Mrs. Hill Resigns Dieticians Post

Dan West To Take Over In September SERVED 15 YEARS

To Manage Restaurant At Lebanon

Mrs. M. L. Hill, college dietician, has resigned effective June 7, and Dan West, manager of the Lynx Lair will assume the duties as manager of the dining hall in September, according to an announcement released yesterday by C. L. Springfield, bursar.

The release states that Mrs. Hill has accepted a position in Lebanon and that the college was informed of her plans in January.

The letter from Mr. Springfield says:

After fifteen years of faithful service as manager of Neely Hall dining room, Mrs. M. L. Hill has tendered her resignation, effective June 7, 1950. Mrs. Hill has accepted a position as manager of the Hazlewood Dining Room, a Duncan Hines Approved establishment at Lebanon, Tennessee. She notified the college authorities in January of her plans.

Mrs. Hill has done a splendid job through the years. During the war she worked night and day providing for the Aircrew Cadets in addition to the students of the college. While the cadets were on the campus it was necessary to serve six meals per day in time when rationing and war scarcities prevailed.

The best wishes of the faculty, staff and student body accompany Mrs. Hill in her new position.

"I personally regret that Mrs. Hill has finally yielded to repeated offers to go elsewhere, as we will miss her greatly," said Dr. Rhodes, "but she realizes, I am sure, that she will be gratefully remembered by hundreds of students who have attended Southwestern during her long years of self-sacrificing service."

Dan West, manager of the Lynx Lair, has been selected as manager of Neely Hall and will assume his duties in September. Mr. West will continue to direct the activities of the Lair, and it is his present plan to move the Lair back to the space now occupied by the Alumni and Public Relations Offices, which will be a more central and convenient location for the ease of students. The Alumni and Public Relations offices will be moved to the present location of the Dair.

Mr. West will announce his assistants, both for Neely Hall and the Lair at a later date.

Players To Hold Picnic

The Southwestern Players will hold a pot-luck picnic in Overton Park today at four. Albert Nelius is in charge of arrangements. Alpha Psi Omega will announce its new members at this meeting. Club members at the Chi Omega lodge, on May 17. Roscoe Feild is in charge of arrangements. Plans will be announced later.

Election of Officers Held By Classes

Crisamore Is Senior Vice President

Next year's sophomore, junior, and senior classes have completed elections of officers and representatives.

Bill Crisamore was elected senior class vice-president by acclamation. Anne Caldwell was elected secretary-treasurer and Nancy Hill was named student council representative. Frances Crouch was elected to the Publications Board.

Junior class officers are Roy Page, vice-president, and Marzette Smith, secretary-treasurer. Ann Henderson was elected to the Student Council and Ben Dewbre to the Publications Board.

Louis Weber will serve as sophomore class vice-president; Florence Batchelor is secretary-treasurer. Student Council representative is Anne Marie Davis, and Bill Allen is representative to the Publications Board.

ZTA Entertains For Students, Faculty

Beta Sigma Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha held open house for the student body and faculty Friday, May 5, from four thirty to seven thirty in its new lodge. ATO presented them a lamp, and KD, a hassock.

Thursday they entertained the Memphis Alumnae chapter at a house warming. The Mothers' Club presented them with a kitchen stove, a refrigerator, and utensils. The Alumnae gave drapes for the entire house and a table.

The Alumnae honored the senior members of the local chapter with a luncheon Saturday at the Colonial Country Club. They are Wendell Phillips, Virginia Jones, Margie Boisen, Betty Robinson, Helen McGee, Winnie Gillespie, Ethel Hurt, and Mary Ann Minderman.

Sunday the Zeta's held a Big Sister-Little Sister luncheon at the Peabody Skyway. Each new member presented her big sister a gift.

Next Saturday the actives will entertain the seniors with a luncheon at the Admiral Benbow restaurant.

IRC Elects James As New President

Members of the International Relations Club elected Jimmy James, freshman, to serve as president for the first semester of next year at their last meeting of this year held last Thursday.

Francis Freeman is the new vice-president and Ken Forbes will be secretary. Professor John Henry Davis will continue as faculty advisor.

At the last meeting, Miss Eleanor Bosworth, instructor in history, gave a lecture, illustrated by slides, on her last summer's European tour.

A new constitution for the IRC was approved and adopted.

Freshmen, Juniors Plan

Torch Selects Ten Members From Juniors

Outstanding Sophomore Is Mary Woods

Ten junior girls were tapped into Torch last Saturday morning in chapel and Mary Woods was named outstanding sophomore girl by the senior women's honorary society.

Torch recognizes women students who have attained a high standard of leadership in campus activities. It strives to bring together the most well-rounded and representative women on the campus and to attain the purposes of Mortar Board, national women's honor group, and thus to petition for entrance into that organization.

Upper 25%

New members are chosen each year from the next year's senior class. They must be in the upper 25 per cent of their class scholastically and have not less than 15 Torch activity points. Membership is limited to ten each year.

Those invited to membership last Saturday are:

Frances Crouch; Commissioner of Publications, past associate editor of The Sou'wester, 34 Torch activity points.

Erlene Downs; Honor Council for three years and vice-president for next year, 30 points.

Vivienne Chilton; Sou'wester staff for two years, Singers for four years, 28 points.

Fat Cooper; Dorm boards for three years, past representative to Student Council, 25 points.

Martha Ellen Maxwell; President of Chi Omega, Alpha Theta Phi, 25 points.

Emily Shaw; Honor Council for three years, Chi Beta Phi, 25 points.

Jeanne Roberts; winner of Torch outstanding sophomore award, vice-president of Chi Omega, 24 points.

Marianna Gracey, president of Kappa Delta, Dorm governing board, 21 points.

Ruth Salley, named May Day Pi this year, treasurer of Zeta, 19 points.

Torch's outstanding sophomore has 25 activity points. She has been a member of the Honor Council for two years, WAA for two years, and won the best pledge and most athletic pledge awards in Kappa Delta.

Requiem Is Singers' Last Big Production

Choir, Orchestra Both Disband For Year

The Southwestern Singers and Orchestra presented Mozart's "Requiem in B Flat Minor" at Idlewild Presbyterian Church, May 2. No admission was charged for the event, but most of those attending made donations to the music department. These donations will be used to procure new music and supplies for the choir and orchestra.

The soloists were: Gloria Brown, Reba Mostellar, and Marie Norment, and Janet Canada, sopranos; Ann Wilks, and Irene German, altos; William Akins and Robert Reed, tenors; Jack Allen and Paul Dilman, basses.

This was the last performance of the year for both the choir and the orchestra, both disbanding until next fall.

French Club Holds Party

This year the French Club is holding a party which is entirely new. Arrangements are being made for a dinner party for French

Starr, Hill, Crouch Named As Editors

Rita Cuninghame, Al Braver Appointed As Business Managers For Next Year

Editors and business managers for Southwestern's major publications were appointed Tuesday afternoon by the Publications Board. Frances Crouch and Nancy Hill will join as editors of the 1951 Lynx and Al Braver will handle the business.

Bob Starr was reappointed editor of The Sou'wester and Rita Cuninghame was named business manager.

Frances is the present Commissioner of Publications and has a great deal of publications experience, having held the editorship of the Central High School Warrior in a year in which it won many prizes, and has been associate editor of The Sou'wester. She is an AOPi and will be a senior next year. She is also a campus correspondent to The Commercial Appeal and writes a feature column on Southwestern social life for each Sunday's issue.

Nancy is Society Editor of The Sou'wester and has worked on the Lynx staff. She is a member of STAB, SABA, is a Chi Omega, and plans to graduate next year.

Braver is a junior transfer student.

Starr, in addition to being the present editor of the campus newspaper, is Co-Sports Editor of the 1950 Lynx, a member of the Southwestern Players, fraternity representative to the Intramural Board, a member of Alpha Theta Phi, and is campus correspondent of The Commercial Appeal for regular news stories. He is a sophomore, and a PiKA pledge.

Rita is the present managing editor of The Sou'wester, a Chi Omega, and a freshman. She was named best pledge by Chi Omega. She is a member of the Southwestern Players and the International Relations Club.

The appointees will take office next September.

Several Southwesterners' work will be featured on the program. Russel Heinz' band transcription of Guilman's "Morceau Symphonique" will be featured along with Mr. Markus's arrangement of the "Prelude in E Flat Minor" by Dmitri Schostakovitch.

Tuthill's Composition

An original march for band by Dr. Burnet C. Tuthill, "Dr. Joe," will be performed for the first time by the Southwestern Band. This march is dedicated to Dr. Joe Marry, director of the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Michigan.

Repeat performance will be made of "Little Red Caboose" because of popular demand. Dr. Rhodes plans to procure a train bell as permanent band equipment in order that more such novelties may be presented. "Sleigh Ride" is also to be repeated because of numerous requests.

SAE Elects Ted Fox As Next Year's President

Ted Fox has been elected president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity for the first semester of next year. Also elected were Howard Lammons, vice-president; John Austin, recording secretary; Wayne Deupree, corresponding secretary; Bill McClue, treasurer; Ed Willis, herald; Paul Prichart, preceptor; Russell Bruce, warden; and Alan Smith, chronicler.

They were installed Tuesday night.

The appointees will take office next September.

Editorially Speaking

Printed under letters to the editor in this issue is a note from an irate Southwesterner who has a very valid complaint against the way the chapel services are set up. It's a little late in the year for changing horses now, but we believe that something should be started now so that a repetition of this year will never be.

We have only been here two years, but we can say this much. Chapel services last year far surpassed any of the farces witnessed this. We hope that this was not a first step on the ladder leading to a farcical thirty minutes of religion three days a week.

Several proposals have been tendered. Among them are: to have the chapel services strictly religious in tone, all three mornings a week, to have a serious religious chapel for one hour one morning a week, to have a true chapel service two mornings of the three, saving the third morning for student assembly, and to have no sort of chapel at all.

We have suggested, more than once, to the powers that be that the scheme of things now in evidence was not acceptable. So far nothing has been done, although we were assured that changes were being made almost every time we mentioned the subject.

We believe in taking the middle road. No chapel would be as bad as three strictly religious meetings. But why not follow the suggestion of two religious services and one student assembly. And make the religious services religious from beginning to end. Cut out the congregating in the back of the chapel and the streaming toward seats when the piano strikes its first chord.

What do you think?

Hey . . . Hey . . . Hey . . . Ladies and Gentlemen . . . Step right this way! See 'em . . . see 'em all . . . and jist fer the price of a seven cent cuppa coffee. See the sleepy people of Southwestern, the only human beings in the world who voice no opinion . . . They know all . . . do nothing . . . see their world standing still, regressing, and don't give it another thought.

Step right inside under the big campus and see them in their cages of broad knowledge. They're chained by caution . . . they're dangerous . . . see them perform at the crack of the whip of Monsieur Rut.

And also inside for the additional price of only one compulsory gym suit unwashed for six years . . . see the Siamese ballet, hundreds of brilliant midgets hopping to the fettered 20th Century waltz. See their stereotyped little dance . . . original as the lead-out and nearly as well organized.

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Only a few million tickets left. Inside are one-hundred wonders which none of you will believe even if you see. Watch the Original destroyed by the Mass. See the eight wonders of the new world . . . John Doing It.

Through this arch and hidden from your closed eyes is the greatest living magician in the world. He communes directly with Morpheus. And if you observe very, very carefully he will teach you how to exterminate those weeds in the Garden of Knowledge . . . Dear Editor:

How long must Southwestern students be required to waste half an hour three days a week in the so-called "chapel service"? Surely something can be done to relieve this pitiable situation. Could not there be a religious service of one hour once a week? I am of the opinion that Southwestern, as a Christian college, is doing a great deal of harm to its supporting cause by the continuance of these farces presented in the name of religion.

I believe that the student body would be willing to forego the pleasure of the illuminating announcements and use bulletin boards if it meant that the chapel service was absolutely and intelli-

Plans for a new university educational system which would do away with compulsory attendance, day to day assignments, grades and credits, have been outlined by Robert M. Hutchins, thirty one year old president of The University of Chicago. He smilingly commented on student self government: "I have had little connection with student disciplining as I was dean of a professional school, before becoming president. In that position we followed the rule of ignoring conduct of our students unless they broke into print. I don't know whether that method would apply to undergraduates or not."

Do you think a senior should be given an examination on his major subject before he can obtain a degree?

Certainly not. That would be too much trouble, and anyway, if a senior passes his major all through the years, I don't think any more obstacles should be put in his way. Besides most people don't make their major subject their life's work.

gently religious in nature.

Could not outside speakers be obtained more often? What about the choir contributing inspirational music? What about using an order of worship? We who are used to attending intelligent worship services on Sunday in certain Memphis churches find the present chapel services on the campus revolting.

This is written not in a critical attitude, but only in the hope that Christianity on this campus may be furnished through attendance at real chapel services.

De Rerum Natura

By Bob Craven

I protest! Not only do I protest but I violently protest! To be more specific, I protest against incomprehensibility.

Now, I realize I'm not a Yale graduate or a Rhodes scholar, but I do think I am entitled to have at least a vague understanding of what I cannot help from hearing. If Ezra Pound wants to write poems in algebraic formulas, that is perfectly all right—I don't have to read them. Or if a surrealist painter wants to draw a maze of lines with a few splashes of color and call it "The Adoration of the Lamb Transforming the Soul of a Potato," that's all right too—I don't have to look at it.

But, try as I will, I can't escape the ominous Juke Box, with its frustrated gignots and their ditties. King Juke Box rules—King Cotton dwindles to a ciostrel in his presence.

It started several years back, with a little opus entitled "Three Little Fishes." Now although this lyric wasn't written in the more common vernacular, it was comprehensible—that is, if one could imagine himself an anthropomorphic fish. But it was indicative of things to come.

And it came, first in the form of a gay ballad with the provocative appellation, "The Hut-Sut Song." But this was only a mild form of later atrocities. Said "Hut-Sut" song did explain the meaning of its esoteric terms in the latter few bars,—bars of music, that is.

And then more recently—and getting closer to its glory all the time—some equivocal genius scratched off the masterpiece called "The Numbers Boogie." But even this had a signal virtue—it displayed beautifully the versatility of the performer: it showed how he could count backwards from ten to one! And all this while pounding the ivories! Think of it!

And then it came—the apotheosis of the incomprehensible. I shall never forget the day. There I sat, having arisen at about 8 o'clock and for that reason being particularly vulnerable, musing over a cup of coffee. Someone—a kind soul I'm sure, not realizing what he was doing—dropped a nickel in the Box. "R—I say R-A . . ." I waited. "R-A-G-G, M-O-P-P." Still I waited, "Rag mop," it concluded. Still I sat, waiting. But the record was over. Not believing I had heard aright, I myself put a nickel in and played it again. But sure enough, it repeated the exact thing. So I walked out, leaving my unfinished coffee on the table, a sadder but not a wiser man.

Oh well, Blurpedy glup.

Starrgazing

As one of the unbreakable rules of journalism, we have tried to keep all columns and news stories written by the editorial staff strictly impersonal, but just for this once, let us traduce the hard and fast, will you . . . ?

The Publications Board has seen fit to reappoint me as editor of The Sou'wester for next year. Of course, the fact that my candidacy was unopposed might have facilitated their decision somewhat. But no more about that . . .

I want to remind you (kicking out the editorial "we") that this is your newspaper. It should print what you want to read (within certain limitations), and you should have a chance to work on it if you want to.

Next year, I am going to conduct an all out campaign to make The Sou'wester truly representative of the Southwestern student body, not just a small fraction that happens to be stupid enough to like newspaper work. All sorts of editorial positions, reporting assignments, feature writing posts, and just plain dirty jobs will be open next year. I, personally, invite you to drop into the office and try your hand at journalism.

Experience is definitely not a factor. Two years ago I stepped into the Sou'wester office with virtually no idea of what a newspaper was all about. I found out, liked it, and here I am. Why don't you drop around . . . ? Maybe you'll like it too.

There is a place on The Sou'wester for you and you and you. Why don't you drop around and help the rest of the staff and myself to make next year's Sou'wester the best in the history of the school.

Southwestern's netmen gave a good account of themselves in the TIAC tournament last week, although none were able to reach the finals. Both doubles teams reached the semifinals and three singles representatives were in the quarterfinal round.

Eldon Roark, Jr., was seeded second in the tournament, and drew a bye in the first round. He had an easy time with Lloyd Prichard of Memphis State in the second, 6-0, 6-1, but was ousted by Sewanee's Ivey Jackson in the quarterfinals, 7-5, 6-3. Ted Fox

Lynx Golfers Lose Match Wednesday

The Southwestern linksmen dropped a close one to Sewanee last Wednesday by a score 9-1/2 to 8-1/2. This was the third loss as against two victories for the Cats. One match remains to be played, with Lambuth Monday.

Friday Memphis State won the city collegiate golf for 1950 by defeating Southwestern again, this time by 15 to 6. Jack Hudgins fired a 74 for Southwestern, but surrendered medalist honors to State's Bob Crenshaw, who had a brilliant 69.

Pridgeon Hurls Four Hitter Tuesday

CATS TRY HARD

By EARL HAYES

Last Tuesday the Lynx nine played almost flawless ball behind the masterful four hit pitching of Billy Pridgeon to defeat Union University 8 to 5. Then against Memphis State on that fateful Friday afternoon, everything went wrong for the Lynx. The pitchers couldn't find the plate, thus 17 walks were issued, and 10 miscues were committed afield plus several mental errors. It was a case of trying too hard and State was on the long end of a 24 to 7 count.

The Lynx went into a 2 to 0 lead when Bill Cody started the 2nd frame with a long triple and scored when Bryant grounded to short. Gwin then singled sending Bryant to third, and Pridgeon hit to second scoring Bryant.

In the top of the third Union tallied four times on errors by Crissamore and Cody, a base on balls, and a base hit. The cats came back with two away in the fourth when Pridgeon singled, Sparks drew a free pass, and Hays doubled them in tying the ball game at 4 to 4.

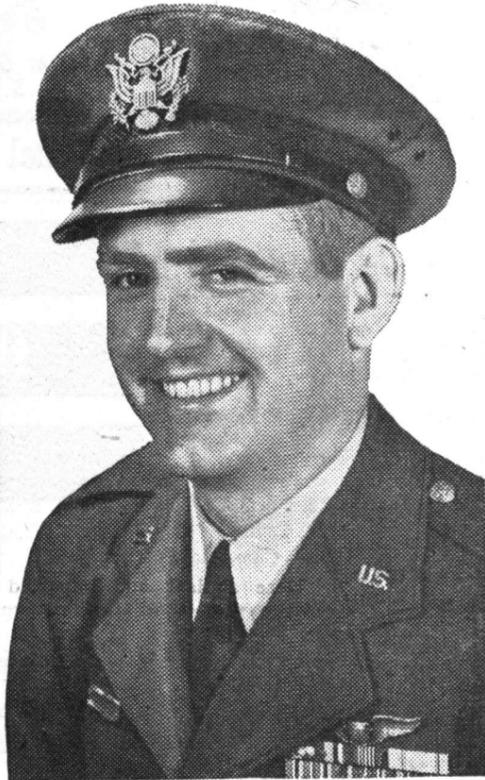

The Cats picked up one run in the sixth on singles by Gwin and Bryant, and then tallied three times in the seventh by virtue of a home run by Al Boyd, two walks, and a single by Roy Gwin. Pridgeon put the Bulldogs down in order in the 5th, 6th, and 7th innings. In the eighth Union scored for the last time when Baker and Hassel drew walks and Jones singled in Baker.

Roy Gwin led the Lynx hitters getting four for four and driving in 3 runs. Pridgeon was the winning pitcher giving up only four hits and two bases on balls.

Memphis State got away to a booming 8 to 0 lead in the second inning when Doyle gave up five free passes. Crissamore and Boyd made miscues, and Mason tripled. In the second the Tigers added four more runs off five hits and an error, and at this point Jimmy Springfield took over the mound for the Lynx. Springfield shut the Tigers out for two innings but in the sixth he gave up five walks and three base hits accounting for nine more runs. Bob Barrows took over the pitching duties at this point and issued four straight walks before being relieved by Bob Crumby. Crumby hurled the last two and two-thirds innings very effectively giving up two runs off only 1 hit and two walks. The Lynx were held scoreless until the fifth inning when Hays started the inning with a single and Jack Doyle pounded one of Bill Burkette's fast balls for the circuit. In the sixth Bill Allen, Sparks, Hays, and Crissamore drew walks, Boyd lived on an error, and Gerry Bugbee singled which accounted for five runs for the cats. This rally proved to be the last of the scoring for the Lynx.

The Lynx found no difficulty at the plate beating out 10 safeties, 3 of which were by Gerry Bugbee. The Southwestern nine had been pointing to this contest with State all season, and the mounting pressure was just too much.

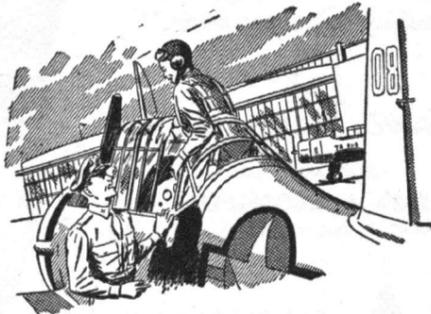

The Lynx met the N. A. T. T. C. nine Tuesday night and meet the same club today on Southwestern diamond. The Lynx Cats end the season with Memphis State next Tuesday on the State diamond.

Major Nathan Adams, Auburn '40 Personnel Manager, U.S. Air Force

Following a three month course, Lt. Adams decided the Air Force was the place for him. He applied for pilot training, was accepted, proceeded to Maxwell Field.

He won his wings and reported to the 36th Fighter Group in Puerto Rico. The group soon returned to the States, giving Adams a chance to marry his college sweetheart.

Within months Adams was overseas, flying "rhubarbs" (missions against enemy transport). He flew 63 P-47 missions within seven months, returned to the States late in 1944 for rest and recuperation.

V-J Day came, and Adams decided to make the service a career. He chose personnel work as his career field, was assigned for training to the Adjutant General's School at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.

Now a regular Air Force Major, he heads a 32-man section at Bolling Air Force Base. He advises his Commanding Officer on selection, assignment and promotion of all officers and airmen in the command.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U.
