RAMBLERS FORCED TO LIMIT TO BEAT S. P. U.

Local Five Gains Three Point Win Over Neely's Outfit

The Southwestern Presbyterian University, of Clarksville, furnished stronger opposition for the Ramblers last night at the Y than they did when they met the local outfit in Montgomery county some weeks back and the Keim five was forced to the limit to defeat them by a score of 34 to 31. The Presbyterians were always at the heels of the Ramblers but they were never able to offset them. Once the visitors led by two points but that was in the early stages of the battle.

The invaders' attack was fast. They followed their shots well and were always in the thick of the fray. Although the attendance was small those present were furnished with many thrills by the two quints. S. P. U. OUTPLAYED the local brigade. The Presbyterians outpointed the Ramblers in the last half, scoring 18 points while the locals registered one less.

Captain Alexander of the S. P. U. five was the ace who kept his team in the fight. He led the attack with 13 points beside playing a polished floor game. Newton was second to Alexander, scoring 10 points. Ferrine caged 5. The whole of the visitors' team performed in stellar style. The defense was of the highest caliber, Gardner and Wilson starring.

The veteran Monk Sharp set at the scoring helm for the Ramblers. He checked in with 11 points to lead his team. Costello played the floor well in addition to scoring 7 points. He followed the ball well, the major portion of his points resulting in tipping the ball in the goal after a shot had been attempted.

The Rambler defense was good, but the Presbyterians had good luck on shots fired from long range. The line-up:

DISTINCTION FOR UPPER-CLASSMEN IN N. C. UNIVERSITY

Read the following announcement which comes from the University of North Carolina, and consider how you would like to see the same system established at Southwestern.

CHAPEL HILL, Feb. 1.—Fifty Juniors and Seniors at the University of North Carolina who have shown special distinction by making an average grade as high as "B," or 90 to 95 per cent in all their studies, have been designated members of the "Dean's List," which gives them the privilege of voluntary class attendance. This is an innovation in the College of Liberal Arts, made possible by a vote of the faculty which thus amended the class attendance rules.

This plan, which is in vogue in a similar form in some other institutions, is aimed "to provide incentives to better scholarship to carry these students beyond the performance of their tasks merely for the task's sake. It is an attempt to throw the responsibility of doing their work well upon a group which has shown that it may be trusted. Students will remain on the "Dean's List" only so long as they maintain their standing of "B."

"This is not an invitation to cut classes," Dean James F. Royster, of the College of Liberal Arts, warns the men thus honored. "It means rather that you are placed upon your own responsibility in the matter of class attendance and that the question of class absence rests with you and your instructors."

PRINTER'S DEVIL

A man's college is it! We've heard of Sheep pastures too, but had you ever thought of who owned the sheep. Lambs gone estray, Eh, Rector!

Southern Chivalry! It seems that we heard that expression just lately. It used to be when t'was complimentary to speak of one as being stiff-necked and thin-lipped, but in these days, Oh my goodness no!!!

Edgar A. Guest, for the benefit of all those who are not in Comp. Lit., is a fellow who writes mediocre verse to keep critics from starving to death.

We've never heard of him speaking at chapel for any college as yet. We suggest that he be invited down to give us a talk on how to associate Robert-Legette and Roy with thought.

T'would be easy to get the three over a common denominator. My error. I should have said under.

PHI KAPPA LUNCHEON

The members of the Phi Kappa Sorority were hostesses at a pretty Valentine luncheon given in the Phi Kappa room on Saturday, Feb. 14, at one o'clock.

A color scheme of red and white was carried out—small red hearts being the principle decoration.

Hand painted place cards were used and favors consisting of small white jars tied with red ribbon and filled with bon bons were given. Red candles in crystal holders completed the decorations.

The luncheon was served in three courses after which crossword puzzles fashioned out of red paper and heart shaped were given out and a prize offered to the first person who solved the puzzle. Miss Edna Wyatt, being the first one to solve it, received as a prize a cotys dorine.

The guest list included Edna Wyatt, Christine Hotchklin, Irene Clardy, Dorothy Jordon, Ida Brown, Martha Carnes, Henrietta Lyddy, Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Diehl, and Mrs. Atkinson.

SOUTHWESTERN STUDENT IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Mackie Newton Confined to Hospital With Pneumonia

"Mickey" Newton who a few weeks past suffered an attack of the "Flu" with several other students suffered a relapse and developed a case of pneumonia. At present he is confined in the City Hospital, and tho not dangerously sick is not able to be seen.

Freshman Harris has been allowed to leave the school infirmary and will be able to meet his classes within a few days.

Luther Pierce is gradually regaining his strength, but "Big Blond Papa" has had a hard pull and we will be glad to see his cheerful countenance among the fair Co-Eds again.

TO THE LADIES

I've picked up my fun where I've found it,
 I've loved and I've lost in my time.
 I've picked them from schools here and there, sir,

And four of them enter this rhyme.
 One was a woman from Sullins,
 One was a Sweet Briar gem.
 One came from Randolph-Macon,
 And one was from Southern Sem.

Now, I'm not so much on the looks, sir,

But I was from Washington and Lee,
 And they say all the girls like the boys there,

Well, anyhow, three fell for me.
 There were times when I felt I should kiss them,

There were times when I knew that I might,

But the more you step out with the women,
 The harder it is to do right.

My first year I met one from Sullins,
 And she was a sweet one to me,
 She gave me my first bit of lovin'
 While holding her there on my knee.
 Clever, by George, and she knew it
 But a handsomer one beat her fair,
 When I turned a cold cheek, she was drunk for a week,
 But I learned about women from her.

Next came the Sweet Briar lady,
 I loved her more than I ought,
 We talked it all over between dances,
 And she loved me too, so I thought.
 She was quite lovely, I grant you,
 But every sweet nut has its burr,
 She had flashing black eyes, but she told me such lies,
 Well, I learned about women from her.

And this one from Randolph-Macon,
 I'd rather not tell about that,
 For I lost head and heart over her, sir,
 Oh, she was a wise little cat.
 She caused me to love her quite madly,
 Then drove me away like a cur,
 Why, I bought her a ring and she kept the dear thing,
 And I sure learned of women from her.

This last one's the hardest to tell of—
 This woman from Southern Sem,
 I called out there early one evening,
 But I never did it again.
 It seemed like the chance of a life time,

The corner was dark where we were,
 But no kiss for mine; they yelled half-past nine,
 So I learned mighty little from her.

Yes, I've picked up my fun where I've found it,
 I've loved them from most every school,

So take this advice from an old one,
 And don't let them make you their fool.

It's all right to have them to dances,
 Though when you do, it costs you like sin,

But be sure and don't write what you told her last night,
 And above all, don't give her your pin. —W., ex-'25.

"THE PIONEER"

'25 Book to Be Best in Its History

THE PIONEER, the year book of Southwestern which publishes all phases and activities on the campus is to be this year without a doubt the best in the history of this institution.

Mr. Walker with his able assistants is featuring a number of new ideas and novelties which will add a hundred fold to the attractiveness and beauty of the book.

The Editor-in-Chief gave out the information that everything would be in the hands of the printers and engravers within a few weeks.

The writer was privileged to see a few of the features a while back and it is with much pleasure that we can say Mr. Walker is a genius for ideas and deserves much praise for the manner in which he has succeeded. THE PIONEER will be off the press early in May.

KAPPA DELTA

Co-Eds Plan to Put on More Plays

At the last meeting of the Kappa Delta Girls another surprise was concocted, and plans made by which it could be carried out. It is no other but that another play will be staged and the proceeds to go to THE PIONEER.

Last year at this time Kappa Delta came to the front and not only that, they won out by a whole length and contributed to the PIONEER the sum of one hundred dollars. This is a boys school but what would we do without the Girls. If Kappa Delta can do that why can't our Glee Club and Orchestra do the same or even better? Kappa Delta is a live organization and there are no boys in it. Eh, Son! What about it?

BOB GOOSETREE TO ENTER BUSINESS

Popular Buildings and Grounds Superintendent at S.P. U. Resigns

Robert C. Goostree who for the past four and a half years has served as superintendent of buildings and grounds at Southwestern Presbyterian University, at his own request has been released from that position in order to go back into the electrical contracting business, according to announcement Thursday morning.

Mr. Goostree is a native of Clarksville, and has lived here practically all his life. By his steady and continued work at the University he has endeared himself to the members of the college community, and he is leaving the college property in better shape than it has ever been. The good wishes of the authorities of the college, as well as the good wishes of the student body attend Mr. Goostree, in whose career they will always feel a kindly interest.
