Tuthill Attends NASM Meeting

Burnet C. Tuthill, director at the Memphis College of Music, attended the meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music in Cleveland, Ohio, December 26-28. The NASM is the only accrediting body for music schools, and has been organized for 18 years. Its membership of 122 schools includes some of the best music departments in the country.

Memphis College of Music holds an Associate membership in this organization, and has been affiliated with it for three years.

Mr. Tuthill is secretary of the NASM, and is treasurer of the Society for the Publication of American Music and a member of the Music Teachers National Association.

"What A Life" May Be Players Next Feature

"Headed For Eden" Also Considered; Both Comedies

The Southwestern Players will present their second play of the season, a three act comedy, on April the Fourth probably at the Nineteenth Century Club again.

Two three act plays, "Headed for Eden" by Sidney Duvall and "What A Life" by Clifford Goldsmith, are being considered by Professor Archer and the Players. Copies of "Headed for Eden" have already been read and discussed by Professor Archer and some of the players. The play concerns a group living and working in a large metropolis who are called on for resourcefulness, humor and cooperation. The unraveling of the plot is full of surprise, both humorous and intensely dramatic. There are seven men and ten women in the play.

The other play, "What A Life," is a comedy in three acts. It was presented recently at the Little Theater and was made into a movie starring Jackie Cooper. The principle characters are Henry Aldrich, who just can't memorize the dates in Roman History, and who tries to sell every thing he owns in order to raise two dollars to take his girl to the Spring Dance; Barbara Pearson who is both happy and unhappy over the prospect of her first big dance; George Bigelowe, Henry's enemy, who almost gets him into serious trouble; several teachers who worry about the heating plant that doesn't work, and no towels in the washroom; and Henry's mother who insists that he should go to Princeton though his only talent is drawing.

Dr. Diehl Attends California Meeting

Association of American Colleges' Meeting To Be At Pasadena

Dr. Diehl left Memphis January 2 to attend three educational meetings in Pasadena, California. One was a convention of the Pan-Presbyterian College Union, a national organization of all Presbyterian colleges, of which he is secretary. This meeting was held on January 7. On January 8, a convention of all church-related schools was held. Dr. Diehl is on the executive committee of this organization.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday a meeting of the Association of American Colleges, of which Dr. Diehl is one of the four directors, will be held. The theme of the meeting will be "Liberal Education and Democracy," and its principal speaker will be Prof. Theodore M. Green, professor of Philosophy at Philadelphia, who visited Southwestern last year. Other speakers will be Henry Luce, Editor of "Time," whose theme will be "Reconstruction after Hitler," Count Carlo Sforza, former Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Paul van Zeeland, past Prime Minister of Belgium.

On January 9 there will be a meeting of Southwestern alumnae in California, at which Dr. Diehl will preside. He will return on or about the 14th.

CLUB ENTERTAINS CHILDREN

The Episcopal Club held a Christmas party for the children of the church home just before the holidays. They were taken to see the museum at the Pink Palace, then to the airport. At the latter place the group was shown through the control tower and various hangers. After refreshments, presents were given to each of the children, and then they were taken home.

Howard Trips Lynx By 2 Point Lead

Blakemore Is High Scorer With 13 Points To Credit

After holding a commanding lead through the first half, Southwestern's hardwood quintet fell behind in the last period, and were defeated 28-26 by the Howard College Bulldogs in a game played at Birmingham Wednesday night.

Led by George Blakemore, brilliant shooting center, the Lynx were leading the Bulldogs 18-12 at the end of the first half. Late in the third period, the Bulldogs took a one-point lead and never fell behind again. Blakemore was high scorer for the Lynx, tallying 13 points. Three minutes before the final gun, the score was 28-26, and was unchanged at the end of the game.

Stob Jones, senior guard, was out of the game on account of illness.

From Birmingham the Lynx will move over to Clinton, Mississippi, to play Mississippi College, and to Jackson, Mississippi, for a return tilt with the Millsaps Majors, having played them in Jackson last night.

Line-ups for both teams were as follows:

SOUTHWESTERN	HOWARD
Wellford, f2	Morgan, f8
Collier, f5	Baker, f3
Blakemore, c 13	Goldman, c8
Waller, g1	Welch, g3
Andrew, g3	Templeton, g6

Y.W.C.A. Will Meet Next Wednesday

Canada's Role in World Affairs Will Be Topic Of Mrs. Townsend's Talk

The Y.W.C.A. will meet Wednesday, January 15 at the Tri Delta House at six o'clock. Mrs. Townsend will make a short talk on Canada's role in the current affairs. Virginia Brittingham will also describe one of the acquaintances she made in Europe two summers ago.

This will be the last meeting of the semester and all members should attend, according to Mary Elizabeth Harsh, president, in order that plans for the coming semester can be discussed. During this semester, the program has been the significance of various countries in the world today. In view of the 15th being the week before the examinations, the meeting will definitely be closed at 7:30.

Miss Harsh stated that the organization also wished to express its appreciation to all the women students and members of the faculty who contributed to the Christmas Fund and to assure them that the family was well provided for and greatly appreciated both the food and clothing.

LIBRARY FINES DUE

All fines owed by students to the library must be paid before those students will be allowed to take examinations, Miss Mary Marsh, Librarian said yesterday. At list of the names and amounts owed by the students is posted on the library door and they are asked to see that the fines are paid as soon as possible.

Larry Funk To Play For Pan Council's Mid-Winter Series

LARRY FUNK

Two Formals, One Tea Dance Will Be Given

"Band of a Thousand Melodies" Boasts Seven Years on NBC

The signing of Larry Funk and his "Band of a Thousand Melodies" for the annual Mid-semester dances of the Men's Panhellenic Council was announced early this week by Hays Brantley, president of the council. This year's dances, which will follow the plan inaugurated last year, will be composed of two formal dances and one tea dance. The first dance which will be Friday night, Jan. 31 from 9 until 1 o'clock, will probably be at the Casino. Plans for the other two dances are definite. The tea dance, the next afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock, will be in the new Balinese Room of Hotel Claridge, and Saturday night's dance will be in the Continental Room of the Hotel Peabody. The time of the latter will be the usual 8 until 12.

Funk and his orchestra, currently on a road trip, have just completed a 26 week series over Columbia via station WGN in Chicago for Frigidaire. He was featured over NBC for seven years on various programs and has been in the role of band leader since the age of sixteen. His first band had such present-day celebrities in it as Jimmy Dorsey, Miff Mole, Eddie Lang, Joe Venuti and others who have become equally famous. He has been featured at various times at the Hotel Chase, St. Louis; Chez Maurice, Dallas; Village Barn, New York; Hotel Webster, Detroit; New Penn, Pittsburgh and Barclay Club, Boston. He has played in Memphis twice, having been featured in the old Claridge Twentieth Century Club three years ago and having played for a private party in the Continental Room of Hotel Peabody two years ago.

The "Band of a Thousand Melodies" got its name from its library of songs, which now has reached the unique proportions of over four thousand melodies. It is a twelve piece orchestra, featuring both a boy and a girl vocalist. Larry, himself, does some of the vocalizing and plays several instruments.

Plans are being completed for two broadcasts over national hook-ups to be made during the Pan Dances.

Trio Chosen To Enter Contest

Moorhead, Murphy And Webb Represent College In Essay Contest

William Moorhead, William Murphy and Allen Webb have been named to represent Southwestern in the William and Mary essay contest on American foreign policy. The trio was chosen by a committee consisting of Prof. D. M. Amacker, Prof. W. R. Cooper, Dean A. Theodore Johnson and Miss Annie Beth Gary. Prof. Amacker has been chosen to serve as faculty adviser. The subject of the essay will be "The Next Decade of American Foreign Policy," and its length is not to exceed 5,000 words. It is to be an analysis of the economic, political, and geographic factors most likely to influence our foreign policy and is to set forth the basic principles of the suggested policy.

There will be a total of 12 prizes amounting to $4,050.00. Three national prizes of $450 and nine regional prizes of $300 each will be awarded to the winning committees.

Both men and women were eligible for appointment, and there was no restriction as to class or department. Both Murphy and Moorhead are candidates for honors in political science and Webb is majoring in mathematics and economics.

Mexico Is Topic Of Lecturer

Talk By Dr. Clark Is Sponsored By Spanish Club

Dr. Morris Clark, linguist, traveler, and lecturer, spoke last night at eight o'clock in Hardie Auditorium on Mexican government and statecraft. The study of Mexico and the preparing of slides are his hobbies. His purpose is to bring about a better understanding and friendlier relations between Mexico and the United States. He illustrated his lecture with colored slides which were shown by Mrs. Clark. Included in the slides were places of historical interest, predominant personages and scenes of the capital. The Spanish Club sponsored the lecture. If Dr. Clark considers last night's lecture successful enough, he will lecture again within a few months on Mexican art and industry.

WATCH THOSE CUTS!

Lest you be tempted to round off your figures, the number of chapel cuts which result in penalization is 20, and the student is free to take only 19. The twentieth cut invokes the penalty of the requirement of one hour additional credit for examination.

Chapel will not be held during examination week as it was until last year, and so there will be no possible way to make up chapel cuts already taken.

Waddle Resigns; High Fills Vacancy

Will Coach Varsity Cagemen; Nemecek To Coach Frosh

Coach Harold High, who since his graduation from Southwestern has been business manager of the athletic association and freshman basketball coach, has been appointed varsity basketball coach to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Coach Robert Waddle.

For the last three years, Coach Waddle has tutored the Lynx cagemen, as well as serving as backfield coach during the football seasons. Coach Waddle's resignation came as a surprise to faculty and students. The resignation, effective immediately, was handed in during the Christmas holidays. Waddle's reason for resignation, as stated, was that he was entering the business world. He will take a position with a Knoxville Buick agency.

Coach Murel Nemecek, freshman football mentor and men's physical education instructor, will replace Coach High as the coach of freshman basketball. There has been no announcement of whether or not an appointment will be made to fill the backfield coaching spot.

Subsidization Ends

We were, no doubt, not alone in receiving quite a jolt on reading in the Christmas Eve editions of the local papers that the Executive Committee had decided to cease every sort of athletic subsidization at Southwestern. The new policy, under which the existing commitments of tuition or other assistance will be discharged as promised, will end further subsidization in the future.

This step was taken, it was pointed out, because the athletic program was not paying for itself, and consequently money was being used for athletics that should have been spent on the other departments of the college. By this decision Southwestern is hoping to become "one of the leaders in a group concerned with preserving football as a college game and not as a college business."

No one can deny that this purity move would be the best thing that could possibly happen in collegiate football, and no one can deny that it is a mistake to take money from the academic departments of Southwestern and spend it on athletics. Southwestern is first of all a college. The football team is secondary.

Yet, regardless of the ethical desirability of non-subsidization, we believe that Southwestern, far more than the majority of colleges, needed football. Overlooking what ought to be, the mention of a college's name to the average person of age to think of choosing a college, is much more likely to bring to his mind something of that institution's success on the gridiron than the number of Ph.D.'s on the faculty. This sense of values is of course absurd but it is true. Still a college with no football team is certain to seem a little colorless to the prospective entrant, and this new policy can only mean the end of collegiate football at Southwestern. If a team had to be chosen from the male students on the campus, outside those now receiving athletic scholarships, we would not have anything to compare with the material of the average Memphis high school.

Southwestern needs football because Southwestern needs publicizing and because Southwestern needs the support of Memphis. The new policy will surely cause the college to be less well known outside of the immediate locality. The fact that Memphis likes football and wants Southwestern to have a team is shown by the support the Thousand Club has given the athletic department in the past. We wonder if it would not be possible for subsidization to the extent that it could be paid for by Thousand Club to be continued. This would not be taking money from other funds, since it seems that these men are willing to endow a smooth running quarter-back, when they would not do the same for a library or dormitory. This would, of course, mean less ambitious schedules, but would at least be collegiate football competition. There are other small colleges that are well known enough to draw crowds for games without Southwestern playing teams that are top ranking in the nation and which it is known beforehand will be easy winners.

We Thank You

With the posting of the exam schedule, we are all reminded that it is our fate to undergo a week and a half of extreme displeasure in about two more weeks. And yet there was a time when that displeasure lasted only a few days. However, it was much more intense.

To someone, whoever the kind soul is, who is responsible for the change, should go the commendation of all, for with a longer period for examinations, we can more nearly review properly, and get physically fit for them.

Obs. of One "R" Forthingay - Phipps. Bart. K. G., K. B.

I spent the holidays with my uncle, Hon. Henry Chalk-Marshall, who lives during the Winter at his palatial estate Langley end, Syd, Mass. We had jolly fun hunting the fox, having kidney deslu off the sideboard for breakfast, sitting around in the baronial halls of Langley End, and just generally kicking up a stink, as Harriette Hollis would put it. I didn't want to miss the goings on around Memphis, so Giles O'Shaffney was elected to pass on the good word to me each day by the efficient, if not 'pro forma' topping postal department. His little billet doux would arrive each morning with evidence of painful handwriting smeared across the front. After paying the three cents due on each, I would eagerly tear it open, and spend the larger part of the A.M. deciphering it. The general theme, that he expounded his literary efforts on, was the many debutante parties. How he managed to crash them is past me, but bosh 'em he did, and with each one he attended, came a spicy bit of news about one or so of our more prominent campus cut-ups. The most remarkable thing that I observed about the holidays in Memphis, was the whole-hearted support that everyone gave the British. As Giles put it, and as only he can, viz: "Gees, 'Rummy,' you shoulda seen the way dem guys put away de Scotch!!"

He said that Sam McCulloch was his accomplice on most of his little crashes, and that outside of watching the drooly way that Sammy dances, he was quite shocked by the way the Southwestern studes acted 'Off Campus'. He wasn't present at the time, but tis said that our Editor shunned the noise and hub dub of the usual New Year's eve, by tossing a little party in a quiet conservative way. Giles said that he got there around three in the morning, and Elder ran out of the house blowing a horn and yelling: "Is it twelve yet?" Giles said he took one look at E., one look in the window, and made a mad dash for the usual quiet and solitude found at the Annual New Year's Eve Party for The United Freight Workers.

Jack Ruffin was constantly popping up with his usual "My deeeaaar!!", his tuxedo suffering under the complex of padded shoulders. Pat and Jett were at the Peabody so much that the management wanted them for the floor show. You know that 'don't-bother-me-now-I'm-in-the-middle-of-a-picture' look, that Pat gets. Bill Morgan in short pants trying to dodge the Draft Board. And Murphy trying to do just the opposite. Margaret Bass carried out her usual off-campus air, by looking like Lady Darlinda Drip, what with poised cigarette, uplifted little finger on tea cup, and her usual "Oh my dear, how too, too, utterly something." Mercer West was trying to carry on mental telepathy with somebody in Nashville, and therefore wasn't very active on the scene. Francis Gregg was slinking around in her usual black, with that Mati Hari look in her eyes. (or maybe it was just a cold). At any rate, she did right well for herself. The debutantes, Giles said, looked like a 1929 issue of Harper's Bazaar that had been left out in the rain all these years, with Letty Brooks offering the only refreshing face in the Les Passe 'Living Ads.' No small wonder that Hays Brantley, the Lynx's newest social hound, seems so puffed up these days. Gile saw him tip a waiter at the club, who passed him the pretzels. Mimi Galloway was in quite a dither during the holidays trying to keep all of her men straight that had come home, and handle a new one at the same time. Maybe someday Mimi will learn that a belt in the hand is worth two in Virginia. (if somebody makes a crack about this sounding like a dirt column, they'll have to answer to Mozart). Ah yes, and there was Ruth Mitchell.....At her own party. Giles stated that he actually saw Jimmy New with his hair combed, but I accredited this to one of Gile's light, gay moods that comes after his fifteenth or sixteenth imbide. That, I told him, is something that even Mr. Roosevelt couldn't do. People that Giles didn't ever see were: Kitty

There seems to be some argument among the observers as to whether we are going to declare war or not, but there seems to be an agreement on our intention of declaring peace. The pessimists see the events of the day in the dark light of our experiences of 1917; the optimists see in world affairs portents of a greater world when peace again spreads the mantle of brotherhood over mankind. They want, these men of faith and vision, to make the next peace a lasting peace by first removing the causes for war and second by removing the means of waging war.

The United States has a difficult decision to make or has already made one. It can either regard the world in a hard cynical manner, believing that there is nothing that can be done to make it a place of peace and justice, or it can regard it with the vision of prophet, seeing in the chaos and injustice that will come when the sword is again beat into a plowshare. The first group argues that wars will come and wars will go in Europe as they always have and the only way we can possibly do any good is to keep strictly to ourselves in our own little corner of the world. In view of the last war, which I am told was a war to end all wars, they apparently are right and have the facts on their side. The other group believes that there is a reason for war and that if this reason is removed war will become obsolete. A group of distinguished Englishmen who are of this faith have drafted a document called the Declaration of the Rights of Man which sets forth their conception of the fundamental rights, economic, social, and political that should be guaranteed to all men everywhere—not to all Englishmen or to all Americans, but to all races of men everywhere. This group believes that there can be and there will be an international political structure which will ban war and replace it by a judicial system whereby issues between nations will be settled in the calm of the judicial chamber rather than on the battlefield.

Reading of this proposed "moral order," our thoughts are sure to be haunted by the vision of a man named Wilson and something that he called the Fourteen Points. Thinking still further, we are bound to think of the thousands of men who are now just so many zeroes locating the units, tens, hundreds, and thousands of men that were killed making the world safe for democracy. They fought the last war you know. In spite of this unhappy memory, men of courage still carry on the struggle to save man from himself. It may be that only a fool will try, and keep trying, something that causes him great pain and which he can never accomplish. This may be true, but it can also just as truthfully be said that only weaklings and cowards give up a great task just because they get licked the first time.

People we heard about during the holidays:

The conscientious carpenter who got a job on one of our defense projects and after carrying the same two by four around on his shoulder for three days, threw it down with an oath, declaring that—he hired out as a carpenter and if there wasn't any carpenter work there he was quitting. About that time somebody tapped him on the shoulder and a man behind him said, "you can't do that mister. I'm your helper. I've been following you around for three days."

Tipton, Louise Jennings, Annabelle Paine and a few others that we don't wish to embarrass. I hope that the girls realize the position that they have obtained by not being seen by Giles, and will back their excuses accordingly. Word got to my correspondent, that after England had been home for three days, he was seriously considering running for Mayor of his home town. Don't tell anybody, but 'tis said that he tore the top off a poster, and now has a sign in his room that reads: "ENGLAND CANNOT FAIL."

Well, as my uncle Hethbert Tithington-Syd used to say to me, while riding in the middle of the chase with 'hark for'ard, yoicks' ringin gin our ears, and I quote: "That's life in the city, my boy!! See what you can do with it!!"

Snips that Pass in the Night

By SAM McCULLOCH

After two weeks of riotous living, flu, and other things, we find ourselves still the same sordid personality as ever, trying to give a little joy with our comments and ten cent memories, and mostly getting nowhere. Speaking of comments, we're reminded rather pointedly of the old Steggi Prep days and one of our favorite French professors there. Obadiah McAdams, a pleasant corpse from Providence of old Puritan stock, was translating and the prof wondered acridly if he were "recting or just commenting." Alas, that decisive pedagogical nature never lived through prohibition days.

We dropped in on the Newport set a little after Christmas to find everybody holding a post mortum on presents. It was just the kind of weather for something to happen, invigorating enough, as C. Morley says, to make a "bishop bite a barmaid in the neck." Little Marie de Masseur, with a delicate personality! There she was, reclining on an old horse-hair diyan, trying to lure somebody into a bear-trap her brother sent her from Winnipeg. A rather indefinite sob fell for it when Marie started the grinds. But he saw through it after getting a foot sheared off, and went stumping off to get his flass filled, completely unperurbed. Anyway it was amusing at the time. A grim bunch, the Coast Tribe.

Imagine our surprise at running into Rummy and Giles O'Shaffney at the Berribury Affair last week. Everything went smoothly, even when Giles stabbed one of the waiters, till about eleven o'clock. The break came when Rummy looked at the charming hostess and muttered wearily: "Hrump, caff-caff! Chubby little lass, 'snt she?"

On the way to school the first morning, we saw something new in the way of highway literature: Dangerous Men Working

Travel at your Own Risk Something always happens to us on New Year's Eve. We got the wrong one in the dark this time and a scar we will carry to our grave. But it was nothing compared to last year, when we caught our lower lip in a revolving door.

SURVEYING THE SENIORS

(This is a new feature of the Southwestern which will continue for a number of weeks. The minute biographies of the seniors presented are not merely lists of their different honors and offices. The attempts made here to reveal the personalities may be incorrect, as they are, after all, only one person's opinion.)

The largest freshman class of the September of 1937. On that day it numbered 207, while today the senior class totals 72. Whether it is a case of "survival of the fittest" is debatable, but of that original 207, only 53 remain. The rest of the 72 have been added by transfers and by a few who are going through college on the Five Year Plan. How many of the present seniors will graduate is still a question for the future, so we are presenting in these next few weeks the biographies of all those classified at present at seniors. Of the class, fifty-seven per cent come from Memphis. Twenty-eight are women, and 44 are men.

The top of our list is MAXINE ALLEN. At first we thought Maxine was a shy, timid little creature who would faint if we said 'hello' in a very loud voice. But we've learned differently. She has a great deal of poise and intelligence; a favorite of girls, but not so sure of herself around boys, she hides this by being indifferent. We aren't sure whether it's pretended or not. Her perceptive mind has earned a good scholastic average. Don't let her unassuming manner fool you.

P. T. BAKER came to us as a football transfer. He calls Celeste, Texas, home, but during school lives in Stewart Hall. A rather meek looking individual for a football player, P. T. has for the past few years always aroused the interest of the freshman Evergreen Hall girls. P. T. seems to be interested in the higher things of life—at any rate he took music last year.

When we come to GORTON BERRY we don't have to look hard for a title, "ladies' man." It's been a long line of broken hearts in the past and now his present flame seems to be a fresh-

Lynx Chat

What with influenza and nice leering streptococci waiting to grasp you as you round some cold, clammy corner we are rather loathe to uncover any dirt. It ain't sanitary. And we are trying so hard to save our attack of flu till the week of Jan 22-23.

You know at times the futility of it all presses down on us. What's the use of having a gossip column. The only real inside information you know you've promised on your Girl Scout or Boy Scout word of honor not to reveal. And so, we hint darkly that there will be quite a few vacancies in the football ranks at the beginning of the second semester; and that one little co-ed will quit school to get married, though no one out here would even guess that she is on the verge.

Incidentally, while we are in the rumoring mood, we heard from the first-cousin of the guy who dusts the floors for the man who is in charge of the contest that the Maid of Cotton (this year will be a Southwestern girl. So, with the stars in your favor, all you cute children who might be interested run right out and send in your application before tomorrow. (No, you won't have to parade in your bathing suit, and your knock-knees won't show.)

Bubber Beasley had a lot of lipstick on his face the other day in the bookstore. Mrs. Holloway came to his rescue just in time, however.....And we understand that a certain little high school sophomore has asked him to go to a backward dance.....Another high school rusher is George Battle Case. His gal is named Isabel.....Just in case some people don't appreciate this column, we'd like to mention casually that we are read from Cambridge, Mass. to San Antonio, Texas. The other day we even got a fan letter.....Gibson sent his girl in Chicago another pin, and she knitted him a sweater. Esch also came thru with a sweater.....Murphy and Waggener have also come to the parting of the ways, and Billy is now squiring Harriette.....Ross now has Radford's picture.

We can't resist reminding you how we predicted that there would be several marriages before the school year ended, and now we are besieged with numerous announcements (not invitations) of weddings.....Of course, Jack and Jill came as the first surprise, but it would seem that No'ra Armstrong and Jimmy Carpenter have had us fooled since August. And did you hear all the people in chapel the other day saying, "Why I just doubled with them last week.".....And we shouldn't forget the ensuing marriage of another Zeta Tau Alpha who is sporting a sparkler that would look well on the Empire State Tower..... These Zetas seem to know how to catch their men.....But we hear that Mr. Allman now has his pin back.....

We want, for the sake of variety and fair play, to toss our bouquet of the week to one Bland Cannon, who after two seasons with the debutantes seems ready to settle down to Tinnie Burch and the cloisters of medical school. One of our young swains has already deserted us for the aforementioned cloisters. John Flanniken entered this quarter, and the latest reports have June taking Maybry to that K.A. sponsors' fling—John had to study.....and have you noticed this McKinney—Worten friendship beginning to blossom into something deeper? Surely she wouldn't be forgetting Henry Lynch. A parting warning to you of the male sex—don't let your ego become inflated because of the sudden attention the gals are pouring on—remember they are looking to the future and the Pan dances.....G'bye.

ette. Gorton always has liked 'em tender. But back of his seeming play-boy exterior, Berry has a good deal of sense. He's interested in phonograph records, likes to travel to football games, and we predict that someday he'll be quite the successful business man. That is, if he'll ever settle down to business. By the way, Gorton is one of the seniors mentioned today who isn't quiet, timid, shy, or meek.

GEORGE BLAKEMORE is another whose name begins with B, and here B stands for basketball. As the mainstay of the Lynx cage-men he's received a lot more notice than other leaders in minor sports. George is not talkative unless he knows you, but as several little girls have said, "He has such a sweet face." His blonde height seems to be good for something besides basketball.

TO AWARD SCHOLARSHIP

Recently announced by the Scholarship Committee of the Memphis A. A. U. W. is the annual scholarship of $50.00 offered by that organization to some junior or senior woman student of Southwestern. The award will be made on the basis of three considerations. They are the applicants college record scholastically to date, the need for the scholarship, the applicants intention to graduate from college and general acceptability.

Applications with the aforementioned information and transcribed grades were turned in to the registrar January 7.

"Meany" Day Calls Forth Dark Deeds

BE MEAN was the only rule for "Meany" day set aside by the Buchtelite, University of Akron student newspaper, as the day for students to grouse and gripe, the day to be mean to everybody.

The old days of custard pie movies came back when a real meany tossed a piece of lemon meringue pie at a co-ed.....and hit his mark. Another co-ed got her face washed in the snow. One meany poured water in a co-ed's high rubber boots; another student got the hotfoot; while still another man's shoe strings were tied together while he was sitting in the student building cafeteria. Someone mixed up all the hats and coats in the checking room while someone else was dumping snow into all the boots.

A student was given a raw hamburger in the cafeteria, so he took it into the kitchen and cooked it himself. Then he refused to pay for it. One mean's dirty trick backfired when he shot his own hand with a toy cannon he was firing to frighten other persons. Some unsuspecting students found themselves blue at the mouth after drinking cokes "flavored" with ink. One fraternity man was the victim of a band of other mean Greeks, who cut off his necktie, smeared his face with lipstick and chased him all over the campus. In keeping with the ornery spirit of the day, the Buchtelite was printed in dirty brown ink. —A.C.P.

WHAT'S NEW IN JAZZ?

The rumors are now out that Bill Basie's band will not break up. Basie after threatening to join Benny Goodman, got action, and the results he wanted. His fight with MCA was settled and he is now slated to open in the new Cafe Society in January. He actually joined Goodman's band, but never let his own off payroll.

Glenn Miller To Make Movie

Glenn Miller has signed with 20th Century-Fox to appear in a movie with Sonja Heine. He is to get $100,000 for the job.

Bunny Berigan is booked into the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans with his new band.

J. C. Higginbotham joined Red Allen at New York's downtown Cafe Society last week.

The second release of Columbia's Hot Jazz Classics was brought forth Dec. 6 and has forced Victor to start releasing also.

At present no reliable information can be had concerning the disaster that has been reported to have hit Jan Savitt. Part of the band is playing the relief job at Hotel Edison.

Orchestras are now forced to compose new themes to be able to play on the radio hook-ups. The reason being most of the present ones are ASCAP tunes.

Dorsey Smashes Record

Jimmy Dorsey smashed the Meadowbrook record in December drawing 11,400 persons one week. Amen, Brother.

"Benny Rides Again"

Columbia proudly announces that "Benny Rides Again," meaning of course, Benny Goodman with his new orchestra. To illustrate how highly the occasion is regarded, the record is 12 inches. George Auld, Cootie Williams, Artie Shapiro, The Count and others assist. Victor's contribution to the move to ressurrect the "Classics of Hot Jazz" comes with six re-issues on Bluebird this week. For unalloyed beat, Benny Moten's Kansas City Orchestra in Lafayette and New Orleans is not surpassed even today. Also fine, Paul Whiteman record with "Mr. Tea" going to town on trombone.

Jam Session Makes "Beat Me Daddy"

If you haven't heard too much Beat Me Daddy, get Woody Herman's record. The Band was just jamming in the studio to kill time and the engineers picked it up. It was so good they decided to release it.

Cripple Clarence Lofton's Pine Top's Boogie Woogie is the record of the month. It may be purchased for $1.00 at 1600 Broadway, N. Y. at Solo Art Records.

What's New in the Legitimate Field?

Dimitri Mitropoulos will make his final appearance as guest conductor of the Philharmonic Symphony for this season next Sunday afternoon. He will be followed by Bruno Walter. Do not be surprised if the Philharmonic has a new director next season—Dimitri Mitropoulos.

DeFalla: Nights in the Garden of Spain (Victor, three 12 inch records 3.50). DeFalla who is now living in South America, working presumably on his opert "Atlantida," knows just how to give his music the right mood and color of his native land. The performance passes muster—well boled.

Stakowski is going to Hollywood again we hear to make more recordings with Walt Disney, possibly to replace some of the present material in Fantasia. As is well known by now, the two almost disputed ones are Beethoven's Sixth Symphony and Stravinsky's Le Sacre Lu Printemps. Whether or not they are to be replaced is a secret between Mr. Disney and Mr. Stakowski.

I think she does.

MY LAST LUSCIOUS DUCHESS

From the Daily Princetonian

That's my last Duchess up there on my dresser; She's quite a wench, and you've gotta confess her Torso's pretty slinky. Orren Jack Worked long on that (the picture), so's not to hack. Whew! See those lips! Let me tell you they cling Like barnacles. By God, they've got a sting Like absinthe mixed with H2SO4. One time I took her on a night club floor To dance (she had a strapless evening gown); Immediately the music all ran down: Musicians gaped and gaped with drooling jowls Amid the blatant drunkard's uncouth howls. Hey listen here! That picture's really hot: Her eyes are lush—they never get all shot Like other dames: these eyes just sit above Her cheeks so soft and warm and red with love Like azure saucers on a rose-hued doily— Boy, she's a plenty potent little gollie! Say, you want to know what made that smile? When Orren Jack said, "Watch the birdie," I'll Be darned if the woman didn't laugh and say She's never heard a joke so witty, gay, And quite original. Well, that stuff's sweet And lovely and my joy was most complete

Through all the first few weeks, but gradually I started in to take account and see Just what this was I had on hand: she had A face and chassis that might make Venus glad To take the part of Tugboat Annie, and She made a schoolgirl seem like Sally Rand As far as innocence went. Why, do you know She thought they bought the steins of beer just so That you could wash the pretzels. She was told That people kissed because their mouths were cold. Well, as you may have guessed this act began To pall; I guess that I'm just not the man That can appreciate a solid dose Of undiluted heaven, I grew morose And longed to see my shabby little blonde From N. Y. C. of whom I'm very fond, Despite her accent and her scrawny frame. I longed to have a vicious little dame That people wouldn't whistle at. So, much as It grieved my soul, I ditched the luscious Duchess. I left her in a college locker room, Naively blissful of impending doom. Now scram, I've gotta work: but first see all The luscious Petty drawings on the wall.

Yes, Southwestern could have a 6-page paper every week.

How could Southwestern have a 6-page paper every week?

If the students would make the advertisers realize that Southwestern's buying power turns first to the advertisers, The Sou'wester's constant audience of college students would be sufficient to make this paper the backbone of the advertisers' collegiate campaigns.

Peggy Kelly Is Archery Champ

Betty Albro Places Second; Eugenia Carter Third

Southwestern is crowning champions right and left these days. The most recent addition to the list of champs is Peggy Kelly, Kappa Delta pledge, and freshman, who walked away with the girl's archery tournament held the day before the holidays. Peggy scored eighteen bull's eyes out of a possible forty-eight, and ran up a total of 346 points. In second place was Betty Albro, freshman and Zeta pledge, with 17 bull's eyes and 317 points. Eugenia Carter, Kappa Delta junior, was third scoring thirteen bull's eyes and 313 points.

An award will be made to Peggy at the end of the year, and her class and sorority will each receive twenty-five points on the class and sorority trophies. The freshman class will also receive fifteen points for second place, as will the Zetas. The junior class and Kappa Deltas will each receive fifteen points for third place. The freshman class and the Kappa Delta sorority had the largest number of points in all.

The contestants shot at a 24-inch target on a short indoor range. The tournament was the climax of weeks of practicing.

"What have you done," St. Peter asked.

"That I should admit you here?" "I ran a paper," the editor said. "At my school for one long year." St. Peter pityingly shook his head. And gravely rang his bell. "Come in, you poor thing, select your harp"

"You've had your share of hell."

Kappa Sigma Leads In Basketball

K.A.'s Nose Out A.T.O.'s 18-16; S.A.E. Swamps Non-Frats

By virtue of their victory over the K.A.'s last Tuesday, 47-20, the Kappa Sig's are leading in intramural basketball, having won all five of their games in the first round.

In one of the most thrilling games of the season the K.A.'s nosed out the A.T.O.'s last Saturday p.m. At the end of the last quarter, teams were caught in a deadlock. Three extra periods were required to break this tie. Led by Bill Maybry, the K.A.'s edged out their fighting opponents, 18-16.

On Wednesday the A.T.O.'s, sparked by the scoring of Bill Moorhead, defeated the Sigma Nu's 49-11. The loss of Johnson and Berryman rendered this team unable to cope with the strong attack of the A.T.O. five.

The S.A.E.'s put down the Non-fraternity men the same afternoon with a 20-6 victory. Again the S.A.E.'s showed their superb guarding.

Bill Maybry of the K.A.'s is leading the high scores of the boy's intramural basketball with 46 points. Claude Romine of the Kappa Sig's is pushing Maybry for his position with 42 points.

The team standing to date is:

Top Games Are With Tulane and Mississippi State

The Southwestern athletic association has announced its 1941 basketball schedule. Top games are a definite battle with Mississippi State on January 20 and a tentative engagement with Tulane January 16. Both will be in the Southwestern gym.

The new varsity coach, Harold High, will probably rework the offense considerably, favoring the fast break over the delayed break practiced by former Coach Waddle.

Many of the games will be out of town, being played in North Mississippi and East Tennessee. The schedule, approved by the faculty committee on athletics, is as follows:

- Jan. 10—Mississippi College, there

It's the cooler better-tasting... milder cigarette

It's called the SMOKER'S cigarette... Chesterfield... because it's the one cigarette that gives you a COMPLETELY SATISFYING smoke.

You try them and find them COOL and PLEASANT. You light one and find they really TASTE BETTER. You buy pack after pack and find they are MILDER.
