SUGAR RAY ROBINSON WINS BY KAYO IN FIFTH

THE UNPRECEDENTED FOURTH TIME: Sugar Ray Robinson, as he looked before he knocked out Gene Fullmer Wednesday night to become middleweight champion of the world for the fourth time. The "ever alert" Robinson kayoed Fullmer in a fight that will no doubt be inked in fistic history.

ROBINSON STOPS FULLMER TO MAKE FISTIC HISTORY

BY JOHN BARRINGTON
International News Service Sports Editor
CHICAGO — (INS) — Sugar Ray Robinson, angry, tired and desperate, reached into some forgotten wellspring of his past youth and kayoed Gene Fullmer in the fifth round at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night to regain the world's Middleweight championship.

The finishing blow was a tremendous right, followed by a left hook that caught Fullmer flush on the chin with one minute and 27 seconds gone in the fifth. The 25-year-old West Jordan, Utah, strong boy crumpled slowly to the canvas. As referee Frank Sikora's toll mounted, Fullmer tried feebly to rise, but pitched forward on his face. Sugar Ray's seconds swarmed in, and the crowd of 12,000 went wild. It was the first kayo of Fullmer's 41-bout career, and it made Robinson, a dozen years Gene's senior and a 2 to 1 underdog, middleweight king for an unprecedented fourth time. When the knockout came, from somewhere in Robinson's long and Fulmer's fistic memory, the veteran — who will be either 36 or 37 years old Friday, seemed tired and to be suffering from an accidental blow delivered by Fullmer in the third round. The tip-off came in the fourth when Robinson staggered Fullmer. (Continued on Page Eight)

The Christian Test

Church Group Hits Race Segregation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — A strong stand against racial segregation was advocated by the Southern Presbyterians during the closing sessions of the 97th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., meeting at South Highland Presbyterian Church, this week.

The stand was taken after a few minutes debate on a report submitted to the body by a committee on "Christian Relations, which was headed by Col. Francis P. Miller of Charlottesville, Va.

The delegation also spoke out against the treatment of members of the Kolonla Farm at Americus, Ga., and advocated that the Supreme Court decision on public schools be followed.

While the Kolonla Farm was being discussed, Dr. Harry Pifford, pastor of Atlanta's First Presbyterian church, requested that a passage be stricken from the record which termed Kolonla residents model citizens on the grounds that the delegation could not judge without having knowledge of its operations.

The organization will strike out at the various means used to suppress certain racial groups, such as "poll tax, keeping secret time and place for registration, literacy tests, economic pressure and threats of violence."

The churchmen pointed out that Christians are supposed to be advocates of good fellowship. They added, it would not be conceivable

High Court Kills Segregation In School For Boys

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The United States Supreme Court, in a ruling here Monday, has thrown out segregation in a school endowed for orphans.

The judges in the highest tribunal were unanimous in their ruling that the board of directors of City Trust of Philadelphia, which administers a "school for poor white male orphans" is an agency of the state of Pennsylvania.

The Court ruled that the board's refusal to admit two boys to the school because they were Negroes was discrimination by the state.

In its ruling the Court cited the 1954 decision holding racial segregation in public schools unconstitutional.

Will Take Message To People By Radio And Television

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Eisenhower Wednesday launched a showdown battle with Congress over his legislative program which includes Civil Rights bills and the budget. The Chief Executive plans to take his next fight straight to the people through a series of radio-television speeches.

The Chief Executive, in combat condition after his Georgia vacation, told Republican legislative leaders he will carry directly to the people his struggle to prevent threatened deep cuts in his 71 billion, 802 million dollar budget.

News Secretary James C. Hagerly said the timing of the radio-television address is being worked out and that the President will seek support for his spending and legislative proposals "every time he talks in public from now until he wins the fight."

Hagerly said that Mr. Eisenhower will correct "a great deal of misinformation" which he feels has been spread about his record since time budget.

WOMEN VOTERS
And in the White House rose garden, where he talked to the National Council of the League of Women Voters, the tanned, vigorous-looking President voiced a crisp appeal for support of his foreign aid program, now under heavy congressional attack.

He declared: "You can't allow freedom to be pushed back to the shores of the United States and keep freedom at home. Unless the United States understands this, the future doesn't look so bright. Let's not throw away the engines of this ship of state."

Mr. Eisenhower took note of the mounting demands on Capitol Hill for tax cuts and said he hopes that, by the time he leaves office in 1961, world peace will be secured enough to justify substantial tax relief.

SEVEN BILLION DOLLARS
The President added: "I would like to go out of office with an even larger tax cut than we put out in 1954." That year tax reductions totaled seven billion dollars, some of it in the form of slashes previously voted by the Democratic-controlled 82nd Congress.

Youths Sentenced On Attack Charge

MOBILE, Ala. — Two 18 year old white youths have each been sentenced to serve 10 years in prison for raping a Negro woman during the night of last December 12.

A plea for probation for Jessie D. Smith and H. L. Tucker was denied by Circuit Judge David H. Edgington. The youths had pleaded guilty to raping the woman, who is 28 years old.

The victim told the court the youths, posing as officers, stopped her on Prichard Street near her home and ordered her into their car. She said they both raped her after driving to a rural area.

Ark. A. M. & N. Choir Slated Sunday At Metropolitan Baptist

The famed Arkansas A. M. & N. College Choir, directed by Arlet M. Lovelace, will appear in recital here Sunday evening, 8 p. m., at Metropolitan Baptist Church, Walker and McDowell, the Rev. S. A. Owen, pastor, sponsored by the Rebecca Club of the church.

The choir gave a 1954 Christmas recital from the steps of the Arkansas state capitol and has been seen in a national television hook-up.

CHRIST FOR ALL-ALL FOR CHRIST
The Dawn of a New Day
The world is a new one again, a light has come to the world.

"And he began to teach by the sea side: and there was gathered unto him a great multitude, so that he entered into a ship that was in the sea, and the whole multitude was by the sea on land."

National Negro Musicians Group Holds Southern Regional Here

Several well-known and many promising musicians attended the second annual Southern Regional conference of the National Association of Negro Musicians which took place Saturday on the LeMoyne College campus in Bruce Hall, hosted by the local branch, the Memphis Musicians' Association.

Offering welcome to the conference were J. W. Whitaker, Le Moyne; Dean Thomas Willard, Owen College; Mrs. Beulah Williams, Fine Arts Club and Omar Robinson, local branch of the N.A.M.M.

Participating in a panel discussion on "The Challenge of Music in Our Times" were, Miss Geraldine Burke, St. Augustine high school; Theodore Charles Stone, Chicago and Mrs. Marie Brooks-Stranze, Tennessee State University. Mrs. Bernice Hunter of Columbus, Miss., was moderator.

Following an organ recital by Frank Lockhart, LeMoyne student, the regional voice and piano contest was held. The voice contest was won by Miss Symiria Peters, lyric soprano.

Two Plead Not Guilty In Two Sat. Slayings

Not guilty pleas were offered Monday in City Court by two men being held on murder charges in two separate slayings Saturday.

Russell Key, 64, of 277 Cambridge pleaded not guilty to a charge of allegedly fatally shooting 28 year old Robert L. Pete of 151 Ely, in the chest with a shotgun Saturday in an argument over a $16 debt while a similar plea was offered by 20 year old L. L. Phillips of 1909 Keating, who is charged with murdering in the shotgun-dice-game dispute Saturday of Eugene W. Bowen 34, of 770 Marechal, Nell.

CITED BY FLORIDA PTA — At its annual program Sunday, the Florida School PTA cited (left to right) Mrs. Ida Ball, president; Mrs. Marguerite Turner, past president; Mrs. Lillian Stewart, past secretary; Mrs. Remel Karney, secretary and Mrs. Sadie Jennings for outstanding work in PTA activities and presented a special "Citizen of the Year" award to Florida school teacher and community leader, Mrs. Ruby Spight (sixth). Presenting the trophy to Mrs. Spight was Frank Lewis, teacher at Melrose high school and acting secretary of the Abe Scharff branch YMCA. (Staff Photo by Tisby)

LEADERS DEPLORE VOTER INACTION CAUSING 10,000 TO LOSE BALLOT

SEE NEED FOR STRONG EFFORT TO RECOUP, INCREASE VOTERS
BY RAYMOND F. TISBY

Three Memphis community leaders, in statements to the Memphis World following a Memphis World story that some 10,256 Negroes have been removed from the voters roll because of failure to vote in a statewide election since 1952, greatly deplored such voter inaction and saw the need for a sustained effort to recoup and add to the lost ballots and at the same time seek to make the Negro more aware of the necessity of keeping the ballot.

Reaction to the story ranged from "regrettable, lamentable and embarrassing" in statements given by the Rev. R. W. Norsworthy, James T. Walker and L. George W. Lee, Rev. Norsworthy, pastor of Mt. Moriah Baptist Church and a leader in the Ministers and Citizens League which has voter registration as one of its main objectives, said, "Regrettable! The Negro has yet to realize that a voteless people is a hopeless people! "Registering is not enough. Except that one regularly exercises the right to vote, he will soon lose that privilege."

"So many Negroes in other areas of the South are without and are fighting for the ballot while the Memphis Negro is fortunate in this matter. "Every decent and respectable citizen should be interested enough in his own freedom to go to the courtroom and register and keep registered by voting in each election."

Walker, labor leader and leader in Democratic circles, asserted: "Lamentable! I read the story with regret. It has set the Negro back. It just means that a strong effort to recoup and add thousands more on the voters roll will have to be made."

"The machinery for such a program is now set up and those in the fore will have to redouble their efforts in order to get those per-

KLAN GOES TO ENGLAND TO SPREAD RACE HATRED

LONDON — (INS) — America's Ku Klux Klan was reported Sunday to have opened a branch in England for spreading racist propaganda against Britain's growing Negro population.

The London newspaper Reynolds News quoted a Klan official as saying "several hundred" persons have become members of the branch the Sunday paper said the organization is called the Klan "Realm of Britain and Texas."

A spokesman for Scotland Yard said he has no knowledge that the KKK has launched operations in Britain.

WELFARE COMMITTEE
But Councillor Joan Tomlinson, chairman of Birmingham's welfare Committee, said flatly that she "knows of the existence of the branch in London."

Mrs. Tomlinson said she has asked the Chief Constable of Birmingham an Industrial Center where thousands of Negro immigrants have settled.

According to Reynolds News, Billions invited to join the Branch pay $31.40 entrance fee and $2.80 annual dues. (Continued On Page Six)

College Coed Hits Christian Insincerity In Churches

BY MELVIN GREER

A LeMoyne coed lecturer, Miss Annie Bell Price told a Trinity C. M. E. congregation Sunday night that "youth cannot be at its best unless the adult world sets a decent example."

Pleading for sincerity in Christianity, Miss Price stated: "If you (the adults) come to church merely to exhibit your fine hats, diamond rings, pretty dresses, shiny shoes, sharp suits and a Cadillac car, then we (the youth) too will come to church to exhibit our fine hats, diamond rings, pretty dresses, shiny shoes, sharp suits and Cadillac cars."

"It is impossible," stated Miss Price, "for one to truthfully practice Christianity when he only does so in the church and then does just the opposite in some other place. "I say this to the adult world. You have given youth much advice as to how we should conduct our lives in the Christian way. But you must exemplify the ideal Christian individual if you expect us to respect such advice."

Miss Price also hit at some Negro youths' apathy toward education: "We will eventually emerge in an integrated society. We must be prepared. We must sooner or later meet our white brothers on educational as well as spiritual grounds. We must divorce ourselves from lack of interest in education."

The occasion was a youth rally sponsored by the youths of Trinity C. M. E. with Miss Gwendolyn Malone acting as program chairman.

Rev. P. Gonye Hentzel, pastor of the church, was very complimentary of the address.

CONGRATULATED ON TALK — Attorney H. T. Lockard prominent lawyer of Memphis, Tennessee and son of Prof. and Mrs. A. H. Lockard progressive principal of Lynn School, Glimp Community, Lauderdale County, greets Mrs. Millie Jarrett and others not shown in picture after delivering an inspiring speech during a recent men's Day program at Morning Star Baptist Church, Rev. ### TALENT SHOW

A group of Hyde Park students entertained our student body with a variety of song and dance groups Monday, April 22, 1957. The talent exhibited was enjoyed by everyone. The top dances, "Til Tat Toe," consisted of two little girls and a boy. This was a show stopper.

SCIENCE EXHIBIT

The Science Exhibit held at Washington High School was a very interesting one. I'm sure all those who attended gained plenty and perhaps were astonished from the shocking information exhibited in various forms. The ones that caught my eye were: the dissection of the cat, the erupted volcano, the life cycle of the panaria (worm), the solar system, the live oopsums and the huge heart of the cow and the hog. If you missed the science exhibit this year be sure to attend next year. All the exhibits were good and are to be commended.

HAIL QUEEN EUNICE!

Yes, these were the words spoken last week when Lester High School's first Queen was crowned in the person of Eunice Trotter, a very charming young lady of 10-2A class, under the efficient supervision of Mrs. G. A. Parker, who reported the highest amount of money for the Music Festival. Eunice, reporting the highest amount of money from her winning homeroom, made it possible for her to receive such high honors. We all are very proud of her and Mrs. Parker and the 10-2A class members congratulated her with the warmest of words.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Lester High School presented its first annual Musical Festival Sunday, April 28, at 3:30 p. m. in the school auditorium. The featured event of the program was the Queen's coronation. Fanfare March was played by the band accompanied by Mrs. B. W. Williams upon the entrance of the queen escorted by R. B. Jackson by whom she was later crowned. Flowers were presented by Miss Eleanor F. Williams. The crown bearer was Mr. George Hennings and the lovely attendants were Misses Mary Meeks, Dora Robins, Barbara Bowie and Curt Lou Williams.

The musical part of the program was done in the order of a command performance for the queen. The program consisted of Band numbers, Love's Old Sweet Song, Clarinet ensemble by Gabriel Downey, Charolette Hines, Peggy Eggen, Marvin, Nickelson and C. L. Reid. Blue Bells of Scotland, quartet including Willis Wright, James E. Bell, Herman Johnson and R. B. Jackson. Drummer's Chorus by Willie Hayes, Gail Jones, Ben Starks and Calton Downey. Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes Baritone horn solo by Cynthia Wallace.

The Glee Club renditions were: Thank God For A Garden, Hear Our Prayer, O Lord, Whiteness Song. Vocal solos were: Spring's A Lovable Lady, Charles Brooks, Invictus and I See God, Ann Washington, Try A Little Tenderness, William Yafcey.

Instrumental solos: Under a Rose Arbor, Mary Alice Bland, L'Avantchance, Eleanor F. Williams and Hickman Johnson, Valse in E Flat, Gwendolyn Williams.

The numbers rendered by the Glee Club combined with the band were: You'll Never Walk Alone and the School's Alma Mater.

Guest artist was Mr. Omar Robinson, a master of the piano, with his admired gestures.

MITCHELL AND RUFF CAST JAZZ SPELL ON AUDIENCE

WHATEVER magic spells they have in their jazz, Mitchell and Ruff cast every last one of them on an entranced C. Arthur Bruce Hall audience that utterly refused to depart from the dizzy heights of clouds Monday night at LeMoyné.

The fascinated crowd sat in gleeful delirium as the two jazz men rendered what they were paid to render — modern jazz at its finest. No drab monotony — just modern, progressive jazz.

Mitchell and Ruff are two talented, rampant and fanatic jazz virtuosos who have pleasantly and efficiently damned the basic, conventional, fundamental forms of music, and who have beautifully substituted their own musical notes. The two crazy mixed-up jazzmen become profoundly rooted in the jazz when they play the crazy tunes they have so perfectly merged together, and cast a spell that would make even the most respectable witch go out of business.

Energetic pianist Dikwe Mitchell led a brutal, unmerciful but exhilarating onslaught against the piano, savagely and viciously attacking the helpless keyboard with professional precision, scaling, heading, banging, humping, bopping, and hammering the poor instrument into a steaming, melodious mass that screamed out his every wish, and whipping himself into a smiling, sweating frenzy. He gazed eagle-eyed at each key, smiling at the keyboard as he assailed the ivories.

RUFF TOUGH, TOO

Mitchell's Yul Brynner-edged companion, the amiable Willie Ruff, hugged his bass as though it were a bathing beauty attired in a bikini, plucking its smoking strings with nimble picks and pulls of his fingers. The pug-faced jazzist also tooted the French horn, which was also harmonious with Mitchell's piano background.

The two maddened jazzists would begin Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" cut, it play other musical conglomeration, temperate and tempestuous, adding their own inexplicable music (sometimes seemingly out of tune) as they ventured, sometimes on wild tangents. They presented a dab of everything in their jazz, from classical to popular.

In all musical agility, the Mitchell-Ruff duo rates foremost. They are great—not solely by their growing popularity and prestige, but by the intangible element of their music which is compatible with that which meets the ear.

JAZZ FANS COMMENT

The Mitchell Ruff audience left Bruce Hall Monday night with mixed emotions. Here's what some of that audience, and there were too many to interview them all, have to say about the concert: Miss Carnell McNeil: "Wonderfully executed" LeRoy Sommeret: "Out of this world" Miss Barbara Whiteley: "Very good. If only all of Memphis could appreciate this type music!" Bill Jackson: "Way out" Lavern "Hoak" Montgomery: "It was the mostest" Miss Darnell Thomas: "Incapable of being explained in mere words" Miss Linda Haralson: "Way, way, way out" Marvin Plunkett: "I was like a satellite floating in space. That music is out of this world. It really sent me."

And, finally, a critic, Harry Truly who collects modern jazz records: "They are two heavy, clever and skilled musicians who are really entertaining, although they employ gimmicks to amaze the audience. Good, but too commercial."

HARRY REVOLTS; CADE'S IN; LOCKHART MAPS PLANS

DISCOVERING that he had been booted by the Student Council as a candidate for the office of business manager, present business manager Marion Sheplewlock Barry said Monday he was "surprised" that he had not been included on the list for re-election by soon-to-leave President Herman Henning.

"I don't know why I was not included," yelled Barry Monday. "But it's obviously a rotten deal, and I plan to run on the Jamerson slate in retaliation."

A new turn of events may also hamper Barry, however. The Frank Lockhart forces announced Tuesday that they had legally seized the position of business manager on Jamerson's slate, forcing Barry to perjure himself on an independent ticket. Freshman Chester Cade is to run on Jamerson's slate.

The Lockhart forces continue to virtually dominate the election scene. It is perhaps the first time in the history of LeMoyné that freshmen have played such a conspicuous part in controlling an election.

Meanwhile, Bill Jamerson continues with his hectic campaign for the Student Council presidency in hopes to upset the apparently cocky James Bishop, only other junior in the race, who is the present vice-president of the Council.

STEVIE TAYLOR AND TYRONZA RICHMOND PREPARING FOR EXPLOSIVE STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTION BOTH FOR OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

One of the hottest elections that Melrose has ever had in student council history is now in the making. The most important issue that faces the voter is "which one shall I vote for?" A careful look at the record shows that both are exceptionally qualified. Both are juniors and both have leadership ability. Both are studious and both have averages above the magic number of 90. But unfortunately both cannot win, the election is sure to be "A fight to the wire" campaign and the candidates are both in that position to exercise their talents.

As of yet this column has not announced the candidates due to the fact that both candidates must not be understood or overestimated. The facts are closely being watched. Each candidate is being watched carefully to detect any sign of interest in this important election, in Tuesday's issue of the Memphis World, the press will announce the candidate it will support. However, this election could go any way. So watch for Tuesday's issue of the Memphis World and the coverage of the eager candidates running on both tickets.

THE BEAUTEOUS AND CHARMING MISS EVELYN RICHMOND MASTERS SPOTLIGHT TODAY

What makes a girl beautiful? would you like to know? Then ask Miss Evelyn Richmond, the 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond who reside at 1572 Diane Cir. When this personally invited the campus of Melrose I said to myself "could this be an angel that has slipped from the heavens above" or could this be Ava Maria in person. Well what ever the case may be it is without doubt that this is the most charming young lady in the sophomore class Evelyn was a candidate in the "Miss Bronze Queen" contest this year and losing out by a very small margin but she had her opponents sweating as if the hot sun was beating down upon them from a "stone's throw" distance. In school life Evelyn is a member of the modern dance club where she is a very unique and graceful dancer.

As a hobby she says she likes to play croquet. Just to past time away she says she likes to listen to Rock and Roll records. In religious life she is a member of the Macedonia 1st Baptist Church. We take our hats off to Miss Evelyn Richmond the beautiful and charming student in the 10-3A class.

WILLIE JOHNSON TAKES TODAY'S SPOTLIGHT WITH A BANG

Today, I am very happy to spotlight the handsome and versatile personality of Willie Johnson. Willie is the son of Mrs. Lena Pearl Johnson who resides at 1590 Fairview Street. He is very active in school, social, and Christian life. Willie is a member of the 11-10A class. He is an honorable participant of the Motor Club, active member of the Hi-Y, and homeroom representative for the Red Cross. Socially he is a member of the Top Ten Social Club where he holds the position of business manager and also he is the secretary of the Teenagers Social Club.

In Christian life he is a regular attendant of the White Stone Baptist Church. His hobbies are reading and studying which he performs on a very large scale. When asked his opinion on going steady he jokingly replied, "It's for the Birds." He claims that he is still looking for a sweetheart. After graduation, he plans to make his institution of higher learning that of Tennessee A and I State University. Here he will major in English to better himself toward his ambition of being a school instructor. So hats off to Mr. Willie Johnson, our spotlight of the week.

refreshment table was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth that was centered by a huge bouquet of carnations tinted a delicate pink. The crystal espederne was flanked on one end by blush pink tapers that flowed in sterling candelabra and large clusters of pink satin ribbon (looped) decorated the cloth at intervals. Garlands of greenery decorated the center of the table.

Mrs. Ernest Abron served as Mistress of Ceremonies of the evening presenting each deb and her talent. Performing during the evening were Miss Sadie Harris who sang "Summertime", Miss Bobbie Nelson who gave a reading, Miss Shirley Brooks, accompanied by Miss Hazel Abron at the piano, modeled. Miss Patricia Lynn Walker, a Reading. Miss Doris Smith, Eunice Alston and Francine Woods sang. Miss Geraldine Shaw gave a Reading. Miss Deborah Thomas, a Reading.

Miss Sherry Crump and Miss Alva Jean Jamison both gave instrumental solos. Miss Barbara Motley, a solo and Miss Jacqueline Washburn, a ballad dance number.

Immediately after the presentation of the girls as a group, Mrs. Abron presented Mrs. Floyd Campbell, president of the Silhouettes, who spoke thanking parents for the privilege of assisting them in presenting their daughters after which she presented Atty. A. W. Willis, Jr., Polemarch of the local chapter. Mr. Willis humorously spoke saying that Kappa men were behind Silhouettes and their plans were to remain there (even in the background when it comes to speaking to groups).

Silhouettes (Kappa Wives), all beautifully gowned in after five frocks as were the deb and their mothers, stood when they were presented as a group by Mrs. Campbell. In order were Mesdames A. W. Willis, Jr., Ernest Abron, Thomas Willis, R. J. Roddy, Thomas Bethel, W. M. Moore, J. P. Porter, W. Wynn and Miss Mary Ann Strouzer, a Kappa Sweetheart; and Mrs. E. W. Weed. Spouses of the Silhouettes were all present along with Mrs. C. Stockton and Mr. Wm. Roach who accompanied Miss Strouzer.

Kappa wives absent were Mesdames Howard Chandler and John Whittaker.

A PACKED HOUSE SEES MANASSAS ANNUAL SHOW AT CITY AUDITORIUM MONDAY EVENING
Manassas High School's Annual Show, given at Ellis Auditorium Monday night, was tops an event with police officers directing traffic. It was hard for one to make his way through the mammoth crowd.

"Show Time" under the "Big Top" took on a circus name and decorations looked almost real for a circus but the show ranged from jazz to co. The setting on the stage was a circus scene showing lions in cages... a seal, elephants, clowns and a girl that topped a show horse all made in life sizes by Mr. Walter Guy, Jr., and the Manassas High Art Department that he heads. Mrs. Georgia Harvey, director of the show who was assisted by Mrs. Lillie Williams, director of Physical Education and many other teachers, stayed in the background. But dances and costumes, both unbelievably beautiful, showed their works. The show moved on as would any "First Nighter" with all the gaiety and all of the glamorous atmosphere of a circus as it welcomed the mob that attended. The 1957 Show enjoyed the largest wave of popularity yet.

Robert Bowles president of the Student Council and a Senior student, was M. C. of the evening wearing white satin tails with sequin lapels. Stealing parts during the evening were Beverly Elders, a Jr. Higher, doing the vocal part. Dancers were Theodora Bowden, Earline White, Earline Purdy, Veritina Coleman, Cassalina Coleman, Willie Bell Sherrill, Calvin Beasley, Tommie Bouie, Robert Doss, Curtis Mitchell, Clifton O'Neil and Marvin Caston.

Clowns, dressed up in very fancy suits were Tommie Bouie, Calvin Beasley and Robert Doss. Doing terrific jobs in vocal numbers were Janet Raynor doing "In The Chapel", Johnnie Ray singing "With-out Love" and Delores McLain, got her usual applause from "Two Different Worlds".

The Teen Toms were unusual in that they made two appearances first wearing red sport shirts and blue slacks. Doing a second number the Teens who were John Tucker, A. D. Adams, Raymond Smith, James Harden and Elmer Gipson wore blue sweaters.

The most beautiful costumes were worn by youngsters doing "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody". The males wore Spring formal (white coats) Girls short ballerina with very wide skirts. Halos were made of different roses. Every arrangement showed off the pretty girls who ended with an archway of roses held up for the Southern Belles to enter under. Girls who danced to the tune of "Dream" wearing the most beautiful and colorful Egyptian costumes formed a background for Curtis Mitchell.

The scene was unusually pretty. Girls taking part were Hattie Smith who was "Miss Memphis World" at the J-U-G-S Charity Ball; Theodora Bowden, Alberta Clark, Ella E. Bell, Marilyn Patterson, Seretha Toy, Marilyn Patterson, Dorothy Jean Jackson Bessie McMullen, Catherine Avery, Cecile Palm, Alberta Woodlin, Annie Pearl Baker and Linnie Thomas.

MISS GILCHRIST TO RECITE VOWS WITH MR. JESSE E. MULLINS TONIGHT
The lovely Gilchrist home will be the setting on Friday (tonight) for a wedding of outstanding beauty and interest throughout the country when Miss Alice Gilchrist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gilchrist, Sr., of Memphis becomes the bride of Mr. Jesse E. Mullins of Chicago, son of Mrs. J. E. Mullins of Alabama. The Rev. D. S. Cunningham, the bride's pastor before taking residence in Chicago, will officiate. Before taking a teaching position in Chicago, Miss Gilchrist taught Home Economics at Manassas High School where she headed the Department. She was graduated from Tennessee State University where she was a member of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

She served as president of the local Deltas for two consecutive years. Miss Gilchrist did her graduate work at Cornell University. MISS GILCHRIST IS COMPLEMENTED AT SHOWER GIVEN BY MRS. ROBERTSON AND MISS MCDOWELL Beautiful spring flowers and vivid colored red roses decorated in the living and dining area of the lovely new Riverside Drive home of Miss Maggie McDowell Monday evening when Miss McCreth, Toy, Marilyn Patterson, Dorothy Jean Jackson Bessie McMullen, Catherine Avery, Cecile Palm, Alberta Woodlin, Annie Pearl Baker and Linnie Thomas.

Bridal games were played after which Miss Gilchrist opened the many beautiful gifts as she graciously thanked each guest.

Miss Gilchrist was very pretty in a tucked aqua taffeta sheath after five number that featured a beige lace top that was covered with aqua colored sequins. Mrs. Robertson wore a blue taffeta and

MEMPHIANS ENTERTAIN 300 GUESTS AT BRILLIANT BALL
An outstanding and gay event of last week's social calendar was the brilliant and much looked forward to formal given by members of the Memphians Club.

Guests gathered at Currie's at 10 p. m. (for the most part) where the lovely ball room formed a setting for the early Spring Ball. Always a top function of the season. The beauty of the party was centered around the perfect light-

Secure Lincoln Memorial For Prayer Pilgrimage

NEW YORK — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has been informed that the Lincoln Memorial in Washington will be available for the Prayer Pilgrimage for Freedom on May 17, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, said Monday. Mr. Wilkins is co-chairman of the Pilgrimage with A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., president, Southern Leaders Conference.

Use of the Memorial for this purpose was requested last month by Clarence Mitchell, director of the Association's Washington Bureau. After a month's delay, the National Park Service at first turned down the request on April 16 on the ground that an assembly of 50,000 persons at the Memorial would deprive thousands of tourists of the free access to the shrine. E. T. Scovay, acting director of the National Park Service, suggested that the meeting be held at the Sylvan Theater on the Washington Monument grounds.

Upon further representation by Mr. Mitchell who pointed out the symbolic significance of holding the meeting at the Lincoln Memorial, the earlier denial was rescinded on April 18. The meeting will be from noon until 3 P. M. on the third anniversary of the United States Supreme Court decision banning racial segregation in public education.

Joe Louis To Undergo "Physical"

CHICAGO, (INS) — The Illinois Athletic Commission announced Friday that it had asked former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis to undergo a physical examination before he resumes refereeing duties.

Louis was suspended from the active refereeing and wrestling list over six months ago when it was discovered that he had suffered a torn blood vessel near his heart in a wrestling bout.

Frank Gilmer, Chairman of the Illinois commission, said: "We have asked Joe, for his own and our protection, to undergo an official examination by commission physician Dr. Irving Stott before he resumes refereeing."

"This is a regular procedure be-

General Education Board Grants $75,000 To Colleges

NEW YORK — The United Negro College Fund has received a grant of $75,000 from the General Education Board to open new campaign territory during the next three years, W. J. Trent, Jr., Fund executive director, announced Monday.

Thirty of the Fund's 31 member colleges and universities are located in the South. "With requirements raised by the Southern Education Association, the Fund must secure increased support to enable its member institutions to maintain their accreditation," Trent said. "This can best be accomplished by broadcasting the Fund's base of support through the establishment of campaign procedures in hitherto uncannvassed areas."

"The Fund has been fortunate in finding venture capital whenever it has been needed. The money which enabled the Fund to get started in 1944 came from the General Education Board and the Carnegie Corporation made it possible to undertake a capital funds appeal for the colleges in 1951. The Ford Foundation enabled the Fund

AME Church Salutes Fathers, Mothers In Chicago Ceremony

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Scores of churchmen and women, among them numerous visiting ministers and dignitaries, participated in a salute to mothers and fathers program presented here last week in Quinn Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church to honor church members for their long and devoted service to the church.

Sponsored by the Chicago Conference of Laymen, the program honored members from eight AME Churches whose contributions and services to their respective church bodies were borne out, through long years of loyalty.

Among churchmen and women from Wayman Chapel AME Church; St. James AME Church; Saint Stephens AME Church; Institutional AME Church; Bethel AME Church; Canaan AME Church in Maywood; Gary First Church, and Quinn Chapel AME Church, were honored in the program.

Among other dignitaries present were Dr. Philip Lewis, principal of Felsenath elementary school here, Eugene O. Shands, former NAACP official and director of public relations for Mid-America Enterprises here; Mrs. Lucy Rankin, a distinguished organist from St. Paul Church, the only Negro AME Church in Glenview, Ill., and Mrs. Theodore Richardson, wife of Rev. Richardson, pastor of Metropolitan Community Church.

Recipients of the salute were highly praised by the Rev. Archibald J. Carey at the close of the program. Rev. Carey is pastor of Quinn Chapel Church, the oldest Negro AME edifice in the city.

The program was called "A Salute to Fathers and Mothers of African Methodism."

Established consultation services on academic programming and administrative procedures in 1952.

Since its inception, the Fund annually provides an average of 10 per cent of the yearly operating costs of the member schools. "In the case of some of the smaller colleges this aid amounts to 20 per cent," Trent said. "Without this support it is questionable whether many of the colleges would have been able to meet the requirements for accreditation."

The Fund is now conducting its 14th annual appeal in 100 campaign cities located within four geographical regions across the country. Lee H. Bristol, president of Bristol-Myers Co., is national campaign chairman of the 1957 appeal for $2,000,000.

MORE TEACHERS

The nation's colleges will turn out an estimated 4.9 per cent more secondary teachers, according to the National Education Association. These additional teachers, however, will not fill the vacancies in teacher ranks in the schools of the country.

Claim Names Misused In Attempt To Defeat Bills

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — The American Veterans Committee charged last week that the seven members of the House Judiciary Committee signing the Minority Report on civil rights legislation with misusing the name of the veterans in an attempt to defeat this legislation. The charge was contained in a statement issued by AVC director Kenneth M. Birkhead after a study had been made by AVC, of the committee report.

Color Question Keeps S. African Premier At Home

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — (NNPA) — Fear that he might have to sit at the same table with Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, Prime Minister of Ghana, is believed to be the reason for the refusal of Johannes G. Strijdom, South African Prime Minister, to attend the conference of Prime Ministers of the British Commonwealth in London in June. Mr. Strijdom was again asked Wednesday to confirm a report in his newspaper, the Transvaler, that he would not attend the conference. "That is right, and I have nothing to add to it," he said.

The Transvaler said "purely personal reasons" were keeping Mr. Strijdom from attending the conference. There is no pressing engagement in June which would keep him from leaving South Africa. But the likeliest reason for his not going is fear that he might be photographed together during a general election with Dr. Nkrumah, who said recently that he would like to smash apartheid (racial segregation).

Goes Free After Killing Texan

LONGVIEW, Tex. — (ANP) — A 21-year-old white man here, who fired nine rifle shots into a Negro cafe Oct. 22, 1956, killing an 18-year-old Negro youth and wounding two Negro girls, walked away free man last week after being convicted by a district court jury, but given a five-year suspended sentence for the brutal murder.

Perry Dean Ross allegedly murdered John Earl Reese in a cafe on a highway south of here following a school election that rose after a school election had brought about racial heat in the segregation issue. Much speculation was expressed by some observers in the case who viewed Ross' light sentence as a grave injustice to Negro people.

Witnesses testified that the school election had created much heat in the segregation issue and defense attorneys argued that resentment over the school dispute influenced the defendant's thinking and had a bearing on the shooting.

Ross' attorneys said he fired in direct bearing on the shooting. Children are being transferred to a predominantly white school. He stated that the "writer of the article was perhaps confused by the fact that a new school building located in a white area, but not far from a Negro area will be opened later this year."

The educator said that by "permissive zoning" the impression meant is the granting of the privilege of attending a school other than the one normally attended by the children living in a neighborhood.

Estranged Officer Shoots Wife, Slays Her Lawyer

NEW YORK — (ANP) — Driven berserk by marital woes, Edward P. Pegram, 42, 15-years, six times-cited honor patrolman, killed his estranged wife's lawyer Wednesday and critically wounded her. The victims were Atty. Jacob A. Smith, 36, and Mrs. Beryl Pegram, 30.

The officer drew a .32 calibre revolver and fired five shots hitting Smith in the heart and forehead and his wife in the neck and head. It climaxed a bitter conference in the 10th floor law offices of Watson, Carter and Smith, 305 Broadway.

"I want more money or I'll send you to jail," Mrs. Smith had threatened.

Atty. Leslie C. Carter, Jr. dived and floored the Harlem cop, believing to have prevented him from using the final bullet in the gun on himself.

Patrolman Pegram had recently paid $400 in back alimony after making a loan. His wife had demanded more than the $10 a week payment to her ordered by court January 3. He had been awarded their child John, 3, whose custody she still sought. He signed over his equity in a Westchester home, which they owned jointly, on the advice of his attorney.

The couple, who formerly lived at 120 W. 135th Street, separated in September, 1955, when he reported his wife missing. She turned up a month later at 870 Riverside Drive where she had rented a room. He took the child and went to live with his mother at 166-39 169th St., So. Jamaica.

The patrolman told his superiors that his wife had been under the treatment of a psychiatrist.

'Turnpike Express' Makes Record Run

CHICAGO — (INS) — The "Turnpike Express" set a record of 17 hours and 45 minutes Thursday for a bus trip from New York to Chicago.

The two-level, air conditioned vehicle made the 843.6-mile trip with stops for passenger comfort, fuel and toll gates, along a four state turnpike route.

After sweeping out of the Holland Tunnel from New York onto the New Jersey turnpike, the $50,000 seniorcruiser roared along unhampered by stop lights, cross traffic or railroad tracks through New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana to Illinois and Chicago.

The record-making trip celebrated the inauguration of the Greyhound lines' new deluxe express service between the nation's two largest cities.

The seniorcruiser is a plush 43 passenger twin diesel vehicle complete with lavatory facilities.

Col. Campbell Johnson On Race, House Commission

NEW YORK — (ANP) — Colonel Campbell C. Johnson, assistant to the director of the National Selective Service system, has accepted membership on the Commission on Race and Housing, it was announced Friday by Commission Chairman Earl B. Schwulst, president and chairman of the board of the Bowery Savings Bank, New York City.

The Commission was established in February 1955 to conduct a nationwide survey of the housing needs of minority groups, particularly those of Negroes and Puerto Ricans in metropolitan areas. It is financed with appropriations totaling $305,000 from the Fund for the Republic, an independent corporation founded to promote the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

Colonel Johnson, a native of Washington, D. C. is a graduate of Howard University and of the Law School of Howard U. He is on the national board of the YMCA; a member of the National Capital Housing Authority; member and former president of the Board of the Washington Housing Association; Director of the Industrial Bank of Washington; and a member of the Board of Chairman of the District of Columbia Board of Parole.

John Howard Association In 56th Diner

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Donald Clemmer, director Department of Corrections, Government of the District of Columbia, since 1946 and former assistant to the director, U. S. Bureau of Prisons, will address the 56th annual meeting of the John Howard Association, Wednesday, May 15, in the main dining room of the Chicago Bar Association.

He will speak on "Hopeful Elements in the Correctional Process." Mr. Clemmer is the author of "The Prison Community." He is an outstanding career penologist who will talk facts rather than fiction.

The "John Howard Award" for 1957 will be presented to a local person by Mrs. Lester B. Nay, secretary of JHA.

Leaders of industry and civic affairs, wardens of the prisons in the greater Chicago area, members of the bench and bar, religious leaders and interested laymen will attend the meeting which will be open to the general public.

Ghana Will Sponsor Study Of Problems

ACCRA — (ANP) — The Prime Minister of Ghana, Dr. Nkrumah said last week that a Pan-African Conference was being planned. To it would be invited the other independent states of Africa. An attempt would be made so he said to discuss the problems of the other African countries so all could find out where they stood.

The plans include invitations to Liberia, Tunisia Morocco, Ethiopia, Sudan, Egypt, and Libya. Dr. Nkrumah said it might not be possible to invite countries like Uganda and Kenya because they are still colonies of Great Britain but "we might make a gesture to South Africa."

South Africa sent delegates to Accra for the Independence celebrations and its foreign relations department has been advised by the South African government to treat with African nations as they develop.

He told a reporter: "If we can effect a three billion dollar budget reduction and that appears a reasonable hope—the Johnson-Rayburn formula to raise tax exemptions from $600 to $700 should be given every possible consideration by Congress. Most certainly will be pushed by Democrats."

The Montana Senator said that "we would hope to put it into operation by Jan. 1 of next year or as soon thereafter as possible." Even if a tax cut bill is delayed until the next session, he added, it still could be made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1958.

Meanwhile, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D) Va., outlined a three-year economy program which, he said, is essential to cut government spending and kept the door open for a tax cut.

Jewish Committee Has Interest In Attacks

NEW YORK — The Jewish Labor Committee, which represents a half-million workers in the AFL-CIO, has called upon the federal government to halt the South's assaults on the NAACP and NAACP members. The labor body's administrative committee adopted a resolution containing the plea for remedial action on April 12 in this city.

Powell's Church Draws 6,000 For Easter Services

NEW YORK — (ANP) — An estimated 6,000 persons, far more than the Abyssinian Baptist Church of which the Rev. Dr. Adam Clayton Powell pastors, can hold filled the aisles of the edifice Easter Sunday and heard Powell blast President Eisenhower's silence on violence in the South and brandish Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The overflow crowd could not be seated for the 10 A. M. service and had to wait for the noon service. The Rev. Powell is also the Democratic congressman from New York.

CITES LEADERSHIP

Choosing the racial issue and desegregation as his text, Powell vehemently assailed President Eisenhower for failing to speak out against the reign of violence that has occurred against Negroes in the South. Powell said "we need leaders who will not excuse themselves from acting on inconsistencies in our society by saying they themselves were not perfect."

The noted minister and congressman declared "John Foster Dulles (Secretary of State) feels justified to speak about the lack of freedom of speech behind the Iron Curtain. Let us look behind our own curtain."

Powell concluded that the moral upheaval that shook men loose from bigotry at the time of Christ's death and resurrection was needed today.

Daughter Convicted Of Beating Mother

DETROIT — (ANP) — A 33-year-old mother of ten, including three sets of twins, was convicted of assaulting her 48-year-old mother Wednesday in Recorder's Court and remanded to Wayne County jail for sentencing. She is Sara King, address unknown.

Mrs. Sara Bell Troy told the court that her daughter came to her home March 6 and assaulted her following an altercation over her intoxicated condition.

Mrs. Troy who has temporary custody of five of her daughter's children said her daughter grabbed her by the throat and choked her. "My daughter slugged me with her fists," related the mother and called me a profane name. She then threw me backward over a coffee table and fell on top of me and I was beaten while she held me down."

Mrs. Troy said her nine-year-old grandson summoned a neighbor who put her daughter off her and stopped the assault. Mrs. King denied the charges. She said her mother started to beating her. I wasn't doing anything but protecting myself."

At least ten southern states have sought to cripple or wreck the NAACP by means of injunctions, other court action, laws against the NAACP, and laws against members of the NAACP. "Organized labor, having been a victim of similar punitive legislation, has a special interest in such attacks," the JLC resolution declares.

The statement calls upon Congress to investigate the situation upon the U. S. Justice Department to "take appropriate action in implementation of the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution," and upon President Eisenhower to "give moral leadership in this matter which transcends political and ideological views and regional and sectional interests."

Analyzing the civil liberties aspects of the anti-NAACP actions in the South, the resolution says: "Where states pass laws prohibiting the advocacy of integration, they are violating the Constitutional injunction against 'abridging the freedom of speech.' Where states pass laws preventing the NAACP from holding meetings, they are 'abridging the right of the people peaceably to assemble.'"

"These acts cannot be countenanced in a free nation," the document asserts. "State officials must not be permitted to manipulate laws so as to make inoperative any organization or group with which they disagree. Certainly the United States cannot tolerate the attempt by states not only to evade the law of the land but to punish a group of citizens for seeking to uphold that law. The agencies of federal government responsible for law enforcement have a responsibility to act in this matter."

The resolution also expresses the view that "this is a matter of concern, not only for the NAACP, but for every individual and group concerned with preserving equality before the law and freedom of expression. We are all threatened if we remain silent. Where the rights of one group are stifled, the rights of all groups are placed in jeopardy; where freedom of association is denied, freedom of the individual is limited."

Nigerians Want Freedom By 1959

ACCRA, Ghana — (NNPA) — Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe, Premier of Eastern Nigeria, said at Takoradi Wednesday that the people of Nigeria would resort to any means at their disposal to achieve independence in 1959 if Britain failed them.

He was speaking on board ship on the eve of his departure for London to attend the Nigeria constitutional conference. Dr. Azikiwe said he had agreed with the Premiers of the other two regions of Nigeria that Britain should transfer power to the people of Nigeria and independence should be proclaimed on January 1 or April 1, 1959.

Despite political differences in Nigeria, the country is fundamentally united in its struggle for self-government, he said.

TOGOLAND WEIGHS FUTURE — In preparation for the Plebiscite to be held in British Togoland on May 9th, a meeting of the elders of Keti Krachi, a Muslim priest and a Zongo chief was held recently. Through United Nations staff member W. Klomrod, they learned the meaning of the all important ballot to be cast May 9th. The Togolandians will be asked whether they wish to join the Gold Coast when it becomes independent in the near future, or whether they prefer to continue separately under UN trusteeship, pending a final solution of their political status. ## Public Relations Experts Recognize Race Community

WASHINGTON — The nation's Negro "community" was described as a vital "public" for management's awareness and programming during the discussion of "Public Relations and Special Markets" at the 13th Annual National Conference of the American Public Relations Association held at the Warwick Hotel, Philadelphia, April 24-26.

The panel discussion, which was attended by industrial and organizational public relations executives, treated special markets through "The Practical Three R's." Bernard P. Strange, Philadelphia APRA member and a vice president of the Joseph W. Baker Associates public relations firm, served as chairman for the meeting.

REACTION NOTED

The "Responsibility of Management," as visualized by management itself and employees, was graphically presented by LeBaron R. Foster, vice president of the Opinion Research Corporation, Princeton, N. J. Foster sharpened the focus on opinion review by industrial management. He also pointed out that Negroes react more strongly than other groups for or against a company's products or services dependent upon that company's known or imagined policies concerning the group.

M. A. Lockhart, sales manager for Interstate United Newspapers, an advertising representative firm for 89 Negro publications, substituted for W. Beverly Carter, Jr., publisher of the Pittsburgh Courier Newspapers, in describing the "Reaction to Positive Approaches." Lockhart gave a number of "for instance" cases in which managements' public relations approaches to this segment have resulted in the desired acceptance of products, services or ideas. He assured the audience that negative results to the honest public relations effort are negligible.

George Schermer, executive director of Philadelphia's Commission on Human Relations, covered the first "R," "Recognition of Need." He expressed the practical aspects of public relations activity that affects the success, the profit or loss, and the acceptance of any business or organization.

Author Unknown

Dear Eleanor, I found your name and address in the paper, so I have decided to write to you for advice.

I am 15 and I have an older sister who insists on dominating over me. My mother gives me permission to have the boys friends to come to the home to see me, but I cannot go out with them.

My older sister disagrees and whenever the boys do come to see me, my sister immediately tells them that they leave. This causes great embarrassment to both of us.

What do you advise? ANSWER: No doubt your sister has been given so much authority around the home that she feels that what she says must go. She lacks respect for the mother.

In the home, the mother and the father represent authority that should and must be respected if there is to be peace and love among all the members of the family. Whenever authority is usurped by the children, there is bound to be friction. Your sister quite likely is jealous because she didn't receive company so early. It is no unusual occurrence for the younger children to be granted earlier social privileges. The world is moving faster!

It would be fine if your mother would wake up and assert her authority and have your sister to understand that she is not to interfere with you socially. Create a more amiable relation with your sister by doing nice little things for her occasionally. It would also be fine if you would invite your date only on the occasions when your mother is at home. She will see that you are not intruded upon

Former Officers Named On U. S. Bribery Count

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NNPA) A former police chief of a Prince Georges, Md., town and a District of Columbia man awaiting trial on charges of operating a bootleg still were arrested Thursday on charges of trying to bribe a United States Treasury agent with $1,350.

They were identified as Charles S. Burney, 50, of Beaver Heights, Md., and Henry (Lemonhead) MacDaniels, 43, of Washington, both colored.

Mr. Burney was police chief of the Glenarden, an all-colored community, until a year and a half ago. Treasury agents said Mr. Burney acting as a "go-between" for Mr. MacDaniels, offered the bribe to agent Raymond Acker.

Mr. Acker said he immediately notified his superiors. The agent said he had led a raid on a giant still in Charles County, Md., April 9, in which MacDaniels was arrested.

Investigators led by Inspector Martin J. Meehan said they watched Burney pass money to agent Acker in an auto on George Palmer Highway near Ardenmore, Md., and then closed in for the arrest. MacDaniels was found in woods nearby, they said.

Burney was released on $2,500 bond and MacDaniels on $10,000 bond for a hearing before a United States commissioner on May 30. MacDaniels is also free on $1,500 bond awaiting trial in the Federal District Court in Baltimore on the bootlegging charge.

Va. Supreme Court Considering Review Action On NAACP Subpoenas

RICHMOND, Va. — (NNPA) — The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals Thursday took under advisement the question of whether it should review the action of the Richmond Hustings Court refusing to dismiss subpoenas ordering the NAACP to turn over its Virginia membership and financial records to a General Assembly committee.

If the Virginia high court decides to hear the appeal, it will be reinstating in state courts the attack of the NAACP upon the constitutionality of the action of the General Assembly in creating the Committee of Offenses Against Administration of Justice — an action aimed directly at the NAACP and its activities to end racial segregation in public education.

At an informal hearing before the seven justices of the court in the conference room, NAACP counsel contended that the Richmond Hustings Court committed five errors that justified review of the case by the state's highest court.

"UNLAWFUL SEARCH!" They challenged the jurisdiction of the Hustings Court, saying it violated procedure in issuing the subpoenas, and argued that the subpoenas amounted to unlawful search and seizure of private property in violation of state and Federal Constitutional provisions.

Present at the hearing was Delegate John B. Boatwright of Buckingham, chairman of the committee. The Boatwright committee is one of two committees created by the General Assembly in its last session to investigate the activities of the NAACP and other interracial groups. The task of the Boatwright committee is to find out whether the NAACP has improperly or illegally promoted or stirred up suits.

The NAACP has refused to disclose the names of its members and contributors. NAACP lawyers assert that this information would result in reprisals against NAACP members.

A suit brought by the NAACP in the Federal District Court here attacking the constitutionality of the laws creating the two anti-NAACP committees is being held in abeyance pending the outcome of the suits in state courts.

Detroit Accused Of Taking $10,000 From Prostitute

DETROIT — (ANP) — A 25-year-old westside man was charged with accepting the earnings of a prostitute in the amount of $10,000 Thursday in a warrant issued by the prosecutor's office on the complaint of the prostitute, who was a classmate of the accused man. He is Robert M. Harmon.

The complainant Ann Thomas, told Detective Ralph H. Heaviland of the vice bureau, that she gave Harmon an estimated $10,000 between June 1954 and February 18, 1957.

Miss Thomas said Harmon promised to pay all of her bills and fines, whenever she was arrested. Miss Thomas said Harmon paid some of the bills, but paid her fines on numerous occasions when she was arrested.

Detective Heaviland quoted Miss Thomas as saying, "I averaged $200 to $250 a week and I gave all of the money to Robert."

The officer said Miss Thomas declared that Harmon has not worked since 1955.

Harmon admitted using money Miss Thomas earned as prostitute, Heaviland said.

Mother of Brooklyn Killer Goes Beserk

NEW YORK — (ANP) — Residents here are asking: "Did the New York newspapers and police do the right thing in publishing the name and picture of the neighbor who tipped them off to the sadistic murderer of a 19-year-old white girl in Brooklyn last week?"

The neighbor, a white bank teller, married and father of a young daughter, has been given police protection, necessitated when the criminal's mother, Mrs. Signa Higgins, suddenly went berserk and after hurling milk bottles at the neighbor's door and shouting imprecations at his wife, was removed to a local hospital for observation.

Meanwhile, the killer, six foot blonde Thomas J. Higgins—suffered the usual fate of prisoners being led to the safety of the clink — he was handcuffed to a colored prisoner and photographed being led to the prison van.

North Carolina and surrounding states meet here at Duke university for their annual School Law Conference, according to the chairman of the conference program committee, Dr. E. C. Bolmeier.

Dr. Bolmeier, a professor of education at Duke, said the sessions will deal with laws governing school liability.

The educator declared that the committee "does not want to present another program centered around the integration problem."

MISS BLVD CHRISTIAN

Mrs. LaBlanche Jackson and Miss Ida Walker Co Chairman of the Spring Drive sponsored by the Women of the Mississippi Boulevard Christian Church deserved orchids, and Thanks A Million for their valor and achievements. The goal was $2000 to apply towards the liquidation of the debt on the new Sanctuary which was built in 1952 at a cost of $100,000. The total amount cash at the close of the effort was $2265.

Not only was the financial effort a success but the program was pronounced a spiritual success as well. Mrs. Maudeen Seward the guest speaker for the occasion held her audience spell bound as she gave to us a message which quickened our sense of personal responsibility for building the kingdom of God. She spoke from "Ye are the light of the world." She said, "If you have a light it will shine." "No one can put your light out but you." "How much light would your church have if your church depended upon you for light?" "Hate will put your light out." "One may stumble over the lamp post

He also said that the Lincoln Republican League, active in 70 wards, will launch a "street by street" registration campaign at a Freedom Banquet at which the mother of Scovel Richardson, former chairman of the U. Lee contends that the big problem in "motivating citizenship action" is thru "cohesive, collective efficiency."

The money to build the school was left by a Frenchman. A major bequest was two million dollars set aside to establish the Girard College. No Verdict Returned In Civil Rights Case

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — (ANP) — The first civil rights trial here ended in a hung jury at police court this week.

Howard Engels, proprietor of Shangri La Roller Skating Rink, was accused of violation of the civil rights law last January on the complaint of five teen-aged Negro girls. The girls told the court they were turned away at the rink's ticket office because they had no "membership cards."

State Dept. Plan On Newsmen Term 'Unconstitutional'

NEW YORK. — (INS) — The State Department's recent suggestion that a "limited number" of U. S. newsmen might be chosen to enter Red China was branded as "unconstitutional" Wednesday by New York attorney Morris Ernst.

Ernst was asked by the overseas Press Club to give his opinion of the State Department suggestion, which was in response to demands upon the Department to allow American reporters to go to Communist China.

In reply the lawyer said State Department proposal was a doctrine of "the chosen few." Ernst said his legal opinion was that should a limited group of newsmen be chosen for entry into China, any other reporter, "on his own account or in behalf of any newspaper or other media of communication not included," could sue in the courts for, and be granted, "a mandamus to compel the State Department to issue a passport with rights similar to those granted the chosen few."

"The chosen few" doctrine in my judgement," the attorney concluded, "is unconstitutional as an unreasonable classification, as an unlawful delegation of power."

Negligent Homicide Laid To Father

NEW ORLEANS. — A young New Orleans father, accused by his wife of choking their 5-month-old son to death, pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge of negligent homicide.

Edison J. Balliot 23, had been indicted for manslaughter but will stand trial next Monday in New Orleans Criminal District Court on the lesser charge.

Balliot was booked originally on a murder charge in the death of his son last January, but was subsequently indicted on the lesser charge of manslaughter by the grand jury. A further reduction to the charge of negligent homicide was made at the request of the District Attorney's office.

If convicted, Balliot faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison on the negligent homicide charge.

E. Graves an Atty Julian Dugas, polemarch of the Washington alumni chapter, were summarizers.

Judges Scott, Richardson Address Youth Meet In D.C.

WASHINGTON. — (ANP) — Two nationally known legal figures, Judges Armond W. Scott and Scovel Richardson, and a veteran business man, John Pinkett, served as participants in a Youth Conference sponsored by Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity here last week.

The conference, attended by 50 delegates from Washington area high schools, was held at Kappa House, and sponsored by the fraternity's Washington Alumni chapter.

Judge Scott and Mr. Pinkett served as discussion leaders and Judge Richardson presided. Dr. Lawrence

LOCAL, REGIONAL, and NATIONAL OFFICERS of Alpha Phi Alpha, Kappa Alpha Psi, and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternities were on hand to extend a royal welcome to Rev. Martin Luther King upon his arrival in the Bluff City at the Municipal Airport. A motorcade had been tentatively planned for the trip to the airport but the flight was two hours late out of Birmingham, Ala.

pha Fraternity; Dr. Leland Atkins, president of the local Alpha Phi Alpha graduate chapter; Prof. A. B. Bland, president of the local graduate chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, and principal of Lester High School; Dr. King, Jack La Flore, Provincial Polemarch of the Kappa, and H. H. Holloway, Kappa.

Rev. King was featured speaker at the public program co-sponsored by the Sigmas, Kappas, and Alphas in connection with their Tri-Regional Conference held in Memphis Easter weekend.

The Booker T. Washington Warriors track team were scheduled to leave Friday morning for Nashville to defend their state championship in the annual Tennessee A and I State University Invitational Relay. The Warriors have had little preparation in terms of competition for the state meet. Scheduled district and regional action failed to materialize as according to plans.

Rain virtually washed out the regional at Melrose Stadium Monday afternoon. Some events were un-rehearsed, but because of some differences which weren't ironed out by two of the coaches, the races were just for workout purposes. Winners from last week's district meet at Woodstock were eligible for region three eliminations.

Melrose and Washington are the only local prep teams that have squads. The competition in the state meet for the past two years has come primarily from Pearl High of Nashville and Washington of Chattanooga. Another Chattanooga team, Howard, (state basketball title) should do very well in the field events. George Finley, 57-foot eleven cage star, is almost a cinch in the high jump. He won the event in 1955. Howard didn't enter a team last year. Finley throws the shot and huris the discus also.

Washington, who has breezed the championship for two straight years was hit hard by graduation. Coach Johnny Powell will depend heavily on his well conditioned team to wear their opponents down over the long grind of the one day affair. Saturday Monday the Warriors uncovered a new sprinter in the person of Charles Elton who sailed to double victories in the 100 and 200 yard dashes. A fast time of 9.3 was recorded in the century dash.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

Satchel Paige, the ageless pitcher of baseball fame, reminds us of the Brook in Tennyson's poem which goes something like this: "I chatter, chatter as I go. To join the humming river; For men may come and men may go. But I go on forever." It seems that the famous pitcher goes on forever.

We note that a few days ago Paige started his first game of the season for his club, the Miami Marlins of the International League and defeated Buffalo 7-1 on six hits to register his first victory of the 1957 season. The elongated hurler is still up to his old tricks, adding to his won record, which no doubt tops the won record of pitchers of all times.

His brief stay in the major leagues came at the decline of a brilliant career when he had spent many years in Negro baseball where he had compiled a record over a long period that will likely never be equaled. It is regrettable that the color bar in organized baseball had not been removed when he was in his prime. For had he been signed to a major league team at the start of his career, he would be rated as the greatest pitcher of all times.

The New York Yankees, picked by the experts to again win the American League pennant have been playing just fair ball for the first two weeks of the young season, while the Milwaukee Braves have been playing up to their expectations. For us, who went out on a limb with the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Redlegs, only the White Sox have been playing up to our prediction. Oh! well, the season is still young.

The 83rd running of the Kentucky Derby, the premier horse race of America will take place Saturday with a field of three year olds, that promises to make it a wide open race. It may develop that Bold Ruler, General Duke and Federal Hill will go to the post as favorites, with the better talking his choice, yet it is agreed that any of the others; Better Bee, Iron Liege, Shan Pac, Round Table, Indian Creek or Gallant Man could walk away with top honors.

Followers of the Derby are hoping for a fast track for the Saturday classic. Barring rain or a wet track there are those who feel that the track record set by the great Whirlaway in 1941 with 2:01 2/5 a time for the upstarts to shoot at. With a so-called wide open field, one guess is as good as another.

Couple To Mark 63rd Wedding Anniversary

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (ANP) — Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Jones of Cleveland, Ohio will celebrate their 63rd wedding anniversary with their son and daughter-in-law, Prof. and Mrs. Louisa Vaughn Jones here in Washington.

Prof. Louis Vaughn Jones is a violin concert artist and head of the violin department, School of Music, Howard University.

the noted Essayist E. B. White and published in "The New Yorker" magazine, helped get the USAF involved in the LSD project.

White wrote without the foreknowledge of LSD. But Air Force planners, aware of the potentialities of a drug that could make a man temporarily feel "beyond the pull of conscience," sponsored research to learn:

1. Can amounts of LSD be given to normal airmen in levels low enough to produce temporary madness without affecting flying ability? Can this temporary insanity take place without being outwardly noticeable to psychiatrically-untrained persons?

Dale Carnegie Course To Be Offered "Memphians"

FREE DEMONSTRATION SLATED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The famous Dale Carnegie Course is being made available to the Negro men and women of Memphis, as a result of arrangements initiated by The Memphians, Inc.

It was announced this week by J. Nelson, President of the Memphians, that the first meeting will be a Free Demonstration session. It will be held in the Assembly Room of Universal Life Insurance Company, 480 Linden at Wellington Wednesday, May 8, at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited.

The purpose of the Demonstration Meeting, according to Mr. Nelson, is to acquaint visitors with Dale Carnegie methods in effective speaking, human relations, and leadership training. A special feature of the evening will be a demonstration of the remarkable memory-training technique developed by Dale Carnegie.

"We believe that the Memphians sponsorship of this Adult Education program is a genuine community service," says Mr. Nelson. "Businessmen, sales people, homemakers, club women, office personnel—every adult will benefit from this training. It will build a new enthusiasm, develop self-confidence, create a new understanding among the citizens of our community."

Mr. Nelson added that civic clubs in other areas report that the classes have had an important influence on human relations in their communities.

The Dale Carnegie Courses began in 1912 in New York City. Today, Dale Carnegie Classes are taught in 750 cities in America, and in 51 foreign cities.

More than 500,000 men and women are graduates. Among them are Frank Bettger, one of the top salesmen in this country; Robert Quinn, Manager of the world's largest hotel, the Conrad Hilton in Chicago; Joe Pess, Governor of South Dakota; and John M. Fox, President of the Minute-Maid Corporation.

Anyone desiring further information may contact Mr. Nelson at Ja. 5-2715, or any member of The Memphians.

New Lightweight Rifle For Army

WASHINGTON. — (INS) — The Army adopted Wednesday a new lightweight American-made rifle and announced a sharp reduction in the types of small arms to be used by GIs.

The new rifle, which weighs a pound less than the standard Garand M-1 and fires the arduous standardized for the North Atlantic treaty countries, has been under study and test for the last five years. It was finally adopted in preference to the Belgian "T-49," which has also been under study.

The army said that the types of small arms will be reduced from seven to two. The Browning Automatic rifle (bar), the .30 calibre carbine and three types of sub-machine guns are being dropped under the replacement program, which will take several years to complete.

The new rifle, designated the "T-44" can be equipped with either a light or a heavy barrel. It was developed at the Army Ordnance plant at Springfield, Mass.

The announcement said: "The new system offers many advantages. It gives the modern army a better and lighter rifle and a lighter machine gun the M-60, recently adopted."

The calibre of the new rifle is the same as the Garand, but the cartridge is shorter and lighter. The Army said both the new American rifle and the Belgian machine gun, which has been adopted by several NATO countries, were "subjected to exhaustive tests" and gave "performance superior to that of the Garand."

Scientists Check Possibility Of Drug To Drive Airmen Insane

WASHINGTON. — (INS) — The Air Force has assigned scientists to check the possibility that an enemy could use a new drug to drive American Bomber crews insane and cause them to drop H-bombs on their own country.

This fantastic possibility, first hinted at in a widely-read science fiction story, recently received scientific support as a result of research with an insanity-causing drug known as LSD.

Hank Thompson Last Of Big Three In Big Leagues

NEW YORK. — (ANP) — The sale of Henry "Hank" Thompson by the New York Giants to the Minnesota Millers wipes out the original three who made history by being the first Negroes in organized baseball. First it was Monte Irvin, whom the Giants sent down two years ago, then Jackie Robinson "resigned" rather than be traded. Now it is Hank Thompson, hero of the 1951 series and a man for whom Leo Durocher predicted "stardom."

The new manager of the Giants, Bill Rigney, has none of Leo Durocher's tolerance for Thompson, nor any of Durocher's admiration for the former crack third baseman. It is a well known fact that Durocher had a soft spot for both Hank Thompson and Willie Mays— for Hank was a scrappy fellow he never gave the opposition an inch.

Since coming up to the Giants Thompson once before was let out to the minors, but quickly Durocher brought him back and for six years Hank played good baseball for the fiery former shortstop. Had Thompson been kept by the Giants until July, he would automatically have become an eight year man and as such, entitled to make a deal for himself. This ranked Hank and he let his dissatisfaction be known in no uncertain terms. When told of his release in the Giants camp, Hank blew a gasket.

He threatened to quit altogether and go out to California where his mother has a chicken ranch. But when Rigney talked with him and assured him that his $18,000 a year salary would still be paid at Minneapolis, Hank quieted down a bit. But he told all his former team mates goodbye and there was a strong rumor that Hammering Hank had gone to New York to have a person to person chat with Horace Stoneham, the Giant owner.

Another bit of bitter tea for Hank was the fact that another player, Greenberg, refused to grab him after all other National League clubs had waived on him. Greenberg is reported as saying "If he can't help a team like the Giants, how can he help the Indians?" That is the $64,000 question and Mr. G. knows his Indians sure need help.

the air force's office of scientific research indicates that sharp-eyed ground crews and other air base personnel could spot an LSD-drugged airman.

Here is the story of how a new Psychiatric drug and a science-fiction tale spurred the Air Force into "artificial insanity" research.

LSD (short for Lysergic Acid Diethylamide-25) is a man-made drug capable of "including an abnormal state" without destroying consciousness. Chemically, it resembles the Peyote Cactus extract, Mescaline, long used by American Indians in Tribal rites.

FAST AGING LSD is tasteless, odorless, potent and fast-acting. A drop in a cup of coffee, for example, can cause a normal person to "go crazy" in about an hour.

Even in stable, well-adjusted adults, LSD can cause temporary disintegration of personality. Deep-seated resentments and tightly-reined-in angers—considered by Psychiatrists as common in most adult can boil over.

A striking fictional account of how this might happen, written by Leaders Petition Congress For Rights Passage

The special message signed by some 37 leaders of the nation, sent to Senators and Representatives in the Congress bears the persuasive ring and the imports of the Constitution of the United States itself.

The paper calls for necessary federal assistance to states, North and South in opening the ballot box to all citizens and keeping it free, sacred and secure.

Thus, the leaders would change a system which has held in pawn generations of citizens as aliens to free and equal participation in the affairs of government.

There is a non-partisan aspect in the appeal, for it cites that "if passed, this program will go to the credit of both major parties, for a Republican administration presented it, but the responsibility for its passage rests with a Democratic control of Congress."

Civil Rights legislation is still one of the top musts on the administration's agenda at Washington.

What our country needs most just now is an ease in tension, suspicion and the threat of insecurity from fear and molestation.

Much criticism of the American way of life would be eased and a better grasp at world problems would be enhanced should this legislation be forthcoming.

We are happy to see powerful church leaders and those other public spirited persons interested in the general welfare, come forward with a workable remedy for some of the ills of the times.

A LOOK HERE AND THERE

By R. F. TISBY

JAZZ AND MEMPHIS Memphis jazz drought was abated somewhat with the exhilarating appearance Monday night in Le-Moyne's Bruce Hall of the dynamic (Dwike) Mitchell (Willie) Ruff Duo.

Mitchell a rapid fire pianist who attacks the keyboard with a fierceness not too unlike that of the great Art Tatum and with a style not too dissimilar to that of Memphis' own Phineas Newborn Jr.

Both are highly trained and while as they both admit, they are not the best on their chosen instruments, they are nonetheless competent, promising musicians who should contribute much to the evolution of jazz.

In addition to their obvious training in the classics, both are "graduates" of the Lionel Hampton band, which despite labels from jazz purists of being a "showmanship" band, has produced some of the most promising jazz artists such as Quincy Jones, Art Farmer and the late Clifford Brown.

After a somewhat discordant beginning Mitchell and Ruff hit their stride and held some 225 listeners enthralled for an hour and 45 mins. as they modulated from pure jazz works of such greats as Duke Jordan, Horace Silver and Thelonius Monk.

And while they may not have been the most exciting jazz group some of us have had the fortune to hear, they undoubtedly were the most outstanding and the best such unit that Memphis has heard in a long time.

It appears that Memphis, which boasts of being the "home" of the "Daddy of the Blues" (W. C. Handy) and the spawning ground of the late great swing-jazz band of Jimmy Lunceford, lags woefully behind such other Southern cities as Atlanta, Birmingham, and Nashville.

We believe local promoters are missing a bet in not bringing such attractions here. There are many college (and high school) students here, we believe, who would greatly like (and pay to see) more jazz groups brought to Memphis.

We feel, and at the same time not degrading "pop" or "rock and roll" music that the presentation of such units as the Mitchell-Ruff duo will give listeners a greater interest and understanding of classical music thru appearances of progressive jazz groups since contemporary jazz is fundamentally based on the works of such musical greats as Bartok and Ravel.

Sure, let's continue to feel proud that Elvis Presley and B. B. King are "hometown finks" but let's not forget Phineas Newborn Jr. and maybe we can encourage local promoters and de-lays to spot more jazz units and works.

Robinson Stops

with an assortment of rights and lefts, then came back and put him away quickly in the fifth.

In this Youth Vs. Age title fight, the 25-year-old Fullmer was out to toll the end of Sugar Ray's long and colorful fistic career.

Robinson at Madison Square Garden last January and was 2-to-1 ring-side favorite to retain his championship.

Fullmer hurt early

The flat-nosed mauler from West Jordan, Utah, looked pale and more tense than Robinson as the fight got underway, but he quickly established the same pattern that won for him in the first fight, rushing Sugar Ray with both fists falling Sugar, however, was having better success, tying Gene up and he hurt the champion with a good right to the ribs midway through the first round.

Robinson scored 159 1/2 and Fullmer a quarter-pound less at the noon weigh-in. Fullmer's poundage was a bit more than expected, which theoretically should have helped rather than hindered the champion.

A crowd of 12,000 was on hand for the bout, nationally televised except in the blacked-out Chicago area.

Robinson was confronted by a $33,000 internal revenue lien on his 30 per cent of the proceeds to take care of a little item of delinquent income taxes.

Here is how to prepare Neapolitan Shortcake Loaf. 4 shortcake dainties 2-3 cup soft butter or margarine 2 cups confectioner's sugar 1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla 1-1/2 teaspoon salt 4 egg yolks 3 squares chocolate, melted 1 pint brick vanilla ice cream Sliced and sweetened fresh strawberries or defrosted frozen sliced strawberries

Cut shortcake dainties into 2 even slices. Combine butter or margarine, sugar, vanilla, salt, and egg yolks in beater bowl. Mix until light and fluffy. Blend in melted chocolate. Cut ice cream into 8 thin slices. Place 3 full slices in small (8-1/2 x 5-1/2 x 1-1/2 inch) buttered glass loaf pan. Top with 2 shortcake dainties, hollow side up. Fill in with slightly softened ice cream slices, smoothing to make an even layer. Spread 1-2 of chocolate mixture over ice cream and cake. Fill center of remaining shortcake dainties with chocolate mixture and place hollow side down on chocolate. Freeze. Let stand at room temperature 5 minutes and remove from pan. Serve plain or frost with whipped cream and return to freeze to harden. Slice and serve with strawberries. Serves 8 to 10.

Father St. Julian Simpkins, pastor of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, spoke giving the "Meaning of Lent." Mrs. U. Holmes was caterer for the occasion. Members present were Mrs. A. W. Willis, Sr., Mrs. Sylvia Owen, Mrs. Ruth Collins, Mrs. L. E. Brown, Mrs. J. Cox, Mrs. George West, Mrs. B. F. McCleave and Mrs. Harry Ratcliffe.

Mrs. Bernice E. F. Calloway made an extensive plane circuit over the weekend to two outstanding meetings (a custom at Easter time). She attended the State PTA Meeting with sessions being held at Knoxville College where she serves as state program chairman. After the banquet she hurried to the Nashville City Teacher's Bridge Dance at Club Barron in the Capitol City. Early Saturday morning Mrs. Calloway was off to Indianapolis where she attended the 28th annual meeting of the National Pan-Hellenic Council. Sigma men Omegas who also held their regionals in Indianapolis, were honored with brilliant banquets and a joint formal that the Memphis matron also attended. She brought greetings back to many friends of Greeks that she ran into at the Sherraton-Lincoln Hotel where she stopped along with other Greeks.

Mrs. Calloway brought back the big news that the National Pan-Hellenic Council will hold its annual Spring Meeting in Memphis next April.

Ft. Valley Pays Tribute To Founder

FORT VALLEY, Ga.—The seventeenth annual Hubbard Day will be observed at Fort Valley State College on May 9. The observance is held annually at the college in memory of William Merida Hubbard, a pioneer in Georgia education and founder of The State Teachers and Agricultural College at Forsyth. The Forsyth Institute was merged with Fort Valley in 1939 and Mr. Hubbard served here as Director of Public Relations until his death in 1941. The William Merida Hubbard Education Building which is fast nearing completion on the campus will serve as a constant reminder of the contributions which Mr. Hubbard made to education in Georgia.

The speaker for the Hubbard Day observance is Mrs. Ethel W. Kight, Jeanes Supervisor of Troup County and Hazardsville City Schools. Mrs. Kight is Regional Director of Region II of the Georgia Teachers and Education Association. Under her leadership for six years as president of the Georgia Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers, she organized six of the eleven districts and the membership grew from 8,000 to 32,000 as a result of Mrs. Kight's effective work in the consolidation of schools in Troup County, one of its two consolidated centers bears the name, The Ethel W. Kight School.

Colonial Proposes Debentures Sale

ATLANTA, Ga.—Colonial Stores Incorporated, one of the top ten supermarket chains in the country, on April 30, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a registration statement covering the proposed sale of $5,000,000 in sinking fund debentures due May 1, 1977.

Colonial, with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, operates 450 supermarkets in 215 communities in eleven states east of the Mississippi. The company was incorporated in Virginia in 1901.

Net proceeds from the sale of the debentures will be added to the company's funds, including funds generated through operations.

The Brass and the Blue

BY noon the temperature rose to staggering heights, but not a man in the command paid the slightest attention. There was a more annoying enemy to think about now. Meanwhile, First Lieutenant Schwabacker went about, making quiet preparations, odd though they seemed.

Contrary to usual rules of decency, he had the wagons abandoned and the horse herd moved frequently. Using the animal herd for cover, he instructed the first and third squads to dig pits large enough to hold four men, two soldiers and two civilians to the pit. His survey revealed that a good many of the civilians were armed with the new Henry repeating rifle, or the seven-shot Spencer. He arrayed them in the dug positions according to fire-power potential.

Finnegan kept his mouth shut, and at times this was difficult. Lieutenant Schwabacker had somewhere lost the "book," for he violated every concept of General Philip St. George Cooke's new tactics.

Spotted Tail must have thought the Army commander completely crazy, or so incisive he couldn't make up his mind where to picket the horses; they were moved eight times in the space of three hours. But each time they moved, troopers and civilians stayed behind, secured in their trenches. Schwabacker took care to see that these positions were adequately covered with brush and that the men stayed out of sight. He had his look at the completed job, and ten yards away they were completely invisible.

By four o'clock the camp was strangely quiet, yet the bugler continued to sound off the calls. Schwabacker drew Sergeant Finnegan aside for his final instructions. "The waiting will be hardest."

"Aye, sor, it can eat a man." "I want you to command the forward position, Sergeant. It's my guess that Spotted Tail will try one big one before the sun goes down. They'll be after the supplies in the wagons. Don't fire until you hear the command."

"Aye, sor." "Set it with it, then," Schwabacker said and went around the camp for a final look. He had thirty men near the wagons, all civilians and armed with Henry repeaters. Rutledge Hughes was in charge and Schwabacker repeated previous instructions. "In no event fire until they break past the second ring. This is for record. I want a man down every time a trigger is squeezed."

"It's crazy," Hughes grumbled, "just asking for it this way." "I have my orders; you have yours."

The second ring of entrenched riflemen was seventy yards out, about the most effective range of the Henrys. The men in the second set of trenches were armed with Spencers, more powerful, longer ranged. Seven powerful volleys without reloading.

Jewish Group Urges End To Rights Delay

NEW YORK (ANP)—Pressing for an end to what it termed "dilatory tactics" by Congress the American Jewish committee ended its five-day 50th anniversary observance last week by calling for support of the Administration's civil rights program and assailed Congress for its "delay" on the bill.

In a resolution, the committee denounced Congress and asserted that it had been 80 years since that body last enacted any legislation dealing with the "protection of the civil rights of the people."

their strategy, and when they were fifty yards from the first line of defense, his nod sent a bugle command outward. The first bars brought carbine fire.

Spotted Tail lost men, but he was prepared to do that now. He had to close and there was a price to be paid, and he paid it with fifteen downed men. His next obstacle was the Spencer rifles; he had to crush that force. Driving past the first entrenchments, he met a suddenly increased fire as the Henry rifles entered the fight. This was a numbing shock; Schwabacker could see the hostile mass shudder like a wounded beast.

Dust rose in blinding clouds and gunfire rattled like dice in a wooden box. Then with a yell of bitter defeat, the Cheyennes withdrew from the field. A few braves remained behind to carry away the dead and wounded.

"Sound the bugles!" Schwabacker said and stood there while the horns gathered his forces. He knew that he had lost men. Knew he would before the fight opened, but Finnegan's report still jarred him.

"Eleven dead and nine wounded, sor." "How did the civilians fare, Sergeant?" "They're missin' a few too, sor."

"Re-form the command and see that the wounded are placed in wagons," Schwabacker said, replacing his unfired pistol.

He knew a feeling of satisfaction, for now he could report his mission accomplished. At least half of it was, giving Spotted Tail another licking. Schwabacker waited while his command assembled. Waited for their verdict, positive that one would be rendered by his men. He had invited this attack and men had been killed. They could blame him. Never forgive him. From Rutledge Hughes' expression Schwabacker saw that there was one man who never would. But he didn't give a hoot about Hughes.

He watched the faces of his men as they came in. A group of troopers stopped nearby, purposely idle. Sergeant Finnegan returned and just stood there, not saying anything. Finally one of the troopers said, "That was a darn good fight, sir."

Schwabacker turned to his own camp and Sergeant Finnegan followed. Finally he said, "I'm just a dumb Irishman who takes orders, but by God, sor, you give 'em, and this troop'll follow 'em." He grinned. Emil Schwabacker had seen him grin before, but this was different, for it went beyond pleasure. It was the grin one man gives another when he's just glad to be a friend.

Mission soundly accomplished in the verdict of Emil's troopers. But some civilians don't figure it that way, and they're making trouble for Emil. Continue "The Brass and the Blue" tomorrow in this paper.
