WILLIS DENIES 'DEAL' WITH LOEB

Football Battles On Tap

Plenty of prep football is on tap this weekend. Washington tackles Lester tonight (Thursday) at Grump and, on Friday night, Manassas will take on Melrose at Melrose. Carver meets Merry of Jackson at BTW and Bertrand and Hamilton tangle at the Fairgrounds.

Opens last week saw Carver trip Northside, 7-0, before only 200 on a rainy Thursday night, and Hamilton running over Kingsbury, 40-0, and Mitchell Road turning back Lester, 14-0, again in the rain on Friday night.

The Manassas-Melrose clash, an annual classic, will draw a crowd as will the battle between Bertrand and the high-riding Hamilton Wildcats.

GAMES THIS WEEK

THURSDAY - Washington vs Lester at Grump and East vs Mestek at Fairgrounds.

FRIDAY - Manassas vs Melrose at Melrose; Carver vs Merry of Jackson at Washington; Central vs White Station at Grump; CBHS vs Frager at Hall; Whitehaven vs Oakhaven at Whitehaven; Tech vs Westside at Firestone; Trevant vs Jonesboro at Jonesboro, Ark. and Bertrand vs Hamilton at Fairgrounds.

SATURDAY - Douglas vs Mitchell Road at Melrose.

NEXT WEEK

THURSDAY, Sept. 21 - Overton vs Mestek at Hill; Melrose vs Douglas at Melrose and Trewell vs Southside at Grump.

FRIDAY, Sept. 22 - Bertrand vs Barr at Chapel at Melrose; Catholic vs Washington at Grump; Mitchell Road vs Manassas at Mitchell Road; CBHS vs Kingsbury at Hall, and Northside vs Central at Firestone.

Dorothy Harris Directs LeMoyné Student Center

Several administrative changes on LeMoyné's campus were announced this week by the college president, Dr. Hollis F. Price.

Mrs. Dorothy Harris, cafeteria manager and social director, will serve as acting director of the newly dedicated Alma C. Hanson Student Center.

Edward F. Ouellette, an assistant professor in the social science department, is assuming the post of college chaplain.

Jacob Shapiro was appointed coordinator of the Institutional Studies Program for the Race Relations Department of the American Missionary Association, founder of LeMoyné, and also will serve as project coordinator for all federal programs in which LeMoyné participates.

Dr. John C. Mickle, formerly student personnel counselor, has been named placement officer.

E. J. Roddy, retired principal of Woodstock High School, was appointed assistant to the president in charge of buildings and grounds.

Memphis School Board Feels NAACP's Sting

Ask More Negroes In Top Posts

NAACP President Jesse H. Turner has called on the Memphis Board of Education to provide "quality education" for Negro students and to appoint a Negro as head or assistant to the head of each department of the city school system.

He referred to school board administrators as being "skilled in the art of integration window dressing."

In a specially worded memorandum to the Board, Mr. Turner said:

"Our investigation indicates that Negro students, comprising over 50 percent of the school population, are crowded into approximately 40 percent of the school buildings and classrooms, a situation which results in a multiplicity of problems.

"Race is still the deciding factor in assignment of teachers. Complaints have reached us that only the best qualified Negro teachers are given the choice to teach in schools populated by all or a majority of white students and are generally replaced by white teachers of lesser experience. We see the need for a complete assignment of all teachers so that each school in the system would have a proportionate number of Negro and white teachers based on the racial composition of all students in the system.

"Allowing students a freedom of choice in transfers has perpetuated the same type of discrimination as the dual school zone lines which are now supposedly illegal.

"It has been charged that schools administered by Negro principals generally do not receive as much equipment and supplies as do other schools. The traditional basis of selecting Negro principals has produced a quality of educator who, in too many instances, hesitates to demand equal or adequate supplies for his school, and, tragically, there is no pressure exerted anywhere to change this situation.

"Negro students comprise over 50 percent of the enrollment in our city school system, yet our city school system does not hire a single Negro in a top administrative position.

The superintendent is white; the five assistant superintendents are white; all coordinators, directors and assistant directors are white; and 17 of 23 supervisors are white. Negro supervisors are generally assigned to Negro schools, which indicates that Negroes are not usually assigned supervisory authority over whites.

"We have serious doubts (1) that the administrators of our city school system, who are skilled in the art of integration 'window dressing,' can or will provide quality education for all students in the system (2) that they do not intend to eliminate their discriminatory hiring practices.

"We therefore call on you, the Memphis Board of Education, to see that a Negro is hired, immediately, as the head, or assistant to the head of every department of the school system. We further call upon you to correct, immediately, the numerous inequities in the system that prevent Negro students from receiving quality education."

Inside Memphis

STATE REPRESENTATIVE J. O. Patterson Jr. is running hard for a seat on the new City Council from District 7 and doesn't hesitate to say "I am the best qualified candidate in the District and I will win." He is opposing Charles F. Morris Sr., O. W. Pickett, Eules T. Hunt, James L. Cotter, F. N. Nobles and Nelson E. Shroat.

TEENAGER'S COMMENT - "Coby Smith is not really an angry young man. He's just a nice little boy who wants to be seen."

CITY COMMISSIONER Hunter Lane's recent hand-shaking tour of Beale Street in behalf of his candidacy for Mayor proved an interesting experience. Most of the regular Beale Streeters "touched" him for the price of a bottle of wine.

NAACP'S ANNUAL money-making project, the Miss Social Belle Contest, is off and running and will be unfolded before the public in November.

FUND-RAISERS and ticket-sellers aren't doing very well right through here. The hundred or more candidates in the upcoming city election are getting most of the "free money" for campaign expenses.

ATTY. I. H. MURPHY IN COUNCIL RACE - Atty. I. H. Murphy, a practicing lawyer here for 10 years, is one of the eight candidates seeking a seat on the new City Council from District 6. He is a graduate of Tennessee State University and New York University School of Law.

Tenn. State's King Now At Grambling

GRAMBLING, La. - P. G. King, former business manager at Tennessee State University is the new business manager at Grambling College.

He has held similar positions at Voorhees Junior College, Denmark, S. C. and Clark College, Atlanta, Ga.

He also served as comptroller at South Carolina State College, Orangeburg.

He is past president of the American Association of College and University Business Officers.

King was the 1965 recipient of the James J. Hoey Award, presented annually by the Catholic Interracial Council of New York to two outstanding U. S. laymen.

MAYORALTY CANDIDATE AND PROUD MOTHER - A. W. Willis, Jr., candidate for Mayor, poses with his mother, Mrs. A. W. Willis, Sr., following the big sendoff he received at his kickoff rally last week in King Cotton Hotel.

Loeb Also Denies 'Deal' With Willis In Mayor's Race

Former mayor Henry Loeb and State Representative A. W. Willis, Jr., two of the seven candidates in the race for Mayor, issued separate denials this week to a much kicked around rumor that Loeb is financing Willis' campaign to the tune of $35,000 in an effort to hold the Negro vote from incumbent Mayor William Ingram, also a candidate.

Attorney Willis spiked the rumor Saturday night when the question was put to him by a member of Top Hat and Tails Club. "I have made no kind of a deal with anyone and have not received any money from Mr. Loeb," Willis declared.

"If Loeb would put money in my campaign I would use it to help defeat him by buying up radio and TV time for myself," Willis added. Loeb said "No" to the rumor and said he thought it "funny."

"I'm too tight to give money to anybody and I'm proud of it," added the former mayor. Meanwhile, Mr. Willis got down to some hard campaigning and called on his supporters to "roll up our sleeves and get to work."

He announced that Congressman John Conyers Jr., of Detroit will come here Sept. 21 to assist him in his campaign. Conyers' last appearance here was in behalf of former Congressman George Gridler.

At his kickoff rally before 400 last week in King Cotton Hotel, Mr. Willis described his campaign as a "Crusade."

"We are going to show the world how a democracy should be run," he declared.

The lone Negro candidate for Mayor was given a standing and shouting ovation when Dr. Vasco A. Smith presented him to the audience.

He was accompanied to the platform by his wife, Ann, and co-chairman of his financial committee, A. Maceo Walker.

Rufus Thomas, WDIA disc jockey land comedian, was the hilarious emcee.

Music for the kickoff was provided by the integrated Heat Waves newcomers on the local scene and quite good.

There was a flood of speakers, but most of them kept their talks short. Elder Blair T. Hunt, who was called to the platform from the audience, said: "I had to come

75 Churches Back Netters

The Rev. James L. Netters is piling up endorsements in his race for a seat on the new City Council from District 6.

Bond Is Mourned By Hundreds At Arkansas Rites

MARION, Ark. - Friends of 70-year-old Ulysses S. Bond moved in from all sections of the country Sunday and packed Madison Light Baptist Church for his funeral.

He is the "favorite son" of the Baptist Pastors' Alliance, headed by the Rev. Roy Love and consisting of 136 ministers and 75 of the leading churches in the city.

He also has the endorsement of Shadowlawn Community Club, Mrs. Luke McFields, president; Pine Hill Community Club, Robert Renfro, president; 50th Ward Civic Club, John Coleman, president, and the Ministers' Mutual Association, an alliance of several political groups headed by the Rev. E. W. Williamson.

Rev. Mr. Netters, pastor of Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, is on a hand-shaking tour and appearing at churches.

He spoke Sunday at Greater New Salem Baptist Church, pastored by Rev. G. B. Brown, and at Lane Avenue Baptist Church, pastored by the Rev. J. W. Williams. Both churches gave him big ovations and financial boosts.

Several other churches have given him financial support, including his home church, Olivet Baptist at 270 Calhoun, pastored by the Rev. E. W. Williamson. Olivet has been the largest contributor to Mr. Netters' campaign.

"We want to show Memphis that we think our son is best fitted for the job of Councilman from District 6," said the Olivet pastor.

LeMoyné Stage Will Light Up!

LeMoyné's 250-seat Little Theatre, located in the college's new Student Center, is expected to buzz with activity during the school year under the direction of 27-year-old James R. Lee.

While serving as director, Memphis-born Mr. Lee will also teach courses in speech, drama and introduction to theatre practice.

Juniors and seniors will be involved in the latter course which will spread over two semesters. Technical aspects, such as design, construction of scenery, lighting, sound and costumes, will be taught during the first term. The second phase of the course will deal with acting and directing.

A workshop is attached to the Little Theatre and Mr. Lee and his students will design and construct all sets for the stage.

He will organize an extra-curricular Theatre Club from which he hopes to draw most of the characters for plays he is planning.

Although born in Memphis, Mr. Lee spent most of his boyhood days in Arlington, Va. His late father, James R. Lee, and his mother, Mrs. Virginia Winkelman Lee, now of Arlington, were members of the editorial staffs of Memphis newspapers in the 30's.

Mr. Lee was amusements editor for the Press-Scimitar and also served on promotional boards for 'The Auditorium,' the Fairgrounds and light opera presented in the Overton Park Shell. Mrs. Lee worked for the Commercial Appeal and the Press-Scimitar.

Young Mr. Lee holds the B.A. degree from Duke University, has studied at Columbia University and completed all course work leading to the masters of fine arts degree at Tulane University. He spent two years with the Peace Corps in Nigeria. He became a member of LeMoyné's faculty during the past summer session.

Sentence Man In Vance Ave. Holdup

Richard Black, 22, found guilty of the Dec. 1, 1965 holdup of Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association at 588 Vance, was sentenced last week to 22 and a half years by Federal Judge Bailey Brown.

The sum of $2,368 was taken from Mrs. Grace B. Brown, a Mutual teller, during the holdup.

Black will serve his time in an Illinois penitentiary. The time will be served concurrently with 20-40 and 75-100-year sentences he received in connection with the holdup of a Chicago supermarket in which a policeman was killed.

Master Barbers To Meet Sunday At 4

Associated Master Barbers of Memphis will meet Sunday, Sept. 17, 4 p.m., at Centenary Methodist Church, Mississippi at Alston. Some candidates for mayor and the Board of Education are expected to attend.

James A. Bradford, the president is requesting all members to be present and on time.

Paul J. Vescovo Is Winning Votes

PAUL J. VESCOVO Nearly everyone knows Paul J. Vescovo, owner of Paul's Tailoring Company, 184 Beale Street, and a representative of Franklin Life Insurance Co., with offices at 2159 Union.

Mr. Vescovo, a prominent figure in civic affairs, is running at large for a seat on the new City Council, from Position 1. He is in a citywide election, which means voters all over the city may vote for him.

He has served on the Orange Mound Day Nursery Board and makes contributions each year to the Blues Bowl game and Mallory Knights Charitable Organization.

He spoke last Sunday at St. James A.M.E. Church, pastored by the Rev. H. L. Starks.

He is an Airforce combat veteran of World War II and is serving his sixth year as president of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

He is a past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Community Relations Committee, Cynthia Milk Fund Committee, Civic Research Committee and Family Service Board.

Downtown Ministers In Grown Meeting

By P. L. JOHNSON
When the organizational meeting of the Downtown Minister's Association was held at Calvary Episcopacy Church, Tuesday of this week, the temporary steering committee decided to withhold recommendations until a broader representation is present.
The purpose of the interracial luncheon meeting was to discuss means of combating "urban strangulation" threatening the existence of downtown churches.
Some of the issues discussed were health, consumer education, job training and housing programs.
Only two Negro pastors attended the meeting. They were Rev. William Smith, pastor of Collins Chapel C. M. E. Church, 676 Washington, and Bishop P. L. Johnson, pastor of Tabernacle Community Church, 303 Cynthia.

"Precision Guerilla Team" Blamed For JFK Slaying

NEW YORK - UPI - New Orleans District Attorney James Garrison claims he has evidence that President Kennedy was killed by "a precision guerilla team of 10 to 15 men" and that all of them had once worked for the Central Intelligence Agency.

In an interview with Playboy magazine, Garrison said that Lee Harvey Oswald was merely a "passerby" in what he calls a "right-wing paramilitary conspiracy" and Oswald did not shoot anybody in Dallas that day in November, 1963.

The controversial district attorney also claims that he and the CIA know the identity of the real assassins.

Asked specifically if the persons he suspects will be arrested, Garrison said: "All I can say is that this is an ongoing case and there will be more arrests."

ASKS FOR CHANCE
In a foreword to the 13 hour interview published this week, the magazine said "Garrison has not yet had a chance to present his case - in court or out - without expurgation or editorializing. We feel he ought to have this chance."

Garrison, who has won every legal preliminary to the conspiracy trials he eventually plans to effect, would not comment on the pending trial of Clay Shaw, the New Orleans businessman he has accused of being one of the conspirators.

The subject of two major television documentaries and countless magazine and newspaper articles, Garrison said "I'm beginning to worry about the cumulative effect of this propaganda blitzkrieg on potential jurors for the trial of Clay Shaw."

Garrison said the conspiracy began in New Orleans where "the CIA was training a whole lot of Minutemen, Cuban exiles and other anti-Castro adventurers north of Lake Pontchartrain for a forty nine day and an assassination attempt on Fidel Castro."

FICK VICTIM
He said that Jack Ruby, Oswald and a host of New Orleans residents he already has implicated in the conspiracy, many of them now dead were a part of this group. When Kennedy signed a secret agreement with Russia not to invade Cuba, he said, the government "began to crack down on CIA operations against Cuba."

Garrison said these "adventurers were worked up to a fever pitch; and when the CIA withdrew its support and they could not fight Castro they picked their next victim - John F. Kennedy."

Oswald was far from being a "self-proclaimed Marxist" as he has been described ever since the assassination, Garrison said. In fact, he "would have been more at home with Mein Kampf than Das Kapital."

The address Oswald gave for his "Fair Play for Cuba Committee" on left-wing leaflets he passed out, Garrison said, was that of two "militant right-wing anti-Communists."

And at a press conference, just after the assassination, when a Dallas official described Oswald's association with the right-wing "Free Cuba" organization, Jack Ruby corrected him from the audience.

W. Memphis Host To 'Witnesses'

One of the world's fastest growing inter-racial societies never graduates its ministers. "Christian development never ends and Christians can always advance in ministerial qualifications." These are Jehovah's Witnesses.

For that reason the organization provides a continuous training program of activities for young and old. A featured part of the program is to be a three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, scheduled for West Memphis, Ark., Sept. 15-17. Their spokesman is Dave Velark, presiding minister of the Klondike congregation.

All features of the regular training program will be covered at the West Memphis assembly. Mr. Velark said. "However these meetings will be under the direction of Willie Anderson, a special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society sent out from New York, who will also give the main talk entitled, "Will God Intervene in Men's Affairs?"
All sessions are free. The public is invited.

W. Memphis Host To 'Witnesses'

One of the world's fastest growing inter-racial societies never graduates its ministers. "Christian development never ends and Christians can always advance in ministerial qualifications." These are Jehovah's Witnesses.

For that reason the organization provides a continuous training program of activities for young and old. A featured part of the program is to be a three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, scheduled for West Memphis, Ark., Sept. 15-17. Their spokesman is Dave Velark, presiding minister of the Klondike congregation.

All features of the regular training program will be covered at the West Memphis assembly. Mr. Velark said. "However these meetings will be under the direction of Willie Anderson, a special representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society sent out from New York, who will also give the main talk entitled, "Will God Intervene in Men's Affairs?"
All sessions are free. The public is invited.

Miss Mae Byas Is Bride Of Edwin Sanders

Miss Mae Byas Is Bride Of Edwin Sanders

The stately and spacious living and dining area of the Byas' South Parkway residence was the setting Sunday of two weeks ago for the wedding of Miss Olivia Byas and Edwin Sanders, Jr., who were united in one of the major weddings of the season with the family and a very few close friends attending.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James S. Byas. The groom is the son of the late Rev. Edwin Sanders, Sr. and Mrs. A. D. Green.

The Rev. William Smith of Collins Chapel (where the Byas family members have all been devout members over a half century) officiated in the double ring ceremony, with the Rev. James Lawson of Sentenary Methodist Church (where the groom is a member) assisting in the beautiful short ceremony.

The attractive and youthful bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely white silk gown of sole and re-embroidered Alencon lace that formed a yoke and featured a "shirred" train. She wore double tiered veil of illusion that fell from a crown of pearls and carried a bouquet, a cascade of white royal imperial orchids, accented with clusters of stephanotis with a white Bible.

The path, only a few steps from the staircase, was outlined with Cathedral candles and large white bows. The vows were solemnly pledged before an altar with a white satin prayer bench that stood right in front of a large bay window, surrounded with arrangements of white carnations and gladiol.

A program of nuptial music was played during the ceremony and it was recorded by the bride's brother, James Spencer, Jr., a student at Meharry College. Dr. Byas was the officiant.

Miss Maudette Brownlee, a student at an eastern college, was maid-of-honor. She wore a lovely floorlength gown of blue chiffon that featured back detail. Her headpiece of blue net was held by a nest of leaves and aqua velvet bows and she carried a cascading bouquet of petite white carnations.

Decorations were centered around crab apple trees in the Harris rustic back gardens, a beautiful spot. The center of the lawn, where only the grass could be seen, stood a table centered with an old black iron pot encircled with red crab apples and branches from crab apple trees and was filled with harvest vegetables.

We were sorry to hear of the passing of Mrs. BEULAH HILL at her home in Detroit several weeks ago. Mrs. Hill was the daughter of popular Mrs. FLOYD (Lillian) NEWMAN of Memphis.

Out of town guests, who looked especially good at the ceremony, were Mrs. Vivian Cook, an aristocratic Baltimore School principal, the bride's paternal aunt who came from her home in Maryland, and Mrs. Susie Walker, the bride's maternal great aunt who came from her home in Montclair, New Jersey.

Other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lester Norris, the bride's uncle and aunt who flew in several days before the wedding. Mrs. Carrie Tenor, the bride's cousin who came from Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, a fashionable New York City couple who came to Memphis directly from the West Coast where they spent their vacation and flying in on Saturday.

The radiant bride, whose radiant fresh face and friendly smiles were fascinating to all those in the bridegroom's welcome friends and made them glad that they had come.

Among the many guests were Dr. C. J. Bates with his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Bates and Mrs. Parthenia Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. Benny Thomas, Mrs. Mabel Walker attended the wedding with her young daughter "Candy".

Two enterprises devoted to the manufacturing and selling of goods and cosmetics, though very modern, history tells that the Bonds were among the first Negro mill concerns in this area.

Mr. Bonds was known by three trademarks that were characteristic of him. One was his ever-ready smile, his interesting conversation and his graciousness when in his lovely home or with his wife and children.

He was happiest when friends dropped in to see him and Mrs. Bonds. Friendliness and kindness were virtues that he possessed in full measure.

On Sunday at a 10 o'clock funeral services were conducted by the Rev. B. B. Bland at Madison's Light Baptist Church. Other ministers who spoke were the Rev. J. A. Owen, Mr. Daniel and Rev. S. A. Owen.

Praying glowing tributes for the useful life that Mr. Bonds had lived were the eminent Rev. S. A. Owen, who spoke of him as a saintly and morehouse.

Mr. Robert Miller, president Chicago Funeral Directors who told what Bond Laboratories had meant to funeral directors and how the princely business man had carried his name with dignity.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Bond, parents of the deceased, made a record for him and his ten brothers of which he was the youngest.

Mr. Leon Harrison, President of the National and Chairman of the Board of Funeral Directors flew in from Los Angeles.

A long table (banquet) was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered by a large bouquet of different colored flowers that blended in perfectly with the kelly green carpet that extends all over the very pretty home.

Visitors entered the house from the front and were charmed by the long living-dining and rumpus area which lends itself to a large crowd.

Although the Bishop and his "First Lady" avoid publicity, they had to pose for the press on this one occasion.

Corbett Heads Omega Psi Phi; New Goals Slated For Members

BOSTON, Mass. - Ellis F. Corbett, director of public relations of A. and T. State University, Greensboro, at the final session of the 51st annual convocation of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, here Aug. 17, was installed as grand basileus of the 25,000-member organization.

James S. Avery, Plainsfield, N. J., was elected 1st vice-grand basileus; Lincoln Scott 2nd vice; Jesse B. Clayton, Sr., Atlanta, the pre-natal keeper of finance, was returned to office; W. C. Pruitt, Oklahoma City, Okla., was re-elected editor-in-chief of the Oracle.

The meet began August 13 and went into every phase of the life of the organization, with much emphasis on the under graduate chapters. It was definitely decided that the members, on the campuses of the colleges, would be the prime objective of the fraternity.

Robert C. Weaver, of HUD a fraternity member keynoted the meet, at the opening session, and told the audience that the Negro best himself about the "Model City." The cabinet officer was quick to say that the proposed plan was not the answer to the unrest that no exists, but could serve as a deterrent.

He also said that the civil disorder was not racial, but was the culmination of a pent up desire, on the part of a minority of underprivileged people, to have something and he termed it a battle of the "have-nots with the haves."

Wiley G. Branton, special assistant to the attorney general followed perhaps the same course except that he told the undergraduates that theirs was an opportunity to extend the cardinal principles of the organization and warned the graduate brothers that they must not let the organiza-

Romney Urged To Step Aside For Rockefeller

DETROIT - (UP) - The Detroit News, which has backed George Romney in all his political campaigning, said Sept. 8 the Michigan governor lacks the "essentials in the making of a president" and should bow out in favor of Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The News, in an editorial prepared for its Sunday edition, said it came to its conclusion after watching Romney say in a television interview this week that he had been "brainwashed" by U. S. diplomats and generals during a 1965 trip to Vietnam.

In a blunt reference to any ambitions Romney may hold for the Republican presidential nomination, the editorial began, "The News believes the time has come for Gov. George Romney to get out of the presidential race and for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to get in."

The News said Romney should now "turn over the wheel of his bandwagon" to the New York governor, "the man who did so much to create it and who, in recent weeks, has been responsible for its forward motion it has achieved."

In Washington, where he was attending a meeting of the Republican National Committee, Romney laughed off the home town editorial. When informed of its content, he said, "That's very amusing." An aide said the governor did not know of the editorial until he arrived in Washington Friday from Chicago.

The governor scheduled a news conference Saturday at which he said he would answer all questions about his position. Referring specifically to Romney's statements on Vietnam, that News accused Romney of an "unfortunate incapacity to achieve stability and constancy in presidential politics, his inability in answering substantive national questions with something other than nervous bombast."

ROMNEY CRITICIZED The News noted that it has supported Romney for every political office he has sought and said it "watched with interested expectation" Romney's projection as a presidential candidate.

"But," the News said, "for months we have chronicled and pumpeled over his inexplicable blurt and retreat habit in unfamiliar realms of national and foreign affairs."

"Patiently we awaited the day when he finally would organize and coordinate a purposeful campaign and articulate specific goals. "We now conclude that he never will become so organized."

The News said "the plain truth is" that Romney endorsed the Johnson administration's conduct of the war months before he went to Vietnam in 1965 and then eight months after the trip said the United States should be bombing installations around the port of Haiphong.

Romney "assumed a stance squarely behind President Johnson's effort to force a peace in Vietnam" in a major policy speech at Hartford, Conn. April 7, the News said. "But now we must believe these were but the views of a man not yet recovered from 'brainwashing' the editorial said.

Some may accept the explanation. Others may take the view that the governor is either incapable of maintaining a stand on so vital an issue or, less charitably, that he trims his Vietnam position to accommodate prevailing political winds."

Maddox Wants 'A Wallace' In White House

ASHEVILLE, N. C. - (UPI) - Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox says he would like to see a man like former Alabama Gov. George Wallace "with his philosophy in the White House."

Maddox, here to take part in the Southern Governors Conference beginning today, told newsmen Sunday night he believed Wallace would take Georgia and unidentified other states "regardless of who the other candidates are" in 1968 unless things change in the major political parties.

Although he has long said he would not support a third-party candidate, Maddox said, "I'll wait" on whether to endorse Wallace personally.

"If they are strong enough to be successful as a third party they should be strong enough to be successful in the present party," the Georgian said of Wallace and other possible candidates bolting the national parties.

MY WEEKLY SERMON By REV. BLAIR T. HUNT, PASTOR, MISSISSIPPI BAPTIST CHURCH, MEMPHIS, TENN.

SUBJECT: "The Comforting God." TEXTS: "The spirit of God is upon me; because the Lord has anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor He hath sent me to heal the broken hearted." - Luke 4:18.

"As one whom his mother comforts so will I comfort you." - Isa. 66:12.

Many, many people in the world are discomfited. In their lives there are tensions, fears, heartaches. They and we are so busy nursing our own hurts that they and we don't find time to bind up the hurts of others.

Born again Saints. We who are Christians, are concerned: Whether they really know God, The Father, Jesus, God's son and the holy spirit. When the plowshare of sorrow digs into their lives...

The Bible does declare that Jesus will see us through. God is as good as his word today as he was in the days of Noah, in the days of the three Hebrew children thrown into a furnace but unscathed; Daniel in the Lions' den untouched by the Lions. God is proving every day every hour, every moment that His promises never fail if we only

Sen. Margaret C. Smith Says: GOP Can Win In '68 With Man Like Ike

WASHINGTON - (UPI) - Sen. Margaret Chase Smith told Republican leaders Sept. 8 they would win next year's presidential election if they could find another Ike.

She didn't say who that winner might be. "The American people yearn for another Dwight D. Eisenhower to lead them back to real peace and security," said the Maine Senator, chairman of the Senate GOP Conference.

"Surely we yearn today for a leader capable of ending the increasingly unpopular war in Vietnam," she told the opening session of a two-day meeting of the Republican National Committee.

She said the events of 1967 are "strikingly similar" to those of 1951 and 1952, when Eisenhower "stopped the Korean war." The former president, she said, kept the peace by a policy of "firmness," presided over a period of "respect for law and order," and offered Americans "tax cuts instead of tax raises."

"The American people yearn for these pleasant conditions and facts of the past - to make them realities again for the present and the future," she said.

Mrs. Smith, who also is ranking Republican on the Senate armed services committee, did not single out any of the current GOP Presidential hopefuls as displaying Eisenhower's winning qualities.

One of the leading contenders, Michigan Gov. George Romney, flew back to Washington for discussions with top leaders as the controversy over his charge that administration officials had "brainwashed" him into supporting the war effort appeared to be dying down.

Mrs. Smith, who also is ranking Republican on the Senate armed services committee, did not single out any of the current GOP Presidential hopefuls as displaying Eisenhower's winning qualities.

Former Oklahoma Gov. "Henry" Bellmon, chairman of Richard M. Nixon's unannounced campaign for the GOP presidential nomination, charged Thursday that Romney showed a potentially damaging political weakness by acknowledging he allowed himself to be "brainwashed."

trust and obey. Our God is the God of the universe, the God of uncountable millions of celestial bodies, reaching out into uncountable billions of miles in space. He is equally the God of the discomfited and broken hearted. He stoops to heal the broken hearted. He tells the numbers of stars and knoweth their names. He stoops to the weakest child and gives comfort. Sometimes we feel forsaken: We turn our tear-stained faces to the skies begging for relief, for comfort. We feel that God is so far away. What God would have known through the Bible that he is closer to us than the beating of our heart: He wants us to let Him heal the hurts of hearts and to comfort us. But it is a two-way street: We must trust and obey. The second text tells us "As one whom his mother comforts so will I comfort you." This is an earthly comparison of a heavenly truth. mother stoops down and lifts up her little child when he falls. "She kisses his wounds to make them well. Jesus, God in flesh, comforts and lifts us up when we stumble. His healing love kisses our wounds and makes them well. When mother's little "one is sick," she hurts, she hugs her little one to her bosom. She wants to take him and nurse the little one's pains and hurts her own. She wants to take him again into her body; but she can't. God "through" Jesus, Christ can. On Calvary's cross, He took our sins and He can, if we will let Him hold us so closely and tightly that we can nestle in His heart. This mission of Jesus to heal and comfort. Let Jesus fulfill his mission in our lives, trusting and obeying.

NAACP Protests White Mob Attack On Negro Students

RIDGEVILLE, S. C.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has called for a swift and thorough investigation by state and Federal officials of the attack by some 120 fist-swinging whites on a handful of Negro students at a football game held at the newly-integrated Harleyville-Ridgeville High School.

ASTA Inspects Expo Housing, Notes Space Is Suitable

NEW YORK CITY—The 10 million Americans expected to visit Canada's Expo 67 from now to the Oct. 27 closing have been offered assurance of finding decent housing in the Montreal area by the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA).

In a special bulletin issued recently by George L. Fichtenbaum, ASTA's executive director, a partial list of hotels, motels, and apartment hotels suitable for American visitors to the Centennial Exposition in Montreal was made available to ASTA member agents throughout the U. S. and Canada.

The list rates hotel and motel accommodations as acceptable to deluxe, while an additional listing of apartment-hotels is offered for the guidance of ASTA member agents and their clients. The listings were designed to provide the traveling public with information on where space is available, and where travel agents may send their clients with reasonable confidence.

Distribution of the list was prompted by the growing number of complaints received by travel agents, tour operators, and Canadian officials regarding sub-standard and often over-priced accommodations.

"Expo 67's success is undisputed and is welcomed by the entire travel industry," Mr. Fichtenbaum said. "But the number of visitors and the demands for hotel and motel space in the Montreal area has created severe problems both for Canadian authorities and for the travel agency industry. Jerry-built facilities which do not meet minimum standards of comfort, sanitation and safety cannot be tolerated. By using this list, travel agents can not only serve their clients' interests but those of Expo 67 itself."

Mr. Fichtenbaum, a member of the three-man inspection team — including two Canadians, which visited the Montreal area — cautioned that the list was only partial and did not cover all hotels. Well known and highly respected downtown Montreal hotels, for example, were not inspected nor were the major chain hotels, which may have some rooms available over the counter. By-and-by, however, they are fully booked for the remainder of Expo.

Accommodations are especially scarce in the downtown area, Mr. Fichtenbaum reported. Most of the facilities surveyed were several miles from downtown Montreal or Expo — but not more than seven. Most were close to public transportation and provided direct service for their guests. Also surveyed by the team were a number of modern deluxe apartment buildings which have been converted for use as hotels for the duration of Expo.

"Far more space is available week-end than on weekdays," Mr. Fichtenbaum noted. He urged visitors to Expo 67 in the weeks ahead to consult with the travel agent before they leave and ask for realistic appraisal of the type of facilities available.

"In view of the number of visitors to Expo 67 — some estimate predict 40 million making it the most successful international exhibition in history — the number of housing complaints has been small. Yet the seriousness of the complaints and the growing volume are compelling action to provide the traveling public with at least minimal assurance of decent housing accommodations and equitable treatment in reserving them," Mr. Fichtenbaum concluded.

The American Society of Travel Agents is the world's largest trade association for professional travel agents. Established in 1931, there are over 2,300 agencies in the United States and Canada and 4,700 associate and allied members representing all segments of the travel and transportation industry throughout the world.

Sheriff Carl Smith, who was attacked by whites when he tried to halt the violence, said no arrests had been made.

Rev. Newman said that several of the Negro teenagers had received hospital treatment for injuries. He also reported that parents of Negro children involved would swear out warrants for the arrest of the assailants. Rev. Newman called for the arrest and conviction of those who attacked the students.

There were no Negro athletes on either of the teams playing the first football game of the season at the predominantly-white high school in Dorchester County.

Ga. Prince Hall Masons Up Legal Fund Donations

Georgia's Prince Hall Masons have gone over the $80,000 mark in donations to the Prince Hall Legal Defense Fund, it was revealed Monday by Grand Master Dr. X. L. Neal.

Report on the 1967 donations was made Sunday following celebration of Prince Hall Day in Waynesboro, Ga. The occasion, attended by Masons from over the Georgia jurisdiction, was addressed by Leroy Bolden, of Savannah, Grand Treasurer of the Georgia Grand Lodge. Mr. Bolden eloquently referred to the diligent, prudent and discreet work of Masonry in its many acts of helping mankind.

The Prince Hall Day celebration took place at Blakely High and Elementary School, District Deputy Grand Master K. C. Childers, host.

Through 1966 the Georgia Masons had given $58,238 to the Defense Fund—legal arm of the NAACP—and this represented one-sixth of the $950,000 donated by the entire Masonic domain, Dr. Neal stated. This means that Attorney Jack Greenberg, chief counsel of the Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall, will be public speaker at the June, 1968 Grand Lodge session in Columbus, Ga.

Cornerstone Laying Sunday Grand Master Neal will lay the cornerstone for Tabernacle Baptist Church, Statesboro, Ga., this Sunday, Sept. 17. He will be assisted by other Grand Lodge officers and members of the craft.

Most successful international exhibition in history — the number of housing complaints has been small. Yet the seriousness of the complaints and the growing volume are compelling action to provide the traveling public with at least minimal assurance of decent housing accommodations and equitable treatment in reserving them," Mr. Fichtenbaum concluded.

NAACP Demonstrations Continue In Milwaukee Open Housing Dispute

MILWAUKEE — Foot-weary civil rights marchers, protesting the failure of the Milwaukee Common Council to give reconsideration to an open housing ordinance, have vowed to continue their protestations until favorable action is taken.

The marathon demonstrations, led by the Rev. James E. Gropp, a Roman Catholic priest and sponsored by the Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, received support from outside reinforcements, Sept. 7, when Mississippi NAACP Field Director Charles Evers arrived in the city to join the ranks of demonstrators.

Earlier in the week comedian Dick Gregory trudged through the streets with more than a thousand youth and adults in a march against discrimination in housing. NAACP Quad-State Field Director Sydney Finley of Chicago joined Mr. Gregory hours later.

It was also disclosed that Glover B. Current, NAACP director of branch and field administration, who was on the scene to map strategy with local leaders, had cited more than 400 NAACP units in the midwestern area to send representatives to Milwaukee to support the Youth Council in its drive for open housing.

During sustained demonstrations last month, Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier clamped a ban on marches and demonstrations between 4 p.m. and 9 a.m. The ban was soon lifted, however, after NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins protested in a telegram to the Mayor that the ban on demonstrations was unconstitutional.

In contrasting demonstrations held in Milwaukee with recent marches in the South, Mr. Wilkins told Mayor Maier "It is significant that while Negroes marching to protest employment discrimination in Louisiana are protected by the police, Milwaukee appears violent whites."

Mr. Wilkins apparently referred to the Youth Council's march in the hostile, predominantly Polish-American South Side where demonstrators were taunted by whites and showered with bottles and stones.

In the aftermath of demonstrations, on Aug. 23, the Freedom House headquarters of the Youth Council was burned out as marchers were returning to their home base. Police say arsonists apparently set the blaze. There were no arrests.

Unhappily their biggest drawings are almost all vanished because the lines were either perforated to transfer the design by dusting charcoal powder onto wood panel prepared for painting, or else scored with a scriber to imprint the outlines into soft plaster for fresh drawings.

Most early drawings were checked out as soon as they had served their purpose in planning a painting, a sculpture or a building. As a scaffolding is cleaned down once a facade is finished, if drawings survived this first ordeal, they then are discarded when the style becomes too old-fashioned for artists to adapt.

The style of drawing underwent a rapid evolution in the period covered in this exhibit. The earliest drawing is "Benjamin's Dream and Sacrifice" by an anonymous Austrian of about 1490-1495, which is especially in the diary of the French is still French.

The stylistic development of graphic art as shown in the exhibit continues to such master Renaissance compositions as "The Last Supper" by Leonardo da Vinci, "St. John the Evangelist" by a follower of Raphael, and the "Pontine Islands" by an anonymous French master.

The demonstrators have also aimed their protests at Circuit Court Judge Robert C. Cannon, a member of the Eagles — an organization that excludes membership to Negroes. They contend that a judge should not belong to a group that excludes nonwhites. Judge Cannon's home was "picketed" for more than a week.

The recent series of protest demonstrations was triggered when Mrs. Vel Phillips, the only Negro serving on the Common Council, tried unsuccessfully to gain passage of an open housing ordinance which has three times been rejected by the white city elites.

Dr. Player Speaks To Morehouse Faculty Members

Dr. William D. Player, director of the division of college support of the Bureau of Higher Education of the U. S. Office of Education, addressed the Morehouse College faculty at a special meeting in the lounge of Archer Hall Gym. on 7 p. m., Monday.

During her address Dr. Player gave an analysis of Title III of the Higher Education Act of 1965. After her discussion she answered questions by members of the Morehouse faculty.

On Sept. 11-12 Dr. Player is in Atlanta as a consultant at a faculty institute at Spelman college. Prior to assuming her present position at the U. S. Office of Education, Dr. Player was president of Bennett College. She holds the AB Degree from Ohio Wesleyan University and the Ed D. degree from Teacher College, Columbia University. Dr. Player also holds an honorary doctorate from Morehouse college.

"WITH FOOD COSTS SO HIGH — IT'S CHEAPER TO EAT MONEY." — CONTINENTAL FEATURES

Critics Of Fair Housing Don't Know Facts--Weaver

WASHINGTON, D.C. — (SNS) Secretary Robert C. Weaver, of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development said that recent critics of the Federal Housing Administration's efforts to house the nation's poorest families "have failed to catch up to the facts."

The Secretary spoke in Boston at the opening of the nation's first Rent Supplement housing development, Charlene Park Homes consisting of entirely new construction. FHA administers Rent Supplements and is a part of HUD.

Secretary Weaver reviewed the chronology of the new project. Its sponsors, the First African Methodist Episcopal Society of Boston, applied for FHA insurance on June 11, 1965. On Nov. 1, FHA agreed to make the commitment for the project. On May 30, 1966, the sponsors asked to change the project from that of standard moderate-income housing to the new Rent Supplement Program. Two weeks later, June 17, FHA allocated funds for it. Two months later, Aug. 29, FHA issued the commitment to insure it.

On Sept. 26, 1966 construction was started, and completion was marked on Aug. 23, 1967. He pointed out that 15 months after the new Rent Supplement and 11 months after construction began, Charlene Park Homes was completed.

"Recently, it has become almost common to hear questions about whether the FHA — which has helped in housing millions of families," he said.

"What are the facts about FHA today? It is a principal source of mortgage financing for existing homes purchased by nonwhites across all of the urban complex

It has lifted the barriers that once prohibited insuring mortgages in changing neighborhoods.

It is taking positive steps to insure the rebuilding of blighted areas in the central city. It is increasingly involved in building and rebuilding housing for low-income and moderate-income families. Indeed, today FHA is an effective instrument that is providing opportunities to nonwhites in all parts of urban areas."

Two recent examples, he said, are new FHA housing counseling services for low-income families and his involvement in insuring mortgage in riot-torn or riot-threatened areas.

Secretary Weaver noted that FHA has already allocated all of the $32 million available to provide private housing for 34,000 families — and help them afford the rent — under the new Rent Supplement Program. It can do much more if Congress passes additional funds now requested.

FHA also has moved rapidly in moderate income housing — 40,000 units completed, 22,000 under construction and 83,000 now being processed.

"Every new housing program requires time — for tooling up and developing effective processing methods," he said. "These steps would have to be taken no matter what administrative machinery is devised."

And he added: "Billions of dollars are involved. Those who commit the credit of the United States for immense programs have great responsibilities."

Urban renewal suffers a similar lag in public recognition of change, Secretary Weaver pointed out. "Today eight out of ten persons displaced by urban renewal are helped, or help themselves, to move into decent housing. Urban renewal today upgrades the quality of housing for the vast majority of those who originally lived in the slums."

Many people understandably resent being forced to move — that is one reason we now stress rehabilitation rather than demolition in the urban renewal process."

Yet, he concluded, "the old reputation clings and persists through it is no longer accurate or fair."

Global Portraits

By LOU LOUTOR

Today the GLOBAL PORTRAITS SALUTE goes to the group that is presenting JAZZ FOR THE MASSES in and around New York with a special salute to the REV. RALPH E. PETERSON, Pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, 1,000th Avenue and 54th Street, New York City. With a special and deep perception, Pastor Peterson has the ability to harvest dreams through him and his unusual congregation, the JAZZ MINISTRY has found a home in MANHATTAN.

The Jazz Ministry is a series of Christian activities centered around contemporary music — its rhythms, its moods, its sounds — but importantly its people. Its purpose is to bring about rapport between the jazz community and the church — a church that for too long offered no welcome to the jazz performer or the music that is his life.

In order to bring such a program to the music-lovers of New York the following Jazz for the Masses Committee presented a most delightful group of talented, trained and experienced musicians and singers in a Town Hall Performance during the Spring:

John G. Gensel, Chairman — Edward V. Bonheimer, Co-Chair — Barbara Flower, Coordinator — Reginald Butts, Choir Manager — Percy Jenkins, House Manager — L. Bruce Hopwell, Financial Manager — Douglas A. Stace, Manager — Edwin Lee Dore, Advertising Manager — Marty Manheimer, Public Relations. But it must be said that the way Reggie Butts was working, you'd easily think that he too was the "PR" person.

The Program featured "BLESS YOU!" "KEEP THE RUMOR GOING" "TO SING TO THE LORD A NEW SONG" "TEMPORARY SKETCHES" "MISSA MODERNA." To fully interpret the above listed selections would take a page in our newspaper so we'll give you the brief of the first — "BLESS YOU!" as it appeared in the printed program — Saul knew that God no longer wanted him to be king.

Samuel, the prophet who had been instrumental in bringing him to the throne, would never see him again. The enemy, led by the giant Goliath, was at the border of Judah, on the verge of overrunning Saul's kingdom.

This situation, couple with his own disobedience and his bad conscience, brought Saul to the abyss of despair. The answer to Saul's condition came through music. Saul was awakened to a real worship level through the music of David. The Overture, Moods of Saul. Nobody Knows When You're Down and Out. The Highest Mountain. . . and the Overture.

My how we'd like to continue on and on fascinating you with this JAZZ FOR THE MASSES, but since we can't do so right now why not drop a line to Rev. Peterson and inquire about having the group with you.

Workshop On Nursing Set For Sept. 28

A workshop on nursing responsibilities in the event of a local disaster will be held Thursday, Sept. 28, from 7 to 9 p. m. in the auditorium of the Metropolitan Atlanta chapter of the American Red Cross, 848 Peachtree St., N. E.

The meeting will be conducted by Nancy Johnson, chairman and Kathryn Pope, co-chairman of the volunteer Disaster Nursing subcommittee.

Purpose of this workshop is to inform qualified nurses of their roles in local disaster situations such as fire, flood, tornado and transportation accidents and to bring them up-to-date on the latest disaster procedures. The results of this workshop will determine nursing strength in disaster situations, and will include all of the five counties in the Metropolitan Atlanta area.

NAACP Opposes Ala. Attempt To Control Anti-Poverty Funds

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has urged Vice President Humphrey to help defeat a proposal that would require all private groups seeking poverty funds in Alabama to gain the approval of local authorities before submitting applications to Washington.

"One can readily discern that it is unlikely that the needs of the poor will be served if program development and execution is left entirely to local government" in Alabama, the Rev. K. L. Buford, Alabama NAACP field director, said in his Aug. 30 letter to the Vice President.

Rev. Buford said the "heinous proposal" was submitted when a delegation of Alabama Community Action Program (CAP) directors recently met with officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity and some Congressional leaders in Washington.

"The institution of such a provision," Rev. Buford said, "would make it literally impossible for many persons now being helped through anti-poverty programs, sponsored by private groups, to receive any assistance whatsoever."

The proposal advanced by Alabama officials would render "a great disservice" to the poor "and would impede the effectiveness of the war on poverty," Rev. Buford concluded in his letter to the Vice President.

NAACP Bias Complaint Hits Four Companies

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has filed complaints with the U. S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, charging that four major Memphis, Tenn., companies are guilty of racial discrimination against Negroes.

The NAACP also lodged complaints against Local 3305 and 3550, Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, saying the two locals practice discrimination in union membership.

Herbert Hill, NAACP director for labor program, filed the complaints here Aug. 31 with EEOC Commissioner Samuel Jackson, under Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Law which prohibits discrimination in employment on the basis of race or color.

The NAACP had previously filed some 2,000 complaints alleging racial discrimination, since July 3, 1955, when Title VII of the Civil Rights Act went into effect.

NAACP Says Election "Rigged;" Protests To President Johnson

JACKSON, Miss. — In a telegram of protest to President Lyndon B. Johnson, leaders of the Mississippi State Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People charged that elections held in some counties were "rigged" to defeat an unprecedented number of Negro candidates.

Nearly 200,000 Negroes were eligible to vote as a result of the Federal Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Prior to this year's election only about 25,000 Negroes were registered to vote, mainly because of fear and intimidation and the antiquated poll tax.

NAACP State Field Director Charles Evers told newsmen that Negro voters had been forced to obtain assistance from white election officials, who marked the ballots for white candidates.

Mr. Evers said the setback suffered by Negro candidates in the second election stemmed from his belief that "the whole thing was rigged."

NAACP officers in the state had urged Negroes to seek public office in their drive to gain Constitutional guarantees and political representation.

In calling for new elections, Mr. Evers said federal officials sent to observe the voting had "sat around drinking coffee and grinning while all the rigging."

The telegram sent by Mr. Evers and Dr. Aaron H. Henry, NAACP state conference president, urged President Johnson to "use your influence and call for new elections in many sections of Mississippi and send representatives from Washington and across the country to make certain that Negroes and Negro candidates are assured justice and fair play in all elections."

Among those on the "seemingly" distrustful list of the President, are his principal financial adviser and business operator, Clamor Joseph — Charles — and his son, Gerald de Gato, his nephew, the Director of Tourism, dismissed and disgraced, his own son-in-law, Lt. Col. Max Dominguez who was ordered to return from abroad to stand trial for conspiracy against him; Father Blaine, the Palace Chaplain, in asylum in Latin American Embassy along with several others; and a list which would add to this list, his wife Simone who was publicly denounced by President Duvalier for failing to help him.

Negro candidates were defeated by white opponents in 21 contests in nine counties across the state. Many of the losses were by large margins.

This was in sharp contrast to Negro victories in the first primary on Aug. 6 in that election.

Now to take a look at the situation in Haiti which to your U. N. Profile is not surprising since each brief visit to Haiti put a question mark in my mind as to the security of President Duvalier and the happiness of his people. One look at his guarded castle in 1964 brought a thought that some one in high authority must have a feeling of insecurity. And now in 1967 it comes to the forefront through several news media that President Francois Duvalier (called "Papa" by his people) is showing "a growing scene of desperation" as the political and economic pressures build up and those he could trust have decreased steadily.

The U. N. Profiles are concerned about the situation in Haiti other than the Haitian U. N. Representative, C. Auguste.

It seems as if our Haitian U. N. Profile, C. Auguste who has been this country's Permanent Representative to the United Nations since 1959 might have more on his mind than his duties at the U. N., because of the unrest in his country at this time. However, we find Mr. Auguste well prepared for his position.

Where in where can Haiti be going?

Mr. Auguste was born on 14 June 1903 at Cap-Haitien. Since for 15 years before his appointment as Permanent Representative to the United Nations, he was professor of economics at the School of Law at Cap-Haitien and also taught civil law part of the time.

In 1947-48, he was, in addition, Secretary of State for Commerce in the Haitian Government. In 1950, he became Secretary of State for Finance and Commerce; in the same year he was also elected to a four-year term as a Deputy in his country's Legislative Assembly. Mr. Auguste is married and has five children.

It is our hope that many other U. N. Profiles are concerned about the situation in Haiti other than the Haitian U. N. Representative, C. Auguste.

Premies Thrive On Early Feedings

By LOUISE CHASE
Women's Medical News Service

CHICAGO, Ill. — How soon after birth should a baby be fed? Although this remains one of the oldest, unanswered questions in the practice of pediatrics, several recent studies suggest that early feedings, even for premature infants, can be both safe and beneficial.

Dr. Paul V. H. Wu reported recently that he and Dr. Peter A. Whitmann studied the effect of early feedings on the health of low weight infants born at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago.

Half the babies were fed two hours after birth, the remainder not until 24 to 36 hours later, as is usual with premies. They all received a formula that provided 20 calories per ounce, the fiber nutrients simulated breast milk. What were the results?

The babies fed soon after birth lost only 4.7 percent of birth weight in the immediate postnatal period, while the babies who began later lost an average of 7.5 percent of their birth weight. Most of the early feeders retained their lesser losses in a week, while the late feeders took 12 to 14 days to regain their weight.

The researchers also found that there was less of a decrease in serum bilirubin in the bloodstreams of the babies fed soon after birth. This substance is known to cause jaundice occurs. These babies also had a significantly higher blood sugar level and a higher sugar store in the liver than the infants fed some delay. High bilirubin and blood sugar levels are two of the major causes of mental retardation in premies.

IMITATING NATURE

Commenting on the study, Dr. Wu said, "The fetus is continuously nourished while it is inside its mother. It would appear irrational to interrupt this process at birth and subject the infant to a period of starvation, particularly at a time when the infant is under intense stress."

Other studies at Chicago's Cook County Hospital, at the Yale University School of Medicine and the University of Louisville seem to support Dr. Wu's finding.

At Least 15 Die On Georgia Roads Over Weekend

By United Press International

Blinding headlights and the crash of a pickup truck with a train were among the conditions blamed for the deaths of 15 people on Georgia highways this weekend, in addition, a Georgia soldier died in an Alabama wreck.

Two West Cordele residents were killed near Vienna when the bright lights of an oncoming car blinded the driver and a car smashed into the back of a parked truck. The victims were Cecelia Felder, 62, and Jim Singleton, 60.

A 72-year-old woman, flung from her car in the violence of another wreck, was among the dead. State Police said Marie Mousty, of Port Pierce, Fla., died when her car went out of control and crashed in Braselton County near Nahata.

Three men died in Savannah when their pickup truck skidded into the path of the oncoming Nancy Hanks, track passenger train of the Central of Georgia Railroad.

They were from Louisiana, inspecting a natural gas line in Georgia. The State Patrol identified them as Robert E. Kinsey, 36, of Winnsboro, La.; William Knox, 22, of Lake Providence, La.; and James A. Hazlet of Bascom, La.

Three teen-agers were killed during the weekend: two girls and a boy.

Nineteen-year-old James Hanson of Rockmart lost control of his car on a curve in Polk County. The car rolled over several times before killing him and injuring a passenger.

A 12-year-old girl from Kilmorris, Fla., Jg Ann McCall, was killed and two others injured in a wreck near Buena Vista. And 17-year-old Elaine Thompson of Canton was killed in a wreck near her home.

On a suburban Savannah street, Mrs. Pearl Penton, 69, of Savannah, was killed and her husband injured in a two-car crash on Peachtree Street in Atlanta. Henry H. Thomas, 46, of Doraville, died when his car rammed a utility pole.

On one of the busy Atlanta expressways, Mary Lee Gregory, 31, of Marietta, was killed in a head-on collision. A Cairo woman, Catherine E. Kravig, died on Georgia 83 near her home; Danny C. Coursey, 34, of Newman, was killed when he stepped into the path of a car, and Jewell Jackson, 47, of Franklin, died when her car collided head-on with another near Rockville on U. S. 27 in Carroll County.

Joseph E. Hasanic, 25, of Ft. Berning, died in a Phenix City, Ala., hospital Sunday from injuries received the previous day when his motorcycle collided with a car near Phenix City.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...
Why does some hair break off when combing?
Your hair is precious and well-kept... and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. Curly hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does it.
Your professional beautician knows that curly hair needs softening so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. (To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage of all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians turn to Clairol® Hair-So-News spray-on cream rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

SWAN SONG FOR MIDWESTERN CONFERENCE

The Midwestern Athletic Association, which for 32 years was a powerhouse conference in Negro small college sports, will exist no more following the 1967 football season. The circuit membership included such powerhouses of minority competition as Central State, Lincoln (Mo.), Kentucky State and Tennessee State.

Integration is blamed for the breaking of the Midwestern Athletic Association which will disband following this fall's plebian campaign. Central State College, Xenia, Ohio, signaled the deathknell of the MWAAC when it announced its intention to withdraw.

Lincoln (Mo.) was also ready to enter integrated competition in "Shawnee" State small college competition.

Kentucky State College is ready to be the same in the Blue Grass State.

Tennessee State College has long since switched to unfettered competition in basketball and will keep its ambitions in football to a minimum this and Saturday, Sept. 16 against San Diego State on the West Coast.

Remembering this, the final official meeting of the MWAAC was held recently at Louisville, Ky. and the swan song of the once juggernaut competitors was without regret.

REGARDLESS, the South Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association, Southwestern Athletic Conference and the Southeastern Athletic Conference seem as firmly entrenched in their fold ways as in the past.

BISHOP COLLEGE is the lone football-playing relic of the Gulf Coast Athletic Conference which once included Dillard University, New Orleans, La., Texas College, Tyler, Texas, Jarvis Christian College, Hawkins, Texas, Philander Smith College, Little Rock, Ark. and Tougaloo College, Tougaloo, Miss.

The South Central Athletic Conference has been totally purged of football as is primarily a foot ball conference and track and field.

The Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference during the past quarter century has lost as football competitors Tallahassee College, Tallahassee, Fla., Xavier University, New Orleans, La., Le Moyne College, Memphis, Tenn., and Benedict College, Columbia, S. C.

Xavier University is returning to basketball competition for the 1967-68 campaign and the other defectors never quit the game, although Tallahassee College played for several years on a hit-and-miss basis.

Le Moyne of Memphis and Benedict have highly-regarded basketball opponents through the years.

MILES COLLEGE, an associate member of the SIAC, is fighting for recognition, but is playing against a total conference schedule.

ALBANY STATE and SAVANNAH STATE are playing almost a total SIAC schedule, although holding membership in the Southeastern Athletic Conference.

SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

members who have dropped football are Clifton College, Orangeburg, S. C.; Florida Memorial College, St. Augustine, Fla.; Morris College, Sumter, S. C.; and Paine College of Augusta, Ga.

Florida Memorial College is expected to return to football when it opens a new $15,000,000 plant in Miami, Fla.

LESLIE C. BAKER, recently-retired coach of Booker T. Washington High School, Atlanta, Ga., is to be honored at a testimonial this fall by his old-athletes, who are so numerous throughout the United States that no one would dare make a count.

Virtually every coach in the Atlanta community high schools from T. Herman Graves of Davis T. Howard High School to John W. Merkerson of Luther Judson Price High School is one of his pupils.

Likewise the athletes he tutored have won recognition in colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Baker, the dean of all Atlanta prep mentors during his years, contributed to the development of basketball, football, track and field, baseball coaches, et al in Atlanta.

AS THE PIONEER COACH in the Atlanta area in the years in which only Booker T. Washington High School served the Negro ghetto, Baker watched the climb of his coaches to excellence at Davis T. Howard, Henry McNeal Turner, Luther Judson Price, George Washington Carver, Samuel H. Archer, and C. L. Harper high schools.

Yet he touched bases in officiating, policy-making and development in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and throughout the nation.

It will be a deserving tribute for L. C. Baker, the father of all Atlanta coaches.

OLD MONGOOSE Archie Moore, internationally known San Diego, California, retired light heavyweight, boxing champion of the world, recently told the San Diego Union that everybody must take a stand in the internal crisis which our nation is faced.

"The devil is at work in America, and it is up to us to drive him out. Spillers and looters, white or black, deserve no mercy. Those who would profit from their brother's misfortunes deserve no mercy, and those who would set fellow Americans upon each other deserve no mercy."

"I'll fight the man who calls me an Uncle Tom. I have broken bread with heads of state, chatted with presidents and traveled all over the world. I was born in a ghetto, but I refuse to stay there. I am a Negro, and proud to be one. I am also an American, and I'm proud of that."

"The young people of today think they have a hard lot. They should have been around in the '30s when I was coming up in St. Louis. We had no way to go, but a lot of us made it because light heavyweight champion of the world, A. neighbor kid down the block Clark Terry, became one of the most famous jazz musicians in the world. There were doctors, lawyers and chief who came out of that ghetto. One of the top politicians in St. Louis came from our neighborhood."

Florida A & M To Play Night Football Games

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — After a decade of daytime football in the home stadium the Florida A&M University Rattlers will play all but one of their 1967 home games at night under the lights recently installed in Bragg Memorial Stadium.

Night games should provide more of our fans, especially those who work during the day, the opportunity to see more games than they've seen in the past.

Night home games tentatively scheduled for 1967 include: South Carolina State College on September 23, Southern University on November 11, and Bethune-Cookman College on November 18.

After Talking To Beatles Of "Peace," Blows His Cool

LONDON — (UPI) — Self-styled Indian love mystic Maharshi Mahesh, who sold the Beatles on a life of peace and harmony, turned the London airport into a turmoil Sept. 1. It was far from the practice he preaches.

He turned up without a ticket or reservation, lost his passport at the last minute, failed to board his plane on time, disappeared from the customs building to hand out flowers, then delayed the plane another 20 minutes posing for photographs while his fellow passengers and airport officials made angry remarks and gestures.

The Beatles did not see him off. The Maharshi met with the Beatles before leaving for the airport. They plan to go to India to study with him for two months. He is returning to "spend the rest of my life in transcendental meditation."

Homecoming has been set this year for November 4 with Alabama State College providing the opposition.

Oakland Clippers Capture NPSL Title From Baltimore Bays 4-1

OAKLAND, Calif. — (UPI) — The Oakland Clippers overwhelmed the Baltimore Bays, 4-1, Saturday to capture the first championship of the National Professional Soccer League.

Right halfback Bragan Djukic provided all the offensive punch the Californians needed as he tallied three goals in the first half. Edgar Marin, outside right, scored the final goal for Oakland in the second half.

A crowd of 9,037 watched Oakland, champions of the Western Division, win the final game of the two-game series. Baltimore captured the first playoff game 1-0 and Oakland had to beat the Bays by at least two goals Saturday to take the title on the basis of most goals scored.

Djukic tallied his first goal at 27 minutes of the first half from eight yards out following a pass from left halfback Trond Hofsvold. His second goal came on an almost identical head shot in the 35th minute.

Djukic's third goal was scored with seven minutes left in the first period on a 12-yard penalty shot. The free kick was awarded the Clippers following a tripping foul inside the penalty line by Baltimore right fullback Badu Da Cruz.

Baltimore's only goal was scored in the 41st minute by Guy St. Vil on a five-yard head shot.

Edgar Marin, the smallest player in the NPSL, scored the final goal in the 13th minute of the final stanza when he netted the ball from eight yards out.

Lief Klassen, the Swedish center forward for Baltimore, was forced to sit out the entire first half due to an ankle injury which he suffered last week. He entered the contest with 21 minutes remaining, but was unable to get the Bays moving.

Secretary Freeman To Visit South Carolina, Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has invited members of the Georgia and South Carolina press, radio, and television media to join him in a "look and listen" rural areas development tour through the two states next Thursday and Friday, Sept. 18-19.

The South Carolina trip on Sept. 18 by bus and plane starts at 9:30 a.m., at Congress Iron and Steel Company adjacent to McIntire Field near Columbia. It will include stops in Sumter, Pickens, Oconee, and Anderson counties.

The Georgia trip will begin Sept. 18, after an overnight stay in Augusta, at the Continental Airport Motel at Bush Field at 4:45 a.m. A bus tour will include Jefferson, Washington, and Baldwin counties. The Agriculture Secretary will board his plane for a return flight to Washington, D. C. at Macon.

The Georgia and South Carolina tours are a continuation of Secretary Freeman's "look and listen" tour to inspect rural development progress and problems in various states. He inaugurated the tour in June with a 4-state trip that included rural Alabama, Mississippi, Indiana, and Iowa. He is concluding a 2-day tour of Texas.

One objective of the tours, Secretary Freeman said, will be to see how federal programs now in operation are working.

He noted that current programs represent a "small, but important beginning" toward the revitalization of small towns and farming areas, which he believes is necessary if the nation is to check the current trend that is forcing too many people into too little space in the big cities and to meet the challenge of a population of 300 million people by the year 2000.

The Secretary is accompanied on his tour by officials of USDA from Washington an dthe field, and other federal agencies.

"We want to find out how effective current programs are in meeting the needs of rural citizens, especially those in the lower income brackets," he said. "We want to discuss the problems encountered in getting federal help; to see how federal personnel are working together with people and communities and to find out what must be done to enable private citizens and local officials to build modern, self-sufficient communities of tomorrow."

Another of his objectives, the Secretary said, will be to gather information that might be useful at a national symposium on what the Secretary terms rural-urban balance, called by six cabinet officers, including himself. It will be held during the week of Dec. 11 in Washington.

Florida A & M Rattlers Boast Blue Chip Players

TALLAHASSEE — Blue Chip status on a football team is a rare commodity, but the Florida A and M Rattlers, although lacking in depth in many positions, can boast of quite a few blue chippers on the offensive and defensive teams.

Blue Chip status is reserved for those players who can achieve it because of their ability on the gridiron. It is a tacit bestowal of respect and admiration by the coaches and players to those members of the squad who have earned it through their performance since they've been Rattlers.

Starting with the defensive line, one player stands out, he's good and the Rattlers know it. They call him "The Monster," and that's just what he is when he grabs an opponent who unfortunately happens to be running with the ball, and he grabs them often. Rudolph "monster" Sims, a 250 pound defensive guard has been a blue chipper since his freshman season.

A former all state tackle from Blake High School in Tampa, he is considered by many pro scouts as a cinch for the big time. Although he weighs 250 pounds, Sims can still run the 40 yard dash in less than five seconds.

Playing next to Sims at the other defensive guard slot is Richard Ford, 222 pound senior from Boca Raton. He earned Blue Chip status last year, when his players voted him "defensive lineman of the year." Fast and rugged, Ford and Sims will make Rattler opponents think twice before running up the middle.

In the defensive backfield, three Rattlers have been hauling down enemy passes for the last three years. Leading the group is Major Hazelton, a 190 pound gazelle who runs the hundred yard dash in 9.7. Rookie of the year in his freshman season, defense back of the year last season, and named to the first team on the all SIAC squad last season. Last year he picked off seven enemy passes to lead the Rattlers in that department and run his three year total to 12.

Joining Hazelton in the backfield are Eddie Cooper and Nathaniel James. Cooper, 185 pounds from Plant City plays safety, a spot usually reserved for a sure tackler with speed to burn. Cooper ranks high in both categories. He runs the hundred in 9.8 and last year against Tennessee State intercepted four passes to run his total to six for the season. James is the most vicious tackle of the three.

A teammate of Hazelton in high school, he now plays opposite Hazelton at the defensive halfback position.

Three sophomores practically earned Blue Chip status last season in their first years. If they can escape the sophomore jinx, they should make it this year. Glen Edwards, halfback from St. Petersburg, Melvin Rogers, 210 pound defensive end, and Horace Lewis, 220 pound offensive tackle from Savannah, Ga. All three are labeled as potential stars by Rattler coaches.

John caught 30 passes last season for 583 yards and seven touchdowns, most of his receptions came at crucial points in the ball game like the 44 yard touchdown pass he caught against Bethune-Cookman last season to bring the Rattlers from behind and put them in front to stay. He ranked 13th in the nation in punting last year with 43 punts for 1994 yards for a 43.3 average, and was selected to the Pittsburgh Courier All-American team.

In the offensive backfield, Herbert Ginn, 180 pounds from Savannah, Ga. was key man last season. Ginn led the Rattlers in rushing with 398 yards in 68 carries for a 4.5 average. He was selected as the back of the year by his teammates. Robert Lampton, 220 pound fullback from New York City, took over for injured Preston Johnson last season and now has decided that he wants to remain. An excellent blocker and rusher, Lampton will be hard to move.

Florida A & M Rattlers Boast Blue Chip Players

TALLAHASSEE — Blue Chip status on a football team is a rare commodity, but the Florida A and M Rattlers, although lacking in depth in many positions, can boast of quite a few blue chippers on the offensive and defensive teams.

Blue Chip status is reserved for those players who can achieve it because of their ability on the gridiron. It is a tacit bestowal of respect and admiration by the coaches and players to those members of the squad who have earned it through their performance since they've been Rattlers.

Starting with the defensive line, one player stands out, he's good and the Rattlers know it. They call him "The Monster," and that's just what he is when he grabs an opponent who unfortunately happens to be running with the ball, and he grabs them often. Rudolph "monster" Sims, a 250 pound defensive guard has been a blue chipper since his freshman season.

A former all state tackle from Blake High School in Tampa, he is considered by many pro scouts as a cinch for the big time. Although he weighs 250 pounds, Sims can still run the 40 yard dash in less than five seconds.

Playing next to Sims at the other defensive guard slot is Richard Ford, 222 pound senior from Boca Raton. He earned Blue Chip status last year, when his players voted him "defensive lineman of the year." Fast and rugged, Ford and Sims will make Rattler opponents think twice before running up the middle.

In the defensive backfield, three Rattlers have been hauling down enemy passes for the last three years. Leading the group is Major Hazelton, a 190 pound gazelle who runs the hundred yard dash in 9.7. Rookie of the year in his freshman season, defense back of the year last season, and named to the first team on the all SIAC squad last season. Last year he picked off seven enemy passes to lead the Rattlers in that department and run his three year total to 12.

Joining Hazelton in the backfield are Eddie Cooper and Nathaniel James. Cooper, 185 pounds from Plant City plays safety, a spot usually reserved for a sure tackler with speed to burn. Cooper ranks high in both categories. He runs the hundred in 9.8 and last year against Tennessee State intercepted four passes to run his total to six for the season. James is the most vicious tackle of the three.

A teammate of Hazelton in high school, he now plays opposite Hazelton at the defensive halfback position.

Three sophomores practically earned Blue Chip status last season in their first years. If they can escape the sophomore jinx, they should make it this year. Glen Edwards, halfback from St. Petersburg, Melvin Rogers, 210 pound defensive end, and Horace Lewis, 220 pound offensive tackle from Savannah, Ga. All three are labeled as potential stars by Rattler coaches.

John caught 30 passes last season for 583 yards and seven touchdowns, most of his receptions came at crucial points in the ball game like the 44 yard touchdown pass he caught against Bethune-Cookman last season to bring the Rattlers from behind and put them in front to stay. He ranked 13th in the nation in punting last year with 43 punts for 1994 yards for a 43.3 average, and was selected to the Pittsburgh Courier All-American team.

In the offensive backfield, Herbert Ginn, 180 pounds from Savannah, Ga. was key man last season. Ginn led the Rattlers in rushing with 398 yards in 68 carries for a 4.5 average. He was selected as the back of the year by his teammates. Robert Lampton, 220 pound fullback from New York City, took over for injured Preston Johnson last season and now has decided that he wants to remain. An excellent blocker and rusher, Lampton will be hard to move.

MRS. AND MRS. ANDERSON BRIDGES had as their house guest last week pretty MRS. ED CLAYTON, one of the Brister twins who still operates a newspaper started by her late husband in Atlanta.

NEAL HOGAN, a former Marquette student, passed and stopped to talk to me last week. The handsome young lad is now in social work in Chicago.

Back into Mrs. Joseph Lanier Sr. in the new Lowensteins last Wednesday. To find that the Lanier children, Mrs. Frances Grimes, a teacher in the New York school system; Mrs. Ezelle L. Green, also a teacher in New York; and Joseph Lanier Jr. an Los Angeles business man were here for a family reunion while I was away. I was especially fond of Frances who was a baby when we lived next door to them on Walker and spent much of her time on the front with me.

The eminent DR. FRED PATTERSON, former president of Tufts, was in town last week and was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Molly Price on the LeMayne College campus. On his last evening here Dr. Patterson took Mrs. Julian Kelsa, an old friend out to dinner.

MRS. ELLIA FLEMING spoke again (and he is an excellent speaker) for the Main Tower Baptist Church in St. Louis where he was later honored at a reception. Mr. Fleming, talented musician and orator, is a city school teacher.

MR. AND MRS. EARL GILLIAM of Scottsdale, Ariz. (a suburb of Phoenix) were in town twice this summer for a visit with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gilliam of 1233 South Parkway East. The charming couple are natives of South Carolina as Mr. Gilliam is but moved to Arizona from Connecticut. Mrs. Gilliam attended the Delta convention this summer, returning by the way of Ann Arbor where she was driven home by her handsome and brilliant son, Art who has a new car after receiving his masters in Actuary Science at the University of Michigan. Mrs. Gilliam accompanied her husband, an official in the Universal Life to the National Insurance Convention in New Orleans' Jung Hotel. Mr. Art Gilliam Jr. is back working with the Universal as manager of the Claims Department and as assistant actuary.

In town last week was DR. J. B. MARTIN JR., who visited his uncles, Dr. B. B. Martin and Dr. A. T. Martin and spent time with a close friend and roommate, Mr. Maceo Walker.

DR. AND MRS. FRED RIVERS COMPLIMENT VISITING RELATIVES

A guy and very small gathering was the one given on Wednesday two weeks ago by Dr. and Mrs. Fred Rivers who honored their cousins, MR. AND MRS. MAJOR SPENCER SANDERS of Henderson, N. C. at their South Parkway Villa just redecorated. Guests included those who met the couple on previous visits.

The bar was attended by white coated bar tenders who went thru the crowd to please. Assisting Mrs. Rivers were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Cash and her husband, who was his usual gracious self. Food was the most and caterers were there all evening. The group came casual.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN who will be much missed around Memphis is the late MR. LOUIS SADDLER, who passed away suddenly at a Memphis hospital after having been ill only a few minutes before he was taken to the hospital. One could always look for a smile from Mr. Saddler who comes from a pioneer and prominent family. For the past years he and his charming wife, Mrs. Georgia Saddler (one of the nation's best caterers) lived in Chicago. Hundreds of friends went to R. S. Lewis' Funeral Home to view the remains showing the esteem in which he was held. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. O. B. Braithwaite, Mrs. Olivia Lewis, a nephew, Mr. Frederick Rivers and a niece, Mrs. Harry Cash.

Stalin's Wife, Beria Described First, in Book

NEW YORK — (UPI)—The suicide of Josef Stalin's wife and the "oriental perfidy, flattery and hypocrisy" of Lavrenti Beria were described by the late Soviet dictator's daughter in the first installment of her book, published in Life magazine.

The book, called "Twenty Letters to a Friend," was brought to the United States in manuscript form by Svetlana Alliluyeva when she left her homeland earlier this year. It is being published by Life and the New York Times in serialized form prior to publication next month in book form by Harper and Row.

The opening installment contained an account of the death of her mother, Nadya, following a quarrel with Stalin over her refusal to drink liquor at a banquet. She also told of the intense hatred both she and her mother felt for Lavrenti Beria, the secret police chief who was executed shortly after Stalin's death.

Beria, Madame Alliluyeva said, was "extremely agitated" as her father lay dying from a stroke, with officials, household members and nervous doctors crowded around him.

"He was trying so hard at this moment to strike exactly the right balance, to be cunning but not too cunning," she wrote.

Later, after Stalin had died, "the silence around the deathbed was shattered by his loud voice, the ring of triumph unceasing, as he shouted: 'Khrushchov! My car!'"

She also blamed "this monster" for many of the mass arrests and wholesale executions for which Stalin was condemned after his death.

"He, Beria was a magnificent specimen of the arid courtier, the embodiment of oriental perfidy, flattery and hypocrisy who had succeeded in confounding even my father," she said.

After she was grown, she said, her father himself told her how her mother had objected to Beria's occasional presence in their country home.

Either Beria or Stalin himself was blamed by Madame Alliluyeva for the death or imprisonment of

Morehouse Gets 14 New Teachers

ATLANTA, Ga.—(SNS)—Fourteen new teachers have been added to the Morehouse College faculty for the academic year 1967-68, according to Dr. Hugh M. Glosier, president of the institution.

Each new faculty member has studied beyond the master's degree. Five are members of Phi Beta Kappa, and six have earned doctoral degrees. The percentage of doctorates on the faculty remains at 54, and Phi Beta Kappa keyholders now number eleven.

Joining the Department of English are Dr. Lola G. Kropa (B. A., Grambling College; M. A., University of Wisconsin; M. A. Atlanta University); and Albert E. Wilhelm (B. A., University of Tennessee; M. A., University of North Carolina; Ph.D., candidate, University of North Carolina).

Two part-time teachers, Mrs. Kathryn Harris (B.A., Newcomb College; M.A., University of California; Ph.D. candidate, Emory University) and Mrs. Linda G. Zatliff (B.A., University of Maryland; M.A., Emory University), have also been assigned to the English Department.

Mrs. Charlye T. Edwards (B. A., Spelman College; M. A., Atlanta University) will teach reading.

The Department of Mathematics has acquired two new teachers — Dr. Louis Paduo (B. S., Fairleigh-Dickinson University; M. S., Stanford University; Ph.D., Georgia Institute of Technology) and Charles Nygg (B. S., Swarthmore College; M.S., University of Michigan; Ph.D. candidate, University of Michigan).

The Departments of Economics, Biology, Psychology, Physical Education, Political Science, and History have one new faculty member each.

Economics — Dr. David E. Kilder (A.B., Swarthmore College; Ph.D., Massachusetts Institute of Technology).

Biology — Dr. Emanuel U. Enl (B.S., M.S., Howard University, Sc. D. Johns Hopkins University).

Psychology — Dr. Gary A. Tollman (B. S., M.S., Ph.D., University of Georgia).

Phy. Ed. — Frank Merohant (B. S., M.S., Florida A&M University). Pol. Sci. — Abraham L. Davis (B. A., Morehouse College; M. S., University of Wisconsin; Ph.D. candidate at Ohio State University).

History — George Mason Miller (B.A., Livingston College; M. A., University of North Carolina; M.A., American University).

Replacing French teacher Morris Dillard, who is to leave this year to study toward the Ph.D. at Emory University, is Miss Anita Henry (B.A., M.A., Emory University).

Returning to the French Department is Dr. Laura O. Pinto (Doctorate of Letters, University of Rome, Italy), who taught at Morehouse from 1963 to 1966.

After a year's study toward the Ph.D. degree in mathematics at Pennsylvania State University, William A. Johnson returns to the Department of Mathematics.

In addition to teaching personnel there have been two new appointments. Benjamin Graham, Jr. B. S., Savannah State College; further study, University of Georgia, Georgia Institute of Technology, and the University of Omaha) has joined the staff as an accountant in the Business Office. Clark Everett (B. A., Morehouse College; M.A., Atlanta University) has assumed duties as news representative and assistant in alumni relations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willis and their tall handsome son, Archie Mrs. Carrie Horton of Chicago, Mrs. Harry Cash, Mrs. Lawrence Patterson, Mrs. Rivers, Mrs. O. B. Braithwaite, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Royers and Mr. and Mrs. Alonza Weaver.

The couple drove to Connecticut where both attend Wesleyan in a brand new Oldsmobile given them by the bride's parents Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Byas, Sr. The bride is a special student at Wesleyan. She plans a medical career — following in the footsteps of her father and late grandfather and his brothers.

ZETAS CLOSE SUMMER ORIENTATION PROGRAM

GOLDSBORO, N. C.—The Zeta Phi Beta Sorority held its culminating exercises for the Eight Week "Summer Orientation Urban Project" recently at the Thomas Hotel in Goldsboro, North Carolina.

This project was financed by the United States Department of Labor, Office of Man Power Policy Evaluation and Research. This was "A Demonstration Project for Summer Urban Orientation and Work Experiences for Rural Youth Urban Work Experiences away from the farm, Urban Living Experiences in a dormitory, Cultural experiences and tutorial aid in academic school subjects where they found most difficulty.

The Experimental Groups consisted of twenty girls and ten boys between the ages of 18 and 18 years old. They had to be unmarried, in regular attendance at school during regular school year and expressed a desire to cooperate with the project.

They were recruited from high schools in the communities located in close proximity to Goldsboro, N. C. They were required to have had ten years of formal school training and come from lower income families. The girls were required to live in a dormitory with supervision. The boys commuted each day.

The enrollees were given many tests and basic orientation in the fundamentals of good workmanship before being allowed to go out in the city to work. They spent the day working on a variety of work projects in the city of Goldsboro. At four o'clock in the afternoon they returned to Orientation Headquarters for dinner, recreation, and study. During study hours they received remedial help in Mathematics, English, Music and the Development of Good Study Habits.

During the eight weeks these youth were given Travel Experiences to the Capitol city of North Carolina. They visited The State Legislature, The Department of Education, The State Museum of Art, The College Campuses, and the State Parks.

These experiences did much to broaden the horizon of these youth.

The Director of the "Summer Orientation Project for Rural Youth" was Miss Jean Anne Lewis from New York City. The Supervisor and Educational Director of the Project was Mrs. Ethel Baldwin from Goldsboro, N. C. The female instructors of the staff were members of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. The Director of recreation and the cafeteria staff were all regularly employed teachers of the Goldsboro Public School System, who volunteered in their summer vacation time to help improve the study and work habits of these youths as an Experimental Project.

The following Institutions cooperated with the Experimental Project and the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority by giving work opportunities for the participating youth. The E. A. House Boy's Club, The Family Service Center, The Home for the Aged, The OBerry School for the Mentally Retarded, the O'Berry - Cherry Hospital, Reliability Center and the Seymour Johnson Air Force Base Center. All of these institutions gave very high praise to the youth and their advisors for the way the project was administered and the pleasing work attitudes of these youth under the direction of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority and the Federal Government.

Use Small Churches, Don't Abandon Them, Writer Urges

PARK RIDGE, Ill.—It is a mistake to abandon small churches, even those serving as few as 50 members, says a pastor who takes issue with denominational leaders who move to do away with struggling, dwindling congregations.

Even though it is unlikely that such churches will ever again support a full program, the Rev. William S. Early proposes that they be retained as "memorial chapels."

Writing in the August 24 Christian Advocate, the Rev. Mr. Early reminds readers of their "backlog a memories dear to each community" and that many have adjoining cemeteries.

"With all th ecries to save everything from the sequoias of California to old churns, and with national and state shrines springing up all over the country," he challenges, "why not a movement to save these churches?"

The Rev. Mr. Early, pastor of the 217 member Methodist Church in the southwestern Indiana town of Carlisle (population 755), asks if it is "being practical to abandon a well - kept church, a resting place of saints, a century of memories, not to mention a foothold in a community." In his article, LET'S SAVE OUR SMALL CHURCHES, he proposes that the property of congregations not self-sustaining be designated as "memorial chapels" and that the members affiliate with stronger churches in neighboring communities.

COPENHAGEN — UPI—A car jampacked with 10 young people skidded off a road, overturned and smashed into a tree Thursday. Two men died. Rescuers, who had to use crawlers, and winches to pry out the passengers, said it was a miracle that more were not killed.

ASKED PERMISSION

TOKYO — UPI—The United States formally asked Japan Thursday for permission for the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise and other nuclear - powered surface vessels to make port calls here. Despite expected leftist opposition, a government spokesman said there was no objection to the ships visiting. The Enterprise is now on station off the coast of Vietnam.
