History of Six Past MVPA Conventions Reveals Consistent Growth

Records Show Expansion And Improvement During Six-Year Period

The first annual Mississippi Valley Press Convention was held at Southwestern in Memphis on March 2-3, 1934. The idea of having such a convention was originated by Prof. A. S. McIlwaine, associate professor of English. Conducted under the sponsorship of the Press Club and directed by Clark Porteous, editor of the Sou'wester, and Prof. McIlwaine, the first convention was a great success. Fifty-three delegates were present representing twenty-two high schools in Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Paul Pierce, editor of the Greenville, Miss., "Pica," was elected president of the association; Mary Maxwell Lynch of Pine Bluff, Ark., was chosen vice-president, and Felder Heflin of Memphis, secretary-treasurer. "The Pine Cone," Pine Bluff, Ark., publication received the first prize donated by the Memphis Commercial Appeal for journalistic excellence, while "The Grizzly" of Fort Smith, Ark., "The Pica" of Greenville, Miss., and "The Tiger" of Little Rock, Ark., were awarded second, third and fourth prizes respectively. David Bloom of the Commercial Appeal sports staff, Editor E. J. Meeman and Luther Southworth of the Memphis Press-Scimitar, were featured speakers.

In the second year of its existence, the convention was held on March 29-30, with Jimmie Meadow, editor of the Sou'wester that year, and Prof. C. G. Siefkin in charge of the meeting. Prof. McIlwaine was then working on his Ph.D. degree at the University of Chicago. The attendance nearly doubled with one hundred editors and staff-members present. Andrew Meyers, editor of the Memphis Tech High "Yellow Jacket," and later a Southwestern track star, was elected president. Josephine Abbott of the New Albany, Miss., "Maroon and White," and Joe Whittlesey of the Knoxville, Tenn., "Blue and White," were chosen vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

In the Class A (regular newspaper) division, the "Pica" of Greenville, Miss., won first place, with the Memphis Tech High "Yellow Jacket," the Pine Bluff "Pine Cone," and the "Grizzly" of Fort Smith placing second, third and fourth. The New Albany, Miss., "Maroon and White" was awarded first place in the Mimeograph and Supplement Division contest. Other winners in this group were the "Hi-Life" of Tupelo, Miss., second; "The Rambler" of Ramer, Tenn., third; and "The Optic" of Oxford, Miss., fourth. The winner of the News Story Contest was Robert Ramsey of Jonesboro, Ark.

The third Mississippi Valley Press Association Convention was held on May 2-3, 1936, under the supervision of Thomas Fuller, editor of the Sou'wester, and Prof. C. G. Siefkin, with 63 delegates from 13 high schools publications attending. Ted Northington of the Commercial Appeal and Clark Porteous of the Press-Scimitar and former Sou'wester editor, were featured speakers. The highlight of the convention was an open forum led by

The program for the Mississippi Valley Press Association which meets on the Southwestern campus beginning this morning and continuing through tomorrow afternoon includes talks by five men and two women, all experienced in newspaper work in Memphis. There will also be open forums on specific student newspaper problems and judging of the various high school newspapers. Three members of the Memphis Press-Scimitar staff will speak this afternoon. ### The Student Says

QUESTION

Do you think the number of class cuts should be limited?

ANSWERS

Pat Davis, junior, "Well, I think unlimited class cuts are a fine thing. However, for a while they would be like a new toy here at Southwestern. After they have become a tradition unlimited cuts are used sensibly. I do believe cuts should be unlimited for those students who maintain a B average."

Beverly McFall, freshman: "No, I don't. I believe that if students knew the responsibility was with them they would be even more conscientious than they are now."

Cecilia Hill, freshman: "Oh, golly. Well, yes. What I mean is, a student in college would know that he couldn't pass without going to class, and if one is earnest enough to make the grades without attending every class, that is his good luck."

Henry Craft, freshman: "Yes, otherwise the classes here would be very much smaller. Here at Southwestern the students aren't serious enough and desirous enough of learning for such a system of unlimited cuts to work. No one would go to classes on the days there were tests."

Comment by the Editor

Concerning The Press Conference

Today sees the beginning of the seventh annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Press Association. The convention held seven years ago with fifty-three delegates present has grown rapidly, and last year was attended by more than three hundred representatives of Southern high schools. It is still a privilege and a pleasure to the college and to the Sou'wester staff to entertain these high school editors and delegates. These conventions serve a variety of purposes. For one thing, they enable high school papers to send representatives so that they may meet other workers in this field, exchange ideas, discuss problems common to all newspapers, and in general learn more about their jobs so that they can do them better when they return. In addition to this meeting of fellow editors, the delegates are enabled to hear experienced newspaper men whose maturity and years of work qualify them to speak with more authority on matters of journalistic interest and concern. And finally, through the entertainment provided, everyone present enjoys a good time.

The actual planning of the convention is the work of Professor McIlwaine and the Publications Board. Therefore, the student body is not able to help in the actual work. However, they can help in a very real way. For since the convention is held here on the campus, members of the student body may properly be considered hosts to the visiting students. Past years show that a very large factor in the success of the conventions and the pleasure which the delegates enjoyed has been the friendliness and cooperative spirit of the members of the student body. Many former delegates to these conventions have been persuaded to come to Southwestern because of the attitude of the students. So it is unnecessary for us to ask the students to be courteous and helpful to these delegates. We know they will remember who our guests are, and will contribute to the success of the convention by their conduct.

Finally, let us extend the heartiest of welcomes to the delegates on behalf of the Sou'wester, adding that we hope your stay in Memphis and at Southwestern will be a very pleasant and a very profitable one. Since you are guests of the college, you are naturally privileged to make yourselves entirely at home on our campus, and to use any or all of the buildings, the library, the book store, etc. Please don't hesitate to call on any member of the faculty or student body to assist you in any way possible. The program has been arranged for your benefit and instruction, and entertainment provided for your pleasure. We sincerely hope you will find everything which will make for your education and enjoyment. Again, we welcome you.

A Word To The Hendrix College Profile

We would like to take this means of notifying the Hendrix College Profile why it is that we are not answering their letter this week as we had promised to do. You see, my dear mental midgets from the hills, we are having a press conference here at Southwestern this week. You probably don't understand exactly what we mean, but the idea in simple words is that there are a lot of boys and girls here from different high schools of the Mississippi Valley, and they are attending a meeting to talk over newspaper problems. At any rate, we have been pretty busy this week, and naturally we couldn't take time out to embarrass you with our letter when there was something really important to be done. But watch out next week. Incidentally, we're awfully sorry you couldn't send your staff over here to our conference. We're sure you could pick up a few valuable pointers from some people who know a little something about the newspaper business, and maybe you could improve on the pitifully amusing job you've been doing this year. We'll have more to say next week.

Missing Lynx

From the Campus Chain

It is purely by chance that we got this column written this week, since someone has made off with our typewriter leaving no trace for our secret agents. (Anyone coming across said Remington Portable No. 5 may collect reward at Room 105, Robb Hall.) But since we are here, we feel called upon, by the editor's insistence, to welcome all of our young friends of the Mississippi Valley High School Press Association, who are inhabiting the campus. Welcome.

Plug of the Week:

As we were coming through the Bookstore Wednesday morning, we happened to see Miss Louise Jennings, who we hear is called "Charlotte" by her best boy-friends, for reasons best known to the two of them, reach into her purse.

This motion in itself was arresting. Any number of things can come out of a purse—guns, daggers, handkerchiefs, or money for further purchases. (We, however, discounted the possibility of further purchases since the table was strewn with the remains of two sacks of potato chips, some cupcakes, chicken salad sandwiches, cookies, and a candy bar.) We were wrong in all our guesses, for she took out a tiny bottle of perfume.

Upon being asked what kind, Miss Jennings burst into shrieks of laughter, stopped suddenly, and said "Pinks."

For some reason or other, this answer pleased us. Whether it was Miss Jennings' sensational break with the prevalent school of "Shalimar" users or because it suits her personality so perfectly, we haven't decided.

Being an ardent disciple of Robert Benchley, we were appreciative when a national weekly recently appeared with an article concerning the humorist.

The article was full of Benchliana—humorous little bits that we have filed away to be dragged forth when we want to liven up after-dinner conversation.

Probably the best is the story of the time a prep-school instructor assigned a theme on how to do something practical.

Benchley handed in a theme, thoroughly illustrated, entitled "How to Embalm a Corpse."

The following sterling tips to success in the social world (obviously written by an old maid who hoped to increase her tribe) are from the booklet, "Your Life," and were amassed under the title "How To Avoid Being Kissed." Not that you'd be interested but . . .

The girl who fears the approach of osculation, says the old twitch who wrote it:

- 1. Will be an ardent devotee of the double date.
2. Will learn how to just get out of a car, say goodnight, and dash into the house, in rapid succession.
3. Will sing on auto rides.
4. Will talk a lot, and charmingly, lightly.
5. Will say "Please don't," "I'd rather you didn't," or "A kiss means so much more to me."
6. Will give the boy a nice, serious, level-headed talking-to.
7. Will use a calm, level-headed, scientific air of refusal.

She will also become Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Theta Phi, or something similar from so many nights at home over her studies.—Borrowed.

The Comparative Anatomy Boys and Girls of Science Hall, we hear, are out after cats again. About this time of year they all become sadists, for reasons scientific of course, and start a sort of feline purge. Cut them up, they do, and study their entrails. Last year we saw one of them once, working on a cat. Had one one stretched out on a board with little pins. This fellow was eating his lunch when we saw him, but that didn't seem to bother him much. "Look at that lung," he kept saying, "Will you look at that lung?"

"H—I," said the devil, as he picked up the phone.

Lynx Chat

Your little lynx pussy awoke in her pent-house apartment this morning when Pandemonium, bringing in our breakfast, reminded us to wear our best bib and tucker so as to impress all our friends here for the Press Conference. We do hope that our spring clothes fit us better than some of the things the court had on. As George Jackson said, "I hope my outfit is still in one piece after I make my bow." Fortunately it was, altho we heard that Hays had a little trouble with his pants. And didn't you all think Johnny Mac looked just perfect in his little yellow suit!

At the carnival McBurney was dressed in doublet and hose, and came as Hamlet, but if you noticed it was Toni who carried the dagger "in the family" . . . We sure were glad to see so many old grads, alums, etc., back. And if you noticed, they all came in late. They learned after going to Southwestern for four years that the only things that ever start on time out here are meals and exams . . . We never could figure out whether Jac Ruffin was wearing that cape for his benefit or for everybody else to dance on . . . But enough of the carnival, except to say a bouquet of spring iris to Walter (Lady MacDiell) Scott for his splendid portrayal of his part in the play.

It has become quite evident that Henry Lynch and Ann Worten are definitely interested in one another. He calls every night, and when we say every night, we mean just that . . . Joye Fourmy's little brother, Frank, has become quite a busy man of late, keeping up with Arabia Wooten's little sister . . . Should they grace our fair halls next year, we wouldn't be at all surprised to have another Wooten involved in a campus romance.

And speaking of campus romances, the Betty Jean Claffey-Henry Peek affair is quite definitely ended . . . Henry has been squireing a nurse around, while Claffey has turned to the med schools and picked up Bill Baird who was with us last semester . . . And the Fred Drees-Dorothy Stacy combine goes merrily on, as do Martha Miller-Neal Williams, and Conn-Taylor. We don't wish anyone bad luck, but why can't you all swap around once in a while and give us some news?

Billy Dillard had a date with Teenie Northcross' viistor from Philadelphia when she was here last week, and after two dates found himself completely smitten. At any rate, he called her long distance just the other night . . . And is it true that Mary Ware and H. C. are not so thick as formerly? We have seen him out with the above mentioned Teenie on several occasions . . . Have you noticed Bobby Rhodes and Sara Stanford together lately? . . . And our felicitations to Miss Weaver on being elected to her new honor as "Sweetheart."

Cup To Be Awarded To Woman Student

Women's Undergraduate Society To Make Choice By Activity Points

The Women's Undergraduate Society will award an activity cup Tuesday to the girl having the highest number of activity points for this year. The award will be announced in chapel by Annie Few Work, president of the society.

To qualify for the cup the girl must have a "C" average in scholarship. Members of all classes are eligible, and all activity hours must be turned in to Annie Few not later than today in order to compete.

The award cup is on display today in the Bookstore. The Women's Undergraduate Society is an organization founded in 1928 under the direction of the Dean of Women with a membership which includes all the women student of Southwestern, each class being represented separately. The main purpose of this society is to promote interclass competition among the women students.

Officers are Annie Few Work, president, Ann Eckert, vice-president, and Mary Louise Hughes, secretary-treasurer.

No one who is deeply interested in a large variety of subjects can remain unhappy. The real pessimist is the person who has lost interest.—William Lyon Phelps.

We understand that it could be more individual than collective though . . . And speaking of felicitations, don't you all get tired of congratulating people? The day doesn't go by, but you have to pat some one on the shoulder for something.

Our friend, Sam Fisher, says that he's out to get him a girl; but he isn't sure whether he wants Dorothea Wyatt or Milton Mathewes . . . Let us know when you decide, Samuel. Have you all seen the gallery of feminine spectators in attendance at the soft ball games? It seems that the fair ladies are there to see their bold knights excel in the tournament . . . Misses Esch, Godbold, etc., etc., lending their inspiration . . . And so it is with this that we bid adieu. We hope that some of these "Pressites" decide to come here to school next year, because some of them sure look like good material for this column. G'bye.

Echoes From The Morgue

Three years ago this week— The annual prayer week of universities and colleges was closed with a vespers service sponsored by the freshman class. Dr. J. V. Moldenhawer, the conductor of Southwestern's week of prayer, spoke and J. P. Cavender, president of the freshman class, presided.

Herbert Bingham was elected president of the Christian Union Cabinet.

The tennis teams of Southwestern and Mississippi College fought to a three to three tie on the courts here. Dunlap Cannon and Woolly Butler won their matches, while Macon Smith and Tom White lost.

Drive Being Made For Contributions To 1940 Journal

With the purpose of surpassing the standard set by last year's Journal, the college literary magazine, William McBurney, editor, is now making a drive for the completion of all student contributions to the 1940 Journal.

The Journal is scheduled to appear on May 15. Among alumni who will contribute are: Maynard Dabbs, class of '39, who will be represented with two short stories, "Hawk a la Mode" and "Encore"; George Lang of the faculty of the University of Alabama with "Memories of the Universities of Edinburgh and Berlin"; and Prof. John M. Mencklin of Dartmouth College with "A Retrospect," also recalling pre-war student days at the Universities of Berlin, Munich and Leipzig.

Dr. Allen Cabiness, of Columbia, Mississippi, is contributing an article, "Some Religious Survivals in Mississippi." Others whose contributions have not been received are Gerald Burrow and H. R. Holcomb.

The student contributors are mostly members of Dr. McIlwaine's writing class and members of the Stylus Club. Katherine McCulloch has a short short, "Waiting Room." Short stories are "Reserved for Cats," by Ruth Lawrence Bull; "The Gift," "The Blue Hat," and "Old A'nt Dora," by Thomas N. Pappas; "Mr. Crow and the Colored Grapewine," and "Spring Rites in Oklahoma" by William McBurney; and "The First Robin," an animal fable, by William Murphy. Other short story contributions are expected. There will also be light verse by members of the class.

A new feature will be attempted, five literary confessions of varied literary tastes—De gustibus non est disputandum.

Meeman To Be Principal Speaker At High School Meet

Mr. Capley, who will speak on Make-Up, was born in Memphis and attended the public schools here, graduating from Tech High. He has worked on the Chicago American, the Memphis News-Scimitar, the Evening Appeal, the Commercial Appeal, and is now with the Press, where he was dramatic editor for several years. During his stay there, he has covered every run on the paper, and at present is on the copy desk.

Mr. Meeman, who will deliver the address at the convention banquet, was born in Evansville, Indiana, where he was managing editor of the Evansville Press from 1916 to 1921. At that time Scripps-Howard launched a new paper in Knoxville, Tennessee, and selected Mr. Meeman to be editor. The growth of the paper was rapid and steady and in 1926 it bought out its rival, the Sentinel, which was forty years old at the time. During the time spent as editor of the News he advocated government development of the Tennessee River navigation and power resources, a policy which was realized years later under the TVA. He also waged an active campaign in support of the movement which brought about the Great Smoky Mountain National Park. He became editor of the Press-Scimitar in 1931, and since has campaigned for the bringing of TVA to Memphis. He initiated the project of the 12500 acre tract set aside as Shelby Forest.

Three Talk Tomorrow

Th concluding talks will be given tomorrow at 10 o'clock in a forum in Hardie Auditorium by David Bloom, Ida Clemens, and Jack Carley of the Commercial Appeal. Mr. Bloom, who will speak on sports, is a native of Memphis, and a graduate of the University of Virginia. He is sports writer on the Commercial Appeal and has covered Southwestern sports for fifteen years. He was on the program of the first MVPA convention in 1934.

Miss Clemens was born in New Bedford, Massachusetts, and went to school there. She has been on the Commercial Appeal staff for nine years, having worked in the advertising department, on general assignments, and on special editions. At present she is woman's page editor, fashion editor, and cooking editor. She will speak on the topic "Has a Woman a Chance on a Newspaper?"

Mr. Carley was born in Ottawa, Canada, and attended Queen's College at Kingston, Canada. He served in the World War as a British regimental sergeant-major. His newspaper experience totals twenty-four years, during which time he has worked with the Winnipeg Telegram, the Montreal Daily Mail, the Los Angeles Examiner, and the Chicago Herald-Tribune. He is at present editorial writer for the Commercial Appeal, where he has worked for seventeen years. His talk will be on editorials.

Discussion groups on newspaper problems will be held on four topics. One on "Editorials and Editorial Policy" will be conducted by Jack Burch, vice-president of the Association. Miss Blanchine Cook, of Canton, Mississippi, secretary of MVPA, will lead one on "Staff Selection and Promotion," while "Writing Problems" and "Business Management" will be discussed in groups led by William Murphy, editor of the Sou'wester, and John Young, business manager.

Judges of the newspapers will be W. H. Tyus, Craig Shruptrine, and Gerald Dearing of the Commercial Appeal.

schools. George Carmack and Jack Bryan of the Press-Scimitar and Robert Talley and Robert Gray of the Commercial Appeal were among those speaking on various phases of journalism. David Hill of Corinth, Miss., and Albert Raymond of Little Rock, were chosen president and vice-president. The first place, a plaque donated by George T. Brodnax Jewelry Co., was won by the "The Echo" of Paragould, Ark., while the Knoxville, Tenn., "Blue and White" placed second in the Tri-Weekly, Monthly, and Bi-Monthly divisions. The annual News Contest prize was won by Royal Adams of Paragould.

On its fifth anniversary, the annual meeting was attended by 231 delegates from 42 high schools, representing four states, an increase of 100% over the preceding year. Included on the program arranged by Lewis Donelson, editor of the Sou'wester, and Prof. McIlwaine, was Edward J. Meeman, editor of the Press-Scimitar, who was guest speaker at the banquet on Friday night, April 22. The Friday and Saturday open forums were led by Clark Porteous, Luther Southworth, and Mervin Rosenbush, of the Press-Scimitar, and Ted Northington, Walter Stewart, and W. O. Sturdivant, of the Commercial Appeal.

Last year the convention attracted 300 delegates from 58 Mid-South High Schools. The officers elected were president, Nolene Brown, of Huntsville, Ala.; vice-president, Jack Burch, of Whitehaven, Tenn.; secretary-treasurer, Blanchine Cook, of Canton, Miss. Awarding of the prizes by Prof. McIlwaine was as follows:

In class I weeklies, first award went to the Little Rock High School "Tiger," edited by Beth Hammett. In class II, semi-monthlies, the "Pine Cone" of Pine Bluff, Ark., won, being edited by Anne Hammond. The third class, monthlies and quarterlies, was won by "The Pica" of Greenville, Miss., whose editor was Edwin Elizabeth Campbell. First award in class IV, mimeographed papers, was awarded to the "Seminole Pow-Wow" of Osceola, Ark., edited by Barbara Banks. The fifth and last class consists of columns and sections written by the high school for local papers. The Baldwin High "Spotlight" of Baldwin, Miss., received first place, with Ann Rowan as its editor.

ELECTION POSTPONED

The Service Club, at a call meeting held last Tuesday, voted not to elect new officers until its May meeting. However, since the president of the club, William Worthington, graduated at the end of last semester, the club passed a resolution that John Woolsey, club vice-president, should take over the duties of the presidency. Cecil New, secretary, is the other officer of the club. At the meeting, a system for helping to clean up the gymnasium was worked out.

The judges for the contest included Null Adams, Kenneth Moffett and Al Capley, all of the Memphis Press-Scimitar. The first prize winners were awarded oak plaques overlaid with silver, on which was engraved the name of the high school and the date of the Convention.

Again this year, as Prof. McIlwaine jokingly phrases it, "My baby has bounced back in my lap." The 1940 MVPA Convention is expected to be even larger than the previous ones and to further promote interest in the quality of high school papers.

Softball Opens As SAE'S And Sigma Nu's Win

Smith Pitches Two Hit Game As KS' Lose To Sigma Nu's

Spring softball started off this year with the SAE's and the KA's inaugurating the new diamond at 1:30 Monday afternoon. Spring softball is a double round robin affair, with each team playing each other team twice during the season. Six teams are entered this year, all fraternities being represented except the PIKA's.

The SAE's defeated the KA's 15-9 Monday in the opener. Several home runs were hit due to a strong west wind blowing the balls far out into right field. At 3:45 last year's champs, the Sigma Nu's, defeated the Kappa Sigs by a count of 6 to 2. The feature of the game was Smith's two-hit pitching performance for the winners.

On Wednesday the Kappa Sigs defeated the KA's by a score of 3 to 1 in a pitcher's duel between Chevis Ligon, KS, and Bill Maybry, KA. Then at 3:45 amidst showers the SAE's won their second game of the week by trouncing the non-frats by a score of 11 to 2. There will be two games today.

Wrestling Results

Last Wednesday the intramural representatives of the grunt and groan profession donned their trunks. The Sigma Nu's were victorious over the KA's in the team wrestling by virtue of their 110 points to the KA's 90. Individual winners were as follows:

118 pound class—Henderson Stovall, Sigma Nu, unopposed.

126 pound class—Robert Cogswell, non-frat, defeated Stovall.

135 pound class—Joe Berryman, Sigma Nu, unopposed.

147 pound class—Ford Turner, KA, defeated Ed Martin, Sigma Nu.

160 pound class—Bob Black, KA, defeated Hays Brantley, Sigma Nu.

175 pound class—Boyce Johnson, Sigma Nu, defeated Rufus Shivers, KA.

190 pound class—Bill Tankersley, KA, defeated Charles Edwards, Sigma Nu.

Unlimited—Charlton Moore, KA, defeated Robert Goostree, Sigma Nu.

PING PONG RESULTS

Kappa Alpha defeated Sigma Nu in the finals of the ping pong tournament last week. The KA's had entered the finals by defeating the SAE's, while the Sigma Nu's overcame the Kappa Sigs. The intramural board announces its all-star ping pong and handball teams. In ping pong, there is Boyce Johnson, Sigma Nu, John Flanniken, KA, and Tip Gaither, KA. The all-star handball team is composed of three men, Cogswell, non-frat, Gallagher, Sigma Nu, and Wilson, ATO.

The Honor Council for two years, and was in the April Fool Carnival Court. In addition, he is a member of the Panhellenic Council, the Student Council, Chi Beta Phi, and is an intramural boxing champion.

John Kier is a Kappa Sigma, is the new president of Chi Beta Phi, and was recently tapped by Alpha Theta Phi, scholastic fraternity of which he will be vice-president next year. He is student assistant in biology, tied for first place scholarship in the sophomore class last year, and is at present a junior.

Election to ODK is limited to three per cent of the men students, and the men must be members of the junior or senior class. They must have distinguished themselves in scholarship, athletics, publications, or other forms of leadership, and must have a high character standing.

You'd Better Not Try This Trick On Our Lynx Bursar!

Several years have elapsed, but the story is still a good one. A Cornell University undergraduate, fascinated by the epic proportions of the feat, determined to pay his university bill of $243.50 entirely in pennies. Investigation at a local bank revealed that 24,350 pennies could be procured in exchange for bills. The resultant sack of copper coins was hauled to the treasurer's office and stacked before the proper window, whereupon an incensed treasurer informed the panting student that pennies in that sum were not legal tender and could not be accepted.

Undaunted, our hero returned to the bank, planning to deposit his pennies and get the cash to pay his bill. It seems, however, that the banks had an unfortunate rule to the effect that pennies could not be accepted for deposit unless wrapped, so in desperation the student was forced to hire a bank clerk to wrap the coins. For the small sum of $8.00 the clerk worked the greater part of the night, and by morning the pennies were ready for deposit.

Armed with the necessary cash a much chastened student returned again to the treasurer's office, feeling much relief at the prospective ending of an unhappy episode, only to find that an additional fine of $5.00 had been slapped against his account for late payment of fees.

Mental Meanderings

Prof. Lee was complaining because his Journalism class had started the new report period wrong by not handing in their assignments on the first day.

Miss Paula Harris, in sincere consternation, immediately cried out, "Well, Professor Lee, I was going to cut, but I met you in the hall so many times I just had to come to class!"

We betook ourselves to the Rosemary last Saturday night and were delighted to find that the good old serial still holds sway amid yelps of enthusiasm. Buck Rogers, our hero, was in a sorry plight in Chapter 9. We shed tears when the villainous Killer Kane fitted him out with an annesia helmet—an intriguing bucket-shaped piece of headgear—thus reducing the virile Larry Crabbe to a nerveless slavery. Oh woe!

We were surprised to find our movie friend of yesteryear, Jack Mulhall, cavorting around in ill-fitting tights and a silver bathing-cap, and looking as sheepish as a little boy caught with the cookie jar and jam pot.

This fascinating bit of filmdom was accompanied by a charming duet in back of us—an alto of crunching pop corn punctuated by the lyrical soprano of popping gum. Oh there's nothing so elevating as an evening at the theatah.

The Week's Giddy Gag: A man was walking down the street and stopped a passerby asking where he could find Mr. Whiffle, the mayor of Whiffleville. The passerby, with a look of disgust replied, "That crook? He lives four apartments down the block."

On goes our ftraveler to the apartment where he meets a man and again asks for the mayor. The answer: "That bum? He lives on the third floor." He goes up to the third floor where he meets another man and repeats his query. "That no-good loafer? He is in the first apartment on the right."

Our hero goes to that apartment and is welcomed by Mr. Whiffle and ushered into a room that looks as if a tornado had just struck it. It is full of records, papers, and books concerning Whiffleville. "Here is where I work for my city, night and day. I neglect my business, my family, everything so that I can do this work," said the mayor.

"Why do you do all this?" asks our hero. Says Mr. Whiffle, "Simply for the little respect and honor I receive in the community." (Now aren't you sorry you read it. Nyaa).

This brilliant bit of criticism was

First Lynx Track Meet At Jonesboro

Large Turnout For Practice Before Final Selections

The closing of the Spring football season means the official beginning of the track season for the Southwestern Lynx. Practice begins under the able instruction of Coach Chickie High this week. About fifteen men have reported for training, and the first meet will be held with Arkansas State this Saturday at Jonesboro.

It is still uncertain as to who will run the dashes, but most of the men are placed. Dan and Mercer West will take part in the weight events, discus and shot put. Ray Bearden will have the javelin throw; Leon Underwood, the pole vault; Lewis Wellford and Harold Falls, the high jump; Fred Partin, high hurdles; and Luke Dawson, the mile. Winston Cocke, Bill Pope, Doyle Fuller, Audie Scott, Sam Fisher, and Johnny Iles will compete in the dashes, and will probably be placed just before going to Jonesboro. The next meet will be held with Ole Miss at Southwestern, April 27.

SKETCHERS' CLUB TO MEET

The Southwestern Sketchers' Club will meet Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in room 208 of Palmer Hall. After the group has gathered they will go to Overton Park to make landscape sketches at the Japanese Lake. The club members are planning a Dutch treat picnic for some time in May.

The Southwestern Golf team went down in inglorious defeat to Spring Hill College, 16 1/2 to 11 1/2. The only point was taken by Billy Wooten, Lynx No. 3 man. Holcombe halved the first nine of his single match, to bring half point. The matches were played on the Galloway Golf Course.

The members of the Southwestern team are Bob Stites, Jim Holcombe, Billy Wooten, and Billy Belcher. The Lynx have previously been defeated in two matches with Ole Miss by scores of 18-0, and 17-1. Their next match will be return with Spring Hill there. Dr. Alexander P. Kelso is faculty sponsor for the sport.

SPRINGHILL DEBATERS HERE

"Resolved: that the United States should pursue a strict policy of neutrality," was the topic that the Southwestern and Springhill debating teams debated on when they met on April 4, at Palmer Hall. The debate ended with a non-decision. Members of the Southwestern debating team are: Allen Webb, Arthur Friedman, John Summerfield, and Robert Udelshon.

Extreme youth is extremely frank—and if you don't believe it, listen to this story:

On a recent school vacation day, a group of youngsters listened outside a Syracuse University lecture room while a professor delivered his usual classroom discourse. After listening for some time, one of the boys was overheard to say:

"Holy smokes, how do they stand the junk he's feeding 'em?" Yes, how do they?
