Negro history."

"Have you even seen an outraged people marching on a school saying, 'We will not tolerate this book?' throw out that book because it might mention Benjamin Banneker, Harriet Tubman, Charles Drew of some other Americans who have helped make this country great?" he asked his audience.

Dr. Franklin warned of one danger: Some Negroes might think that since we have been neglected so long, we want all the attention we can get.

He concluded, "It is not necessarily the people at the polls in Mississippi that don't want to see a new day. Some are also attempting to hold the race back."

New York NAACP Protests Union Discrimination

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. — Three clergymen and a city official were among the six NAACP civil rights demonstrators arrested for blocking contractors' trucks to protest discriminatory hiring practices at the city's new Urban Renewal Complex, Jan. 25, where Macy's department store has started construction.

Those arrested included Rev. Andrew Whitted, a new branch president, minister at St. Catherine's AME Zion Church and member of the New Rochelle Human Rights Commission; Rev. Thomas Woolen, rector of St. Simon's Episcopal Church; Rev. Robert W. Meyer, a neighborhood youth corps executive; M. Paul Reid, second vice president of the New York State Conference of Branches, and Napoleone Molmes, first vice-president of the New Rochelle Branch of the St. Catherine's Community Action Program, and John Sykes, a NAACP member in good standing.

In its protests, the branch cites the findings of the New Rochelle Human Rights Commission which reports that seven months of private conferences have failed to induce Local 501 of the Electrical Workers Union, Local 88 of the Plumber's Union, and Local 38 of the Sheetmetal Workers Union to hire Negroes.

The Commission report reads: "Negroes are excluded by various means from journeyman membership in building trades unions. They are systematically excluded from apprenticeship training. These are examples of flagrant racial discrimination and must be discontinued."

Herbert Hill, NAACP director for labor program, sent a telegram to George Fowler, chairman of the New York State Human Rights Commission, calling upon him to invoke immediately the "full power of the state's anti-discrimination law against well-known practices of AFL-CIO building trades unions in New Rochelle. . . . The Commission," he said, "has clear obligation to intervene decisively against broad pattern of anti-Negro practices."

Destitute Alabama Families Receive NAACP Assistance

PANOLA, Ala. — Twenty-two Negro families, faced with eviction from tenant farms in this west-central Alabama community, have received emergency financial aid from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Eviction notices to the families, which include 70 children, followed efforts by the tenants to secure their government crop allotment checks which they charged—in a signed petition—they had not received prior to March, 1966.

The Negro families alleged that Barnes A. Rogers of Gainesville, Ala., a real estate agent for Mrs. Elizabeth R. Sledge, owner of the Panola property, had it arranged so that their checks would be mailed to him directly.

Mr. Barnes, the farmers charged, told them the unsigned checks were being credited to their accounts.

According to the Rev. K. L. Buford, Alabama NAACP field director, Mrs. Sledge informed the tenant farmers that her property would be rented to the Hammermill Paper Company. If the families wished to remain on her land she reportedly said, they would have to pay $15 per month and would not be allowed to farm, raise livestock or cut wood on the property.

The NAACP stepped in to lend assistance when efforts to secure aid from Alabama Welfare Commissioner failed. Mr. Buford was told by Commissioner King that he was "sick and tired of your continued complaints against the welfare agency of this state."

In a telegram to Secretary John W. Gardner, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins cited the difficulties confronting the families and said that "direct Federal intervention is needed to ensure food and housing for these families."

Mr. Wilkins, in another telegram dispatched to the Hammermill Paper Company President John H. Devitt, said, "These families face disaster because they have no immediate means of earning a livelihood, even if eventually relocation or retraining should become possible."

He urged Mr. Devitt to help ease the situation pending a long-range solution.

Meanwhile, Clarence Mitchell, director, NAACP Washington Bureau, called on the Federal government to allow the Association an opportunity to present testimony rebutting the recent claim of former Gov. George Wallace that there is no discrimination in the Alabama welfare program.

As a result of the charges surrounding the government crop allotment checks, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been asked to investigate.

The NAACP has contributed $1,000 in emergency funds to the poverty stricken families, enabling them to pay their rent and to meet other needs.

In the Delta region of Mississippi, the NAACP, in 1963, established a revolving fund of $1,000 to assist needy families when LeFlore County officials ceased distribution of Federal surplus food commodities.

Top civil rights sources said the Panola, Ala., housing and food crisis could possibly develop into another "Tent City," similar to the situation in Brownsville, Tenn., where in 1960 Negroes were ordered evicted from white-owned land in a retaliatory measure designed to halt their voter registration drive. The NAACP provided these families with assistance and secured Federal surplus food commodities for them.

The Association, over the years has similarly assisted destitute Negro families in South Carolina, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia.

Controversy Looms Over Daylight Time In State

(United Press International)

A surprising amount of controversy is shaping up over what time it will be next summer in Georgia.

The question is turning into a city folks-country men battle on whether the state should go along with the rest of the nation on daylight savings time or establish standard time throughout Georgia.

Most legislators say they are receiving an unexpected volume of mail on the issue from their constituents. Although city businessmen want to stay with daylight time for more ease in conducting business and travel, the rural residents are grumbling about "having to get up in the middle of the night to go to work."

Standard time would leave Georgia on its current time schedule, while everyone going along with daylight time would move ahead one hour with the sun. One effect of maintaining standard time would be a change in nationally broadcast program times during the summer.

Many people are arguing that daylight time would allow more of a chance for outdoor recreation and more time with the kids for busy fathers, according to Atlanta Rep. Bob Walling, whose district apparently wants daylight.

LEARNING HOW TO SPELL REQUIRES GOOD PROGRAM

By DAVID NYDICK (UPI Education Specialist)

Learning to spell usually requires a carefully planned program. Although some students seem to have a natural ability to spell, most need an organized method for studying.

There are various plans which can be used. Most all are based upon a series of steps which should be taken in order to learn how to spell a word. The following ten steps can be used as a sample procedure.

1. Look at the word
 2. Say the word aloud
 3. Write the word correctly in a sentence
 4. Look at the word
 5. Say the word aloud by syllables
 6. Spell the word aloud looking at it
 7. Close the eyes and spell the word aloud
 8. Check the way the word was spelled
 9. Write the word and check the spelling
 10. Cover the word and write it several times, checking the spelling each time.
- If a mistake is made you should go back and repeat the earlier steps. Remember that variations of this plan are perfectly acceptable. However, reducing the steps should only be done when the results are still successful.

Many times similar organized systems are suggested by the teacher or the textbook which your child uses in school. If such a system is suggested, it is advisable to use it so as not to confuse your child.

A quick look at the various steps of any system should show the use of the eyes, ears and hands. These are the three major ways in which children can learn. Some children learn better while others learn best by hearing or touching. The use of all three methods is advisable since each will usually add support to the others.

Another important part of learning to spell particular words is the continued use of these words. It is not enough to learn to spell a word regardless of what system is used. It is necessary to use the word regularly in writing and speaking or very likely it will be forgotten.

For this reason it is a good idea to review the words periodically. Parents can help in this procedure in a number of ways. First, they should provide the opportunity for children to use the words. This might be in writing letters, notes or stories. There are also many games which involve spelling.

MARION JACKSON Views Sports of The World

Florida Gov. Claude Kirk is making an all-out pitch for the 1968 Olympic Games and the national political party conventions...

Ernie Terrell won the World Boxing Alliance title March 6, 1965 in a 15 round decision against Eddie Machen and defended it over the same distance against George Chuvale and Doug Jones for a career record of 39 victories.

Clay was unchallenged champion until three years ago when the WBA declared his title vacant, because he had a return bout clause in a contract.

However, Clay and Terrell were enriched by ancillary rights that include 165 closed circuit outlets and satellite beaming of the fight to Europe and Asia.

The request was made to Judge Elmer Roller by Ray T. McCann, attorney for the Braves. Roller said he would have a decision by next Monday.

Roller will have to set aside the verdict that the Braves and National League violated Wisconsin anti-trust law when the team left Milwaukee after 13 seasons.

The question of costs involves about $25,000 in transcripts and there are other costs for writ fees and subpoena fees.

McCann argued the county should be liable since it would have benefited from the action. Robert P. Russell Milwaukee County corporation counsel, said it was a suit begun by the state, and the county did not act on its own initiative.

The 14 teams participating in the stocking plan will submit their lists of veteran players Thursday afternoon in New York and the Saints' delegation, headed by Coach Tom Fears, will turn the midnight list going over them to determine their order of selection.

The formula, which proved successful in creating the Atlanta team winners of three games in their first season, works like this:

Each of the 14 veteran teams may freeze 29 players on its 40-man roster. New Orleans picks one from each team and the clubs may then withdraw two names from the 10 left.

The 40-man rosters from which the selections will be made are based on the 40 players with each of the 14 teams when the 1966 season opened, minus players traded or released on waivers, plus players added to replace the players who departed in mid-season.

Albany State Cagers Stop Clark, 83-75

ALBANY, Ga. — (SNB) — The Albany State Rams handed the Clark College Panthers their second defeat over the weekend, Monday night with a 83-75 victory.

Mack Daughtry fired 32 points into the basket and emerged as the game top scorer.

Jimmy Reams added 23 points of the winners and Robert Pritchett, who prepped at Atlanta's Inwood High, led the Rams floor attack and scored 15 points.

James Floyd burned the corks on 27 points and was the game's second top scorer.

Benny Epps led the Panthers' rebounding attack and scored 28 points.

The Panthers of Florida A&M defeated the Panthers 96-81, Saturday night.

SCORING: ALBANY (83) — Daughtry 39, Pritchett 15, M. Jones 8, W. Jones 8, Reams 23. CLARK (75) — Timley 19, Epps 26, Floyd 1, Ward 2, Epps 4, Floyd 27. HALFTIME — 45-32, Albany State.

Morris Brown Cagers Edge Tuskegee, 90-85

Jerome Brown fired 27 points into the basket Monday night, as the Morris Brown Wolverines defeated the Tuskegee Institute Golden Tigers 90-85 at MBO Gym.

Brown scored 18 points the first half and 21 points the second half to pace the Wolverines over the Tigers. He hit the corks for 15 field goals and 7 free throws.

Harry Woods led the Tigers scoring drive with 29 points. Woods tossed in 13 field goals 3 free throws.

The game was deadlocked four times and the Wolverines were leading at the half, 44-35.

Behind the shooting of Woods, the Tigers closed in on the Wolverines at 10:00 mark during the second half, 65-63. But Brown and company went ahead 78-70.

Morris Brown will play Clark February 18 at Morris Brown.

SNCC Worker To Appeal Conviction

Johnny C. Wilson, a member of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, sentenced to three years in prison in connection with an anti-Vietnam war developed into a melee, Friday appealed his conviction.

Wilson was one of about 12 Negroes who stormed an induction center at the XII Army Corps last August.

Police charged him with assault and battery on two police officers, and with using foul language.

Wilson was freed under bond pending the appeal. His attorney, Howard Moore Jr., said Fulton Superior Court Judge Emarius E. E. Andrews set a hearing March 6 on the appeal for a new trial.

U. S. Looks Over Peace Feeler Concerning Viet

WASHINGTON — UP — The United States continued Monday to sift a variety of "peace feelers" for some evidence that the Communists were seriously interested in talks to end the Vietnam war.

So far, the White House said, nothing has been found to qualify as the "serious effort" on the part of Hanoi which President Johnson has said he was awaiting.

As part of its probing of every possibility, the President arranged a luncheon meeting between Undersecretary of State Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach and Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., who recently discussed Vietnam with French officials.

The United States would neither confirm nor deny a Newweek magazine report that Kennedy and a U. S. Embassy official, at a Paris meeting with a French Foreign Ministry official, were given the outline of a three-stage North Vietnamese plan for beginning peace talks.

However, the French Foreign Ministry flatly denied the report and the Paris office of North Vietnamese delegate Mai Van Bo said there was "not a word of truth" in it.

White House Press Secretary George Christian said at midday the situation remained as it was when Johnson said Thursday that he was "not aware of any serious effort" on the part of Hanoi "to bring the fighting to a stop and to stop the war."

Speculation continued, nevertheless, regarding the possibility that the United States and North Vietnam might be nearing a dialogue of sorts with regard to terms for opening talks.

This speculation received added impetus over the weekend when the President's special assistant for national security affairs, Walt W. Rostow, said that matters were entering a "negotiating" phase and diplomatic probing was being carried out on "several tracks."

Jubilee's New Adam Powell LP Titled 'Keep The Faith, Baby'

NEW YORK — Jerry Blaine, president and chairman of Jubilee Industries, announced today that Harlem's Congressman, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell has just recorded "Keep The Faith, Baby," an album of extemporaneous sermons and messages dealing with civil rights and Powell's own fight to keep his seat in the House of Representatives. This is the only recording Cong. Powell has made in the last five years.

The album, which was recorded live, was edited by Chuck Stone. Some of the topics that Powell covers in the album include "Keep The Faith, Baby" and "Burn, Baby, Burn," in which he says that the Negroes should "Learn Baby Learn" in order to "Earn, Baby, Earn."

In another segment of the album, "The Death of Any Man," he reflects his longtime devotion to pacifism and points out that the war in Viet Nam is interfering with the progress of the war on poverty at home. In "My Dear Colleagues," he recalls the assassination of Julius Caesar.

"I'm very proud of this record," said Cong. Powell. "It represents a distillation of my philosophy of life on everything from religion, politics, race relations, world affairs, war and mankind. To people everywhere, this is my message. This is Adam Clayton Powell."

In the six years of his Chairmanship, Congressman Powell guided 60 major laws to passage and has never had a bill from his Committee defeated once it had reached the floor of the House of Representatives.

Some of his most important legislation includes the Minimum Wage Law; the War on Poverty; Aid to Elementary and Secondary Education; School Lunch Program; Manpower Development and Training for More Jobs; Anti-Juvenile Delinquency and Equal Pay for Equal Work, for which women had been fighting for a long time.

At the same time Blaine revealed that Cong. Powell had signed an exclusive five-year recording contract with Jubilee Industries. The album will be distributed nationally by Jubilee Records, a subsidiary of Jubilee Industries.

The front cover of the gatefold LP, shows a recent photograph of Congressman Powell with a blue sky background. The jacket will be subtitled "Adam Clayton Powell's Message To The World." It refers to Powell as "Congressman, minister, world Negro and humanitarian." A portion of Jubilee Records' proceeds from the album will be donated to the National Back Powell Committee to raise funds for Powell's right to retain his Congressional seat.

Representative Powell's debut as a record artist follows the highly successful recording by Senator Everett Dirksen "The Gallant Men." Dirksen's recording is currently on the national best selling list.

Alou, Carty, Nash And Jarvis Honored By Baseball Writers

By MARION E. JACKSON (Sports Editor, Atlanta Daily World)

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNB)— Glory-hungry star-gazers who skyrocketed the Atlanta Braves to unprecedented attendance success during their first National League season in the Deep South were saluted by the Atlanta Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America, Friday night at the Stadium Club.

runs in a single game against the Los Angeles Dodgers collecting three hits to snap a six-game winning streak of Dandy Sandy July 9.

Carty finished third, one percentage point behind Alou in the National League batting race. He has hit over 300 in each of his three major league seasons and owns the highest career batting average in the major leagues, .323. He had four hits in four trips, including a homer, June 9 against the New York Mets. Carty also owned the Braves' longest hitting streak, when he had 15 hits in 23 at-bats in September.

The award-winners were Felipe Alou, Most Valuable Player, who arrived early Friday from his native Santo Domingo, who clouted a resounding .327, while bulleting 13 home runs in leading the NL in a half dozen statistical departments. Alou was presented the Delta Air Lines accolade.

Among those in attendance at the baseball showcase was Dr. Albert L. Thompson, president of the 100 Per Cent Wrong Club of the Atlanta Daily World; Hubert M. Jackson and Ralph A. Long of the Extra Point Club and Stadium Club board member Dr. F. Earl McLendon.

Jarvis became the Atlanta Braves Cinderella story in '66. Called up from Richmond in late July, he appeared in the major leagues for the first time August 4 in relief against the Chicago Cubs, pitching two innings and giving up two hits and no runs. Got his first major league start August 13 against the Philadelphia Phillies, lasted 4-2-3 innings and lost to Ray Culp, 7-4. His first victory came in his next start, August 17, when he ousted the Houston Astros and Dave Gulsit, 6-1, allowing the only run in the 5-2-3 innings he worked and stamming his string of six victories in seven starts. He went on to win five games in a row over Houston, Pittsburgh, New York, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh before losing his final start of the season, 6-1, to the San Francisco Giants.

Rico Carty, was presented the Waltham Award donated by jeweler Ben Hyman, as the Braves' Most Improved Player by Ron Speer of the Associated Press.

The Atlanta Braves Friday announced the signing of Tony Cloninger (14-11, pinchhitter Mike de La Hoz and Felipe Alou. Alou was voted the Braves Most Valuable Player. Cloninger posted a 14-11 mark while de La Hoz appeared in 71 games while 215 Rookie Pat Jarvis compiled a pitching record of 4-2.

Alou finished second in the NL batting race, as previously noted behind his brother the Pirates with a .327. He set a Braves record for times at bat with 666 and had 31 home runs, also the best of his major league career. Unique feature of his home run mark was the first 18 were solo home runs.

Johnson is faced with the problem of determining whether recent indications of somewhat greater willingness on the part of Hanoi to consider talks represented a sincere signal or were merely propaganda moves in an effort to lure the United States into a trap.

Administration officials, while declining to express any hard and fast views, pointed out there were two schools of thought on the subject:

Cloninger set a major league record when he hit two grand slam home runs July 2, 1966 in a game with the San Francisco Giants. Cloninger is expected to regain the form Johnson had in 1965 when he was a 25-game winner.

One believes that Hanoi, suffering considerably under continued U. S. bombing and worried over the mounting chaos in China, may be sincerely inclined to open discussions if it can get a suspension or reduction of U. S. attacks.

Alou had two homers, two doubles and a single, 19 total bases against the San Francisco Giants last April 26. He became the first player in two years to hit two home

Cloninger set a major league record when he hit two grand slam home runs July 2, 1966 in a game with the San Francisco Giants. Cloninger is expected to regain the form Johnson had in 1965 when he was a 25-game winner.

The other feels that the North Vietnamese anxious to halt American bombing but with no intention of talking peace, is simply maneuvering to increase international pressure on Washington to stop the bombing without any significant reciprocal action by Hanoi.

His best game was a four-hit shutout victory over Cincinnati and Jim Maloney, 7-0, Sept. 16 in which he struck out nine batters and walked none. It was one of two complete games. He also beat Houston, 2-1, on a four-hitter, Sept. 2.

Albany State In 80-79 Upset Win Over Fort Valley State

FORT VALLEY, Ga. — Senior guard Bob Pritchett canned a 15-foot jumper with 1:14 to play and within moments later put in a free throw to give Albany State College a squeaking 80-79 victory over homecourt favorite Fort Valley State College in a non-league clash between the two rivals.

Though they played cautiously after the first 14:53 of the game, with three of their big men in foul trouble early, the Rams eased into 48-39 at halftime with Pritchett combining with Mack Daughtry and Joe Pottier to lead the Ram offensive.

The win over the Wildcats was the first in three encounters this season for the Rams, having been beaten twice by the Fort Valley five. The win was the sixth straight for Bob Rainey's "ruffing gunners," their 16th of the season against three tone setbacks.

Daughtry, a leader on defense all evening for the Rams, finished with 15 points, followed by Pottier with 12. Mel Jones dropped in 10 points, but pulled down 20 rebounds.

The hot shooting Pritchett, who banged in 25 points for top scoring honors, sank the jumper from near the top of the key with 1:14 to play, giving the Rams a 79-77 lead. Earlier, with a 1:31 to go, Mel Jones slipped in two charity tosses in a crucial 1 and 1 situation, moving the Rams ahead 77-75, but Bob Gilmore tied one in under the basket to tie it up for the second time in closing stages.

William Gilmore led the Wildcats attack with 26 points, followed by Walter Johnson's 19.

In the six years of his Chairmanship, Congressman Powell guided 60 major laws to passage and has never had a bill from his Committee defeated once it had reached the floor of the House of Representatives.

The Rams journey to Birmingham, Ala., to take on Miles College Saturday (February 4) and return here for a non-league contest with Clark College on Monday (February 6).

Winston-Salem Rolls Over Delaware State, 99 To 81

Four players scored 20 points or better Monday night and the Winston-Salem State Rams defeated the Delaware State Hornets 99-81 in the Whitaker Gymnasium.

for set shots or on the move for quick layups. Reid also got help from the Earl.

Earl Monroe, the Rams Super Star, scored only 26 points, but he had 10 assists, as Red Auerbach, general manager and former coach of the pro Boston Celtics, watched the game.

With five minutes remaining in the half, Monroe became a shooter and scored 10 straight points to wind up with 16.

Other top scorers for State were William English, 25, James Reid, 21, and Eugene Smiley, 20.

The Hornets cut the Rams' lead to 14 points, and Monroe re-entered the game. He scored 10 points during a four-minute stretch to bring his game total to 28 with 9:47 remaining. He did not score after that.

High point man for both teams was center Ron Horton of Delaware State. He sank 39 points hitting 13 of 33 shots from the floor and three of seven free throws. He also had 15 rebounds.

Fancy shooting by Horton and Ames put life in the visitors, but they were too far behind to make it a contest. In the final minute of play Delaware State held the ball to keep the Rams' total below 100 points.

After a very slow first five minutes, the outcome of the game was never in doubt. At that time the score was tied 6-6. The Rams took an 18-6 lead at the 12:02 mark. Fans began to anticipate how many Monroe would score.

Winston-Salem State is now 13-0 in the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association and 16-1 for the season. Delaware State is 2-6 in the CIAA and 4-7 overall.

Braves Sign Alou, Cloninger, De La Hoz

By MARION E. JACKSON ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNB)— The Atlanta Braves Feb. 29 announced the signing of outfielder Felipe Alou, hurler Tony Cloninger and pinchhitter Mike De La Hoz.

Alou with his opening night performance in which he pitched the full 19 innings against the Pittsburgh Pirates, losing the game in the 13th on a home run by Willie Stargell. His best sequence of games came between June 4 and July 3 when he won six games, lost one and failed to get the decision in the other in seven consecutive starts. His best pitching performance of the season were his 13-inning losing effort opening night and his only shutout of the season, a five-hit triumph over Philadelphia, August 7.

Alou voted the Braves' Most Valuable Player in '66 led the National League in hits 218 while driving in 122 runs. He is starting his fourth major league season and '66 statistics were the best of his career.

Cloninger, 26, won 14 while losing 11 tying in win-loss with Ken Johnson in 1965. He is expected to regain the form Johnson had in 1965 when he was a 25-game winner.

"Sex Is Dynamite" Says Theologian Urges Change

NEW YORK—American Christianity must adopt "positive rather than negative commandments" about sex because "fear of consequences" no longer curbs society's attitudes and behavior, a prominent churchman declared recently.

"Sex is dynamite," said Episcopal theologian Dr. Joseph Fletcher in an interview in the current issue of Redbook, just released. In reply to the magazine's question whether he feared "these new ideas will lead to license," Dr. Fletcher said, "I DO fear it."

"In the past we have tried to guard ourselves against this dynamite through legalistic controls," he said. "Now we are going to have to look for positive rather than negative commandments; for devotion to an ideal rather than to fear of consequences."

Dr. Fletcher, in a book on sexual standards published last year, form of sex . . . is good or evil depends on whether love is fully served."

American churches "have been shaken to their theological foundations" by society's changing attitudes toward sex, another theologian, Dr. John Charles Wynn of the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School reported.

"The Church, or at least its most articulate leaders," the article reported, now "seeks a Christian ethic of such breadth and wisdom that it can make room for strengthened marriage ties and yet look compassionately — and perhaps in certain cases permissively — on relationships of deep love and responsibility outside marriage."

"We're in the postsexual era," Dr. Willis Elliott of the national staff of the United Church of Christ told Redbook. He said young people in church discussion groups no longer want even to discuss sex. He reported one girl's comment: "We've had enough of it. If we agree with our parents, we feel no pride; if we disagree, we feel no shame . . . it has lost its importance."

Department Heads Make More Money Than Governor?

Gov. Lester Maddox said Tuesday he doesn't mind at all that the state's major department heads make more money than he does.

The governor pointed out he has a $35,000 mansion allowance in addition to his salary, while the department heads have to maintain private homes.

Figures released by the Budget Bureau Tuesday revealed Maddox will receive $17,840, several thousands dollars less than the department heads.

Budget Director Wilson Wilkes said a 1953 statute set the governor's salary according to his length of service in state government and the number of boards and commissions on which he has served.

Maddox has had little direct experience with state government. According to Budget Bureau figures, the highest paid state official is George Simpson, chancellor of the Board of Regents. His salary is $35,000, plus a $5,000 contingency allowance.

Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton is the highest paid constitutional officer, drawing $26,319 plus a $2,400 contingency allowance.

Atlanta Deltas Celebrate Annual Founders' Day

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—Over a hundred Deltas participated in the annual Founders' Day observance of the Atlanta Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority held Saturday, 8 p.m., at the downtown Marriott Motor Hotel.

Principal speaker for the plush occasion was Soror Fanny J. Harris, Southern Regional Director, who challenged sorors to think broadly and help achieve human dignity and freedom for all people. "Race, sex, geographical location is no longer an excuse for failure," she said. "We can no longer be satisfied with medium standards."

Soror Harris of Tuskegee, Alabama paid great recognition to Greek organizations and said that she was proud to be a part of such high standards and excellence. She praised the efforts of Delta in areas of library science, job opportunity, volunteer services and mental health and said that it was a responsible and dedicated public service organization.

An experienced librarian, the speaker has served on various community organizations, including church and human relations councils.

Delta was founded January 13, 1913 by 22 women on the campus of Howard University, Washington, D. C., on the principles of academic excellence, social welfare and cultural enrichment. Today it has developed into an interracial, international public service organization of more than 35,000 members, including Chapters in Haiti and Liberia.

Youth Groups Favor Abolishing The Draft

By EMIL R. SVELIS (United Press International)

WASHINGTON — UPI — Leaders of major college and youth organizations agreed Sunday that the draft should be abolished and replaced by some service.

The weekend conference, sponsored by Moderator, a college magazine, brought together officials of various groups who in the past have not always seen eye to eye.

But by Sunday afternoon, all but two of the 18 participants agreed that "the draft should be eliminated."

They also agreed to start a program called the "Students Serving Society," under which students would get cards similar to draft cards but which would state the individuals preference of service.

Officials said the number of cards issued would later be helpful in pressing Congress for new draft legislation.

Although the participants were speaking independently of their organizations, they endorsed a resolution saying "that the present draft system, with its inherent injustices, is incompatible with traditional American principles of individual freedom."

Sherman B. Chckering, publisher of Moderator suggested that military conscription be replaced by voluntary service for the nation.

The proposal would allow a person, instead of signing up for the draft, to pick a volunteer position in education, health, commun-

Vietnam Starts 4-Day Cease Fire

By STEWART HENSLEY (United Press International)

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg announced Tuesday, at the start of a four-day holiday cease-fire in Vietnam, that he will make a fact-finding trip to Southeast Asia in about 10 days.

The tour by the U. S. ambassador to the United Nations was seen in some diplomatic quarters as a new American initiative toward finding some way to end the conflict and start peace discussions.

Goldberg told newsmen, however, after he conferred with President Johnson at the White House that he was "not going on a peace mission" such as he undertook in December, 1965, during the 37-day halt in bombing of North Vietnam.

That bombing pause produced no moves toward a Vietnam conference table. The United States has declared publicly it would stop the air strikes if Hanoi indicated it would take some reciprocal action, such as ending infiltration into South Vietnam or withdrawing some military units from the South.

The United States and South Vietnam have agreed to a cease-fire, including a halt in bombing, during the four days of Tet, the Buddhist new year, which began Tuesday evening — Wednesday morning Saigon time.

There is no indication President Johnson had decided whether to extend the bombing pause beyond the four days, as several other countries have urged. The Communists have said they would observe a seven-day cease-fire.

The State Department said Tuesday the United States and South Vietnam still were willing to talk to Hanoi about a possible extension of the Tet cease-fire or any other "possibility of ending the conflict."

Asked what the United States might do if the Communists held their fire longer than four days, department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey replied: "We'll see what happens."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in a speech to the International Development Conference, called for an end to speculation about peace feelers. But he said the Tet truce period "offers opportunity for rethinking by all combatants in Vietnam."

Townes Pushes For Good Racial Image Of GOPs

WASHINGTON—Clarence Lee Townes, Jr., special assistant to Republican National Chairman Roy C. Bliss is attempting to revitalize a minorities program which will renew the faith of Negro citizens in the traditional philosophy of the Republican Party.

Townes explains his own faith in Republican principles by quoting a statement of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower:

"I am a Republican because I share our Party's deep-lying trust in what free men can do — a fundamental trust in the nature and capability of individual human beings."

Townes, 39, Republican politician in 1956, when he worked in the former President's campaign. He has made this Eisenhower quote the corner stone from which his Minorities Division wages its programs designed to bring Negro voters into the mainstream of GOP politics.

According to Townes, paramount to the success of the Minorities Division is the active seeking at all times of Negro confidence and Negro support. The first step being the selling of GOP concepts to Negro voters by convincing religious, civic, political and the general community that the Republican Party has the political organization through which their aspirations can be sought.

Townes declares that one of the filleting reports as to why and how Mrs. Henderson was shot.

The mystery is whether Mrs. Henderson was shot while attempting to persuade Dukes to leave from Barber's door, or whether she was a party to Dukes' attempt to gain entry. She was struck when Barber fired through the door of his room where he said he had taken refuge from Dukes.

Barber, who pleaded not guilty to the murder charge, testified he fired in protection of his family as Dukes kicked on the door. "He was trying to kill us," Barber testified in explaining he had gone to his room and shut the door after Dukes became angered after they had exchanged words in the back yard.

The victim's husband said he and his wife were walking down the hall as Dukes stood before Barber's closed door and his wife was shot after she walked away from him and went over to Dukes, apparently in an attempt to get him to leave.

In another fatal shooting a 54-year-old Solomon Street man was bound over to grand jury on a murder charge in connection with the shotgun slaying of his 45-year-old wife.

The accused man, Nip Barton of 100 Solomon St., is charged with shooting his wife Amy Lee Barmain purposes of the Minorities Division is to make the Eisenhower quote the minority voter credo. He also has pledged to achieve this objective through a network of creative organizing and public relations activities within Negro communities.

The special assistant to Chairman Bliss is a native of Virginia. He was born in Richmond. He is a graduate of Virginia Union University, is married to the former Grace Harris of Richmond. They are the parents of four children.

In his early career, Townes worked for two prominent Negro newspapers. He has been active in civic affairs in Richmond and is now Director of Training for the Virginia Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company. He is a veteran. Townes entered the army in Jan. 1951, as a private and was discharged in August, 1955, as a second lieutenant.

Johnson Seeks Curb On Sale Of Firearms

By MERRIMAN SMITH
(UPI White House Reporter)

WASHINGTON—(UPI)—President Johnson called Monday for strict curbs on the sale of firearms and a total ban except in cases of national security—on wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping.

Congress, he also proposed a first-year, $50 million program of federal grants to states and cities for planning, research and pilot projects to improve police, the courts and correctional systems.

Johnson's recommendations, based largely on an 18-month study by the National Crime Commission, will be contained in a proposed "Safe Street and Crime Control Act" that also called for an intensified attack on drug addiction and organized crime.

The President predicted a sharp increase in juvenile delinquency in the next decade and promised to submit separate proposals to Congress designed to "reach young people trapped in poverty" as a breeding ground of crime.

PUBLIC MALADY

"Crime and the fare of crime has become a public malady," Johnson said. More than 400,000 persons are confined on any one day in correctional institutions, the cost of operating correctional services is $1 billion a year and property losses from crime total nearly $3 billion a year, he said.

A key part of the President's crime package was his call for passage of a firearms control bill, which has been stalled in Congress for four years.

"Further delay is unconscionable," Johnson said. He urged that Congress:

—Prohibit mail order sales and shipments of firearms except between federally licensed manufacturers, importers or dealers.

—Prohibit sale of hand guns to any person under 21 years of age and of rifles and shotgun counter sales of firearms other than rifles and shotguns would be prohibited to anyone not residing in the state where the licensee does business.

—Curb imports of surplus military and other firearms "not suitable for sporting purposes."

—Will HELP

Johnson said this legislation would not curtail ownership of firearms for sport or self protection and would be no panacea for violence but would "help to keep lethal weapons out of the wrong hands," especially hand guns.

On the explosive issue of wiretapping and bugging, the President promised to "outlaw all wiretapping public and private, wherever and whenever it occurs, as well as all willful invasions of privacy by electronic devices such as radio transmitters and concealed microphones."

The only exceptions to wiretapping or bugging would be in cases of national security—officials said this would be defined as instances of a foreign threat such as espionage—and then only with the approval of the Attorney General.

Present law, unchanged since 1935, prohibits interception and disclosure of information obtained by wiretapping. The administration proposes to make interception alone even without divulging the information a crime punishable by five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Cancer Study Set For Buenos Aires

WASHINGTON, D. C. — An epidemiological study of certain types of cancer has been mapped for Buenos Aires.

Central to the project in the Argentine capital, an announcement said, is the tabulating of medical histories of some 1,000 hospital patients afflicted with cancer of the larynx, lung, and urinary bladder.

Among the facts sought from a patient during the six-month, fact-finding investigation are those that tell of his occupation, of the length of his residence in an urban area, and of his smoking history.

According to the announcement, the survey is financed out of an 18,000 grant from the Anna Fuller Fund of New Haven, Conn.

The grant was made to the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, regional office for the Americas of the World Health Organization.

Its director, Dr. Abraham Horwitz, and Argentine minister of public health, Dr. Ezequiel Alberto D. Holmberg, then concluded an agreement for the investigation.

Under their accord, a ranking epidemiologist in Argentina's Department of Health Statistics and Economics, Dr. Naum Marchevsky, is in charge of field work in Buenos Aires, and the health officials here in charge of analyzing the data collected.

The Buenos Aires study is an offspring of a larger investigation on adult mortality in 12 cities of 10 countries. One city is Bristol in England, but the other 11 are Western Hemisphere cities, including the Argentine port-city of La Plata.

Preliminary findings, reported earlier, that showed larynx, lung, and urinary tract cancer mortality high in La Plata led to the development of the new epidemiological project on cancer in the Argentine capital.

In the parents investigation, officially designated the Inter-American Investigation of Mortality Epidemiologists collected data about 43,000 deaths of persons between the ages of 15 and 74.

Began in 1965, with a grant from the National Institutes of Health of the U. S. Public Health Service and as a research project of the Inter-American health agency, it now nears completion. Health officials here say a final report, as planned now is due for publication in June or July.

NAACP Defends High Scores Of Negroes In Union Test

NEW YORK — The high scores earned by 24 Negroes on their entrance examination for Local 28, of the Sheet Metal Workers International Association are being defended by the NAACP and further supported by a statement submitted by Dr. Kenneth B. Clark.

NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter submitted a brief amicus curiae together with Dr. Clark's affidavit to the Supreme Court of the State of New York, Jan. 16, in the case against Local Union 28.

These moves follow the union's proposal to invalidate the apprenticeship tests taken by 147 young men, Nov. 12, 1966, because they received very high scores which were "unusually high" and statistically improbable. The State Commission for Human Rights subsequently moved for the enforcement of its order calling for objective admission practice by the union which has never had any Negro members during its 70-year history.

Mr. Carter says, "This case is a dramatic illustration of the fact that Negroes who are given educational opportunities can demonstrate not only that they are qualified, but that they are highly qualified for training in skilled work."

In his affidavit, Dr. Clark says, "In his affidavit, Dr. Clark says, 'sonal and professional opinion that these aptitude scores could be obtained by the extraordinary type of skillful tutoring and test analysis (used) and through the factors of high motivation, practice in test and increased confidence on the part of the applicants.'"

As a consultant to the Workers Defense League, Dr. Clark, a professor of psychology at the College of the City University of New York, and president of the Metropolitan Applied Research Center, Inc., gave specific advice on the matter of tutoring Negro, Puerto Rican and other applicants for the apprenticeship entrance examination conducted by Local 28 of the Sheet Metal Workers Union.

Sloan, Vice President-Home Office Operations, and G. W. Cox, Jr., assistant vice president for insurance operations. Bolden will be responsible for Home Office Services and Spaulding, Jr., for Systems and Programming.

FIRST WOMAN CORPORATE SECRETARY

After a series of "firsts" Louise T. McCrea is still pioneering in the organizational structure of North Carolina Mutual. On January 1, 1962, after understudying virtually every assignment in the Industrial Department, she became the first woman department manager. Later, after service as an administrative assistant to J. W. Goodloe, then Corporate Secretary and Personnel Officer, Mrs. McCrea became the first woman to hold the position of Assistant Secretary on January 11, 1960. And, in 1967, she became the first woman to hold the position of Corporate Secretary in the 69 year history of the company. She is a graduate of North Carolina College and has completed all but one of her examinations for the Fellowship designation in the Life Office Management Institute.

SECOND NEGRO TO BECOME FSA

Larkin Teasley, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, entered Fisk University in 1932 under a Ford Foundation scholarship for "advance students". Graduated Magna Cum Laude and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Attended the University of Southern California and Occidental College to prepare for the Actuarial examination program of the Society of Actuaries and became a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries in June, 1966. The Society is a professional organization whose membership includes only those who are able to pass a series of ten examinations. At the present time, there is one other Negro in the United States who is a Fellow of the Society.

PERRY PRODUCT OF N. C. COLLEGE

Both W. P. Perry's academic and professional degrees were received from N. C. College at Durham. He is a practicing lawyer. His promotion from Assistant to the General Counsel to Assistant General Counsel and Assl. Secretary is another milestone in both the development of the men and the legal Department of the company. His election to Assistant Secretary, in addition to his other duties will facilitate the execution of legal documents.

BOLDEN GRADUATE OF N. C. COLLEGE

J. I. Bolden started his career with North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company in the Mail and Supply Section after earning his bachelor's degree in business administration at N. C. College in 1950. Later he was transferred to the Actuarial Department as an "accounting clerk" in 1952. In 1953 he was transferred to the Data Processing Division and became manager of the unit in 1957. He has completed Course I examinations of the Life Office Management Institute. It has been largely through his efforts that changes in workflow procedures and the organizational arrangement in the Data Processing Division have been effected with minimum upset.

SPAULDING RESPONSIBLE FOR SYSTEMS

Spaulding's new assignment includes responsibility for coordinating the company's systems and procedures and computer programming efforts. He entered the company's employment in 1961 upon the formation of the North Carolina Mutual Planning Department with systems activities. He had previously held positions with Metropolitan Life, New York Life and RCA as a senior systems analyst and methods consultant. While in the army's initial tactical automatic data processing effort he served as chief of administrative services as well as a programmer and systems graduate of Morehouse College. Spaulding received his master's degree from North Carolina College. He has completed the Life Office Management Institute Fellowship major examination in electronic data processing. He is a member of several trade associations and professional societies and was recently elected to the International Board of Directors of the Systems and Procedures Association.

U. S. Aircraft Carrier Stop In South Africa Protested By Wilkins

NEW YORK — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has strongly protested the State Department's highly controversial decision to allow a U. S. Navy aircraft carrier to make a four-day stop at Capetown, South Africa.

In a telegram to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Feb. 2, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins declared, "Our country should have no dealings with South Africa whatsoever," and insisted the visit of the carrier Franklin Delano Roosevelt should never have been scheduled.

Mr. Wilkins also told Secretary Rusk that the estimated 300 Negro enlisted men among the 3,500 servicemen aboard the carrier returning from combat duty in Viet Nam would be humiliated and insulted by the South African racist policy.

"These (Negroes) who remain on board rather than subject themselves to South African racial policy will be degraded by the fact that their country consented to the arrangement by which they and their patriotism and citizenship are scorned by South Africa," Mr. Wilkins warned.

The civil rights leader said that those Negro soldiers who venture ashore "will have their every step dogged by the hated policy which decries where they may not go. The United States had no right to lacerate brave men in this fashion. We protest for them. We weep for them. We are ashamed as are they."

The State Department, in a statement issued announcing its plan to go ahead and allow the carrier to make a refueling and replenishing stop-over at Capetown, Feb. 4-7, said its agreement specifies that the government of South Africa interposes no objection to racially mixed personnel performing any military duties ashore.

However, it was also reported that while on liberty the Negro and white crew members must strictly observe the apartheid policy of South Africa.

A resolution adopted last week in Washington during a meeting of the American Negro Leadership Conference on Africa urged President Johnson to cancel the planned stop. The resolution was sponsored by representatives of this country's top civil rights organizations.

Civil rights and labor leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and other Negro Leadership Conference executive director Theodore E. Brown termed the aircraft carrier's stop at Capetown "an affront to democracy and an insult to the black people of this country and of Africa."

In 1965, when the carrier Independence was scheduled to call at Capetown, the United States government, under pressure of world opinion, finally rejected such a visit as a matter of policy.

work will become long range in character and the development of alternative planning solutions for management consideration in advance of need. And, the supervision and direction of the Advertising and Public Relations Division is being placed under the "planning umbrella."

Murray Marvin organized the company's Planning Department in 1961 and one of his personal assignments has been service as "owners' representative" and "staff coordinator" for the company's new building. He was the first Negro to receive his Master's in Business Administration under the University of Chicago's two year, highly selective "Executive Program." He was production manager for Richmond Advertising Agency in Philadelphia; Art Editor for People's Voice newspaper in New York and, for seven years, he and his wife had their own public and industrial relations consulting firm in Chicago when, as Marvin puts it, the problems brought them required service, product and/or organizational improvements before "being ready for public relations programming or advertising" they found themselves directing their energies toward management and organizational needs.

Marvin is a member of several trade associations and professional societies. He has recently served as Seminar chairman and guest speaker at American Management Association Workshops in Atlanta and Chicago. He structured and programmed the comprehensive and yet detailed "PLAN BOOKS" which "blueprinted" several events connected with the NORTH CAROLINA MUTUAL Building (ground breaking, time capsule and dedication programs). Also, he served as the "organization specialist" on the three member evaluation team which made the Management and Organization Survey of Operation Breakthrough in June 1966.

Sunday School Lesson

THE NECESSITY FOR PERSONAL REPENTANCE

International Sunday School Lesson for February 12, 1967

MEMORY SELECTION: "Despise thou the riches of his goodness, not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?" —(Romans 2:4)

LESSON TEXT: Luke 13-14.

The Lesson we are studying today pinpoints instances of a warning being issued, being ignored, and the painful consequences which inevitably follow being painfully and reluctantly borne.

But, while the warnings are very apparent, and go unheeded, nevertheless today we are more enlightened than were the people of Biblical times; for, while they believed that suffering was brought about, by sinful actions, as a punishment, today we realize that such is not necessarily the case. For there are many among us who have done what they honestly felt was the best they could in disastrous circumstances beyond their control, and who have earnestly avoided sinning. For them there is a measure of comfort in Jesus' view that the murdered men in this particular parable under study today, were no more sinful than other Galileans.

Indeed, any efforts to relate the sinfulness of others in comparison with oneself is, in itself a sin! And who among us has not been guilty of this particular sin? Such a comparison leads, of necessity, to pride and a false sense of goodness; thus Jesus indicates that every man is sinful, and sorely needs to repent! And He did not limit this view to individuals alone, but to nations as well! For Israel had failed to bear fruit, as the fig tree in the parable — the fruit of obedience, ministry, humility and service!

Sin takes many forms; it appears as arrogance, pride, selfishness. It appears in sins of omission as well as commission! And basically, they are all forms of rejections of God and His way of life.

The concepts of God are timeless. For — while Jesus' words were directly in relation to a given historical situation — still they set forth principles which are as true today (centuries hence) as they were at the time they were uttered.

The keynote of Jesus' ministry on earth was concern. He cared deeply and sincerely about his fellowmen; he cared about his country. From this concern was born His call to the nation to repent. As the keeper of the vineyard in today's parable, He asked that another's sin be given.

Jesus, Son of God, loves all men. He does not want to see them suffer for their foolishness... hence He warns them. But a warning, unheeded, brings chastisement. And chastisement brings suffering. And what has its being in compassion, of necessity becomes judgment.

There are many things that work to the betterment of the individual; and, through the individual, for the betterment of a nation. For a nation is made up of individuals.

Many things contribute to our personal well-being. A home, an education, political freedom. And as we prosper, so — on a wider scale — does a nation prosper. But the physical realm, of necessity, of limited horizons, is but the father of the unlimited. For, as Paul said, And the soul can only find its limitless possibilities in repentance. For, through personal repentance, is unfolded the treasures of God's promises... peace everlasting and a place in God's heritage.

To inherit these glorious promises man must repent... must turn from wrongdoing... must embrace Jesus' concepts. And while this goal entails endless struggling on the part of mankind, what glorious rewards are his! Surely they are worth the striving!
