Spring Festival of Concentrated Fun. Barrels of Sunshine

Display of Fireworks Every Night—Parade Friday Morning—Queen's Welcome Friday Night—Coronation Ceremony Saturday Night.

Hurrah, the Carnival is on! Can you say you are not having the time of your life? Don't your sides ache at the jokes and songs, and especially the antics of the minstrel troupe? Have you eaten hamburgers and drunk soft drinks until you imagined you were back in those days of childhood circuses and mamma was scolding you and warning you of the consequences yet to be felt? How many boxes of that delightful, cherry-filled candy did you get from the candy throw? Has your curiosity been satisfied in regard to the "Coon in the barrel"? Have you tried each booth of science and skill and gone to every show? If you have not done all these things, or if you have, do them again, for there is time for this to be done! Don't allow this Carnival to pass until you have tried it all and have gotten your fill of carnivals, until a similar one is held on the campus of S. P. U. in 1921. Can you say this has not been a "red letter" season of your school year? Of course, you cannot! You can't deny you were surprised that such a Carnival could be gotten up by students and that as a result of this work you have had the time of your life.

Look out for the parade! The streets of Clarksville will be crowded, the traffic congested, at the time the parade will begin. First the beautifully decorated float of the king and queen, followed by the men of the "S" Club, next will be the girls of the Sigma Pi Upsilon sorority, and then will be the beautifully constructed floats of each fraternity, A. T. O. first, K. S. second, P. K. A. third, and S. A. E. last. Then will be the co-ed float, and then more and more, and then the clown's cart.

Well, but what of the game Thursday afternoon? The score will tell the tale; however, each and every person is expected to be at the double-header with Vandy. For further dope on that game look in this issue.

Come one, come all. Don't miss a single night! Enjoy yourself while you may, exams come next week. The gate has been dispensed with; there is no excuse for your not being on the grounds, and when once you are there you can't resist the temptation to follow the crowd, and see it, try it, taste it, and hear everything.

Every night this week the skies have been lit up by beautiful fireworks and balloons, and will continue to do so until the Carnival is over. On Friday night special fireworks show will be shown free to everybody. Bring a young lady and behold some of the wonders of the Carnival. Don't leave until you have tried—everything. Remember, you are as much concerned in this Carnival as the ones who are running it. Be on the job, lend your assistance if it is desired, get the spirit, talk it up, and then watch the old athletic seasons be greater as a result of the coin which will come in from the Second Annual College Carnival.

Gov. James M. Cox, Three Times Governor of Ohio, to Address Graduates

Largest Crowd In History of Clarksville to Gather on Campus.

There will be no dullness in the academic atmosphere of the commencement exercises of the Southwestern Presbyterian University this year. The classic function will be enlivened by the presence of a speaker of national fame, one who has been living in the thick of things, one who may be characterized not only as a thinker, but as a doer.

The Southwestern Presbyterian University has been among the first of the institutions of our land to profit by the lessons of the great war. It has always endeavored to fit men for life, but during recent years it has been striving more earnestly than ever to prepare men for the highest citizenship. It has developed the courses in the political and social sciences, and it requires of every student courses in social and economic problems. In securing Governor James Middleton Cox, of Ohio, as the commencement speaker for this year, the University is but carrying onward this same policy.

In seeking to secure Governor Cox for this occasion, the president of the University informed Governor Cox of the attitude of the institution to the affairs of practical life, noting the fact that, in as much as the political issues were foremost in the minds of many, the speaker would not be limited to the barren boundaries of an academic discussion, but that he would be given the widest latitude, and that a message on the issues of the hour would be welcome.

Governor Cox graciously accepted this invitation, and it is safe to say that the people of this section will gladly recognize and avail themselves of the opportunity which his coming affords. Governor Cox is a speaker of rare power and exceptional charm. He has a record that will stand investigation. To be serving for the third term as the Democratic Governor of a State which is normally Republican is an achievement that merits consideration.

Rutherford B. Hayes, Republican, who was elected President of the United States, is the only other man who has served Ohio as Governor for three terms, and Mr. Hayes' record may be prophetic of Governor Cox. Certain it is that Governor Cox has been one of the great war Governors, and he has done things worth while. He has a habit of looking after the people's interests in a manner which the Governors of many other states might do well to imitate.

Governor A. H. Roberts has kindly consented to be present and to introduce Governor Cox to the audience. It will be a gala day for Montgomery County and the surrounding territory. Live American citizens from ten or twelve of the neighboring counties will be present on this occasion.

No auditorium in the city is large enough to accommodate the crowd that is expected and the meeting will be held on the campus of the University at 10:30 Monday morning, May 31.

"S" CLUB HOLDS LAST MEETING.

Letters Given to 14 Men. Officers for '20-'21 Elected.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the "S" Club held its last meeting, electing officers for next year and giving the "S" to new men.

Almost by a unanimous vote, Mr. Wm. Crowe, Jr., was elected President of the "S" Club for next year. Mr. Joe B. Love, vice-president, by a very close vote; Mr. H. S. Morrow, secretary, and Mr. H. M. E. Jones, press reporter.

The announcement then as to who earned their letter in baseball showed the following men: Mr. E. H. Buckley, Robert V. Ferguson, M. Hanner, Joe B. Love, Wm. H. Lynn, W. H. McAtee, P. Moore, Theo. Patten, Wm. Nelson, V. H. Pritchard, J. I. Stringer, C. Thomas, Kirby P. Walker, C. C. Wilson. Shingles will be presented them on commencement day.

BASEBALL SEASON CLOSES.

Vanderbilt Plays Double-header on Shearer Field on Opening Day of Carnival.

Yes, it's the first day of the Carnival, but we must stop—and take time to see the best game of the season with Vanderbilt. A double-header, and both games will be fast.

Vandy has a very good team and has played all the schools over the South. "Ole Miss," who played Vandy and then visited S. P. U., did not show up half as well against S. P. U. as she did against Vandy. Howard College, who split even with S. P. U., did the same thing against Vandy, and A. and M., who licked Vandy twice, was defeated by Howard four times, who was defeated by S. P. U. once. Dope is easily found, and it can be proven that Vandy and S. P. U. will have a very close game.

Several years ago you can remember when S. P. U. pushed

FAREWELL.

Nine months have passed and those of us who were Freshmen now class ourselves as "Sophs," and are waiting patiently for the session to begin again in order that we may teach the ways of S. P. U. to class '24. To those of us who are Freshmen it looks like a long time until the year we shall don a cap and gown and start out in life.

To the Sophomore, who thinks he knows everything, but who in reality knows more than he is supposed, it seems as if though the time will never come when he shall complete his courses in math. and economics and then start the ship to sailing.

The Junior, who has now gained his dignity, he considers it merely as a matter of time until he, too, shall bid a long farewell.

But to the man who is actually to bid farewell, he sees before him merely a beginning and, like the Senior is THE SOU'WESTER, it now is in — its prime and sees only the beginning. This year, only through the work of Mr. William Crowe, was THE SOU'WESTER put on a good footing. Although the student-body shows no signs of appreciation, it must be said here that if a thing can't be knocked on, it's not very much. And then to judge by that, THE SOU'WESTER has been a great success.

This year ends the freshman year of THE SOU'WESTER, and now it is entering into a series of years that cannot be classed. This year has been a year of training, of learning, and next year a paper which will be creditable to any institution can be turned out. Now, to those who have had to suffer from week to week by reading THE SOU'WESTER, upon your return on September 16 you will have a paper before, first of all, worth reading, and then one you will look forward to.

The editors of THE SOU'WESTER this year have had much difficulty in getting and writing material, but when one considers that this had to be done weekly, the editors must be complimented for their stickability, if nothing else. And the managers! Ah, if you only knew how they worked! With a town which doesn't believe in ads any too much, can't you see the work they had to do in order to have the financial backing for the paper? And, yes, the paper was financed entirely by ads and subscriptions, which shows fine managerial ability.

The year '20 is now drawing to a close and we are about to bid farewell to certain ones, but don't take it too hard, because through THE SOU'WESTER will your troubles be relieved. If you are a Senior, leave your $1.50, address, and any announcements, with the Circulation Manager and thereby keep in touch with your dear old Alma Mater. To the remainder of you, come back next year with lots of pep and be prepared to deliver the goods, as well as that $1.50.

And then, having completed the day's work, he picked up his SOU'WESTER and read.

He said to her over the telephone, after his weekly visit: "Dearest, will you marry me?"
"Why, yes," she said, "who is it?"

Breen (to girl in car): "Do you believe in the Darwin theory?"
Girl: "Well, yes, at times,"

"Your uncle is an awful old man, ain't he?"

"You betcha. Why, he says he can remember when everybody knew young women had ears."

A deacon in an Ohio church was seriously ill. He was a popular man, so a bulletin was posted at the church regarding his condition. It read:

One o'clock—Deacon Jones very ill.

Two o'clock—Deacon Jones worse.

Three o'clock—Deacon Jones dead.

A traveling man read the bulletin and added:

Seven o'clock—Great excitement in heaven. Deacon Jones has not arrived. The worst is feared.

Bah! What is a woman? A log, a bone, and a hank of hair.

In the south she says: "Whose your family?"

MARY.

Mary had a poultry farm,
She ran it just for fun.
And when the hens began to lay,
Each day to town she'd run.
In a smock both short and airy
To town our Mary'd lark it.
The farmers came from far and near

When Mary came to market,
Her sales they were tremendous;
How could they different be?
When the farmers came from miles around
Her beautiful eggs to see.

IS she still the same sweet girl you knew three days ago?

When the donkey saw the zebra he began to switch his tail—
"Well I never," was his comment. "There's a mule that's been in jail."

HOW TO KILL AN OYSTER.

Don't drown him in vinegar
Or season him at all;
Don't cover up his shining form
With pepper like a pall;
But gently lift him from his shell
And firmly hold your breath,
Then with your eager tongue and teeth,
Just tickle him to death.

She was squeezing a lemon
For fresh lemonade
And the fresh green-clad lad
Looked sorely dismayed;
So soon did he cry,
"How I wish I would be
A lemon—and then
You'd be squeezing me.

One third of the college students go to the devil;
One third are just average;
And one third rule the world.

HER JOB.

Will: So your poor, blind grandmother wants a job?

Wont: Yep. Do you know of any work for her?

Will: Sure. Any of these moonlight picnickers will hire he as a chaperone.

A TOUGH TOWN.

Two negroes were arguing about their respective "toughness"

Why man, I'm so bad that where I come from they call me Wood Alcohol.

That's where you came from. Where I live they'd call you Sweet Cider.

Watson: What didja have for breakfast?

Gewin: Shavings, doughballs, bull, ointment and zip.

An Example On the Campus!

He was teaching her arithmetic,
He said it was his mission.
He kissed her once, he kissed her twice,
And said, "Now that's addition."

And as he added smack by smack
In silent satisfaction,
She timidly gave him one back,
And said, "Now that's subtraction."

And he kissed her and she kissed him

Without any explanation,
And when they both together said
"Now that's multiplication."

But dad appeared upon the scene
And snorted his decision,
He kicked Bill Crowe three blocks away,
And said, "That's long division."

I rise for information, said a member of a legislative body.

I am very glad to hear it, said a bystander, for no man wants it more.—Ex.

Vandy in the dirt, and why? Because the whole student-body was there rooting, yelling to the Vandy pitcher that he couldn't pitch, he was up in the air, the catcher was a hot sport, and such phrases. All this has effect, and also cheers up things in general. Be sure to be on the grandstand at 2:30 with a rattler, whistle, horn or anything that can make a racket, and do your share to win both games.

'N' EVERYTHING.

Another picnic, hay-ride, moonlight or get together time, what ever you may call it, has been planned for Wednesday night, and we hope the following morning is not to be the time of the return. Why is it that it is practically the same group organizing these parties each and every time? Is it because others do not realize the charms of moonlight, or are there some so entirely unsophisticated that they are in absolute ignorance of the enjoyment, pleasure and excitement experienced on these rides? This party is assured of a smooth running, high-powered Reo truck, filled with hay, and a good time is assured of course. What more could one wish than a smooth, long pike, a silently moving truck, a big lunch and then a long ride in the entrancing, enticing glow of a moon in the happy Maytime?

You are going to miss your chance of such a time if you don't hurry and form your own party. Why not make this the culmination of your happy, long to be remembered year at S. P. U.? Truly, the one Wednesday will be doubly enjoyed for this is the beginning of a few happy days, holidays and carnival days. The sites around Clarksville are the best found around any school. There is Dunbar's Cave, five miles from town, then the Ringold Dam site, only 7 miles, and the Scout campground about 12 miles out. Do you wonder why everyone, even the usual driver of the truck, has a most "grand and glorious time?"

HIGH LIFE.

And They Continue. Little But—

On last Friday evening, a very select group gathered, and with a big load of eats made a trip to Shelton's Springs some few miles from the city, and there parked themselves to have a nice little moonlight supper, to be cooked under the direction of the secretary of the University Home. It is supposed that eats played the leading part, but with such a select group, there is no telling as to what was the leading er-ah.

Well, those present were, Mrs. Beebe, chaperone and Misses Margaret Catlett, Dorothy Smith, Elizabeth Wyatt, Margaret Harned, Angie Orgain, and then—Messrs. Lap Lindamood, Regen, West, McAtee, Sparks and King.

Dr. Beale Delivers Last Sunday Afternoon Address.

God has an appointed plan for every man's life, not merely the minister, and it is our duty as well as privilege to find that plan.

God has provided us a way to find that plan. First we must go to him in prayer and He will show us the way. He may not tell us in the way that Moses and Joshua were told, but He will show us in almost a definite manner.

God in answer to our prayers shows us the way first through the workings of circumstances. Again He makes it plainer by chance circumstances, as a missionary was once called to the mission field by the barking of a yellow dog. By the barking of the dog, he met someone who gave him his call.

Again we are called by our fitness for certain work, fitness is often made known by desire, and we are shown the way through that desire.

A work should be efficient, good and helpful to mankind. It is unconceivable that God ever called man to be a bartender.

If we would make a success of our work we should enter with certain qualities or spirits: First we should enter it without pride. Second we should enter it without fear or hesitation. Third we should be hopeful, for unless we have hope we are doomed to be a failure. Fourth we must have faith in God, and breath of view. Fifth we must put honor and truth and success before all worldly aims.

Dr. Beale ended his talk by urging as many of the boys as possible to go to Blue Ridge to the Y. M. C. A. convention. This is a great opportunity for any of the men who would like to take this trip to have a good time, as well as a great deal of benefit from it.

The Y. M. C. A., though it was late in getting under way, has come out of a very successful year, and let us hope it will do still better in the years to follow.

Goodbye, will see you September 16.

Education—The sum total of all the things we haven't been taught.

Entering the World Electrical

THE graduate of today enters a world electrical.

Gathered from the distant waterfalls or generated by the steam turbine, electric power is transmitted to the busiest city or smallest country place.

Through the co-ordination of inventive genius with engineering and manufacturing resources, the General Electric Company has fostered and developed to a high state of perfection these and numerous other applications.

And so electricity, scarcely older than the graduate of today, appears in a practical, well developed service on every hand.

Recognize its power, study its applications to your life's work, and utilize it to the utmost for the benefit of all mankind.

THE NEW YORK TIMES IS WORTH LISTENING TO.

This Is What That Paper Has to Say About Gov. J. M. Cox, of Ohio.

Politically speaking, Ohio is not the state it used to be. Once it was intensively partisan and highly political, and the first words an infant was taught to speak were, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party". The first revelation of the new Ohio was in the campaign of 1916, when experienced political correspondents began sending in dispatches saying that Ohio was going Democratic despite the fact that it was a presidential year. The dispatches seemed incredible but the testimony was all one way. It was true, for Ohio did go Democratic.

Ohio remains an uncertain state with Democratic leanings, its vote largely influenced by mechanics but not by extreme radicals. The Democrats ought to carry it if they hope to win. This is held to make Governor Cox's nomination more than a mere possibility. He will have when Ohio has voted 48 votes which is more than any other state has yet instructed for any candidate. He is also expected to carry Indiana and Illinois or a least have a large vote from those states. He is running as a staunch supporter of the administration, but his own personality and his excellent record as governor put him ahead of some other candidates who are doing the same thing.

Since Cox is assured of Ohio's vote, additional emphasis is given to the fact that the new industrial voters (of Ohio) are not of the radical type, for Cox as governor showed no favor to riot or any sort of extreme radicalism.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT DRAWING TO CLOSE.

Finals to Be Played This Week.

Every day for the last two or three weeks, the tennis courts have been thronged with spectators who were watching the progress of the different tournaments. All contests have been very close, and exciting, and at times it looked as if though old dame fate had played a part with some of the contestants.

In the mixed doubles, Wilson and Cross are leading and are waiting for the next contestant to appear.

In the girls' doubles, the winner is between Smith and Duer; Greenhill and Martin, Caroland and Orgain and Smith and Wilson.

In the men's double, Cross and Parsons are in the lead, and are to play either Cobb and Ayers or L. I. MacQueen and Pharr.

In the girl's singles, Miss Lillian Wilson is in the lead and will play the winner Ellis and Blackwood.

In the men's singles, the race has been running close and much time has been taken to simmer it down in any reasonable condition to publish, but now, we find that all have been eliminated either by default or tournament, and the winner is to be either Johnston or Pharr. This final will probably be played off Monday, May 24.

The winners of the various tournaments will be presented with lovely prizes obtained by the secretary of the Tennis Association, which will be presented on Commencement Day.

Say '23, bring '24 up in the right way; don't be a shirker.

Do all you can to boost the carnival.

SIX UNIVERSITIES IN FIRST AIR RACE.

Six universities will enter pilots in the first intercollegiate air race in history, which will be held over a closed circuit through New York and several other eastern states. The race will be held for a cup offered by the American Flying Club, according to an announcement made by Laurence L. Diggs, president of the club.

The colleges entered for the race are Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Princeton, Williams and Cornell.

Each college will be permitted to enter two machines in the race. The start will be either from Columbia flying field or the army aviation field at Mineola. The course will be from New York to Yale University, thence to Harvard, with a stop at Newport, to Williamstown, to Princeton and back to Mineola.

Lockhart, Wm. H. Lynn, R. L. McReynolds, Adair Marshall, W. J. Millard, H. S. Morrow, P. Moore, M. Naive, T. E. Patton, R. M. Robison, Wm. V. Ruffin, S. L. Sparks, Jr., H. R. Taylor, C. Thomas, M.
