Win Dunn Endorsed By Black Leaders!

A large group of black Memphis leaders today endorsed George W. Dunn, mayor, in his bid for the Democratic nomination. Thexffffffffing of the city and its surrounding areas has been substantial, with black leaders from various organizations backing Dunn.

The endorsement comes as Dunn faces opposition from local Democrats who are wary of his previous stance on segregation. Dunn has previously stated that he will continue to support the city's efforts to integrate schools and desegregate public facilities.

Dunn has been a strong supporter of civil rights and has worked to improve educational opportunities for black students. He has also been a vocal advocate for the rights of black workers and has supported efforts to increase minority representation in city government.

George W. Lee Backing Dunn

George W. Lee, Longtime Republican and political leader, endorsed George W. Dunn for Governor.

Lee is a respected figure in Republican politics and has served in a variety of roles, including as a member of the state Senate. He has also been a prominent figure in the city's community, serving as the president of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Lee's endorsement is significant given the party's recent success in attracting black voters. The party has been working to increase its support among black voters in order to win control of the state legislature.

Dunn World Endorses Dunn!

After careful consideration, the Memphis World this week endorsed George W. Dunn for Governor. The newspaper has been a vocal supporter of Dunn, and has praised his efforts to improve the city's schools and public facilities.

The newspaper has also been critical of Dunn's opponents, who have accused him of being too soft on segregation and race relations. Dunn has responded to these criticisms by emphasizing his commitment to integration and equal opportunity for all.

Memphis World, led by President Horton, has given salary hikes to 22 employees of the paper. The raises range from $1,000 to $5,000, and were given to employees in recognition of their contributions to the newspaper.

Pres. Horton Gives Salary Hikes To 22

President Colonel Horten has given salary increases to 22 employees of the newspaper. The raises range from $1,000 to $5,000, and were given to employees in recognition of their contributions to the newspaper.

Horton, who has been with the paper for 10 years, said the increases were given to employees in recognition of their hard work and dedication. The raises will go into effect next month.

WOJC PAY DAY ENDING?

If the state government is not able to make its payroll before the end of the month, the WOJC may have to begin laying off workers.

The state government has been unable to make its payroll for the past two months, and has been forced to furlough workers in order to cut costs. The state is facing a significant budget shortfall, and has been forced to cut services and reduce programs.

The state government is currently working with the governor's office to find a solution to the budget crisis. The governor has said that he will work with the legislature to find a way to fund the state government.

George Clark Is Elevated

George Clark, managing editor of the newspaper, has been named the new editor of the newspaper. Clark has been with the newspaper for 15 years and has held a variety of positions within the organization.

The newspaper has undergone significant changes in recent years, with new leadership and a focus on improving the quality of the publication. Clark's appointment is seen as a crucial step in the newspaper's efforts to improve and grow.

COURTROOM DRAMA — The trial of Miss Violet Smith, who is accused of being a key figure in the civil rights movement, has begun in Memphis. The trial is expected to last several weeks, and is being closely watched by civil rights activists and supporters of Smith.

The trial has been highly controversial, with some critics arguing that it is a political ploy by the state government to silence Smith and others who are advocating for civil rights.

The state government has argued that Smith is guilty of sedition and conspiracy, and that she should be held accountable for her role in the civil rights movement. Smith's supporters have argued that she is a hero and a symbol of the fight for justice and equality.
ENFORCING CIVIL RIGHTS

The United States has an imperative array of rights and responsibilities it has to uphold, including employment, housing, administration of justice, use of force, and protection from violence. These rights cannot be ignored upon the pretext of whatever, as the United States Congress has the power to enforce them through legislation and regulations.

There is a failure to apply the broadest conceptions of the Constitution in the enforcement of the laws. The President is exercising a narrow range of powers to support the enforcement of the laws. And yet we will note, moral leadership that Congress will have in the area of the law, which does indicate that this is not one of those cases where the President is only as strong as the President.

The crooked failure to implement civil rights legislation and inaction is a failure of the American people and of the federal bureaucracy, especially of White House leadership. There is some shrillness at the heart of government. Under four presidents there has been insufficiently aggressive enforcement of civil rights legislation, and enforcement. Not enough lawyers, no court of few, on ignored initiatives. Business is involved in equal hiring practices. We know. Courts have issued enforcement decisions, and some have been fairly well — on voting rights and school and hospital integration. Richard Nixon's effort isn't enough. President Nixon may have felt he was applying the pressures, and in our judgment the President could have been more committed leadership. Certainly the recent supreme court decision on school issues and the Office of Management and Budget, offer the opportunity for the President to be a leader and an evaluator in the very heart of affairs. We trust that the President and the federal government leadership always match the prescriptions of the world.
CAUTION

Giving a dictatorial City Council the final decision on life-and-death issues like fluoridation may be bad for the health of the people. The council is not the democratic process. If good health is more important to you than "farmer's vaccines," if you believe in "people of the people, for the people," keep this list of the names of the seven City Commissioners. If elected they will set up a referendum on fluoridation in our next election.

The President signed the Civil Rights Act of 1964 into law today. This act was passed by a large majority in Congress and is expected to have a significant impact on civil rights in the United States.
Monday Night Football Hangover

By the way

BY JOE BLACK

When was the last time you or your mother, father or daughter took a leisurely stroll through the neighborhood or the park...all alone? It is true, and so do you. And this answer is very closely related to the reason why so many black families today are choosing to socialize with lies and go out and about. It is not to protect themselves against the white man. They're seeking relaxation, a break from some of our very black brothers.

Think about that for a moment. Black communities have different social norms. Few women are being robbed, raped, and mugged and not immediately taken to the police station. It is also possible that more people are in the white community than in the black community. It is not because of social conditions in the first place. It's my opinion that the same double standard of justice has to be applied. But I think that more people are in the white community than in the black community. It is not because of social conditions in the first place. It's my opinion that the same double standard of justice has to be applied. It's true. Distinguishing real.

It is clear that the streets in the black community are a place where a black citizen is considered just as docile as a victim of crime committed against a white citizen. It is a black community that is responsible for our women and children are ever to walk our streets in safety again.
