First Vesper Service To Be Held Sunday

The Rev. MacBryde Of Tuscaloosa Will Deliver Address

The Senior Class Vesper Service, first of the four annual vespers given under the auspices of the Christian Union Cabinet, will be held in Hardie Auditorium, Sunday, September 29, at five o'clock.

The Reverend Duncan MacBryde, Director of Presbyterian Student Association, University, Alabama, will make the address. Rev. MacBryde is now assistant to Dr. Warner Hall, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Tuscaloosa, Alabama. He graduated from Davidson in 1935, and in 1938 studied at the University of Edinburgh. While there, he spent a summer making a 2,000 mile trip through England, Scotland and Wales, through France, Germany, Italy, and the Balkan countries. He was part of the shouting throng in Munich, November, 1938 that cheered Hitler, Mussolini, Daladier, and Chamberlain when peace was preserved temporarily.

Dr. William O. Shewmaker, Professor of Bible, has been asked to preside. Professor Burnet C. Tutthill, Director of Music, will conduct the Southwestern Singers.

As president of the senior class, Jas. C. Ruffin is in charge of all arrangements. Ushers are Frank Hammett, William Moorehead, Robert Quindley, and Allen Craft. Carolyn Carroll heads the committee of decorations.

The program is as follows:
Prelude—Nocturne in E Flat—Chopin
Mr. Walton S. Cole, '43
Processional Hymn No. 302—
"Awake, My Soul"Handel

Invocation—

Recessional Hymn No. 10—
"All Nature's Works His Praise Declare"Fink
Benediction—

Nitist Club Meets To Plan For Year

The initial meeting of the Nitist Club was held yesterday evening in the Science Hall library. Frank Hammett, president of the group, led the discussion of plans for the coming year.

Nitist Club was founded in 1927 as a group of students and faculty members who met twice a month to discuss and criticize a paper on some subject of a philosophic, political, or social nature. Any new, or old students who would like to join should see any of the members, who are: Frank Hammett, Jimmy Allman, Lester Bagget, Charles Cable, George Case, James Cogswell, Robert Cogswell, James Collier, Willis Ensign, William Murphy, Jac Ruffin, Allen Webb, Russell Weiner, William Wooten, and William Moorhead.

In 1936, the club voted to affiliate with the International Relations Clubs sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for World Peace. The books and literature of foreign affairs and world politics provided by this organization have enlarged the fields of discussion. Non-members from within and without the college may be invited to attend the meetings.

The Southwestern Student Body extends its sympathy to Betty Orgill on the death of her father.

Pan Council To Sponsor Gym Dance Tomorrow

Anderson Band To Play For Affair Held Before Game

The Men's Panhellenic Council will sponsor the first dance of the year Saturday afternoon in the Southwestern gym. Hugh Anderson's orchestra will play, and there will be three no-breaks, two specials, and a Pan leadout. The gym will be decorated in Southwestern colors, red and black, and the orchestra will feature two of the school songs. There will be no intermission as the dance will last from 3 to 6, since the State Teachers-Southwestern game starts at 8. The tickets will be seventy-five cents, stag or couple. The officers of the Pan and their dates are, Bland Cannon, vice-president, with Harriet Northcross and Harry Hill, secretary with Dorothea Wyatt. Hays Brantley, president, will be out of the city.

Members of the Pan Council, who will attend with dates are: Claude Brown with Dorothy Waller, Boyce Johnson with Roberta Wellford, John Young with Jeanne Reeves, Robert Quindley with Cecilia Hill, and Elder Shearon with Beverly McFall. Other members of the council who will attend stag are Russell Wiener, Frank England, William Miller, Ryce Ransom, Charles Reed and Clifford Galtner.

A partial list of those planning to attend include: Bob Cogswell with Katharine Miller, Harold Johnson with Molly Hawken, Rufus Ross with Patty Radford, Henry Craft with Norma Bright, Billy Uhlhorn with Doris Lyons, Marion Slusser with Sue Potts, Gorton Berry with Martha Earp, Jim New with Mary Elizabeth Harsh, Jimmy Dwyer with Jane Peete, John Flanniken with June Bostick, Ed Nesbitt with Dale Botto, Barney Gallagher with Peggy Hughes, Dan West with Annabelle Paine, Bob McCrary with Kitty Bright Tipton, Starling Reid with Milton Matthews, Rowlett Sneed with Virginia Hepple, Charles Cobb with Dottie Gill, Wesley Walker with Nadine Brown, Jimmy Allman with Nell Wright, Neumon Taylor with Louise Howry, Jack Jemison with Mary Elizabeth Reeder, B. W. Beaumont with Georganne Little, Orley Nettles with Barbara Jane Robinson, Anslie Pryor with Letty Brooks, Tom Duncan with Elizabeth Carey, Chevis Ligon with Margery O'Kelly, P. S. Weaver with Carolyn Carroll, Lewis Wellford with Elizabeth Hinckley, Chaney Thompson with Dorothy Stacy, Robert West with Ruth Crumley, Jac Ruffin with Louise Jennings, Alf Cannon with Jane Williamson, and Jimmy Collier with Tinnie Burch.

CHI BETA PHI MEETS

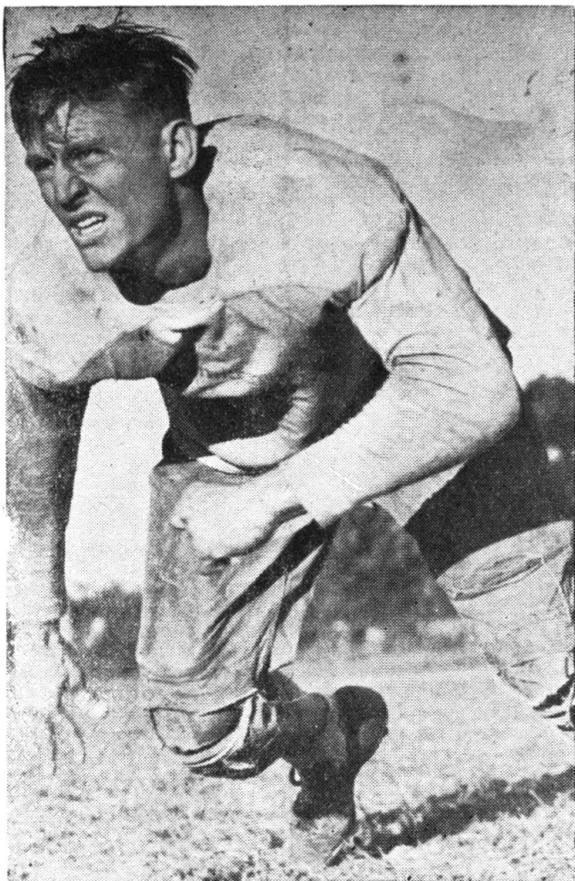

Tuesday evening, September 24, Chi Beta Phi, national honorary scientific fraternity, held its first meeting of the semester in the Science Building. Under the leadership of John Kier, president, plans for the year were discussed. Chi Beta Phi will meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month to hear papers read by the members, and to hear outside speakers of note. It is planned that the public should be invited to hear these speakers at times to be stated. Chi Beta Phi will sponsor an exhibit of some branch of the science department each semester.

Officers of Chi Beta Phi are John Kier, president; Orville McMinn, vice-president; John Flanniken, recording secretary; Ned Hermann, corresponding secretary; Charles Long, treasurer; and Robert Meacham, publicity chairman.

ECONOMICS PRIZES OFFERED

Two prizes of $25 each are being offered this year through the generosity of Mr. P. K. Seidman. One will be awarded to the sophomore making the best record in Economics 3 and 4, and the other to the senior majoring in Economics or Economica and Business Administration who has demonstrated the greatest degree of proficiency in that field, and gives promise of future accomplishments.

To Lead Lynx-Cats

Captain Fred Drees, pictured above, will lead the Lynx in their initial game tomorrow night.

Vespers Planned By C. U. Cabinet

Bobo Reports Improved Attendance At Forum; Negro Project Resumed

The Christian Union Cabinet held its regular business meeting in the Bell Room Monday evening. Plans for the vesper service to be held by the senior class on Sunday were discussed. Reverend Duncan MacBryde of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, will speak. Dr. MacBryde, who has recently returned from England will undoubtedly have many interesting things to tell the students.

William Bobo, president of the Sunday Evening Forum, reported that attendance has been excellent at the first two meetings, but because of vespers there will be no meeting this week.

The negro settlement house project, which a special committee headed by Annie Few Work has been working on, is still under way. It is hoped that this year definite steps may be made toward opening the house.

STUDENT COUNCIL TO MEET

The Student Council will meet in the Bell Room at 1 o'clock today for luncheon. They will be hosts to Al Whitman, Billy McComas, Virginia Bowman, Alice Torti, and John Lindsey, S. T. C. students.

We Are Exchanged As Hostages And Learn Hospitality At S. T. C.

As you have surely observed by now, the Sou'wester is not addicted to the bouquet tossing habit. Nevertheless, as we go to press, we are positively in a friendly mood and can't help but say a few nice things. We have felt this urge ever since yesterday morning at approximately half past ten o'clock, when we were at the receiving end of the most cordial welcome we had up to this time been favored with. We were a part of a peace delegation, which journeyed to Memphis State Teachers College to foster a spirit of friendly rivalry between S. T. C. and Southwestern.

Imagine our surprise, when after brooding uneasily throughout the ride to Normal, we found that the students there are not only human and quite like ourselves, but all in all, the most genuinely friendly, sincere and understanding group we have yet been associated with during our college years.

Honor Council To Hold Election

New Members To Be Chosen In Chapel Saturday Morning

The Honor Council met in the Bell Room Wednesday to nominate candidates for membership on the Council. Two members will be elected from the Freshman class, one from the Sophomore, and one from the Senior. The vacancies in the upperclasses are due to Cecilia Hill, who would have been a Sophomore, and Bernard Lockridge, who would have been a Senior and President of the Council not returning to college. The Freshman class is represented on the council by one boy and one girl.

The elections will be held Saturday morning in chapel. Jim Sparks and Kitty Bright Tipton will be in charge of the Freshman girls, and Elder Shearon and Bob Beasley will assist the Freshman boys. The election in the Sophomore class will be conducted by Marion Dickson and Bob Meacham. The Senior class will be directed by Harold Jones and Frank England.

The selections of the council will be made known Saturday morning. Harold Jones is acting president of the group, and Marion Dickson is secretary.

V. P. Election Between Brown And Duncan

Duncan Has Ten Vote Lead in First Ballot; Run-Off To Be Today

In the preliminary election for Vice-President of the Student Body, held yesterday, Tom Duncan, Non-Frat, and Claude Brown, S. A. E., led the voting to place themselves in the run-off. Bill Maybry, K. A. and Barney Gallagher, Sigma Nu, were eliminated in the first balloting. The count gave Duncan a lead of ten votes over Brown.

Duncan, a member of the Junior class, is a member of the Christian Union Cabinet, vice-president of his class, vice-president of the Southwestern Choir member of the Sou'wester staff, past winner of the Freshman Belk Bible Award, and last year's Non-Frat president.

Brown, a senior, is president of the S. A. E. fraternity, member of the S Club, Chairman of the committee on freshman regulations. He has been outstanding in all phases of intramural sports and served as manager of the varsity football team one season.

The office, for which only junior and senior men are eligible, is vacant due to the fact that Bob Black, who was elected in the run-off last spring over Brown, did not return to Southwestern.

John Young, President of the Election Commission, is in charge of the voting. The polls will be open this morning in the bookstore from 9 'til 1.

Players Name Davis President

Group Organized For First Time; Adopts A New Constitution

The Southwestern Players revived themselves and became a definite organization at their first meeting of the year in Professor Archer's office, last Saturday.

This is the first time in their history that the Players have been an organized group. At the meeting Saturday, officers were elected and several committees were appointed. Pat Davis was elected president, and Louise Jennings secretary. Margaret Bass, Frank England and Jac Ruffin were made members of the Constitution committee and Gorton Berry chairman of the publicity department.

At the second meeting, the constitution, which will appear in next week's Sou'wester, was read and accepted by the Players, and Justine Klyce was appointed chairman of the ticket sales committee. It was decided that the next meeting would be held on the first Thursday night in October at seven o'clock. At this meeting, the membership will be closed.

The first play, which has not yet been definitely selected, will be presented around the first of December. Only active members will be eligible for try-outs, which will be held in about two weeks.

As for the workshop, the make-up department is now practically complete, with all new equipment, including mirrors, lights, and a whole new stock of make-up. Instruction in this field should start the latter part of next week.

Y. W. C. A. TO MEET WEDNESDAY

All women students are invited to be guests of the school at the Y. W. C. A. supper which is to be held next Wednesday night at 6:45 in Neely Hall. There will be singing and a skit for entertainment, and this year's cabinet members will be announced then.

The drive for membership will start the following week and all women students are urged to join. Each month after this, a supper will be held at 6:00 in one of the sorority houses followed by the regular meeting and a program.

Officers for this year are: President, Mary E. Harsh; Vice-president, Ruth Lee; Secretary, Marion Dickson; Treasurer, Toni Noce.

Lynx Favored Over Tutors In Opening Fray

Make Grid Debut In Crump Stadium Tomorrow Night

By BOB GOOSTREE

The Southwestern Lynx will go on the field at Crump Stadium tomorrow night as heavy favorites over the Memphis Teachers. The Lynx are even favored by the sports department of the Tiger Rag, Teacher's paper. However, the Tutors display of aerial fireworks against Austin Peay has given Coach Ed Kubale plenty to think about.

With only four regulars lost by graduation, the Lynx 1940 squad is the largest of any in recent years. Thirty-five men are listed on this year's roster. This large squad overcomes the greatest 1939 obstacle of insufficient reserves.

Only one of the varsity will be on the injured list Saturday night. Audie Scott, recovered from his sinus infection, has an injured ankle, and will not see service. Cliff Cast will fill a spot in the line and Winston Cocke will again be in the backfield. Both of these boys were reported out on account of slight injuries, but have fully recovered.

Leon Underwood, star punter, who has been out of practice for the last week with a strained back, will again put toe to the pighide. Outstanding play is expected from Bob Beasley and Clyde Malone in the blocking back positions, with Alternate Captain Icky Orenstein, Jimmy Andrew, and Jack Conn to divide ball-totin' honors.

In the middle of the line, P. T. Baker is a safe bet as a starter, and on each side of him, Captain Fred Drees, Coy Dyehouse, and Cast will take most of the punishment as guards. Dyehouse has developed into a fast, aggressive player, and will probably rank high in the roster at the end of the season.

Two sophomores, Ned Sparks and Emmett Kelly, have been making strong bids in the tackle notches, and will alternate with Doyle Fuller and Hays Heaton.

Gloomy clouds are still seen on the end horizon, but they were cleared up greatly by the appearance of Tony Canzoneri for another year of Southwestern football. Sharing the terminal posts, Canzoneri, Luke Dawson, Johnny Iles, and Fleet Edwards will be on the receiving end of Orenstein's passes.

With the 1939 victory over Teachers still fresh in their minds, the Lynx will be out to put the first scalp on their 1940 string, with a team that has seen no service, while the Tutors received their baptism of fire against Austin Peay. The Middle Tennessee team was hardly a match for the Memphians. However, the Ole Miss, Clemson, Tennessee, and Mississippi State carded for the Lynx, they will taste much rougher treatment than it is possible for the Teachers to give them.

As to morale and determination, the Kubalemen have an edge on Sonny Humphreys' boys, as the Lynx seem almost in their mid-season stride as they point toward their opener.

On Chapel Services

Now that rush week is over and upperclassmen have ceased trying to impress freshmen and vice versa, the eternal problem of chapel conduct has arisen.

To us who have grown callous to such a thing through the years, it may appear to be a problem without a solution. Yet if we pause to think of the impression our chapel service must have on the visiting stranger, we can see the necessity of finding a solution. The visitor would first be greeted by the jostling throng which eagerly pushed itself into the back doors of the chapel, but he would be surprised to observe that this eagerness to enter disappears when the threshold is crossed and is seldom powerful enough to lead a student to his seat.

Our stranger would, however, be relieved to see that by the closing of the Doxology most of the students were seated. During the reading of the Scriptures, and the prayer, he would observe an almost quiet auditorium and might begin to think that his first impression was a false one. However, when the closing hymn was sung he would certainly revert to the opinion he had at the opening of the service.

Whether or not you care about the sight that greets the eyes of a visitor the fact remains that chapel is intended to be a religious worship service. Each part of the service, the Doxology, the Bible reading and the hymn is a part of this service and as such should command the reverent attention of the students. Chapel is intended to fill the need of a morning devotional period. It can do so only if the members of the student body cooperate to make it do so.

Let's Cooperate

This year as never before in the football history of Southwestern, there is a need of whole-hearted support of the team by the student body. There is no room on our campus for grandstand quarterbacks. There is no room for criticism when a team has worked as steadily and as grimly as ours has. They are ready for the bruises, and I feel safe in saying that in victory or defeat, the Lynx Cats will be a team of which we will be justly proud.

We want especially to comment on the cheering. This year we will play schools which are much larger than ours, and the only way for our cheering to make a good showing is for it to be perfect in delivery. The success of a cheering section depends far more on the timing of the yells than on the volume of noise launched forth. It depends also on the compactness of the section. The timing can be perfect if the students watch the leaders closely for the signals, and the compactness can be achieved by everyone sitting together in the student section. With a student body the size of ours, everyone must participate in the yells. We urge the upperclassmen to cooperate and we warn the freshmen. Let's give our team the support they deserve. Remember—Watch the cheer leader.

Observations of One "Rummy" Forthingay-Phipps

INTRODUCTION: A few days ago, a group of the usual parking lot loungers were very much impressed by the arrival of a chap in a low built English two-seater, amid much dust and screeching of brakes. When the car had come to a halt and the dust settled, the three occupants were standing in the seats in order to get a better view of their surroundings, and I think that I could best describe them as they appeared then.

The driver was of medium size, clothed in tweeds, and possessing a face of honest frankness that seemed only natural to the red hair slightly visible beneath his pork-pie hat.

The middle occupant of the car was an immense, drooling Great Dane that gazed at its surroundings with a look of melancholy boredom—that is until he spotted the large oak with the fire department sign on it. This cast our attention to the third passenger, who was compelled to hold the lunging dog in the car. The attendant of this beast was undoubtedly the driver's man, due to the fact that he seemed frightened at the whole situation—and who else but a man's man would be wearing a black bowler and morning coat in the middle of the afternoon?

Well it seems that this chap's name is Rumpkin "Rummy" Forthingay-Phipps, Bart, student of philosophy, psychology, and journalism. The dog's name is Mozart and the man-servant's name is Pinckney. Rummy is here to observe wild life of the campus, and to hastily jot down notations of the same to appear in the Sou'wester from time to time. He begs indulgence from our readers so that they might see through the eyes of a stranger, just the way we appear to others about us.

Observations

The job of observing the goings on of the young college spout is indeed an easy one, but to put down the little odd things you see every day on the campus, and at the same time make them interesting is, as we say in cricket, the broad hand under and over.

The first of my forceful impressions was made on me by the look of utter irresponsibility on the faces of the students. I mean they all look as though they are waiting for it to turn cold, and then wait for it to turn warm again, or something. What I mean to say is that the campus needs more studious looking chaps like Alec Albertine, Pat Davis, or a few others of equally classic caliber.

Speaking of waiting for cold weather, I went up to the library to peruse its volumes of forgotten lore and was shocked to see only those members of the first form (freshmen). Upon questioning the Attendant of the Books, I found that the upperclassmen were still doing most of their research in the parking lot.

Oh yes, I read something or other somewhere that Mr. Willkie refused to come to Memphis. I can't understand his doing so. Surely he could learn much on the art of looking important from Mr. England. But then, with such strong political organizations as these at Southwestern he wouldn't stand a chance if he made the wrong impression.

I stopped to light my bryure by Robb Hall, and overheard the Freshette Flash, Martha Earp telling Doris Lyons that Barney Gallagher had spent the last evening telling her about the loving cup he had just won, to which Miss Lyons replied that if Mr. Gallagher were winning loving cups he must have improved a great deal since their last date. I say, don't you think that's something or other, I mean coming from one who is supposed to be as green as freshmen are!

I would like to take a few lines here for a mission of mercy that will render a great service to one of the members of the class of '44. If anyone knows anything of the whereabouts of Henry Saunders, or any information leading to the same, will they please notify Henry Saunders.

Heigh ho—my man Pinckney just informed me that Mozart is loose somewhere in the zoo, which means I must don my chapeau, order my Wid-geon Seven from the garages, and be off in the inevitable cloud of dust to seek this canine man-eater, before he does away with a lion or two—or before the biology dept. does away with him.

Lynx Chat

Your lil lynx pussy is dead! Long live Fransioli! She killed the "pussy", hurt our feelings, and ruined our chances to always have an easy first paragraph to write (even if no one ever read it). So from now on Pandemonia, the pent-house, and pussy, are in the dog-house. Please pawdon us, but you freshmen and freshettes are mighty slow in furnishing this gossip shop with anything worth gossiping about. How about a bit of that old "oomph," and we mean somebody besides Miss Gorman. (And next week, Miss Fransioli, suppose you write the first paragraph).

With the first of school there have been the usual number of amusing mix-ups, but the funniest we have heard of was when our two secret inter-sororities discovered (after they were both there) that they were meeting at the same house at the same time. There was much hiding of freshettes in closets as one of the groups had there a couple of the girls that they are going to bring out. . . . Another embarrassing episode (just ask Miss McFall) occurred when Bev wandered into the Chl O house the other afternoon and sat down in the midst of a strained silence. After about ten minutes Bev, realizing that it was one of the afore-mentioned inter-sororities, jumped up with a "Isn't this the Episcopal Club?" and without waiting for an answer was out the door. . . . At any rate, Bev, it wasn't as bad as one freshette going into Robb Hall to use the telephone. History repeats for a second time: We notice that Bland is escorting Teeny Northross to the dance tomorrow—well Bland isn't she too a debutante!

Ruth Lee seems to have Baxter Pouncey back in hand, but we sure saw him philandering with a brilliant blond this summer, Ruth. . . . Did you all see the picture of Justine Klyce modeling a wedding gown for Levy's? Said Justine. . . . "I felt so at home." . . . Katherine Miller and Alf Cannon always have something to talk about. . . . "Beetle-brain" Robinson is back in her old place at the ping-pong table in the book-store. . . . She advocates Mrs. Holloway's putting in a nickelodian for inmates of the clan.

Our two musically inclined friends, Celeste Taylor and Jack Conn, seem still to find a lot more in common than just music. . . . Our favorite big bottle of glue to Betty Lea Alderman and Jimmy Sultis for furnishing us with one of the first campus couples. It all started as long ago as last Saturday night at the Tri-Delt open house, and by this stage we hear that he wants to line up dates for all the dances, etc., weeks in advance. And there are several other little boys who would also like to get in on this. There's just one thing bothering us, and that's the status of a ring which is now adorning her right hand instead of her left. Stay in there and fight, Jimmy, but look out for a certain Sigma Nu.

Our sympathy is all for the little freshman who ran out in the rain Tuesday to give a valiant "Down with State Teachers" and then proceeded to illustrate by making a perfect three point landing on his chin and elbows in a nice slersy puddle. That's real spirit. . . . And that reminds us, why in the heck can't the revamped (no, we don't mean Toni Noce) Women's Undergraduate Society get some pep into it. . . . The freshettes are pampered babies so far, and about as regulated as a dime store alarm clock. . . . How 'bout sumpin' you senior women.

I suppose you've noticed the long swoopy eyelashes in form of one Jill Witt. Personally, we have the insane desire to give an approving whistle when she breezes by. . . . And Miss Frances Akers, the super-scooper for the Commercial Appeal, has hooked herself a nice chunk of masculinity named Grissam. . . . And a certain responsible group might tell Miss Molly Hawen to come down off her high-horse. . . . And we're tired of writing, and have reached the end of our space, with just enough room left to say. . . . Good-byyyy.

A past student of the prexy of Southwestern we understand is on the road to matrimony. . . . And we never have made mention of the profs who fell along the wayside this summer and are no longer bachelors. Mr. Siefkin marrying a pretty miss in Florida, and Dr. Baine picking his from the Southwestern campus, in the person of a former co-ed. Now that Dr. Cooper has gotten a house in Hein Park we expect any results from that angle now. . . . Look for the engagement of several former Southwestern students in the next few months. . . . We heard that Fred Drees announced to the football boys one day last week that he and Miss Dorothy Stacy had several diplomatic relations, but just when we got the storm cellar dusted, out came the heartening news that all was calm once more. We couldn't have stood it after the jolt we got when the news drifted in that the Bebe Harsh-H. R. Holcomb affair had melted into thin air. . . . 'twould have destroyed our faith in romance.

Franklin Ellis and Gladys Moore were a high school couple. We wonder if it will be that way in college. . . . Hays Brantley has something coming from Canada next month (who went out here to school last semester) that should make him happy. . . . By the time this comes out many freshettes will be getting ready for their first Southwestern dance. Don't be too shaky as they are pretty much like all the others that you have ever been to elsewhere. . . . June Bostick and John Flanken seem to enjoy one another's company. . . . We never have been able to "pin" his twin, Bill Maybry, down to any one particular gal tho. . . . Deola White leads Maurice Miller around the same as last year. Our sympathy for your studies, Maurice.

Polkie has picked out her "man" for the year, and it looks like Harold Johnson is IT. . . . He says he went with one gal for four years, Polkie, and now he's off women for life, so you might have a hard road ahead. . . . Dorothy Esch has her eyes on Hervey Conway, and John Gibson says he's worried. . . . Teenie Burch has the most interesting mouth. Or have you noticed? . . . Nadine Brown in the bookstore getting air-mail letters. Don't tell us there's a boy back home. . . . And her room-mate, Jane Williamson, seems to be getting a good deal of attention from Bland Cannon. . . . You might ask one of your sorority sisters about him, Jane. . . . People we like. . . . Julia Twist and Marion McKee.

views on the news

By CABLE Mr. Willkie, the utilities man, is casting an intricate pattern of light and shadow along his path on the West Coast in an effort to keep the voters in the dark while appearing to enlighten them. He declared in Seattle, a strong union town, that the President has let labor down. The important thing said Mr. Willkie is plenty of jobs for labor, and he further assured labor on the Coast that he is the man to bring about the creation of more jobs. He didn't tell them just how he intends to do this however. He admitted that the New Deal's social legislation is good when he promised West Coast labor that he would keep the National Labor Relations law and the relief agencies if he is elected. We assume that he intends to keep the New Deal's tax legislation. If not, where would he get the funds for the relief agencies?

Since the New Deal's labor laws were inaugurated there has been an immense amount of action on the labor front. We wonder if this coupled with the tax legislation is not what is troubling the business man. It seems to us that Mr. Willkie is going to keep the legislation that hinders business and at the same time stimulate and encourage it. The business man is continually faced with the problem of a demand for increased wages due to union activity; he can't fire the men behind the movement because they are protected by labor laws. Mr. Willkie assured labor of his sincerity by telling them that he was once a workman in a steel mill and at another time in a bakery. He also told the voters on the Coast that he was a utilities expert. Of course we all knew that from the T. V. A. case. Mr. Willkie has been at various times a farmer, laborer, soldier, teacher, athlete, utilities magnate, and intellectual. It is therefore understandable that he feels himself a part of every group that he addresses. Right now he's a laboring man and a business man. No telling what he'll be next week; that depends on where he happens to be then. Mr. Willkie with his extensive repertoire of characterizations is one of the most versatile medicine men to appear on the Republican circuit, but no matter what he says we can all plainly see the G. O. P. label on the bottle he vends.

Snips that Pass in the Night

By SAM McCULLOCH Rush week is now a memory, particularly last Saturday night, which occurred in a sort of light, pinkish haze. It seems we ended up wading in the Chicawsaw Gardens pond—why we will never know. But there we were, chasing the ducks and brandishing an old soup ladle. It reminded us rather pointedly of a time we were down in Texas working out on the parallel bars. All we can do is hope for the best next Saturday night, but in a weak moment we promised a State Teacher to the little girl next door, aged six, and something has to be done about it.

We call attention to a brisk little item from our East Coast correspondent, a sign seven miles outside Providence, R. I., which reads:

PLENTY MUMMIES He's working overtime to get us an explanation by next week, but of course you all know Providence.

Punctual to a fault, we feel it our duty to report something that happened just yesterday and at the same time to re-award this week's shellac lollipop to Freshman Giles O'Shaffney. He was asked to make ten copies of the Alma Mater song as a penalty for something, and showed real spirit in writing the second line of each:

That Lynx our lives with Thee. Giles, by the bye, was seen last Saturday on a Remington pogo stick in a manner that had some of the brothers green with envy. We repeat, he's a boy of real spirit, and we hope to see more of him from time to time.

As any fool can plainly see, to quote a cliché, there's nothing that makes a column more interesting than a feud with somebody. We welcome all comers—some old college in Arkansas, our next door neighbor Lynx Chat, or anybody—even including the Slippery Rock Teachers News. Look lively, because we've got Grandma's 44-50 Over-and-Under, Special Bore-Bolt Action, Iver Johnson Squirrel rifle cleaned up and ready for action.

Band Prepares For Saturday's Game

The Southwestern Band is busy getting ready for its first appearance at Fargason Field Saturday night. Its forty members, dressed in their red and black uniforms will parade for the Lynx that night. Rehearsals have been held for the past two weeks. Most of last year's members are back and the new members are coming along in fine shape. A special rehearsal will be held Saturday at one-thirty to insure a good performance at the game.

In addition to their regular performances at all of the home games, the band will make at least one out of town trip. The tentative plans are that they will accompany the Lynx to Birmingham for the Howard game, October 26. The band also plays for several parades in Memphis during the year.

Officers for the group will be elected next week. The new members are: Clarinets—Walter Foster, Clarence Giles, Sam Stephenson; Saxophones—James Brown, French Horn—Dixon Connell; Cornets—Stratton Daniel, Robert West, Frank Kennedy, Tom Wild; Trombones—Edward McMahon, Cham Cannon, Will Bowden, Carl Frank, Bill Tarver; Tuba—Bill Ramsey; Drums—Tommy St. Charles, and Marty O'Callaghan.

Anabelle: How strange, and yet you don't seem to go.

Attendant: (to lunatic, nude except for a derby) Why don't you put some clothes on?

Lunatic: Ain't nobody coming to see me.
Attendant: Then what are you wearing the hat for?
Lunatic: Somebody might.

Transfers From Ten States This Year

Transfers to Southwestern this fall come from as many as 28 different schools and 10 different states. Joining the ranks of the Evergreen gals are: Mary Ann Gorman of Marks, Mississippi, who transferred from Mississippi State College for Women; Martha Hewitt and Louise Gordon, both of McComb, Miss., are also from MSCW; Gloria Besser of Little Rock, Arkansas, from Hendrix; Margery O'Kelly of Minden, La., comes from Bellhaven in Jackson, Miss.

Not technically "Evergreen," but dorm girls nevertheless, are Mary Margaret Curry of Haynesville, La., from LSU and Jill Witt of St. Louis, from St. Louis University. They are staying at the Rollo's. At Dr. Drake's, are others who could not be accommodated in Evergreen: Evelyn Ohlson, of Little Rock, Ark., from Little Rock Junior College; Charlotte Eckel of Hot Springs from Henderson State Teacher's College in Arkansas; Marianne Boyd and Rebecca Barret both from Covington, Tenn., and from Stephens College.

Memphis people who transferred are: Francis Babin, Virginia Ann Gates, and Mary Ann Oehm, all from Teacher's; Elizabeth Woodcock, and John O'Hearne, from Hendrix; Frances Gregg and Vive Walker, from Sweet Briar; Dorothy Gill from MSCW; Jane Evans from Holton-Arms Junior College of Washington, D. DR. ATKINSON TO ADDRESS FRESHETTES ON THURSDAY

Dr. W. R. Atkinson, professor of psychology, will give a short instruction period on "Methods of Study" next Thursday, October 3 at 1:30 in the science hall lecture room, for all new women students.

The talk is being sponsored by Torch, honorary Senior women's leadership society as part of their service project for the college. The purpose is to assist freshmen students in forming the proper study habits by an explanation of the psychological background of different methods of learning.

All new women students are urged to attend this short lecture, and pledge trainers have been asked to cooperate with Torch in seeing that their particular pledge group is present.

INTRAMURALS

By BARNEY GALLAGHER

We place ourselves in a most precarious position in reporting on the initial softball game, the Kappa Sigma Nu brawl. High scorers were the Kappa Sigs with 13 men crossing the bar, excuse the plate, to the Sigma Nus' 10. Mercer West was the Kappa Sig hurler, to whose ability 5 walks and 5 strike outs were credited. Your intramural reporter was on the field for the Sigma Nus. Note: as pitcher, your intramural reporter was merely on the field.

Leading the assault on the Sigma Nu pitcher, was Dan West to the tune of a triple and two singles for four trips to the plate. Wesley Walker and John Young also contributed their share to the tallies for the Kappa Sigs, racking up a double and a single apiece. The heaviest hitter of the day was Boyce Johnson, whose homer, double and single for three official trips gave him a perfect day at bat.

The second game, between the KA's and the Non-frats, turned into one big squabble before the game was called in the third. The Non-frats, much superior in batting, fielding and pitching, were also superior in score, by eight runs to two. The game was called because the score had reached this point. Pitching for the Kappa Alphas was Mabry, who found that he could hit the Non-frat bats, no matter where they held them. J. A. Costello did his bit for the Independents with his one-hit pitching.

This afternoon the KA's and the Kappa Sigs clash, with the nightcap being played between the Sigma Nus and the Non-frats. In both games we make an honest tab at a prediction, so it seems that the KA's and the Non-frats have easy victories in store for them.

In the tennis tourney we find such superb strokers as "Lucy" Gibson and "Juke" Stites, whose names are already famous in many phases of campus life. First to fall before the Gibson-Saunders SAE combination were the Kappa Sig's pride, Chevis Ligon and Clay Alexander. In the first match Gibson overwhelmed Ligon 6-0, 6-3. In the second match Saunders tripped Alexander 6-4, 7-5.

Jack Taylor, a freshman Non-frat, startled the spectators by his tennis ability in defeating his highly touted KA opponent, Strother Asquith, two love sets. Stites came through to down Bob Siedentopf 6-1, 7-5.

On the strength of the Non-frat performance in these matches, we feel that it is a reasonably safe thing to prognosticate the Non-frats as winners in the tennis as well as in the softball.

Bobcats Scrap U. T. Juniors

Frosh To Open Season
Against Junior College
At Martin Tonight

The Gridiron at Martin, Tennessee is the scene of the Bobcats first clash tonight. The Southwestern Frosh will attempt to stem the attack of the U. T. Junior eleven and according to Coach Nemecek the chances are pretty good for a Bobcat victory. The Bobcats defense is especially strong, however, on the offense, the Frosh are a little weak, as they have not had time to work out a complete fast moving attack.

The Freshmen have completed two weeks of good hard work-outs with a definite improvement being shown in all positions. Apparently Carlton Freeman is at present the nucleus of the freshmen squad, having shown more football in the scrimmages with the varsity than any other member of the Bobcats squad. He and Oscar Williams will handle the punting and passing from the tailback spot. Bowling, St. Charles, Earhart, Speros, Vogel, Coats, Holland, and McClure are the backs who will handle the ball for the frosh ground attack. Ising along with Wyatt, Carruthers and Young is showing himself capable of handling the tackle position. At guard, Lewis, Thomas, Qualls and Pack have shown improvement in blocking and tackling. At the wing position, Knight, McKinny, Bill Williams, Babbs, and Doudle have shown that their spots are in capable hands, and MacMahon and Thompson have shown equal ability at the center position.

C. A. A. Hopefuls Hear Instructors

Chance Of Conscripton
Seen As Slim; Twenty
Students Allotted College

Applicants for the Civilian Pilots Training Course met Tuesday night in Science Hall with Dr. Pond to discuss plans for the class that is to start Oct. 1, 1940. The course, which includes seventy-two hours ground school and thirty-five hours of flying, will cost the student twenty-five dollars. This covers cost of insurance, physical exam and flying. Ground school is to be held two hours a night for three nights a week and will last for twelve weeks.

Instructors from the airport made it clear that this course does not force the applicant to enlist in the Army Air Corps. A student will not have to enlist unless he is drafted during the time he is taking this course. Chances of this occurring are, as Dr. Diehl has explained, very slight.

To get into the course the student must be a sophomore or have had two years of college, must be between the age of eighteen and twenty-seven, and have the small sum of twenty-five dollars.

Southwestern has been allotted twenty students but unless there is sufficient interest shown, the course may have to be cancelled.

With only a few days left in which to prepare for the invasion by the Ole Miss Rebels on October 7, the Lynx football squad is set for a rigorous period of intensive training.

Alumni News...

Two former presidents of the Southwestern student body, Clark McDonald and John McGrady, have entered Harvard Graduate School of Business. Clark was president of ODK, member of the Honor Council, Men's Pan-Hellenic Council, the Nitist Club, Service Club and Christian Union Cabinet. He was a member of the April Fool Carnival Court, Stylus Club, and Kappa Sigma Fraternity, and was chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges. He graduated in 1938 with distinction in Economics and Business, and has been with the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company for the past two years, receiving a two year leave of absence to work for his M. B. A. degree. His home is in Memphis.

John was president of the student body last year and was a member of the Christian Union Cabinet, Service Club, and SAE Fraternity. He was vice-president of the Honor Council, vice-president of the Student body, and was on the tennis team. He was awarded the Siedman trophy, which is given each year to the senior most outstanding in athletics and scholarship. He is from Macon, Georgia.

DeWitt Spain has received an appointment to the flying corps at Randolph Field in Texas.

Macon Smith, Leslie Buchman, Lewis Donaldson and Kalford Ratcliff passed the Tennessee bar examination in June it was announced recently.

Bob Porter has been appointed Mathematics instructor at Bellevue School in Memphis, and Jim Merrin received an appointment to teach English at Wayne University in Detroit. He received his master degree at the University of Chicago last year.

Wiley Jones, Jr., who got a master of landscape architecture degree at Harvard, has been made permanent landscape artist for the City Beautiful Commission of Memphis.

Among those signed up for naval training and expected to take the October cruise, are Waddy West, Johnson Rhem, Herschel Linden Wright, Sam Hill, James Dougherty, Cecil New, and Billy Belcher.
