New Scholarship Established For Summer Study Abroad

BY DALE SEAY

New opportunities for study abroad have been created by the establishment of The Marianna Gracey Award for Summer Study Abroad. Rising senior and junior women may apply for the award to the Dean of Women's office by December 18.

The committee, composed of the Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Admissions and Student Aid, the Dean of Women, and the Dean of Men, will announce the recipient in mid-January.

Leadership, character, need, and scholarship are the criteria upon which the selection will be made. Approximately two hundred dollars will be awarded; this sum is to cover tuition, room, and partial board for six weeks at any European University.

Award Requirements

Letters of application must explain the intended plan and purpose of study and must state the applicants' specific reasons for feeling foreign study would be beneficial. In addition, a letter of recommendation and approval from the major professor must accompany the application. Approval of the plan of study by the Faculty Committee on Curriculum and Instruction is also necessary. It is urged that anyone applying make tentative reservations for trans-Atlantic transportation immediately.

Miss Gracey

Miss Gracey, of Covington, Tennessee, entered Southwestern in 1947 and received the Bachelor of Arts degree with distinction in Spanish in 1951. She became Assistant to the Dean of Women here in 1951. Her sudden and untimely death

Pi Intersorority Selects Senior

Barbara Yost, President of Pi Intersorority, announced Priscilla Strickland as the newest member of the honorary organization Wednesday in chapel.

Priscilla, a graduate of East High School in Memphis, is completing her college education in three years. The energetic senior is a biology major and reading for honors in that field. Upon graduation she plans to enter graduate school.

Priscilla, a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, was given the Best Pledge award her freshman year. She has served as vice-president and house chairman of her sorority.

"Prissy's" extra-curricular activities include membership in Chi Beta Phi, Womens' Athletic Association, and Pan-Olympics. She is secretary of Chi Beta Phi and president of WAA.

of a heart attack July 3, 1953, greatly shocked the entire college community.

It is hoped that the enthusiasm which this unusually charming and attractive woman had expressed for the summer she had spent studying abroad will be felt by the recipient of this award.

Contributions Needed

Interested student groups, alumni, friends of Miss Gracey, and other persons may contribute to make this a permanent award. Such contributions should be sent to the Bursar and Business Manager, Southwestern at Memphis, Memphis 12, Tennessee.

Lynn Finch, '62, received the award two years ago to study at the Sorbonne in Paris for six weeks.

Contributions Continue For Thanks-thru-Giving

Contributions to Thanks-thru-Giving may still be turned in to collectors, Casey Ptomey, drive chairman, announced today.

"Contributions will be accepted through the middle of next week," stated Ptomey. "At that time we plan to send the checks to the benefactors of the drive."

Ptomey reported that so far about $400 had been received through the drive. The money will be used to the Iron Curtain, to help finance the Iron Curtain, to help finance an Indian girl's college education, and to establish a scholarship in Korea through the World University Service.

IFC to Host Josh White

BY ELIZABETH FREY

Josh White, popular Negro singer of chain gang songs, spirituals and blues, will come to Memphis February 9 for a two-hour concert sponsored by the Interfraternity Council.

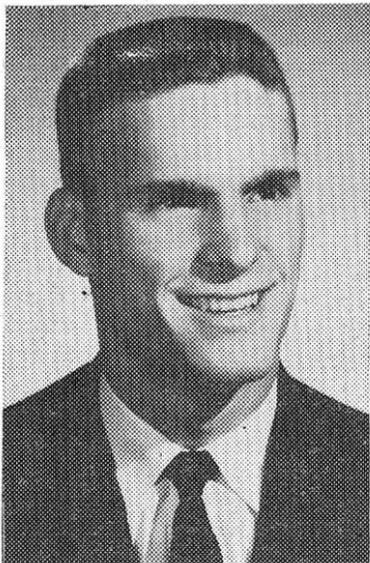

Following the concert, the IFC will give a dance from 8 to 12 p.m. in the Chisca Plaza ballroom. Willy Mitchell and his band will furnish the music.

Currently in New York, White is known as the "singer of those hand-clapping old spirituals which have the beat, strength and joy of current Negro gospel music."

Wide Repertoire

His songs of the chain gangs—some of the oldest Negro songs—date back to the time of slavery. White, who knew the songs from childhood, reassembled from his memory a number of them in 1939. Now the guitar-playing soloist has recorded a 5-album collection of these songs.

"I think we're lucky to have the concert with White the first Saturday after semester break," said Dosset Foster, president of the I.F.C. "We'll be ready for a good weekend after exams."

DAVID WATTS, whose proposal to end hazing will be decided next Tuesday.

Campus Group To Study International Affairs

For the purpose of enabling students to increase their understanding of world affairs and the position of the United States in relation to them, Southwestern's International Studies Department is leading the formation of an International Relations Organization.

Two SW students, Miss Eleanor Lawrence and Mr. John F. Rice, will attend the Student Council on National Affairs conference to be held on the Texas A&M campus December 12-15, under the sponsorship of I.R.O.

The first meeting of the I.R.O. will be on Monday, December 3rd, in Room 11 in the library. It is hoped that the Southwestern students will recognize the positive benefits to be realized from participation in an organization designed to increase their international awareness, and partake of the opportunities it offers.

Caughey Replaces McKee At SOU'WESTER Helm

Harvey Caughey, sophomore from Dallas, Texas, has been appointed Acting Editor of the Sou'wester until mid-term, Marjorie Wild, Publications Commissioner, announced recently.

Caughey will replace former editor Allen McKee, who resigned in order to devote more time to school work. At the end of the semester McKee may return to his post, or Caughey may continue to act as editor, pending the decision of the Publications Board.

A prospective journalist, Caughey brings experience to his new position. In Dallas he edited his high school paper, which won several top honors in state and county-wide contests. Caughey himself won both a state and a regional individual journalism award. He plans to attend Columbia University's

Dr. C. Eric Lincoln, author of The Black Muslims in America and the country's foremost authority on the activities of the black supremacists' cult, will speak at Southwestern tomorrow morning at 10:00 in the sociology classroom in Forrest Hall. All students are invited to hear Dr. Lincoln, even if they must leave at 10:30.

Proposal to End 'Hazing' Awaits Council Decision

The future of Southwestern's hazing program will be decided at Student Council meeting next Tuesday night at 6:15 in 105 Science Hall.

David Watts, vice-president of the Council, proposed at last Tuesday's meeting that hazing be abolished completely, supporting his resolution by reports from past SC vice-presidents and from reports from CBC and Sienna. In arguing against hazing Watts cited the unfavorable effects of length of the hazing period, the size and maturity of the freshman class, the difficulty of hazing events which conflict with studies, the problem of individual hazing, and the apathy of upperclassmen.

Student Opinion Sought

The Council decided to wait a week before taking action and appointed a committee to conduct a public opinion survey on hazing before Tuesday's meet. Heading the committee is Ken Tullis. Other members include Cyril Hollingsworth, Bert Ringold, Jan Hockaday, Margaret Johnson, Smitty Smith, and Eleanor Lawrence. As usual, Tuesday's meeting is open to all students.

Watts pointed out that the time of hazing has been gradually shortened, beginning in 1953, from four weeks to one week, illustrating the increasing difficulty in sustaining interest in a hazing program.

"Each year the Freshman class has increased in size," added Watts. "Thus, each year it has gotten harder to control the freshmen. The Sanhedrin just can't physically force freshman boys to cooperate."

Questions "Positive Value"

Attacking the wide spread view that hazing helps people get acquainted, Watts stated his belief that few people learn names from reading a freshman's sign.

"The boys get to know the boys and the girls get to know the girls during rush," said Watts. "Then the rest will come naturally if the Greek groups do their jobs well." Watts added that he hadn't observed concrete examples of school spirit being bolstered by hazing, but was not sure that they did not exist.

Individual Hazing

The perennial problem of upperclassmen hazing "in the wrong spirit" led to wide spread opinion against and finally the abolishing of individual hazing, Watts reported. But without individual hazing this year the program flopped. He added that a "mature" hazing program suited to the intellectual level of the freshman lacked interest.

Colbert To Open Lectures Series

Dean Charles R. Colbert of the Columbia University School of Architecture will be the first speaker this year in Southwestern's University Lectures Series. His address will be at 8 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 6, in the Adult Education Center on campus. The public is invited.

Mr. Colbert is a graduate of the Columbia School of Architecture and a senior partner of Colbert-Lowrey-Hess-Boudreaux, New Orleans architectural design and city planning firm. He received the Bachelor of Architecture degree from the University of Texas and in 1947 received his MS from Columbia.

In 1952-56 Mr. Colbert was a visiting lecturer in City Planning at Tulane as well as a practicing architect and city planner. In 1956-57 he directed the Division of Architecture at Texas A&M.

Typical of Mr. Colbert's architectural and planning projects are the Motel de Ville, New Orleans, which was selected by the U.S. State Department for inclusion at the 1956 International Trade Fair, Vienna; the Wheatley Elementary School, Orleans Parish School Board; Top Award, The School Executive Better School Design Competition, 1954; shown by the U.S. State Department in Berlin, 1957, and in Moscow in 1958; the 14-story Independence Hall Office Building in Philadelphia in 1956; and the Diaz-Simon Clinic, New Orleans, American Institute of Architects Honor Award, 1959.

The objectives for Columbia which Mr. Colbert has outlined include preparing the future architect, inspiring and assisting the active professional, and informing the public at large of the aims and obligations of the architectural profession.

Brown Will Head Young Republicans

Walter Brown was elected president of the 1962-63 Young Republicans Club and Roger Hart was chosen vice-president in the most recent meeting of the organization.

Susan Gunter retained her position as secretary. Brown, who was elected by acclamation, replaced temporary president Joe Justice, who had held office since the club was established last spring.

The club also heard Phil Lowe, candidate for the state legislature in the November election, who was secured with the help of Dean Alfred Canon. Mr. Lowe emphasized the importance of establishing a two party system in the South, and urged the YR's to steer clear of campus politics and to concentrate their efforts in working for the Republican party on campus and in the community.

EDITORIAL POLICY

Opinions expressed on the editorial page are not necessarily shared by the entire SOU'WESTER staff or student body. Letters, to be published, must be less than 300 words and must be signed, although names may be withheld from publication by request. The editor reserves the right to judge the acceptability of editorial articles and letters, and to limit the number of articles and letters on a single subject.

How Come?

A large sum of money was spent to have signs erected at either end of the campus facing Parkway, when the shrubbery is so thick all one can see is SOUTHWESTERN AT MEMPHIS, A COLLEGE OF LIBERAL . . . ?

Money is spent repaving the fire lane, when other campus roads are in such poor condition that it has even been necessary for one student to turn his car over to avoid a pothole?

There are "No Parking" signs in a fire lane that is "Excluded to all motor vehicles"?

That after the construction of new buildings, landscaping is so poorly done that water drains to the base of said new buildings, thereby causing wet feet on the part of students that live in said buildings?

Guests at a "banquet" in the refectory (infactory) are allowed to smoke—even provided with ash trays—after meals, when this is strictly forbidden to the students—even to the point of receiving the wrath of Prof. Amacker or Mr. Johnson?

Students leave so much trash on the tables in the beautiful modern student center? (Perhaps when one is in a sty, one feels inclined to act like a pig?)

A sandwich plate such as one toasted cheese sandwich, one slice of pickle and half a hand-full of potato chips costs 40c in the refectory, when the same lunch—probably more sanitarly prepared—costs only 30c in the Lair where two or three people make a profit?

I would like to see this department of the Sou'wester open to suggestions from all students and members of the faculty and administration in hopes it will bring to light some of the more petty annoyances that plague the school—annoyances too small to be dealt with by our great and glorious Student Council. I would also challenge groups or persons at whom suggestions are pointed to answer the charges made.

Gypsy Playing At Front St.

The show with everything, "Gypsy," explodes nightly, Monday through Friday, and twice on Saturdays, with a burst of gorgeous girls, three strippers and a bang-up array of show-stopping song hits at Memphis' famous Front St. Theatre, now through Dec. 8.

Chocked full of gorgeous girls, three exotic strippers, and a cast of over 40, "Gypsy" was dubbed "the best damn musical I've seen in years," by N. Y. Herald Tribune drama critic, Walter Kerr, when the musical comedy opened on Broadway in 1959.

Burlesque Tour

With 21 lavish sets "Gypsy" takes you on a tour of vaudeville theatres and burlesque houses all over the country, via such show hits as "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "Let Me Entertain You," "Together" and "Small World."

One of the comedy highlights of the musical extravaganza is a rendition of "You Gotta Have A Gim-mick" by the three strippers, Tessie Tura, Electra, and Miss Mezappa, when they attempt to teach Gypsy how to get ahead in the entertainment business. The number in the Broadway production was a show-stopper; audiences applauded so long that the number had to be repeated again and again.

Miss Tennessee Stars

Suggested by the memoirs of the world's most famous stripper, Gypsy Rose Lee, Front St. Theatre's version stars Rita Wilson, Miss Tennessee in 1961, in the title role. Memphis newcomer Mary Shelton stars as Mama Rose, the Ethel Merman role in the Broadway show. As Mama Rose, the mother of June and Louise, she tries every trick in the barrel to make her two girls stars on the stage. Baby June has the talent and is the center attraction in a home-made vaudeville routine which goes on a Class D tour. The girls mature, but the act never changes through the years, and no-talent Louise seems more left-footed than ever. When the group is accidentally booked in a burlesque house, Louise has her come-uppance, as she discovers her true talent, and becomes the greatest strip-teaser in the business, Gypsy Rose Lee.

The Strangest Thing

happened to me on the way to the Zoo this morning. My friend and I came to a fairly familiar place and the following conversation ensued:

What do they call this place?

I believe it's called Ptomaine Tavern.

Say! look at this in the pot.

What's that red stuff?

Search me! Look at the scum!

Great Governors, how did those people get in here?

The big one is stirring the pot.

What do they use that stuff for?

To feed the animals, I guess.

Look! A herd of animals just came in the door.

They're lining up to wait their turn.

That stuff looks like it would kill anything.

Didn't I hear a bell ringing?

They've started through the line.

Must be a religious ceremony.

Why's that?

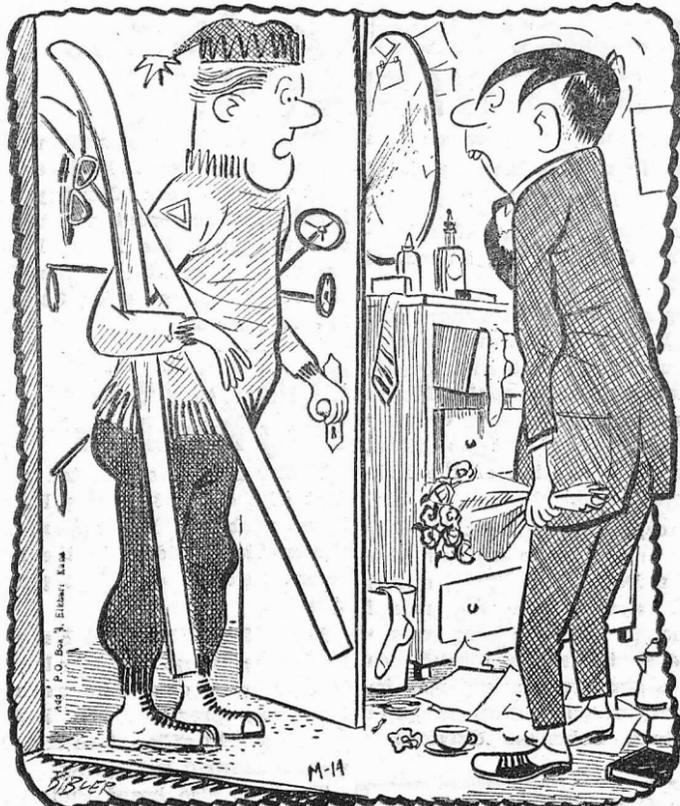

The big one keeps chanting a mysterious "Whachoo-Whachoo!"

Let's get out of here. I can't stand the smell.

Good thing the infirmary is nearby.

Student Council Scorecard

Criticism of the Student Council is more widespread this year than in previous years. The Council repeatedly is chastized for doing too much in certain areas and not enough in other fields.

Students who criticize the Council are important in keeping the Council alert to the needs and dissatisfactions of the student body. But along with constructive criticism much discontent has been voiced by people who are not fully informed on the work of the Council. Charges that the Student Council has done nothing of importance, or that it has ignored campus matters and expressed an unnaturally large concern for non-campus activities are without factual basis. The Council has done many things, both on and off campus, that are of great importance to students:

1. The library has been open regularly on Sunday afternoons this year for the first time because of Student Council action.

2. To promote "political consciousness" among students, the Council acquired the services of Bob James, Republican candidate for Congressman, and James Martin, Democratic Party Chairman for Shelby County, who discussed political issues in chapel. The Council also organized a debate on Consolidation and an International Students Forum. The importance of politics to the student cannot be denied. Bob James, in his chapel speech, told students that "next to your vocation, politics is more important to you than any other field of interest."

3. Student discontent with refectory service was discussed recently with Mr. Johnson by the chairman of the Student Council cafeteria committee. Mr. Johnson agreed to examine the problem and see what improvements could be made.

4. Regular activities of the Council and its agencies that have been ably performed include Freshmen Orientation Seminars, Student Council dances, Religious Evaluation Week, and student elections.

We realize that we present only one side of the issue, but we do so in the interest of space and in the realization that Council criticisms have been ably voiced on many occasions and will continue to be made public in order to insure Council action on student problems.

HDC

Chapel and the Honor System

When one checks his name on the chapel board he pledges that he will be in chapel until it is over or until 10:30 when he may leave. If a student checks his name but finds it necessary to leave early, he must fill out a form from Dean Caldwell or Dean Diehl before 5 p.m. the same day he left chapel stating that he was not in chapel although his name was checked, thereby accepting a "cut."

This procedure keeps the record straight and protects the student from what may appear to be a violation of the honor code (lying in official matters, i.e. indicating his presence in chapel while actually not attending the entire chapel period.) If a person is accused of marking the chapel board and not attending, and no form has been filed by that person, the Honor Council votes on whether there is sufficient evidence to warrant a trial. Failure to fill out a form does not mean expulsion for the student, but the Honor Council is required to ascertain whether there has been a violation of the Honor Code. This procedure may seem like red tape to some, but the Council feels that it is much easier and less time consuming for the student than attending a trial.

The Council realizes that leaving chapel after checking one's name does not occur frequently, but feels that each student should understand even the finer points of the honor system so that his subsequent privileges and responsibilities are clear.

★ Letters to the Editor

FOOTBALL MISMANAGEMENT?

I have for a long time considered writing this letter. I have, however, waited until now to do so, because I think this is the most opportune time to do so: My subject is the Southwestern football team—in particular, its coach.

We have a coach who seems to really put emphasis on winning, but who doesn't have true coaching ability. I have heard from several boys who have played various sports under him. They usually say that he has made mistakes over and over, mistakes that shouldn't be made. To cite a few examples: Last year two football players' tempers flared and they began to swing at each other. The coach "let" them take off their helmets and shoulder pads and slug it out. As a result of this, one boy was pretty badly beaten in the face and missed several days practice.

In the game against W&L we were the underdog. It is widely known that when it is raining, the ball is slick and thus you should concentrate your offense on your ground game, especially if you are moving the ball well (as we were doing in the first half). Instead, we turned to passing again and again and completed almost every one of them to Washington and Lee receivers. This razzle-dazzle kind of football is typical of our coach and has never, to my knowledge, accomplished for us a win. It is also very, very rare for a head coach of a team to go up to the press box, as our coach did at Millsaps.

I would like to know what some other people think about our situation in football. I believe that we have as much talent as any school in our conference. I think that a new look needs to be taken at our athletic program, though, to see if the coaching staff is doing the job that it should be doing with the material we have here. I will welcome response to this letter, for I wrote it after much consideration and with a hope for a better athletic program and thus more school spirit at Southwestern.

Students Receive Cinerama Passes

Students who attended student assembly Wednesday received free passes to any performance of "The Best of Cinerama," now showing at Loew's Palace Theater.

Five hundred passes which can be redeemed for reserved seats to the production were given to students and faculty members and were made possible by Brig. Gen. Merian C. Cooper (Retired), co-producer of the Cinerama movie.

General Cooper's wife attended Southwestern and his parents met at a party held at old Southwestern in Clarksville. For these reasons, and because of his eagerness for thinking people to see the show, General Cooper provided for the passes.

After attending Southwestern, Cooper's wife became an actress, playing opposite Clark Gable, Raymond Navarro, Robert Montgomery, and other Hollywood stars.

AOPi's Schedule Open House Tonite

Alpha Omicron Pi plans a big week beginning tonight with an open house and ending Thursday with its Founders' Day celebration.

Buddy McAfee's band will play at the open house.

The Louis XIV room of the Peabody Hotel will be the scene of the Founders' Day dance following the banquet at 6 p.m. President Barbara Yost expressed hope that the sorority's national president would be on hand for the ceremonies.

Seminar Tomorrow

Students to Study Problems of South

Studies of the unique problems faced only by Southerners will be the subject of a students' seminar, "The Search for Southern Identity," tomorrow from 8 to 4 at Memphis State.

All students are urged to attend by Steve Richardson, president of the Student Council, which co-sponsors the event.

Discuss South's Problems

"Students who attend the conference get a chance to study the educational, economical, political and social problems that face the South as a region," explained Richardson. "Then they make constructive plans toward solving these problems."

Richardson cited political apathy, as compared with the rest of the country, and economic and educational lag, also in relation to the nation as a whole, as proof of the existence of serious problems, which must be solved by the citizens of the South.

Students Welcome

Any student who is interested may register between 8 and 9 in the morning at the WF House on the Memphis State campus. All meetings will be held in the Business School Building. There is no charge for the conference.

The program will consist of discussion groups and two lectures by James M. Dabbs, one of the foremost authorities on the South of today. A South Carolina planter, Dabbs is author of The Southern Heritage and president of the Southern Regional Council. This council is the top authority and educational instrument on Southern race relations. It reports on integration developments and discrimination practices in the South.

Many Topics

But the Negro is only one of several topics that will be discussed.

"This conference is much more important than a Human Relations Seminar," concluded Richardson, "because there are a multitude of problems facing the South besides how to deal with the Negro, and each of these will be discussed tomorrow."

HAPPY TALK

As we all know, conversation is terribly important on a date. When lulls in the conversation run longer than an hour or two, one's partner is inclined to grow logy—even sullen. But occasionally one finds it difficult to keep the talk going, especially when one is having a first date with one. What, then, does one do? If one is wise, one follows the brilliant example of Harlow Thurlow.

Harlow Thurlow prepares. That is his simple secret. When Harlow is going to take out a new girl, he makes sure in advance that the conversation will not languish. Before the date, he goes to the library and reads all 24 volumes of the encyclopedia and transcribes their contents on his cuffs. Thus he makes sure that no matter what his date's interests are, he will have ample material to keep the conversation alive.

Take, for example, Harlow's first date with Priscilla de Gasser, a fine, strapping, blue-eyed broth of a girl, lavishly constructed and rosy as the dawn.

Harlow was, as always, prepared when he called for Priscilla, and, as always, he did not start to converse immediately. First he took her to dinner because, as everyone knows, it is useless to try to make conversation with an unfed coed. Her attention span is negligible. Also, her stomach rumbles so loud it is difficult to make yourself heard.

"Wash your cuffs and be my love!"

So he took her to a fine steak house where he stoked her with gobbets of Black Angus and mounds of French fries and thickets of escarole and battalions of petit fours. Then, at last, dinner was over and the waiter brought two finger bowls.

"I hope you enjoyed your dinner, my dear," said Harlow, dipping into his finger bowl.

"Oh, it was grandy-dandy!" said Priscilla. "Now let's go someplace for ribs."

"Later, perhaps," said Harlow. "But right now, I thought we might have a conversation."

"Oh, goody, goody, two-shoes!" cried Priscilla. "I been looking everywhere for a boy who can carry on an intelligent conversation."

"Your search is ended, madam," said Harlow, and pulled back his sleeves and looked at his cuffs to pick a likely topic to start the conversation.

Oh, woe! Oh, lackaday! Those cuffs on which Harlow had painstakingly transcribed so many facts—those cuffs on which he had noted such diverse and fascinating information—those cuffs, I say, were nothing now but a big, blue blur! For Harlow—poor Harlow!—splashing around in the finger bowl, had gotten his cuffs wet and the ink had run and not one word was legible! And Harlow—poor Harlow!—looked upon his cuffs and broke out in a night sweat and fell dumb.

"I must say," said Priscilla after several silent hours, "that you are a very dull fellow. I'm leaving."

With that she founced away and poor Harlow was too crushed to protest. Sadly he sat and sadly lit a cigarette.

All of a sudden Priscilla came rushing back. "Was that," she asked, "a Marlboro you just lit?"

"Yes," said Harlow.

"Then you are not a dull fellow," she cried, and sprang into his lap. "You are bright! Anybody is bright to smoke such a perfect joy of a cigarette as Marlboro which is just chock full of yummy flavor, which has a Selectrate filter which comes in a soft pack that is really soft, and a Flip-Top Box that really flips, and which can be bought wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states and Duluth . . . Harlow, tiger, wash your cuffs and be my love."

"Okay," said Harlow, and did, and was. © 1962 Max Shulman

Pre-Registration

All students who have not pre-registered already are advised to do so immediately, John Turpin, assistant registrar said today. Early pre-registration eases the processing of IBM cards and insures students the classes they desire. Pre-registration continues until December.

Five members of Front St. Theatre's professional resident acting company will also appear in "Gypsy": Allen Bates, Gene Kilkins, Harvey Dice, Ron Thompson and Macon McCalman.

The show is being directed by George Toulitos. Sets are designed by Edward Graczyk II and lighted by Mr. Graczyk and Lyn LePelley. Veteran performer Barry Fuller choreographed the vaudeville routines.

Cagers to Oppose Union in Tuesday's Home Opener

Lynx Will Begin Season Against Tulane Saturday

SEC powerhouse Tulane, always tough Union, and an improved Millsaps team will be the first to challenge the 1962 Lynx Cagers as Southwestern opens its basketball season by playing three games within a week.

Back-to-back home games with Union and Millsaps will test the Lynx next Tuesday and Wednesday at Mallory Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m., after Coach Winfred May's charges open the season tomorrow night in New Orleans against powerful Tulane, led by Jim Kerwin, who topped the Southeastern Conference in scoring last year.

Team Needs Support

Coach May voiced optimism concerning the team, saying that the squad has shown good spirit and hustle, and added that student response to the team will be important in determining the Lynx's fortunes.

"Everyone in the school is responsible for the type of team we have," he emphasized. "The more enthusiasm and spirit shown by the student body, the better the squad will play."

Five Lettermen

Leading the Lynx will be five lettermen, including co-captains David Miles and Carl Fisher, Ken Gann, Howard Edington, and Aubrey Smith. Smith, who lettered two years ago but did not play last year, is being heavily counted on to bolster the team's scoring and rebounding punch.

Miles and Smith will play tandem post positions in the one-three-one offense to be utilized by the Lynx. The brand of offense employed by the other team will determine whether the Lynx employ a man-to-man or zone defense.

CAC Tourney

Coach May predicted that Washington of St. Louis, Washington and Lee, and Sewanee will fight it out for the College Athletic Conference title to be decided by a post-season tournament at Sewanee. But he added that the Lynx cannot be counted out.

"We expect to improve greatly during the season," he explained. "When the tournament comes, we'll be ready."

Tourneys to Decide Volleyball Champions

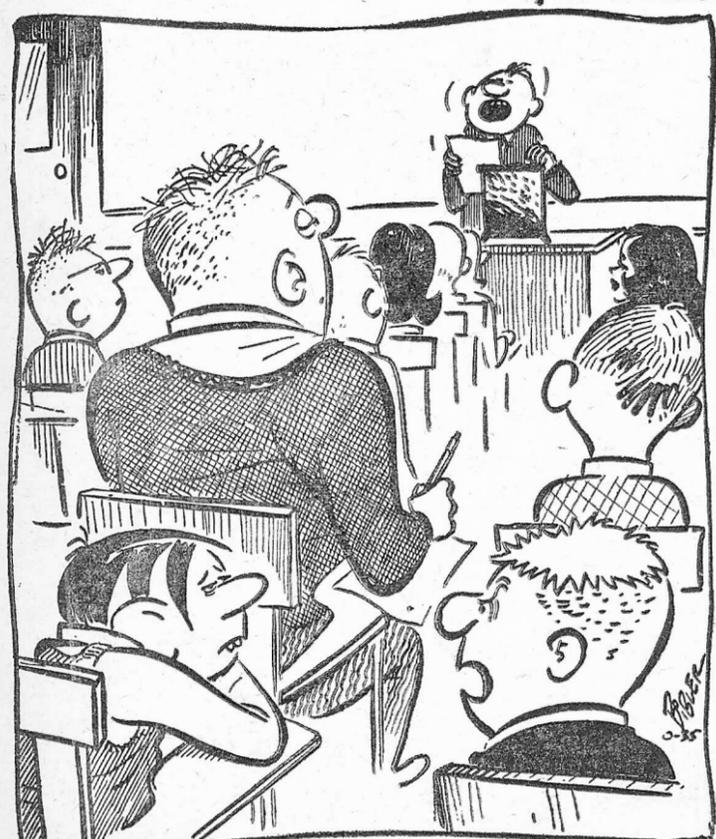

The men's volleyball championships will be decided by post-season tournaments instead of by round-robin schedules, Jerry Manley, Intramural Board President, announced Tuesday.

Teams with the best records in both leagues during the regular season will draw opening-round byes in the championship tourneys. Both leagues began play Wednesday night, with SAE's "A" team and the ATO "B" squad being tabbed with favorite roles. These teams won their respective league titles last year.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"IT WAS MY TURN TO SIT BEHIND BUFFO—YOU SLEPT BEHIND HIM IN HISTORY!"

RETURNING PIVOT MAN AUBREY SMITH will bear a heavy load tomorrow night when the Lynx meet Tulane. The 6-5 junior letterman from Memphis will add much needed height and should bolster the team's scoring punch.

DDD's Retain Championship In Volleyball Intramurals

Final volleyball standings show Delta Delta Delta retaining the trophy, as expected. Displaying great team work and deadly back-court play, the reigning champions finished pulling away. The only blot on their record was a forfeit to Zeta. Every position was well-filled with Judy Emery, Carolyn Cooper, Ginna Carter, Jeanie Heltzel, Gail Hoover, and Jo-Anne Peters being the six regulars.

Second Place

Second place went to Kappa Delta led by Anne Crowell and Eleanor Lawrence. One game behind the KD's, in third place were the Independents. Helen Harper, Anne Shearer Chilton, and Marnie Sprague were outstanding consistently. Chi Omega, coming on strong at the last, had a well-balanced team headed by the play of Chris Brosell.

All-Star Selections

All-Stars, chosen Tuesday afternoon, were as follows: Judy Emery, DDD; Anne Crowell, KD;

Helen Harper, Independent; Chris Brosell, Chi Omega; Priscilla Strickland, Alpha Omicron Pi; and Bianca Bettis, ZTA. Honorable mention awards went to the following: Ginna Carter, DDD; Eleanor Lawrence, Kappa Delta; Anne Shearer Chilton and Marnie Sprague, Independent; Joan Herbert, Chi Omega; and Margy Gatz, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Burns Tops in Tennis; Ping-Pong Begins Soon

Tennis results show Delta Delta Delta taking the team trophy with KD, led by individual champion Suzanne Burns, in a close second place. Burns kept her title for the second year, fighting off Carolyn Cooper.

Ping-pong begins immediately, with freshman Helen Harper, sophomore Jeanie Heltzel, and junior Carolyn Cooper expected to finish well up in the standings.

In Cross-Country Brooks, SAE's Share Honors

A strong team effort by SAE, which placed all five of its entrants among the first ten finishers, was enough to offset SN's Tommy Brooks' first-place finish and earned the Lions the 1962-63 intramural cross-country championship.

The winners chalked up 28 points to runner-up SN's 41. ATO finished third with 51. Only three fraternities entered complete teams.

Brooks crossed the finish line in 13:33, seconds ahead of SAE's Bruce Bourland (13:38) and Ronnie Zumstein (13:40). Fourth-place finisher Vern McCarty (13:53) was the only other SN able to break into the top ten. ATO's Mike Hutchinson (13:55) rounded out the top five.

"This year's entrants as a whole seemed to be in much better shape than last year's," Coach Maybry commented. All of the first five ran under fourteen minutes on the 2.2 mile course, a feat accomplished only by the winner in 1961.
