RELIGIOUS SERVICE WILL OPEN CELEBRATION

Dode And "Chi" Will Top Gridders Next Fall

TEAM WILL HAVE TWO LEADERS ON THE GRID FIELD

Farnsworth First Chosen As Captain

BUT OFFERS MOTION

That "Chi" Share Honor As Alternate

Dode Farnsworth and Henry "Chi" Waring will lead the Southwestern football team next fall as a result of an election held last Friday to elect a successor to Frank "Dago" Trelawey, captain-elect for 1928, who quit school recently.

The election was close, Farnsworth winning out by one vote. Dode then proceeded to move that, as it was his and "Chi's" last year, that alternate captains be elected. The motion was carried.

BOTH GOOD ATHLETES

Both the new captains were aces for their respective schools in their prep days. Dode first lugged the pigskin for Okmulgee High, out in Oklahoma. He also was on the basketball and track teams. While playing for Okmulgee, Dode was picked on the All-State teams both in football and basketball. He also set a state record in the 100 yard dash for high schools by running the century in 9.9 seconds. This is still the record for high schools in Oklahoma. Dode then moved to Robinson, Ill., where he played on the same teams for the high school there. At Robinson Dode was picked as the best all-around athlete in Southern Illinois. He also made the All-Wabash Valley football and basketball teams, and captained the basketball team. His collegiate record at Southwestern is familiar to all students. He is a member of the A. T. O. fraternity.

"Chi" Waring made his first impression in athletics at Morton High School, in Cicero, a suburb of Chicago. He played on the lightweight football team at end, and forward on the heavyweight basketball team. He was given honorable mention in the Suburban league while a member of Morton's famous team. When "Chi" moved to Memphis, he played forward for Central High, and was picked for the All-Memphis in basketball. "Chi" is an S. A. E.

THREE YEARS AS LYNX

Both Dode and "Chi" have played three years on the Lynx football team, and have distinguished themselves in other branches of athletics as well.

K. S. FRATERNITY HOLDS CONCLAVE

Two-Day Session Will Be Held at Gayoso

Members of Kappa Sigma fraternity, Province IX, will open a two-day convocation Friday morning at Hotel Gayoso.

Delegates from Kappa Sigma chapters at Sewanee, University of Tennessee, Vanderbilt and the University of Kentucky will attend. Ole Miss and Millgaps will send representatives to the gathering of Greek-letter men.

Friday morning and afternoon will be taken up with business sessions. A Bowery party—the real kind—will be held Friday night in the Germania Hall, Third and Jefferson. The Saturday morning and afternoon sessions will be climaxed with a banquet that night at the Memphis Country Club.

The new chapter lodge on the campus will not be completed before the visiting Kappa Sigs arrive, but will be formally dedicated during the two-day session.

Sorority Girls Usher At Little Theater

Members of the four Southwestern sororities have been chosen to serve as ushers at the Little Theatre for the production of "Tut Tombs, Ltd.," opening at the stable playhouse last Monday night. In the transformed lobby which has been decorated to represent a portion of ancient Egypt by Mrs. William Neely Mallory, four Egyptian hand maidens will nightly proffer cigarettes and coffee to those who plan to attend the presentation. Opening night members of the Chi Omega sorority will serve. Reading from left to right, they include, top: Misses Mary Bethany, Sivley and Amalie Fair; bottom, Misses Lina Hughes and Margaret Layne. Tuesday night members of the Chi Omega will again don Egyptian costumes to greet the audience. Misses Juanita Montroy, Louise Ralston, Rosa May Clark and Louise Head will appear as ushers. Members of the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority will serve Tuesday and Wednesday nights, including Misses Catherine Underwood, Elizabeth Laughlin, Louise Harwood, Gwyn Cook, Harriet Shepherd, Pauline Barton, Louise Russell and Charlotte Bruce. Friday and Saturday will be Kappa Delta sorority nights, and those serving will be Misses Virginia Webb, Mary Belle Thomason, Elizabeth Ferrell, Virginia Rice, Mary Elizabeth Murray, Virginia Hogg, Addie Louise Murray and Mary Hogg. Saturday matinee two members of the Chi Alpha group will serve. They are Misses Alice Patrick and Sara Moore.

Hughes and Bruce Will Be "Royalty"

Billy Hughes, junior, athlete and winner of the title of handsomest man in the student body, won a sweeping victory over all opposites for the honor of being "king" at the four-day celebration to be held next week.

Miss Charlotte Bruce, freshette, carried the vast majority of votes and will reign with H. R. H. Hughes as "queen." The "royalty" will lead the grand march at the masquerade function in the college gym next Wednesday night.

Barnyard Party

Barnyard life, with the collegiate interpretation, was given at the Chickasaw Country Club last Friday night by the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Overalls and straw hats were in vogue, and a delightful time was had by the Greeks and their lady friends and by the other guests from the student body.

Hold Open House

Chi Omega sorority held open house Tuesday night in the log-cabin chapter house.

Hull Chosen For Nashville Finals

Maurice Hull will represent Southwestern at the finals in the oratory contest being sponsored by the W. C. T. U. on the subject of "Prohibition," which will be held in Nashville during Easter Week.

Hull was chosen as the best of the five contestants who entered and tried out in preliminaries in Hardie chapel Tuesday afternoon.

The boys and girls are collaborating to make the service the most impressive religious meeting ever given by the student body.

The subject will be, Resolved, That Women Should Stay Out of Politics. Charles Rond III and Freshman Warner Beard will represent the male specie on the affirmative side, and Barbara Bates and Margaret Williams will espouse the cause from the negative viewpoint.

The big event on the third day of the student celebration will be the Y. M. C. A. gridiron dinner in Neely Memorial Dining Hall at 6:30 p. m. The inner lives of students and faculty will be exposed by the toastmaster and speakers. Billy Flowers will make a few cryptic remarks—in unveiled terms—of affairs as they are on the campus. Abe Fortas and his orchestra will render several musical numbers, followed by the boys' quartette.

MEET MILLIKEN NINE

The first baseball game of the season will be played on Wednesday afternoon between the Milliken College nine and the Lynx pastimers on the campus diamond at 3 o'clock.

President Diehl On Association Program

President Charles E. Diehl and Mrs. C. L. Townsend will participate on the program of the Ninth annual meeting of the Tennessee College Association, which will be held at Vanderbilt on April 4 and 5.

Dr. Diehl will speak on the "Quality Requirements for Graduation." Mrs. Townsend will read a paper on "Lucretius."

PLUMB DUMB

Ayers Accredited With Worst Trick Yet

Some people are born dumb, others have dumbness thrust upon them, and some acquire it. Harmon Ayers, Southwestern junior, returned last fall to complete his college education, after a lapse of five years during which time he rose to the tellership in a large Mississippi bank.

When attending the old S. P. U. in Clarksville in 1921, Ayers took and passed a year of chemistry—one year being required for graduation.

When arranging his schedule last fall he decided to work off his science requirement for graduation, and enrolled in chemistry again. He was informed the other day by the registrar that he would not be given credit for his present year of chemistry because he had already passed one year of chemistry in Clarksville.

Harmon remembered completing the year of chemistry when reminded of it. Incidentally, chemistry has been his hardest subject this year.

PADLOCK FRAT HOUSE
FORT COLLINS, COLO.—For the second time this semester, scarlet fever broke out on the Colorado Agricultural College campus here today, resulting in the quarantine of 17 members of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Philip Ruebel, freshman from Brighton, is the victim. He was taken to the Larimer County Detention Hospital this afternoon.

The remaining group will be confined for one week unless further outbreaks occur.

Only three weeks ago 13 members of the Kappa Delta sorority were released from a two weeks' quarantine.

STRICTLY COLLEGIAN

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—According to the dictionary the word "gripe" means "to lay hold on; to seize; to grasp" but according to the college vocabulary it means something entirely different.

Its collegiate meaning is hard to define. You hear one say I'm just griped to death, meaning bored or peeved. You hear the expression, "She's always griping around," meaning complaining and finding fault. And then someone comes along and says, "He sure gripes me," meaning disgusts and annoys.

It really is a very versatile word. It can apply to classes, professors, picture shows, dates and a large number of other things. And, though it is not pleasant sounding to the ear it is certainly expressive and in constant use.

COMPILES DICTIONARY

MILWAUKEE, WIS. — (IP)—Dr. George E. Vander Beke, of the department of education at Marquette university, is compiling a new French word catalogue, which will be the largest ever published. The largest one to date contains 400,000 words; the new one will contain 1,250,000 words. In the compilation of the book, 96 different texts are used.

JUST CANDY THIEVES

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY—College students aren't honest. That is if the fact that the candy stands in the halls of Northwestern operated on the honor system, is over $600 short since the opening of college, is any indication. Over 1,000 bars of candy are sold each day. Everything from street car slugs to German marks are used to "pay" for the candy.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

CORNELL—The average cost of one year in Cornell University is $1,410 according to a study made by university authorities.

The fraternity man spends an average of $1,420 a year and the non-fraternity man spends on an average of $1,398.63. A member of a sorority spends on an average of $1,450, non-sorority girls spend $1,250.

SUN HALO AT PURDUE

LAFAYETTE, IND.—(IP)—Purdue university students were witnesses to a startling natural phenomenon here recently, when several large white circles appeared in an almost cloudless but misty sky. One of the circles was much larger than the others, and seemingly covered the greater part of the visible heavens.

There were smaller but similar circles which crossed and recrossed the large one, and another, rainbow hued, surrounded the sun. All the other circles were of snow white, and were like a bright light.

According to authorities at the university, the phenomenon was a sun halo, something very rarely seen in this latitude, although common near the Arctic circle.

The sun halo is defined as follows: "A circle of light, either white or prismatically colored, appearing to surround a luminous body, and resulting from the reflection or refraction, or both, of light. The term is applied specifically to circles around the sun or moon, caused by the presence of ice particles in the upper atmosphere, as distinguished from the coronae, which are caused by diffraction of fog or mist."

SYMPATHY WALKOUT

KINGSTON, ONT.—(IP)—All the men students of Queen's University here have gone out on strike, according to late reports, because of the suspension of three medical students from the University. The reports did not state the reason for the suspension of the medics.

HARVARD CHAGRINED

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—(IP)—The renowned forensic abilities of Harvard undergraduates was given a distinct shock recently when a debate team from Carleton college came out of the West and won an audience decision in a verbal scrap with a Harvard team.

There Will Be No Strike This Easter!

The student body will not strike this Easter! No explanation need go along with this frank statement, but the fact is a strike this year is one of those strictly forbidden fruits.

Last year the student body pulled a very enjoyable coup while it lasted. But the setback was most disappointing. In protection to those who are extremely weak in the high marks, like ourselves, it is imperative that we add up every digit that we can accumulate.

The wages of our sin last year was to have ten points taken from the grading period average to cover the cuts. Was that nice? No, but it was just. It was the least the faculty could do in retaliation, in a scholarly and high-class manner; if we had been grammar school kids we would have been spanked; if high school chaps we would have had to stay after school for so long and memorize so much of this boring classical literature; but as college men—we got our medicine.

No, we will not strike because we don't want to. Have you ever seen frog legs jumping about in a skillet without a top on it? Well, we were as active last year as those frog legs, in fact, we jumped plumb out of the skillet into the fire. The burn still stings. Foolish, quite foolish, to rehash the old wound.

Remember the Alamo and the new cut system!

A Fine Example Of Sportsmanship

The highest code of athletics has as its first rule sportsmanship. The best athletes are not always the most flashy players, but the ones who have this spirit inculcated in their very fiber—this mark of a gentleman.

To take advantage of anyone is unsportsmanlike, be it in athletics or in argument, in love or in war. Situations are always present in which one may gain a march over another thru mean tactics or manipulations. But one who seeks and profits by such a situation to the woe of another is no gentleman or sport.

One of the finest marks of sportsmanship that we have ever heard of was the recent act of Dode Farnsworth, after he was chosen football captain for next year with a majority of but one vote, in moving that his competitor, "Chi" Waring, be made alternate captain, for the reason that both men would terminate their four years of athletic endeavor with the Lynx Cats next year.

His motion was carried, and we have two capable grid helmets for next year. The fact is further amplified because each are members of different fraternities, and fraternity strife is supposed to be the popular pastime of modern collegians.

Both men have fought and played alongside the other, working together to carry a football to a certain line, protecting one while the other advances—team work!

There are but four football captains during a man's hibernation in college. To be chosen leader for one year is quite an honor and carries with it much responsibility. The eventual captain must necessarily be a man of initiative and ability. Both men are able qualified, and they will continue to work together in their fun to attain that great goal of sportsmanship and fair play—good, clean, honest play, the greatest lesson which sport can give.

Regret

If you play with the hearts of women—
Be they old or merely maids,
Be sure, my son, you will regret
As certain as spades are spades.

You've laughed and joked with other boys;
At the way you've strung them along,
Never considering the pain you've caused,
Nor thinking you've done any wrong.

But wait! Some day you will really love,
Then you will begin to pay,
For the hearts you have broken will give you no rest
In your dreams, your work, or your play.

You will see their faces as you talked to them,
And the light that comes in their eyes
As you spoke of love and other things,
But, God! How you'll hate those lies.

For the day you find yourself in love
With a girl so wondrously fair,
You'll think of the many girls you've kissed
And begin to doubt if she's square.

As you kiss the lips of the girl you love,
As you leave her at the door,
You'll wonder in spite of all you can do,
Has she been kissed that way before?

And the things she does in innocence
Will fill your heart with doubt,
And the moments she spends away from you,
Will tear your heart-strings out.

You'll never think she is doing right
Tho' she tries and tries her best,
And as you think of the many girls you've kissed,
And the reason that this is true,
What you can do to the other man's girl,
The other man can do to your girl.

Prof. Davis—What did you learn from the World War?
Freshman Elder—Why we use pistols to start our track teams.

Dr. Strickler—How do you like Beethoven's works?
Earl McGee—I don't know, what kind of a factory is it?

Hear the sad news about Marguerite?
No, what was it?
She swallowed her pride and died of acute indigestion.

Motorcycle Cop—Hey, there, didn't you hear me tell you to stop?
Mitchiner—Yes, but your voice was so girlish.

Prof. Davis—Give us your idea of a political party.
Freshette—Oh, my, Prof. Davis, I never went on one.

I'm The Ginkette

I'm the ginkette that is always raring about the dates I have. I go around telling everybody about them and I love to make the other girls jealous. I know I'm popular and have more dates than anyone else, and I want the world to know it. I'm dated up for the next six weeks, so if you want to come to see me you had better hurry and file your application. I guess no one is interested in me and how much I "step out," but I'm going to keep on boosting myself and exhibiting my date list. "Listen, Robert Henry, I simply can't give you a date until May 15."

Education Strives For Quantity First

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—(IP)—"The situation of education is little better than chaotic, and there is a lack of a coherent system of schools in this country," declared Professor H. W. Holmes, Dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education to a Harvard Crimson reporter recently.

"Education suffers in America from a confusion of purposes," he said. "Justified a hundred-fold in our faith in schooling as an instrument of democracy, we have cared more for the spread of education than for its fitness for specific ends. We have been interested in quantity rather than quality."

Lucy—"Can you tell me what love is?"
Warner—"I would define it this way—when your dancing partner treats on your foot, and instead of hurting it thrills you—that's love."

WHO'S WHO IN SENIOR CLASS

Charles Sedberry Liles

One of Mississippi's sons who is a member of the present graduating class is Charles Sedberry Liles. Charles was born the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Liles, of Forest, Miss., on September 3, 1906. He attended Forest High School for one year and then went to Greenville Military Academy.

After his graduation from that institute of learning he entered Southwestern, from which institution he will graduate this June.

Tau Delta Gamma fraternity has the name of Charles Liles on its roll as one of the charter members of this newly formed Greek organization. He is the representative to the Pan-Hellenic Council from his fraternity. He was a member of the Glee club of 1924-25, and was also in the orchestra during this year.

After his graduation this June, Charles intends to study medicine.

PAL CAST PICKED TO MAKE TRIP TO CHICAGO FOR DRAMATIC MEET

Haden, Roach, Rond, Allen Will Represent the School Against Eight Rival Casts

A Southwestern dramatic cast composed of Allen Haden, Anne Roach, Charles Rond III, and Mary Allen will journey to Chicago to compete at Northwestern University on April 19, 20 and 21 to enter in the Cumnock Cup contest for the best presentation of a one-act play.

There are nine large institutions entered in the contest. They are from Butler College, University of North Dakota, Arkansas College, Carleton College, Evansville College, University of Illinois, Illinois College, Berea College, and Southwestern.

"The Giant's Stair" will be the play upon which Southwestern hopes to win the coveted dramatic cup. Prof. Ernest Haden, faculty coach; Price A. Patton, student coach, Ramsey Russell, electrician, will accompany the cast to Chicago. Miss Ethel Hutkin, formerly a student here, but attending Northwestern this year, will assist her former classmates in their efforts at Chicago.

The casts will present their plays at least twice, and the winning team will be picked by a process of elimination.

INQUISITIVE

The inquiring reporter will ask five students or faculty members each week, picked at random, their opinions of important questions of campus talk.

Question: Do you believe in tallying freshmen?

(Asked of freshmen)

John Culberson: Some freshmen need to be tallied, but I do not believe in tallying good freshmen just on general principles. Personally, I don't like to be tallied, only when I do something to get tallied for.

Percy Sink: Oh, yeah; its O. K. with me if women are not the cause for it. I don't mind "Sex-Appeal" tallying me.

Malcolm Gibbons: Of course a few "Praise be to Allah, tallying," or, in other words, tallying freshmen for being horsey is all right, but as for calling upon freshmen at any time of the night by outsiders causes too much pain in sitting down. Tallying by fraternity brothers is all right.

Neal Sims: I'd rather take another tally than give my opinion of this painful process of tallying * * *—and I got it.

Charles McBride: Tallying of freshmen is a necessity at all schools. However, I think it better to have it done by fraternity brothers.

ATHLETES RANK WITH SCHOLARS

Survey Show Athletes Have Brains, Also

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(By N. S. Service)—What of the college braynman? Must he forswear forever any relationship to the braynman? Or may he defy his professors and less athletic classmates, ally himself with his vociferous alumni supporters, and chant: "I am the salt of the educational earth?"

The Carnegie Foundation's report, prepared by Dr. Howard J. Savage, which was expected to settle the mooted relationship between athletics and scholarship, has been issued after a year of preparation.

"With respect to the class of 1925 at Columbia College, those members who participated in sport and those who did not appear to be of about the same intelligence. On the basis of course grades, however, the athletes in their studies fell below the non-athletes.

"In spite of the fact that athletes tended to remain longer in college, a smaller proportion received degrees, and a much greater number of athletes incurred probation. The athletes tended to carry light programs. Both athletes and non-athletes elected easy course more frequently than hard, and in them received higher grades than in the courses that are demonstrable statistically as more difficult. Finally, the grades of athletes show a stronger tendency to gravitate toward the passing line than the grades of non-athletes, and athletes received on the whole more marks of C- or C than their classmates.

"Altho the athletes and the non-athletes may be regarded as practically on the same level of intelligence, the non-athletes averaged C— in their course grades, whereas the athlete averaged C.

EMINENT MR. POS DOING WONDERS WITH PASTIMERS

Worries Dissipate As Lads Show Class With the Willow Stick

The eminent Mr. Pos Elam, baseball coach of the Lynx, has been taking advantage of the warm and balmy breezes of spring to develop the baseball team which he hopes will prance about this spring and rake in enough flies and bound out enough hits to make a successful season.

Spring is an optimistic season and the baseball outlook while far from being a vision of home runs and rosy hopes, looks much better at present than it did a month ago.

The infield, that caused several wrinkles on Mr. Elam's brow, and was apparently going to consist of a first baseman and three other animated uniforms, has come around surprisingly well. Mr. "Chained Lightning" Garrott has taken over third base and, altho he is a bit slow, can field good and has shown signs of a good hitting eye. Claude Bowen has also taken over shortstop and has about convinced the early season critics that he is the man for the job. On second base, Harmon Ayers and Chas. Terry, the latter a reformed first baseman, are putting up a fight for the position. Billy Hughes, the only veteran infielder will again play first base. Mr. Hughes is also figured as being used as a hurler at odd moments, and, as he is a capable ash wielder, should be one of the mainstays of the team.

CLOUTING OUTFIELD

The outfield boasts of a trio of hide pounders, together with the ability for chasing elusive fly balls. Mr. Arthur Duli and Ora Johnson, for the past three seasons, performers in the wide open spaces, are back and look good, while Crawford McGivaren, who has battled his way into a regular position, is holding down the third place in the garden. Joe Davis, long one of the prominent fly chasers, is not expected to play on account of business interests.

Clarence Emmett Smythe, better known as "Buster," will hide his face in the catcher's mask again this spring. Buster can catch with the best of them and also is able to bust a baseball.

"EDNA" LOOKS GOOD

Oscar Hurt and the well known "Lefty" Garrott, of facial beauty, are back in the fold and will carry the main burden of the hurling duty. Both fling a mean baseball and will ascend the mound for the third successive year for the Lynx. Besides these, "Chicago" Waring, the basketball ace, is being developed as a baseball tosser, and has shown up well in early season workouts. He is also expected to take a turn occasionally in the pitcher's box.

Mr. Elam is expecting a fast club and hopes to have a lineup of hitters in the field. Last year the Lynx were the hitless wonders and five hits in one game was considered a batting spree. It is hoped this sad condition will be eliminated, altho the Lynx won games last year, the players moped a great deal trying to add up one hit in four games for a .300 percentage.

SAXOPHONE TUNES LED ORPHEUS INTO TORMENT OF HADES WHERE HE STUCK

BY VERN BAUMGARTEN

Music was not a lost art among the old Greeks, and of all the slide trombone players, trap drummers, piano pounders and cornet tooters, young Orpheus led the lot. Orpheus was a young Greek whose old man had given him a saxophone when he was knee high to a mosquito. The kid had roused the whole neighborhood with his early effort, but finally mastered the instrument and became known as "the crying, crooning saxophone player of Greece." He toured vaudeville with Keith's and the Orpheum circuits, made records for the Greek Edison recorders and in general knocked the world dead with the jazzy, haunting strains he could coax out of his trusty.

FALLS FOR EURYDICE

Orpheus, like other young men, fell badly in love with a young flapper named Eurydice, a warm little trick he ran into on one of his vaudeville tours. She did some fancy singing and shook a wicked limb with a revue, and Orpheus went dippy over her. He took her out to suppers, dances and what would you and in a short time they agreed to step out down the old church aisle arm in arm and pronounce the fateful words. Then the two of them set out on a honeymoon, with Orpheus enchanting the fair Eurydice with his old "sax." However, while staying on an island Eurydice stepped on a snake that bit her. She immediately dragged out her flask and took a good swig of corn to kill the effect, but the corn was worse than the snake bite and she kicked the bucket.

It is not speaking well of Eurydice when the old histories state that she passed on to the lower regions, but sad as it is to relate, she did. Orpheus was wild, and finally made up his mind that he would try to resurrect her, and so he set off to visit the devil himself. The devil was feeling kind of downcast, as there was not much in his joint to provide amusement for anybody. Orpheus cut loose on his "sax" and the first thing he noticed was the devil was keeping time and all the imps were dancing around having a good time and forgetting to toss coal on the fires.

HELL GREW CHILLY

Hell grew pretty cold, altho there is no record of it freezing over. The devil saw that his place was losing prestige, so he told Orpheus to take whatever he wanted and beat it. Orpheus grabbed Eurydice and aired out. As long as he played his saxophone he was all right, as everybody listened, but when he saw Eurydice he dropped the saxophone in order to kiss her. When the music stopped the devil saw his mistake and, grabbing up the saxophone, ordered his imps to send Eurydice back to her roasting and to start another fire for Orpheus while he set to work to try and learn to play a "sax" himself.

Moral—Woe and women are one.

SPEAKING OF ATHLETICS

By Bud Foote

According to the Babe's trainer, Ruth has lost 10 years in the past two years. At this rate in 1930 they will be sending the Babe to Peoria for further seasoning.

At last the two Pi. K. A. twins have made the team. Big Mac and T. M. have subbed around for two years, but this year will find "Mac" perched in right field and Garrott on third base.

Coach Elam announces that the election for baseball captaincy will be held after the first game with Milliken, from Decatur, Ill., April 4th. The captaincy should go to a senior, one that is eligible in point of service, and in worth to the team. The worst thing that can happen to a team is to let fraternity and friendship interfere with an election.

The idea of having alternate captains in football will be inaugurated at Southwestern next fall. Dago Trelawney was elected captain but the big fullback decided to buck the business world instead of college lines. At the election for Dago's successor, Dode Farnsworth was chosen by a single vote surplus. With the captaincy his, he got up and offered to share it with his rival, "Chi" Waring. This new arrangement will let each captain the team on alternate Saturdays. Farnsworth showed the finest of sportsmanship by his action.

Joe Davis is a truly versatile athlete. Besides making four letters in football, baseball, and basketball, and captaining all three sports during one season, he is a golfer of note. Last week, in an 18-hole match with Dr. Kelso, he was nosed out by one stroke. This is no mean accomplishment, as Dr. Kelso is recognized as the best golfer in Southwestern, including both students and faculty.

George Hightower, Russell Brigrance, and Harry Walton are three star freshman athletes. In all three sports they have played prominent parts on the freshman team. Next year several varsity men will have to hustle or relinquish jobs to these youngsters.

BOYS AND GIRLS ARGUE POLITICS

Women Should Stay Out of Politics—Question

Women have the right to enter politics, contend Southwestern co-eds. They do not, contend the boys.

As a result a picked team of boys and girls will stage a debate in Hardie Chapel next Monday night at 8 o'clock on the subject, "Resolved, That Women Should Stay out of Politics."

The co-ed team will be composed of Barbara Bates and Margaret Williamson, and will uphold the negative side. The boys have chosen two of their strongest debaters in Charles Rond III and Freshman Warner Beard to uphold the affirmative.

The co-ed team was chosen at try-outs held Monday afternoon. Prof. A. T. Johnson, faculty coach, selected them.

FRESHMAN NINE SHOWS REGULAR VARSITY CLASS

Elect Varsity Captain After First Milliken Game, April 4

Southwestern Bobcats, freshman baseball team, have prospects of a winning season this spring. They recently opened spring practice and already are showing class and have given the Lynx varsity a couple of hard battles in practice games.

The freshman team has no games scheduled but is eager to meet high school or other college freshmen nines. It is expected several games will be arranged with local prep school teams.

STRONG INFIELD

Wes Adams, who is helping coach the Bobcats, has developed a fast infield with John Porter at first, Russell Brigrance at second, Jimmy Luster at short and "Brick" Viers on third.

The outfield is composed of Harry Walton, George Hightower and "Curly" Calhoun. Calhoun and Hightower are expected to take their turns on the pitchers' mound. Lamar Pittman will do the work back of the plate.

The freshmen have a capable set of reserves in W. H. Alexander, Joe Decker, Thomas King and Norman Thornton.

ELAM WITH VARSITY

While the Bobcats have been rounding into shape. Coach Pos Elam has been developing the varsity squad.

Billy Hughes is back at his old position at first. Harmon Ayers, who played with the Lynx when the school was situated at Clarksville, Tenn., looks good at second. Claude Bowen has cinched short, and T. M. Garrott is making a strong bid for third.

The outfield will be Ora Johnson, Arthur Dulin and Crawford McGivaren. Joe Davis, a veteran player, will be unable to play, as he works in the afternoon.

CONCERNING SLABMEN

We believe that thinking people should ponder these truths.

Public Utilities render services that are essential to modern living standards.

These services directly contribute to the convenience and comfort of people hourly each day. They have raised living standards, brought us up to a new plane of material existence; and are, in fact, the agencies by which modern living standards are maintained.

In addition to their contribution to the convenience and comfort of people so constantly, utilities are economic factors of important worth to their communities—stimulating channels of trade and business activities with their large pay-rolls and immense purchases of supplies, as well as being large tax-payers helping to defray expenses of government.

These are facts that educated people should understand.
