Columbia Lecturer Morley Will Speak on Japanese

"Demonstrations and Democracy in Japan" will be the topic of the next University lecturer, Dr. James W. Morley of Columbia University, who will speak in the Adult Education Center on Dec. 13.

He will be honored at a banquet before his talk along with Memphis Columbia alumni. The talk begins at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Morley is assistant professor of government at the East Asian Institute of Columbia. He has studied in Japan, once in 1952 on a Social Science Research Council Fellowship, and again this year on Fulbright and Guggenheim Foundation Scholarships. On this trip he also studied in Korea, Taiwan, and Hong Kong.

Educated at Harvard, Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, School of Advanced International Studies, The Johns Hopkins University and Columbia, he is one of the most highly educated men we have been privileged to hear. He also attended the US Naval Lan-

Editorship Open For Handbook

Applications for Editor of the Student Council Handbook are now due.

For those of you who may not know, the Student Council Handbook is put out as one of the Publications of Southwestern, by students. Each year someone is required to revise the present book, and get it reprinted. It is not a hard job, but an interesting one, and the Publications Board hopes that there will be a number of applicants.

Your application can be turned in to any one of the Publications Board members, Carolyn Brasher, Marjorie Wild, Mary Worth Burton, Jocelyn Agnew, or Bette Baumgarten. It should be turned in before the Christmas holidays.

Gracey Scholarship Awarded To Finch

The Marianna Gracey Award for summer study abroad has been presented this year to Lynn Finch. The scholarship, open every other year, was left in a grant by Miss Marianna Gracey, a former Dean of Women at Southwestern. Miss Finch, from Little Rock, Arkansas, is a junior.

Lynn will be in Paris this summer and will probably study at the Sorbonne. She will be working in literature.

She is a French major and is president of Sans Souci on campus.

Singers' Christmas Music Set For Sunday Evening

The Southwestern Singers will present "The Christmas Story" by Heinrich Schutz as their annual Christmas Vesper Service on Sunday, December 11, at 5 o'clock p.m. in the Evergreen Presbyterian Church. The Singers will be conducted by Dr. Vernon Taylor, head of the Southwestern Music Department, and accompanied at the organ by David Ramsey. Diane McCullough, Fred Ford, and Perry White will appear as solosists.

Also appearing on the program will be Susan Ramseur, Peggy Quade and Charles Phillips, who will play a sonata by Legrenzi.

Dr. Van M. Arnold, minister of Evergreen Presbyterian Church, will read the Christmas story and give the benediction.

Xmas Concert Set By Agnew and Hall

Resuming activities Tuesday night, December 13, is the Student Organist's Guild. The group, made up of Southwestern organ students will meet at 8:00 at Calvary Episcopal Church. Eleanor Hall and Jocelyn Agnew will play several numbers as a demonstration of the organ for the other students.

Each month, the Student Organist's Guild meets at a church in Memphis to hear and become familiar with the organ there. Different students play at each meeting. Anyone interested is invited to attend meetings.

Newly elected officers of the Student Organist's Guild are President, Ross Stuckey; Secretary-treasurer, Mimmye Wilson; and Publicity Chairman, Gerald Holter.

New SW Madrigal Singers Outline Season's Program

Southwestern has a new musical organization this year. The Madrigal Singers is a group formed within the Southwestern Singers with all members of the latter eligible for membership. This group performs mainly secular choral music of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. However, their repertoire does not exclude other forms of choral compositions. For example they are singing religious Christmas works.

Last Saturday over WMCT, Channel 5, a representative group of the Madrigal Singers made its debut in a special program performed with other members of the Southwestern Music Department. During the next week the Singers, under the direction of Miss Anne Reiners, will make several appearances. On December 9 the Singers will perform at the faculty Christmas party. On the 13th the group will divide and one part will sing at Second Presbyterian Church while the other part will go to Calvary Episcopal Church. December 14 the Southwestern neighborhood will be treated by caroling. The last performance before the holidays will be on December 16 for the school Christmas party.

An outstanding feature of the group is the versatility of its members, a fact which allows Miss Reiners to interchange the various voices. This is apparent in their ability to perform in two separate groups.

Members of the group include so-

Chi Beta Phi Taps Four

Chi Beta Phi tapped new members into its circle Friday in Chapel. Those honored were Margaret Ann Hockensmith, Jimmy Finley, Charles Hogrefe, and Paul Lawrence.

Membership in the club is open only to math and science majors. Candidates must have twenty-five hours of math or science, a B average in these courses, and an over-all B average. Hence it is quite an exclusive group.

As part of its program, Chi Beta Phi presented a movie on the Atom Bomb.

About Campus

by Susie Bracewell

Dear old SW is now recovering from the traumas of last week's backwards dance and dream man contest. Some of the more thoughtful students are asking themselves this week, will success spoil Wes Busbee and John Henry Davis? And there are those who sincerely feel that a psychological and sociological study should be made to determine the effects of being named dream man. Will such an honor make a change in the minds and characters of our campus celebrities?

Some boys who weren't nominated feel that the psychological effects are definitely bad, but they tend to speak highly of Wes Busbee. After all, he did the only honorable thing that one could do after getting elected dream man. One male type Old South student said W. Busbee was a gentleman and a scholar.

But even at such a blissful occasion as the backwards dance there were low mutterings of discontent from boys who were uninvited. One said the whole thing was silly and unnatural and should be abolished. Another was more in favor of abolishing the Torches.

And now here is your minute capsule summary of this week's sorority and fraternity news WMPS style. With the outstanding organization and agreement that always characterize their actions, the fraternities are having all their parties on the same night and at the same time. That's tonight at seven-thirty.

Sorority parties will be held this week. The Tri-Delta's will have their annual Pine Tree Christmas Party which will be given for their Alumnae and their children on Tuesday night at 6:30 at the lodge. The Chi Omega party will also be on Tuesday night. The Kappa Delta and Zeta Christmas parties will be held on Thursday night at five o'clock and six o'clock respectively.

This week many congratulations to Wes Busbee and Carol Bradshaw who are pinned.

The Errant Bourgeois

Let all join hands and sing aloud in a great voice for the holidays are almost here and we shall break away from the sequestered halls to join the outside sphere again. Though I honestly cringe when I think of certain of our populace striking out un-guided into the urban jungle with nought but their untutored little minds to help them. Of course, more learned ones will merely steer for the comforts of the old hometown—bar, that is, and spend a misty and spiritual two weeks, unharmed. Others will hardly notice there is a holiday except to note occasionally that parties are the all-day-all-night-every-24-hour-type, instead of the regular 16-hour-type. But, alas, there are those clods who will trip innocently away with piles of books and study—actually waste—every hour of those blessed weeks. Oh, for such sin they will surely answer in the Latter Day!

Sallie Meek informs me that she'll spend her holidays sending Christmas cards to Greene so he won't forget her for the duration. Greene informs me that he gave her a false address and intends to forget the whole mess of SW for the duration.

Mr. Roper will spend the pre-Christmas days writing letters to Santa asking for a new pop-open umbrella that works only when he wants it to, and doesn't have to be bound in rubber bands when closed (to keep it from viciously springing open under cars, in closets and during lectures.)

Our nameless (but generous) benefactor of the Halloween trick-or-treat will probably offer bourbon to the Madrigal Singers and spend his holidays ruefully repenting (either the deed or the subsequent dirth of spirits).

John Henry Davis will sing Gregorian plainsongs to his students, accompanied by his recorder, and all who hear will marvel.

Paunchy Turpin will give his IBM a brand new out-of-order button and Miss Martin will buy herself two big new pads of order blanks for mimeograph paper.

Mrs. Wolfe will learn to play "The Messiah" on her glasses.

The PRC will send Christmas cards only to those who contribute to Thanks-Thru-Giving and the Dining Hall will send Get Well cards after the Christmas Party.

Dr. Gilow and Dr. Lyons have discovered the chemical formula for creating Santa Clauses and are going to put the Mile-O-Dimes out of business.

Torch Dance Hails Busbee, Dr. Davis

Wes Busbee was chosen Torch Dream Man at the annual Torch Dance last Saturday night at the Chi Omega and Tri Delta houses. Precedent was set the same night when the Torches joyfully elected Dr. John Henry Davis Honorary Dream Man.

The two honorees came apprehensively up to the Chi Omega balcony where the Torches leered invitingly, awaiting their kisses. Wes and Dr. Davis complied, and looked secretly pleased, even though Wes went and got pinned immediately afterward. Then all swept downstairs where Wes danced with some lucky gal and Dr. Davis got to guide the Torches in succession about the dance floor.

Refreshments were sold in the Tri Delta house and the hi-fi played gentle music for those who wished to rest their ears from the swinging beat next door, provided by the Shifters, a high school group that did beautifully.

Your Student Council

by Jenny Yates

On December 6, 1960, the Southwestern Student Council held its weekly meeting. The Commissioners of Education, Religious Activities, Publications, and Social were absent from the meeting but were excused.

There was no report from the Elections Commission. Wes announced that the basketball team won its first home game and that the spirit was much better. He plans to introduce the basketball team in assembly very soon.

Jenny gave an extensive report on hazing. It was decided that the council would call for a student vote at the next election as to whether to continue hazing or not. Jenny also announced that the Christmas party for the dorm students was being planned by the WUB.

Bill Davidson said that there would be an Intra-City Council meeting tonight and he invited all interested persons to go. Bobby Barret, Joe Duncan, Bert Tuggle, and Bill were planning to attend.

The NSA debate that was scheduled for this week was postponed until next week in student assembly.

Pan, I.F.C., and the Library Committee were all present but had no reports.

Joe Duncan announced that Sophomore Class Vespers will be held next Friday night, December 16th.

Lee Carroll, freshman class president, said that Barbara Eberbaugh has been appointed as historian of the freshman class.

Jerry had all of the council members turn in their eight weeks reports after which he announced that the PRC Drive collected $1125. The meeting was adjourned.

ents to all the Electoral College with Nixon's name on them, and Kennedy and Soapy Williams will send free Mennen to all the jobless, aged, underprivileged, and infirm.

In the SW office peace will reign as there will be no one in the guest rooms overhead to take a bath and flood the office when they drain the tub. Baumgarten will ask St. Nick for 1000 exciting news articles and 15 ready-made editorials, Charlie Witcher will ask for a book of unused Cartoon Quips, Birt Waite will ask for a year's supply of non-caloric popcorn balls, and I will send 10c SW pencils from the Lair to my intimate friends.

Parting word and comment on the temps:

"When that I was and a little tiny boy
With a hey, ho, the wind and the rain . . .
A foolish thing was but a toy
For the rain it raineth every day."

WES BUSBEE AND John Henry Davis reign in splendor as Dream Men among grinning Torch members Marty Barret, Jocelyn Agnew, Lela Garner, Carolyn Orr, Bette Baumgarten, Dorothy Hicks, Mary Eliz Streete, and Marcy Ruyl.

STAB Announces Carol Bradshaw

Carol Bradshaw, a junior from Osceola, Arkansas, was announced last week to be STAB's newest member. Carol has quite an impressive list of honors gathered during her years here at Southwestern. As a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, she was outstanding pledge her freshman year, and has held the offices of Parliamentarian and Panhellenic representative for two years and participates in intramural volleyball and baseball. She is now President of the Panhellenic Council, a member of WUB, on the high school visitation program, and the Sweetheart of Kappa Sigma. She has served on the annual staff, been in the pep band, and been a member of the choir for two years. She has accomplished innumerable musical programs here and is a former student of Myron Meyers at the Southwestern College of Music.

Time Magazine Lists Southwestern

Southwestern is one of the 50 private four-year liberal arts colleges listed in this week's Time newsmagazine as one of the best such small schools in the country.

"What most of them have in common," stated the article, "is that if they are not nationally known, they deserve to be." Only one of the group has more than 1,500 students. About 50 per cent of the professors in schools listed hold doctorates—"well above the national average."

This is one of the few respects in which Southwestern with its 3 doctorates for every 4 professors failed to conform to the trends of the group. The largest single affiliational heading is Presbyterian (13). Many require religion courses in their liberal arts program.

And oh yes . . . quite a few still require chapel.

East Hall Dormitory Opens For Service

East Hall, the new Southwestern dormitory for women, will be initiated to service tomorrow, when fifty-two women students, about half of them freshmen, take up their abode therein.

Peggy Welsh and Carolyn Orr will act as the assistant resident heads.

The dorm, whose residents will use the Townsend Hall social room, is equipped with a kitchenette for every two rooms and will also have the feature of coin-operated automatic washers. Each of the three floors will have a lounge.

Among them are The Japanese Thrust in Siberia, 1918, and Soviet and Communist Chinese Policies Toward Japan. He has also written a number of articles in American and Japanese journals about Japanese, Chinese and Soviet politics.

Currently Dr. Morley is teaching courses at Columbia in Japanese and Chinese political institutions and international policies in the Far East, and conducting interdisciplinary seminary on the Sino-Soviet Bloc on modern East Asia.

Sallie Meek

I, Sallie Meek, have the CHRISTMAS SPIRIT. Caput apri refero, tra la la, Boston Charlie, etc. This year I am not going to let term papers stand in the way of parties.

And speaking of parties, thanks forever to the Torches for making Dr. J. H. Davis Honorary Dream Man, or D. M. of T. as he would probably put it. I sneaked up into the Chi O balcony disguised as a Torch and kissed him like everybody else. Secretly, through all the intricacies of English History, I have wanted to kiss Dr. J.H.D. This is all to say nothing of kissing Wes Busbee. (yum). (And Carol, he wasn't pinned yet then). Although, the Dream men were winners.

As for other parties, the Stylus Christmas party was probably fun.

I heard they were going to have spiked eggnog and I wanted to go. The editor finally invited me because I have had more poems turned down than anybody else on campus since SW migrated from Clarksville. Sort of a booby prize type thing. So I didn't go out of pride. I am going to send the rest of my poems to the New Yorker anyway. The only other really interesting sounding party is the one Susie Bracewell might give in her room if anybody can get in around the pot plants.

Oh, I dropped in at a good riot over in the boys' dorm Tuesday night. (I stayed outside, too, Mrs. Cable.) Everybody was out to get Bert Tuggle, who bravely locked himself in his room while ATO pledges threw Ringold in a mud-hole, and 3 pledges drowned in water bombs.

The only other really good subversive party type thing going on lately is the little poetry group that meets at Alex's at midnight, only girls can't go.

Only a few grunches are left around here without the Christmas spirit. There's L. R. Mills, whose conscience is bothering him, and Lela Garner who said, resignedly, after achieving "Who's Who," "I wonder how much this honor's going to cost." And, of course, there are the immortal post-graduate words of Pem Kremer, to-wit: "Bah, Humbug!"

HELP! I have forgotten to mention E. H. Greene, boy math professor. Let me say that, contrary to the predictions of the Errant A., I am only sending ONE Christmas card to Prof. G. which I plan to deliver in person on Christmas morning. (Don't mean to act huffy—it's just that I have Ernest intentions).

Well, peace on earth, good w, etc., etc.

Members of Eta Sigma Phi will meet at the home of Professor Laura Robinson, 1014 E. Rainbow Drive, at 4:15 p.m. on Tuesday, December 13. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Lynx Host Statesmen, Seek 2nd Home Win

by Birt Waite

A very young but equally determined quintet of Southwestern basketballers return to the friendly confines of Mallory hardwood to host an invading Delta State squad Saturday night.

Tip-off ought to be somewhere around 8:00, following a preliminary involving the Lynx jayvees and a Memphis industrial league team.

So far this season the brunt of the Southwestern attack has been shared by seven players, including only two lettermen — sophomore Aubrey Smith (6'4), a starter his freshman year, and junior Keith Arman, a two-year letterman.

One-Two Punch

Among the seven, Bill Taylor, a 6'2 sophomore pivotman, is the only other returnee. Freshman pivotman David Miles (6'5) and guards David Sisson (6'1), Larry Thomas (6'), and Bob Moseley (6') round out the list of principal performers.

In the Delta State attack the two men to watch should be their lethal one-two punch at guard in the persons of Chick Scheiderman (6'1) and Dave Belford (5'11). Their "big man" on the boards ought to be 6'5 Chuck Preston.

The Statesmen will be handicapped by the loss of pivotman Jim Taylor, who averaged 23.4 points-per-game last season and received All-American recognition.

Equal Height

Both teams in Saturday's contest play an aggressive, fast-breaking style of ball. They carry about the same height onto the court as both are relatively short by usual college standards.

On a neutral court the Statesmen, who usually play in a little faster league than the Lynx, should rate the favorites. But the Lynx will have the home team advantage, which ought to be just enough to offset the invaders' overall edge and turn the contest into a real ballgame.

Lynx Commit 23 Fouls

The Lynx will carry a 1-3 record into Saturday night's contest, reflecting one home victory and three road losses, as is too often the case. After losses to Tulane and Miss. College, the Lynx returned home to topple Birmingham Southern, 76-66, last Monday night.

At Sewanee the Lynx won the floor game, 60-46, but lost at the foul line, 31-12. As a result the Tigers scampered off with a 77-69 victory Wednesday night. The hosts put the game away with deadly accuracy at the free throw line, hitting 31 of 36 attempts.

The Lynx had almost as good a percentage (6 for 9) at the foul line but with only eight trips to the line could hardly compete in that department. In all 23 fouls were called against Southwestern.

Return Match in '61

Sisson led the Lynx' attack with 20 points, followed by Thomas with 16 and Smith with 11. Game scoring honors went to the Tigers' forward, Sparky Edgin, long a thorn in the 'Cats' flesh, who pumped in 22 on this particular occasion.

The Delta State contest will close the 1960 edition of the current basketball campaign for the Lynx, who open the new year at home January 6 against Huntingdon. On January 19 the Lynx journey to Cleveland for a return match with Delta's Statesmen.

In contests last season, Delta State downed the Lynx on two occasions, 75-57 and 88-71.

Intramurals

A while before most of the present student body even planned to attend Southwestern, Alpha Tau Omega raked in all the marble in intramural competition. It wasn't long thereafter that Kappa Alpha Order won every intramural team game (except a lone softball contest, we remember) of one school year and of course all the team trophies.

Kappa Alpha still reigns supreme in handball, but little else. ATO occasionally has some top individual competitors in tennis and ping pong and a second place team here and there, but hardly anything more.

Snakes Ever Tough

Sigma Nu has always been the toughest when it has come to individual sports and never a push-over in any team sport, often the champs. The Snakes pick up tennis and ping pong trophies annually almost as a matter of course.

Kappa Sigma, once an intramural doormat of a sorts, exploded in the volleyball play-offs last year, clobbered SAE, and carried off the brassware.

But things have changed. Sigma Alpha Epsilon hasn't lost a game in team competition yet this year. They copped the flagball trophy, the cross country title, are presently leading both leagues in volleyball competition, and ought to field a top-flight team in each of the three basketball leagues come 1961.

Free Enterprise

So goes the wonderful world of free enterprise. The only question in our minds remains: Who will be the next BMOC's (big-meats-on-the-campus), or how long will the Lions' success continue to match their roar?

But since we're not now prognosticating (we never could), let's look at the past week's results.

"A" League

In "A" League competition, the Lions downed PiKA 15-3, 15-3, Sigma Nu 15-9, 15-13, Kappa Sigma 15-2, 15-1, and Kappa Alpha 15-5, 15-6. Second place SN dumped KS 15-5, 15-7, KA 15-4, 13-15, 15-8, ATO 15-5, 15-6, and the Independents 15-4, 15-1.

KA and ATO are knotted in third place with two wins apiece. The Sons of the South slipped by KS 12-15, 15-3, 18-16 and clobbered KEITH ARMAN, the hot-shooting guard from Hot Springs, Arkansas, is starting his third year as a varsity basketball player. The 5'9" Arman is one of the more consistent players on the squad. He saw considerable service as a freshman but was lost to the team much of last season due to an ankle injury. No longer hampered, the hard-driving junior is slated for heavy duty tomorrow afternoon against Delta State on the Mallory hardwood.

Pike 15-4, 15-1. ATO defeated Pike 15-2, 15-11 and the Independents 15-13, 15-4.

The Independents in fifth place have a lone win over Pike, 15-7, 15-11.

"B" League

"B" League competition finds SAE in first place on the strength of having played one more game than SN.

The Lions outplayed KS 15-5, 16-14, ATO 15-6, 13-15, 15-11, and KA 15-6, 12-15, 15-3. The Snakes hold a 15-5, 16-14 win over KA and an 11-15, 15-3, 15-9 victory over ATO.

The Independents knocked off KA 15-9, 12-15, 15-9 and Pike 15-8, 17-15. PiKA evened its record with an 8-15, 16-14, 15-12 victory over Kappa Sig. The Taus' lone victory came at the expense of the Independents who fell 15-5, 15-8. The big up-and-coming game will be the SAE-SN clash which could very well decide the "B" League crown.

Pigskin Predictions

by Prof. Prognosticator

Once again in 1960, many of the so-called "major" bowl games shape up as an over-rated farcical mismatch. The newly proposed Southern Professional Football League is idiotic, the now deceased Continental League was imbecilic, and the three team Gotham Bowl contest is moronic.

In the final Professor Prognosticator of the year, the old Prof. sees the bowl picture end up this way:

Rice Bowl: Henderson State over East Central Oklahoma (was ist das?)

Sequoia Bowl: Hartwell over Frensch City College (crazy, man crazy)

Bluebonnet Bowl: Alabama over Texas (one of the better games)

Liberty Bowl: Penn State over Oregon (Nitty Lions to roll)

Tangerine Bowl: Citadel over Tennessee Tech (fair contest)

Gator Bowl: Baylor over Florida (real close)

Sun Bowl: New Mexico St. over Utah St. (Excellent battle Ooooooo)

Rose Bowl: Minnesota over Wash. (Huskie can't move without Schloredt)

Orange Bowl: Navy over Missouri (Middies' Bellino one man team)

Sugar Bowl: Ole Miss over Rice (what a horror show!)

Cotton Bowl: Arkansas over Duke (Razorbacks too tough)

Toilet Bowl: Winner of American Football League vs. Winner of Southern Professional Football League.

THREE OF THE FINEST GUARD PROSPECTS to hit Southwestern in recent years, (l. to r.) Larry Thomas, David Sisson, and Bob Moseley will carry a large share of the attack in the Lynx' encounter with Delta State Saturday night. Thomas (6') was an all-Shelby County at Bartlett last year and the Most Valuable Player in the City-County All-Star game. Sisson (6'1) and Moseley were both All-Memphis selections on two of the city's top quintets. Sisson played at Treadwell and Moseley at Central.
