James Collier, a senior, is president of the Publications Board, president of his fraternity, vice-president of the Pan Hellenic Council, letterman in tennis and varsity basketball, member of the S Club and outstanding in scholarship.

Fleet Edwards, a junior, is outstanding in athletics, captain of the football team, member of the Nitist Club and member of the S Club.

History Students Air Out Mexico

Dr. Lampson Leads Student Discussion On Weekly Broadcast

This week Dr. Lampson and four of the history students, Gladys Moore, Edith Wright, Walter Bader, and Charlton Moore, discussed the relationship between Mexico and the United States. The differences in temperament and the effect this has had on our mutual relations were discussed and it was decided that the conditions were improving. Two facts that were draw-backs in the past were American military and economic imperialism. Now the United States has loaned Mexico money and roads and industries are improving rapidly. Educational standards are rising and many American students are going to the University of Mexico particularly in the summer.

Last week Bob Cogswell, Bob Goostree, George Case, and Larry Knopp discussed Censorship and the War. A new feature was inaugurated on that program and will be continued. Bob Cogswell gives a few minutes of Southwestern news and gossip before the regular discussion starts. Hugh Murphy is the new director and announcer of this program.

Next week Dr. Hill and some students will talk about the moral effect of the war on America. These programs are all on topics which should interest everyone.

Transfers Come Here

Although the Army and business schools have claimed some of Southwestern's students, new students from various other colleges are taking their places.

We are very glad to have this semester ten former students. From the University of Tennessee, Tanner Davis and Stratton McNeill have returned to our campus. After a year and a half at the University of Mississippi, Cornelia Garrott is back and also Strother Asquith from Mississippi State. Others who have returned are Mary Jane Howell, Irving Osborne, Al Poulton, Earl Stevenson, Jr., Fred Wolf, Jr., and V. A. Furr. Coming from the North and West are: Millicent Anderson, University of Michigan; Milton Binswanger, Jr., Dartmouth; Howard Costello, University of Omaha; Hubert Kiersky, University of Oklahoma, and Richard Lightman, from the University of Pennsylvania.

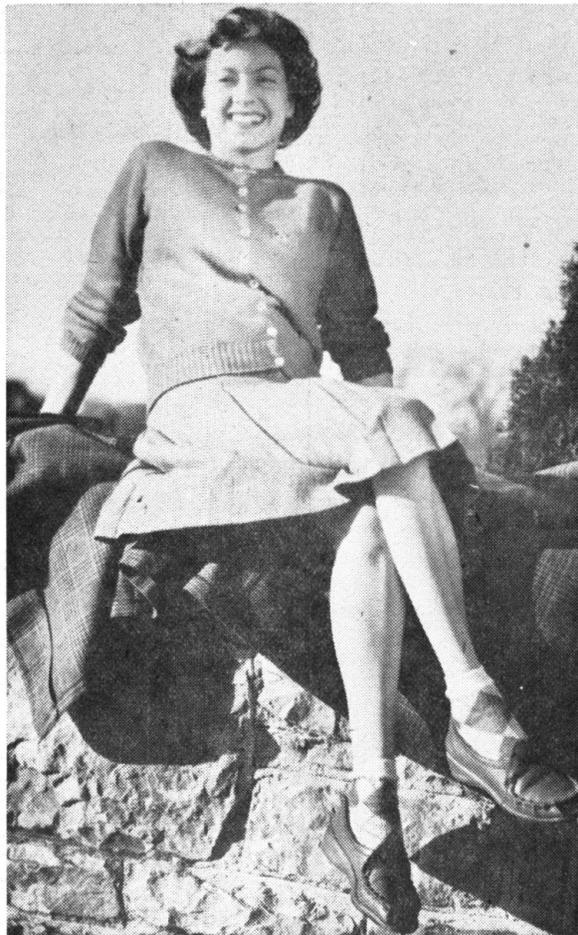

From the South comes David Baker, Vanderbilt University; Henry Cannon, University of Tennessee; Graham Cassibry, Delta State Teachers; Henry Spurrier, Sewanee; Van Conway, Mississippi State; Barton Wright, Southern Methodist University; and Frank White, Tulane University.

Just entering are Edward Boldt, James Wilgus, and Billy Brinkley. The Sou'wester wishes to all the new students and former students a warm welcome to the campus.

WHITSITT ON HONOR ROLL

The name of John Whitsitt was omitted from the Honor Roll list published in the last issue of the Sou'wester. Whitsitt placed on the first Honor Roll for the first semester. The Sou'wester regrets this error.

Howry Chosen to Edit Co-ed Edition

LOUISE HOWRY —Courtesy Press-Scimitar

Annual All-Women's Edition To Appear On March 13th

The 1942 Coed edition of the Sou'wester will make its appearance on the campus on Friday, March 13th. Louise Howry has been chosen to edit this year's edition. Milton Mathews will serve as business manager for the all-women's issue.

Plans are as yet incomplete for the staff and details of the edition. However, Miss Howry has announced that the assistant editor will be Marianne McCalla. No other staff members have been chosen.

Miss Howry is a junior, and has served on the Sou'wester staff since her freshman year. She is a member of Tri-Delta Sorority.

Miss Mathews is also a junior, and at present is exchange editor of the Sou'wester. She is a member of Chi Omega Sorority.

The new assistant editor, Miss McCalla, transferred to Southwestern this year from Judson College and is a junior. She is an A. O. Pi.

The Coed Edition of the Sou'wester appears annually and is under the complete supervision of women students. In it, the girls are allowed to release their inhibited opinions concerning the men students and things in general. Further details concerning the Coed Edition will be announced later.

Stylus Club Taps Bailey and Bowden

Club Adds Freshman And Sophomore To Active Membership

In a tapping service in chapel Tuesday Stylus invited to membership two people; Anne Howard Bailey, freshman, and William Bowden, sophomore. The requirements for membership have been reduced so that freshmen and sophomores are eligible. The requirements, however, are still so high that only these two were invited to membership.

The last meeting was held at Ethel Williams' home and it was decided to send out slips to all inactives requiring resignation. So far as is known there still will not be a journal this year. The stories of the Stylus members may be published in an issue of the Sou'wester.

Nitists Discuss "Decline of West"

Prof. J. H. Davis Reads Paper Before Club In Meeting Last Week

At a meeting of the Nitist Club last week Professor J. H. Davis gave a paper on "the Decline of the West." He discussed the theories of Oswald Spengler and Arnold Toynbee as set forth in their writings upon the subject, emphasizing their belief in the instability of western civilization as now constituted. The historical data seemed to indicate that our present culture is predestined to fail unless some far-reaching changes are soon made. If the lessons of the past can be remembered and certain positive action is taken to avoid certain repetitions, our civilization need not become another disappointing chapter in history.

Faculty members present included: Professors Kelso, Gear, Hill, Junkin, and Davis.

This Wednesday President Charles Gable reported upon a recent book by Francis Williams, a prominent laborite, called "Democracy's Battle." He pointed out that since many of the revolutionary governments founded in the past two hundred years had almost the same source that they could exist peacefully side by side and continue their common fight against the totalitarian states.

Dr. Kenneth Foreman To Speak At Week Of Prayer Next Week

Mr. Fred F. Sears Will Be Speech And Dramat Prof

Professor Davis Leaves Campus For Army Morale Corps

Although regretting the departure of Professor H. Barrett Davis for the Morale Corps of the U. S. A. Army, Southwestern is fortunate in obtaining as speech and dramatics professor for the remainder of the semester, Mr. Fred F. Sears, director of the Memphis Little Theatre.

Mr. Sears will join the faculty this week it was announced Monday night by Dr. Charles E. Diehl.

Mr. Sears came to Memphis last September to direct Little Theatre productions. He attended Boston College, and then studied drama under Mary Young of Boston. He has directed civic and professional theatres in Maine, Connecticut, Maryland, and was assistant director of the famed Cape Playhouse of Dennis, Mass. Last summer he was director and producer for the Westchester Playhouse, Mount Kisko, N. Y.

Mr. Sears has been associated professionally in both stock companies and New York shows with such outstanding theatrical personalities as John Barrymore, Eva LeGallienne, Jane Cowl, Ina Claire, and Fred Stone. He was stage manager for Barrymore's "My Dear Children" and worked with him on the production of "The Great Profile."

Mr. Sears has directed four plays for the Memphis Little Theatre, all of them outstanding successes; the latest of which was the acclaimed "Wingless Victory" in which he played the starring role of Nathaniel. We welcome Mr. Sears to Southwestern, as a valuable addition to our faculty, and we promise him the interest and cooperation of the student body.

Senior Year Book To Replace Annual

Kitty Bright Tipton To Serve As Lynx Business Manager

Due to world conditions and a sharp decrease in enrollment at Southwestern this semester, the original plans for the 1942 Lynx had to be altered. The Publication Board has decided to substitute a Senior Year Book instead of the usual Annual. The major change will be that only individual Senior pictures will be included. Under classmen will be shown in social organizations and other clubs in group pictures. A large group of informal snapshots will be included. Athletics will be represented by pages devoted to the various sports in which Southwestern participates. There will be a Beauty Section for beauties to be selected later by the Student Body. The book will contain 86 smaller-sized pages. All students desiring these books are urged to sign up immediately. The price of each book has been reduced from $4.00 to $2.00.

Kitty Bright Tipton has been selected as Business Manager. Her staff includes John Whitsett, Milton Mathews, Justine Klyce, Annabelle Paine, Buddy McNeese, Marian McKee, and Frances Greeson. Patty Radford is in charge of Annual sales to students. Anyone desiring to sign up may secure a contract from her. Any student who worked last semester on the Business Staff and who wants to continue working should contact Kitty Bright Tipton as soon as possible. The Editorial Staff is being formed at the present time. There are many positions not yet filled. Anyone interested in participating in this phase is asked to see Jimmy New.

Professor From Davidson Will Conduct Services

Sophomore Vesper Will End Annual Religious Week

Southwestern's annual Week of Prayer will officially begin in chapel next Tuesday morning, February 24. Dr. Kenneth J. Foreman, of the Departments of Philosophy and Bible, Davidson College, Davidson, North Carolina, will be the principle speaker.

Week of Prayer services will be conducted by Dr. Foreman each morning at 8:30 a.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at 7:30 p.m. The Christian Union Cabinet is in charge of all arrangements. The Sophomore Vesper Service on Sunday at 5 p.m. will conclude the series.

Various social organizations on the campus will sponsor each night's service. Tuesday service will be sponsored by Kappa Alpha, Non-Sorority, Kappa Delta, and Non-Fraternity. Wednesday, Tri-Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon will be in charge. Thursday, Alpha Omicron Pi, Pi Kappa Alpha and Kappa Sigma; and Friday, Chi Omega, Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega.

The Christian Union Cabinet will have a luncheon for Dr. Foreman Tuesday at 1 p.m. On Tuesday afternoon he will be guest of honor at an open house for which arrangements will be announced later. All students will be invited to the open house.

Each year the college sets aside one week for the special observance of prayer. The public, as well as students and faculty, is invited to attend the daily and nightly services in Hardie Auditorium.

Dr. Foreman received his A. B. degree at Davidson College and went from there to Princeton Seminary for his S. T. B. and S. T. M. degrees. At Princeton he received his A. M., and at Yale Ph. D. In 1933 Washington and Lee conferred upon him an honorary D. D. degree.

Before 1924, when Dr. Foreman was made James Sprunt Professor of Bible and Philosophy at Davidson, he was ordained into the Presbyterian ministry, spent some time preaching and teaching at various places in the church, and was at one time editor of Senior Graded Lessons for the Presbyterian Church. He has worked with the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and has served as editorial writer for "Presbyterian of the South."

NEWS by the CASE

For some time we have been urged to enter again into the field of prediction. In the past with a few rather weak efforts we have had some slight success. We have never desired to predict more than a few widely scattered events, and moreover we see the danger of falling into the same difficulties that other well known predictors of this locality have experienced. We have no desire to take out time extensions on our predictions in the hope that eventually they may come true. For the sake of those interested people that like predictions we will make one prediction a week, beginning with this article. We will keep the score of predictions come true, and if this score is good enough we will proudly acknowledge our excellence. If, on the other hand our percentage is not good, we will censor the data.

We predict that unless the democracies win a very decisive victory on (Continued on Page 3)

All Our For—Pensions

While the country was in the beginning throes of realization that it was in a war to the death, while the administration was pleading with the people to drop their apathetic outlook and begin at once to fight in the way each one could; while huge bills were passing through Congress for all branches of our armed forces; while one of the prime objects on Congress' calendar was the abolishment of non-defense spending in all forms in as great a degree as possible; during this time, in the midst of all these, to us, new and shaking events, the Congress of the United States quietly unobtrusively, even slyly, voted itself a pension.

The bill came as a surprise to most people, hidden, as it was, at the bottom of a more important bill. The House of Representatives allowed no debates on the subject, taking for granted that the vote was unanimous. When the bill reached the Senate, Senator Byrd spoke up, inquiring into the matter somewhat. He spoke, he questioned, he argued and debated; the bill, however, passed the Senate as easily as it passed the House. Then a wave of popular indignation swept over the country; is, in fact, still sweeping. Congressmen who were too ashamed of the bill to argue it openly in Congress now say, when interviewed, that they didn't realize what they were voting themselves; that as long as they vote pensions for higher government officials, why not soak up a little gravy for themselves; that it was a mistake, a deliberate mistake put over on Congress. We ask, by whom?

The bill was ingenious. It stated that applications for pensions could be made as late as Dec. 31, 1942. This means that any Congressman who is defeated in the next election can secure a permanent nest-egg from the government, a government which needs and could put to far better use this money. It means that Congress, rather than unconsciously voting itself this pension, rather did so with foresight and cleverness, making quite certain that it was doing a great deed for itself that under no conditions could be undone.

Congressmen look shamefaced these days, or they should. The passage of such a bill does more

Robert Craig, Friend of Southwestern, Passes On

ROBERT E. CRAIG

Robert E. Craig, 70, retired cotton factor and a friend of Southwestern, died February 5, 1942, as the result of a heart attack. Funeral services were held at the First Presbyterian Church of Yazoo City, Mississippi, his former home.

Mr. Craig was born in Yazoo City of an old and honored family. He was a student at Southwestern from 1888 to 1901. In 1888 he was initiated into Kappa Sigma Fraternity. In 1929 he became one of the first honorary members of Phi Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa at Southwestern. He was an ardent supporter of these two organizations, having been instrumental in the establishment of O. D. K. circles at Tulane University, the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State College, and Louisiana State University, and having given time and money for the organization of new Kappa Sigma chapters. He served a term as district Grand Master of Kappa Sigma for Louisiana and Mississippi, and in 1941 he received the distinguished service award of the national O. D. K. The supporting and spreading of these two groups was Mr. Craig's great hobby.

Mr. Craig was an active benefactor of Southwestern, having been most generous in his support of his alma mater. He served as a member of the board of trustees between 1929 and 1936. He served a term as president of the Southwestern Alumni association. When Southwestern moved from Clarksville to Memphis he contributed $100,000 to help in the establishment of the new college. Mr. Craig is survived by his wife, the former Miss Margaret Henry, and two daughters, Mrs. Herrick Lane, Jr. and Margaret Henry Craig. His passing is a real loss to Southwestern.

towards undermining the people's faith in their government than anything which has happened thus far. For up to this occurrence the government could be accused of nothing except a certain lack of preparedness which could have been avoided. Something should be done. Well, is there any way we can take the candy away from these precocious babies?—L. K.

It's Up To Us

Last week this bit appeared on the editorial page of the Memphis Press-Scimitar:

"Southwestern asked Memphis for $50,000 for its support fund.

Memphis answered with $52,454.75.

Memphis seldom if ever lags on any campaign on which it has been sold.

Memphis is thoroughly sold on Southwestern because Southwestern has sold itself to Memphis day by day and year by year—sold itself as one of our best educational, cultural and business assets."

Thus the people of Memphis have again put their faith in Southwestern in a material way. This places a good-sized responsibility on student body, as it has in the past, even though we are fewer in numbers than before. This means, in straight language, that we students are going to have to put out, to justify the faith placed in us.

Running Between the Rain Drops

After the emotional relapse of exam period and subsequent overtones, we are ready to return to you with renewed vigor, hearing nothing, seeing nothing, and telling all the obscene little stories we can concoct about it. Naturally, there will be a fact here and there, which you will recognize by that hollow ring of insincerity. Viz. and to wit: This letter came to us two weeks ago via morning post from Atwater, Alabama, why and how we will never know:

February 3, 1942

"Dear sir:

I think it is very commendable on your part that you have taken such an avid interest in our Feathered Friends and more especially in that immortal society, The Audubon Society.

I must, however, remind you of something that I feel you may overlook in the not far distant spring. With the arrival of Spring in our Glorious Dixie comes that wonderful of all our Feathered Friends, the Parus Bicolor, possibly known to all true Southerners as the Tomtit. Though he frequently remains here all the year round, you will most likely notice him in the spring when he breaks forth with his cheerful songs. This brave little flyer stays here during the cold winter, too! His chief source of food in winter is the acorn which he breaks open with his strong bill.

As a loyal supporters of the Audubon Society, I wish to ask you a question which for some time has worried me. During the recent cold spell there was a guinea hen at large in my side yard. I wonder what I should have done? The little creature was quite elusive, for on several occasions I tried to catch it. Alas, I fear some feline beast has captured and devoured it. I should deeply appreciate any answer you might give me as I fear I may be called upon to cope with a similar situation at some future date.

I remain your bird loving friend,

Pearse Marsler, A. S. P. C. A.

P. S. Keep 'em (the birds) flying!—P. M."

Coeds Study Nursing

Southwestern co-eds have shown their desire to prepare themselves for some sort of service during the war by enrolling in the various worthwhile courses which are now being offered in connection with the defense program. These courses are offered through the school, but the girls meet them on their own time.

The home-nursing course, which is sponsored by the Red Cross, has been divided into two classes of about 30 girls each. Classes meet for two hours on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. The manual being studied is "Home Hygiene and the Care of the Sick." The girls are being taught the correct way to take temperature, pulse, make hospital beds, baby bathing, etc. At the present time, they are studying their individual health, personal hygiene, and healthful home environment. This knowledge is necessary so as to know how to best serve others.

The home-nursing course is to be followed by one in Red Cross First Aid.

Another new course is that of business machines which is offered at the Defense School, in the old C. B. C. building. This has been divided into two parts, one consisting of typing and shorthand, and the other of learning how to operate various business machines, such as comptometer, etc.

The other project offered in connection with the defense program is a course in Girl Scout leadership, the purpose being to familiarize people with the Girl Scout program. It is a basic training course in Girl Scout leadership and consists of the Ten Program Fields. Techniques in group leadership, e. g. to organize groups for singing, games, etc. will be taught. This is a 16 hour course and will meet for 8 weeks every Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30, beginning this week. Miss Jean Dorman, a Girl Scout Field Captain, is the instructor.

After this basic course is finished, "Training for Today's Needs" may be offered. This consists of knowing the community; location of available shelters, fire boxes, telephones, etc. Fire prevention, fire fighting, mass cooking, and first aid will be included also.

Stewardesses Need Not Be Nurses

American Airlines, Inc., will no longer require that applicants for the position of stewardess be registered nurses. C. R. Smith, President of the company, said that the policy of the company had been changed on account of the increased requirements of the war on the nursing profession.

Instead, Mr. Smith said, preference in employment will be given to young ladies with college education. In addition, previous business experience will be considered.

Stewardess applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 26, weigh not more than 125 pounds, or be taller than 5 feet 6 inches.

ORANGE AND WHITE

First "Stamp Day" at the University of Tennessee netted $126 for National Defense. 326 25-cent stamps and 445 10-cent stamps were sold. Every Tuesday has been designated as "stamp day" for the duration of the war.

TECH ORACLE

"Crime does not pay" was the theme of Captain Theodore Sterris' talk at Tennessee Tech. Illustrating the lecture was his lie detector which he demonstrated along with other methods of crime detection. However the permanent use of the lie detector for the school was thought unwise by students who need at least their "little white lies."

KENTUCKY KERNEL

Dean Jones of the University of Kentucky has asked fraternities to close their kitchens until after the war in order to run economically and to prevent plunging themselves into debt. This would come inevitably with the rising price of food and he urges men to follow his advice to preserve fraternities at Kentucky.

ARKANSAS TRAVELER

The University of Arkansas observed its seventieth anniversary on January 22nd. It began as Arkansas Industrial Institute with seven students, six boys and one girl. Granted 150,000 acres by the Arkansas General Assembly, aided by pledges from the state and individual citizens, the school opened in a frame building. It is now a school with thousands of students and numerous buildings.

MINISTERIAL CLUB MEETS

The Ministerial Club met for its first regular supper and business meeting February 12, in the Bell Room. Chevis Ligon, the new president presided over the business session and plans were made for a party. Ligon and Bill Ramsey were placed on a committee to prepare the party. Dr. Hill spoke of "The Educational Necessity of the Young Minister." A discussion followed with all members taking part. The meeting was then closed with a prayer.

McCULLOCH ELECTED

Sam McCulloch was elected president of the Franco-German Club at the last meeting of the club, February 5th, at the Kappa Delta lodge. He succeeds W. C. Surber, who recently left the Army Intelligence Service. The program for the meeting consisted of a talk on the German Republic by Professor Paulsen, the club faculty member.

RANDOMONIUM

By DAVID RUFFIN

The Great Fou is dead. While spending last week end at his home, he decided to check each knick-knack on his Mother's bric-a-brac in order to find out how many of the 150 oddities were of Japanese origin. The star realization that there were really 151 . . . all "Made in Japan," threw Fou into such a rage that his own undoing was resultant. There may have been stronger hearts, but there was never one as noble.

So, your correspondent returns from the exile that began December 12, 1941, and the pen of Delarue again belongs to humble self.

In looking through my scrap book, I found the announcement of Antonio Ajello's death on August 8, 1938. He was a rather interesting person to me—a candlemaker that lived to the ripe age of 78. Among his clients were Enrico Caruso, Charles Lindbergh, Mussolini, and O. C. D. Roosevelt. In his workshops were preserved craft secrets of the medieval guilds, including the timing of candles, perfuming, and sculpturing them. When Caruso died, Ajello built a candle 18 feet high, five feet in circumference, and weighing a ton. It cost $3,700 and is burned one day a year in a church of Pompeii.

Some people are like candles: Always willing until consumed, While others are like lamps: They burn only when trimmed and oiled. Unfortunately, candles are the shortest lived.

I've wanted to write something of Hitler's artistic ability because it seems to be a side of the German leader that is fairly unknown. When this German housepainter volunteered with a Bavarian regiment in 1914, he took his paint box along to the front. In the capacity of dispatch carrier behind the lines, he spent his spare moments painting. As usual, no human figures appeared in his work.

Pictures of this period are the last that the obscure little soldier produced before turning to politics and power. One of the better ones is of typical peasant houses, unbroken by war, at Haubourdin, France. Closer to the fighting line is one called "Fromelles Dressing Station—1915." In the true Hitlerian style is a study of the ruined abbey at Messines, Belgium, following its capture by the Germans from the British. The works of this period have remarkable flow and feeling rather than the tight architectural lines of his earlier efforts.

At eighteen, Hitler was refused admittance to the Vienna Art Institute because his work "showed more talent for architecture than for painting." After this time, he made a modest living tinting postcards of Vienna scenes, moved to Munich in 1912, and continued painting until the war.

Der Fuhrer has imposed strict censorship on information concerning his art. It is known, however, that his Vienna post cards are now valued at $300 each. The larger works sell for much more.

Of late he has designed many of the modernistic German buildings, in addition to one thing that few people know about: it was his hand that drew the first plan for Germany's swastika flag.

From Rudwin's "Devil Stories," I read something new to me: According to Jewish tradition, God first created a woman named Lilith to be Adam's wife. Immediately she started the fight for woman's emancipation from man, and contested Adam's right to be head of the family. One morning Adam found that she had left him and had taken up her abode with Lucifer, the fallen angel whom she had formerly known in heaven. It was not until this time that God made Eve. You know what she did!

Lynx Chat

Your little Lynx Pussy writes this missive of joy from her sick bed, having sprained her back while trying to do calisthenics and run to chapel at the same time. Her aide Randonium has been hard put to keep the Lynx Pussy in bed, because as your feline friend remarked yesterday morning while sharpening her claws: Two weeks without any news is too long, even if some people are willing without it. And so in accord with our stated policy of bringing you some of the lighter happenings of the week, your little Lynx Pussy has made the most possible of the last few days . . .

Billy Maybry leering at her from the sidelines.

And finally, scribbles from our black and blue notebook . . . seems somebody didn't like last week's effort . . . Mr. Rollow chaperoned . . . and everybody probably knows by now that Lovell Young is sporting a huge jeweled Pi K A pin . . .

And with this parting thought your little Lynx Pussy takes leave of you . . . we view with alarm the distressing tendency of our men to go wandering off after high school girls . . . as well as the even more distressing tendency of Southwestern co-eds to bring their non-school dates to school functions . . . we believe that these poor unfortunates are responsible for much of the air of boredom that haunts our attempts to escape this workaday world and make Southwestern more cheerful . . . here's to more strictly Southwestern activity . . . especially around your Lynx Pussy . . . aloha . . .

one of the war fronts that in the November Congressional elections that the Republican party will obtain control of the House of Representatives.

There is much ground for criticism of the efforts of the administration in the war effort. Yet this criticism has not been as strongly as has British criticism been voiced against the English government. The President and Mr. Willkie have tried to stifle this criticism by insisting that the present government must be implicitly followed, and that any criticism of its efforts would be unpatriotic. However the people are beginning to realize that maybe it is not unpatriotic to desire a more efficient war effort than we have been receiving under the present administration.

The New Deal is trying hard to perpetuate itself by hiding under the national defense excitement, and sees in this excitement its chance for a longer life. Its personnel well know that people are beginning to realize that the New Deal falsely led them into a whole hearted attempt to destroy the economic structure of laissez-faire individualism that made this nation great.

New Deal purges have been heard of before. New Deal purges have failed before. Let us hope that a New Deal purge will not succeed even during these confused times. Let us hope that war is not an ally of the state socialism that has been enveloping us for the past nine years.

Lynx Meet Chattanooga In Gym Tomorrow Night

The Southwestern Lynx return to home hardwood Saturday night when they meet the University of Chattanooga Bulldogs in the Highmen's last game of the season. The Lynx were unsuccessful in their last attempt with the Noogans and emerged on the short end of a 40-26 score.

The B team will play a preliminary game with the Union Avenue Christian Church, at present the leaders of the church league.

In the main tilt, the Lynx will go on the floor as the underdogs, due to the greater experience of the Bulldogs. Coach Harold High is optimistic over the chances of his squad, however, since he believes that the first game will be beneficial to the morale of the Lynx.

The probable starting lineups for the two games will be:

|              |          |             |
|--------------|----------|-------------|
| Southwestern | Position | Chattanooga |
| Nall         | F        | Phillips    |

Some of the Boys Have Joined the Service

If the school seems a little noisy since the new semester and you boys are having less competition with the girls, the reason is the absence of boys who have gone away to join the rest of "Uncle Sam's Boys."

Those who have gone, the branches they have joined, and their stations are: Bill Pope, Navy, New Orleans; Esie Henderson, Navy, Norfolk; Harry Alcott, Army Air Corps, Jefferson Barracks; Cheney Thompson, Air Corps mechanic, Jackson, Miss.; Carl Dickerson, Field Artillery, N. C.; Beryl Waller, Air Corps, Maxwell Field; Leon Underwood, Air Corps, Stamford, Texas; Jay Fields, Air Corps, Maxwell Field.

Others who have joined recently or intend to in the near future are: Bryant Biddle, Air Corps, Jackson, Miss.; Thompson Shea, Air Corps; Billy Williams, Army Air Corps; Billy Dowdle, Naval Air Corps; James Lewis, Naval Air Corps, and Professor H. Barrett Davis.

Chi O Backward Dance Nets a Superman

Swooning under the pressure of having a Superman in their midst the feminine population of Southwestern swarmed to the gym last Friday afternoon, to witness one of the most backward dances of the year. Greeting the guests was an imposing silhouette of THE perfect man. Following with breathless expectation the heated contest, the guests were rewarded by seeing Johnson Iles and Sonnybrook Tidwell flip (?) for the award—a box of Wheaties—the Breakfast Food of Champions. Tidwell won the toss. What IS this school coming to?

A Letter Concerning Gym Wolves:

Your caustic correspondent once more attempts to pour vitriol upon the troubled waters with a brand new suggestion; and one that we feel would be ideal towards the rejuvenation of those poor, pining rookies in the U. S. Army camps. Why not—now I ask you—WHY NOT establish a professional co-ed basket ball team—complete in shorty-shorts—and jersey blouses—to stage competitive games, sponsored by the U. S. O. before the delighted, delirious eyes of some 80,000 males?

But seriously, guys, the situation on the campus is getting acute. Feminine pulchritude, rather than masculine representation, must be getting scarce during these troubled times; when a flock of ogling Oscars turn out en masse, and noisy, to watch a few Southwestern beauts dirty their faces, sweat down their shirts, and bump their rear ends—ooh-so-hard—on a gym floor!!!

Gosh, boys, we didn't know you liked 'em that way—honest!! Or are straggling hairs and sloppy pants the main attractions? We rather think not—

We suggest that female basketball playoffs can be executed with a great deal more actual skill, and a great deal less theatrics, if the male 9-10 of the grandstand were dispensed with! Of course we realize a prolonged and choral whistle is a heady stimulant to a palpitating player; as are also the expert and discerning shouts of "Shoot!" "Shoot!" when one is madly fighting it out with an over zealous guard. Masculine coaching, and congratulations are, even at worst, enervating, but perhaps the female athletic aspirants of Southwestern could struggle on without them. It WOULD be difficult, but they COULD try!!

Naturally we appreciate the fact that this would also be hard on the erstwhile spectators, because it is certainly thrilling to be an onlooker, if not an active participant, in the sudden breakage of some essential, and the ultimate dire consequences; but bear up, sons, there are still parked cars—

Signed: SHY.

INTRAMURALS

By A. CANON

The Lions of Sigma Alpha Epsilon have at last proved beyond a doubt that they are the champion basketball players of the campus. Not content with defeating the Kappa Sigs in the round robin affair last semester, they knocked the Kappa Sigs out of the picture again last week, 25 to 23, in one of the best intramural contests seen this year, and then proceeded to smash a strong non-frat squad this past Monday night, 23 to 16. One of the star attractions of the battle was the splendid playing of Manager Mills, appearing for the third time this season, who contributed 10 points during the evening. Karl Frank and Sonny McGehee, who was all over the court and dropped them in from any angle, also stood out for the victors. Chuck Guthrie turned in his usual fine performance along with his other teammates. The score was 9 to 5 at the half, and the SAE's stayed out in front most of the game.

In the round robin basketball, Bob Stites was the leading scorer with a total of 119 points. The high score man of the double elimination has not been announced as yet. The highest score in any one game was in the Non-frat—Pi K. A. contest, when the Non-frats scored 73 points.

The Intramural Board announce the following All-Star basketball team this week:

- First Team
 F—Stites, Non-frat.
 F—Romine, Kappa Sigma.
 C—Maybry, Kappa Alpha.
 G—Gibson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
 G—Denny, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
- Second Team
 F—Maxwell, Non-frat.
 F—F. Kennedy, Kappa Sigma.
 C—Allen, Non-frat.
 G—Turner, Alpha Tau Omega.
 G—W. Kennedy, Kappa Sigma.

The individual free throw tournament was held with 75 taking part. Hugh Murray, Kappa Alpha, was the winner with a total of 31 out of 40. The individual ping pong tournament is still under way, as the fraternity ping pong gets started.

With intramurals about half over for the year, the SAE's are still out in front with a comfortable margin, having a total of 428 points. The Kappa Sigs have pushed the K. A.'s out of second place with 312 points, with the Lee boys right behind them with 310.

The Intramural Board announces that the boxing tournament will take place this year on March 5th and 6th. The board is requiring that all entrants this year work out at least one week before the tournament.

"Charge it."

Sorority Basketball Games Underway

At long last the sorority basketball games are well under way. As we go to press AOPi is the only undefeated team, having beaten Non-Sorority 15-3, Tri-Delt 12-3, and Chi O 12-10. Chi Omega and Kappa Delta are at present ranking second, Chi O having beaten Tri Delt 15-8, and Kappa Delt 20-13. Kappa Delt has beaten Non-Sorority 10-2, and Zeta 18-8. Tri Delt beat Zeta 15-6, and Non-Sorority beat Zeta 10-3.

In Tuesday's games Kelley, Bailey, Hartley, Hamblen, Cansler and Williamson started for Kappa Delt, in their game against Zeta. The Zeta lineup included M. V. Smith, Little, Martin, Mallet, Albro (who incidentally was red-hot) and Pitman. At the half the Zetas were leading 8-6, but Imogene Williamson helped turn the table, racking up ten points.

In the Tri-Delt vs. Chi O game, starters for Tri Delt were Hager, James, Milner (all three forwards, who did a fine job) and French, Wilkerson and Sanders. At the half the score was 10-8, but against such opposition as Gunther, Moore and Williamson, who each netted a tidy sum for Chi Omega, they lost the lead in the third quarter. Also starting for Chi O were Craddock, Eckert, and Banning. Non-Sorority was aided by such able bodied men as Hartley, Howry, and A. H. Bailey, until the rest of their team came, and was beating AOPi one point at the end of the first quarter. Gates, the Moorheads, McLaughran and Bretyspraak were the official non-Sorority team. Hallock, Jett, Gill, Hinckley started for AOPi with Barrett and Twist scoring seven points each.

The pledge Basketball games, scheduled for last Friday, will be played off Monday.

Lynx Fall to MSC Disastrously

The attempt to avenge the 50-25 licking by Memphis State resulted in an even worse defeat, 78-41. Steele couldn't be stopped in the second half. He made forty-two points, enough to beat Lynx single-handed. However, in fairness to Lynx it is necessary to mention other scores. At the end of the first quarter the score was 18-12 and 31-23 at the half. However, the third quarter showed a 50-28 count. "Killer" Watts scored eighteen for Memphis State while Holland was best for the Lynx with 13. By winning this game Memphis State won the city collegiate championship.

- The lineup:
 Lynx 41 Position M. S. C. 78
 Nall 3 F Branch 4
 McMahon 8 F Morton
 Wellford 4 C Steele 42
 Holland 13 G Watts 18
 Haynes 3 G Koffman 6
 Substitutes: Lynx, Owen 5; Dowdle 3; Smith 2. State: Trent 4; Muntz 2.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER . . .

By CHEVES LIGON

CORNY WARMERDAM CLEARS BAR AT 15 ft. 7 1-4 in. TO SET WORLD'S RECORD IN POLE VAULT. Thus Mr. Warmerdam, in breaking his own previous world's record, provided the outstanding sport's achievement for the past week. This inconceivable jump resulted from the master's third and final attempt at the 53rd Boston A. A. track meet Saturday afternoon. As is customary Corny attempted a still higher jump. After a half-hour rest following his vault which brought him life-long fame, Warmerdam requested officials to raise the bar to 15 ft. 10 in. He made three rapid tries in resuming his battle against the stratosphere and appeared over on his final attempt, but while descending his body grazed the bar just enough to knock it off its pins. Such a stupendous achievement merits the respect and deepest admiration from all the sportsmen of the country. We envy the 15,000 who had the privilege of witnessing this new record.

IT'S THE YOUNG SPORTSMAN'S AMBITION TO BE A PERSONAL WITNESS BEFORE FAMED ATHLETES COMPETING IN THEIR RESPECTIVE SPORTS, and after patiently waiting for half a lifetime, Memphis promoters gave us the opportunity to gaze enraptured upon the "Celtics" and the world's four best tennis players in action. Don Budge has proved he can best anybody who wields a racquet, and his smashing victory over Riggs only served to emphasize this fact. Riggs is the present holder of the National Singles title, but his status as a professional disqualifies him to defend this title. Kovacs appears to be the one to uncrown Budge, but that's to be far off in the future. Fred Perry never lost a match to Budge back in the days when both were amateurs, but middle age is showing on the famed Englishman, and his day has definitely passed. It's inconceivable how anyone can place his shots with the keen accuracy that Budge hits his. They go anywhere he wants them to go with the speed of a bullet. Kovacs and Perry played each other to a standstill, and finally yielded the court to Budge and Riggs without reaching a decision. Neither one could crack the other's service. Kovacs came closest when he reached match point in one of the late games of the third set, but the gallant Perry calmly dropped in a smashing serve that completely aced Kovacs and evened up the count. The professional custom to waive the personal fouls caused a slight disappointment in the championship cage battle between the world famous "Celtics" and "Oshkosh." We expected to see a smooth strategic performance, but instead there was more intentional rough stuff than a football battle between State and Ole Miss. On the other hand we thrilled to see Nat Hickey and the rest sink their shots from any angle time and time again. We'll someday be mighty boastful in recounting these experiences to the succeeding generation.

THINGS REALLY GOT HOT out at the Memp. State gym Tues. nite, when Les Steele finally convinced us that his fame as a basketeer is well deserved. The Lynx played their hearts out, and made the going for the highly favored States a might rough. The improved play of the team cannot go unnoticed. They built up a score of 46 pts., but lacked the necessary defense to cope with the more experienced State team which had a considerable advantage in height. One more game remains on the season's card. Chattanooga comes to town tomorrow evening with a considerable less potent outfit than the men from State produced, and the Lynx feel confident of taking this one. It's the last chance to see the team in action, so let's everyone be there.
