Mother Of Six Will Lead Owen Graduation Class

MRS. LUCILLE THOMPSON WILL GRADUATE WITH HIGHEST HONORS

A mother of six children, including a married daughter and a son who is a student at Tennessee State University, will lead the 57 Owen College graduation class as top scholar among the 29 candidates for graduation.

Mrs. Lucille Brazil Thompson, wife of Porter School principal Richard B. Thompson, Sr., and the mother of one daughter and five sons, will be graduated with highest honors at Owen College's commencement exercise next Friday, May 31, 4 P. M., on the college campus.

Mrs. Thompson, who will be awarded an Associate in Arts degree, was the first to enroll in Owen College's Extended Day division when the school formally opened in September, 1954.

"I always wanted to further my education," Mrs. Thompson said, "and when I learned that Owen College was to offer evening classes, that was convenient enough for me."

Owen's top graduate, the mother of Mrs. Jean Marie Sims, Edward James, Charles, Albert and Richard Thompson, Jr., a student at Tennessee State, in addition to a full time job at the Buckman laboratories, attended school each afternoon from 5:30 to 9:30 P. M.

"I'm happy I was able to stick it out. It was trying at times, but now I realize I would not take anything for the time it took. It was worth every minute," Mrs. Thompson asserted.

Mrs. Thompson, of 579 Arrington, is active in church and civic activities, serving as Sunday School treasurer; finance secretary; teacher of the intermediate boys class, a member of auxiliary number eight, a member of the Floral and KDR clubs and the senior missionary society of the St. James A. College president Levi Watkins will present the diplomas and Dr. S. A. Owen, chairman of the board and president of the Tennessee B. M. and E. Convention, will confer.

One of the men asked Johnson to borrow a can for gas because his car had run out, Johnson said as he was filling a can he heard the cash register ring. He said he ran to the cash register and started to grapple with Bennett. He said Reed then started toward him brandishing a gun saying "turn him loose or I'll kill you."

Johnson told police that the pair fled on foot with $118. Patrolmen Winfield and Dickey, who answered the call, spotted the two men going west off Bellevue onto Guasco, about one block south of the station.

T. M. Alexander Loses To Georgia Governor's Choice

ATLANTA, GEORGIA—(SNS)—Prominent businessman T. M. Alexander put up an unforgettable battle in his fight for a coveted Seventh Ward aldermanic seat last night although he lost, by an unofficial 10,000 vote deficit, to his opponent, Jack Summers, in an unprecedented city-wide Primary runoff election.

Unofficial returns show that a solid deluge of 13,528 Negro votes went to Alexander.

Summers received approximately 32,000 votes over Alexander's 22,000. Immediately following the unofficial returns, Mr. Alexander issued the following statement:

"I think that the good accomplished entering the aldermanic race has justified the effort, and I wish to express my appreciation to all those who supported me."

"I would like to congratulate my opponent upon his victory and this type of campaign which has personally conducted."

CLARK — CATES CONTEST In the same election, but in a less heated race, Goodwyn "Shag" Cates received approximately 27,000 votes to snatch the Eight Ward Aldermanic post from incumbent R. M. "Bob" Clark who got roughly 21,000 votes.

In Negro precincts Cates and Clark ran nip and tuck throughout the race. Cates eked out 5,235 votes while Clark only managed to get 5,199.

Sixth Ward voters chose John A. West as their Executive Committeeman by giving him an unofficial tally of 260 votes while giving his opponent, M. K. Lester only 20.

Upward of 55,000 persons came to the polls to vote in the election which took on national prominence, after Gov. Marvin Griffin entered the race by voicing his opinion that Summers was a better man than Alexander and that this was no time to have a Negro as Alderman.

Alexander, in losing, won a distinct victory for himself and his race in that he was capable of advancing to the playoff in a political game which was scored by the general public. Had he won, he would have been the first Negro to enter such a position since 1871.

Summers, a local barber supplies salesman, captured the majority vote after having gotten a plurality in the May 8th primary. Alexander came in second in the first balloting and E. Sam Jones the third aspirant candidate, was automatically eliminated.

Alexander had been an outstanding and controversial figure in the city primary campaign since his unprecedented entrance March 23. When his hat hit the floor of the local political arena, he became the third Negro to seek election to an aldermanic post. William Finch and George Graham, forerunners Negroes took their oath of office January 1, 1957.

Tribunal Nixes Plan For Gradual College Mixing

WASHINGTON, D. C. —(NNPA)—The Tennessee Board of Education must work out a speedier plan for integration at the institutions under its control than the one it proposed when suit was filed to compel the admission of colored students to Memphis State College.

The Supreme Court Monday refused to review the decision of the Sixth United States Circuit Court of Appeals holding that the proposed plan was not in accord with the high tribunal's ruling against racial segregation in public education.

The effect of the denial of a review is to leave standing the decision of the circuit court reversing the Federal District judge at Memphis, who held that the proposed plan was in keeping with the decision against segregated public schools.

Miss Ruth Booker and others, all residents of Memphis, brought suit as a class action in the Federal District Court at Memphis. They sought an injunction to restrain the Tennessee Board of Education and the president and registrar of Memphis State College from refusing to admit colored students.

It was conceded that they were fully qualified for admission and that they were denied admission solely because they are colored. Memphis State College was maintained for the education of white persons exclusively.

The Tennessee Constitution of 1870 and state statutes expressly prohibited the attendance of colored and white persons in the same schools.

The defense to the suit was that Memphis State College was not physically equipped to handle

Ike Urged To Act Against Bias Evils

ALBANY, N. R. —(ANP)—President Eisenhower was urged to speak out against discrimination last week by Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

"Through the exercise of his powers of appointment, the President can and should be encouraging those who comply with the Constitution and discourage those who flout it," the Empire State Democratic chief declared. He added that the President could further discourage prejudice by earmarking public funds for demonstrations of integration in neighborhoods, schools and public projects.

Sugar Ray Okays Carmen Basilio

NEW YORK — Harlem Dandy Sugar Ray Robinson, flushed and triumphant has okayed preliminary negotiations for a title fight with welterweight king Carmen Basilio in September.

The news broke following between Robinson and the International Boxing Club Tuesday. Robinson, and his brain trust George Gainsford, Joe Glaser and Harold Johnson paid a visit to IBC president James D. Norris and approved spade-work for the bout.

Financial details will be discussed later when Basilio and his handlers return from the West Coast.

John Stewart, Atlanta Native, Elected To Durham City Council

DURHAM, N. C. — John S. Stewart, Durham business man and chairman of the politically powerful Durham Committee on Negro Affairs, was elected to the City Council from the Third Ward in last Saturday's balloting.

Stewart defeated James T. Taylor, psychology professor at North Carolina College, 4,941 to 2,859. Also swept into office on Stewart's slate were incumbent Mayor E. J. Evans who polled 5,422 votes to rival Walter Biggs 5,061 and five additional councilmen; Floyd Fletcher, First Ward; J. E. Strawbridge, Fifth Ward; and R. W. Grabarke, Ben R. Roberts, and Charles L. Steel, At-Large Councilmen.

ATLANTA NATIVE Stewart, Atlanta native and graduate of the Atlanta University School of Business Administration, has been in the forefront of the civil rights movement in Durham. As chairman of the DCNA, he has long been recognized as one of the political powers in local politics. In his position on the State Democratic Executive Committee, he probably wields more influence in Democratic party circles than any other North Carolina Negro citizen.

His bid for the City Council spot was Stewart's first try for public office. He had the endorsement of the Committee which did not support Taylor, an Independent, who was one of the Committee's founders.

He succeeds Rencher N. Harris, first Negro councilman in Durham history. Harris said business pressures prevented his seeking reelection. It was generally conceded that Harris, who has won the admiration of Durham city fathers and citizens alike, would have been overwhelmingly re-elected.

ASSIGNMENT: LEMOYNE COLLEGE

BY MELVIN GREER

EVERYBODY LOVED "LUCY" IN "MURDER FOR THE BRIDE"
One thing everybody who witnessed the Drama Department's suspense filled mystery, "Murder For The Bride," presented Monday night at C. Arthur Bruce Hall, agreed on: They loved Lucy.

Lucy was the elderly heroine of the play who was portrayed by Mrs. Ethel Mae Starkes, and while it cannot probably be said that Mrs. Starkes impersonates the best grand mother-type woman in all the theatrical world, it can be said that her impersonation rates among the best. "Murder For The Bride" was a story about a blackmailing bride-to-be who is murdered at her bridal shower by shapely Dorothy Stiles, playwright who is rebuffed by the courageous efforts of Mrs. Starkes in such surprising dramatic and semi-professional finesse. Mrs. Starkes, who, is far, far from the age of ninety-five, put so much realism into her acting that many thought she was actually an old woman.

STELLA, CLARENSIA ADD SPARK

Baby-faced Miss Stella Key and bulging Miss Claresia Washington brought the play out of several boring moments when Mrs. Starkes wasn't having her fling. Miss Key, in the most startling role of the year, played a rousing, baseball-playing tom boy, and as tomboys usually do, she was into everything, keeping the sparse crowd in continuous laughter. Miss Washington also kept sides splitting, as she brilliantly portrayed "Madame Slovenia," a palm reader. Also included in the play were: Miss Laura Pulliam, Miss Lorece Payne, Miss Dorothy Stiles (Previously mentioned), Miss Clara Bowden, Miss Yvonne Brown (Everybody seemed to think she was the murderer), Miss Mary Lee Jones, Miss Rose Lene Collins and Miss Virginia Wilson.

This was the fifth in a series of plays presented by Miss Elsie Van Ness and her drama troupe, and, unfortunately, the last for the current year. They have presented "Instincts of a Lady," "Castle of Perseverance," "The Kindled Flame" and "The Silver Cord," all of which were hits. Members of "Miss Van Ness' drama group for this year are: Miss Leneva Bishop, Miss Margaret Bland, Miss Clara Bowden, Miss Yvonne Brown, Miss Rose Lene Collins, Miss Gladys Dorch, James Hawes, Miss Eleanor Johnson, Miss Mary Lee Jones, Miss Stella Key, William (Dintymo) Little, Miss Peggy McNairy, Miss Emma Jean Mitchum, Miss Lorece Payne, Miss Annie Bell Price, Willie Martin, Miss Laura B. Pulliam, Danny Richmond, Miss Albrida Sanders, Mrs. Ethel Mae Starkes, Miss Dorothy Stiles, Miss Glensie Turner, Joseph M. Claresia Washington, Miss Ardenia Watson, Miss Celia Williams, Miss Virginia Wilson, and Miss Walter Mary Young.

DRAMA FANS
Some of the drama fans who turned out for Monday's performance were: Miss Emma Jean Gibson, Marvin Plunkett, Miss Darnell Thomas, Allen Hammond, Miss Peggy McNairy, Miss John Ella Wells, Marion Barry, Lawson Little, Benjamin Poindexter, Miss Naomi McAfee, Miss Rose Ward, Miss Linda Haralson, LeRoy Sommerset, Frank Lockhart, Willie (Elephant Boy) Allen, Cleophus Hudson, Jake Kelly, Ronald Anderson, Miss Gale Caple, Miss Priscilla Turner, Ronald Anderson, Nesby Blanchard, Miss Dorcia James, Miss Geraldine McCray, Miss Dorothy Little, William Cross and Kenneth Cole.

C. ARTHUR BRUCE TO HAND OUT BACHELOR DEGREES JUNE 3

HERE, THERE, AND AROUND LEMOYNE
CAN MARION BARRY DO NOTHING but complain? This time he's gone too far, however, threatening writers with violence. "I don't go for what was written about me Friday at all," mumbled Barry Monday. "Just wait until the last day of school!"

THIS surprising remark reminds of the good old elementary school days when some kids sought revenge on some other kid without having to face teacher the next day. But who would expect such a juvenile action in college? Ridiculous! Unless there are some actual children in college who pretend to be college material, and indications certainly point in that direction.

ENGLISH and mathematics apparently cause more trouble for high school kids than all the other subjects combined. This is why LeMoynes is sponsoring its second pre-orientation course this summer for the purpose of giving "the prospective college student intensive preparation in the two fundamental college subjects, English and mathematics."

Any high school graduate who expects to attend college (Any college) is invited to enroll, or, for that matter, any eleventh grade student upon recommendation of his advisor can enroll. Registration is scheduled for June 8, and the expenses are but $40.

For further information on this course, contact Miss Juanita Williamson here at LeMoynes for more details and application blank.

FRANK LOCKHART'S new composition is drawing raves from the critics. The name of Lockhart's new composition is "Anestea By Twilight," a beautiful name, and a beautiful piece.

THE TOP 11 BOARD has disbanded for the year, but will return in the fall. Next Friday the Board will announce the Top 11 Champions and Runner-ups.

AS YOU have probably noticed, this column is running out of space and, besides that, Miss Jean C. Haydel, Mrs. Laurie Sugarman, Mr. Reginald Morris and Mr. Carl Johnson, all LeMoynites, are appearing on television in a few minutes. (Times, 9-30 P. M. Buff City Jubilee

CALYPSO MUSIC WAS THEME OF COTTON MAKERS' JUBILEE PARADE

An estimated 100,000 spectators saw the Cotton Makers' Jubilee Parade Friday night... Thousands of school kids and folks from 'all walks of life' walked for blocks, pushing through crowds, to get a peep of the unusually pretty floats, fine school bands and majorettes who thrilled the large mobs that stood on many street corners, especially at the grandstand in Handy Square where W. C. Handy wrote his Blues. Even though Calypso music took the day Friday... Douglas High School stole the show... doing "Dark Town Strutters Ball"...

CITY OFFICIALS AND ROYALTY

Almost first to pull up in front of the vividly decorated grand stand was the Honorable Edmund Orgill driving his black convertible Cadillac and wearing a two tone brown and beige suit... King Cole, a local radio announcer, wore a yellow robe. They were led to their throne by Mr. Elmer Henderson, a former King... Junior Royalty and its court arrived sitting close to King Cole and Queen Dorothy were pretty little King Daniel Brown and the beautiful little Queen Marcia Turner.

King Cole and Queen Dorothy Ann Smith arrived on a large decorated float which took on the Latin American tropical theme. The beautiful queen wore an exquisite long pink taffeta that stood out over hoops showing off the deep acher trim. She wore a colorful aqua velvet robe studded with rhinestones... Queen is not only pretty, but has brain... She is a senior at M. I. College at Holly Springs, Miss. She will be long remembered for her clear eyes and skin and lovely smile...

"Who Says You Need Costly Shots To Relieve 'Hot Flashes' And Irritation From Change-Of-Life?"

(Mrs. A. M. Watonga, Okla., adds, "Middle age" was torturing. Had costly shots 3 times a week but got no relief. Then took Pinkham's Tablets. They brought me new happiness, comfort!")

Irritable, tortured nerves were calmed. Dizziness relieved. Awful hot flashes subsided. Here's your... Unlike aspirin and such "general purpose" remedies this new tablet is a unique combination of special medicines... acts directly on the cause of these troubles... works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve tense feelings and physical distress that bring unhappiness to so many. Clinical tests prove this.

Street artist many tributes in generous terms... Gwendolyn Bradley, a student at Hamilton, told about the birth of the Jubilee 21 years ago, also about Dr. Venson's slave parents who gave land and a frame building for a school in their immediate community after the Civil War.

Clark, Javits Praise Pilgrimage

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NNPA).—Senators Joseph S. Clark Democrat, of Pennsylvania, and Jacob K. Javits, Republican, of New York, Friday sent the following telegram to the Prayers Pilgrimage for Freedom at the Lincoln Memorial here:

Deeply regret our schedules prevent addressing Prayers Pilgrimage today. We send greetings and best wishes to all in attendance at Prayers Pilgrimage for Freedom.

"The right of our citizens to peacefully assemble and to petition the Government for redress of grievances is one of the most precious rights secured by our Constitution, and citizens are entitled to respect as well as protection in its exercise.

"The spirit of your meeting reflects what we believe to be the spirit of a great majority of our country to support the achievement of civil rights legislation at this session of Congress.

"There is a real fight here, both for minimal civil rights measures and for a change in the Senate rule which allows filibusters that have killed the changes for civil rights legislation before, and we both assure you that we will give these measures our strong support on a bipartisan basis.

"We present our respects to Roy Wilkins, A. Philip Randolph and Rev. Luther King and to the great audience at the Lincoln Memorial today."

Political unrest has been blamed for the demonstrations, which have occurred sporadically on and off ever since President Paul E. Magloire was ousted last December. Since then, three provisional presidents of the Negro republic have also been expelled.

As the new wave of demonstrations broke out last week, police raided radio stations here that were broadcasting rebellious messages to the people. Thousands of Haitians armed themselves for a fight with police and the army. Schools, stores, market places and public buildings were closed. Residents threatened to blow up bridges and roads to the capital of the little nation.

The demonstrations came about after huge throngs of people demanded the resignation of the Haitian ruling council, which is blamed for the ouster of the three presidents and charged with fomenting political unrest in Haiti. The council is composed of seven men.

The council is attempting to set up a general election for June 16. Angry citizens, however, barricaded streets to prevent the government from registering voters in some sections of the country. Police hurled tear gas at a group of mostly women demonstrators and conditions appeared to be at a state of eminent revolution.

Physical Race Separation Not J'm Crow Object-Wilkins

Maintenance Of Caste System Seen As Purpose

NEW YORK—The purpose of segregation "is not, and never has been, the physical separation of the races," Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, asserts in an article in the May issue of Current History magazine.

Pointing out that the majority race would be at a loss without the "domestic and personal" services of Negroes, Mr. Wilkins declares that "maintenance of the caste system is the sole purpose of segregation."

"Such a system," the civil rights leader observes, "assigns to the lowliest white person a place in the southern scheme superior to that of any Negro of whatever culture, talent or wealth. Thus the southern white is assured a place of superiority without the necessity of competing on the basis of individual merit. This end is achieved by designating certain social, economic and physical areas as, off limits to Negroes."

Mr. Wilkins' article, "Desegregation North and South" appears in an issue of Current History devoted to "Integration: The South's Historic Problem."

Noting that "segregation is by no means confined to the South," the article maintains that nevertheless "fundamental differences between the North and South exist, which should not be overlooked."

Among these differences, the author says, are the lack of legal sanctions for segregation in the North, the "substantial public support" for integration in the North, and the northern Negro's political power which "assure a official consideration" of his wishes.

SCHOOLS, NORTH AND SOUTH

Desegregation of the public school is termed by Mr. Wilkins "the big fight in the South today." The struggle for southern school desegregation will go on, he affirms "because the southern Negro wants to get rid of the shame and humiliation of Jim Crow."

Of school segregation, northern and southern varieties, the author says: "There is, as almost any southerner will gleefully tell you, a considerable measure of de facto racial segregation in the North. However, it is a basic fallacy to try to equate Jim Crow in the North with the southern pattern. There

Sen. Kennedy Gives Pulitzer Award To United College Fund

NEW YORK — Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts presented his $500 Pulitzer Prize check to the United Negro College Fund in Boston, May 11.

The Democratic Senator won the Pulitzer biography award for his volume, "Profiles in Courage."

The check was accepted by Winthrop H. Churchill, chairman, and is a vast difference between the two qualitatively and quantitatively.

"For example, the de facto segregation schools in New York and other non-southern cities are not the result of legislation. Rather, they are the result of the extralegal discrimination which restricts the great bulk of the Negro population to limited living areas. Essentially, the problem in the North is the problem of housing discrimination. Housing is the one basic commodity which the Negro cannot as a rule, purchase in the open market either North or South."

Mitchell recently was given a mental examination and found mentally stable.

JACKSON, Miss. — (ANP) — An appeal to the governor of Mississippi last week by the vice chairman of the Tennessee Federation for Constitutional Government seeking financial assistance for 16 white persons charged with criminal contempt of court may prove fruitful to the cause of segregation.

This was evidenced last week as the Mississippi State Sovereignty Commission undertook consideration of the appeal issued by Jack Kershaw to Gov. J. P. Coleman. Kershaw sought financial help for 16 persons in Tennessee who face federal contempt of court charges for interfering with integration at Clinton high school in Clinton, Tenn.

N. Y. Anti-Bias Agency Gets 50% More Cases Lately

By SAMUEL P. PERRY, JR. FOR ANP
NEW YORK — (ANP) — This week Charles Abrams, chairman, State Commission Against Discrimination (SCAD) indicated that in the first three months of 1957 the commission had handled 50 percent more cases than in the similar period of 1956.

The increase in case load was attributed by Mr. Abrams primarily to the widening of public interest and awareness of rights under the state anti-discrimination laws and to a growing knowledge of the state agency's activities.

Indications were that of the 347 complaints received during the first quarter of 1957, 316 involved discrimination in employment; 314, discrimination because of color.

Mr. Abrams asserted that there was a noticeable shift in the type of complaints with an increasing number involving discrimination in upgrading and conditions of employment.

"While minorities are obtaining employment in many industries," he stated, "their main problem is one of advancement after employment has been secured."

Incidentally, a check with SCAD's other officials has emphasized the fact that the agency's Labor Advisory Committee and the Commerce and Industry Advisory Committee have initiated new programs aimed at promoting employment integration.

Civil Liberties Union Opposes Jury Amendment To Rights Bill

Against Weakening Power Of Courts

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NNPA)—The American Civil Liberties Union Tuesday declared its opposition to any amendment to civil rights legislation which would require a jury trial for persons charged with contempt of court for violating injunctions restraining interference with the right to vote.

The ACLU position, adopted unanimously by its Board of Directors, was made public by Patrick Murphy Malin, its executive director. "The key provision in pending civil rights legislation would authorize the Attorney General to bring civil suits in the name of the United States to enjoin threatened violations of the right to vote and other civil rights."

Under existing law, a person charged with criminal contempt in cases where the United States seeks an injunction is not entitled to a jury trial.

"While there is always need to guard vigilantly against the misuse of government power, including injunctions which are too broad," Mr. Malin said, "there is also need to prevent weakening the power of our courts to uphold the law of the land."

"The right of equal treatment under law is fatally undermined when community sentiment blocks the enforcement of law."

University Of Virginia Features Bias Articles In Campus Magazine

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va.—(ANP)—A five-article series on the integration issue in America was published here last week by a University of Virginia student magazine called the "Spectator."

The series includes one story by staunch racist John Kasper and four others by Floyd Fleming, vice president of the Seaboard White Citizens Council; Sarah Patton, wife of a University of Virginia drama professor; Edwin B. Henderson, president of the Virginia State NAACP conference and novelist; William Faulkner, who gave permission for a re-print of his life magazine feature entitled "Letter to the North."

The article by Kasper, the 28-year-old parolier of the Clinton, Tenn., flareups last year, was written as he waits in jail in Tennessee. The story is called "Segregation or Death."

STRUGGLE VOWED
Kasper condemned the U. S. Supreme court in his yarn, and advo-

ated that it be tried for treason, he called his opponents "Marxist, unutter, race mixer, degenerate politicians," and vowed a struggle to the death with them.

Zanuck Offers Pay For Race Movies

MEXICO CITY—(ANP)—Following reports he saw from Charlotte, N. C., indicating that theatres in that state and in South Carolina would face penalties for showing the film "Island In The Sun," movie maker Darryl F. Zanuck said he would pay any fines levied on theatres for presenting the film.

The offer came after a legislative committee had warned movie operators in the two Carolinas not to show the movie, which deals with interracial romance in the West Indies and features Harry Belafonte, Joan Fontaine and Dorothy Dandridge.

As a result of a bill introduced in South Carolina, any movie house showing the film would be hit with a $5,000 fine. The film is to be released next month.

Said Zanuck, "to penalize a film before it is seen is the worst kind of censorship. This reminds me of the burning of books in Germany by Hitler."

Solon Wants To Find Old Friend

WASHINGTON—(ANP)—Rep. Albert P. Moran (R. Conn.) has begun a nation-wide search for a missing boyhood chum whose whereabouts have been unknown since he was discharged from the U. S. Air Force last August.

Moran said his efforts to locate Perry Hampton Sherman of Greenwich, Conn., have been in vain. He described Sherman as a Negro about 5 feet, 11 inches tall. He is a former boxer and served as Tech/Sgt. in the Air Force. He is a man who looks much younger than his 53 years.

The Connecticut congressman has requested anyone knowing the whereabouts of Sherman to notify him at Room, 133 Old House Post Office Building, Washington 25, D.C.

Moran said the FBI had joined Sherman's sister, Mrs. Elsie Sherman Wong, 2 View Street, Greenwich, and three brothers in the search, but no trace has been uncovered.

The Air Force reported that Sherman was discharged from Manhattan Beach, New York, on Aug. 3, 1956, after 14 years of honorable service. Authorities said Sherman resigned, but was in good health at the time of discharge.

The institute is being sponsored on a $66,000 grant from the National Science Foundation and is one of a series of 95 being held as part of the Foundation's program to stimulate interest in science and to improve the effectiveness of science teaching.

Participants in the Morgan Institute, which will run from June 24-August 16, have been selected from a total of 288 applicants.

Their stipends range from $630.64 to $1,190, depending upon the distance traveled and dependency allowances.

New Church Code Bars Youngsters

PEORIA, Ill.—(INS)—A new code adopted Thursday by church pastors in the Peoria area bars 6,000 Catholic grade school youngsters from dating and attending dances.

The new code takes effect this fall and according to the official diocesan newspaper, was designed to "retain for the grade school boy and girl their proper treasure of childhood and to retard premature acceleration into social ventures."

The code spells out these limitations for students up to the 8th grade in 15 parochial schools: No dating, no dancing, no mixing parties other than school sponsored functions, no social activity unless chaperoned by parents no formal, corsages or makeup.

Additional suggestions for parents in the code include supervision of television, radio, motion pictures, photograph records, reading material and an evening curfew.

The preamble to the code asserts that the basic places of training the adolescents are the home and school.

MRS. F. EARL MCLENDON

Gala Meal For Summer Guests

The hotter it gets the less we like to fuss; but there are occasions that demand a gala meal as, for example, the visit of a favorite relative or friend from out of town.

Here's a showy and delicious dinner suggested by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association — one that includes a provocative "conversation piece." The whole production takes about the same amount of time and effort you ordinarily spend on a Sunday dinner for your own family, yet looks as if you had been slaving over it for hours:

- Vichyssoise
- Creamed Chicken in Avocado
- Tossed Salad
- Cranberry - Orange Sauce
- Brown-n-Serve Biscuits
- Ice Cream Cake
- Viennese Coffee

To make the main dish, wash, cut in half and remove stones from several large avocados, allowing a half per portion and a few extras, just in case. Marinate with French dressing a half hour, then drain and fill with the creamed chicken. Be sure this is well-seasoned. Cover tops with bread crumbs and arrange in greased shallow baking dish.

Place in oven of your gas range at 375 degrees and bake until avocados are thoroughly heated — about 20-30 minutes, then run under broiler flame until tops are brown. The pan of biscuits can go into the oven the last ten minutes so that they're ready at the same time as the main dish.

For the cranberry dish, GAMA participation, purpose and program of the Links Incorporated organization told the men they would have a chance to see her group in action when it holds its National Convention here next month.

Mrs. McLendon, a member of Atlanta Links, said "Next month over 300 women will converge upon Atlanta from all parts of the country. We hope that you and the other citizens of Atlanta will welcome them to our fair city because they are really 'citizens of the world' who have dedicated themselves to progress and to the fact that they will use their God-given talents to find a place and make a contribution to their fellow-men."

The popular Atlanta wife of Dr. P. Earl McLendon said the theme of the convention will be "Link Responsibility in Establishing Better Intercultural Relations."

According to the speaker, Links, Incorporated grew out of a telephone conversation between two Philadelphia, Pa., women in 1946. "To symbolize in our daily lives all the ideals, purposes, and true meaning of the word friendship as embodied in the name Links."

The organization, spread rapidly, first along the East coast area, and then into the North Central States. By 1949, there were fourteen chapters.

Climaxing her picturesque history of Links, Mrs. McLendon said "and so the forward thrust of the spirit of the original nine members has resulted in a dynamic organization of more than 1,000 members and 71 chapters located throughout the length and breadth of the land."

She explained that the Links, in fulfilling its civil responsibilities, has done much for humanity. The local chapter contributed a $400 audiometer to the Speech and Hearing Clinic which was held at Spelman College. The group performed philanthropic deeds at the Happy Haven Home for the Aged, and plans to work in a human relations capacity with the Gate City Day Nursery. She went on to list many other things that the Atlanta Links have done.

advises grating the rind of a large orange and adding to two cans of whole cranberry sauce, to allow for "seconds." If you want to "pretty up" your table, serve this in the scooped out halves of small oranges. The fleshy pulp can be used in a fruit salad or gelatin dessert the next day so that there's no waste.

The ever-popular Waldorf Salad is suggested but GAMA says a tossed green salad is equally acceptable with this meal.

The ice cream cake may be obtained in local confectionary stores which are more apt to have the kind made with thin layers of sponge cake between the ribbons of different flavored ice cream.

FAREWELL ADDRESS (In Part)

My term as President of your Student Council has been most regretful. I had but one year to serve you, my fellow students.

It has been a real joy and satisfaction to have been fortunate enough to work with such a fine group this year. It has been a real pleasure to play some small part in the great accomplishment that has been made.

A president of the Student Council learns many things through his experiences with both the students themselves and the faculty and principal. Many times as students we are inclined to feel that advice given by our instructors is all right for them to follow—but there is plenty of time for us as youngsters to take heed. This year I have been placed on the border line of both teacher and student—have been able to better realize the seriousness and importance of grasping (not later but now) and putting into practice at the earliest possible time all of the advice that we are so fortunate to receive. It has been said that "Experience is a good teacher and a fool will learn from no other." I feel that in one short year I have learned many things through experiences. These experiences leave me with mixed emotions. There is no group of people whom I will ever feel closer to than you who have honored me with your confidence.

No Protection Against Atomic Fallout, Expert Says

NEW YORK. — (SNS) — "There is no known defense against radioactive fallout," in the opinion of Dr. S. S. Nehru, one of India's leading scientists and a cousin of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Currently in the U. S. on a lecture tour Dr. Nehru told International News Service that he regards "the danger from nuclear reactors as no less than from nuclear bomb tests." "The widespread belief that led or ferro-concrete insulation might afford protection against fallout," he said, "is a dangerous fallacy. Lead, or indeed any heavy metal, is a powerful captor and breeder of radioactive energy, and is likely to cause more harm than good." "Exposing the world to an ever increasing nuclear fallout is equivalent to a suicide of the human race."

THAT LAVISH LOOK... THAT LUXURY TASTE... IT'S PET, YOU BET!

You wouldn't think such high, luscious topping could be anything except whipped cream, would you? But it is — it's whipped Pet Evaporated Milk!

Y'see — there's golden-country cream in every single drop of Pet Milk — more than twice as much as in ordinary milk.

That's why it looks tempting and rich as good fresh cream... and whips like a dream!

You'd guess in a minute that milk like this could do lots of other things ordinary milk can't do. And you'd be exactly right. Pet Milk blends in beautifully to make smooth rich sauces... makes favorite cream pies better than ever — even "creams" your coffee to party-time perfection.

So, if you enjoy luxury living, get Pet Milk... America's first evaporated milk.

- WHIPPED LEMON TOPPING — It's easy to whip
- 1/2 cup PET Evaporated MILK
- 1/2 Teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 4 Teaspoon sugar
- 2 Teaspoon lemon juice
- Chill milk in ice tray until almost frozen around edges. Put ice-cold milk into a cold 1-quart bowl with sugar. Whip with cold rotary beater by hand, or with electric beater at high speed, until fluffy. Add lemon rind and juice. Whip until stiff. (Serve as topping on puddings, plain cake, pies or other desserts.) Makes 1 cup.

The Memphis Red Sox will play their home game of the 1957 season Sunday afternoon at Martin Stadium when they engage the Birmingham Black Barons. It will be the opening day for the Red Sox who will be starting their 34th year of continuous play.

The Red Sox management, as well as the other club owners of the league will try to have the largest opening day crowd in many years on hand for the doubleheader. Efforts are being made to have several civic minded groups participate in the Opening Day Ceremonies, to get the Red Sox off to a fast start.

We have mentioned from time to time, the efforts the owners are putting forth to increase attendance at their games. Arold & Associates, Public Relation Counselors, have been engaged to handle the public relations, and get the fans out to the Red Sox games. They are doing a good job in publishing and advertising the Opening Day games, and a large crowd is expected to be on hand when the umpire yells "Play Ball!"

For years Memphis has been known as a good sports town, particularly a good baseball town. Most of the great Negro players of the past 35 years have performed here, and were received with great enthusiasm by local fans. Only in recent years have the fans seemingly lost interest in baseball from the professional angle, resulting in poor attendance at the Red Sox games.

The team is going all out this season to try to get the fans to return to Martin Stadium, and see the young players in action, many of them likely to be performing in the major leagues in the next few years. True, the Negro American League does not have the calibre of players it once had, as many good players are now members of some minor league clubs affiliated with a major league organization, but still the league is serving as a means for the young players to develop their natural abilities.

From the attendance standpoint, most of the club owners lost money last season, and probably the past three or four seasons. Some of them were able to offset some of the loss by being able to sell some of the players they developed.

They are looking forward for similar success this year if attendance does not show a marked increase.

Fans can render a service not only to the club owners, but to the players themselves by attending the league games. The league has developed more players than any other agency, including our schools and colleges. The players learn much of the fundamentals of the game, able to play every day and the importance of teamwork. The owners are taking a long chance to carry on, day after day, playing to small crowds, and hoping to make up the loss through the sale of some player.

Including the many Cuban players, there are more than 40 colored players in both the major leagues. Many of them came up through the Negro American League. There are scores of others in the minor league who got their starts in Negro baseball. Other promising young players need the support and encouragement of the fans as they pursue their careers.

So, see the Red Sox and the Birmingham Black Barons in action Sunday at Martin Stadium. It is the Red Sox opening home game of the 1957 season. Be one of the crowd to get the Red Sox off in their race for the pennant.

Red Sox Meet Birmingham In Season Opener Sun.

BY LAWRENCE WADE

The Memphis Red Sox, one of the Negro American League perennial powers, will play the opening day at Martin Stadium.

The Red Sox will field its youngest and most powerful aggregation in the long and colorful history of the team. The Red Sox are managed by Homer "Goose" Curry, who was one of the all-time great players of organized Negro baseball. This is the consecutive year Skipper Curry has managed the team.

The Memphis entry will field a fast, young aggressive team that is sure to win praise and attract crowds wherever they perform.

Back again this year with the Sox is one of the league's leading hitters last year. He's James Banks Sox 1st baseman (who has attracted virtually all of the major league scouts attention.) Banks clipped the ball at a tremendous 348 average during the 1956 season. To back up the Sox one-two punch is their hustling and surranded 2nd Baseman, Rufus (Gib) "Gip", he is fondly called by his teammates, compelled an enviable .341 batting average last year.

The Red Sox boast the best double play combination in the league. The Strozler - to Gipson - to Banks' combination, last year accounted for a league record of 72 double plays.

The pitching staff of the Red Sox is boasting by a crops of strong armed, hard - throwing youngsters. Headed by a highly regarded curve ball, artist Elmore Lewis, Elmore hails from the hills of Tennessee and stands 6ft. 5 in. The staff is sound out by Elmore's brothers, Ben Lewis, Ernest Lewis and Frank McCollum. According to pre-season dope, these boys give the Red Sox the best staff in the league.

This year's edition of the Memphis Red Sox promises to be the most interesting and crowd-pleasing groups in the team's entire history.

Make plans now to attend the opening game of 1957; between the Red Sox and Birmingham Black Barons at Martin Stadium, Sunday-afternoon. Game time 2:15.

Testimony Ends In Housing Suit

SAVANNAH, Ga. — (INS) —

Testimony in the test suit over racial segregation in public housing in Savannah was completed Tuesday and the Federal Judge gave both sides six weeks to file briefs.

The plaintiff is Mrs. Queen Cohen, who is seeking $5,000 damages from the Public Housing Administration and the Housing Administration of Savannah for enforcing racial segregation in public housing units.

BOTH SIDES

U. S. District Judge Frank M. Scarlett brought the case to an abrupt halt after testimony was completed. Both sides waived the right to argue and left the decision up to the Judge after they submit their briefs. Judge Scarlett said he didn't believe in repeating the facts of the case after all the evidence was in. He said he was going "fishing" and would make his decision after studying the briefs.

The case is considered an important test to end segregation nationwide in public housing. It is the first such case since the Supreme Court outlawed segregation in public housing.

(49.4) both of NCC, are runner-up and third in the 440 yard dash. Robinson (21.0) was runner-up in the 220 yd. dash; Lewis (21.2) Winston-Salem, third, and Dobbs (21.6) NCC, fourth. (Sime won the 220 in 20.4)

Washington (23.0) Winston-Salem was runner up in the 200 low hurdles; Middleton (57.5) Winston-Salem, in a three way tie for third place in the 440 yard hurdles; Brown (15.0) and Washington (15.1) both of Winston-Salem, third and fourth in the 120 highs.

Other teams and finishing time in the mile relay were University of North Carolina 3:19.6; Duke Athletic Association 3:20.6; and Winston-Salem 3:22.3.

The Calhoun-Gilbert rivalry had been billed as one of the carnival's feature attractions. Neither had disappointed; Calhoun got a jet start but a jostled hurdle slowed him to Gilbert's tempo. Torso-for torso they hit the final pole.

Other teams scores were: Duke AA 21; Clemson College, 14; Davidson, 11; Wolfpack Club, 9; Fayetteville State Teachers College, 8; University of North Carolina Freshmen, 5; 1-3 and Camp Le June, 4; 1-3.

the school in 1954. Mrs. Cohen returned to the stand and repeated her contention that she was displaced from the site of the Fred Wessels Housing Project and later refused admission because of her race. The woman said she was a housewife and mother and her husband earned $50 a week.

LOW RENT HOUSING

Millard Williams, former manager of the Wessels Project testified that he had never received "specific instruction" on the handling of Negro applications for residents. He said he "adheres to the manual for the management of low rent housing." The manual contains no reference to race, Williams said. He denied that he had ever received an application for admission from the woman or that he knew otherwise of her applying.

Teenagers Sought For Housebreaking

Police yesterday were seeking three teenage youths who broke down a 42 year old man's door apparently because he failed to answer their requests for entry.

The victim, identified as Ernest Radcliff, of 43 Yonge St., E. E. Rm. 7, was quoted as saying he was asleep about 5:15 a. m. Monday when there were several knocks at the door. When he failed to open the door one youth kicked the door down shattering it. The man was quoted as saying three others were with him. None of them appeared to be over 18-years old, police learned.

Change in Tactics?

(From California Eagle)
The southern offensive against the NAACP continues unabated. The Association is being hit on all sides — by investigating committees, by restrictive legislation and by court decrees.

The organization is caught on the horns of a dilemma: if it throws all of its resources into the fight for survival it cannot wage its civil rights battles; if it neglects the fight for its own existence it will go out of business and its civil rights battles will go with it.

There is no easy solution. The immediate need is far redoubled support in the north and west to swell the NAACP's war chest. The long range solution seems to call for a change in tactics.

Since 1930 the Association has depended more and more on court action to vindicate civil rights. Its brilliant successes in the courts nourished the belief that litigation furnished the entire answer to the Negro's problems. In the main the South yielded to court decrees and progress was steady.

In the case of the school decision, the Deep South has refused to yield. To the contrary, Dixie has used state machinery — executive, legislative and judicial — to nullify the court's orders. It took the initiative away from the NAACP and it has kept that initiative.

The NAACP problem of the moment is how to regain the initiative, how to marshal public opinion to put brakes on southern courts, public officials and legislators. That's no easy job.

However, the task is not beyond the capabilities of the Association. The same kind of ingenuity and resourcefulness that went into legal battles must be brought to bear in the struggle for public opinion.

We have no blueprint for this new tactical offensive but it does seem to us that it should include both extensive and intensive use of all media of public communication: radio, television, newspapers. Their use must not be haphazard or hit-and-miss. Rather a plan ought to be worked out as carefully as the legal offensive was plotted twenty years ago.

It is plain, too, that the NAACP cannot go it alone. Labor unions, churches, and other organizations must be prodded into action. The Prayer Pilgrimage may furnish some useful lessons as to how organizational co-ordination can be achieved.

We believe that most Americans are on the NAACP side. Thus for their support has been passive. That support must be rallied and channeled into action on local, state and national levels. Nothing is mightier in a democracy than the compelling power of public opinion. The NAACP must find ways and means of using it.

Memphis And Mid-South Homemaker To Push Milk

June promises to be an ideal month for Memphis and Mid-South homemakers to require milk and other dairy products in family meals whether served indoors or outdoors, according to Leo W. Smith of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food Distribution Division. The month will see milk production reaching its seasonal peak and the Department lists milk and other dairy products at the top of the "Plentiful Foods List" for June.

In addition to fluid milk, various dairy products such as cheese, ice cream, sherbet, butter, evaporated milk, and non-fat dry milk will be in generous supply, Smith reports.

Among the other foods on US DA's plentiful list for June are: beef, turkey, eggs, frozen and fresh strawberries, potatoes, canned freestone peaches, canned purple plums, peanuts and peanut butter, halibut and vegetable fats and oils.

Strawberries are expected to be plentiful on June markets in view of the increased acreage this year for the spring crop. At the same time, food stores will have liberal supplies of frozen strawberries from last year's heavy pack.

Supplies of high-quality beef are expected to continue liberal in June, especially since marketings of fed-cattle usually reach their peak in this month. The number of cattle on feed in 13 major feeding states on April 1 was 4 per cent larger than a year earlier.

With heavier new-crop marketings, and cold storage stocks still large, June markets will be well supplied with turkeys, USDA reports.

Jackie Robinson Tells Group To Unite For Rights

RALEIGH, N. C.—(INS)—Former baseball star Jackie Robinson's latest criticism is leveled against the failure of his people to unite and demand Civil Rights.

Robinson in a 15-minute speech before 2,500 people at a "freedom Day Celebration" in Raleigh last Sunday told the gathering, "If we could ever get the 75-million Negroes in America to join together, we could get our rights."

He chided his people, among whom only 3500, "are willing enough to stand up for the Negro race to join the National Association for the Advancement of colored people in America."

Robinson credited the NAACP for "opening the door for me" when he first broke into baseball. He said he was trying to "open the race barriers so young people won't have to face the barriers we did." "I would pass up a chance at it the hall of fame to get first class Rights for Negroes."

The Brass and the Blue

CHAPTER 19
THE infantry officers assembled before Lieutenant Emil Schwabacker. "Gentlemen," he said, "it is an hour until dawn. You have that time in which to position your companies with their backs to the lake."

"I don't want to make a stand!" Captain Blaine said testily. "You have 'little choice,' Schwabacker said. 'Had you remained at Crazy Woman's Fork, you would most surely be fighting now on unsuitable ground.' He waved his hand toward the timber. 'The Sioux will come from there, although they have a deadly fear of timber.' He swung around to face the lake. 'The Sioux have two tactics, the circle and the frontal assault, in waves. Since our position against the lake prevents their circling, nothing remains but a frontal assault, and even that is extremely limited. It is their habit to ride through the enemy, regroup on the other side and ride back. As you can see, the lake makes this impossible. Hence our defense is ideal. They will have to ride their attack at fifty yards or slow into the lake. At best they can only engage us in hand-to-hand fighting, and at great cost to their numbers."

Blaine grumbled under his breath, but if Schwabacker's plan was not written up in the manual, it was at least sound. He went away with his officers and placed his infantry companies along the lake shore. Shovels bit into the dirt and entrenchments grew. Sergeant Sean Finnegan waited for the cavalry would have to be dispersed.

Drawing him to one side, Schwabacker said, "Sergeant, pick eight good men and leave immediately for Fort Kearny. By hard riding you should reach the gates in an hour. Advise General Wessels of our position and tell him that we are sitting in the middle of the Sioux nation. I don't think it's necessary for me to point out our precarious position. It's my firm belief that we will soon be under severe attack, and I think we can hold for three hours, certainly no more than that." He offered his hand. "Good luck, Sergeant, and get going."

"I'll bring the whole danged post back, sir," Finnegan said and made his selection of men quickly. When they mounted and rode out, Captain Blaine hurried up, his manner anxious.

"Lieutenant, where are those men going?" "To Fort Kearny, sir. It's an hour's ride from here."

"It's that close, why don't we march on in?" Blaine stormed. "Because I don't believe we'd make it, sir," Schwabacker said calmly. "The Sioux would cut us to pieces while we were moving."

"What's to stop them from cutting up your sergeant and his detail? Cavalry superiority?" Schwabacker refused to rise to the bait. "Sergeant Finnegan knows Indians, sir. He'll stay to the thickest woods, where the Sioux hate to go. We'll make our stand here, Captain."

"This is all your doing," Blaine snapped. "Unfortunately I allowed my inexperience to sway my judgment, subjecting my command to the whim of a glory-hunting yellow-leg."

"Are you finished, sir?" "Yes," Blaine said, a little shamefaced. "But I'll make a full report of this, you can rely on it."

"Captain, let me inform you of a few facts. The Sioux were ringing your bivouac last night, and they meant then to give you a licking. The Fetterman massacre is fresh in their minds, strong medicine. I don't propose to add to it by getting myself killed. This is the ground upon which I will fight."

"Get something straight, Lieutenant! I didn't come out here to lose half of my command!" Blaine slapped his thigh impatiently and studied the dark outlines of timber.

"I have never believed," Schwabacker said, "that it was a soldier's duty to die for his cause, but to make sure the enemy soldier died for his. Now if you will excuse me, Captain, there are many details that require my attention."

Blaine's expression froze, for no man, especially a superior, likes to be pushed out. And yet he was, and he knew it and felt completely helpless to counteract it. There was superiority in Emil Schwabacker, in manner, in grasp of command, that left Captain Blaine feeling incompetent, and a little foolish. He whirled on his heel and rejoined his own command.

Schwabacker then walked over to Dr. Cove Butler's ambulance, which had been pushed to the lake edge where the rocks all but hid it. Butler was sitting on the dropped tongue.

"How's Captain Jocelyn, Cove?" "I gave him some laudanum to quiet him," Butler said. He found a cigar, puffed off the end with a scalpel, then popped the smoke into his mouth and touched a match to it. "Nice place you have here. Better than Jocelyn would have picked. He really meant to make a fight of it at Crazy Woman's Fork. It's h--- when a man gets to the point where he can't go any farther, and yet's so proud he won't listen to anyone else."

"What are you laughing at?" "I'm serious."

"I was thinking of what my father would have said had you told him that," Schwabacker shook his head. "Heroes are born, Doctor."

"That may be your opinion," Butler said. "But this is the third time you've challenged the hostiles to come and get you. You puzzle me, Emil. Is there something personal between you and Red Cloud?"

"Red Cloud?" Schwabacker laughed again, softly. "Cove, I'll never see Red Cloud."

"That's a pretty positive statement to make," Butler said. "Not for me," Schwabacker said. "You want the story of my life, Doctor? It's the things that happen when I'm not there. When I was young my father took me to see General Andy Jackson. We stood on the depot platform for three hours waiting for the train. Then I had to go to the toilet. When I came back, the train had come and gone. He smiled ironically. 'That's it, Doctor. I wanted to go with Carrington and build Fort Kearny, but I missed out by a week. Then I hoped for a transfer, but I missed that too. You know, Jim Bridger was supposed to come back to the post, but I had already left with this patrol and I missed seeing him. Doctor, I'm going to miss the whole thing! That's the way things go with me.'

"What does it take to convince you?" Butler asked. "It could be that you're doing more than your share of fighting."

"Fyndie's?" He snorted. "A pleading backwash engagement. It'll never be mentioned against the Fetterman massacre."

"All right, let that me go," Butler said. "But you picked your ground and fought Red Cloud's Cheyenne friends to a halt. We heard about the licking Spotted Tail took clear back at Laramie! That was big, son!"

"Big? Doctor, I tricked Spotted Tail. In a stirrup-to-stirrup fight he'd have slaughtered my entire command." Schwabacker paused. "No, Red Cloud's after Fort Kearny and C. F. Smith, not me."

"Now you're all set to pick another fight," Butler pointed out. "Emil, if you're not careful, Red Cloud's going to get fed up with you cutting up his bucks and come after your hair personally."

"The invitation's open," Schwabacker said. "Unless I settle down to business, the campaign will be over before I can get into it."

"Man, you're into it now! Dp to your ears!"

"Not quite," Schwabacker said softly. "But I will be when the sun comes up." He looked east, where the day was being born.

"I'm wondering why we ain't dead, sir. We ought to be," one of Emil's troopers has reason to say in tomorrow's installment of "The Brass and the Blue." Don't miss it.
