Stylus Club Chooses Eight New Members

Initiation Next Week; Work Will Be in Journal

Stylus Club announces the selection of eight new members, whose initiation will take place sometime next week. Those invited to join were Jack Reid, Ainslie Pryor, Dave Ruffin, W. C. Surber, James Cogswell, Hugh Black, Ethel Williams and Francis Babin.

Some of the work submitted for membership will be used in the Journal, which comes out in May. The papers included short stories, poems, essays, and a hostorical sketch. Jack Reid submitted a sentimental letter entitled "A Letter of Explanation"; Ethel Williams wrote a group of poems entitled "Plantation Negroes"; Ainslie Pryor wrote a parody on various modern literary styles called "Do You." "Motif Ennui" by Dave Ruffin reveals the random thoughts, in a morbid vein, of a man who commits suicide; W. C. Surber submitted a humorous story centered around men's sports ensembles, entitled, "Memorial To Slacks Suits." Francis Babin wrote a historical sketch on an incident from the lives of Raleigh and Drake, and Hugh Black wrote a short story involving the supernatural, and called "Top Step on the Bottom Step." A philosophical monologue entitled "Soliloquy of a Wise Fool" was written by James Cogswell.

The new members will not be tapped in chapel, but will appear in the traditional blue stockings and garters of the order.

Those whose works will appear in the Journal are Jack Reid, Dave Ruffin, Wilma Surber, James Cogswell, and Ethel Williams.

Labor And Defense Topic Of Program

Cable, Ensign, and Case on This Week's Forum Over WREC

Wednesday afternoon at 5:15 over radio station WREC three more Southwestern students held a discussion of problems of the day. The three students were Charles Cable, George Case, and Willis Ensign. The subject of their discussion was "Labor and National Defense." Buddy Bostick served as moderator for the fifteen-minute program.

In their discussion of "Labor and National Defense," Cable, Case, and Ensign brought out the following points: first, how much labor disputes affect national defense efforts; secondly, labor alone is not responsible; thirdly, should the government curtail such rights as that of strike; in the fourth place present government efforts are not capable of solving the problem. Those agencies are namely; the N.L.R.B., the Conciliation Service of the Department of Labor, and the Dykstra Board. Finally, it was suggested that the government should legislate to enforce a mediation period with three groups represented—labor, capital, and the people, and this group should be vested with the power to settle all future disputes.

Track Meet And Tennis Matches This Afternoon

Netmen Play Sewanee. Thinclads Encounter Arkansas State at 2:30

Tennis matches between Southwestern and Sewanee and the Southwestern-Arkansas State track meet will feature the athletic program today as a part of the S-Club Day entertainment. Other events are softball games and plays. Both the track meet and the tennis matches will begin at 2:30.

After having been very successful in former starts, the Lynx netmen will be gunning for their fifth win, when they meet the Purple Tigers. Both teams will go on the courts Saturday with a rather lengthy string of wins under their belts. The outcome is a toss-up. The Southwestern team will be Jimmy Collier, Bob Meacham, Mac Hinson, Lewis Wellford, and Jack Taylor. The number one doubles team will be Collier and Meacham and the number two team Hinson and Taylor.

After tripping Sewanee 69 to 48 in their first meet of the season, the trackmen will be out to keep their record unblemished. Among the Southwestern entries will be Bill Pope and Winston Cocke in the 100-yard dash, Carl Dickerson in the 120-yard high hurdles, Billy Dowdle, Ray Allen, and Billy Speros in the 440-yard run, Dowdle, Speros, and J. C. Coats in the 880-yard run, Bill Pope and Carlton Freeman in the 220-yard dash, and Dickerson and Cocke in the 220-yard low hurdles. Luke Dawson and Bill Maybry will represent the Lynx in the mile run and in the two mile run.

In the field events Southwestern will enter Stob Jones and Lewis Wellford in the high jump, Mercer West and Dan West in the Discus throw, the West Brothers and Jones in the shot put, Leon Underwood, Lewis Wellford, and Chaney Thompson in the pole vault, and Abe Palmer, Cliff Cast, and Jim Ising in the javelin throw. The mile relay team will be made up from among those entered in the meet.

Drama For Alumni Day Is Planned

Tryouts for Play Monday If Students Show Interest

Tentative plans are being made for the production of a play for Alumni Day, it was announced this week by Professor H. B. Davis. It is an attempt by the college, Professor Davis explained, to begin a practice that will become a tradition and will entertain the alumni, seniors and commencement visitors of the college each year. The entire student body, with the exception of the seniors, will be eligible for parts in the play and not merely the Players, Professor Davis pointed out.

The plan will be presented to the student body to enlist their support, since their backing is necessary if the play is to be put on.

Two plays are being considered, a modern version of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" and R. B. Sheridan's "Rivals." The final selection of the play will depend on the individuals available for casting. There is a special need for the men students to try out for parts.

Tryouts will be called for Monday, 1:30 to 2:30, and rehearsals will begin the 29th and continue every other day for three weeks at this same time. During exam week only private rehearsals will be held, depending on the individual's exam schedule.

YOUNG RESTING WELL

John Young, senior, who received a broken left leg and dislocated ankle Thursday afternoon, was reported resting well at the Campbell Clinic last night. Young was injured during the Kappa Sigma-Sigma Nu softball game Thursday when he collided with the third baseman in an attempted slide to that base.

Citizenship Award For Senior Man

Medal Will Be Given By Sons of American Revolution May 1

A new honor has been made available to some man in the senior class of Southwestern by the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, it was announced this week by Mr. Samuel Cole, president of the Memphis chapter of the organization. The Society is offering a citizenship award to one of the senior men. The members of the senior class will meet Tuesday to nominate five men for the award and to select a committee of three faculty members who will make the final choice. The award, a medal, will be made in chapel Thursday, May 1.

The qualities to be considered in making the award will be: dependability, as evidenced by the record in punctuality, truthfulness, honesty, loyalty, trustworthiness and self-control; cooperation as evidenced by the record in respect for authority, respect for property, respect for the rights of others and courtesy; leadership, as shown by what the pupil has done to make the school a better school; and patriotism, as evidenced by a loyalty to, and knowledge of, the purpose expressed in the Preamble of the Constitution of the United States.

It was particularly stressed by the organization that an unworthy selection would reflect directly on the class and that the class should understand that neither social popularity, athletic achievement nor scholarship should be the determining factor in the selection.

Dean Hoag On Sunday Forum

To Address Group On Episcopal Beliefs Sunday

Dean Harold B. Hoag of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral will address the Sunday evening Forum this week, announced Robert Meacham, president of the group, Wednesday.

Continuing the line of talks of the past few weeks wherein a search has been made into the various religious sects and their differences in beliefs, Dean Hoag will explain the outstanding features of the Episcopal religion.

Last Sunday, Dr. Townsend addressed the Forum on Catholicism. He outlined briefly the hierarchical structure of the Catholic Church. He showed that while most Protestant religions have only two sacraments, Catholicism has seven. He also explained how the authority of the priests differed from that of Protestant pastors.

Receives Crown From Jones In Chapel Program

Drama, Softball, Tennis, Track and Dance Planned

The official opening of S Club Day will be proclaimed in chapel by Mary Ware, 1941 S. Club Queen. After her coronation ceremony, she will officially bid the festivities of the day begin. The ceremony, which will take place in chapel this morning will be conducted by Harold Jones and witnessed by the student body.

The Coronation, which will last from 8:45 until 9:15 in Hardie Auditorium, will be followed by two plays in the gym. The plays will be from 9:30 to 11:00, and were produced under the direction of Harold Jones and Prof. H. B. Davis. In the first play, which is entitled "S. S. Glencairn," Emmet Kelly as Yank, has the lead. Others in the cast are: Ned Sparks as Driscoll; Beryl Waller as Cocky; Johnny Iles as Davis; Clyde Malone as Scotty; R. G. Goodrich as Olsen; Icky Orenstein as Paul; Jasper Wood as Smitty; Jim Andrew as Ivan; George Blakemore as Cap'n; and Dub Cast as the second mate.

The second play, a metropolitan drama, which takes place in an apartment suite, is entitled "Desires." Mary Ware and Betsy Foster take the female leads in the parts of Henrietta and Mable respectively. Bubba Beasley, as Stephen, is the leading and only male character. There are two scenes, between which two weeks elapse. This play is under the direction of Ainslie Pryor.

At 11:15, the annual softball game between the S Club and the Intramural All-Stars will be held on the softball diamond. Battery for the S Club will be Fleet Edwards and Abe Palmer; for the All-Stars, J. A. Costello and Bob Cogswell. Last year the game was won by the All-Stars, with Costello in the box.

Lunch will be served in the dining hall at one o'clock, and town students are invited to eat there at that time at the price of twenty-five cents.

The afternoon program includes a track meet with Arkansas State and tennis matches with Sewanee. The track meet begins at Fargason Field at 2:30. The day will be climaxed by the semi-annual S Club dance in the gym at 8:30, at which time awards will be made to the new initiates, the new officers and the honorary members for this year will be announced.

Y.W.C.A. To Elect Wednesday Night

Meeting in Zeta Lodge; Ruth Lee To Give Program

The Y.W.C.A. will meet next Wednesday night at the Zeta house. It will be the last meeting of the year and new officers will be elected. These new officers, who will be installed at the end of the meeting, will take over their duties immediately. They, with the help of the old cabinet, will plan the Curling-iron Banquet which is held annually the second or third week in May.

The program for the meeting Wednesday will be conducted by Ruth Lee, vice-president, who will be assisted by the other old officers, and Toni Noce, past president of the Woman's Undergraduate Society. The subject will be "The Students Part in a War Torn World"; the object is to prepare the women students with the contributions they can make to uphold peaceful and Christian ideals in the present confusion.

Key Hounds—

This action of ODK's in making it necessary for future members to have an average in the upper third of their school, while it is calculated to boost the prestige of ODK, at the same time will restore some badly needed sanity to the realm of extracurricular activities.

It will to a large extent eliminate the "activities man," otherwise known as the "key-hound" who makes ODK his goal in college, and sacrifices all else to this achievement, including studies.

It will serve to shift the emphasis back to scholarship, where it should have been all along, and at the same time do much toward eliminating the fellows who regard an ODK key as an end in itself, rather as something that comes along inevitably and unsought, as a by-product of work in other lines.

It will also make fraternities careful in picking future politicians from their pledges, make them insist on academically qualified men and distribute the load of house affairs, rather than lumping it all on one poor devil who is so busy wasting time in committee meetings that he never gets to crack a book. —Ring-Tum Phi.

Hold That Book—

The morning chapel service is almost over. The end of the last verse of the hymn is almost nigh, when suddenly—plop, plop, plop, etc.—sounds are heard that resemble maid's night out in the kitchen or children's day at the bowling alley. About twenty people gasp—"Amen," and chapel, one of Southwestern's traditions, is over. In fact, it has become too traditional at Southwestern to prelude the amen of the morning hymn with a barrage of book-dropping. It is not only an act of gross irreverence, but it is also not decreasing the depreciation on chapel hymn-books by leaps and bounds. Furthermore, this is by no means the only aspect of the student body's attitude and conduct in chapel open to criticism. The whole service lacks a great deal of seriousness on the part of the students; some students study during the service, others refuse to stand during the singing of the hymn, others even carry on conversations during the service. There was a time during this school year when we could point to our chapel services with pride. But now the adjectives which describe it most accurately are —irreverent and hypocritical.

Let us again make an effort to take chapel seriously. R. C.

Concerning Elections—

Several years ago, there appeared in the Sou'wester's editorial column a plea that the student body and campus organization elections be held the first of April instead of during May. For some reason the student council failed to adopt the plan. The plan was proposed in an effort to provide more time for the seniors, who are burdened with extra-curricular activities, to study for their examinations. It was pointed out that since most of the campus offices that require much time and effort are occupied by the seniors and since these same seniors are the ones that are usually reading for honors or distinction, the relinquishment of their duties would be a great help for them. Their offices would be filled by juniors, who would assume the duties of the positions immediately and thus obtain experience while the seniors were still on the campus to direct them. This appears to be plan of particularly merit. Why isn't it adopted?

Obs. of One "R" Forthingay -Phipps. Bart. K.G., K.B.

All sorts of correspondence has been pouring in over the week, concerning the debate that's scheduled for next Tuesday night. I might pause here to remind my readers (all two of them; Pinckney and myself) that the debate is: Resolved, That Fraternities and Sororities Should be Abolished on the Southwestern Campus. Many opinions have come to me on this subject, and I feel that some of them are worth passing on to the student body. The first that I happened to open was from Miss Audrey Watermoccasin. She, as you all probably know, is the very unpopular post deb from Bobo, Miss. Miss Watermoccasin's opinions should be valued, as she is well traveled in two counties, speaks in several different accents, and spends her spare time designing her own currency. I quote: "It ain't the idea of brotherly and sisterly friendship that prevails in the fraternities and sororities, it's the fact that it creates a competitive feeling on the campus that makes the ball roll. See what'ta mean?" If you can get to the bottom of that statement, I think that you will find a real meaning there. (So far, I haven't been able to obtain the depth).

The next letter that caught my attention was from Sargent Michael Dodson O'Toole, of the 29'th. S.V.P., 6'th. W.O.W. who said, and I quote: "Sororities and fraternities, by all means, should be present on a college campus. Without them, you are confronted by little groups that isolate themselves, and undermine the ideas of Americanism. These groups are unorganized, and usually travel in three's, devouring all things that come in their path. At present, there are two of these groups preserved in the Academy of Natural History, Rome, Alaska. Think, before you act on such an important decision." (There will be a meeting of all those not concerned at the City Auditorium, May 2, through the 9th).

And now we come to the most enlightening letter that I received. It was written by Mrgatroid Phoil, Meanological student at the Arkansas Institute of Meaning. If any of you are at all familiar with the Arkansas Bird-Callers Gazette, the name Mrgatroil Phoil will strike a note on the annals of your memory. He, like his father before him, is considered the undisputed South Central Bird-Calling Champion. His thesis on bird calling, recently appearing in the book "For Whom the Bed Folds," revealed the true origin, aim, and system of the American Fraternity and Sorority. No small wonder, then, that he should be interested in our problem. (It really isn't a problem, it's just a debate). I will pick from his letter, at random: "Politics begin with youth. Look around you today! Anticipation, without relaxation, is our first line of defense!! To do a thing well, you have to have a couple of fochattas, and not to mention a little fenine."

Doesn't it make you feel safe to read something like the above? Gee, it just makes me tingle all down inside. To think that there is still someone who has a level head, on a pair of stoutly built shoulders. My!!

Seeking further information on this subject, I took my little International Harvester notebook (the ones that they give away each year), a sharp pencil, and an old one wheel bicycle, and set out to interview a few people. I found O'Shaffney digging big holes in the tennis courts, and when I asked him what he thought of the idea of abolishing all fraternities and sororities on the S'western campus, he merly spat through his snaggled tooth, and grinned. This grin grew with a knowing line, and it was all I could do to get away, before falling under the spell of the horrible thing. His bloodshot eyes became milky, and his mouth spread from ear to ear, with those large ugly teeth looking like windows on a Yak train. He spoke: "Dey don't have 'em at Leavenworth, do dey?"

And so it is with this thought in mind that we take leave of the little island of Smugness. As our ship heads into the beautiful sunset, we look back and see the boys and girls waving "Aloha." No, they aren't waving at us, they're waving at each other. I'm sorry, they aren't waving at all; they're throwing at each other. Well, they don't have them at Leavenworth, anyway.

Lynx Chat

After a rather rough week-end with the MVPA delegates, some of which we think were undoubtedly old for their age, your lil' Lynx pussy is perfectly content to settle down and view the antics of the sophisticated and settled Southwestern students in their normal atmosphere. Among those who led the male onslaught aimed at the Press Convention delegates, was Ernest Reid, whose experience with Bunny prolonged his Easter joys. A copy of the Sou'wester goes as this week's prize to Gorton "Junior" Berry, whose heart leaped with the fierce urge of adventure upon hearing that there were two of the MVPA delegates comfortably situated amidst the red leather upholstering of his convertible. After racing headlong down three flights of stairs, Junior found the aforementioned females of rather dubious beauty and broadened by education or diet . . . Well anyway you get A for effort, Gorton.

Campuscene — Martha "Props" Hewitt attempting to stifle a rumor of her late date with Bob McCrary last Saturday night—Beverly McFall, huddled under a trench coat and bravely facing the rain Tuesday in order to give her support to Dickerson—who did alright. Sonny Reynolds, aided and abetted by Wini Pritchartt, soliciting a shove for his auto three times daily—Jac Ruffin scurrying like a gopher for cover—he certainly is a busy man these days —J. C. Coats, training for track by chasing Louise Gordon, who we think is hoping he breaks the record—Stob Jones, busiest man of the week, preparing today's prorgram of events.

Embarrassing moment of the week was lived through by Beryl Waller last Friday afternoon. "Bear," playing first base for the ATO's against the Kappa Sigs, stretched a bit too far to reach a rather high throw from the infield and the gallery a few feet away were brought to sudden attention by a very audible and ominous rending of cloth.—Yes, it was his trousers and it was a total loss. Beryl, though, with ingenuity, quickly devised a toga-like apparel from someone's discarded shirt and played on. —Did you notice how Demetra Patton was really in the spirit of things at the MVPA dance? We wonder if McCulloch ever found his Phi Beta Kappa key the same night?

We just learned by tapping the wires that "Little Joe" (known to his immediate family as Jim) Thomas makes nightly telephone calls to Peggy Hughes and is quite frank to her about his devotion. Chaney Thompson also has begun to notice her. Seems like we can't keep off the subject of the MVPA, but we just must reprimand John O'Hearn, who was dating the delegate who arrived at the Z. T. A. house about 1:30 P.M. Friday night after the dance. Said delegate walked calmly in and finding the chaperons still awake, looked frustrated and exclaimed a la O'Kelly, "I sure do feel silly."

Flash: Henry Craft, after thoughtful consideration (cause he's the thoughtful kind) has finally made the move and pinned Norma Bright. Another pin of the same brand is now on Beverly McFall—it must be the Spring. Notice Ruth Logsdon making periodic returns to the campus and to Jim Andrew, who is now dating Carolyn Carrol and Barbara Dean. Of course you heard about Charley Carter and Sue Potts. They were driving back from Germantown last Saturday night when Charley overestimated his control over the auto and attempted a quick turn. The car skidded and came to a stop minus two fenders, the running board and Sue. Charley, gentleman that he is, went back and picked her up from the gravel and carried her to receive first aid. It sure was a wet night, wasn't it Charley?

Was with real regret that we learned Bucky Alpe has signed up for Uncle Sam's Air Corps. He was our favorite campus character. We've never seen him when he wasn't in the best of spirits and smiling to show it. Wonder if McNees ever gets his Wortens and Wootens mixed? Maurice and Deola abandoned appeasement and resorted to blows again this week.

And have you seen the latest in men's underwear. Moose Moorhead, that man's man of the strong, silent type, now sports some with pastel flowers around the neck and with red bows on the shoulders. He says it's the result of his package going to Evergreen Hall before he got his hands on it, but we're sure none of the Evergreen Girls is of such a practical nature as to have learned to sew. Who knows Moose, maybe you've started a fad. Send Esquire a photo of yourself adorned in the Springly little numbers and they'll probably feature you in the next issue as Southwestern's May Queen. Notice John McGrady, former Student body prexy has returned to the campus this week. Droop looks less droopy.

Flash from the Memphis Police Court—The name of Frank Addams England appeared on the docket this week. Mr. England was charged with running two red lights, going the wrong way on a one-way street and reckless driving. It happened when Frank was rushing two of the attractive delegates to the MVPA from the campus to the bus station. We suggest that you keep your eyes on the road next time, Frank.

To those who helped with MVPA

The convention of the Mississippi Valley Press Association here last week was, I believe, more of a co-operative project than heretofore. Consequently, as Director of the Convention I am under more and greater obligations to the College Staff, the Faculty and the Students than was my predecessor.

I should like to thank all those who in any way helped with the meeting—and it is my belief that a majority of the student body assisted in some way.

Professor Gordon Siefkin, who promoted and publicized the Convention, and who made many helpful suggestions, was an indispensable aid to me. Mr. Elder Shearon, who acted as Student Committeeman on arrangements, did a great amount of effective work. Mr. Russel Wiener and other members of the Sou'wester Staff assisted in many ways.

The girls of the A. O. Pi, Tri-Delta, K. D., and Zeta sororities are to be thanked for allowing us to use their lodges to house the delegates, and for providing choperons; the boys of Sigma Nu for taking care of delegates and giving their house for the Reception; the boys in the dormitories for giving up their rooms to delegates; and the town boys for entertaining the boys on leave from the dormitories.

I should like to thank in particular Miss Annie Beth Gray for planning and managing the registration, Mr. Robert Cogswell, Miss Harriette Hollis, and others in the Christian Union Cabinet for supervising the housing; Miss Louise Jennings and the other members of the two Pan-hellenic Councils for taking charge of the Reception; the members of STAB, Pi, ODK, and others for leading the tours; the Service Club for arranging transportation of delegates; Mrs. Turner and Miss Meredith Moorhead for doing the mimeographing and typing; Mr. Jim New for doing the art work; Mr. Harry Hill and the Publications Board for financial aid and for giving the Convention Dance; Professor Tuthill and the Singers for three musical numbers; and Mrs. Hill and her staff for very efficient service in Neely Hall.

Several members of the Faculty were helpful; in particular I should like to mention Dr. Diehl, who officially welcomed the delegates, and Professor Cooper who made the awards.

Last, my sincere thanks go to Mr. John Rollow for his usual effective work—and, under trying circumstances, for his phenomenal equanimity.

Prof. John Q. Wolf, Director. of MVPA Convention.

Duncan And Cable Sign With Marines

Tom Duncan and Charles Cable, juniors were accepted Monday by the Southern Recruiting Board of the United States Marines for training in the Platoon Leaders' Classes of the summer of 1941 and '42. The classes will last six weeks both summers. They will report for duty July 7 this summer. After graduation from the second six weeks of training, Duncan and Cable will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Snips that Pass in the Night

By SAM McCULLOCH

For some reason or other we were crowded out of last week's issue in favor of a brace of racy items on the press convention. It was probably a pretty worthy cause, except for the fact that a misguided few, including ourselves, took the convention at a trifle more than its face value. Probably no one will ever know who originated these (and certain other) obscene legends that seem to have congealed into tradition on the campus, but they've certainly collared more than their quota of annual suckers. For your personal information, we might explain that the M.V.P.A. crowd is really pretty tame. The only advantage we got out of the whole thing was the enormous royalties brought in on the W. C. monopoly.

By this time, you all probably know about the holiday jaunt to Philly we took with Rummy. The arrival, by yak train, was something of an ordeal, but it turned the Main Line on its ear, which afforded us a morbid sort of satisfaction. It was a caution, as you can well imagine, to see the great shaggy beasts (yaks, you know) mincing about among the Cords, station-wagons, and page-boy bobs, bellowing thinly at the more formidable Bryn Mawr lasses. The visit was nothing much but a grueling series of tavern wiggles with local yawning and cursing set, drifting aimlessly from one tap to another with enthusiastic boredom.

The whole thing came to a climax in the Big City, where we drifted into the Stork Club with Miss Dreamy du Siess, animal husbandry major at Bryn Mawr. (Affectionately nicknamed Dreamy for her whole-hearted generosity in distributing opium tablets among the Freshmen, Miss du Siess stands six-seven without her artificial feet and can hold her own in the Westchester Anvil-roll with any man west of Slippery Rock.) Modelling for Sak's (Fifth Avenue) Thumbscrew department, she can be seen any time after midnight lounging about in an old hair shirt and Dutch bloomers in the gutter of most any of the more exclusive boulevards. And she loves it. Raised on a strict diet of ground glass and raw pelican, Dreamy enjoys hatchet-throwing and other vigorous indoor sports. Anyway, after racing down fourteen straight Zombies, she left us stranded in the Stork, at which point, we will take up again next week, censor permitting.

Buchman attended Southwestern 1937-40, and Bronson, 1935-37. They were transferred to an advanced training school for final ten weeks of intensive flight work after which they receive their wings as second lieutenants in Uncle Sam's rapidly expanding Air Force.

Parade of Opinion Peers Into Future

It is quiet now, this early in the morning. A few brazen little birds are piping thinly.

These old bricks? Yes, they were probably a building once. University buildings? Most probably. There's no one who quite remembers.

The quiet gray moss inches its way through the mortar and plans gradually to engulf the area. Nearby stands the shattered stump of an old fir tree. The atmosphere is eating away its fibers.

Were there lots of buildings then? Were there lawns and walks and roses in the sunshine? See, here is a bit of an old cement pathway. It crumbles if you step on it.

There is a certain softness about the day yet. The mists are lifting, the air is cooling to the cheek. But everywhere it is so quiet.

Were there many people here then? Didn't they laugh and talk to one another? Didn't they care about the lovely old buildings?

The water in the mill stream chortles as you slap it with a little stone. It is muddy green and flows passively on its way. It is used to being left alone. There are no boats floating on its back.

Why aren't there any boats? What happened to all the people and buildings? Why did they simply leave? Didn't they have any air raid shelters at all?

The sun is coming out now. Listen, the little birds are singing louder.

—A.C.P.

Petty Is Now Higher Learning

The pioneer plainsman who could take one last look at the heavenly bodies before he closed his eyes each night in his open-air bedroom had nothing on residents of McTyeire hall at Emory university. They too gazed at "heavenly bodies" as a prelude to sleep.

Faced with an edict banning the tacking of the work of such masters as Petty, Hurrell and Varga—not to mention that portrait of the One and Only—to the walls, they evolved the even more satisfactory idea of fastening said art masterpieces to the ceilings.

Now the McTyerie lullaby is "Look Up, Look Up."

MENTAL MEANDERINGS

The late Henry G. Carleton, famed in New York a number of years ago as a dramatist, newspaper man, and wit, stuttered quite pronouncedly. This speech impediment was the cause of many a humorous situation.

One day he met Nat Goodwin, the actor, on the street.

"S-s-say, Nat," he said, "can you g-g-give me f-f-fifteen m-m-minutes of your time?"

"Certainly," answered Goodwin, "what do you want?"

"I w-w-want to h-h-have a f-f-five minute talk with you."

Mary Elizabeth Dougless is beginning to attribute supernatural powers to Dr. Kelso. She saw him go into the office, and waited outside the door of of his room to see him. After ten minutes she got tired of waiting, looked in the room, and there he was! She can't figure out how he managed to slip past her watchful gaze.

An interesting piece of criticism by Gilbert Seldes was noticed in a 1939 Esquire. It ran: "'The Philadelphia Story' must mean something. There couldn't be quite so many English words spoken in succession meaning nothing. I'm in better shape about this play because I just saw it. Every detail is sharp in my mind, including Miss Hepburn being allowed to act a little like Patsy Kelly. Maybe the reason why Miss Hepburn flopped in the theatre and went strong in the pictures is that the movie-directors were simply more intelligent than the stage directors. Never in any picture has Miss Hepburn been allowed to slug with all her might for comedy as she is forced to do in this play. The Theatre Guild producers have done her an evil turn and I hope that Hollywood will forgive them. . . "

Record Themes Or Vice Versa

Typing or writing in longhand seemed slow to Leon A. Danco, a Harvard freshman, so he submitted a 2,000-word English composition on a home-made phonograph record.

Dr. Claude M. Simpson, Jr., his instructor, gave Danco a passing grade, but forbade any repetition of the stunt.

"For one thing," Simpson said, "how can you correct spelling and puctuation in a theme like this?"

INTRAMURALS

By ALF CANON

As the dust clouds gather over the diamond and the spring showers begin to fall, the intramural competition for the few remaining weeks promises to be fast and furious. The S.A.E.'s are still in front with the small margin of thirty points separating them from the rapidly climbing K.A.'s. Although it seems likely at the present that these two organizations will battle it out for the finish, anything can happen and the Kappa Sig's or Non-frats may sneak in to make things hot at any time.

The principal interest at this time is the close race that is developing in the spring softball contests. In their first game last Friday afternoon the powerful S.A.E.'s came through with a 13 to 1 decision over the helpless Sigma Nu's. The one-sided score was the result of the mighty bats of last season's champions which knocked out seven safeties along with the excellent two-hit pitching of Gibson. As usual the fine hitting and fielding of Collier and Brown stood out.

On Saturday the Sigma Nu's staged a strong comeback and overwhelmed the A.T.O. combine 11 to 3. In this triumph the winners collected a total of 11 hits while holding their opponents to five safe blows. In a thrilling nightcap which went a full eight innings, the Non-frats nosed out the Pi.K.A.'s, 8 to 7. Although the score was close, the game was marked by numerous errors on both sides. The Non-frats led in hits, 9 to 3.

Monday afternoon brought forth two exciting contests in which the Kappa Sig's pushed over the Pikes, 9 to 1, and the K.A.'s won a close battle with the Non-frats. The first game featured the splendid pitching of Chevis Ligon, who thus far this season has been one of the outstanding players on his team. He let the Pikes have two hits while his teammates beat out seven. The "boys on the corner" displayed excellent form both at bat and on the field, and they should certainly be considered as a strong contender for the championship. A pitching duel between Costello and Maybry was the highlight of the second game, which the Lee boys won, 2 to 1. Maybry held the Non-frats to two hits as the K.A.'s slammed out five safe blows. The playing of Kaigler and Bob Cogswell contributed a great deal of help to the victors, and Orenstein and J. Cogswell stood out for the losers, in addition to the fast-ball pitching of that old "fireballer," J. A. Costello.

At the present the Kappa Sig's, S.A.E.'s and the K.A.'s appear to be in the lead. Each team has a fine battery, fairly good fielders, and is able to produce at the plate when the time comes, so it looks like a hot three-cornered race to the finish. Several good games are on the program and should provide a lot of excitement for those who wish to attend.

The Intramural Board has announced that the individual badminton tournament will start today. Pairings have been made and play will start immediately. Handball, horseshoes, and tennis will probably get started next week or the week after.

The track meet, which will be held in about three weeks, will bring the intramural season to a close.

Lynx Runners Win First Meet From Sewanee

Jones Is High Point Man in 69-48 Victory

The Southwestern track team defeated the Sewanee thinclads Tuesday afternoon in Fargason Field by a score of 69-48. Led by Stob Jones who placed first in the broad jump and the high jump, the Lynx swept through nine events with firsts.

Despite the handicap of a field that an all-day rain made very slow, the Lynx' showing has given Coach Harold High good reason to be cheerful over Southwestern prospects in the remaining dual meets and in the Dixie Conference meet. Results were:

100-Yard Dash—Won by Pope, Lynx, Carter, Sewanee, second. Time—10:3.

Pole Vault—Won by Underwood, Lynx, and Wellford, Lynx (tie). Height—10 feet.

120-Yard High Hurdles — Won by Dickerson, Lynx; Lide, Sewanee, second. Time—:17.2.

Mile Run—Won by Seaman, Sewanee; Dawson, Lynx, second. Time—5:05.

440-Yard Run—Won by Hughes, Sewanee; Teck, Sewanee, second. Time—:55.9.

High Jump—Won by Jones, Lynx; Wellford, Lynx, second. Height—5 ft., 3 inches.

Discus Throw—Won by Mercer West, Lynx; Dan West, Lynx, second. Distance—126 feet, 5 inches.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Carter, Sewanee; Pope, Lynx, second. Time—:22.5.

880-Yard Run—Won by Dowdle, Lynx; Dawson, Lynx, second. Time—2:13.6.

ECHOES FROM The Morgue

Three Years Ago—

Dorothy Steuwer was elected Queen of "S" Club day celebration to be held on Saturday. Ki Farnsworth was selected by the track team as sponsor.

Two Years Ago—

In the runoff for president of the student body, John McGrady defeated George Jackson by a margin of 17 votes. Virginia Waggener was elected secretary-treasurer.

The Lynx track team bowed to Ole Miss at Oxford by a score of 75 to 59. Hylton Neill won two events for the Lynx and was high point man.

The Southwestern tennis team led by Robert Meacham defeated the Millsaps Majors 7 to 0 in the "S" Club day tennis meet.

One Year Ago—

Elder Shearon was chosen to be editor of the Sou'wester for the coming year. Russel Wiener and Robert Quindley were selected as business managers and Jac Ruffin as editor of the Lynx.

Anne Potts, Diana Wallace, Jo Meux, and Dale Botto, were selected by four judges to appear in the beauty section of the Lynx.

Announcement was made of the election of Frank England as president of the Student body, and Harriette Hollis as secretary-treasurer.

Losing four out of five matches to Vanderbilt, the Lynx netmen retaliated and downed Sewanee six to four.

Southwestern Golfers Divide Double Start

The Southwestern golf team split two starts on Saturday and Monday, lacing Lambuth and going down to Spring Hill. The scores were Lambuth 0, Southwestern 12, and Spring Hill 10, Southwestern 2. Bobby McKinney was the only Lynx to gain points against Spring Hill, taking two out of a possible three.

The team will meet Sewanee next Saturday, probably on the Pine Hills course. The Southwestern team is composed of Bob Stites, No. 1; Bill Wooten, No. 2; Bob McCrary, No. 3; and Bobby McKinney, No. 4.

Some of the more observant students at Rick's Normal college, Rexburg, Idaho, think they smell a conspiracy.

The Beta Sigma Phi chapter's new president is Maxine Hallstrom, Maxine Scow is vice-president, Maxine Neville is treasurer and Maxine Rice is retiring vice-president.

Lynx Netmen Take Two By Shutouts

Trip Lambuth and Birmingham-Southern; Sewanee Is Next

The Southwestern tennis team took two straight decisions over the weekend, downing both Lambuth and Birmingham-Southern by shut-outs. The Lynx netmen tripped Lambuth Saturday six matches to none, and Birmingham-Southern Monday seven to none.

The Southwestern team was made up of Jimmy Collier, No. 1; Bob Meacham, No. 2; Mac Hinson, No. 3; Lewis Wellford, No. 4, and Jack Taylor, No. 5. The No. 1 doubles team was Meacham and Collier, the No. 2 team was Hinson and Wellford.

Southwestern will play Sewanee here next Saturday, with the matches starting at 2:30. The rankings are as yet unannounced, but will probably be the same as in the preceding games.
