LARRY DOBY The recent rhubarb in Chicago tetween members of the New York. "ankees and the Chicago White Sox, which was precipitated by a duster thrown by Yankeee Hurles Art Ditmar at Larry Doby, as charged by Doby has brought to cur attention the fact, the Negro after eleven years now feels he is a fullfledged part of the game, accepted as any other ayer is accepted. At first the behavior and deportnent of Negro players were watch edas much as their ability and team play. They are not being Crow restrictions he might find in Crow restrictions he might find in ccached in regards to their con-duct, both on and off the field as was the case with Jackie Robinson when he first broke into the Brook lyn lineup. As Robinson was the first to break through the color bar. Doby has the unique distinction of being the first Negro player to throw a punch at a white player throught a fit of passion. The teammates of both players involved took it as a part of the game generated by the tensences of the pennant race between the first and second place teams Much has been printed about the incident, as always when the first is involved, but with all players on a team fighting for the good of the team, it was only natural that it devolved into a team matter, raththan taking on the aspects of B racial issue.

An article carried recently in the Washington Post & Heiald by Ehirley Povich states the History was made on Larry Doby's Punch. The article in part "Ninety four and one half years Abe Lincoln delivered his Emancipation Proclamation, baseball the other day witnesses the complete emancipa-tion of the American Negro in America's national game.

BISTORY WAS MADE "Larry Doby, a colored player of the White Sox, dared to take a punch at Art Ditmar, a white pit-cher of the Yankees and history was being made. Never before in the 11 years since the bars were drepped and colored players admitted albeit gingetly, to the major leagues, had a Negro thrown the first punch in a player argument.

There is no intent here to condone what Doby did; merely to point out that the consequences fell far short of Civil War, or se cession, or a violent sense of outrage except among Ditmar's Yan-the first Negro big leager he he sistance, but in no more anger than if his attacker had been a white playet,

DUST - OFF AFFARIR "It was understandable. if regret table, thing that Doby did. He had just been knocked down by a high inside fast ball in a dust-off situ-tion when Ditmar could afford to waste a pitch. It was near thing, and one to anger a man. When Ditmar, to his misfortune, had to race in to cover the plate. Doby simply obeyed the impulse of temper and swung on him:

"Back in 1947, when Jackie Robinson pierced the Nordic curtain of the major league with Branch Rickey as his mentor to become the first Negro big leader, he could take no such liberties, was given to understand his limitations as a Negro. He was to give no of-fense, Rickey had told him.

Thus it was that in his first season when Rebinson tried to lend support to Taft-Hartley Act have demonstratteammate who was wrangling over a decision, the umpire whiri ed toward Jackie, shook a warding age. There have been violence and player squatbles and dust-off epi-scdes; but none that set off whites against Negroes as such, or the reverse. It was Robinson, in those carly pioneering years, who set the style of behaviorism of the Negro player in their new surroundings. "Robinson's pattern of behavior was not his own. Wise Branch Rickey gave him a complete indoctrination for the first appearance of a Negro player in a major league uniform He outlined for Robinson all hotels and restaurants in that area. The abuse he would get from umnices perhaps

"There would be one necessity for keeping his silence in challeng-ing situations. Rickey told Robinson. They'd call him names, nasty ones. Rickey warned They'd throw at his head and try to cut him up on the base lines and yet he must teke it in silence. Rickey told Ro-binson. H e put it on the basis of a very speical duty on Robinson lights.

race at that time o his LONGER A NOVELTY That was when Robinson, after listening dutifully, flashed back. Do you want a player who's a-fraid to fight back?" he asked Rickey. "I want a player with guts enough not to fight back," Rickey "You've got to make good your baseball talents, not temper." "I see what you h." Robinson said, "and I said. with vour mean, want the chance bad enough to follow orders." "There's no call now to brief the Negro player who is breaking into the big leagues. The chances are that any discrimination in his mind are more fancied than real.

Anyway, the novelty of the Negro Anyway, the novelty of the regio players in the majors long since wore off. They are no longer a gate attraction because of the color of their skin. It's the glint of their batting average and other skills that count.

"Unlike in Robinson's earliers days, the Negro player can how shout for his rights. Doby demonstrated that even a punch does-n't necessarily carry racial connotations. A new understanding seems to have come to baseball. They don't print the box score in color' So race relations perhaps have a-gain received another boost from sports, that after all the game and sportsmanship the thing, and not the color of a man's skin.

As millions of fun-seeking motor ists head for the lakes, mountains or beaches over the Fourth of July holiday, safety expects are hopeful that extra care and caution ามาแ keep the highway accident toll at an all-time low.

To help achieve this goal, Jeanne Smith, Dodge safety consultant, has prepared this list of 10 driving tips. 1. Control your temper when behind the wheel. Highways are crowd

A Change In The Polio Picture

With the introduction of the Salk vaccine the polio picture in this country has undergone a radical change. Since this change has a bearing on the health of your entire family, you ought to know about it.

Here's what has happened in the past few years:

Children from five to nine years old used to be one of the largest group of victims. In 1952 they accounted for 24 per cent of all paralytic cases. By now most of these school youngsters have been vaccinated and the proportion of cases among them is declining. In 1956 it dropped to 16 per cent of all That's the bright side of the polio picture.

Of course, with a decline in one age group, there has been a corresponding rise in percentages among other age groups not yet protected by Salk vaccine.

Take pre-school youngsters under five years old, for instance In 1952 they comprised 29 per cent of paralytic cases. In 1956 the proportion had climbed to 39 per cent. Infants one and two years old had the highest percentage of all. That's why polio authorities like the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis urge that they be first on the vaccination list.

The next most vulnerable group in the new polio picture are teenagers and young adults from 15 to 40 years. In 1952 they comprised 33 per cent of paralytic cases. In 1956 the percentage was 34 per cent. Since polio paralysis is especially disastrous to wage earners in a family, they need protection urgently.

Think these figures over. If your school-age children have been vaccinated ,that's fine. But don't forget the other members under 40 in your family, starting winth the baby.

Today's Farming

Today's forming is more highly capitalized, per man job, than is the rest of our economy. That statement comes from no less an authority than Secretary of Agriculture Benson, in his book "Farmers At The Crossroads." He adds that it takes an average of about $20,000 worth of investment per worker on commercial family operated farms.

This illustrates the extraordinary exent of the agricultural revolution in this country—a revolution that has made it possible for each farmer to produce enough for himself and 19 other people, where 50 years ago he could produce only enough for himself and 6 others. The driving force in that revolution has daily, are enough to make one live in constant fear. At the been mechanization.

Mr. Benson also said: "Had it been posssible to transport, by magic, a farmer from Beblical times to an American farm of 100 the law. years ago, he would have recognized almost every implement then in use-the flail, hoe and rake, for example. Today he police said was shot trying to resist arrest intensifies one's fear would recognize hardly any-tractor, hay baler, milking machine or combine."

Moreover, that revolution has been a far more potent force in this country than elsewhere. Mr. Benson points out that the tinues to stand out. I can still see the little dusty road and the Russian farm delegation which visited this country a year ago leaning farm shack where his body lay stretched across the floor was much impressed to find a father and his 12 year old son just as he fell. He had had an argument with the plantation operating a 320-acre lowa farm without hired help. One of owner about some figures on his crops, my father told me. He the Russians said it would have taken 100 men to operate a farm of that type in his country. Our farmers have their problems—but they have made amazing progress, thanks in large part to mechanization.

THE NEGRO'S HOPE in the South is his ability to appeal enough to the white man's conscience to change his attitude toward his black brother. Pricking laws will do much of this, but the greatest changes must come in the realm of social consciousness and moral responsibility.

The incident was like a dream, but it conwas killed on the spot. Naturally, nothing was ever done about the killing.

The recent incident in Texas brought back to mind the body and the relatives who wept for him. Each police killing beating or brutality case causes one to flinch. They all have the same meaning it seems, as was true of the Emmitt Till case, the Monroe, Georgia massacre, the man shot down on the court house lawn in Mississippi and the death of Dr. Brewer in Columbus, Ga. The more gruesome incidents, such as the Duck Hill, Mississippi lynching during the middle thirties, all touch on the vital thought, "How it feels to kill."

Killing without self-defense, as all of the lynchings have been, as well as many of the police killings, must emerge out of men without souls. There is no justification for taking the life of another. Yet, it remains a pattern of our times, a creed of
