Deadline Is Set For Draft Test Entries

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 7.—Col. John B. Elliott, Tennessee Director of Selective Service, today called attention to the fact that May 15 is the deadline for mailing Selective Service College Qualification cards. All postcard applications for the test must be post-marked not later than midnight May 15, Col. Elliott pointed out.

The deadline is to allow the administrators of the test, the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, time to process the applications and assign each applicant a testing center, of which there are approximately 1,200, and a date on which the applicant is to report to take the test.

The three testing dates are May 26, June 16 and June 30. All of these dates are Saturdays. A fourth examination will be held Thursday, July 12. This examination is for students whose religious beliefs are such that they could not in conscience take the examination on a Saturday. Col. Elliott said that these students, like the others, must mail their applications not later than midnight, May 15.

Scores of the Selective Service College Qualification Test will be used by Local Boards in considering student deferments. Application blanks may be obtained from the nearest Local Board; students do not have to return home to the Local Board which has jurisdiction over them.

To be eligible to take the Selective College Qualification Test, an applicant:

- (1) Must be a registrant who intends to request occupational deferment as a student;
 - (2) Must be under 26 years old at the time of taking the test;
 - (3) Must have already begun and plans to continue his college or university studies (the applicant need not be in a four year college, but his entire course must be satisfactory for transfer credits to a degree granting institution).
- The test will be given by the Educational Testing Service at no cost to the registrant. The registrant will be required to pay only for his own transportation costs to and from the testing center.

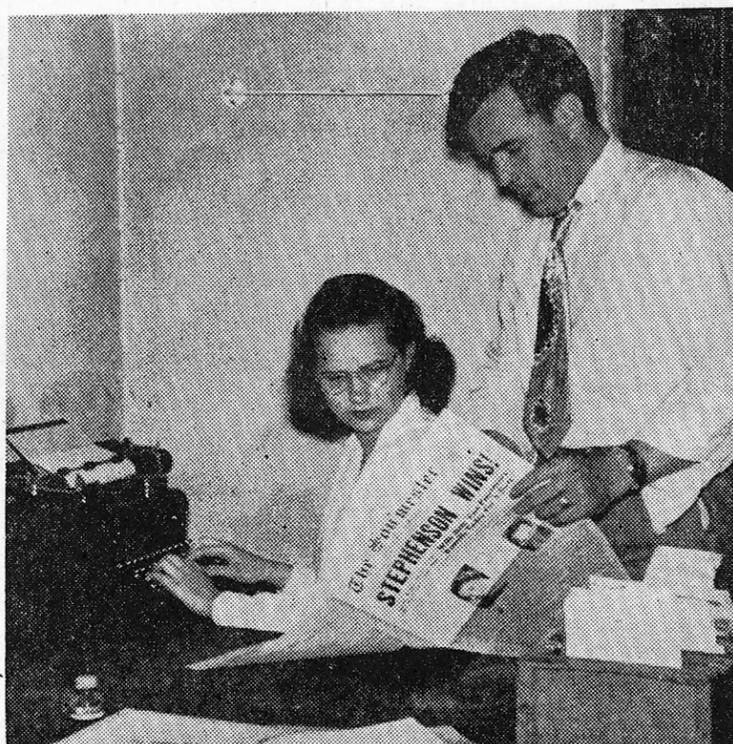

Alpha Psi Omega Invites To Membership Eleven Students

Eleven students were tapped into Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity, during student assembly Wednesday.

Membership in Alpha Psi is awarded to all students who distinguish themselves in dramatic arts. Points toward membership are awarded in all fields of the spian endeavour, acting, directing, prompting, costume designing, set designing, ticket sales and others.

Those named to the fraternity Wednesday and their activities are: BUDDY ALLISON: for roles in "R.U.R." and "The Boor," crew work on several plays and ticket sales.

BETTY JO CARTER: for her role in "Mr. Gillie," crew work, costume designing, prompting, and ticket sales.

Bob Starr, retiring editor of The Sou'wester, points out a detail of make-up procedure to Betty Lou Wood, who has been appointed to edit the publication next year by the Publications Board. George Wilson will be business manager.

Rhodes, Smith, Clemens Will Open All-Star Softball Game

SAE's championship softball team will take on the Intramural All-Star squad in a six inning game this afternoon on the diamond behind the tennis courts.

The All-Stars will field two full teams, one, the officially elected All-Star squad, will play three innings and a second team will play the last three. Alternates have been named for the two SAE's who made the honor team.

An added attraction will be the throwing of the first ball by President Peyton (Burnem-in) Rhodes. A slight modification of first ball procedure has been made so that President Rhodes will throw the first ball from the pitcher's box and will have to put out the first batter, who will be Dr. Arlo Smith. Coach Al Clemens will catch.

NOTICE

May 15 is the deadline for draft eligible college students to apply to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test, according to Dr. E. L. Queener, in charge of testing at Southwestern.

In order to prepare Southwestern men for the test, Dr. Queener will give a sample examination Tuesday from 2 to 3 in Room 108 Science. He will also announce at that time where other practice items may be obtained.

The SAE's will field the team which took them through an undefeated season of softball play. Their line-up will include Ben Dewbre and Ted Fox, who made the All-Star team at second base and pitcher respectively.

The first team to take the field against the Sig Alphas will be lined up as follows: 1B August Hutchinson, PiKA; 2B Bill Boyce, ATO; SS, Karl Rhea, KS; 3B Bill Threlkeld, SN; C Ed Hamlet, KA; P Tony Elizondo, ATO; and outfielders Bryant, KA, Smith, KA, and Cooke, SN.

The alternate All-Stars, who will play the second three innings will field: 1B Harold Gillespie, KS; 2B Claire Albright, SN; SS John Springfield, SN; 3B Wayne Todd, ATO; C Charlie Landrum, ATO; P Billy Howard, and outfielders Jim Bartlett, Independents, Brady Whitehead, ATO, and Charles Rhodes, KA.

Umpires will be Bill Sparks, Bill Crisamore, and Gerry Bugbee.

Hill, Monroe Attend Meet

Professor Ray Hill and Dougald Monroe attended the opening of the new Fine Arts Building at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, recently.

Wood, Feild And Hinds Are Named Next Year's Editors

Betty Lou Wood will edit next year's Sou'wester and Roscoe Feild and Katherine Hinds will co-edit the Lynx the Southwestern Publications Board decided Tuesday afternoon.

George Wilson will handle the business end of the newspaper and Nancy Carrell will perform the same function for The Lynx.

Betty Lou has named Rita Cuninghame as managing editor of the newspaper. She has also requested that any students who wish to work on the staff of next year's Sou'wester contact her between now and commencement. Positions in all fields of journalism are open to people who are qualified or just willing to work.

Senior Recitals Are Of Interest at CM

The College of Music presented an out-of-the-ordinary recital last Monday night as Bob Matthews gave his senior performance on the trombone. On the same program was John Murray Springfield at the piano. Mr. Myron Myers accompanied Bob since Helen Coker, the scheduled accompanist, suffered a broken ankle.

Two works by Southwestern faculty members were played, Phantasy Piece, Op. 10, No. 2, for trombone and piano, by Dr. Burnet C. Tuthill, and "The Cedars of Windsor," for piano alone, by V. P. Davis, played by John Springfield. The final number was a Poulac trio for horn, trombone, and trumpet, played by Bob Matthews, Prof. Miles Markusch, and Dhane Basom.

Another refreshing deviation from the usual piano programs this week was Dot McGhee's organ recital at Calvary Episcopal Church. She included on her program an arrangement by Adolph Steuderman of Ave Maria.

Kappa Sig Elects Jim Henderson President

Jim Henderson was elected to head Kappa Sigma fraternity for the first semester of next year at a meeting of the fraternity this week.

Named to serve with Jim were Vice-president Bob Crumby, Master of Ceremonies Walter Baker Harris, Secretary Harold Gillespie, Treasurer Burton Henry and Guards Bill Hughes and John Van den Bosch.

Betty Lou is at present associate editor of The Sou'wester and has served as copy reader, copy editor, make-up editor, headline writer, and reporter. She is president of the Independent Women, and a member of the Southwestern Players, the YWCA, and the IRC.

Roscoe is commissioner of social activities, a member of Alpha Psi Omega and a columnist for the Sou'wester in collaboration with Katherine Hinds.

Rita is commissioner of publications, and has held several positions on the Sou'wester staff, including that of managing editor. She was recently named "outstanding sophomore" by Torch Society.

The number of applications for the publications positions surpassed that of the last few years.

Crisamore Named As Most Athletic

Billy Joe Crisamore was named the outstanding athlete of the year by SABA and was awarded a large trophy by SABA, the Southwestern Athletic Backing Association.

Billy Joe has lettered four years in football and three in baseball and has participated on his fraternity teams in several intramural sports, having been named to several All-Star teams.

This is the third year that SABA has been given this trophy to an outstanding athlete. Jimmy Goostree took the ward in 1949 and Jack Doyle was named last year.

Richardson Speaks Tuesday

By Betty Lou Wood

A special treat for chapel is planned when the Rev. R. P. Richardson will speak to the student body. He is Bob Richardson's father and has served as a foreign missionary for 28 years. Most of this time has been spent in China, where he stayed and worked during World War II and until the communists took over late in 1950.

During the war, he was imprisoned by the Japanese for six months, and swapped to the United States in the first exchange of prisoners. But he didn't come back to the States then. He went to western China and was director of relief of the UNRRA until that organization was dissolved. It was about a year later before he returned to the States to see his family and get a much needed rest.

The family returned to China and lived for three and one-half years in Taichow, with another missionary. When the war in Korea broke out, they applied for permission to leave. There was no response. They were not badly treated by the authorities; they were faced with a completely passive attitude about the whole thing.

Finally, in the middle of December, 1950, they were escorted to Shanghai. From there they began a long journey back to the states by train and boat, and finally arrived in San Francisco on the S. S. President Wilson.

He will visit Bob and Southwestern during the next week, and promises some very interesting conversation.

Stylus

The 1951 issue of the Stylus magazine will soon be in your hands. Various reasons have caused delay of publication of the magazine, but the fact that it is coming out is the important thing. It almost didn't make it.

This will be the only issue of this school year. The group is planning to put out an issue early next fall to take the place of the second issue missed this year. Putting out a magazine is not easy work, and we ask that you treat Stylus in the manner it deserves.

Do not prejudge the magazine. The issues of the last few years have been pretty poor, we are forced to admit that. The material was incomprehensible to the majority of the student body and the book just didn't go over. The Stylus Club has tried to take a fair sampling of all the creative work done on the campus. They have done a pretty good job of doing that judging from the proofs we have read.

We were guilty of prejudgment of Stylus last year. We didn't like their second issue before it ever came out, but we found later, upon picking the magazine up by chance in a spare moment and looking through it, that there was some pretty fair material there. We are speaking now of the prose edition. This issue will contain both poetry and prose and should make for easier reading than the all-poetry issue of last winter.

Research

The "Research for a Day" project sponsored by the Chemistry Department is a move in the right direction when it comes to attracting high school students to Southwestern.

What we've needed in this attracting department for a long time is this ability to show the prepsters what we have out here, and all the pamphlets in the world won't serve the purpose.

What we really need out here is a "High School Day" when all the seniors of all the city and county schools would be wined, dined and showed around with the various campus organizations putting forth a little effort to show them that we really have something here. Something is going to have to be done about the ear-boxing this college has been taking the last few years in the matter of Memphis students who disdain to come here.

Intramurals

Loud cheers for the Intramural Department and the people directly behind the Intramural All-Star softball game, of whom "Pug" Bruce is no unimportant figure.

The trouble they have gone to in trying to make this a big event in campus sports warrants the support of every student. We can guarantee you that you will see a good ball game, because, having participated in the Intramural softball league, we know that SAE has a very fine ball club. There were other good teams and the best men from them have been picked to oppose the SAE's.

But if you don't like ball games, the pre-game ceremonies will be worth the walk back down behind the tennis courts. President Rhodes will throw the first ball to batter Arlo Smith, with Coach Clemens catching and Lindsay Stephenson calling balls and strikes. Dr. Rhodes will either have to get Dr. Smith out or Dr. Smith will have to get on base, and it should be interesting in any case.

And Draft

The date for applying to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test is rapidly drawing to a deadline. There remain only four days.

College officials, government officials, and selective service officials have urged that every draft eligible man take this examination regardless of his standing in his class. A low score will not necessarily make the examinee draft eligible if he has a high class standing, and there is always the chance that he will improve his exemption status by taking the test.

Dr. Queener is planning to give a sample test Tuesday afternoon. Every Southwesterner who is planning to take the big exam should take advantage of this advance opportunity to learn what will be expected of him.

The student body at Southwestern is of above average intelligence. The scores of this test will be standardized throughout the country. There is a very valid possibility that all Southwesterners who take it may be deferred. It's worth the chance, anyhow.

"Never Let It Die!"

That time of the year has rolled around which is a constant delight to the students and horror to the deans and professors — the Cotton Carnival.

The full impact of it is upon us now. It hit town last Monday and produced strange effects on the student body of Southwestern.

Tuesday morning the halls were in their normal condition except for a few students with darker circles under their eyes.

When the 8:30 bell rang Wednesday morning, a group of stragglers rushed in, each wearing summer tuxedos, badly in need of pressing. Several girls were running around in evening dresses carrying their shoes. Some students were having trouble taking notes because of the cocktail glasses stuck to their hands.

Thursday morning there were fewer people in formal attire and more coming into class late with that bedraggled look. After 12:00 o'clock almost no one was seen around the campus. The dorms were quiet as a tomb as exhausted students were flopped across the bed asleep. The reason for this — the barge came in last night! Minor attractions were several "girly-girly" shows along Front Street.

Today is Friday and you may notice that there is no royalty at school. A few brave souls may venture out. But chances are that even the faculty is beginning to look a little haggard.

Saturday the conversation, if any, might sound like this:

June: "Hey, Sparky, didn't I see you at the 'Cherchez la Femme' show last night?"

Sparky: "Yeah, but what were you doing on the stage, Beasley?"

The Cotton Carnival is just about over and is on the verge of becoming a memory. Monday, the routine campus life will again get under way.

If anyone has a bewildered look on his face, he might be saying to himself, "Say, what happened to my 3.98 average, anyway?"

Double Bill To Run As Players Close

The Player's double bill of "Interlude" and "The Doctor In Spite of Himself" opened last night in second night of its two night run tonight.

Henry Freund and Peggy Pence head a large cast in Moliere's farce about the medical profession and Ed Francisco and Joan Stewart Hodgson are the stars of "Interlude."

DAVID MORRIS: for roles in "As You Like It," and "R.U.R.," crew work, and ticket sales.

JACKIE ROLAND: for roles in "Sweethearts" and "All For Fun" last year, "A Sunny Morning," costume designing, crew work, and ticket sales.

PAT TOMLINSON: for roles in "International Album" and the reading performance of "The Coming of Christ," prompting, publicity and crew work, and ticket sales.

AUBREY WHITLEY: for roles in "Jeppe" and "The Doctor In Spite of Himself," crew work, and business managing "The Doctor In Spite Of Himself."

For A Greater Southwestern . . .

After talking with the president of the college and with several other persons of authority, I have come to some very definite conclusions concerning athletics at Southwestern.

To begin with, the search for a new athletic director is in progress. Dr. Rhodes has told me that many applications have been received already and that the committee in charge of athletics and the administration will do their utmost toward selecting a man of top-notch ability. Since the decision to disband football for next year, the emphasis in inter-collegiate play will be on basketball here next year, a major spring sport, probably baseball, and with the possible revival of track as another major sport.

With these things in mind I began to wonder about varsity athletics in general for next year. Will there be any capable athletes willing to participate in these inter-collegiate sports? This past year it seemed as if the few capable athletes we did have preferred to give their talents in serving their fraternity in intramurals rather than to Southwestern as a whole. Then, too, I feel that most people here fail to realize one thing. To engage in inter-collegiate athletics one must be trained over a period of years before he is capable of doing a commendable job. One example of this was the inexperience of the majority of this year's football and basketball teams. Sure, there were some outstanding men playing, but you can't get along without reserves.

If you look around right now, you would find very few "trained" athletes available for next year's teams. The veterans at Southwestern have just about all graduated. The days of the Flankens and the Willifords have passed and soon to leave also are the Sparks and the Crisamores. Therefore, as I see it, the new coach will be faced with the problem of trying to interest athletes to enroll in Southwestern and after getting them here, he must hold their interest if we are to rebuild the whole structure. I agree with Dr. Rhodes that we must be patient for it will take time to do the job right. It may take several years, but if we lay the foundations on a sound basis I see no reason why Southwestern cannot progress to the top in the field of unsubsidized athletics.

Thus we hear the conclusion of the whole matter. The only firm foundation upon which Southwestern can build its future athletic policy is the "spirit of the student body." If the majority of the students do not care one way or the other about the matter and refuse to support us, then the cause is hopeless. But, if the majority of you students are interested and concerned, then there is hope. It is a fact that, in times past, the student body has not supported its athletic teams. Even in the days of Gaylon Smith and Chicken High when Southwestern was defeating Ole Miss and Vandy there wasn't much support from students for the teams. They wouldn't turn out and see the games in those days, and even with the subsidization of the athletic program, the picture began to darken because of lack of interest.

And so this spirit has prevailed down through the years, until now we are faced with the same pressing problem. If Southwestern is ever to be great, that greatness must come from you. If ever we build a sound intelligent athletic program it must first be desired by you. If Southwestern is to have a winning spirit, it must come from you.

Thus it lies in your hands to accept or reject it. Whenever I look at Al Clemens I feel compelled to say, "You didn't fail Southwestern, Coach, the students of Southwestern failed you."

And so as we close this school year and prepare for another, let us, as loyal members of the student body, highly resolve that we will support our school in all activities with the idea in mind that eventual perfection will stem from united efforts.

Players, Alpha Psi Elect New Officers

David Morelock, a sophomore, has been elected president of both the Southwestern Players and Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic fraternity, for the coming year.

Another sophomore, Henry Freund, was named vice-president of these two organizations. Betty Wade is the new secretary-treasurer of Alpha Psi, and Betty Jo Carter of the Players.

Sportsman's Corner

by Bob Starr

The baseball season closed yesterday, and while it wasn't the best season we might have had, it wasn't as bad as it might look. The boys improved like mad as the season went on and I believe that they would have won several of those they lost if they had played all year like played last week.

I haven't been the best of fans myself, but I've seen the last four home games, and, while they were a little slow overall, all of them except one managed to keep me interested enough to stay around until the end.

The prospects for next year, however, are quite good, providing we keep enough of the boys around. John Dillon is going to make somebody a mighty fine pitcher some day and it might as well be Southwestern as anyone else. Dillon has got credit for both of the Lynx wins and he deserves all the credit he gets. That is one lad who has something on the ball. Not only is he well equipped with native ability, he even hustles, something that a lot of people standing around don't do. He played a game in center field the other day, after Crumby was called into pitch, and he played a heck of a lot of center field. When a bouncer came his way, he was on it like a hawk, and he makes a habit of catching flies like a horned toad.

He's not the only one who plays ball, however, although the others seem to play it in spurts and jerks. Bill Allen has patrolled the hot corner like a veteran from time to time. Gerry Bugbee has acquainted himself a little better than well in center, and Sparky has started hitting again. Bobby Peters plays first like he was born there upon occasion but he has a little trouble with balls that go into the dirt. Crisamore rules the domain behind the plate like he was accustomed to doing same.

But the reason I said that prospects are better for next year is this. Three of the regular infielders, Peters, Boyd, and Allen, will be back if Uncle Sam lets them and they want to come. The same goes for two of the outfielders, Crumby and Seawright. Springfield will be the only pitcher we lose. The hard spots to fill will be Spark's second base slot and Crisamore's catching post. Reg Germany can catch, although he hasn't had too much experience.

These problems can be solved, however, and with the new policy of emphasizing basketball and baseball, maybe we will be able to do something with it.

Baseball Nine Wins Second Over Navy

The Southwestern nine notched another win last Saturday, this time at the expense of Memphis Navy by a score of 11-8. The Sailors had earlier won from the Lynx at Millington.

John Dillon want the route on the mound for the Lynx to gain his second win. He permitted ten hits and issued eight bases on balls, but fanned seven. The ten hit Lynx attack included a home run and double by Bill Sparks, and a three bagger off the bat of Al Boyd.

Southwestern got off to a fast start, leading 5-0 after two frames. The Navy battled back and finally succeeded in tying the score at 8-8, after the top of the eighth. They benefitted by effective relief hurling, with King, their second moundsman fanning ten in less than seven innings. He went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth, and the Lynx leapt on his successor for three runs in their half to ice the ball game.

Southwestern played two other games over the weekend. On Friday, the Lynx, behind Jim Springfield, battled Arkansas State on even terms for eight innings, but were victimized by a five run barrage on the part of the Indians in the ninth to lose 9-3.

Monday, Southwestern was able to collect only three safeties against Mississippi College, and went down 10-1.

Golfers Place Third In Big Tournament

The Southwestern golfers journeyed to Sewanee last weekend, meeting the Sewanee linksmen on Friday, and participating in the TIAC tournament on Saturday.

Sewanee's crack team won the championship by the fairly large margin of 27 points over Memphis State, with Southwestern placing third, 30 points farther down the line, but with an even larger edge over David Lipscomb and Middle Tennessee State, the other entrants. Omar Smith paced the Lynx in the tournament, firing a 78 and a 76 for a total of 154 and an eight stroke edge over Hugh Francis and Jack Hudgins, both of whom carded 162. Reynolds Beal finished with 179.

Tuesday, the Lynx dropped a close 14-1/2-12-1/2 decision to the Memphis Air Force Base combination. The Airmen played only one man from the team which Southwestern easily defeated last week, and fielded a much improved group.

Tennis Team Travels To Meet At Sewanee

The Lynx netmen participated in the TIAC tournament last week at Sewanee, but encountered no great success. This ended the season for the Southwestern racquet-wielders.

All four of Sewanee's singles' entries made up the semifinals in the tournament. Ted Fox and John Austin, number one and two for Southwestern, were ousted in the quarterfinals. Jimmie James and Ed Wills lost earlier.

In the doubles division the two Lynx combinations of Fox and Austin, and Wills and Burton Henry were defeated in early rounds, as again both Sewanee combinations opposed each other for the title.

INTRAMURALS

By Bill Boyce

The tennis tournament is nearing completion with several teams still in the running for the championship.

In the number one singles division Red Wray of Sigma Nu won the title by defeating Karl Rhea of Kappa Sig in the final match. Buck Looney of Kappa Alpha took third place over Woody Morriss of ATO.

In the second singles division, Dick Knott of the Independents and Lester Graves of SAE will meet in the finals, scheduled for last Wednesday.

Knott advanced over Chandler Warren of KA, while Graves won over ATO John Cochran in the semifinals. Chandler defeated Cochran for third place.

The doubles division has not progressed so far. The SAE team of Ben Dewbre and Bill Metzger advanced to the finals by winning over the Sigma Nu combination of Bob Stewart and Bubba Bowden, but their opponent has not been determined. Bob Crumby and Reiter Webb of Kappa Sig, Maurice DuBois and Gerry Pierce of the Independents, and Mose Simon and Hutch Hutchinson of the Pikes are still in the running.

The horseshoe tournament also is nearly completed with the Independents leading, although closely trailed by SAE.

In the first singles division Willie Bow of the Independents and Sigma Nu's Jack McDevitt will clash in the finals. Bow edged Ben Dewbre of SAE in the semifinals, while McDevitt won from Jimmie James of ATO. These two will play for third place.

Play in the second singles division is completed with Dick Knott, Independents, emerging victorious.

He defeated Chunk Hamlet of KA in the finals. Ben Shawhan of SAE garnered third place points over Buddy Allison of Sigma Nu.

The doubles title will go to either Fred Blake and John Austin of SAE or Tony Elizondo and Bill Boyce of ATO, who clash in the finals. Connor Vick and Wheatley Beard of the Independents will battle Red Wray and George White of Sigma Nu for third place.

Golf entries were turned in at the meeting of the Men's Intramural Board Tuesday, and play will occur next week. Thirty-six holes of medal play at Galloway will determine the individual and team champions.

The all-star softball team was elected at a special meeting of the Board Saturday. Named were Hutch Hutchinson, PiKA-Independents, 1b; Ben Dewbre, SAE, 2b; Karl Rhea, KS, ss; Bill Threlkeld, SN, 3b; Omar Smith, KA, Of; Ray Bryant, KA, of; Allen Cooke, SN, of; Jim Bartlett, Ind, of; Ted Fox, SAE, p; and Chunk Hamlet, KA, c. Cooke and Bartlett tied for the third outfield position, so both were included on the team.

Three of the high school students who participated in the chemistry department's "Research for a Day" project for preppers last week are shown performing an experiment designed to extract chlorophyll from green leaves. There are, left to right, Van Ladner, Mary Lou Koen and Joy Wiggins, all of Central High.

Chemistry Labs Are Pre-Register Now — Hosts To Students It's Not Too Late

"Research for a Day" is the title the Southwestern Chemistry Department has given to its project for high school students in the Memphis area.

Prep students from Humes, Treadwell and Central have already participated in the program and students from other schools have been invited for future dates.

In "Research for a Day" the high school student is given the privilege of using the excellent facilities of the chemistry laboratories to perform experiments. The preppers are the guests of the college for the day, being conducted on a tour of the campus and lunched in Neely Hall.

"This is the first time we've done anything like this," says Dr. Raymond Vaughan, who is in charge of the project. "We are well pleased with the results. The students seem to enjoy themselves and demonstrate a genuine interest in the experiments."

Assisting Dr. Vaughan in preparing for the experiments are Barbara Howell, Faye Sinclair, Tasso Ballas, and Robert Threlkeld.

A number of students have not turned in their pre-registration cards for the fall semester according to Malcolm Evans, registrar.

"The college wishes to ascertain, to as great a degree as possible, just how many students will be enrolled here. Pre-registration of all students now here who intend to return will aid us greatly in this," Mr. Evans said.

"Unless further developments in Korea cause the Selective Service Commission to abandon its policy of deferring college students, Southwestern does not expect a great drop in enrollment. Therefore it will be to the advantage of the student to register now. In doing so he may avoid a confused schedule in the fall."

Completed forms may be turned in to the registrar's office.
