Controversial Mississippi Professor Silver To Speak Next Friday Under ODK Auspices

Dr. James W. Silver, history professor at the University of Mississippi and known nationwide for his denunciation of Mississippi as a totalitarian society, will speak next Friday at 8 p.m. under the auspices of Southwestern's Omicron Delta Kappa chapter.

Dr. Silver's topic will be "Afterthoughts About the Closed Society," and will deal with the pattern of Dr. Silver's thinking since his first "closed society" speech last November.

At Dr. Silver's own request ample question-and-answer time will follow his speech. The audience will thus have an opportunity to delve further into Dr. Silver's views in order to discover whether his portrait of Mississippi is a just one.

According to Dr. Silver his November speech to the Southern Historical Association "has been subject to some harassment and some amusing incidents."

In Silver's November speech he asserted that "the all-pervading doctrine (in Mississippi) . . . has been white supremacy, whether achieved through slavery or segregation, rationalized by a professed adherence to states' rights and bolstered by religious fundamentalism.

"Today the totalitarian society of Mississippi imposes on all its people acceptance of any pro-slavery philosophy," he continued, and added that "every Mississippi politician not only denies the validity of the 14th Amendment, but in his heart hungers for the negative days of the Articles of Confederation.

Silver also commented on what he called the incompatibility involved in citing the 10th amendment as the supreme law of the land and refusing to obey the decrees of the Supreme Court.

"(The Mississippian) no longer has freedom of choice," said Silver, "because they must first be harmonized with the orthodoxy. New currents of thought he automatically distrusts and if they clash with the prevailing wisdom he ruthlessly rules them out. He cannot allow himself the luxury of thinking about a problem on its merits.

"In committing itself to the defense of the biracial system, Mississippi has erected a totalitarian society which to the present moment has eliminated the ordinary processes by which change may be channeled. . . . Thus, the Mississippian who prides himself on his individuality in reality lives in a climate where non-conformity is forbidden, where the white man is not free, where he dares not express a deviating opinion without looking over his shoulder."

Johnson Asks SC to Enforce 'Coat-Tie' Rule

A system of Student Council monitors to make sure all men students wear coats and ties to evening meals as stipulated in the Student Council Handbook was proposed Wednesday by Cafeteria Manager Richard Johnson.

Mr. Johnson expressed concern that many students have flaunted this rule repeatedly, much to the irritation of the administration, who set up the rule along with the Student Council.

The fact that many students borrow coats and ties from fellow men who have already been through the cafeteria line in order to get their food, makes it impossible for cafeteria personnel to enforce the rule adequately.

Mr. Johnson has not yet discussed the matter with the Student Council.

Student Council Will Convene Tomorrow To Continue Discussion of Constitution

A special, called Student Council meeting will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in 105 Science, as the Council continues its attempts to place the proposed new constitution before the student body before election of next year's student body officers are conducted.

In meetings Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the Council passed several important amendments to the originally proposed document, intended to assure the maximum efficiency of student government, and to make the new form as viable as possible.

On the all-important question of how many Senators each class should have, the Council finally decided upon an amendment which gives each class an equal number of Senators except when enrollment of a class exceeds a certain number, in which case that class will be allowed additional representation.

Another amendment allows the Elections Commission to retain its present status under the supervision of the Student Senate, rather than make the Senate directly responsible for elections procedures.

Still another important amendment deals with the problem of possible future executive-legislative disputes over constitutional interpretation. A more-or-less judicial department to rule on such disputes will be created.

Presidential appointments must be approved by the Student Senate if such appointees serve an executive rather than a deliberative function, according to still another amendment.

Sophomore Representative Carolyn Crane made the compromise representation motion to allow for both the superiority in numbers of the Freshman and Sophomore classes and the greater experience but lesser size of the upper classes. Alternative plans for representation would have followed one of two plans. One gave predominance to the numerically inferior upper classes by providing for an equal number of representatives from each class.

The other allowed relatively inexperienced freshmen and sophomores to dominate the Senate by basing the degree of representation strictly on the size of each class.

In stating the need for a judicial branch, Commissioner of Education Rogert Hart stated that his motion provided for an unbiased judicial branch composed of all facets of the college community, which would be needed to decide possible disputes over constitutional interpretation.

Greeks, GDI's Show Off 'Stunt' Skills Tomorrow

Fraternities and sororities will show their dramatic ability tomorrow night as Alpha Omicron Pi presents its annual Stunt Night at 7 p.m. in Snowden School Auditorium.

Admission is 50c for students and 75c for adults.

The event is sponsored by AOPi to make money for their philanthropic activity. Ten campus social groups will take part in the affair, which was won last year by GDI and Chi Omega.

This year Chi Omega will perform "The Great American Stunt," while Delta Delta Delta says "It's Strictly a Woman's World," and Kappa Delta journeys to "South Specific." Zeta Tau Alpha's skit is entitled "War and Peas."

Down fraternity row, Sigma Alpha Epsilon looks at "Dis Is the Week Dat's Gonna Be," while Kappa Sigma affords a take-off on "Antony and Cleopatra," and Alpha Tau Omega demonstrates "How to Succeed in Rush Without Really Trying."

Kappa Alpha tries out a familiar theme with its production of "Venus Unchained," Sigma Nu tries to keep from running overtime while pronouncing the title of their skit: "All Men Are Created Equal, but Some Are More Equal Than Others," and the Independents perform "A Ballet of Antony and Cleopatra."

In addition to the awarding of trophies to the winners, Alpha Omicron Pi will announce its officers for the coming year.

Monday Chapel Features 'Opera'

A program of operatic selections will be presented in chapel on Monday morning in Hardy auditorium. Mrs. Alis Goldate and Mr. Robert Kirkham of the Memphis Opera Theater will perform with selections from Otello, La Traviata, and Don Giovanni. They will also sing old and contemporary English and American songs.

Mrs. Goldate will sing "Do Not Go, My Love" by Hageman, "Sure On Shining Knight" by Barber, "La Canzone Del Salice" from "Otello" by Verdi, for her selections.

For his part of the program, Mr. Kirkham has chosen "Onegin's Aria" from "Eugene Onegin" by Tchaikovsky, "The Pretty Creature" (Old English), and "Over the Mountains" (Old English), arranged by Quito.

Kirkham and Mrs. Goldate will bring their program of operatic selections to close by presenting to the assembly a duet from the well-known and popular oper "La Traviata" by Verdi. The title of this closing selection is "Dite Alla Giovine."

Architect to Complete Student Center Plans

Plans are being made in the direction of the new Student Center to be built at Southwestern. The most recent plan, which was drawn up last year, is not yet in final form. The architect for the building project will return to Memphis from Nashville this week to complete the plan.

Southwestern owns property which must be sold before the Center can be financed. There will be a fund raising campaign to meet expenses not covered by the sale of the property.

The Center will not contain an auditorium and a stage as was earlier believed, due to lack of finances. It will include, it is hoped, a lounge, a grill, a postal office, offices for the newspaper and annual staffs and for the Student Council, conference rooms and a patio area.

Next Wednesday there will be an opportunity for students to express their opinions as to the type of Student Center they would like to have. Any suggestions may be given to Judy Simono or Ted Morris, who make up the student committee.

Honor Council Leader To Be Chosen Friday By Student Selection

On Friday, March 13, students will elect the president and vice-president of next year's Honor Council.

Running for president will be junior Tommy Durff and sophomore Stan McNeese. Junior Jacquelyn Dowd and sophomore Bob Wild will run for vice-president. All four are presently members of the Council.

The following week on Wednesday, March 18, two men and two women will be elected as representatives from each class. Nominees will include present Council members, two students for each position nominated by the Council and students nominated during Council-conducted class meetings.

Installation of new officers and members will be in April, their term of office beginning immediately upon installation. A secretary will be chosen from the members at the first regular meeting. Two freshman members, one man and one woman, will be added to the council by class elections held next fall.

Six Students to Plan Research with Profs

Six students of Southwestern At Memphis have been selected to do research with three professors this summer. The professors received grants from the National Science Foundation.

Working with Dr. Harold Lyons, professor of chemistry, will be sophomore Charlie McLean of Sheffield, Ala. With Dr. Helmuth Gilow, associate professor of chemistry, will be junior Charles Calhoun of Memphis.

Dr. Richard D. Gilliom, assistant professor of chemistry, will be assisted by juniors Ben Frank Ward of McComb; Gil Jones of Jackson; and Rick Baker and Riley Garner of Memphis. The alternate student is Jan Mallady of Camden, Tenn.

SC To Study 'Dinner Music' Plans Following Favorable Student Vote

By DALE SEAY

Southwestern students voted 203 to 35 in favor of the continuation of music in the Refectory during meals in a poll held Wednesday in Student Assembly by the Student Council.

President Cyril Hollingsworth explained that a permanent installation would probably cost around $400 and that the Student Council would accept the vote as a petition stating the wishes of the Student Body.

In interpreting the results of the poll, Hollingsworth said, "The vote means that there is enough student interest to consider the matter seriously, and Chris Drago will be formulating different possible plans for installing a permanent music system in the cafeteria.

"The Council has not yet polled the faculty on the music, because the temporary system was not set up a sufficient number of times during the noon meal. Some of the persons voting expressed a concern over the cost. Both Representative Drago and the Student Council will be working with the administration to consider realistically the possibility of installing the system."

Drago has been in charge of the week-long trial period as Chairman of the Student Welfare Committee. Individuals' equipment has been used on a "day to day basis," stated Hollingsworth, and more equipment would be needed. But the four hundred dollars "would probably be a maximum figure" and would cover operational costs for several years at least.

Such an installation is already in service at Hendrix College at Conway, Arkansas.

★ Letters to the Editor

'PROPER' RELIGIOUS ATMOSPHERE?

I have heard that the Westminster Fellowship was criticized for meeting around tables at the Bavarian Inn to discuss a movie. Apparently someone thought that this environment would not provide the proper atmosphere for a "religious" group like the WF.

The aim of the WF is not to preserve religion, but to be a fellowship in which divine power and presence are felt. Frequently a "religious" atmosphere is so syrupy and sentimental that it suffocates real human encounter—which often happens over a glass of beer. Let us recall that Christ was crucified not on a gleaming altar but on a filthy garbage heap.

NSA Provides Information on Current News

United States National Student Association (USNSA) is presenting to its member campuses a new educational service called POLBACK or Political Background Project.

This project is designed to keep the American student up to date on current events by providing sets of political background papers to be used in seminars or in campus wide programs. These papers serve as a flexible basis from which the individual or group can stem according to the desired aims.

The information provided by POLBACK includes analyses and approaches not found in ordinary text books. The material contains on the spot evaluations by USNSA overseas representatives and student delegations, scholarly papers from the Secretaries of the World Assembly of Youth and the International Student Conference as well as other private and governmental agencies.

Topics available now are Angola and Mozambique, South and Southwest Africa, and Panama. Soon to be ready are papers on Latin American Student Movements and The Rise of the Latin American Left. Each POLBACK topic will have a supplementary bibliography as well as film and speaker lists.

Student Center Donor Deceased

Thomas Winston Briggs, Memphis businessman of international reputation and founder and president of Welcome Wagon, Inc., died at 10:30 a.m. Monday in a New York hospital. He was 78 years old.

Mr. Briggs had last year donated a 34-acre tract of land, assessed at $370,000, to Southwestern. Funds from this acreage on University and Vollenline site of the old Briggs home, will finance the planned Southwestern Student Center, which will bear his name.

At the time of the donation Dr. Rhodes said the name of Briggs "joins a distinguished roster of individuals and families who have enriched the lives of generations of Southwestern students through the year . . ."

The funeral services were today at 11 a.m. in the Second Presbyterian Church in Memphis. Burial was in Forest Hill Cemetery. Special services were conducted in New York Monday morning.

Critics Laud 'Misalliance'

"Go see 'Misalliance,'" said critic Connie Richards of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, and Edwin Howard of the Press-Scimitar said "if you take your play-going seriously, here is a bit of nonsense you should not miss."

Mr. Howard further said, "There is another discovery to be made in 'Misalliance' besides its . . . satirical brilliance; it is that during the course of this seventh Front Street Theatre season, Director George Touliatos has molded an acting ensemble whose equal would be hard to find anywhere."

Theatre-goers only have one more day to see this brilliant, bold production of "Misalliance," Bernard Shaw's funniest comedy on love and marriage, which closes tomorrow. For theatre-goers' convenience, Front St. has scheduled two performances Saturday evening, at 6 and 9:30 p.m.

The Ideals of Southwestern

By DR. CHARLES E. DIEHL, 1875-1964

The Church College

"Here was the chance of a lifetime; a chance to set the standard of an institution for all time; a chance to go forth unhampered by past mistakes, architectural and other, and to launch an institution which was as nearly ideal for its purpose as painstaking investigation and careful thought and planning could make it. Realizing that the good is ever the enemy of the best, we did not seek merely the good, but the best. There was ever before us the idea of excellence. It was our purpose to launch here an institution which would endure for centuries, and which would command the respect and quicken the pride of succeeding generations.

"The institution we were planning for was not a state or a municipal or an independent institution, but a Presbyterian institution; an institution which is avowedly Christian, and which as such is shot through with that passion for honesty and that hatred for all sham which is really fundamental in any interpretation of Christianity, and without which no institution can be regarded as Christian, whatever be its claims, its forms of government, its courses of study, or its ceremonies.

" . . . The institution we had in mind was one which was vitally concerned with scholarship, but which was even more concerned with character and manhood; an institution which believes in the life eternal, and, as a consequence, in real moral values; an institution which stands for the essential permanence of truth, beauty and goodness."

A Liberal Education

"We were planning an institution which indeed some day may become a university, but which now seeks to give a liberal education; one which does not primarily concern itself with utilitarian values, but which contemplates a disciplined mind, a freed soul, a broadened personality, and an unright life."

An Architectural Concept

"Genuineness is characteristic of the heart of this institution, and we wanted this note sounded everywhere, even in the construction of the physical plant. It was to be enduring, for we were building for generations to come. It was to be beautiful, for the aesthetic side of man's nature is important and a college of liberal culture dare not overlook it. It was to be genuine throughout, free from all substitutions and cheap, make-believe effects, for this college has a hatred for sham. It is a source of satisfaction to know that our architectural ideal has been realized, and that not even the most caustic and unfriendly critic can now or hereafter indulge in a smile of derision at our expense."

A Selective Student Body

"With the ideal of excellence before us, and with an utter disregard for mere numbers, it is not surprising that we should feel that we could render the largest service by training adequately a comparatively small number of select students, in accordance with our means, rather than by accepting all who desired to come, and then doing the best we could for them with the limited means at our disposal. It is our plan, therefore, to limit the number of students we accept by our ability to give crease, more students will be accepted. We them the best advantages. As our funds in would rather do a limited work thoroughly and well than to attempt a larger work which we could not do in accordance with our ideal."

"Since our student body must be limited we believe that we should be most careful in its selection. Why should we waste our time on those who are not prepared to do first-class college work or who are not motivated by a serious purpose? We seek not the rich or the socially prominent, but the worthy—those who are morally sound, who are intellectually fit, and who have the desire to excel."

The Professor

"The time will never come when the teacher is not the most important part of the college. He is the college in the active sense; all other things are circumstances, machinery, arrangements. He is the mind that learns and teaches. If he does well, then all is well; if he does ill, the college is a failure. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that the instructional force should be made up, not of immature and inexperienced teachers who can be secured at small cost, but of inspiring teachers, great personalities, who seek to advance knowledge not only among themselves, but among their students, who are anxious that their students should develop, not only in intellect, but in character, in their whole personalities."

The Purpose

"With high resolve and honest purpose Southwestern opens her doors in Memphis. She holds aloft the unpurchasables as the objects of desire and bears an unflinching testimony to the value of spiritual ideals. She seeks to prepare for generations yet unborn by handing down unsullied to this generation our rich heritage of the past. She labors to send out men and women with strong characters and disciplined minds which are to be put at the disposal of the world's need for the solution of its desperate problems, for the alleviation of its myriad ills, and for the bringing in of that better day when wrong shall cease, and liberty and love and truth and right o'er all the earth are known as in their throne above."

Education Continues to Be Vital Issue Discussed By Congress, Administration

WASHINGTON (CPS)—A plan providing two free, compulsory years of college is gaining the support of President Johnson's administration.

An indication of White House backing came in a speech this week by Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who proposed extending the legal required education age to 18 in an effort "to get youth unemployment out of America's bloodstream."

Wirtz took time out from talks with labor officials over the boycott of wheat shipments to Russia to outline the plan.

If states now required students to continue their education for two years after high school, Wirtz said half of the 2.5 million youth in the hard-core unemployment lists would be back in school.

Wirtz noted that the number of unemployed youths with meager educations is radically higher than among those with 11 to 12 years of education.

While not offering the plan as an official government program, Wirtz emphasized that it was a thought germinating within the administration for the past several months.

Observers saw Wirtz's statement as a further indication that administration economists fear that the historic income tax cut bill won't sufficiently help unemployment problems facing the nation.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., the late President Kennedy's first Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary, has led attacks on the income tax cut's ability to spur employment.

A massive aid program aimed at the U.S. college student has slim chances of getting through Congress this year.

Casting a shadow of doubts over the higher education program is the upcoming civil rights bill battle in the Senate.

No one knows for sure how long the Senate will be embroiled in what promises to be a long, bitter fight over the most sweeping anti-integration measure since reconstruction days. Best estimates now see a congressional snarl imposed on other major legislation until the Senate finishes the civil rights bill—one way or another—by late fall.

Still pending in committee are House and Senate versions of mammoth student aid programs to get able but dollar-short students through college.

Getting strong administration support is the Senate version, introduced this month by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind. It comprises ideas germinating in the White House, the Office of Education and congressional circles of higher education supporters.

SW Radio Stars Ries, Richardson

Radio station WMPS (680) will feature Southwestern on Sunday nights from 7:30 to 7:55 p.m. during its "Classroom 68" program. Beginning this Sunday night, sophomores Judy Ries of Memphis and Tom Richardson of Lexington, Tennessee, will relate campus news over the air.

Tom and Judy will prepare the Southwestern portion of the program themselves, using both News Service releases by Mr. Ken Berryhill, director, and their own initiative in compiling their presentations.

A "question-and-answer type of program," "Classroom 68" also includes student news from the Memphis State and CBC campuses. A disk jockey will interview the various representatives between records and commercials.

Southwestern Singers Set Tour to Begin Next Week

The Southwestern Singers will leave next Saturday, March 14, for their annual tour.

They will travel first to Nashville where they will spend two nights. The choir under the direction of Dr. Vernon Taylor will sing for two worship services Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church and for an evening program at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The schedule for Monday includes a performance at Battle Ground Academy in Franklin in the morning and Hillsboro High School in Nashville in the afternoon. The Gallatin Presbyterian Church will be the hosts Monday night, and the choir will be in Clarkville Tuesday.

On Wednesday the group will head back west, stopping in Jackson and Brownsville for performances. They have a performance scheduled in Memphis for the President's Council on Wednesday night.

Approximately forty choir members will go on the tour. Among the literature to be performed are "Aspergis Me" and "Tenebrae Factae Sunt" by Michael Haydn, "So We'll Go No More A-Roving" by Robert Delany, "Go Tell It on the Mountain," a spiritual, Sections of the Christmas Oratorio by Saint-Saens, and "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" by Ippolitof-Ivanof.

Other selections will include "Rejoice and Sing" by Bach, "Sure on This Shining Night" by Samuel Barber, "Kyrie Eleison" by Jim Lindenberger, an alumnus of Southwestern, and "O Lord, How Excellent Is Thy Name" by Jimmy Kay, a composition major and member of the choir.

Before the tour, the Singers have programs at Snowden School Monday and at Millington Naval Base Thursday night.

Campus Paper Suspended At Seton Hall University

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (CPS)—The president of Seton Hall University has suspended publication of the student newspaper, The Setonian, for the duration of the present staff's tenure.

The Most Rev. John J. Dougherty charged that the paper has "abused freedom of expression" and ordered that the publication be suspended for at least a month. Normally, the new staff is chosen in April.

Bishop Dougherty's decision was communicated to the staff of the paper Thursday morning (Feb. 27) by Alfred Donovan, vice-president in charge of student personnel services.

"It has always been my policy as president of this university to allow our students the fullest measure of freedom of expression, consistent with the proper regard for their own responsibilities and the purposes and ideals of the university," Bishop Dougherty said.

He added, "In recent months, however, there had been growing evidence that freedom of expression is being abused in the columns of The Setonian. There have been misrepresentations of facts when true facts could have easily been ascertained. There has been an unwholesome spirit that has characterized too many of the articles appearing in The Setonian."

The Setonian staff was unavailable for comment.

Margo English, Sally Pate Picked New Members of Pi Intersorority

Pi Intersorority's newest two members are Chi Omega Margo English, announced last week in Student Assembly, and Zeta Tau Alpha Sally Pate, announced this Wednesday.

Margo, a Memphian, is an English major and is student teaching senior English at White Station High School. She has served Chi Omega both as house chairman and as personnel officer. A student counselor, Margo was Panhellenic Editor of the Lynx last year.

Sally, a junior, is from McKenzie, Tennessee and also an English major. Elected Ideal Zeta, Sally has been both vice-president and pledge trainer of her sorority. She has been a member of the Southwestern Singers, the Danforth program and the German Club.

Young GOP's Meet Tomorrow to Elect Convention Officers

The Young Republicans will meet tomorrow at 10 a.m. in 107 Science to elect a chairman and secretary for the upcoming Mock Convention.

Also at this time members will sign up for various chairmanships and state delegations. It was decided in last Friday's meeting that participants would be asked to sign up for states which, if discernible, would probably support the participant's candidate in the actual convention.

Also at last Friday's meeting it was announced that tickets for tomorrow night's Republican Rally and Informal Dance in Ellis Auditorium would cost 50 cents. Buck Pape was appointed Chairman of Public Relations for the Mock Convention.

Candidates and leading "non-candidates" for the Republican nomination for President had been invited to visit Southwestern and address the student body. Senator Margaret Chase Smith and Governor William Scranton have sent their regrets that they will be unable to visit the campus.

Campus Briefs

Applications for editor or business manager of the Sou'wester and Lynx are due by next Friday. Thus far, only one application has been received — for editor of the Lynx. Applications should be turned in to any member of the Publications Board. An honorarium of $200 yearly is awarded to both editors and business managers.

The University Lecturers Series at Southwestern will have as their speaker next Thursday Dr. Hugo E. R. Uytterhoeven, a member of the faculty of the Harvard Business School, Harvard University. His subject will be "The European Common Market: Its History—Recent Developments — Future Outlook." The public is invited to hear Dr. Uytterhoeven in the Adult Education Center beginning at 8 p.m.

Dr. Uytterhoeven has an outstanding record in the international field. He has a M.B.A. and D.B.A. degree from Harvard University as well as degrees from the University of Ghent, Belgium and University of Zurich, Switzerland. At one time he was Research Associate in Marketing, Sales Management, and International Trade at the IMEDE Management Development Institute in Lausanne, Switzerland and is currently teaching Business Policy at Harvard Business School.

Chi Omega Sorority announced its new officers for 1964-1965 at their open house last Friday night. Kendall King is the new president, and Carole Pickens is the new vice-president.

Other officers are secretary, Madge Wood; treasurer, Dale Seay; pledge trainer, Munnie Rasberry; rush chairman, Jan Mallady; and personnel, Mary Lydick.

Summer school registration begins next Monday, March 9, Registrar John Turpin announced recently. Catalogs for summer are now available in the Registrar's office.

Courses will be offered in departments of Bible, Biology, Chemistry, Economics, Education, English, French, German, History, International Studies, Mathematics, Physics, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, and Spanish.

Freshman Mary Jane McCreary was tapped in assembly Wednesday as winner of Beta Upsilon Tau Tau's annual poll.

Boyd Elison, the group's Worthy Eminent Head announced the winner and runners-up. Diane Fuller was first runner-up, with Bootsie Best as second runner-up.

GOP Aid Needed For Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (CPS)—Attorney General Robert Kennedy said last Thursday (Feb. 20) that the help of the Republican Party was needed to pass the legislation to establish a domestic peace corps.

The bill to create the National Service Corps passed the Senate by a two-vote majority last summer. It is expected to encounter strong opposition in the House.

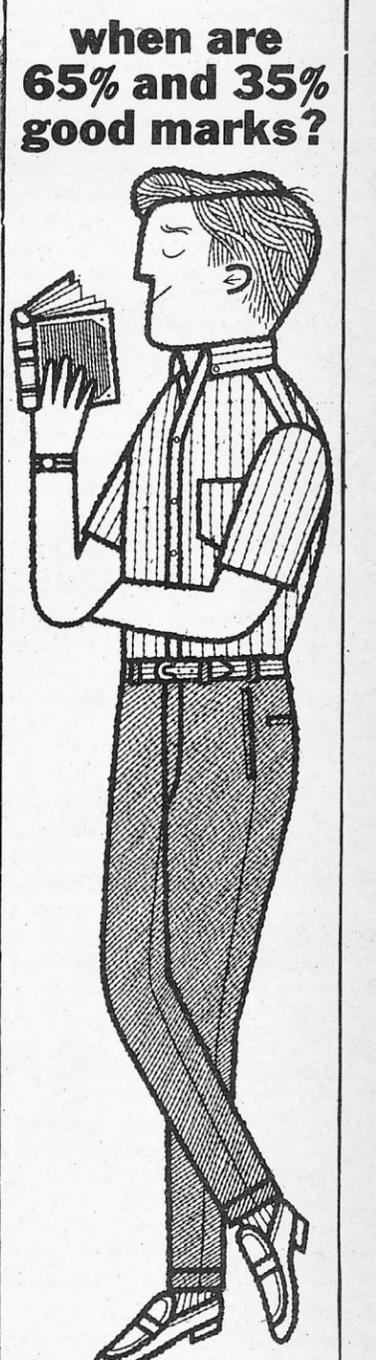

The Attorney General spoke at a luncheon attended by 75 government and organizational leaders under the sponsorship of the Citizens Committee for a National Service Corps.

"This bill will not be passed, just as the civil rights bill was not passed by the House, except for the leadership given by Republicans," Kennedy said.

The National Service Corps would be one of the weapons of the Johnson administration in the "War on Poverty." The bill now pending in the House Committee on Education and Labor would establish the corps with 1,000 volunteers—men and women—for the first year, with a total of 2,000 after two years. Volunteers would sign for one year with the option of remaining for a second year.

Current Peace Corps volunteers sign up for two years and cannot remain longer. The Peace Corps currently has 7,000 volunteers.

National Service Corps Volunteers would get a living allowance and would work on community projects to aid Indians, migratory workers, mental patients, the elderly and school drop-outs.

Lynx Baseballers Hopeful Of Bringing Back the Bell

Twenty Southwestern baseballers, including eight lettermen, turned out for the Lynx' first week of practice under new Coach Jesse Johnson, representing to many the best potential since the N.C.A.A. championship team of 1961.

The lettermen returning for another campaign include: Seniors David Miles, Ronny Splann, and Charley Killinger, all regulars since the '61 season; juniors Paul Cox, Doug Strong, and Jeb Blount; and sophs Bert Chafin and Browne Mercer.

Intense competition for several key positions marked the first week's workouts. Miles, a fixture at first base since his freshman year, is being pushed by Notre Dame transfer Vince Kouns who is expected to bolster the Lynx' bat corps. Early speculation is that both will be in the opening lineup. Miles is the only left-handed hitter on the squad, and has proven himself particularly effective in the clutch, having personally accounted for a half-dozen victories in his three years.

Freshman Jack Tilton is a top candidate for the keystone spot along with lettermen Mercer and Splann. Splann, who will be counted on for regular mound duty, plays well anywhere in the infield.

Two newcomers are presently engaged in a tussle for the shortstop spot, vacated by Kenny Brunson. They are freshmen Gary Sharp and Richard Hagwood, who will have to fill this key position by opening game, March 21.

Returning regular at third base is Killinger who may be called on by Coach Johnson to strengthen the pitching staff. In case he is, Splann or freshman Chip Hatzenbuehler will probably take over at third.

Chafin is the only returning outfielder, but Coach Johnson hopes to have little difficulty in filling the other two spots from among freshman Ed Sneed, transfer John Farese, sophs Bill Cobb and Eddy Yarbrough, and either Miles or Kouns.

Jeb Blount returns from 1962, when he earned his letter, as the Lynx' only full-time receiver. Chafin may devote at least part-time duty to strengthening this all-important spot.

Cox, Splann, and Strong, the lettermen, form the nucleus of the mound corps. Freshman Robert Finley and soph Jimmy Roberts are expected to press for a spot in the starting rotation.

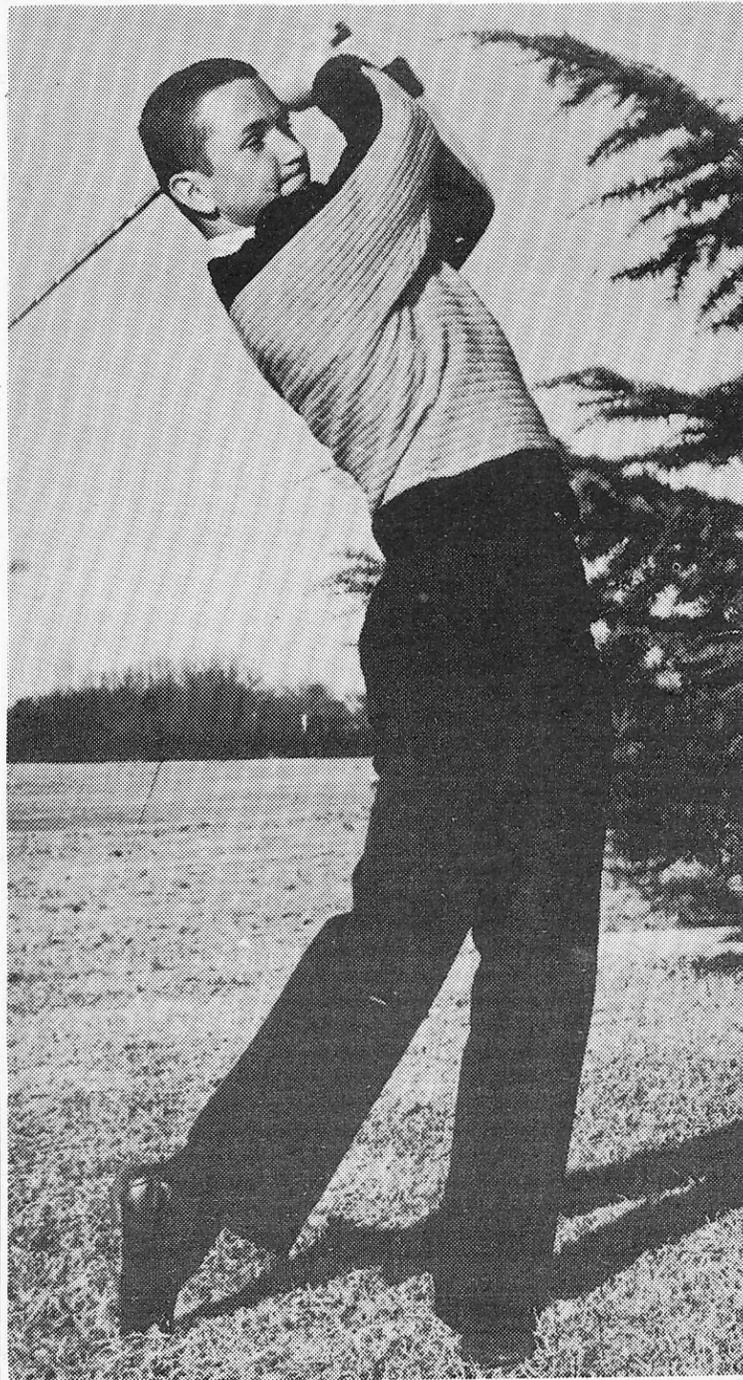

Pitching could well tell the story for the Lynx, whose schedule is packed with doubleheaders and back-to-back series. Cox has proven himself as a "stopper," when in top form, and Splann seems to have a knack for retiring batters with minimum effort. Strong pitched well in 1962, and along with Finley may be a very important factor in the coming campaign.

The captains, Splann and Killinger, expressed optimism about the Lynx prospects. "We could have a successful season," said Killinger. "We haven't been outside yet, so it's actually too soon to tell, but it looks as if we'll have the manpower."

"In '61 there was tournament talk even before we won the first fourteen, but I don't think any of us really believed it until we walked onto the field. This year, we know we have post-season games, and we'll have our sights set on bringing home the big bell. But we'll try to play them one at a time until we get there. Pitching of course, is always the most important requisite to winning in college, and I think we'll be at least adequate there. We are basically unproven up the middle, but that may turn out to be our strongest point.

"The over-all enthusiasm has been pretty good, considering the fact that baseball is an outdoor game, and we won't be able to get outside until next week at the earliest. With a few breaks, we may win more than our share."

The Lynx begin a 21-game schedule on March 21 with Illinois State and wind up with Delta State on May 4 before the CAC meet.

NUMBER ONE MAN ON THE CAC championship Lynx golf team is Craig Goldate, who will lead the team in the defense of their conference title. The Lynx begin their golf season March 23 when they meet Florence State at home.

Track Squad Shows Promise Despite Poor Indoor Showing

Although most of the freshman members of the Lynx track team participated in the Memphis Jaycees Indoor Track Meet last Saturday, only Don Hollingsworth, with a fourth in the 60 yard dash, was able to pick up a point for Southwestern.

However, the team, which was competing against some of the best freshman talent in the region, showed signs of promise. The squad is preparing for their first meet—at Fargason Field against Howard—and should be ready to attempt to improve last year's excellent mark.

Sprinters for the Lynx are Hollingsworth, Senior Henry Pope and Freshman Mike Whitaker. The 220-yard low hurdles have been ditched and replaced by the 330-

Tennis Team Sees Comeback in Store

Practice for this year's tennis team has begun with numerous men trying to win berths on the team. The team is anticipating a successful comeback this year after a heart-breaking no-win season last year.

First match of the season will be against Millsaps in Jackson next Wednesday. It is expected that veterans Lee Marshall and Roy Selvidge will lead the team this year. Promising newcomers include Tommy Barton, Arnold Drennan, Currie Johnson, and Grif Stockley.

Tennis coach Derrick Barton feels that the outlook for this year's team should do well against its opponents.

yard intermediate hurdles, in which Ed Hankins, a senior, and freshmen Joe Alford and Larry Churchill will compete.

Bill Weber returns in the quarter mile. A sophomore, Bill is followed by Pete Peterson and Ronnie Davis, both freshmen. Half milers are freshman Gary Nichols and sophomore Vern McCarty. Dossett Foster and Howard Romaine, will handle the mile chores.

In the field events, Ed Hankins and Barry Boggs will enter the high jump. Buddy Ratcliff and John Ratcliff and John Welch, both sophomores, are broad jumpers. A new event, the hop, step and jump, will be entered from Southwestern by Boggs and Ed Taylor.

Behind the weight events will be Russ Didelot, transfer Grif Keyes, Tod Eustis, Jim Durham. Throwing the javelin will be Taylor and Durham.

The mile relay team will be picked from Nichols, Weber, Peterson, Davis, Hollingsworth and Whitaker.

Last year the cindermen were 4-1 for the season in dual meets.

Golfers to Attempt To Match '63 Mark

The Lynx golfers took to the links this week in preparation for the rapidly approaching season. But this year's team will be hard pressed to match the record set last year.

The 1963 golfers finished fifth in a field of ten in TIAC competition. In regular season matches they were 10-2. The crowning achievement, however, came with the CAC title won at Washington and Lee last May.

Returning from last year's top four are team captain Donnie Dyer and Craig Goldate, who was the Number One man for most of last year. Gone are Bill Tyson and Doug Janss, both of whom contributed much to last year's success.

With a little help from incoming freshmen the Lynx could be a power again this year. If the CAC crown can be retained, the points will go a long way in helping to bring the Locomotive Bell to Southwestern.
