Letter Charges Lawson In Error

A letter, signed by Jean Jacque-line Desaline, criticized Rev. James M. Lawson Jr. this week for saying "envy and jealousy" helped defeat Atty. A. W. Willis Jr. in his bid for the magneshine Atty. A. W. Willis for the mayorship. The letter carried the address of

NEW HOUSE OF WORSHIP on South Parkway East at Oak awn, in the Negro "upper crust" area, is the Christ Baptist Church pastored by the Rev. Eddie Currie, who also serves as director of the Urban League's Project Assist. A former city school teacher and ex-pastor of a church in Brownsville, Rev. Mr. Currie organized Christ Baptist several months ago and located on Alcy Road. The new Parkway site is spacious and services presently are being held in the large house that stradles the newly acquired land.

A CAT IS BUT A CAT until he used bad judgment and then he becomes the object of great concern. Such was the case last weekend of Boris, a big gray pet and handsome to boot, who raams the LeMoyne College campus with complete freedom. The stupid rascal got tired of chasing birds and crawled through a small opening into the tiny attic of the three-story-high social science building and there begins the story. He couldn't get out. Or wouldn't. He stayed up there most of Sunday, all of Sunday night and part of Monday meowing himself hoarse. To the rescue Monday afternoon went Vern Hagen, a young professor in the social science department, who squirmed through a makeshift opening, retrieved the friendly Boris and returned him to safety. Assisting Mr. Hagen was another young instructor, Michael Johnson.

Charlie Morris Hit By Threats In Dist. 7 Race

Mrs. Alma Morris, a North Memphis barber and campaign manager for her husband, insuranceman Charlie F. Morris Sr., told the Memphis World this week that she and Mr. Morris have received several threatening telephone calls and

Mr. Morris will be in the Nov. run-off with state representative J. O. Patterson Jr. for a seat in the new City Council from District 7. This is one of the two all-Negro

Mrs. Morris said one wire received by her husband read: "Congratulations. Stop."

She said threatening phone calls started before the primary voting and that they are receiving even

"One woman called," she said, "and warned that something dras-tic would happen to Mr. Morris if he didn't withdraw."

"We don't scare easily," Mrs. Morris added. "My husband is in the race to stay, not because of pay but because of his desire to serve his community and the City of Memphis."

The District 7 race will be one of the most heated contests in the Nov. 2 run-off. In the Oct. 5 primary, Patterson polled 2,821 votes to 2,466 for Morris, Eliminated were Pickett, 1,558, and E. T. Hunt, 664. Three eliminated white candidates produced a total of 3,479.

There are 17,152 Negro voters in th deistrict and 11,822 white voters. More than half of the eligible voters did not go to the polls. Patterson showed strength in the Beale-Linden-Vance area whereas Morris was strongest in North

Both candidates are now con-tending for votes produced by the losers in the primary as well as urging uninterested voters to go to the polls on Nov. 2.

Ohio and moved to Nashville with her parents in 1963. In 1964, she was graduated from Pearl High School as an honor student. She entered A.&I. that fall in the university's honor program. She was recently admitted to the teacher education program,

She was a university counselor vice president of the marching band, and as a junior, was elected to "Who's Who in American Col-leges and Universities." She was a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and of Sigma Delta Pi, a Spanish honor society.

Investigating officers said Miss Gilliam had undergone psychiatric treatments earlier this year for "a depressive reaction."

Four students, witnessed her death. They said she "became limp" while sitting on a window sill and "rolled out."

The witnesses said Miss Gilliam had been upset earlier because some of the majorette uniforms were missing. She was reported in charge of the uniforms.

But, not before Mr. Evers challenged Mr. Richards to "put someone on this program who is in favor of Ingram.' "Call me tomerrow and we'll talk about that," Mr. Richards told Mr.

In his closing statement, Mr. Evers said to Attorney Willis: "A. W., why don't you tell those 17,000 000 who voted for you in the primary to go to the polls Nov. 2 and vote for Ingram?"

As an after thought, Mr. Evers asked Attorney Willis: "Why don't you come on out and say Ingram is the best man for Mayor?'

Mr. Willis made himself clean early in the program that he was not supporting Ingram and that he was not supporting Henry Loeb "Mr. Loeb is a segregationist and so is Mr. Ingram," he declared. "Ingram has not done that much for Negroes," he added.

In reference to the rumor that Loeb had "brought him for $35,000," Willis said: "No. one can buy me I don't need Loeb's money. I have no respect for Henry Loeb at all." Mrs. Willis said he will be the first to petition the new City Council to conduct its meetings at night "so that Negroes may attend the sessions. We don't want midday meetings when most Negroes in this brain-washed town will not be able to attend."

"No matter who is elected Mayor, Ingram or Loeb, we are going to march on City Hall every week and give this city some democracy.' Willis declared.

ELEANOR

friendship I have cherished thru' the years. She and her husband are two fine people; but they are ridiculously over indulgent with their ten-year-old son; it worries for the child, if the parents don't change their method of dicipline.

I often try to help with suggestions but they don't seem to ever get my points. What is your opinion of such parents?

ANSWER: This is a particularly severe problem in these affluent permissive days. Many parents who can afford it grant every wish of their children, even their unspoken desires. They over protect as well as overgratify their children sheltering them from the jungle reality of life.

These children are not egipped to compete when they are outside the home, even during their school days. Mother and Dad may fight their battle with teachers, with other students and even with their own neighborhood friends. Given no responsibilities, with every whim gratified and believing that they are to be granted special dispensetion throughout life, these children are destined to experience many frustrations and much unhar me s later in life. They are certain'y going to develop many psychosomatic problems and neurores. They may become problem children and find find themselves in the children's courts or problem adults in even more serious troubles.

These apparently "model" parents have not learned the importevery whim or in the effort to that on me when my partner at a buy the child's affection.

John was a heroin addict, despite the fact of his fine home and habit during one of the lavish of age, this fine boy was well on He had been provided with every comfort, and nothing had been denied to him. DEAR ELEANOR: Quite often the occasion, arises that one cannot remember a person's name altho' the face is familiar. Please give some points as to how to remember names.

ANSWER: No one is ever pleased to say "I know your face I just can't recall your name" Tactful can't recall your name" Tactful if we build up an over-expectation people who aren't infallible about of what it might do." names work out a technique for coping with these bad moments. If you are warmly greeted by some one whose name - or maybe face too, - you can't recall, say something harmless such as "Nice world peace. to see you" or "You're looking well." Then while quite attentive, let the other person do the talking until he or she gives a clue as to identity. Let us hope he doesn't say, "You don't remember me" do you for your own expression should indicate you remember him well and favorably. If you have trouble remembering the names that match the faces, always help out the other person who is probably suffering from the same thing. Never say "Do you remember"? or "You don't know who I am, do you"? Instead, in reeting people you haven't seen for sometime or whom you are meeting outside of your usual place of encounter, identify yourself quickly and gracefully. "How do you do, Mr. Burton," "I'm Joseph Bye of Arbor Mills. ANSWER: Living alone in a big city is for most girls who try it disillusioning experience. Ever if they are able to find and furnish - and support - attractive apartments all by themselves, they find that the drawbacks of living alone are, among other things, loneliness, inertia concerning household chores, and lack of at least implied protection.

A girl with her own apartment in a city is not insured against loneliness. If she does stay home slone, she listens for the telephone, and if it doesn't ring, she feels abandoned. If she takes advantage of her ability to act as a hostess and invites a young man home to dinner she runs the risk of being able to keep the rest of the evening on the easy pleasant basis she desired. Too many young men, finding themselves in a girl's bachelor apartment without the steadying presence of other guests, imagine that more than conversation is expected of them.

GOP Senator Aiken Disgusted With Rush Over Viet Showdown

WASHINGTON — UPI — the dean of Senate Republicans expressed disgust Oct. 13 with Secretary of State Dean Rusk's continued unwillingness to force a United Nations, showdown with Russia over the Vietnam war.

While Sen, George E. Aigen, R-Vt. rejected Rusk's bold clarifica-tion of Vietnam policy, Sen, Gate McGee, D-Wyo, applauded it as a long-delayed response to what he called the "arrogance of dissent." Their contrasting views were given in separate interviews follow.ng the secretary's Thursday hews conference in which he stressed that American security is at stake in the Asian conflict. Rusk said the United States is fighting to prevent possible domination of free Asians by a nuclear-armed Red China that will have one billion people in 10 to 20 years.

WORLD SUPREME COURT TO RESTUDY AID TO CHURCH-SCHOOLS

Cutcome Could Have Widespread Repercussions In Other Programs

By CHARLOTTE G. MOULTON

WASHINGTON-(UPI)-The Supreme Court announced Monday it will decide this term whether precedent-setting 1965 legislation allowing, federal aid to church-operated schools is con-brought an appeal, claiming that the school program violates the First Amendment mandate requiring separation of church and state. The court agreed to hear oral arguments on the issue and hand down a written opinion lat-

The outcome of the case could have widespread repercussions on other federal assistance to colleges and universities and antipoverty programs such as Head Start.

Enactment of the 1965 legislation ended a long congressional stalemate over federal school aid by a compromise formula which allowed allocation of funds on an individual pupil basis rather than directly to parochial schools.

CHALLENGE MONEY USES

The New Yorker challenged the use of federal money for such items as textbooks, instruction aids and library materials. They cited the First Amendment language which declares: "Congress shall make no law respecting an est-ablishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

A special three - judge federal court in New York ruled against them 2 to 1 on grounds of a 1923 Supreme Court decision that a taxpayer suit must be based on specific damages to the challen-

The New Yorkers who brought the suit were: Albert Shanker, president of the United Federation of Teachers: Frank Abrams and C. Irving Dwork, officials of the American Jewish Congress; Mrs. Florine Levin and Helen L. Buttenwieser from the New York Civil Liberties Union, and Mrs. Helen D. Hankin, members of the United Parents Association.

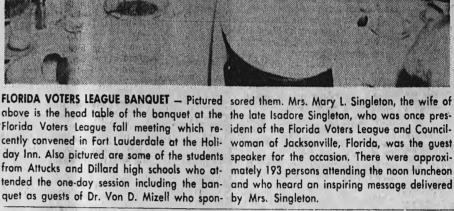

OTHER COURT ACTIONS

In other actions, the court: Reversed the murder conviction of Johnny Coleman, an Alabama Negro who claimed there was racial discrimination in selection of juries which indicted him and found him guilty of the 1961 slaying of a white man.

- Set aside a $75,000 libel judement won in Louisiana courts by former Mai, Gen. Edwin A. Walker against the Associated Press and the Times - Picayune Publishing Corp. In an unsigned opinion, the justices pointed to their decision last term that a public figure such as Walker cannot collect damages unless he can prove malice on the part of those making statements about him.

- Let stand an Arkansas conviction of a Negro comle on charges they contributed to the delinquency of minors at an interracial party in Little Rock. Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Dokes claimed police had invaded their apartment in a public housing project without a warrant or invitation.

Rev. Richard Wurmbrand, who testified before the Senate Security Sub-Committee in 1968, will be accompanied to Atlanta by anticommunist evangelist Billy James Hargis, founder-director of the Christian Crusade organization who will sponsor the local appearance of the two preachers.

One of Rumania's most widely known Christian leaders, author and educators, Rev. Wrumbrand taught Old Testament history in the Baptist Seminary in Bucharest before the Communist take-over of his native country, In 1945, following the Communist seizure of Rumania, Rev. Wurmbrand began a secret, "underground" ministry beth to captive Rumanians and to Russian soldiers in the invasion force Arrested in 1948, he was committed to prison where he served 3 years in solitary confinement and 5 additional years in 'mass' cells during which he was subjected to 'medieval tortures", according to his testimony before the Senate sub committee and as proof of which he hared his hody above the waist where committee members counted more than a dozen deep scars. His wife was also imprisoned in 1948 and separately imprisoned.

Released in 1957, Rev. Wurmbrand promptly resumed his underground work. He was rearrested in 1959 and sentenced to 25 years in prison. In 1964, however, he was released during a general amnesty, and again resumed his underground work. Finally, in 1964, in danger of a third capture and imprisonment, Christian friends in Norway negotiated for his release through payment of a $7,000 "ransom" to Rumanian communist authorities.

In the United States, Rev. Wurm brand is pursuing his support of the underground church activities which, he says, are being continued vigorously behing the Iron Ourtain. The Atlanta-area Congressman told the Headland Civic Club that federal road construction schedules have already been thrown behind schedule almost a year by a "freeze" last November in the spending of highway trust funds. Now, he said, the Administration is "threatening" to do the same thing again.

"Another freeze in federal-aid nighway construction will simply cause the motorists to suffer sevcral years longer in traffic jams," Thompson told the club members "So when you're caught in a traffic jam and fuming because you're running late, just think of the Johnson Administration"

Thompson said another "freeze" the Federal Highway Trust Fund in the Congress. He called the move "sheer blackmail."

"ear-marked" for highway use and cannot be used for any other purpose. So, he added, delaying their expenditure will not in the long run save money but it will make the public suffer.

Thompson contends the threat of another withholding of the funds was made this week in telegrams sent to all Governors by Transsald the Governors were asked what effect a 50 per cent reduction in on their state

"The inference was oh, so subtle, but the meaning was there," he declared,

He charged that withholding of the trust funds "is the same old

Voices From The Sixties" Off The Press

Michael Caine, Malcolm X, Lenny Bruce and Jean Shrimpton are just a few of the headline-making personalities who speak their minds in "Voices from the Sixties" col-lected and edited by Pierre Berton (Doubleday, Oct. 27). Berton, a noted Canadian author and TV star, selected 22 candid, in-depth interviews from tapes of his probing conversation-interview show on the Osnadian Broadcasting Co. His emphasis is on unusua people, people whose individual opinions and experiences have made the Sixties unique; as well as interviewing such well-known figures as Mort Sanl Ray Bradbury, Paul Anka and others, he also speaks with an English witch, a young unmarried mother, a civil rights worker, a juror on a murder trial all in an effort to show the currents, fads and preoccupations of this decade

Berton calls the Sixtles "a revo-lutionary decade," explaining: "The Youth revolution, the Negro revolution, the sexual revolution, the pop culture revolution - these form the threads of our time, and all are intertwined."

Pierre Berton has had a rich and varied career in Canadian com-munications media. At 31 he was the managing editor of Canada's largest magazine, MacLean's, and is the only Canadian newspaperman to win two National News-paper Awards in one year. His film, "City of Gold," a documentary on the Klondike gold rush, won the Grand Prix at the Cannes Film Festival. He has written several books, including "My War With the 20th Century" (1965); his musical comedy, "Paradise Hill," was produced in Canada this past summer. Mr. Berton lives in Kleinberg, Ontario.

Should every woman be a blonde?

Blonde hair is beautiful for those women whose natural color-ing it flatters. But not everyone should be a blonde. Expert beauticians know that complexion and hair color must complement each other to glamorize and bring out all the natural beauty that was meant to be. They also know that very coarse and dark hair often is resistant to drastic color changes. However, there's no doubt about slightly lighter hair adding excitement to a woman's appearance.
