"Ike" Wins Student Poll

The results of the mock election held in the Lynx Lair, Friday, October 31, show that "Ike" is the favorite of the majority of Southwestern's students. The general received 186 votes, to Stevenson's 71. Eisenhower received 72.3% of the votes cast. This figure compares favorably with the 74.5% of the faculty votes that he received. Stevenson received 27%, compared with 17.0% of the faculty votes.

The purpose of the voting, which was sponsored by Professor T. M. Lowry's Political Parties class, was to determine the feelings of Southwestern students toward the now-completed presidential race.

Lynx Play Howard Team

Howard College Bulldogs bring a young but capable team to Memphis today, when they meet Southwestern. Howard has a three-three record; they have lost to Troy STC, Mississippi College, and Millsaps. They have beaten Sewanee, Bethel, and Union University.

The Bulldogs are sparked by Bobby Bowden, a 155 pound half-back and quarter-back. Bobby has also been an all-Dixie Conference selection for the past two years.

The Lynx, still not having moved from the losing column, are out for a victory today even though two of our outstanding backs, Frank Horton and Jimmy McLin (Congratulations, Frank and Jimmy, for playing such fine games!) are out of the line-up for the rest of the season.

The Lynx, led by Bob Crumby, plan to play, as usual, their best game.

Standouts in today's game will probably be the aerial combination of Crumby and Flaniken; also standing out offensively will be halfback Pete Street and "Mac" McAllister. On the defensive side of the game will be Reg Germany and Ray Tanner holding down the line while McAllister, Crumby, and Street bat down the passes and take care of the few ground penetrations that are expected.

Wave Officer To See Girls

Lt. Noreen Maloney, USNR, WAVE Procurement Officer attached to the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, in New Orleans, will visit Southwestern on November 12, to interview women interested in naval careers.

The Navy offers commissions in the WAVES for college graduates and a Reserve Officer Candidate program for undergraduates in which they attend two six-week summer sessions while in college and receive their commissions upon graduation.

Lt. Maloney stated that women will find many opportunities in the Navy for training, advancement, security, and travel, but above all, the chance to do a responsible job and a worthy service.

Pan Dance Is Tonight

The annual Panhellenic formal dance, sponsored by all of the fraternities and sororities at Southwestern, will be held tonight from 9-12:00 p.m., in Fargason Field House.

Colie Stoltz and his Orchestra will play for the this affair at which lighted crests of the various sororities and fraternities will be part of the decorations. Tickets are $1.00 stag and $1.25 drag.

In the leadout will be the following Panhellenic members and their dates:

Refiners Offer $500 For Essays

A chance to win $500.00 in prizes is offered to undergraduate students throughout the country by the Association of Petroleum Re-Refiners. Contestants are invited to submit papers on the subject, "The Advantages of Re-Refined Oil."

The purpose of the contest is to further research on the re-cycling of a vital natural resource in the interests of oil conservation. The bibliography on the subject is somewhat limited, thus another of the purposes of the contest is to stimulate original research on the subject of the re-cycling of once-used lubricating oil.

Students desiring to enter the contest may secure a list of companies engaged in re-refining oil and a summary of available data by writing to: "The Association of Petroleum Re-Refiners, 1917 Eye Street, N.W., Washington 6, D.C. Manuscripts must be no shorter than 1000 words and no longer than 2000 words in length and be submitted to the Association's Contest Committee postmarked no later than December 31, 1952.

Do you misbehave in Friday chapel?

This year everyone seems to agree that the chapel services are showing a vast improvement over those of the past years. No one is trying to offer an explanation for this; we are just accepting it with gratitude. The convocations for worship on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays find the students assembled in an attitude of apparent humbleness and attentiveness. At the Wednesday student assemblies we have our fun, yet we give the persons on the platform our undivided attention when announcements are being made.

All this speaks well enough for itself and is as it should be—yet, the picture to be painted of the Friday fine-arts programs takes on a different hue. There seems to be a group of students who occupy the back rows of Hardie each Friday and take great delight in carrying on unnecessary conversation while the musical programs are being presented. Just because it isn't a convocation for worship is no excuse to disregard all respect for the person performing. Much time, effort, and years of practice have been spent by these artists who present the Friday programs. If a comparison had to be made, it might be said that these artists deserve even more respect and attention than some of the speakers. We do not mean to suggest, by any means, that the manner of conduct be reversed, but that equal respect be shown on all five days.

The conduct that has been displayed at these fine-arts programs has been disrespectful, childish, and extremely rude. You are allowed fifteen cuts a semester, so if you are one who is guilty of this inattentiveness, and find that you cannot overcome it, then don't go to chapel on Fridays. An audience of a limited number of appreciative students will give the artist performing a much greater feeling of satisfaction and success than an auditorium full of people who are talking, squirming in their seats, or taking a half-hour nap during the program.

Why can't we act as mature college students should, and show a respect for, if not an appreciation of, the artists who perform on Fridays and the gifts that they bring to us?

Simmons Speaks In City Series

Walter M. Simmons, associate executive director of Memphis Housing Authority, spoke on "City Planning in the Light of What We Already Have," at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 6, in Hardie Auditorium.

The program was the second in the 1952 series on city planning under the general title of "Design for a City." Dr. Laurence F. Kinney and Professor C. I. Diehl are co-chairmen of Southwestern's Division of Adult Education, which is sponsoring the series.

Mr. Simmons drew upon his extensive experience with housing and zoning problems in Memphis, to emphasize the need for planning as a whole, in contrast with piecemeal and short-sighted plans.

Following Mr. Simmons' address, the meeting was thrown open to questions from the floor. President P. N. Rhodes introduced the speaker and was moderator of the meeting, which closed at 9:15 p.m.

Read "The Brother"

THE BROTHER. By Dorothy Clark Willson.

This is one of the most outstanding books on a religious theme that I have read. It is the tense drama of the life of Jesus as seen by his younger brother James.

James as a young boy adored his older Brother and followed him everywhere. He could not, however, reconcile Jesus' kindness to people who were unkind to him. Many things as the years passed and they both became men, puzzled this zealous young Pharisee. He saw men of his people tortured and crucified for the beliefs they stood for and yet his Brother seemed to deny these laws and have others of his own.

In this book is seen the complete metamorphosis of a boy to a zealous Pharisee, to, finally, an understanding follower of Christ, his Brother. This book is thrillingly human and down to earth. James has to face problems that are still ours today. His final victory over himself comes in a burst of compassion and understanding.

THE BROTHER is a vivid picture of the struggle for the beginning of Christianity, the cruel, but brilliant pageantry of the Romans, and the excitement of two cultures struggling for supremacy.

CAMPUS CHALLENGES

By Betty Sue Wilcox

Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth! For I am God, and there is no other. Isaiah 45:22.

Election time has come and gone, bringing with it glory for some, defeat for others. The mud-slinging is over, and those who have come into power are turning their thoughts to the solving of recently neglected problems.

Isaiah of old spoke to another people at another time, in another place, shouting in the name of the Lord that the wickedness of the earth must cease. Today his message is just as valid as it was on the day of its utterance. We seek to solve the problems of the earth—we, the nation known as Christian—we, the intelligent country, who know all and can cure all. As it was pointed out in our recent Religious Emphasis period, we are now chief benefactor to a number of nations, but have we, in giving, forgotten to do it in His name and in the spirit He taught us? Perhaps we, too, could learn from the prophet . . . perhaps we, too, need above all to turn again to God in humbleness and with a contrite heart . . . perhaps then we would learn of His wisdom and His guiding powers that could so help our country today, both in its internal and its international troubles.

We have sent numbers of missionaries abroad to proclaim salvation through God and His Son, Jesus, but have we ourselves turned to Him as we would have the others do? "There is no other," and all the ends of the earth are commanded to turn to Him and be saved. Does herein lie the future of the earth? Is this then the true basis of peace? Cannot we at least find here a common meeting ground for all peoples in their Creator and their God?

We must face the truth and realize that we are not sufficient in ourselves. The entire earth needs God and must turn again to Him, for will there not be peace on the day that "every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall swear"?

The kingdoms of the earth go by
 In purple and in gold
 They rise, they flourish, and they die,
 And all their tale is told.
 One kingdom only is divine
 One banner triumphs still,
 Its king a servant, and its sign
 A gibbet on a hill.

AOPI, Sigma Nu Win Decoration Trophies

Alpha Omicron Pi and Sigma Nu received number one honors for homecoming decorations last week while Pi Kappa Alpha and Kappa Delta placed second. Honorable mention went to Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Tau Omega. A traveling trophy was presented to AOPI and Sigma Nu while permanent ones went to the second place winners. Southwestern alumni gave the traveling trophies; the student council presented the permanent ones.

AOPI's slogan was "The Stage Is Set; Their fate is in our hands." A red and white nine foot backdrop made up the stage, while from a four foot hand, moved by motors, two puppets were dangling. The puppets represented the Southwestern lynx cat, who was strong and ferocious, and the Sewanee tiger, who was meek and mild. By the movement of the hand, the lynx cat beat the tiger's head.

Sigma Nu's display was titled "Just Like the Old Days." It was a medieval palace scene. A drawbridge was erected over the steps of the lodge, and a Sewanee tiger was captured in a small tower. A battle scene was depicted by a Southwestern football player using lances, and a fierce dragon (Sewanee). An enormous figure of the homecoming queen, Claudia Owen, dressed in medieval costume, was seen pointing at the caged tiger.

Second place winner for sororities, Kappa Delta, used a heavenly scene. Their slogans were "Harping on Victory" and "Heaven Help Sewanee." They used a Sewanee tiger playing a harp in heavenly surroundings of angel hair and cotton. In the background, harp music was played.

"Dam Up Sewanee." was the theme of the Pikes. They drew a scene of Sewanee school on a mountain and had a river flowing from the college. In a canoe was a meek Sewanee kitten, paddling his way to S'western territory. But he was stopped by a dam built on the river by the lynx cats.

Tri-Delt announced a Southwestern victory with an enormous telegram, and A. T. O. used "Stairway to the Stars."

All the fraternities and sororities worked hard on their decorations, and each is to be congratulated. The spirit and interest displayed by all made this year's homecoming worth remembering.

The judges for the contest were: Mrs. W. B. Fowler, chairman of the Memphis City Beautiful Board; Mr. Harry A. Wellford, a local business man; and attorney George F. Lewis of Memphis. These judges were selected by Dr. Robert O. Black, Vice-president in charge of Reunions, Southwestern Alumni Association.

Southwestern Spirit Rises Above Defeat

By DAVID WALTHALL

There is a cloud in every bright day, and the Southwestern Lynx found the Tigers to be that cloud last weekend. The team and the student body were in high spirits for the homecoming game, and let's hope that spirit will last even after the final gun is sounded in the climaxing game. The team will be fighting 'til then, and I know that the student body will support them to that last second!

The First Half

Southwestern won the toss and elected to receive. Pete Street received the ball on his own eighteen yard line and returned it to the thirty. Perhaps the greatest disappointment of the game happened next. Southwestern prepared to unloose its secret weapon. The Lynx, having run from the single wing for the previous four games, but not being used to this formation, the Lynx fumbled on their own thirty, from which the Tigers scored their first TD. The remainder of the first quarter was a punting duel until the last minute or so, when the Tigers again managed to penetrate deep into Lynx territory. This penetration was largely due to the running prowess of Bobby Parkes and Davie Jones. The Lynx, however, held their own one yard line for three downs, and it looked as if a Tiger touchdown was to be averted. At this moment the gun sounded to end the first quarter; the ball was moved to the other end of the field. On the first play of the second quarter, the Tigers clawed their way into pay dirt.

After an exchange of downs with the ball resting in the middle of the field, the Tigers again took over and began their third scoring drive. With the half drawing to a close, the Tigers again penetrated deep into Southwestern territory, but our stalwart line, led by "Reg" Germany and Ray Tanner, was determined not to let matters get any worse, and the first half ended with the Tigers on the Lynx one yard line after a brilliant goal line defense.

The Second Half

The second half began with the Lynx kicking. The Tigers, determined not to be thwarted, pushed relentlessly for their fourth score. After two exchanges of downs, with the ball on the Lynx thirty, the Lynx were forced to punt, and, as luck would have it, Bob Gillespie, Sewanee center, blocked the kick and recovered for the last Sewanee touchdown. Bill Porter's conversion was good for the fifth time. During the remainder of the game, Southwestern held a slight offensive advantage due mostly to the aerial combination of Crumby to Flaniken. In the middle of the third quarter, Bob Crumby completed a thirty-one yard pass to Flaniken, which put the Lynx inside Sewanee territory for the first time and left an excellent scoring opportunity; but, two plays later the Lynx fumbled and the Tigers took over. Sewanee scratched and clawed unsuccessfully for three downs and was forced to punt. Southwestern again took the aggressive. Bob Crumby again hit Flaniken far down field with another pass—this time netting the Lynx twenty-five yards and putting Southwestern again inside Sewanee's territory. This time, after four unsuccessful downs, the Tigers took over and drove to the Southwestern's one where again the Lynx stalwart forward wall and impenetrable defensive backfield held until the gun sounded, ending the game.

Scoring:

Touchdowns—Sewanee; Parkes 2, Jones, Miller, Gillespie.

Conversions—Sewanee; Porter 5.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarette provided."
