Cooper Chosen Favorite Prof

Dr. W. R. Cooper is Southwestern's "Favorite Prof." He placed first with $15.90 in the Favorite Professor Contest sponsored this week by the Y.W.C.A. The contest brought in a total of $76.40 which will go to their Greek War Orphan, Helen Potamopoulou. Prof. Southard placed second with $13.88, and Prof. Queener third with $12.19.

These winners were announced in chapel this morning, at which time they received prizes. First prize was a big red apple (given in a box), second prize was a little green apple (given in a box), and third place received honorable mention.

And Since Then —

The following poem by Ann Barr, sophomore at Southwestern, recently won first place in the poetry division of the Southern Literary Festival at Blue Mountain, Mississippi.

It may be others hardly notice her, But I do.

If they ever see her at all.

They see her meek and mousy.

They see her short and skinny.

They see her drab and dull.

And I?

I see her lone and lost.

And she sees me as her hope, her faith, her knight,

Her now,

Her tomorrow,

Her eternal.

I remember how she looked that first evening:

Thin shoulders

Dull hair

Stiff lips

Nervous smile

But I also remember bony

fingers clutching mine

As a child's clutch a parent's.

And I thought how much a parent

Means to a child.

An orphan . . .

That's what she was—

An orphan whose dead parents were

Love and Hope;

Yet, as she looked up at me,

I knew that I was Love and I was

Hope.

And since then:

Since then I've held those bony

fingers

As we've shuffled through the autumn's leaves,

Tramped through the greenness of springtime.

I've known them, and I've known

If ever once I let them go,

She'd shrivel and die of what might have been.

And now it's autumn again.

And as I watch her cross towards me,

I see others look at her and see all that's drab.

They can't stand her drabness.

Nor can I.

The Sou'wester will be available to non-students for the first time next year. The subscription price, which will cover printing and postal charges, has been set at $3.00 for the entire school year. This will be a special service to the graduates and friends of Southwestern. The new Business Manager, Rachel Gobel, will take subscription orders from now until the close of this semester. Orders addressed to the Sou'wester in care of the school will be accepted during the summer and fall months.

Campus Challenges

"Be still and know that I am God." These words echo in my ears in the midst of a world too intent on progress. Amid honking horns, screeching tires, shouts and other all too common sounds I fear for the preservation of God's great gift—that of being still. We begin our day by sleeping late and rushing to get dressed; we hurry to breakfast. Classes all morning then there is some activity or we've gotten behind and must rush to the library to hibernate until supper time. After eating rather hurriedly, we must make a quick change and go to meeting, or to the show, or maybe even back to the library. We continue day by day, usually in somewhat of a state of exhaustion, never pausing to think of "higher things."

I often wonder if the three words, still, quiet, and rest have been erased from the blackboard of our minds. Do we know how to be still? Do we know how to be quiet? Do we know the meaning of rest? At times I like to leave the Dorm alone and go for a walk across the campus—maybe stopping out in the open—just "being still." In Isaiah we read "in quietness and in confidence be your strength." He who knows how to be quiet—to be still with God—he can truly be called a man. If we are quiet and still and seek His face then we will receive a confidence beyond words—confidence in ourselves, in our task, and in our God.

In quietness seek your God—
In still wait for your God—
And in rest know your God.

Don Parker

Burrow Here

We at the Library regret the necessity for mentioning the sordid subject of missing books and magazines; but, since the situation has reached the critical stage, we feel that it should be brought to your attention. The honor system was devised to work for the benefit of the student body as a whole, and that is the case with library rules. We don't allow magazines to be taken from the Library so that they will be where they belong when someone wishes to use them. We ask you to check out books when you take them from the Library so that we will know where they are and so we can remind you when they are overdue. So, remember that the honor system applies in the Library so that we can serve the whole student body, not just the individual who thinks that rules do not apply to him.

There is also another way in which your co-operation will facilitate the Library's giving better service and that is in the matter of taking bound periodicals to carrels on the tiers other than the main floor. When you do this would you please tell someone at the circulation desk to which tier and carrel you are taking the bound periodical? Also, remember that books from the reference room are not to be taken from that room without special permission.

We hope you are enjoying the subdued lighting in the reading room. Besides being easier on the eyes, the plan of cutting off glaring lights during hours of streaming sunshine will also cut unnecessary expenses. You can help further by turning off stack and conference room lights when not in use.

WF Host To High School Seniors

The Westminster Fellowship is entertaining all the high school seniors of Presbyterian churches in Memphis for the program this Sunday. This will be an informal outing, so dress accordingly and meet at the church at 4:30.

The WF Council will have an important meeting at 1:30 Sunday afternoon at Evergreen Church. All members please attend.

Sue McCarroll Installed By Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club held its Installation Banquet at St. Mary's Cathedral recently. Following the dinner, the Rev. William E. Sanders, Dean of the Cathedral, gave a talk on the value of College work to the Church, and the future of College work. He stressed the responsibilities and importance of both the college student and the Church.

After the address, the Installation service was held in the Chapel. Installed for the 1954-55 term were: President, Suzanne McCarroll; Vice-President, Don Morgan; Secretary-Treasurer, Connie White; Chaplain, Harriette Mathewes; Program Chairman, Bert Sulcer; and P.R.C. Representative, James Smith.

Apply For Officer Candidate Course

Washington, D. C. . . . College seniors and graduates still have an opportunity in 1954 to become Marine Corps officers under the Officer Candidate Course program, according to General Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Plans have been completed for Marine Officer Procurement Officers and Marine Officer Instructors at NROTC units to accept applications from 1 May to 1 July, 1954 for the 11th OFFICER CANDIDATE COURSE, scheduled to convene in November 1954 at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia.

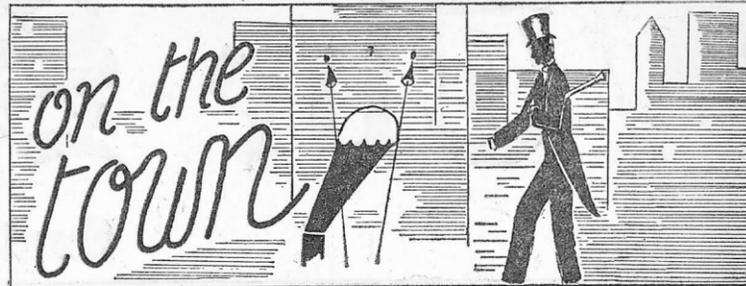

Applicants for this class must be at least twenty years of age and not over twenty-seven years of age on 1 July, 1955. They must be seniors or graduates of an accredited college or university and hold degrees in fields other than medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, theology, pharmacy, music or art. All candidates enrolling in this program are subject to serve three years of active service, after appointment to commissioned rank.

Accepted applicants will be ordered to a 10-week basic training course at Quantico. Upon successful completion of this training, candidates will be commissioned and assigned five months of specialized officer training in Basic School.

Interested college seniors and graduates can obtain additional information concerning the Officer Candidate Course scheduled to convene in November from their local Marine Corps Officer Procurement Officers, Marine Officer Instructors, and Marine Corps Recruiting Stations.

Undergraduate Board Officers

New officers of the Women's Undergraduate Board were elected Wednesday to govern with Dot Henning, Commissioner of Undergraduate Women (President of the Undergraduate Board). Vice-president is Mary George Beggs, and Sue Carter is secretary.

As I crawl down from my Cotton Carnival merry-go-round, let me give you a piece of sage old advice. Forget about going on the town and get down to those books. Of course, when you think about it a minute, you have to admit that there are a lot of things you can't learn in books. And nobody ever got pinned reading the Columbia Source Book together. And "all work and no play makes Jack (or Jackie) a dull boy (or girl)." So maybe you had better step out for a bit of that wholesome Memphis air and really go ape.

Unfortunately, there ain't much apeing to do at the movies. If you enjoy sadistic torture, you'll love the State's film, "Prisoner of War," which starts Saturday. Ronald Reagan, Steve Forrest, and Dewey Martin are among the mangled ones. Possibly Shelley Winters as "Playgirl" at the Warner will also be a little bit on the rough side.

The Malco features a Cotton Carnival Bargain Show—"The Saracen Blade" and "Drums of Tahiti." They must mean Cotton Carnival Bargain Basement Show.

As a Marilyn Monroe fan from way back (you can take that any way you wish), I'm overjoyed by her return to Memphis on Saturday at the Palace in the Western, "River of No Return." In it, Marilyn deserts her lackluster job of shaking a leg in a saloon to join Rory Calhoun in filing for some dishonestly claimed gold land. They tangle with Robert Mitchum, who has spent all his time raising wheat, B.M. (Before Marilyn). After that he raises Cain with her. In the course of the movie, she also wrestles a mountain lion and wins. If you're not a Monroe fan, you can always look at the peaks of the Canadian Rockies which fill up the huge CinemaScope screen.

Out at Memphis State (pardon the expression) on Friday, the 14th, at 8 P.M. there will be a program of four one-act plays, directed and acted by senior students. Of special interest will be Thornton Wilder's "The Long Christmas Dinner," which will be directed by Eleanor Williamson, who was so good in the Little Theater's "Detective Story" as well as being Carolyn's sister.

Speaking of the Little Theater reminds me that on May 19 it opens its final play of the season with Sam and Bella Spewack's "My Three Angels." It's a comedy set on Devil's Island of all places and tells how three loveable convicts (one's an embezzler, one regretfully murdered his wife, and one did away with an inconsiderate uncle) protect a local storekeeper from the clutches of his greedy and grasping relatives. It's based on a French play whose title I can't pronounce, much less write. If you'd like to read it first, a condensation of it appears in last year's "Ten Best Plays."

Chuck Cabot and his orchestra will be playing at the Hotel Peabody up until May 22 for those who didn't get enough dancing under the sea last Saturday.

If there's anybody still reading way down here at the bottom of the column, my sage old advice to you is to stop it this instant and go ON THE TOWN!

Large and Small

What with all of the rain Southwestern has been having lately, students have had to puddle through miniature lakes wherever they have gone on campus, and the weatherman tells us that the end is not yet in sight. But the next time you're stuck in the middle of the swamp right outside the library, just remember that there are others with bigger problems than you, such as the most looked up to person on campus, Bill Hughes, who not only has to plow through puddles like the rest of us but has more to get wet. His shoe size, Bill moans, is thirteen, which adds up to an awful lot of sopping shoe leather. While his height is fine when he's watching a parade or getting a book off the top shelf of the library stacks, he has such troubles as having to buy all of his shirts with extra long sleeves and he claims that a conservative estimate of how many people have asked him "how the weather was up there" would run into about two million.

Then there is his opposite, the girl doesn't have much of worry about when the campus resembles the mighty Mississippi, Gwen Warren, who wears a size three and a half shoe. According to her, the distinction of having such a small foot is almost too much. There is such a thing as being too distinctive, she says, because often she has to go all over Memphis to find a pair of shoes small enough. And clothes are more trouble to her than shoes, because (think of this, all you girls who say you have to lose weight) a size five dress "just swallows her," and her mother has to make all of her clothes for her. Other than that, she has only one trouble. Being near-sighted (show me someone on campus who isn't!), she has to put on her glasses every time she talks to people like Bill in order to see them clearly.

Poochie's Patter

A week from today exams start!! So, consequently, this is our next to last word for this year, and it mainly consists of talk of cotton carnival...

Many have been up and around the midway. The cry around there seems to be... "This show was originally one dollar, but we like you people, we want to give you all an opportunity to join the fun—so we're giving you tickets for just half price—yes, fifty cents! Buy your tickets now!!!" Also heard that in other places the call was "Remember! You did not buy this here—it can not be sold in Memphis. We gave it to you along with your program." (Of course, you have to pay extra for the program.) But, that's carnival life—if you can't do it one way, try another.

Many watched the barge come in—among the Royalty were our gals—Mim Heard, Sue Earp, Nancy Pickens, Betsy Bell, Nancy Deupree, Ann Thomas, Helen Walker, Harriet Matthews, Kay Rausin, Connie White, and Lucy Huff.

Among the peons watching the barge arrive were Camille Deadrick, Mary Chapman, Dottie Hurley, Marilu Whiteside, Ellen White, Mary Mullen Rice, Mary Rodriguez, Lee Weed, Jim Walker, Don Carnes, Harry Heidelberg, George Gracey, Maida Moore, Jerry Dozier, Nita Saunders, Annelle Allbritton, and Gwen Warren.

The Tri-Delts honored beautiful Beverly Pack, Maid of Cotton, last Tuesday at their house. Vera Watson and all the 3-D gals were greatly impressed by Beverly—however, quote Vera, "Why did she want to see the kitchen—it looked awful."

Congratulations to Dot Harris, Elaine Vickery and Charlene Jayroe for winning the Tri-Delt Scholarships.

The KD's are getting ready to house-party after school's outgoing to Gulf Shores — Sounds great!!

Tomorrow is the big day for the Seniors! Comprehensives begin — You, underclassmen keep your fingers crossed—your time's coming. And to carry out the motto of "bigger and better every year"—next year's comps will be 4 hrs., instead of 3, with no excuses from classes before hand. Like it????

Congrats to Newton Todd and Frances Van Cleave the pinnees of the week!! Also to Peggy Lyn

Jones and Jimmy Carter who have been pinned for several weeks.

Well, this year's nearly over. It's been heck-tic but fun. Right now let's get serious and hit those books—Exams are coming!

Oh! The last word from a graduating Senior — "It's not fair. I work and work and work and then have to pay $15 so my sheepskin won't fall apart—the price we pay for glory!" So long for now—

Don't forget the Student Council Clearpool Party May 19. It's for all and our last brawl for the year! See you there!!!

Wanted: A Coven

Last week as an experiment, Erin Moodie, Scott Byrd, and Bill Hunt passed around a petition which read as follows: "We, the undersigned, wish next year's coven to be held at Southwestern." By simply explaining that a coven was "a sort of philosophical conference or retreat," they had the following twenty-five signatures within half an hour — Holly Mitchell, Libby Shaifer, Smoky Russell, Emmett Buford, Bob Goodson, James Aydelotte, Richard Teaford, Bill McAtee, David Davis, Sue Earp, Dot Henning, Carl Walters, David Kaylor, Malcolm Whatley, Beth Perkins, Rachel Gobel, Elizabeth Price, Sallie Myhr Thomas, Bill Hamer, Laura Edington, Suzanne Carter, Ann Jon McAlister, Albert Evans, Gwen Warren, and James McLin. A coven, to the uninformed, is a gathering of witches.

Lynx Tennis Team Wins TIAC Tourney

Southwestern's fine tennis squad brought home the team trophy from the tennis tournament of the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference held last week. Tommy Crais, Burton Henry, and Tommy Buford sacked a total of nine points as they barely edged out the Sewanee team's eight markers. Crais piled up 4½ points by going to the finals in both singles and doubles, Henry made 3½ points by going to the singles semi-finals and the doubles finals.

Buford added 1 point for going to the quarter-finals in singles. Crais advanced by drawing a bye, beating Keith Fort of Sewanee 7-9, 6-4, 6-4, and dropping No. 4 seeded Kent Buser of Maryville, 6-2, 6-1. Burton upset third seeded Ruthven of the University of Chattanooga in three sets and then dropped Sewanee's Stewart in a fast two set victory. Buford turned in a two set victory over Maryville's No. 2 man, Webb White of Sewanee, who was first seeded, won the tournament by beating Buford in the quarterfinals, Henry in the semis, and Crais in the finals. All three were straight set victories. In the doubles Henry and Crais came from behind to take Fort and Pritchard of Sewanee, surprised the No. 1 seeded Chattanooga team with a straight set victory, and then fell to Kent Buser and John Anderson of Maryville, 2-6, 9-7, 6-4.

This Tuesday the Barton boys turned in their eighth dual match win against seven defeats as they licked Union 5-2 on the home courts. Crais, Buford, and Mount had straight set singles victories while Henry and Vogt dropped their opponents Coleman and Edmonds after three sets. Union won both doubles matches. Brown and Coleman dropped Buford and Morris, and Hill and Edmonds beat Mount and Higgason.

Diamond Crew Breaks Even In Four Games

The Lynx baseball team went on the road last week for two games in Mississippi. Both times they put together the right combination of hitting, fielding and pitching, and won both games.

Mark Waters came through with a clutch single with the bases loaded in the 13th inning to give Southwestern a 4-3 decision over Millsaps. The hit scored Crawford with the winning tally. Street lived on an error, Jerry Wood got a bunt single, and a boot of Jim Braezeale's slow roller set the stage for Waters' knock.

The Lynx outhit Millsaps 7 to 6, with Tommy Jones getting 2 for 5. John Lawhorn earned the decision as he struck out 14 men.

Bill Williams allowed six scattered hits as he shut out Mississippi College 7-0. His mates collected twelve hits and threw up a tight defense behind him. The big blow of the day was a long pinch-hit double by Gene Maddux that drove in three runs. Williams helped his own cause as he opened the scoring with a double. Leading hitter for the day was Frank Horton who went three for three.

Back on their home diamond this week against Arkansas State, everything went wrong for the Lynx-cats. The Jonesboro team put nine hits with nine Southwestern errors to hand the Lynx a 14-0 setback. The 'Cats got only three hits.

At Millington last night the reasons were changed, but the story remained the same. Lawhorn walked 16 men as the Navy team, studded with professionals, knocked off the Lynx 14-5. The visiting Southwesterners made only four hits count for their runs.

The Lynx close out the season with a single game next week.

Navy To Seek Naval Aviation Cadets Here

Two Naval representatives of the Naval Aviation Cadet Procurement Office at the Memphis Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, now on tour of Mid-Southern colleges and universities in an effort to contact qualified candidates, will be on the campus of Southwestern on the 20th of May. Coming to the campus are Lieutenant M. R. Wilson and Airman W. T. Bolin.

To qualify for the Navy's 18-month highly specialized aviation training program, candidates must have completed sixty semester or 90 quarter hours of schooling, pass the flight aptitude and physical examinations, be unmarried, between the ages of 18 and 25 and have not received final induction notice into any of the Armed Forces. Under the Navy's policy, a candidate may be enlisted anytime within two months of his having completed the required number of hours. In this way a man will be exempt from selective service until after his completion of the required schooling. Under no conditions will candidates who are enlisted be ordered to active duty until after completion of this required schooling.

The year and a half flight training program, at the Navy's "Annapolis of the Air," Pensacola, Fla., is divided into three phases, pre-flight school, basic flight, and advanced flight training.

In pre-flight the cadets are taught the fundamentals of aviation, in basic they receive actual flight instruction and in advanced they complete their training in either flight or patrol type aircraft. Also upon completion of advanced training cadets are awarded their commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve and 2nd Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve and are designated Naval Aviators.

Salute To Our Patron

May 1954 marks the 40th anniversary of Chesterfield advertising in college newspapers. It is a pleasure to salute a company which has manifested so constantly and for so long, faith in the values inherent in the college market, and whose products have given so much pleasure to millions.

Without fanfare or sensationalism, Chesterfield has carried its friendly message to millions of readers of college newspapers, and over the years has won wide respect.

Thousands still remember the famous Chesterfield slogan of yesterday — "Such popularity must be deserved." Today college newspapers headline this message — "Today's Chesterfield is the best cigarette ever made—the largest selling cigarette in America's colleges."

Good luck to Chesterfield — a proud name and a proud product.

"College Queen" Judges Named

Judges for Mutual's "Queen For A Day" "College Queen" contest have been named. They are fashion designer Rose Marie Reid; make-up and beauty specialist Perc Westmore, and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, popular comedy team.

Southwestern's entry is Esther Jane "Poochie" Swartzfager who was named "Most Attractive" by the student body this year. The five finalists will be flown to Hollywood next week. The "College Queen" will be chosen on the "Queen For A Day" program on May 21.

The co-ed selected to reign as "College Queen" will appear with Martin and Lewis on their coast-to-coast "Comedy Hour" program May 30. In addition, the "Queen" and the "Queen" semi-finalists will be luncheon guests of Martin and Lewis at the Paramount film studios.

I Know Something Good About You!

Wouldn't this old world be better, If folks we meet would say: "I know something good about you!" And then treat us just that way!

Wouldn't it be fine and dandy, If each hand-clasp warm and true, Carried with it this assurance: "I know something good about you!"

Wouldn't things here be more pleasant If the good that's in us all Were the only thing about us That folks bothered to recall!

Wouldn't life be lots more happy If we'd praise the good we see, For there's such a lot of goodness In the worse of you and me!

Wouldn't it be nice to practice This fine way of thinking too— "You know something good about me, I know something good about you!"
