Student Council Christmas Party Slated for Tonite

The annual Student Council Christmas Party will be held in the refectory tonight at six o'clock.

Looked forward to each year with great anticipation by the faculty and students both, the program for this year promises to make it one of the best years ever. Leading off the talent parade will be Joanna Cheek, Roy Twaddle, and Mike Utley, to be followed by the Madrigal Singers who will present several Christmas carols.

In starry-eyed anticipation the gay crowd will greet Santa Claus as he is ushered in for his yearly visit by Dossett Foster, acting as emcee of the show.

Following the visit of the jolly elf, there will be a special Christmas Cut Session, with equal representation for students and faculty both. The party will end with the singing by the entire group of some favorite carols.

The party is under the direction of the Junior Class officers, headed by Howard Edington, president.

Cameras to Roll At Torch Dance

Movies of the Torch Dance Saturday night will be taken from the balcony of the Chi Omega house by the professional movie team that has been shooting films of the college and students since commencement this year under the direction of the News Service.

Approximately 100 students will see themselves on the screen in April at the film's premiere showing. The fifteen-minute-long movie, narrated in part by President Rhodes, will be sent out-of-town to be shown before Southwestern alumni clubs, prospective students and church groups.

"It has everything but technicolor," said Mrs. Ballinger of the News Service. "It is even made to be televised."

In addition to outdoor scenes of the campus, the film includes indoor scenes such as those taken in classrooms, laboratories and the library. Featured are the Opening Convocation and Homecoming, both the game and decorations.

Wider Choice of Food Planned for February

As a result of Student Council negotiations, students will have a wider choice of food in the cafeteria during the month of February.

This will be a trial period to see if a choice of any three items from three groups—desserts, salads, and beverages—would be financially possible. Under such a system thirsty students could have two cartons of milk in exchange for a dessert or salad.

According to Student Council President Steve Richardson, Mr. Johnson "has appreciated this chance to cooperate with the Council on a problem of mutual interest" and is "very eager for student suggestions about the cafeteria service."

The Council is also investigating the reasons behind the administration rule against smoking in the cafeteria.

BUT WHEN DOES SANTA come in? asks Sharon Lupfer, as Howard Edington and Dossett Foster confer on last minute arrangements for the annual Christmas Party. Student entertainment and group singing are slated to round out the evening.

Physics Profs Achieve Infrared Breakthrough

At two o'clock Tuesday morning three tired but jubilant physics professors returned to Southwestern from their two-week sun-study expedition to Climax, Colorado.

'First' for SW Physicists
Dr. Jack Taylor, Robert MacQueen, and A. C. Emery of the Southwestern physics department, became the first scientists ever to use the brand new coronagraph, owned by the University of Colorado, which enables physicists to study the sun under their own conditions, using infrared spectrometers.

The coronagraph simulates an artificial eclipse by focusing an image of the sun on a screen. Then a metal object called an occulting disc blocks out this image in the same way that the moon produces a natural eclipse by passing in front of the sun, so that only the fringe radiation from the photosphere reaches the screen. It is this fringe radiation which was analyzed spectroscopically by the physicists and is of primary interest because

Rice, Lawrence Attend World Affairs Seminar

John F. Rice, senior, and Eleanor Lawrence, junior, are representing Southwestern at the eighth annual Student Conference on National Affairs being held December 12-15 on the Texas A&M campus, College Station, Texas.

Speakers for the conference include Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, new Organization of American States council president Gonzalo J. Facio, and former U. N. ambassador James J. Wadsworth.

Other keynote speakers are Felix McKnight, executive editor of The Dallas Times-Herald who interviewed Nikita Khrushchev in Russia last summer; Gen. Frederic H. Smith, recently retired commander of the U. S. Air Force in Europe and vice chief of staff of the Air Force; and Mason Willrich, a delegate to the 18-nation disarmament talks in Geneva and counsel to the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

More than 175 students from 65 universities and colleges from the U. S., Mexico and Canada are attending the conference. General theme of SCONA VIII is "Sources of World Tension."

it is caused by gigantic atomic explosions on the surface of the sun.

Use of Spectrometers
With infrared spectrometers physicists can determine the physical and chemical makeup of any body which emits light waves and can study the nature and essence of matter itself.

According to Dr. Taylor, the Southwestern physics team explored a section of the sun's spectrum which had never before been analyzed. From their data the physicists have thus far determined

Madrigals Will Conduct Monday Chapel Service

The Madrigal Singers will conduct another choral chapel program Monday consisting of six Christmas carols and anthems.

The singers performed the service for the first time this morning. Selections include "Hodie, Christus Natus Est," "An Infant Has Come," "Shepherds Come Away," "The Holly and the Ivy," "Lo, How a Rose e'er Blooming," and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The a cappella group will also perform at Christmas parties tonight and Saturday. They will carol to the dorms tonight and appear on TV tomorrow morning.

Faculty Christmas Party Scheduled for Saturday

Tomorrow evening at six o'clock, The Southwestern Woman's Club, headed by Mrs. Taylor Reveley, will sponsor the annual Faculty Christmas Party, to be held in the refectory.

In charge of the festivities is Mrs. Perry Scrivener, who, with the aid of Mrs. Vernon Taylor, has set up an entertainment program filled with traditional Christmas spirit and top-notch campus performers.

With decorative colored candles and Christmas greenery, the scene will be set for a performance by the Madrigals and by several members of the faculty of the College of Music. Following a mixed quartet and a violin solo by Jan Lowi, Mr. John McGinnis will lead the entire group in the traditional carols of

Fifty Dollar Tuition Hike To Be Effective In Fall

Southwestern's tuition rate will be raised $50 per semester beginning next fall, bringing the total tuition to $900 per year, Dean Taylor Reveley announced recently.

Parents of students received letters early this week which notified them of the tuition increase which was authorized by the Committee on Admissions.

Reasons for Increase

Many conditions led to the decision of the Committee, according to Dean Reveley. As example he cited Southwestern's large enrollment, the rising cost of education in proportion to the rise in income from outside sources, the lag of faculty salaries behind those of comparable colleges, and the desire to "maintain the tradition of genuineness and excellence that Southwestern enjoys."

In explaining the reason why a larger enrollment meant increased cost, Dean Reveley stated that since the student paid only 55% of the cost of his education (if he does not receive any aid), the remaining cost is greater for a larger number of students.

"No Choice"

"This is just an economic reality we have to face," commented Dean Reveley. "When you examine our costs with those of other comparable colleges, you can see that there isn't much else we can do."

"This is a good college," he continued. "It is not going to remain a good college unless we keep a good faculty by substantial salaries."

Cost Compared

Vanderbilt charged a $900 tuition rate last year and Sewanee's tuition costs were $950 for the same year,

Midnight Communion Slated for Monday

The traditional Christmas communion will be held at midnight, Monday, December 17, Liz Currie, President of the Protestant Religious Council announced today.

Dr. Paul T. Jones of Idlewild Presbyterian Church will conduct the service. Dr. Milton Brown and Dr. John Henry Davis will assist in the administering of the communion.

Liz expressed hope that everyone will attend, and added that dorm girls who go will be granted late permission until the services are over.

Dr. Neal to Lead Tuesday's Chapel

"Christmas in Scripture and Song" will be the title of Tuesday's chapel program to be presented by Dr. Fred Neal, Mrs. Gardner P. Ruffin, and the Madrigal Singers.

"We wanted to make the last chapel before the holidays express the deepest meaning of what Christmas really is in the form of scripture reading and the singing of Christmas carols," said Dr. Neal in explanation of the chapel service.

Dr. Neal and Mrs. Ruffin will read scriptures which will be interspersed with carols rendered by the Madrigals.

Mrs. Ruffin, the wife of Gardner P. Ruffin, who is the physics department's machine shop supervisor, has been prominent in dramatic work in the AEC.

Torch Dance Includes Dream Man Choice

Southwestern coeds are dreaming this week of a Torch Dream Man who will be honored at a backwards dance on Saturday, December 15, at the Chi Omega and Delta Delta Delta sorority lodges.

The Dream Man, who will be identified Saturday night, is the choice of all the women, and each one has asked a favorite beau to the dance. The band, led by senior Buddy McAfee, will play in the Chi Omega house while refreshments and folk and carol singing will be the attraction next door at the Tri-Delta lodge. The party will be from 8-12 p.m.

Music Students, GDI's Join Children's Choir For TV Program

Southwestern Music Students will join forces with the Children's Choir at Evergreen Presbyterian Church to present a program on Pride of the Southland — WMCT, Channel 5, at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

The program features the Southwestern Singers; the Madrigals; Jimmy Kay, Southwestern composer; Ramona Fowler, pianist; the Children's Choir from Evergreen Presbyterian Church, and Noel Taylor, harpsichordist. Guests on the program are the Independent Men of Southwestern who won top honors in the ALL SING earlier this fall.

The program has been organized and prepared by Dr. Vernon Taylor and will be under the personal direction of John McGinnis of the Southwestern faculty, under the theme "The Church, an Influence in Community Music."

Christmas, with Miss Jane Soderstrom accompanying on the piano.

One of the high points of the night will be partaking of desserts to be contributed by the wives of the faculty members. They will be displayed on a long table lighted by colored candles.

To round out the evening, a door prize donated by Memphis merchants will be awarded to the holder of the lucky ticket.

The list of those attending includes all members of the faculty and their wives, Mr. Wesley Halliburton, Mr. Aaron Knox Burrow and all faculty honoraries.

For tickets, those interested may call Mrs. William Maybry or drop by Dean Jones' office.

THE WORLD ARENA

The Quintessence of Kennedyism

By WAYNE GOLDSWORTHY

This land's not my land
This land's not your land
This land belongs to JFK.

Whether you and the Commercial Appeal's correspondents like it or not, the above stanza is a pretty accurate one. During the past few months Mr. Kennedy has faced political death three times in closer sequence than perhaps any other president has ever faced it. The Mississippi crisis and the Cuban affair followed so closely by the off year elections could very well have been the end of anyone.

However, when we use the last of the challenges—the election the Democrats should have lost — to judge the result of the previous threats, when we swallow the pills with, of course, a grain of salt, and consult a few historical precedents, we find that the President is incredibly popular and trusted and that his cadres throughout the nation are vibrant and tough. Yes, Kennedy is in and in completely for the duration. He will not get everything he wants, or, rather, everything that he says he wants, but he will set the tone of national life and direct our destinies to an extent greater than has been the case with most American presidents.

It is important that we avoid puerile attitudes of adoration or ridicule towards a man of such power. It is time that we attempted to arrive at some understanding of Kennedy's methods and of the quality of his leadership.

BOOK REVIEW

New Books to Attract Many Holiday Readers

Dozens of new books have been recently added to the Burrow Library shelves, promising pleasurable reading during the Christmas holidays for Southwestern students.

Best Sellers

At the top of the list are two best sellers, Allen Drury's A Shade of Difference and Youngblood Hawke by Herman Wouk. Drury's novel rose to the top of best seller lists within weeks after its publication, partially because of the success of Drury's first novel, Advise and Consent. Youngblood Hawke, the story of a young small-town author who achieves fame and fortune through his writing, follows a series of triumphs by Wouk, which included The Caine Mutiny.

'SW Review' Will Return

When students return to the zoo after Xmas vacation, The Southwestern Review will be waiting to welcome them back. The Review is composed of articles by both faculty and students, and contains uncensored (by anyone) opinion on a variety of subjects, plus artwork and short features. Following the January issue, The Review will be published monthly.

The magazine was first put out in pilot form last spring, when interested students felt that Southwestern needed the obvious advantages attending such a form of expression. The Student Council financed this pilot issue which contained articles on public affairs, philosophy, satire, and international relations. The response to the "test run" was such that it was decided to make The Review a monthly. But remember, continued publication of The Southwestern Review depends on YOUR support!

Anyone who wishes may contribute to The Review. Place articles (preferably typewritten, may be of any length) on the Student Council Bulletin board or give to Steve Richardson.

In addition, anyone who wishes to serve on the staff of The Review may place his name on a sheet which will also be on the Student Council board.

The subject may be anything which is pertinent to campus life or to the student's understanding of his world.

The Impact of the World

The most important and dynamic concept advanced by the diplomat from India's Embassy in Washington, who spoke in the AEC two weeks ago, was that the conflict between India and China held portent for the American citizen almost to the extent that a clash between the U. S. and Cuba would hold. "The problem of free survival," he said, "is the same the world over, regardless of color, creed, wealth or any other issues."

Obviously the diplomat's statement was colored by his official position and his primary aims of promoting favorable relations between India and the U. S. and securing monetary aid for his country, but the truth of his assertion is none the less relevant.

The universal truth of the "shrunk world" concept has been widely acclaimed to the point where the expression has become trite. Hundreds of millions of people, starving or laboring under totalitarian yoke, are only a few hours away from Southwestern's campus—virtually the same distance, time-wise, as Mobile, Birmingham, Jackson, Little Rock, Shreveport and dozens of other Southern cities. The truth of this statement, although beyond doubt, is so staggering and full of impact that it remains almost incomprehensible to a student living in a secure, cloistered community who has never faced problems of survival or of living without intellectual and political freedom.

Trained observers know that "the good ole U.S.A." cannot, by itself, hope to match the man-power and resources of a united onslaught by the Communist world. The entire free world is "in this thing together" from the word go, and its only hope is for the people of the non-Communist world to stand united against the common enemy. We cannot afford to bury our heads in the sand to the problems of people who differ from us only in the amount of freedom and security they enjoy, just because their location 12,000 miles away seems to banish them from our scope of concern.

The need of Americans for knowledge of world events and concern for individuals in Europe, Asia, and Africa as well as in the Americas, is monumental. No one can afford to feel separated and protected from the front page headlines. All of us are faced with the challenge of becoming informed about our complex world. We cannot fail to take up this challenge: our existence as a free people depends upon it.

HDC

The Future of 'Stylus'

At a recent meeting of all persons interested in Stylus, it was rather apparent that lack of literary interest and contribution is threatening the organization's existence. Stylus was not published last year, and the present state in which it finds itself this year is not indicative of any radical change. Contributions from the student body, the very lifeblood of the magazine, have been ebbing away until at present Stylus is in desperate need of resuscitation.

It would be quite preposterous to issue a frenzied appeal for contributions from the entire student body. Creative writing is only to a limited extent an acquired art, and without a certain amount of basic talent it can never be properly developed. Stylus is only concerned, insofar as contributions go, with those persons who have creative ability and like to write.

By no means does this lessen the role of the non-contributing student. The interest and constructive criticism of the student body is vital to the existence of a good literary magazine on campus. Let us, then, the few who create and the many that read, combine worthy literary efforts on one hand and active interest on the other to provide an atmosphere in which Stylus can be a source of satisfaction and enjoyment for Southwestern students.

James Lectures Campus GOP's

Bob James, defeated Republican candidate for Congress, spoke to the Young Republican Club on December 6, discussing the ideology of the Republican Party and emphasizing the preservation of individual rights and initiative.

He commented on the rising strength of the GOP in the South, which he said implied that Southern Democrats are unhappy with national policy in their own party and consequently are voting Republican in increasing numbers. Mr. James gave Shelby County as an example, where in the last election he gained much of his near-majority strength among young suburban couples.

Noting that none of the dozen students present were taking political science, Mr. James commented that most liberal students are those who are taking courses in government and who read current periodicals.

EDITORIAL POLICY

Opinions expressed on the editorial page are not necessarily shared by the entire SOUTHWESTER staff or student body. Letters, to be published, must be less than 300 words and must be signed, although names may be withheld from publication by request. The editor reserves the right to judge the acceptability of editorial articles and letters, and to limit the number of articles and letters on a single subject.

Hazing Measure Killed: Lacked Majority Vote

Less than a majority of the student body voted support for the Student Council's resolution to abolish hazing Wednesday, thereby causing defeat for the bill, according to the present Constitution.

The vote was 187-169 in favor of abolishing hazing, but the Constitution requires that a new measure be approved by the majority of the entire student body if such a measure is submitted to a referendum by petition within three days after its passage.

Voting followed a Freshman Council sponsored debate during student assembly in which David Watts and freshman Council member Judy Simono spoke in favor of the resolution, and senior Joe Duncan and another freshman member of the Student Council, Stan McNeese took the negative position.

Simono spoke in favor of developing a better orientation program to take the place of hazing.

"When freshmen enter college they feel they are going into an adult world," she said. "They expect a mature orientation program, including class competition and parties, and seminars. We need to make new students feel their new intellectual surroundings."

Watts pointed out that the people who were most strongly opposed to hazing were those who had planned the programs and realized the impossibility of them.

"Hazing programs in the past have done just the opposite of creating school spirit," he asserted, "because the apathy of the upperclassmen becomes evident to the new students."

Common Bond

McNeese emphasized the spirit of togetherness and the common bond which hazing fuses among members of the Freshman class.

"Hazing formulates a close Freshmen class," he explained, "and is a step toward creating school spirit."

Duncan expressed disbelief that hazing encroached upon the "maturity" of new students, and suggested that pamphlets on hazing be sent to upperclassmen a week or two before school begins in the fall.

"There are bad points in the hazing program," he stated, "but they all lie within the students themselves, and I believe that if we try we can make hazing work. I would hate to see this program discarded before every measure has been taken to make it successful."

Atom Sub Captain To Speak in Chapel

William R. Anderson, retired Navy captain who commanded the Nautilus on its historic voyage under the North Pole in 1959, will speak in chapel Wednesday, January 9 on the topic, "Sea Power for Freedom."

Captain Anderson, the fifth of the speakers in the Free World Issues Series, will deliver his speech in Mallory Gymnasium, and is sponsored by Professor David Amacker, the coordinator of the FWI series.

A native of Waverly, Tennessee, Anderson was a candidate for governor of Tennessee on the Independent ticket last November, and is presently vice-president of the Valley Forge Foundation. The retired captain left the service several years ago to enter politics, and his defeat for governor was his first political venture.

Sophomore Sweetheart

Sigma Nu Reveals New Sweetheart

Madge Wood, sophomore from Shreveport, Louisiana, became the new Sigma Nu Sweetheart last Friday night at the Sigma Nu Open House.

Joe McCown, Sigma Nu president, made the announcement, and Radford Hopper, the outgoing sweetheart, presented her with the sweetheart pin.

A member of Chi Omega sorority, Madge was vice-president of Townsend Governing Board last year, and is also a member of Danforth. She is majoring in biology.

At Byrd High School in Shreveport, Madge was secretary of her Senior Class, a member of the National Honor Society and the Student Council Executive Committee.

She was a member of the pep squad and drum core, head prayer group leaders, and was elected "Friendliest Coed."

She is pinned to Ken Tullis, a sophomore from Memphis.

Kappa Delta Plans First 1963 Formal

Students coming back from Christmas holidays have a chance to get into the 1963 social whirl almost immediately.

The members of Kappa Delta sorority extended an invitation to all Southwestern students and their dates to attend their formal dance, The White Rose Ball, to be held on January 5 at the Memphis Hunt and Polo Club, it was announced today.

The KD-sponsored dance will be the first major event on the 1963 Southwestern social calendar. Hannah Richards, social chairman of the sorority, announced that a ballroom band will play for the dance from 8 to 12 p.m.

New Reporters Cover Social, Personal News

Social news and news of individuals in the Sou'wester will receive an added boost with the announcement made today that a representative from each social organization has been appointed as reporter for his Greek or independent group.

The main duties of the reporters, as explained by Sou'wester editor, Harvey Caughey, will be to report news of the fraternity or sorority as a whole and also to turn in news items concerning individual members of the group.

Men appointed were Bill Benfield, Dossett Foster, Frank Luton, Ted Morris, Smitty Smith, Al Todd and Charley Moses.

Women include Susan Calloway, Karen Hardy, Mary Jane Howard, Jeanelle Lowe, Sarah Means and Judy Moody.

Goodin to Head YD's

Lester Goodin was elected president of the Young Democrats for the remainder of the year at a dinner meeting in the Bell Room Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were Battle Claiborne, vice-president, Elizabeth White, secretary-treasurer and Lynne Lucky, public relations supervisor.

DECK THE HALLS

When you think of Christmas gifts you naturally think of Marlboro cigarettes, leading seller in flip-top box in all fifty states—and if we annex Wales, in all fifty-one—and if we annex Lapland—in all fifty-two. This talk about annexing Wales and Lapland is, incidentally, not just idle speculation. Great Britain wants to trade Wales to the United States for a desert. Great Britain needs a desert desperately on account of the tourist trade. Tourists are always coming up to the Prime Minister or the Lord Privy Seal or like that and saying, "I'm not knocking your country, mind you. It's very quaint and picturesque, etc. what with Buckingham Palace and Bovril and Scotland Yard, etc., but where's your desert?" (Before I forget, let me point out that Scotland Yard, Britain's plainclothes police branch, was named after Wally Scotland and Fred Yard who invented plain clothes. The American plainclothes force is called the FBI after Frank B. Inchcliff, who invented fingerprints. Before Mr. Inchcliff's invention, everybody's fingers were absolutely glassy smooth. This, as you may imagine, played hob with the identification of newborn babies in hospitals. From 1791 until 1904 no American parent

... Some of them well over eighty ever brought home the right baby from the hospital. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.)

But I digress. England, I was saying, wants to trade Wales for a desert. Sweden wants to trade Lapland for Frank B. Inchcliff. The reason is that Swedes to this day still don't have fingerprints. As a result, identification of babies in Swedish hospitals is so haphazard that Swedes flatly refuse to bring their babies home. There are, at present, nearly a half-billion unclaimed babies in Swedish hospitals—some of them well over eighty years old.

But I digress. We were speaking of Christmas gifts which naturally put us in mind of Marlboro cigarettes. What could be more welcome at Christmas time than Marlboro's flavor, Marlboro's soft pack, Marlboro's flip-top box? What indeed would be more welcome at any time of year—winter or summer, rain or shine, night or day? Any time, any season, when you light a Marlboro you can always be certain that you will get the same mild, flavorful, completely comfortable smoke.

There are, of course, other things you can give for Christmas besides Marlboro cigarettes. If, for example, you are looking for something to give a music lover, let me call to your attention a revolutionary new development in phonographs—the Low-fi phonograph. The Low-fi, product of years of patient research, has so little fidelity to the record you put on it that if, for instance, you put "Stardust" on the turntable, "Melancholy Baby" will come out. This is an especially welcome gift for people who have grown tired of "Stardust".

Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night.

RADFORD HOPPER
Alpha Omicron Pi and ...

STAB Selects Dean, Hopper

S.T.A.B. Intersorority has announced two more new members, Sue Dean of Kappa Delta and Radford Hopper of Alpha Omicron Pi.

Sue is the current vice-president of KD and was president of her pledge class, activities chairman of the sorority, and last year's "Most Outstanding Non-Council Member."

A senior from Charlotte, North Carolina, she's majoring in Christian Education. Having been on the dorm board all four years, she is now president of Voorhies Hall. She participates in the Danforth Program and has been a student counselor.

Radford is recording secretary of AOPi. A Memphis senior majoring in art, she won first prize for painting in the 1962 Student Art Show.

She has been sweetheart of Sigma Nu, a student counselor, and a cheerleader, serving as captain last year.

WF, Danforth to Hold Caroling Party Sunday

Students who want to get into the holiday spirit early will have their chance at the Danforth-Westminster Fellowship caroling party Sunday night.

The group will meet in front of Townsend Hall at 6:15 and will tour the neighborhood east of the campus. All students have been invited to attend by leaders of the two groups.

Any contributions received will be turned over to the King's Daughters. The group also plans a tentative visit to the Home for Incurables after the Hein Park tour.

Lynx to Continue Action in Dixie Tournament Tonight

Two Contests at 7:00, 9:00 Highlight Final Night's Play

Southwestern skyrocketed into the Dixie Tournament finals and revenged an earlier loss by toppling Millsaps 87-76 last night.

The Lynx will play Little Rock tonight at 9:00 for the tournament championship. In the opener, Millsaps will meet Lambeth, 74-56 loser to Little Rock last night. The consolation battle will begin at 7 p.m.

Lynx Lead at Half

Against the Majors, the Lynx held a 42-36 lead at the half, but Millsaps fought back to stay within two points of the Southwestern cagers until six minutes were left in the game.

Then the Lynx began to pull away, and when Fred Rendfrey, the Majors' high point man, fouled out with five minutes left, the Lynx pulled out in front by eleven points with 3:13 left.

Southwestern's big men made the difference in the game, controlling the boards and netting 51 points between them. Aubrey

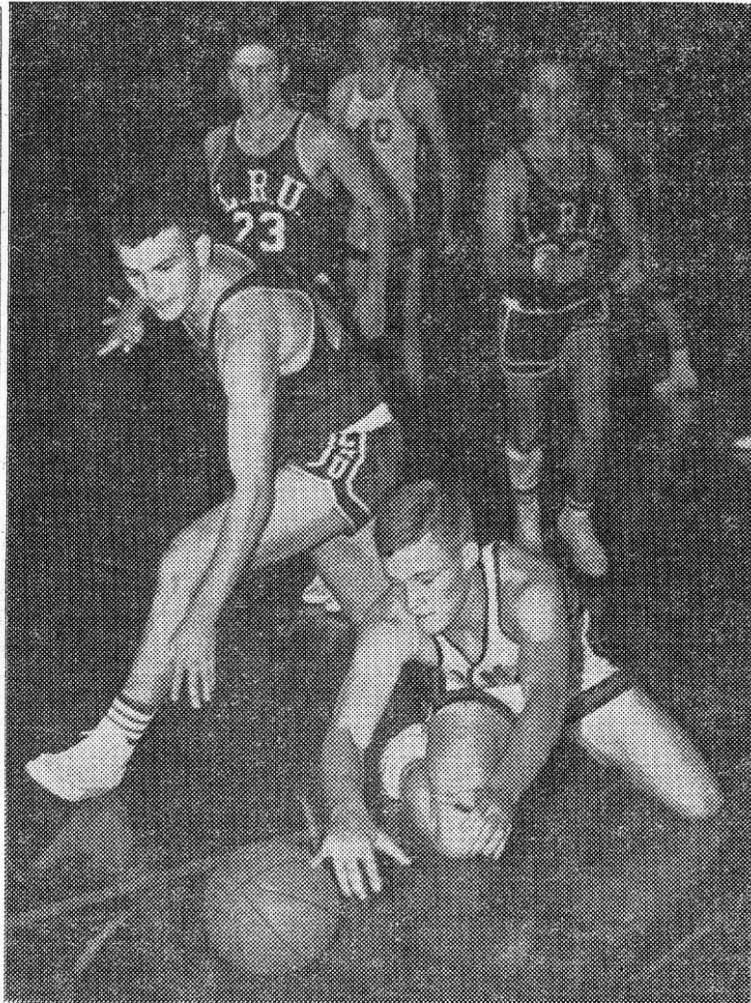

Smith scored 26 and David Miles accounted for 25. Carl Fisher, who fouled out with four minutes left, netted 16. Freshman guards, John Welch and Donny Pattillo, scored eight and seven points respectively. Fred Rendfrey led the Majors with 21.

Gann's Return Valuable

The return of Ken Gann to the starting lineup has been an invaluable asset to the team's cause. Since his recovery from an ankle injury, Gann has averaged twelve points per game, and was high point man with eighteen against Delta State Tuesday. Freshman John Welch, who filled in for the injured Gann, continues to show promise as a playmaker and ball handler, despite his inexperience. Welch's outside shooting has steadily improved, and the 5'8" guard should see plenty of action tonight.

Carl Fisher with a nineteen point average continues to lead the team in scoring. Next is rebound leader David Miles with a 15.0 average, and close behind is Aubrey Smith at 13.8. Howard Edington with an eight point average rounds out the top six for the Lynx.

The game tonight will be the last for the Lynx until next January. On January 8, the cagers will journey to Little Rock for a return engagement with LRU. Belhaven will meet the Lynx in Southwestern's next home game at 7:30, January 10, in Mallory Gym.

SW Claims First Victory; Bounces Little Rock, 76-64

By JIM HEAD

The Southwestern Lynx broke into the win column with a 76-64 victory over the Little Rock University Trojans last Saturday night at Mallory Gym.

Close First Half

Early in the first half the teams remained within four points of each other, but toward the middle of the half, the Lynx started to pull in front following a field goal by Carl Fisher. With the Southwestern five working a partial freeze for the last two and a half minutes of the half, the score at the half stood 32-19 in favor of the Lynx.

A thrilling Trojan comeback at the start of the second period brought the LRU squad to within seven points of the Lynx, but the effort was halted by the loss of two Little Rock players by the foul route, and the SW quintet again took charge to build up a 17 point lead. With the SW Lynx' second string in for the last two minutes, the score at the buzzer stood 76-64, in favor of Southwestern.

Tuition Hike —

Agnes Scott charged $975 in 61-62, and Mary Baldwin's flat $2000 total rate is $500 less than Southwestern's maximum total fee.

Fisher Tops Lynx

Leading Southwestern to its first win was Fisher with 23 points, high for the Lynx. Aubrey Smith and David Miles both hit double figures with 19 and 14 point efforts respectively. Other Lynx scorers were John Welch and Howard Edington with six each, Ken Gann with four, and Bill Bodie and Bert Chafin with two apiece.

The game's high-scorer was the Trojans' Fred Eastin with 24. He had a 15 point assist from Terry Garner, the only other Little Rock player to pass the ten-point mark.

The victory for the Lynx puts their season mark at 1-3.

from many of the top newspapers of the world for his dynamic commentary.

Presidential aspirant Nelson Rockefeller discloses his political views in The Future of Federalism, in which he says that the future of states' rights depends upon the emphasis on states' responsibilities, and applies the principles of the old Federalist doctrine to Twentieth Century America and the world.

Other Books

Other outstanding books on the shelves include Seeds of Southern Challenge by Wilma Dykeman and James Stokely. This book tells the story of Will Alexander, the greatest white champion of the Negro cause in the South from 1915 to 1954. Early English Christmas Carols by Rossell Robbins and Edward Gruber's How to Pass High on the Graduate Record Examination are other noteworthy new additions to the library.

For sports enthusiasts four new books are available—Baseball by DiClemente, Football by Otto, Basketball by Hutton, and Track and Field by Myers.

Four Lynx Named To All-CAC Team

Four members of the Lynx football team were named to the coaches' all-conference team, CAC officials announced Wednesday.

Chosen from Southwestern were Bill Harwood, back, John Ashcraft, end, Doug Meeks, center, and Chal-lace McMillan, guard. Only conference champion Washington and Lee placed as many players on the team as Southwestern. Sewanee and Centre placed two men each on the twelve-man team.

Named to the All-CAC backfield were Harwood, M. L. Agnew of Sewanee, and Stuart Youffe and Tommy Keese of Washington and Lee.

Another Southwestern back, Scott Halford, received honorable mention on the all-conference team.

Statesmen Roll; Trounce Cagers

The Statesmen of Delta State College utilized a highly effective fast break, well balanced scoring power, and a rugged defensive effort to topple the Southwestern Lynx 110-66 Tuesday at Cleveland, Mississippi.

In winning the game, the Statesmen ran their home court string to three in a row and set a scoring record for their Sillers Coliseum. After piling up a six point bulge before the Lynx squad was able to score, the Statesmen went on to a commanding 58-35 lead at half-time, and went over the century mark with three minutes left in the game.

For the Lynx, scoring was led by Ken Gann with an 18-point performance, high for the game. Fisher and Miles with 12 and 10 points respectively, were the only other Southwestern players to break into the double figures. Edington and Smith each contributed eight, while Welch with five, Thomas with two and Bodie with one rounded out the Lynx scoring effort.

Working around a scorching fast break, the Statesmen had four men above the ten point mark, led by Pannell who tossed in 15.

April Fool Dance To Be Off-Campus

The April Fool Dance will be held off-campus for the first time this year.

As a result of general dissatisfaction with dances in the gym, the Student Council voted Tuesday night to have instead a Mardi Gras Ball at the Peabody Hotel.

Henry Pope, Social Commissioner, has already begun making arrangements for this event.

the existence of at least one new wave length emanating from the sun. The team plans to continue their studies during a natural eclipse next summer in Alaska.

Lack of Oxygen

The chief obstacle the physicists faced was in familiarizing their lungs with the low oxygen level prevalent at high altitudes. Altitude sickness kept them from carrying out their experiments for two days after their arrival.

Although high in the Rocky Mountains, the team still remained in contact with Southwestern. Mr. Emery, the team's electronics expert, set up a radio transmitter by which the men established communications with Charles Brandon, sophomore physics major, in Southwestern's electronics laboratory.

SAE's Sew Up Ping Pong Title

SAE has virtually clinched the championship in the intramural pingpong tournament with three rounds yet to be played.

Griff Stockley of Sigma Nu was the first to advance into the semifinals, beating Tommy Geiger of SAE. Other contestants in the running for semifinal spots were Brady Puryear and David Gray, Sigma Nu, Buddy McAfee, David Miles, and Frank Smith, SAE, and Mike Hutchinson, ATO. The deadline for quarterfinal games is today at 6 p.m., and the championship match will be played next Monday.

With 315 points the Lions of SAE are assured of the title. Sigma Nu with 205 points ranks second among teams not yet eliminated.

INTRAMURAL TOURNEY

Kappa Sigma Captures Both Volleyball Titles

Kappa Sigma scored a clean sweep in volleyball intramurals yesterday, winning both the "A" and "B" league championships that go to the winners of the two post-season tournaments.

The Kappa Sig "A" team downed Sigma Nu in two straight games with Albert McMillan and Bill Potts leading the way. For Sigma Nu, Lee Brown and John Ashcraft were the top standouts.

In the "B" League final, the Kappa Sigs beat SAE 2-1. John Flippin, Wylie Cook and Garet Van Antwerp led the team to victory, despite the effort put forth by Bill Griffin of SAE.

ATO Upset

Kappa Sigma reached the "A" League finals Wednesday night by upsetting ATO, while Sigma Nu downed SAE. With the loss of star John Rice, the previously undefeated ATO's won one game but could not capture the match against the powerful Kappa Sigs. Fine offense efforts were turned in by Scott Gregory, KS, and Ross Land, ATO.

In the other semifinal game Sigma Nu defeated SAE despite fine play by Buddy McAfee. Spiking by SN's Lee Brown and Ken Tullis proved too much for the underdog Lions. In first round games KS smashed PiKA, and SAE beat KA as ATO and SN drew opening round byes.

SAE Wins Semifinal

SAE dropped ATO in the only "B" League semifinal game. Kappa Sigma received a bye into the finals due to a KA-Independent double forfeit Tuesday night. The much improved SAE's, after a slow start this year, defeated Sigma Nu in the first round before their win over ATO, who drew an opening round bye as did KS.

Two Unbeaten Teams

In final round robin play, ATO's "A" team and the Kappa Sig "B" squad rounded out perfect seasons, the Taus downing KA, and the Kappa Sigs whipping KA and ATO. In other "A" League games, Sigma Nu bounced the Pikes and SAE, and KA won their first game over PiKA, but lost to SAE and KS.

In "B" League action the Independents beat KA and lost to ATO, and the SAE's stopped KA.
