NET PLAYERS LOSE DUAL MEET TO TENNIS CLUB

Billy Hughes Trounces Lawrence McSpadden—Hughes-Appleton Win Doubles

Losing five out of seven matches to the Memphis Tennis Club, the Lynx racquetteers came out on the short end of the dual meet.

A bright spot in the defeat of the Lynx was the victory of Billy Hughes over Lawrence McSpadden, a stellar player of the club.

Hughes and Tom Appleton also defeated the ranking doubles team of the club.

Southwestern's entries made a good showing against their older and more experienced opponents.

Results:

Singles—Billy Hughes of Southwestern defeated Lawrence McSpadden of M. T. C., 6-0, 7-5; Donald Lawrie of M. T. C. defeated Thomas Appleton of Southwestern, 6-2, 6-3; Harry Wellford of M. T. C. defeated Tom Holloman of Southwestern, 6-0, 6-1; Julian Corley of M. T. C. defeated Tom Weiss of Southwestern, 6-4, 6-4.

Doubles—Appleton and Hughes of Southwestern defeated Lawrie and Currie of Southwestern, 6-2, 7-5; L. McSpadden and H. Wellford of M. T. C. defeated McGown and Tom Holloman of Southwestern, 6-1, 8-6; Wes Gunther and G. McSpadden of M. T. C. defeated Ball and W. Holloman, 6, 11-9.

DISTANT CLIMES LURE OUR PROFS

Dr. A. P. Kelso To Travel Abroad

Several members of Southwestern's faculty will travel during the summer months.

Dr. A. P. Kelso, professor of Religious History and Philosophy, will tour through Europe.

Prof. and Mrs. William O. Swan will spend the sweltering days overlooking Lake Chautauqua, New York.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Townsend plan to attend the University of Colorado during the interim between terms.

ELECT DR. STORN ALLIANCE HEAD

College Instructor To Lead Memphis Alliance Francaise

Dr. Martin W. Storn, professor of Romance Languages at Southwestern, has been chosen as president of the Memphis Alliance Francaise. Mrs. E. L. Magee is the retiring president.

The Alliance has shown the college French department many courtesies during the past scholastic year. With the ascension of Dr. Storn into the presidency, a still closer relationship is expected.

Averages Lost

Due to the loss of certain records by one of the city newspapers, final baseball averages cannot yet be compiled. When said records are found the Sou'wester will publish them complete.

An obscure young writer was dining at a banquet, and a duchess happened to be present. During a discourse, the young author and the duchess disagreed over the subject. The duchess flew off the handle and said: "I do not give a flea for what you say or think."

"How strange," the young writer calmly remarked, "that women say right out what runs through their heads."

NAME STAFFS FOR FALL STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

Treasure Rifled

An almanac may be a seat of learning, but it doesn't have legs and walks off. The Sou'wester staff prided itself in possessing one perfectly reputable almanac. But like the ways of all good fellows and things, it parted.

Yea, the publication room was rifled and the almanac pilloined. The bovine sleuth has been put on the trail. Any information pertaining to present situation or condition of servitude of our almanac will be duly regarded by the suspecting sleuthhound.

LYNX ON LAST LEGS AS PRESS WORK FINISHES

Work Being Rushed to Get Annual Campus on Schedule Time

With only a third of the printing and binding incomplete to date, the staff of the Lynx have every reason to expect the prompt appearance of the book on June 3, as was announced.

The 168-page mark was reached by the printers early Tuesday, leaving but 48 more pages to be finished before the publication can be turned over to the binders.

As a limited number of books will be available, all students and faculty members whose subscriptions are not fully paid are warned to place their orders with the Editor or Business Manager before distribution begins.

PLAY FINALS IN WOMEN'S TENNIS

Miss Elizabeth Baker Enters Final Round

Miss Elizabeth Baker has advanced to the final round of the women's singles tourney. The other finalist has not yet been determined.

The women's doubles matches will get under way the latter part of this week. As only four teams are entered, the winners will be decided soon after play is started.

Pellet Pushers Name Clements As Captain 1927 Baseball Team

Big Al Clements, foot-all star and baseball pitcher, was elected to the captaincy of the Lynx baseball squad for next year at a meeting of the team Thursday morning.

Al's great pitching and his popularity coupled with the fact that he is oldest in point of service on the team were good and sufficient reasons for his choice as next year's captain. He succeeds Capt. "Chick" Breed of the 1926 aggregation.

DR. LEE HOLT IS CHAPEL SPEAKER

Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, pastor St. John's Church of St. Louis, Mo., spoke to the Southwestern student body in chapel services last week.

Dr. Holt has an intimate friend, Dr. William Crowe, of St. Louis, who is the father of two Southwestern graduates.

Southworth and York to Edit Sou'wester. Hicks and Gladney Chosen to Publish Lynx Annual—Selections Wednesday.

J. Robert York, managing editor, and Luther Southworth, editor, will man the good ship Sou'wester for the scholastic year, 1926-27. York held the office of financial head of the 1926 staff. Southworth was associate editor during the past year. John Simmons was editor-in-chief.

Edward Dirmeyer, athletic editor on the 1926 staff, was elected associate editor. J. D. Tant, advertising manager during 1926, is now advertising manager.

Alfred M. Hicks will edit the 1927 Lynx Annual. He succeeds Francis Howard, senior, who published the 1926 book. William K. "Bill" Fort will assist Hicks as associate editor in the building of the annual.

James P. Gladney, business manager of the 1926 Lynx, will repeat his duties on the 1927 staff. Dick Taylor is the newly chosen assistant business manager.

Election of the publication officers was held Wednesday afternoon at a special meeting. The board consisted of Francis Howard, editor the Lynx; James Gladney, business manager the Lynx; John Simmons, editor the Sou'wester; J. Robert York, business manager the Sou'wester; Ralph McCaskill, president Boosters' Club; Chester Frist, president Honor Council; Dean Raymond Cooper, faculty representative.

GRADUATES SEEK PRESIDENT DIEHL

Quite Popular at Commencement Exercises

President Charles E. Diehl has been in demand as a commencement speaker during the past week.

Dr. Diehl preached the commencement sermon at Capleville, Tenn., Sunday, May 16.

He delivered the commencement address at Crenshaw, Miss., on Thursday evening, May 20, while the following night he was the commencement speaker at Nicholas Blackwell High School, Bartlett, Tenn.

Students and friends of Gulf Coast Military Academy enjoyed the privilege of hearing our president when Dr. Diehl preached the commencement sermon of G. C. M. A. at Gulfport, Miss., last Sunday, May 23.

Southwestern will soon be known throughout the Southland by its beloved president.

President Diehl will go to Davidson College next week, at which time he will be conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws with which Davidson recently honored him.

Ye Editor Says

Next week will see the final issue of the Sou'wester for the present scholastic year. Thus far this year 31 issues have been printed. Including next week's paper there will be the sum total of 32 editions.

Some students have saved each issue as it has appeared, and have a complete file. To those that have not, yet are sorry they did not save the gazettes, we can do nothing for you.

O yez, we can take your subscription for next year coupled with the one prescribed for in matriculation, giving you two papers of each issue. These can be kept in the form: one for the past year and one for the then present year.

SENIORS DONATE INSURANCE GIFT OF $100 APIECE

Outgoing Class Pledges $100 Each on Insurance Policy

Southwestern seniors bidding adieu to the college at the coming graduation exercises have perpetuated their memory to campus life by voting an insurance policy on the buildings.

At a recent meeting the class took action upon some gift which they might give to the college. In this instance the unanimous choice was for the policy.

By the method decided upon, each member will give $10 this June and $10 each following year for nine years, which will constitute the $100 donation of each.

FACULTY GUESTS PICNIC SUPPER

Prof. and Mrs. R. W. Hartley Are Hosts

Professor and Mrs. R. W. Hartley and their daughter, Miss Betty Hartley, entertained the faculty of Southwestern and their families at a picnic supper at their country home beyond Raleigh on Monday evening, May 24. Numerous swings, divans, chairs and conveniently placed tables scattered among the trees made the lawn seem more than usually inviting after a hot summer day.

About 5 o'clock carloads of guests began to arrive and to make themselves comfortable in the deep shade of the large trees surrounding the house.

About 6:30 Mrs. Hartley served a delicious picnic supper, in the arrangement of which she showed her wisdom by preserving the dignity of the faculty in giving them real dishes and forks to eat with instead of the usual picnic articles. The beautiful country night made the guests reluctant to leave, and they all commended Professor and Mrs. Hartley as very gracious hosts.

She: "You don't love me any more!"

He: "Why do you say that?"

She: "The last three times you've left before father made you."

A sentence using the word "moron."

"Papa said sister couldn't go out till she put moron."

Queries pertaining to love, war, kissing, studying, and college professors, will be answered in this column.

JUNIORS SELECT ED BUDOR TO BE SENIOR LEADER

Miss Margaret Cobb Vice-President "Uno Voce"—Appoint Fete Committee

Ed Budor is the president of the 1927 senior class. Miss Margaret Cobb has been elected vice president, being chosen by acclamation. Miss Elizabeth Marshall is the new secretary-treasurer.

Election of officers were held at a recent meeting of the class. They will hold the scepter of office during their senior year.

James R. Pope is present president of the class during its junior year. He appointed Misses Polly Minor and Martha Ambrose as a committee to make arrangements for the party to be given soon to the seniors.

FINALS REACHED IN TENNIS PLAY

Hughes-Holloman, Weiss-Appleton to Meet

With the semi-final round reached in the men's singles tournament, Billy Hughes meets Tom Holloman and Tom Weiss meets Tom Appleton. Quite a battle of Tom's. Hughes defeated Hume in the third round. Tom Holloman vanquished Brother Will. Weiss put out Garrott, and Appleton eliminated W. Hughes.

The four semi-finalists in this tourney are those that have been representing Southwestern this season in all tournament play.

Zeke the Sage

Dear Zeke: What would you consider a good definition for back?

BACTERIA.

Dear Back-teria: The back is that portion of your anatomy to which your friends direct their remarks.

ZEKE.

Dear Zeke: I have no one to talk to and am very lonesome, what can I do?

FORLORN.

Dear Forlorn: No matter how lonely you feel, Crusoe was worse. He had only Friday for company; you have the whole week.

ZEKE.

Dear Zeke: Do you believe that he who laughs last betrays his nationality?

MAUD.

Dear Maud: Yes, and he who laughs longest also laughs last.

ZEKE.

Fresh: "When do you expect to graduate?"

Senior: "Every year."

The wise do not bleat. Quality of thought does not contaminate with base aims.

Weather Forecast

Glacial ice floes will descend upon all Southern waters—Mississippi, Wold and toilet waters—during the next few days. Astrologer Tom Weiss admits this is somewhat erratic among the workings of the elements, but—he responds—it is made possible by the Byrd which soared over the North Pole recently and dropped a hot water bag on the Arctic waters. The almanac predicts such unusual proceedings to immediately force the ice to seek other climes to prevent being melted. And so the ice is coming South. All students—both varieties—are requested to hang out green lanterns each night for the next two weeks, that the icebergs might find the right neighborhood.

Asbestos Dormitory Recommended

"Woman will have her desires."

Of all true words of tongue or pen, these are the truest that have been.

Last Tuesday night at Clarksville Hall the lights went out.

Yea, the lights went out—just at the time a half dozen co-eds were in the midst of their preparations for a swimming party.

What was to be done? How could the shrill ones prepare for the conquest without illumination.

Aha! spoke a b l d coed! "Tis illumination we need is it? Illumination we shall have brave sisters."

Suiting the action to the words she proceeded to commit arson on the dump known as Clarksville Hall, and great was the illumination thereof—for a while. But lo! Two heretofore unsung heroes, Georgia Hodgson and Speedy Hall—advanced with a grim determination to thwart the drastic plans to which their cohort had resorted. With the determination of a lion at bay, these two immortal heroes did battle with the flames that threatened their domicile.

At last, almost overcome with exertion, they conquered the conflagration only to swoon in each other's arms.

Power Of Will

What is will? Is it an asset or a liability? The writer, after much study, concludes that "will" is something we all know but none can define. The world has reached the point where its inhabitants force "will" along one channel only; man's principal "will" today is to make money.

Many college men are handicapped with the idea that a degree is all they need to land a good job. In discovering the fallacy of their idea they grow discouraged; they fail to see the necessity of graduation. They see the shining star, the big job, of success from the bottom of the ladder, their present small job and say "aw, what's the use, it's too big a jump?"

My advice is not to worry about the big jump but take the next step, then the next, and so on. Learn to walk in business as the infant in early life, a step at a time. Do not be a victim of indecision, but set your goal high, then place mile posts along the way. As you reach each mile-post more zest for action will come to you and in the end you will pass the last mile post and there will be success.

Finally, what everyone may be doing, in whatever field you are employed, do what you do better than anybody else, and success is yours.

Good Old Dad

He may wear a last year's straw hat, his finger nails may need manicuring; his vest may hang a little loose, and his pants may bag at the knees; his face may show signs of a second day's growth, and the tin dinner bucket he carries may be full of dents and doughnuts, but don't you call him "the old man." He's your father.

For years he has been rushing around to get things together. Never once has he failed to do the right thing by you. He thinks you are the greatest boy on earth, bar none, even though you plaster your back, wear smart clothes, smoke cigarettes, and fail to bring home a cent. He is the man who won the love and life partnership of the greatest woman on earth, your mother.

He is "Some" man, and not "the old man." If you win as good a wife, as he did, you will have to go some, boy.—Flash.

$4,000,000 Gift For Northwestern

Northwestern received a gift of $4,000,000 recently from Mrs. Montgomery Ward. The money is for use of the medical and dental schools, to which Mrs. Ward made a similar donation a few years ago.

It is confidently that more friends of the cause will include our own Southwestern at Memphis in their will. It is also believed that right here in our own Mississippi Valley there are those who can and will aid in a large way with substantial gifts in this work of Christian education. Such gifts are investments in life with dividends in character.

Beirut College Gets $50,000

Far away, but we congratulate this Syrian Protestant College. The gift was contained in the will of Francis Phelps Dodge, son of the late Rev. D. Stuart Dodge, who was engaged in Presbyterian missionary work in the Near East for more than fifty years.

The ideal way to continue your good work after you are gone is to invest in some such worthy cause. Investments in Southwestern, the College of the Mississippi Valley at Memphis are attractive. Investigate.

Once upon a time, the story goes, there was a college that won fame for its mighty work. The students never studied, and they didn't know the meaning of duty. Theirs was to have a hot time. The cup of life was their beverage, classes were a sideline, work was a relic that had passed away sometime in the dim lost past. And the cause for all this was that there were no exams. Did you ever hear of such a thing? At any rate it is a fable, and is certainly a Fable for critics.

THE SAME

A bricklayer and his wife went up North for a holiday. As they were wandering about, a man came up to them and began in the usual officious manner:

"This is the famous Roman Wall, begun in A. D. 20."

The astonished couple turned and regarded the remnants of the wall. After a while the wife spoke out.

"A. D. 20!" said she. "That's the sort o' firm to work for. Joe."—Tit-Bits.

Turn About

"But we were only 15 minutes getting here!" expostulated the passenger.

"I don't give a hang about that," snarled the taxi driver. "The meter says we've come 20 miles. Now you fork over!"

"All right," assented the passenger, paying. "Now get ready to come with me for driving 80 miles an hour. I'm a speed cop."—American Legion Weekly.

LOTS OF 'EM

"You say he went broke on the stock market? The poor fish!"
"Yes, and likewise the poor sucker!"

The unfortunate man was looking for
A place in which to park.

Inside Help

Some one asked a famous critic:
"How did you ever manage to find the number of complimentary expressions you squandered on Blank's play?"

"Oh, I never could have done it alone," was the reply. "I got them from him."

What She Wanted

Customer—Have you any colanders?

Clerk—Yes, we have them in enamel. What size do you want?

Customer—I mean one with the months on it, like I had last year!—Good Hardware.

Just an Impression

"Did you get the number of the car that hit you?" asked the traffic cop.

"Look at my back, officer," replied the victim weakly. "I think you'll find the number stamped there."—American Legion Weekly.

Ever Thus!

"How did the collision occur?"
"A fast driver with the right of way and another fast driver who was sure nobody would be using the main thoroughfare."

Dere Bill:

I started not to rite to yu this week cause I almost lost my hart. You know that Tait shore is sum poet. He rites love lyrics in Bible class and fergits them. I thought He was learnin' em for me but found out sadly it wuz a mistake. But there must be somebody promptin' this burst of romance.

Bill they've got an educated turtle up here now. He's been to Spanish and Bible and no tellin what other classes. The pruffessers think it wuz spring fever but they don't know the hav of it.

Bill, you member that Jonnie Rollow wot used to have that little yaller Cynthia? Wal, he made another one what took eight weeks and ther he ran into that garage and broke the hole thing down. That shore oughta be a lesson to some of these coeds to stay outa Fords. They mite backfire.

I wish that Robert York wud quit talkin'. I don't know wot I'm tellin yu but of course if this is funny, the wit comes from him.

Who's Who and How Come They Is

John A. "Jack" Redhead, dignified member of the senior class, is one of the best all-round men Southwestern has ever produced.

During the present session "Jack" has officiated as president of Sigma Upsilon, national honorary literary fraternity.

It did not take two or three years to bring "Jack" out, for he commenced gathering honors early when he was chosen vice-president of the freshman class. He followed up his early start by capturing first prize in Freshman Greek.

Being a brilliant student, and possessing athletic ability as well, "Jack" was barely nosed out when he tried for the coveted Rhodes scholarship several months ago.

During his sophomore year, "Jack" was initiated into Sigma Upsilon, which he served as secretary-treasurer in his junior year, and president during his senior year. He is a member of Alpha Phi Epsilon, Alpha Theta Phi (scholarship), Shakespeare Club, "S" Club, Tennis Association, and Mississippi Club. In his second year he was made president of Stewart Literary Society. For four years he served on the Honor Council, being its vice-president last year.

During his junior year "Jack" was honored with the presidency of his class, was the efficient business manager of both the annual and Sou'wester, was voted the "Best All-round Man" and was one of the three outstanding men elected members of the Order of the Torch.

With all his honors "Jack" has had time for exercise, winning two letters in football and proving himself an able guard on the Lynx quintet of last season. He was a member of the tennis team last spring.

Being a candidate for the ministry, "Jack" will probably enter Union Seminary next year. The Sou'wester congratulates in advance the church which may be so fortunate as to receive his services.

Miss Polly Minor made her debut on Southwestern's campus in the autumn of '23. Rumor had it that Miss Minor had at some time in the past acquired the sobriquet of "Miss Sailor's Rest." Investigations led to the discovery that this co-ed was an immigrant from the historical port on the Cumberland River, which bears that name. Polly received her preparatory training at the Clarksville High School, and that school's loss has been our gain.

The outstanding feature of Polly's year as a freshman is the lasting service which she rendered to the social life of Southwestern, in being instrumental in the formation of that noble order, A. Pi O. We remember her in the year '23-24 as being a charter member of this fraternity, and as a member of the Alpha Theta Phi. Her dramatic ability is well known to all who witnessed the production of "Suppressed Desires" at the first of the present season.

In her sophomore year Polly was voted the singular honor of the "Most Popular Girl," and her popularity has not changed with time, for during the present session she also was elected as one of the most popular co-eds.

Polly has served as a very efficient member of the Honor Council. She has officiated as vice president of her own class as a junior, and the Women's Pan-Hellenic Council has had a very profitable year under her guidance as president.

The above list of honors speaks for itself. Polly is just one of those girls who has it in her to make friends and keep them; she is universally acclaimed a favorite; her pleasing manner, congenial nature and very attractive personality, together with a whole-hearted interest in Southwestern and a fine college spirit, lead us to feel ourselves fortunate that Polly will be back with us next year. Right here let us say that her success will be in the field she chooses.

Whenever anything good comes out of Mississippi we ought to take note of it. Now here's John Simmons, the man who has risen from the position of railway telephone operator to that of President of the Honor Council of Southwestern and Editor-in-Chief of this well-known publication, The Sou'wester.

If we measure a man by the things he is and has done, we have with us today the long boy from Long Beach. Two years ago he chipped off the First Year Greek prize, which is sufficient evidence that he has a good head on him. He also made the Stylus Club chapter of Sigma Upsilon, which is proof of literary interest and ability; he was secretary-treasurer for 1925-26, being also secretary of the Shakespeare Club for the same year.

In the opposite direction—and it takes a good man to go two ways at once—we find our hero manager-elect of the football team for one year a member of the scrub teams for football, basketball and baseball, and a good playing partner in the Tennis Association.

On the social side the victim of our admiration kept most of his movements secret, which would be a good example for others to follow. It is known that he knew some girls and that he has been to see them and was going to see others, but he was never caught holding down a radiator in the cloister. This shows his level-headedness.

When one searches for the quantitative evidence to explain why our editor-in-chief was always so busy, he finds, in addition to the above, membership in the Pan-Hellenic Council, 1925-1926; the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 1925-'26; Alpha Theta Phi (scholarship), and the Mississippi Club.

Why is it that certain hitherto respectable eds and co-eds have blossomed forth with fever blisters? The first to sport such an ornament was the Rev. Dick Taylor. Soon, however, Bob Flemister and Alvie Thompson also brought forth carefully and painfully mercurichromed blisters. Detectives were set on the trail and their report is that a freshie co-ed with the name of Moody has one, too.

For making fish bite there's nothing like a scarcity of bait.

There are just two philosophies of life: Do unto others and do others.

Gibberish Co-Ed's Trenchant Wit Makes Poor Papa Shirk His Bran

[This speech was delivered last Friday night at the Alpha Phi Epsilon banquet by one of the co-ed members.]

Poor Papa.

It was in the midst of a garden where it all started. There stood a tree which seemingly was good for food and a delight to the eyes. It held the apple which tempted the woman which the man ate, and destroyed the house that God built.

The eating of the apple was forbidden in the Garden of Eden. Eve broke the rule and it was better for Adam to learn good and evil and to fall than to remain an innocent and ignorant animal.

This was, oh, oh, so long ago, but strange to say, times have not changed. We often sigh and say, "O tempora, O mores!" But after all, it has been just the same since the world began. Man was crated first, then just because the other creature which God crated ran after Adam they called her Woman, or more significantly, Wo-man! Poor papa!!! He was born under an ill-fated star.

The next age was the age of cave men. That age is familiar to all you modern gentlemen, conspicuous because you practice it yourself: "Treat 'em rough, tell 'em nothing." Man strode out into the woods to kill a bear, to eat its flesh and sleep on its skin, but he found a better use for his knotted club. He saw her and he knocked her in the head and dragged her home. They called him hard-boiled! Poor papa!!!

As time passed on, for it doesn't even wait for man though you would undoubtedly think so to hear some of them talk, man began to explore new regions. He risked his life to prove the world was round, he gave the last drop of his blood to fight for life and his country. But it was the face of his woman that he saw as he gazed glassily toward heaven and breathed a sigh of regret. He died. Where did he go? We do not know. Poor papa!

In the days of Queen Elizabeth the men were chivalrous and polite; that is, if they were able like Sir Walter Raleigh. But I wonder if they really were. Poor papa got his nice red velvet coat all muddy, for he spread it over a puddle for a woman to tread upon. How condescending! Then passes a lapse of time for which I will not pause. Poor papa fought and bled, poor papa sought and fled and cried.

Lord Chesterfield with all his manners was the model for the men. He was the rule, but there are exceptions to all rules.

It was a man who wrote the poem to the ass and in a most complimentary fashion said, "I hail thee, brother!" How infinitely clever some poets are and what a good understanding they have of human nature.

Here you would say, "Let the dead past bury its dead. Speak, speak of the living present, heart within."

We shall now pass to the man of today. History repeats itself and so does man. All men are just alike, cut off the same piece of goods, but by a different pattern.

Would you care to hear about a typical man? Oh, I'm quite sure that you are dying to! Here goes!! As man is supposed to be so athletic I will endeavor to describe in such terms as befits an athlete. Beginning at his feet, let us say he is five feet up and then drop. From shoulder to forehead, "Ego"; from forehead up, blankety—blank—blank—blank.

Women's minds are always cleaner than men's because they change them oftener.

A good man nowadays is hard to find. You always get the other kind, and when you think that he is your pal, you look to find him hanging 'round some other gal, and then you rave and then you crave to see him lying in his grave; so if he is nice, take my advice. Leave 'em alone!

Minister (preaching): "The guilty flee when no man pursueth."

Little Tom: "Maybe, that's why sis' fellow left so suddenly last night."

"Nothing is just what it seems, old man."

"Thanks! I've often wondered if you were pretending."

"What kind of a girl do you think I am?"

"That's just what I'm trying to find out."

Mythology Bug: "Atlas picked up the world and put it on his shoulders."

Radio Bug: "Well, my father picked up England last night."

Doctor: "How did you get that splinter in your mouth?"
Newlywed: "My wife made a cottage pudding yesterday."

1: "What makes your ears so dirty?"
2: "The dirty jokes I hear in lab."

He: "How do you know Bill has studied Shakespeare?"
She: "He knows so many vile words."

Truth alone hurts.

Loew's State

For the week starting Monday, May 31, Loew's State offers a triple headline vaudeville bill, and a screen feature that is one of the outstanding comedies of the year.

Topping the stage presentations is a spectacular revue of songs and dances entitled "Masterpieces."

Milo? the question mark, the eccentric, the mysterious, the swell dresser is worth seeing—a surprise for you.

Maura Neilson and Joe Warden appear in "Who's to Blame."

"The American Prima Donna," Hazel Crosby, with Max Rich at the piano, offers a repertoire of semi-classical and popular songs and a piano number.

Alvin and Kenny, comedy sensational gymnasts, open the show.

The screen feature of the show will be Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Monte Carlo," a fascinating film of fashion's lure where gorgeous women, and dashing men play in a world of wealth. "Monte Carlo," cast is a brilliant one and includes Lew Cody, Gertrude Olmsted, Roy D'arcy, Karl Dane, Zasu Pitts and Trixie Friganza in the principal roles, with a big supporting cast.

Chi Deltas Elect

The Chi Delta Literary Society elected officers at a business meeting on Thursday afternoon. Miss Mary Margaret Tate was elected president. She succeeds Miss Irene Clardy, who is graduating. Miss Elizabeth Hart was chosen vice president; Miss Margaret Cobb, secretary; Miss Eleanor Beckham, treasurer, and Miss Eleanor Richmond, critic.

Frat Puffs

The Alumni Association of Kappa Sigma tendered a smoker at the University Club Friday night to Phi Chapter. Many enthusiastic alumni members were present. Lively, peppy talks were made by those present. Among the out-of-town visitors was Robert E. Craig, New York-New Orleans, who delivered a short speech on "A House for Phi Chapter."

Pan-Hellenic Tea

A delightful event of the year was the Woman's Pan-Hellenic tea given by the Pan-Hellenic representatives in the cloister Thursday afternoon. The guests were received by Miss Polly Minor, Chi Omega, president, assisted by the other members of the council: Misses Irene Clardy, of Chi Omega, Louise Orrell and Elizabeth Marshall, of Kappa Delta; Katherine Kelly and Polly Gilfillan, of Alpha Omicron Pi, and Iola Shepherd and Lucille Curtis, of Chi Alpha; Mrs. Charles L. Townsend, Dean of Women, presided over the punch bowl and the members of the sororities assisted in serving refreshment.

Literati Meet

The meeting of the Chi Delta Phi literary sorority was held Friday afternoon with Misses Marion Blalock and Frances Fisher at the home of Miss Fisher on Stonewall. Miss Virginia Hogg arranged the program for the afternoon. The life and works of Thomas Hardy were discussed. A review of "The Return of the Native," by Hardy was given by Miss Eleanor Richmond.

Kappa Sigs Entertain

Kappa Sigma fraternity entertained a number of the younger set of Memphis at the swimming party at the University Club last Wednesday night. After indulging in riotous aquatic sports the couples adjourned to Fortune's Tea Room, where light refreshments were served.

Praise Heard From Memphis Theater Patrons on Work of Students in Presenting "Importance of Being Earnest"

Memphis theater goers were in accord Thursday and Friday night as they lavished praise upon the Southwestern student actors who staged the play "The Importance of Being Earnest," and Oscar Wilde comedy. In evidence of the appreciation of Memphians full houses greeted the local histrionic artists on each presentation of the play. Advance sales on tickets reached a mark in advance of that hoped for. The ripping success is the culmination of six weeks of hard and consistent practice under the direction of Prof. Sam Monk. Both actors and director suffered much that the play might be a truly representative Southwestern production.

Presentation was under the auspices of the Southwestern Woman's Club. Of those playing prominent roles in the cast include Martha Ambrose, Katherine Lockwood, Catherine Underwood, Price A. Patton, William Meacham, William Fort, Moore Moore. Before the play started the college orchestra rendered several musical selections. And during acts they amused the crowd while scenes were being shifted. An interesting fact about the performance is that the settings were manufactured on the campus by Prof. M. L. MacQueen. Students acted as ushers to the spectators.

It was a thrilling story that McGregor had to tell. "I had abandoned all hope," he said. "As I sank for the third time my past life seemed to rise before me in a series of grim, realistic pictures." A murmur of sympathy rolled from the lips of the listening friends; but just as McGregor was preparing to resume, McTavish interrupted him sharply and hopefully. "And did you happen to notice," he asked, "a picture of me lending you a fiver in the autumn of 1919?"

Ancient Scot: "Me laddie, what would you do if I give ye ten pence for yer birthday?" Laddie: "Count it, mon."

"What a novel advertising scheme" Meachem remarked, helping himself to one of the blind man's pencils.

"When I was a small boy, I was left an orphan." "What did you do with it?"

"Does 'at smile mean you forgive me?" "Stay away, niggah, I'se just smilin' to rest mah face."

A cheat thinks every man cheats. At Rome do as the Romans do—be able to adjust yourself to conditions.

"And you say, Sweets, that you've like tennis since a little tot?" "Why even at the gentle age of two I was fond of raising a racket."

Prof: "Why weren't you in class Monday?" Stude: "I had an excuse, sir." Prof: "Yes, I've seen her, and a pretty poor excuse I calls it."

Loew's Palace

Movie fans and devotees of the cinema opera will have an opportunity to see their favorite screen star in a dual role this week at Loew's Palace Theater when Constance Talmadge appears in "Her Sister from Paris." This story provides Constance with a role showing her as the loving wife of an undemonstrative husband who is afflicted with fits of temperament. She undertakes to tame him and to educate him into manifesting his unquestioned love for her. To do so she impersonates her gay and somewhat wayward twin sister from Paris and the results are both disastrous and amusing.

Ronald Colman, who was recently seen here at this theater in "Stella Dallas," will play the leading male role.

For the stage attraction there will be the much heralded and widely discussed Atlantic City Beauty Contest winner, Fay Lanphier (Miss America) who will appear in a John Murray Anderson Public Revue, "Venus in Greenwich Village." This is Miss Lanphier's first appearance in Memphis since being acclaimed America's perfect woman and will give the ladies an opportunity to see this beautiful girl in the flesh. She is supported by a cast of eight attractive girls who could take honorable mention in any beauty contest. As an added attraction the management has engaged for the week, Miss Peggy Dunlap, local high school girl who recently won the Charleston contest conducted at the theater for the purpose of securing the best girl Charleston dancer to represent Memphis in the forthcoming Public production, "Charleston," that is soon to be produced in New York City. This will be the last opportunity to see Miss Dunlap before she reports for rehearsals in New York City, June 7.

Foolish Questions—Serious Answers

Q.—What is the difference between a bee-hive and a rotten potato?

A.—There is no difference. The bee-hive is a bee-holder, a beholder is a spectator, and a specked 'atur is a rotten potato.

Q.—Why is "kiss" spelled with two s's?

A.—Because it takes two to complete the spell.

Q.—When is a sailor not a sailor?

A.—When he's aboard.

Q.—When are eyes not eyes?

A.—When the wind makes them water.

A.—What is the difference between a soldier and a flapper?

A.—No difference; one faces the powder while the other powders the face.

Q.—If all the girls went to China, where would the men men go?

A.—To Peking.

Q.—Why are there no bewhiskered men in heaven?

A.—Because men get in by a close shave.

Q.—What most frequently becomes a woman?

A.—A girl.

Q.—What is the difference between a donkey and a postage stamp?

A.—You lick one with a stick, while you stick the other with a lick.

Q.—Why should a swain never make love in the country?

A.—Because the corn has ears, the potatoes have eyes and the beans talk.

Q.—When is a man where he is not?

A.—When he is beside himself.

Q.—What is worse than raining cats and dogs?

A.—Hailing street cars.

Q.—Why is a crow?

A.—Cause (caws).

Q.—What pins are used in soup?

A.—Terrapins.

First Angel: "How'd you get here?"

Second Angel: "Flu."

About the only way to insult a girl nowadays is to tell her she needs a haircut. (Or a shave?)

"Father, to what do you attribute your success?" "Hod wolk, me lad, hod wolk."

Pantages Presents

Johnny Hines declares that audiences want thrills with laughs as their screen entertainment and in his latest picture, "The Live Wire," which will be at Pantages week of May 31, there will be a circus thrown in.

In addition to the great screen comedy there will be six vaudeville acts headed by Guy Voyer and Company in "The Bridal Whirl," a musical comedy offering.

Loring Smith and Natalie Sawyer in "Sunkist Satire;" Macon and Hogue, "Just Home Folks;" Gaby Duval, Italian Prima Donna, Chandon Trio, two pretty girls and an athletic young man and Ishikawa Japs.

The entire bill for the week is one of the strongest offered in many weeks.
