School Bias Bill Killed In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (INS) — A "last resort" school bill aimed at preventing integration of Florida public schools was killed by the House Wednesday after the State Senate had overwhelmingly endorsed it.

The measure, which provides that residents of any school district city or county, could suspend operation of their public schools by local option and provide public funds for operation of the institutions as private schools.

The Senate, charging that Florida will be the next Southern state faced with enforcement of the U. S. Supreme Court desegregation decree "with the cold steel of bayonets," passed the bill by a vote of 35 to 1. Sen. Randolph Hodges, of Cedar Key, declared in arguing for passage of the measure:

"We are faced with the fact that we will have the Supreme Court order enforced with the cold steel of bayonets. Congressman Bob Sikes has predicted that Florida will be next. Let's pass the bill."

The House, however, failed to get a two-thirds majority vote necessary for passage. Some 68 votes were needed for consideration of the bill, but only 53 were cast in its favor. Thirty-four legislators voted against taking it up.

Rep. James Roosevelt Pledged Full Support To Pres. Eisenhower

LOS ANGELES, — (INS) — Rep. James Roosevelt (D) Calif., has pledged "full support" to President Eisenhower in the Little Rock school integration dispute.

Roosevelt sent a wire to the President applauding what he called "firm and direct action" by Mr. Eisenhower and also suggested that governors from northern states take part in a scheduled Presidential conference with southern governors.

The wire said in part:

"It is encouraging that you did not allow the southern governors to restrict the subject matter of their requested conference and I would respectfully suggest for consideration the inclusion in that conference of other governors, such as governors of New York, Illinois and California, whose views on federal and state co-operation in law enforcement under complex and difficult conditions may be helpful in reaching truly national decisions."

At the left is Rev. J. A. McDaniel, executive secretary of the Memphis Urban League, giving guidance to John Dunnigan, who is physically handicapped.

1958 Torch Fund's Goal Is $1,816,348

The 14 divisions of Shelby United Neighbors, Inc., 1958 Torch Fund, have taken to the field in the first United Fund drive to be held in Memphis and Shelby County.

J. Thurston Roach, president, has announced this year's goal for the combined Community Chest agencies, American Red Cross, U. S. O., Goodfellow's and Mile-O-Dimes as $1,816,348.

The campaign, which began Oct. 1, ends Nov. 7.

The divisions and chairmen are: Howard Taylor, Advance Gifts; J. Fenton Doss, Business; Mrs. William D. Galbreath, chairman, and Mrs. James W. Jackson, co-chairman, Women's Division; W. Jeter Bason, Construction; Lewis K. McKee, Cotton; William L. Myers, Food and Drugs; J. W. Brakebill, General Service; A. L. Moreland, Government and Education; Eugene J. Pridgen, Manufacturing; Dr. John D. Hughs, Medical; Dr. J. B. Edmonds, Dental; Thomas F. O'Brien, Office Buildings; and F. J. Dugan, Transportation and Utilities. Leonard J. Kerr is the chairman of the Shelby County division.

Mothers' Club Of Local Boy Scouts Starts Fall Program

The Boy Scouts Mothers Club of the Mississippi Boulevard Christian church will bring its annual activities during a meeting at the church, October 10 at 8 p. m. The Mother of each Scout of Club 115 and Cub Pack 135 are urged to be present.

The club, the brain child of Mrs. Rosa Bracy Haynes was organized to cooperate with the scoutmaster Charles Chatman and the Institutional Committee of which J. T. Chandler is chairman toward improving the operation of the Scout program.

The purpose was also to enlist mothers of the boys of troop 115 so they might be helpful to the troop program in its local activities and to provide a cultural atmosphere.

Charges Arkansas Executive Mised Governors' Committee

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Governor McKeldin of Maryland, only Republican on the committee of governors that went to see President Eisenhower, blasted Governor Faubus of Arkansas.

Governor McKeldin blamed Faubus for double-crossing the governors' committee.

"Responsible executives cannot remain silent," Governor McKeldin said, "while the spreading of Faubus' demagoguery threatens the peace, tranquility and law-abidance of our states."

CANNOT BE ABANDONED

He said that nevertheless negotiations must continue, "since the good people" of Arkansas cannot be "abandoned ignominy which has been brought down upon them by Governor Faubus."

Governor Clement of Tennessee said he hoped that negotiations will not break down. "I do not believe that we will fail," he added. Clement has suggested a possible Eisenhower-Faubus conference if necessary.

Says Governor's Declaration Is Not Sufficient

By ROBERT E. CLARK
WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Eisenhower last night rejected as unsatisfactory a pledge by Gov. Orval Faubus which it appeared earlier would result in withdrawal of Federal troops from Little Rock.

Thus what had seemed to be a compromise agreement under which Mr. Eisenhower would return control of the Arkansas National Guard to Faubus and pull out army troops collapsed at the last minute.

LEGAL PRINCIPLES

Hagerty said the President has been following a set of legal principles which he hopes the "good people of Arkansas" will understand as Governor Faubus.

At a news conference in Little Rock, Governor Faubus made it clear that he had no intentions of complying with President Eisenhower's demands.

LAW AND ORDER

The President had requested that Faubus give an "iron-clad" declaration that he would not obstruct a federal court order calling for integration. President Eisenhower said Faubus had not given him sufficient assurance Tuesday in a declaration that he would maintain law and order in Little Rock and take full responsibility to see that integration was carried out at Central High School.

The Chief Executive said that until this was done, Federal troops would remain in Little Rock and the National Guard troops would (Continued On Back Page)

First To Graduate In Insurance Training Class

A milestone was reached in Memphis when 13 agents of four major Negro insurance companies were awarded diplomas from the Life Underwriters Training Council during graduation ceremony at the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance building on Vance Ave. last Friday morning.

This is the first year that Memphis and Shelby County has had a United Fund, combining the 28 Community Chest agencies, the American Red Cross, USO, Goodfellow's and Mile-O-Dimes. Each individual is asked to pledge 40 minutes pay a month for 12 months.

The 13 men set a precedent in race to accomplish such a feat. Memphis by being the first of their kind.

The insurance men were told by Benjamin G. Olive, secretary of Universal Life Insurance Company, "If you expect to compete in an integrated society you must be prepared." He congratulated the graduates for their accomplishments and added "We place the responsibility of improving the community on the shoulders of those who live in that community. Those who refuse the responsibility have failed in their duties."

Lashing out at poorly prepared insurance agents, the main speaker said, "The average white layman with a high school education knows more about life insurance than the average Negro insurance agent." He continued "This is a serious in- (Continued On Back Page)

Will Eventually Win Rights, Mrs. Bates Declares

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — (INS) — Mrs. L. C. "Daisy" Bates, a leader in the struggle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School assured a Hot Springs audience Sunday that Negroes eventually will win the battle for equal educational rights.

Mrs. Bates said:

"The day will come when colored people will walk in the sun, head held high and not be afraid. 'Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered. The harder the conflict, the more glorious the victory.'"

Mrs. Bates praised President Eisenhower for sending paratroopers to Little Rock last week to ensure the safe entrance of the nine Negro students to Central High.

Ike Pays Tribute To Newspaper Week

WASHINGTON, — (INS) — President Eisenhower paid tribute to American Newspapermen Monday for seeking out the truth in an age "when falsehood and pretense can be so widely disseminated."

In a statement marking National Newspaper Week which started Tuesday, he said:

"During National Newspaper Week, we honor the journalists of our land who daily supply us with many of the facts and opinions which form the basis of our decisions."

"The accuracy, speed and courage of America's free press are unsurpassed, and the tradition of responsibility journalism is one of the keystones of our democratic society."

Discuss Plans For New Garment Factory

Plans to form a garment factory were discussed when a small group of women and men gathered at Mt. Olive CME Church Cathedral on Linden Avenue Monday evening.

Heading the group was William J. Williams who said that a great deal of work has gone into the plans, however he explained that he was not in a position to reveal just what garments would be manufactured or when. He did say that the factory would be located within the corporate limits of Memphis.

Giving a "pep-talk" to the prospective manufacturers was Lt. George Lee, head of the Memphis Branch of the Atlanta Life Insurance company.

He said, "a race which is always buying and never selling cannot amount to anything. We have a responsibility to the American economy. The majority group in the South is not going to give us an apprenticeship in their businesses. America will surely come to the day when it will discover the tragic loss of man power because of complexion and texture of hair."

Also speaking briefly was the executive secretary of Memphis' Negro Chamber of Commerce, C. J. Gaston who said no race is greater than its business and educational institutions and its homes. An integrated business can harness the vast pool of Negro manpower.

Williams, who is president of the Industrial club which is spearheading the venture, explained "a people who expect to get any place in the world must be a productive people."

Presiding at the meeting was Samuel E. Brown, club secretary, who said "too long we have been consumers. Now we should become producers."

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, TRI-STATE FAIR — The 43-year-old charter of the Tri-State Fair has been revised to change its official status from that of a county fair to district. Members of the Executive Committee affixed their signatures to the amendment revising the charter and thus expanded the operation into a district fair.

Integration Can Work, National Scholarship Organization Finds

Interracial Education Of Youths Works Well

NEW YORK — While some southern cities fiercely resist school integration, an organization which has made great strides toward equal educational opportunities for all described major advances on two fronts in its Annual Report for 1956-57 issued Monday.

The organization is the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students with headquarters in New York. The report was made by Richard L. Plaut, Executive Vice-Chairman to the NSSFNS. Board of Directors of which Dean Emeritus Harry J. Carman of Columbia College is chairman.

The report states that during the last nine years NSSFNS has helped almost 4600 Negro students, including many from the deep South, achieve an interracial college education and it procured for or directly awarded students a total of $1,550,000 in scholarship aid. NSSFNS also has found places for nearly 200 students, mostly from the South, in northern preparatory schools.

SEEK ABLE STUDENTS
It was noted in the report that the year's headlines however, were not made by the basic program but rather by the significant progress of its newer campaign for "much earlier identification and educational development of able students from all economically and culturally deprived groups regardless of race."

There were three major developments in implementing this vertical and horizontal NSSFNS program extension.
1) Successful completion of the first year of a six-year demonstration project in Junior High School No. 3 in Manhattan. The project co-sponsored with the New York City Board of Education and the College Entrance Examination Board is serving as a laboratory for developing methods of spotting and encouraging children with college potential long before they reach the final years of high school when it is often too late.

HANDBOOK AVAILABLE
2) Publication of a handbook, Blue Print for Talent Searching by Richard L. Plaut, written to assist communities in setting up their own talent searching programs. Made possible by a grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education of the Ford Foundation, the booklet was distributed to 40,000 leaders in education, government, industry and labor, and has received nationwide attention.

3) Launching of Community Talent Search (CTS), a NSSFNS program aimed specifically at helping selected American communities identify and develop their able children from less privileged groups regardless of race and creed.

The first CTS project will start soon in Hartford, Conn., co-sponsored by the Hartford Board of Education, the Hartford Foundation for Public Giving, and NSSFNS. Discussions regarding possible projects in other localities are now being carried on between community officials and NSSFNS staff members.

The Project Director of CTS is Dr. Franklin J. Keller, recently retired principal of Metropolitan Vocational High School in New York City.
The NSSFNS basic program hit a peak in the year just ended when it helped enroll 549 freshmen in 250 colleges, with over $250,000 in scholarship aid. The record number was a source of pride but spotlighted the need for additional funds for direct scholarship aid.

Hungarian Student Stays At Allen U.
NEW YORK — (ANP) — A Hungarian student enrolled in Allen University was told that it would be to his best interests to change schools, this week. Andre Toth, the student received a letter from The Institute of International Education which advised him that they felt it would be wise for him to move to another University. Young Toth refused.

The letter stated that the situation in the South at this time is such that Toth should not be involved in it. The letter said in part: "We believe that a refugee student on parole who has been in the United States only a brief period should not be personally involved in our country's problems over integration in public schools. We do not believe he fully understands the situation he is in, and some of the difficulties he may have to face as the only white student on a Negro campus under the present circumstances."

Federal Extension Official Addresses Miss. Farm Agents
The importance of keeping abreast of new methods and techniques in the performance of agricultural Extension work to the end that farm families may be served more effectively was emphasized last week by F. H. Stone, assistant to the Assistant Administrator of the Federal Extension Service, in an address before the Mississippi colored farm and home demonstration agents.

Mr. Stone was the principal speaker at the agents' banquet which was the closing feature of their annual training program at the Florida Pariah 4-H Club Camp near Canton, Miss.
In discussing some of the newer Extension methods, Mr. Stone pointed to Farm and Home Development, Program Projection, and improved communications techniques. All of these, he said, are being pushed by the Extension Service as ways of better reaching and serving farm families.

He pointed out that the Extension ideal is to work with and help lift family units rather than to work with individual family members separately.
Mr. Stone praised the Mississippi agents for the increased emphasis they are placing on in-service training and on the development of sound community-wide health programs.

Miss. Methodists Want Articles Slanted Toward Integration Deleted
NEW ALBANY, Miss. — (ANP) — Mississippi Methodists were urged here last week to join forces to keep "integration-slanted articles out of church publications."

The move was undertaken by 200 laymen at a mass meeting which is one of several to be held throughout the state preparatory to a statewide gathering in Jacksonville, W. F. Daniel, superintendent of New Albany schools, told the meeting that the church's Wesley Quarterly magazine has carried articles on racial segregation which were later reprinted in Sunday school magazines. "As a teacher, I know what happens to the youth when exposed to certain ideas and articles which have appeared in their Sunday school magazines for the expressed purpose of dealing with young minds." A local lawyer, H. M. Clayton, deplored "the all most constant emphasis on racial matters to the exclusion of other facets of Christian conduct." "Since the publications have a monopoly in our churches, the views of present members should also be protected. The whole trend is toward the removal of racial barriers," he said.

Julian Black, Former Louis Manager, Tried On Tax Charge

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Julian Black, former manager of Joe Louis, last week went on trial in federal district court here on charges of evading $34,632 in income taxes over a three year period. Also on trial with Black, a short, chubby man of 60, was his business associate, Edward Copeland and Sanders Scott. All three went on trial before Judge Joseph S. Perry.

The Federal Government charges that Black evaded taxes due for the years 1949, '50 and '51. His associates — Copeland and Sanders — were charged with evading $34,632 and $7,529 in taxes, respectively.

According to William A. Barnett, assistant United States attorney, the three men evaded the income tax payments by understating their income, form operation of the East and West, and the North and South policy wheels on the Southside of the city. Barnett further charged in his opening statement that the defendants altered records so as to indicate more and larger cash payments were made.

Black, who was co-manager with John Roxboro of the former heavyweight champion, has been identified with the illegal policy operation here. Legally, he is in the real estate business.

Firemen Test Validity Of Suit Brought Against Labor Union Bar

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NNPA) — One of the cases ready for argument in the Supreme Court raises the question of whether federal courts have jurisdiction of a suit brought by colored railroad workers against a labor union which bars them from membership but as their bargaining agent under the Railway Labor Act compels them to maintain membership in a Jim Crow union.

The Federal District Court at Houston, Texas, dismissed the

Massachusetts Anti-Bias Body Gets New Member

BOSTON Mass. — (ANP) — Walter C. Carrington, recently appointed by Governor Foster Furcolo to the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, assumed his duties this week.
He succeeds Dr. William D. Washington of Lynn, Mass. A graduate of the Harvard Law School, Mr. Carrington recently concluded two years service in the Judge Advocate Division of the U. S. Army. He was also the founding president of the Harvard Chapter NAACP.
Active in civic affairs, the new member of MCAD had a leadership role in the world Assembly of Youth, whose American sponsors include the youth department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, the United Christian Youth Movement and the National Jewish Youth Conference. He attended the World Assemblies of this organization in Dakar, Senegal, French West Africa in 1952 and Singapore in 1954.

Jealousy is said to be an offspring of love: Yet unless the parent makes haste to strangle the child, the child will not rest till it hath poisoned the parent.
— J. C. and A. W. Hare
Women detest a jealous man whom they do not love, but it angers them when a man that they do love is not jealous at times.
— Mlle de Scudery

Dear Eleanor,
I am a young lady 18 years of age. I would like to attend a nursing school in the city of Nashville, Tenn.
Can you give me the name and address of the school?
S.M.C.

ANSWER: Write: The President of McHary Medical College, Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Eleanor,
I need advice badly. Please help me.
I have a 17 year old daughter that I cannot understand.
When she is with her friends she refuses to speak to me and whenever I speak to her she gets angry and will not say anything to me unless she wants some money to buy something for herself.

Worried Mother.
This is her last year in school. I try to give her what she wants. But she is making it so hard for me to want to continue to do so.
I am always neat and clean. Is she ashamed of me or what is it that causes her to talk back and "run off at the mouth" at me when I try to talk to her?
I feel like ceasing to try to talk to her and letting her go on her herself. But she is all I have.
Please help me to do the right thing.

ANSWER: Psychologically and physically, the two of you are undergoing changes in your lives. Your daughter is striving to grow up into adulthood and you are also undergoing changes physiologically. And the two changes are always more or less difficult. During this period, parents—both mothers and fathers (and these children too) suffer much.
Sometimes there are deep feelings of resentment for one reason or the other that only you as a parent might even be able to guess and some of these reasons have a justifiable basis as the child sees it. There is never a real justifiable
