Parties Name Candidates For Spring Elections

Bryant And Wills To Lead Black Candidates To Polls

The Black Party met last Monday and named a ticket for next week's student body elections.

Ray Bryant was chosen to run for the presidency of the Student Council and Ed Wills was named as his running mate by acclamation. Mary Woods is the party's candidate for secretary-treasurer. Bob Whiteside is managing the ticket.

Running for the various commissions are Al Braver for Publications, John Austin for Athletics, Bill Boyd for Religious Activities, Roscoe Field for Social Activities, and Betty McFadden for Undergraduate Women.

The candidates listed the following qualifications:

BRYANT: Is at present commissioner of social activities, a member of ODK, Alpha Theta Phi, the Honor Council, the Men's Pan, and vice-president of Kappa Alpha. He was named "outstanding sophomore" by ODK last year and won the Veteran's Scholastic Award as a freshman.

WILLS: Is president of the Junior class, vice-president of the Elections Commission, and an officer in SAE. He was vice-president of his freshman and sophomore classes and was president of his pledge class.

WOODS: Is Commissioner of Undergraduate Women, a member of the Honor Council, the YWCA Cabinet, and Pi Inter-sorority. She was recently elected president of Kappa Delta and was named "outstanding sophomore" by Torch Society last year. She is secretary of the Voorhies Dorm Governing Board and has been a reporter and representative to the WAA. She has been named to all-star softball and basketball teams and was named best pledge by KD as a freshman. She can type.

BRAVER: Is business manager of the Lynx, assistant business manager of The Sou'wester, and a member of Stylus. He served on the editorial staff of the University of Tennessee Volunteer and was reporter for his fraternity at Central High.

AUSTIN: Is president of the "S" Club, president of the Men's Panhellenic Council, and vice-president of SAE. He has lettered in basketball, tennis and track at Southwestern and won high school letters in soccer, basketball and baseball. He has participated in Intramural football, softball, track, ping pong and volley ball for his fraternity.

BOYD: Is a member of the Christian Union Cabinet and was instrumental in arranging the new chapel set-up for this year. He has been in charge of the monthly forums of the CUC and chairman of the Chapel Committee of that organization. He is also a member of the Faculty-Student Committee on chapel and religious life. A member of the Ministerial Club, he is also vice-president of ATO, a member of Alpha Psi Omega, (Continued on Page 5)

Kappa Delta Holds April Showers Ball

Fargason Field House will light up for the Kappa Delta "April Showers" Ball tomorrow from 9 to 12 p.m.

Colie Stoltz and his Orchestra will play for dancing and Gloria Brown will sing "There's No Girl Like A KD Girl" during the sorority leadout.

The gym will be decorated with balloon rainbows and the band stand will be another rainbow with pots of gold at the ends. The walls will be brightened with clouds and glitter raindrops.

Officers of the sorority and their guests will be: president Mary Woods with Freddy Epp, vice-president Julia Skinner with Dhane Basom, secretary Thelma Nichols with Lindsay Stephenson, treasurer Sue Pingree with Bob Edington, assistant treasurer Mary Nell Wendt with Jack Allen, and editor M. T. Taylor with Wayne Todd.

After the dance breakfast will be served for members and their dates in the home of Nancy Hearn at 1438 Harbert Avenue.

Spanish Club To Hold Mexican Fete

A Mexican dinner will be the feature of this month's meeting of the Spanish Club which will be held tonight at 5:30 p.m. in the Kappa Delta Lodge. Senor David Bencomo, president of the Liga Panamericana will speak to the group on the Spanish colony in Florida.

Authentic Mexican dishes will be prepared by co-chairmen Rose Washer and Anne Caldwell. The program will close with group singing led by Prof. Gordon Southard.

All students of Spanish are invited to attend.

Sans Souci To Meet

Sans Souci, the Southwestern French Club will hold its April meeting next Wednesday afternoon at 4. The place has not been announced.

Psi Chi Chapter To Be Established Here

Ed Francisco has announced that there will be a chapter of Psi Chi, National Honorary Fraternity in Psychology installed on this campus before the end of the school year. This will be one of the first southern college petitions, to be accepted.

Ed organized the petition in October and has been corresponding with the national office about Southwestern's qualifications through the year. To be eligible for membership, students must be Psychology majors in their Junior or Senior year, who have met the specified requirements in number of hours in Psychology, over-all average, and Psychology grade average.

The officers of Psi Chi and the Psychology Club are: President Ed Francisco, Vice-Pres. Gus Bell, Sec.-Treas. Mary Faulk.

Herstein To Speak To IRC Thursday

W. R. Herstein, director of the Memphis International Center will address members of the International Relations Club at 7 p.m. next Thursday in Room 100 Palmer Hall on Latin America.

Mr. Herstein has recently returned from a trip through Northern South America. His duty as director of the Memphis Center include bettering relations between the Mid-South and the countries of South America. Dusty Anderson, Class of '50, is assistant to Mr. Herstein at the center.

The IRC sponsored a film forum of the Atomic Bomb Wednesday night. Two films were shown, "The Way to Peace" and "One World or None."

SAE Inducts Eight Pledges Into Group

Tennessee Zeta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon held initiation Tuesday night, April 10, in the SAE house.

Pledges initiated were Jack Blake, Tom Cunningham, John Dillon, Walter Gorman, Jimmy McLin, Walter Norman and Jim Wesson. Jack Blake received the Best Pledge award.

Newspaper Staff To Hold Annual Party

Members of the Sou'wester staff will hie to Shelby Forest Sunday for the annual staff party unless Memphis weather takes a hand as it has a habit of doing.

Editor Bob Starr and managing editor Betty Lou Wood are in charge of arrangements and any staffer of The Sou'wester who wishes to go and has not signed up should contact one of these two immediately.

Taurists To Discuss

The Taurist Club will hold a discussion of Communism in the United States Friday afternoon at 5 p.m. in the Psychology Building.

Stephenson, Hamlet Carry Red Banner Into Campus Campaign

Stephenson

Lindsay Stephenson and Ed Hamlet were named as presidential and vice-presidential candidates by the Red Party at their convention Tuesday. Marzette Smith is candidate for secretary and Walter Baker Harris is campaign manager.

Named as candidates for commissions were Rita Cunningham for Publications, Julia Skinner for Christian Activities, Bob Crumby for Athletics, Jane Patterson for Social Activities, and Helen Swartzfager for Undergraduate Women.

Running for class presidencies are Ed Francisco for senior class, Roxie Lee for junior class, and Bill Hughes for freshman class.

The qualifications of these candidates for office are:

STEPHENSON: Has attended executive training school and has served in various administrative office in honorary organizations. He has attended three different colleges and is familiar with student government. He was a member of the National Honor Society in high school and was the president of his junior and vice-president of his senior class. He entered Southwestern in June 1950 and is affiliated with Sigma Nu.

During World War Two Stephenson served in the U. S. Navy, participating in invasions operations in Normandy, Okinawa, and the Philippines. He received a citation from the Army for meritorious action in the Normandy operation.

HAMLET: Is a member of ODK, national leadership fraternity, and was captain of the 1950 Lynx football team. He is a member of the "S" Club and was representative to SABA last year. In addition he has held various fraternity offices in Kappa Alpha. He was president of his high school junior and senior classes and was named best scholar among varsity lettermen at Deshler High, Tusculumbia, Ala.

SMITH: Is president of AOPi and is a member of the Women's Undergraduate Board and Pi Intersorority. She has served as vice-president and rush chairman of AOPi. She drew up the constitution and the petition which led to the formation of a Psychology Club on the campus. She has worked for the past two summers as a typist. In addition she is secretary-treasurer of the junior class.

CUNNINGHAM: Is business manager of The Sou'wester and last year held positions as managing editor, copy editor, make-up editor, and circulation manager on the student newspaper. She is a member of the Lynx literary staff and is make-up editor this year. She co-edited the recent April Fool-Co-ed edition of the Sou'wester and has edited the annual newsletter of Chi Omega. She is a member of Alpha Theta Phi, Alpha Psi Omega, the YWCA, and the Pan Council.

Zeta Will Sponsor Talent Contest

Zeta Tau Alpha will hold the first annual campus Talent Night next Wednesday night, at 7 p.m. in Hardie.

In the contest, which the Zetas intend to make an annual affair, each fraternity and sorority will have two individual entries who may perform in a variety of fields of talent.

Large traveling trophies will be awarded to the fraternity and to the sorority which sponsors the winning act in the male and female divisions and small permanent trophies will be awarded to the individual winners, who will be named Mr. and Miss Talent of 1951.

Judges for the event have not been named as yet.

Chi O Gives Pledge Awards To Five

Chi Omega initiated its pledge class and gave pledge awards early this week.

Winning awards were Courtney Crumpton as Best Pledge and Millye Bunn as runner-up, Barbara Burge as Model Initiate, Joanne Brown for having the best scrapbook, and Margaret McKee for having the highest scholastic average among the pledges.

Also initiated were Mary Elizabeth Hickman, Mary Helen McLeod, Jane McSpadden, Connie Austin, Camilla Van Dyke, and Preston Merrill.

IRC Discusses Big Far East Question

The International Relations Club will make a resolution as a group of the MacArthur-Far Eastern question. The group discussed the discharging of MacArthur at their meeting Wednesday night.

Jimmy James, president, will present the opinions formed by the club to the student body during chapel this morning and will ask for signatures from the student body on the resolution which will be forwarded to Truman.

On The Two Party System

You, the students of the college, are being taken for a ride, whether you know it or not. You haven't got a chance in the election next week, anyway you take a look at it.

The way you're supposed to look at it is this. The candidates nominated on the first day are the best qualified because they won the nominations of the first party when those of the second day were trying for the same nomination. This is the way you're supposed to look at it and this is why you're getting shot on the ground every election year, because it isn't always the case. It happens quite often that the candidates nominated on the second ticket are as well or better qualified even though they lost out in the first go-round.

Because, and this comes from the mouth of one of the delegates to the first convention, the first day is the fair-haired lad day, the favorite son affair when delegates are wasting their breaths in reading qualifications. It is common knowledge weeks before this convention who is going to get the vote and who isn't. The actual vote is only a matter of custom. This stands particularly for the higher offices. There are some dog fights when you get on down the line, but there isn't much arguing up at the top. These candidates, as a matter of course, are supposed to win the election and they have a pretty good record for doing so.

After all, they have all the advantages. They have an extra day of campaigning and they appear before the student body last to make their campaign speeches. It's a set question and nobody ever says anything about it, it's just that way.

In case you're wondering just why so many members of the present student council are nominated on the first day, that's set up too. Not officially, of course. It's just that most of the delegates just happen to be members of the present council and it all works out in the end without benefit of means. We cannot blame the present Student Council too much for wanting it that way.

Now we are not saying that all the candidates on the first party ticket are unqualified. We don't have to say which ones are and which ones aren't. There are candidates on both tickets who are, are far as qualifications are concerned, so cold that you couldn't warm them up with a blowtorch. You should know who those are and who they aren't. There are some offices for which neither of the candidates are qualified. There it's a case of voting for the lesser evil and the choice is up to you. There are several offices where it's a toss-up as to which one is the best man, or woman. Toss the coin up.

But above all, get out there Friday and vote. As the editors of this newspaper, we are forced to be impartial. We cannot tell you who we believe are and are not the best candidates. This much we can tell you. The collegiate life here at Southwestern has been on the downgrade in each of the three years we have been here. Apathy and disinterest among the students has waxed instead of waning. So do this if you never do anything else. Get somebody in there who will do rather than suggest. Someone who will work rather than watch.

On Student Council Action

The list of accomplishments read in chapel Wednesday by Toby Bunn was the longest and driest list of suggestions and rationalization that we have ever heard. It was a matter of a lot of talking and very little action, a facet that, to our minds, has characterized most of the work done by this year's council.

We do not have to review the list. The record condemns itself. It is a story of trying to make headway with a glider and overlooking motor borne flight. This council has come out of its cocoon a couple of times and looked like it was going to go great guns. Then like the butterfly, which only lives twenty four hours after leaving that cocoon, it folded its wings and died away again.

The affair of sponsoring informal dances, for instance. That was a fine idea, one of the best that has been brought up around here. But what happened to it. It went back into the consideration stage and it looks like it will grow a beard there like the question of setting up a used book exchange has.

The president says that the council has been considering the setting up of a used book exchange. Then they must have been considering for quite some time for the setting up of such an exchange was plank four in the platform of this same president when he ran for office last year. Maybe we're just a little hypercritical, but it seems that a year is too long to contemplate. A good, hard-working one-armed man could dig away a number of obstacles in that length of time. But then it's easier to contemplate than to work.

Chapel services have been changed this year, but there rests some doubt in the students' minds as to whether it was all for the best. About the athletic situation . . . they did forward a request to the committee on Athletics after an editorial suggesting they do so

How Big Can A Wheel Be and Still Be Spoken To

It is too obvious that this is the time of the year in which wheels are made, broken, or just roll away.

With the conventions having just been over, we are noticing several new sets of faces on our sophomores, juniors and seniors. (The freshmen are still lost.)

First, let us look at the seniors. Their behavior has now returned to the form it had upon their graduation from high school. They don't speak, they are generally bored and have the greatest disdain for everyone else but seniors, and they are mad at them. (We refer you to Frances Crouch. In her sophomore year she smiled herself into Publications Commissioner, in her junior year, she "Hi Y'all'd" her way into the editorship of the annual, and in her senior year, she saved enough smiles to bring home Founder's Day STAB, but now just try and speak to her! But remember, F., there's still a husband to get!!!) A senior, to illustrate my point, was overheard saying, "I've purposely snubbed several people."

So now, with the Seniors definitely not speaking to anyone, let's look to the Juniors, who, strangely enough, are carrying on the bulk of the conversation around here.

An excess of smiles, handshakes, and boisterous greetings characterize this class. One would say they were founders of an "Ipana Smile School" (chief proprietor, Ray Bryant).

To show you these lamentable conditions, let's listen in on a cloister conversation which might go something like this: "Hello, Myrna, haven't seen you in months, how in the world are you? My you look nice, is that a new dress?"

"No, I've worn it everyday for a month."

"Well, anyway, it's good to see you; oh, Hi, Isabelle, you are looking so nice today, isn't that a new dress?"

And so for the Juniors, but we can't help from hearing the Sophomore. They are a bit green as of yet but are quickly learning the ropes. One, running for office might sound a bit like this;

"Hello, Bob," "Hi, Jim," "What say, Tom?," "How ya doing, Harry?," "Howdy, Betty," "Hello, how are you, Jane?" and so on into the night. This method might be a bit stale but nevertheless, there is a point achieved, we can't decide on the point, anyway, there is a point.

The freshman are just a mite baffled and can't explain this metaphors in the character of the campus.

But they ain't so dumb! One certain young man was heard saying, "I was going to another school next year, but, now, well, that, er, I'M on the ballot, you see, and er, as a matter of fact, er I might not change.— But don't tell anyone I'm thinking about changing!"

There is hardly a limit to the size a wheel can be, we again refer you to F. Crouch, but as for speaking to them, we feel sure it is safe up until after the April Fool Court is elected, but after that, there's no telling what might happen: the seniors might look at you and sneer; they probably won't even look, or they could kick you!

Cheer For Zeta

Congratulations are in order for the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority for sponsoring the first annual talent contest on the campus. We sincerely hope that it is a success and that they are able to make it an annual occurrence.

Several moves by student organizations have done more good around here this year than they've got credit for. Among these are the WSSF Variety Show, the dance sponsored by the Men's Panhellenic Council, AOPi's Stunt Night, Kappa Delta's All-Sing and The Sou'wester's Maid of Cotton Contest.

We feel that these spontaneous events, sponsored by individual organizations can do more toward welding this student body into a real collegiate group than all the recommending and requesting that the Student Council can do. Congrats again!

Yo ho ho ho and it's election time, but who gives a hoot. I don't I took one look at the list of candidates and took a slow boat to China. Maybe they will have finished dying by the time I get back. They're pretty far gone already.

Not that I'd say anything about our loved politicians. Politicians are supposed to stink, and as politicians, these qualify in the first lap of the tide. Oh, there are some good ones in the lot, but they are so mingled with the muck that you can't tell a ripe one from a rotten one. What is this world coming to? A two party system. That could be. I hope it never happens.

I was talking to the girl friend about me running for an office the other day and we decided that I ought to run. After all, I was president of Wolf Pack 234 of my Cub Scout troop and I'm well qualified. If you don't believe it, look over the feats that I've accomplished that fit me for the job. What job? Any job.

Robert Q. Dunn: AB, BS, SOB, and chapel cutter. Born. Which in itself is a major accomplishment considering that he was never conceived. Talked at age five. Walked at age seven. Began to think at age seventeen. Quit at age seventeen and one day, too much effort. Has shaken every hand on the campus. Has patted every back on the campus except Dr. Rhodes, wasn't tall enough for that. Spends eight hours a day in the Lynx Lair playing bridge.

Think of it, fellow delegates. You can't find a better candidate than this man. He is best qualified because he has never done anything. If he has never done anything, he won't know how to get into trouble. The machine can run him body and soul. You can all keep your soft jobs. He'll fix up your friends. Your frat won't get left out, we have a commissioner of sanitation. I know it's not too much, but its the best we can do this year. We'll let you run for dogcatcher next year. Work? No, you won't have to work. Mr. Rollow does all the dirty work anyway. It's just a figurehead. You'll take it? I thought you would.

Who cares? Nominate somebody, we'll put him in by acclamation. You've got an office coming, haven't you? Yeah, I thought you had. No, your group can't have the secretary, you had it last year. Well, we'll let you run if you put her up, she hasn't got a chance anyway. Gotta watch out for the party, you know.

Now, have we got it all settled. Good we'll vote. Hey, that's not fair, you weren't supposed to nominate. Oh, well, radicals don't stand a chance. We're organized.

Robert Q. Dunn for president. Robert Q. Dunn for vice-president. Robert Q. Dunn for secretary. Robert Q. Dunn for everything. Elect a performer, not a perceiver. Oh, you'd rather have a perceiver. Okay, just thought I'd suggest.

Bob and Bill (Lee McLean and Bob Whiteside) help the Devil (Prof. Ray Hill) to his feet after they have helped him fall down in an effort to restrain him from breaking up the love affair of his son. Scene from the 1951 April Fool Play.

INTRAMURALS

Several games were played in the intramural softball league last week, and after games of Tuesday, SAE, ATO, and KA remained unbeaten.

Two games were played last Friday, SAE edging the Independents and ATO winning over Sigma Nu. In the first game, Ted Fox's home run to lead off the last of the seventh broke up a 10-10 tie, and provided an 11-10 SAE victory. The Independents had gotten off to a fast start in the first three innings, but were unable to maintain their advantage. ATO won easily over Sigma Nu 21-8, scoring eight runs in the third frame and seven more in the sixth. Brady Whitehead and Tom McClelland each poled two home runs in the game.

Monday two games were scheduled, but both were postponed. On Tuesday SAE notched another win, defeating Kappa Sig 11-8, while Sigma Nu got in the winning column for the first time by whipping the Independents 17-6. SAE scored five runs in the first inning against Kappa Sig and were never headed, although the losers rallied to within two runs on two occasions. The Sigma Nu-Independent clash was close until the sixth frame when the victors scored nine times on only two hits, capitalizing on six walks and three errors. The leading hitter was Wheatley Beard, who had three hits, including a home run and two bagger.

Zeta Initiates Eight Pledges, Names Best

Eight girls were initiated into Beta Sigma chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha Friday night, April 6th. They were Betty Basom, Barbara Curtis, Mary Mainord, Rita McCaskill, Anne McGehee, Mary Rush, Beth Perkins, and Mary Anne Wiseman.

Beth Perkins received the best pledge ring, and Mary Rush was awarded the Scholarship ring.

Saturday night a slumber party was held in the Zeta house honoring the new initiates. Supper was served in the house.

Zeta will entertain the members of Sigma Nu in the house Monday evening, April 16. Supper will be served, followed by dancing and entertainment.

Baseballers Tangle Twice With Majors

The Lynx baseballers got down to business this week, meeting the Millsaps Majors in games on Wednesday and Thursday. After the disastrous 29-0 loss to Memphis State in the opener, the Lynx worked out hard for a week in an effort to straighten out the kinks and the results were expected to be much more favorable against the Majors.

Two more games are on the docket this week. The University of Wisconsin brings a topnotch team here on Monday, and the Lynx will journey to Jonesboro, Ark., Thursday to meet the Indians of Arkansas State.

Monday the Southwestern golfers went down to Ole Miss with the tennis team, but were swamped by the Rebels 26 1/2 to 1/2. Hugh Francis picked up the sole half point for the Lynx. The golfers have a heavy week in store for them, meeting Memphis Navy tomorrow, Memphis State Tuesday, Ole Miss Wednesday, and Wisconsin Thursday.

Lynx Netmen To Meet Tulane Powerhouse This Afternoon

The Southwestern netmen will entertain Tulane this afternoon on the Lynx courts in one of the outstanding matches of the season. Tulane annually has one of the strongest teams in the South, and this will be an opportunity for local tennis fanciers to see some good players.

The Lynx will be out to improve on a one win—two loss season record, and although the visitors will be heavily favored, the matches should be interesting. Ted Fox, John Austin, Jimmie James, and Ed appeared in this paper. That was easy enough. But we weren't satisfied with the action taken by the committee and we feel that a goodly number of the students weren't either. However, we knew when we'd said enough.

As far as religious activities are concerned, they did recommend that religious emphasis be strengthened and, according to what I learned, it was a little better. But not as good as it might have been with a little more planning. The council was progressive when they requested that a negro delegation be allowed to attend the Intercollegiate Forum. That was an effort, anyhow, to do something that every student council before them hadn't done.

If they get the road paved across Parkway, they will have accomplished something again, but the powers that be have been after that for quite some time, it isn't original. The council did, of course, collect money for various charities, but another of those planks in the president's platform was that all campus charity drives be united into one big one. Seems like my hand went into my pocket more than once this year.

They nominated Who's Who and Hall of Fame and they conducted elections, but when you round it all out, the only thing they have accomplished worth wasting words on is the effort to replace the missing pictures in the Hall of Fame display on second floor Palmer. Does that take a year, too? Maybe we'll see those pictures someday.

But as a last ditch stand, to go out in a blaze of glory, the council is sponsoring a supper at the hearth. It's a fine gesture just before the new fellows come in, but it doesn't fool us. It may fool you, it's intended to, but not us.

Roscoe Feild, the Lynx Lair waiter climaxes the 1951 April Fool Play by pouring water on Douglas Marsh to cool off his warm affection as the other couples embrace. Standing are Bob Crumby and Vivienne Chilton, seated behind Douglas are Buddy Allison and Pat Riegle and seated between Roscoe and Doug are Ann McGehee and Lee McLean.

April Fool Court King Toby Bunn knights Bob Starr, royal playwright, while Queen Anne Caldwell looks on. Starr was the author of "The Devil To Pay," a three act comedy which was presented in Hardie to open the carnival.

Carnival Splashes On Campus Scene

The April Fool Carnival splashed across the campus, introduced by a pair of unorthodox pennants flying from the flag staff atop Palmer, a fanfare was heard and it faded away into the last echoes of the twelfth stroke of midnight last Saturday.

Reigned over by King Toby Bunn and Queen Anne Caldwell, carnival activities were given a push in the right direction by the Legions of Hades in the annual April Fool Play, written and produced by Bob Starr and staged at 7:30 p.m. in Hardie.

The play, which starred Bob Crumby, Prof. Ray Hill, Bob Whiteside, Vivienne Chilton, Lee McLean, Buddy Allison, Pat Riegle, Roscoe Feild, and Ann Brown, told the story of Lucifer, the dissatisfied son of the Devil who left Hell to get a liberal arts education. In the course of events the Devil gets locked out of the bad place, Lucifer finds love, everybody finds the happy ending.

Following the play the costume ball began in Fargason. Johnny Long and his Orchestra blew fanfares and the king and queen, Toby Bunn and Anne Caldwell, were introduced with the members of the court. King Toby then knighted playwright Bob Starr and named him poet-laureate of the realm.

Judging of costumes followed this ceremony and Al Clemens and Carol June Williams as an organ grinder and his monkey took first prize in couples competition. Mary Beth Davidson as a leggy ringmistress and Doug Barnett as Mr. Peanut took first places as individuals.

The royal leadout followed the judging which was done by members of the court and dancing lasted till twelve, interrupted only occasionally by jesters Tom Cunningham and John McGettrick. Sue and Nancy Carrell were court pages.

Winners in the April Fool costume judging were Al Clemens as the organ grinder and Carol June Williams as his monkey. The attractive ringmistress is Mary Beth Davidson who took first prize for an individual woman. Doug Barnett, who was dressed as Mr. Peanut and won as an individual boy was not present when this picture was made.

Bill Jackson, a ministerial student, argues with Lucifer, the son of the Devil about a point of theology in this scene from the April Fool Play. Bob Crumby is on the left with Bob Whiteside, who played Bill.
