MARY ANN BANNING ELECTED FIRST CO-ED PRESIDENT; ELECTIONS COMMISSION ADOPTS NEW SYSTEM

Delegated Conventions Will Replace Former Style Of Electing - First Next Week

More than ever during the past year the need for definite changes in the policy of the Elections Commission and on the part of the students has become evident. The Elections Commission, which is directly representative of the Student Body, has revised and amended the existing Constitution. Every person on this campus should earnestly desire elections free from all political entanglements. In proposing this new method the Commission desires to make it possible for a student to vote for the candidate whom he believes to be the best qualified for the office, regardless of the candidate's social affiliations. In the coming election the name of the organization to which the voter belongs will not be required on a ballot.

The Commission is backing this new method whole-heartedly and ask the cooperation of each member of the Student Body in order to MAKE definite improvements. It is earnestly hoped that there will be no necessity for enforcing the penalties as stated in the Constitution, but the Commission is prepared to take a stand for the policies which they believe to be right.

(Signed) Mabel Francis, President Elections Commission

Constitution of the Southwestern Elections Commission As Revised April 17, 1944

ARTICLE I

Section I.

The name of this organization shall be—the Elections Commission of Southwestern.

Section II.

The purpose of this Elections Commission will be to insure fair student elections by supervising election processes, and to guarantee to each student the right to cast his vote in every student election free and unrestricted, by discovering and penalizing any individual(s) or organization(s) which may, through the formation of political combines, or by other unfair tactics, seek to restrict this right. Unfair tactics shall not be interpreted as excluding nomination of any student of Southwestern through handbills, posters, or speeches, except on the days of elections, but shall exclude campaign material in the College or public press. The words—campaign material—shall not exclude the predictions of elections in the College paper.

ARTICLE II. OFFICERS

Section I.

(b). The president of the Commission, having been duly elected, shall preside over the meetings of the Commission according to regular Parliamentary procedure. The President may vote on all matters of business necessary to be voted on.

Section II.

The second principal office shall be vested in the Vice-President, who shall be elected annually in the later part of May at the first meeting of the new Commission by a majority vote of that Commission. The Vice-President shall serve for one year and shall serve in the capacity of the President during the absence of the President. The Commission shall also elect from its membership by the proceedings listed above, a Secretary, whose duty it shall be to keep records of all Commission meetings and other Commission records as are necessary.

ARTICLE III. MEMBERSHIP

(a). The membership of the Commission shall consist of one representative from each fraternity and sorority and of one representative from the non-fraternity and non-sorority groups respectively.

The alternate shall serve for one year only and shall attend meetings of the Commission only when the regular member cannot attend.

At all meetings only the regular members and the alternates appointed by the Commission may have the privilege of representing his organization. It is the duty of the member to notify his alternate if he is unable to attend a meeting. No other individual may represent that organization.

Section II.

Vacancies shall be filled according to election procedure set out in SECTION I.

Milner Nosed Out In Final Run-Off; Crutcher Elected

In the past two weeks, many offices have been filled for the Fall 1944 semester. They included the president and secretary-treasurer of the student body and sophomore, junior, and senior class presidents.

For the first time in the history of Southwestern, a girl has been elected to head the student body. This is not only the first time a girl has been elected for the position but also the first time a girl has been nominated. This honor and responsibility fell to Mary Ann Banning. She will succeed Ray Allen who will graduate in June. Miss Banning, who is president of Chi Omega Sorority, past president of the women's Panhellenic Council, and a member of STAB Intersorority, was elected from a field of four candidates, all girls. These were Anne Howard Bailey, Jane Milner, Joy Gallimore, and Miss Banning.

The vacancy left by Peggy Hughes as secretary-treasurer of the student body will be filled by Ginny Crutcher. Miss Crutcher is a junior, a member of Chi Omega Sorority and a member of the Y. W. C. A. She is also a leading character in the forth coming plays. Miss Crutcher, also, was elected from a field of four girls. Her opponents were: Frances Ann Turrentine, Anne James, and Teasie Uhlhorn.

The office of senior class president was filled by Betty Jean Wilkinson. Miss Wilkinson is treasurer of Tri-Delta Sorority, secretary-treasurer of STAB Intersorority, vice president of the junior class, a member of the choir, and a member of Alpha Theta Phi, scholastic fraternity. She succeeds Mabel Francis, who also will graduate in June. Those nominated for the office besides Miss Wilkinson were: Jane Daley, Emily Morgan, and Imogene Williamson.

Although Jane Weileman is not graduating, her former office of president of the junior class will be taken over by Jane Bigger. Besides having been president of the sophomore class this year, Miss Bigger is vice president of AOPI Sorority and Y. W. C. A. She is also a member of STAB Intersorority and on the Lynx and Sou'wester staffs. In the election, Miss Bigger was opposed by Mopsy Cortwright, Jean Lawo, and Texas Horton.

In spite of the fact that three boys were nominated for the office of president of the sophomore class, a girl took the top honors. Mary Langmead was elected from a field of seven to fill this position. Miss Langmead, who has been president of the freshman class this year, is a member of Kappa Delta Sorority and a member of the dormitory governing board. She succeeds Jane Bigger, who has moved up to president of the junior class. The freshmen nominated (Continued on page 2)

Annual Pan Sing To Be Next Week

The parents of all students at Southwestern, all alumni of the college, and all high school seniors are invited to attend the Sing, sponsored by the Womens PanHellenic Council. It will be held at 8:00 on the evening of April 28, in front of Palmer Hall.

The women's student body will be represented by six groups, the A. O. P.'s, the Tri Delta's, Chi Omega's, Kappa Delta's, Zeta Tau Alpha's and the Independent's. Each group will sing two songs, and judges selected by the PanHellenic Council will award a cup to the group whose performance is the most outstanding.

The Aviation Students stationed at Southwestern will be special guests and will sing several Air Corps songs at the close of the program.

Dr. Diehl's Plans Of Retirement

Beloved Head To Step Down After Big Drive

It is with regret that the Student Body learns that Dr. Charles E. Diehl, president of Southwestern since 1917 when it was at Clarksville, Tenn. has announced to the Executive Committee of the College that he contemplates retirement from the presidency when the present campaign to raise $2,000,000 to claim the $500,000 conditional gift offered by the General Education Board of New York is completed. The final date on which the $500,000 conditional offer can be taken up is December 31, 1946.

The announcement is made at this time, as Dr. Diehl said in his statement to T. W. Lewis, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the college and also of the Executive Committee and of the General Campaign Committee of the Pre-Centennial Building and Endowment Fund appeal, so that "the executive direction of Southwestern may be put in the hands of a younger man when this $2,000,000 campaign is successfully completed."

As has been true of his whole life, Dr. Diehl has put consideration of Southwestern first and has taken this step after great consideration on the part of both Mrs. Diehl and himself. They have discussed the matter for many years and "Both of us have noted with regret instances in which people who were devoted to a cause or an institution were reluctant to sever their connections, and, as a result, outlived their usefulness. We want to avoid anything of this kind in our connection with Southwestern, and it is our own settled purpose to do so."

Since 1917 Dr. Diehl has devoted himself to Southwestern and has had as his life's aim the establishing of this college as a first class Christian college of which everyone might well be proud. When the campaign has been successful Dr. Diehl believes that the executive direction of this institution ought then to be put in the hands of a younger man.

We are glad to know however that Dr. Diehl will remain with us until the campaign is completed and he will guide and direct us during the next few years when we are striving for success. And it is reassuring when he tells us that he will never be guilty of senility but will always (Continued on page 2)

Plays In Hardie Last Time Tonight

Last night in Hardie Auditorium the first performance of "Agatha," "Trista," and "Job's Kinfolks" met with a responsive and appreciative audience. The plays are being presented again tonight, with curtain at 8:00.

Appearing in "Agatha" are Mary Ann Catching in the title role, Bob Klyce as Major Baity, Donald MacGuire as Colonel Pettway, Martha Hunter as Angela, Betty Jean Wilkinson as Nabel, Vadis Jeter as Liza, Margaret Walthal as Miss Molly, and Nimrod Thompson as Fairfax Merriam. This play is directed by Anne Hirschhimer, remembered for her portrayal as the German girl in "Letters to Lucerne."

"Trista" is an unusual and interesting play. It was written by Elizabeth Lay, wife of Paul Green, Carolina playwright's No. 1 writer. It concerns the events of an early Summer evening in the early eighteenth century. The setting is a log cabin, home of Eph Hunter, "trader in the settlement." His wife Trista has been accused of witchcraft, and having been cleared by a civil court, is about to be baptised into the Christian faith. This weird situation ends in tragedy for all. Playing the title role is Texas Horton, with John Green as Eph Hunter, Betty Osburn as Kezzie, Warren Wurzburg as Gaffer, and Hugh Davidson as Dr. Trask. Gilma Neiderjohn directs "Trista." "Job's Kinfolks," a drama of juvenile delinquency in the mill-section of a Carolina City, is directed by Jane Milner. Margie Fields plays the role of Katherine, the 14 year-old gone wrong. Others in the cast are Ginny Crutcher as Kate, Bob Clough as Carl Rogers, and Gene Dickson as Kizzie.

These plays are the work of the Theatre Arts class under the supervision of Dr. Wilbur Stout. Settings were designed and executed by the students.

An Omission

The SOU'WESTER regrets that Miss Mary Louise Hartzell's name was necessarily omitted from the honor roll in the last issue of the paper. Miss Hartzell's record was incomplete at the time we went to press. Her complete record places her on the second honor roll with four "A's" and a "B".

Bloodless Revolution

The Elections Commission has put forward what they hope will be the solution of an existing problem in our school. We have all been ready to admit the fact, perhaps a sad one, that combines exist. Many have said that in this type of election it is impossible to prevent them from forming. The Elections Commission has remedied that also. We no longer will elect as we have in the past. It is true that as long as human beings mingle with one another, some one or two will band together to plot the downfall of another. When all individuals and groups concerned band together, it means little less than war, which in a sense existed on our campus previously. Whether the experiment prove successful or not, we feel that any change would be for the better. The former system of people knowing how everyone voted was unfair in every sense of the word. When a student runs up to another and indignantly protests that only two of a certain organization voted for a certain other organization, things have reached a pretty bad state. The method of discussing qualifications will be of great benefit. Perhaps, under this system, a fraternity can "look a gift horse in the mouth" without getting his teeth knocked out. The plan is not perfect, but we are pioneers in a new field of student government. We are getting around the combine problem by staring it in the face.

The Elections Commission asks for cooperation. That is the least that they can demand from the student body, for in cooperating with the Commission, the student body is cooperating with itself by insuring fair representation of student ideas and student personalities in the government of the students.

College Day

Today we are fortunate in having high school seniors from Memphis and Shelby County Schools on our campus. Today is college day. These seniors are being given a preview of what college life is like. Their day is quite full with everything from touring the campus to the witnessing of Dr. Stout's plays. Many of these students will doubtless attend Southwestern in the fall if they feel that Southwestern is a "good school". If they have not already reached a decision concerning their college life, today may weigh heavily in deciding that issue. We are confident that high school seniors will be pleased with our school. We hope that they will be pleased with us. Southwestern's many traditions will be unknown to them. The fine scholastic record of the school will be unknown to them. The superiority of academic procedure will be unknown to them. The friendliness of all students will be unknown to them. They will be ignorant of everything about our school except the students of the school with whom they come in contact. It is certainly our duty to ourselves and to our school that we strive to make our visitors stay as pleasant as possible. May the guests of the college take from the college one idea. That idea is that they were of all things WELCOME at the college.

Music Hath Charms

The war has curtailed many things, among them, "school spirit". We don't say that school spirit does not exist, but we do say that frequently it is unable to show itself, or it is unable to be shown by those possessing it. This year, sports, which usually furnish an instrument for showing school spirit, have been all but lost to Southwestern. We had a fair basketball team and we supported it mildly. But even the existence of a basketball team did not bring out much school spirit.

Yet, there is something about which we can all get enthusiastic. There is an organization in our school which is a link to the "Outside World" and which gives a favorable impression of our school. That organization is the choir. The choir has just returned from an extensive tour of the delta where they were received with open arms. Before they left, on Saturday in chapel, they "tried out" their numbers and captivated the student body. Every number that they sang was a real pleasure and one or two might be classed as miniature masterpieces. We're proud of our choir. We know that wherever they sing, others will be proud and envious of them, also. So, we offer our congratulations to Dr. Tutill for his master job of shaping something through which we can all be proud to say: "That's my school's choir". Congratulations, we're proud of you.

No More Cokes

Mrs. Greenhill has informed us that the situation in the Bookstore concerning Coca-Colas has become slightly less than drastic. People have begun taking "cokes" out of the Bookstore and not returning them. A deposit of five cents on each bottle is nominally charged but this is not enforced unless the supply runs particularly low. Lately the students have become very inconsiderate in their return of bottles. Some of the misdoing is done unconsciously. When a student buys a coke and takes it into the Lair, he feels that there is nothing wrong with leaving it on the table. But when the negroes take bottles off the Lair's tables, they put them out behind the Dining Hall where they are picked up and taken over to the Canteen. Thus, the Bookstore's bottles are going to get more cokes for the Canteen. Mrs. Greenhill says that she cannot get cokes without bottles and that her allowance has been cut from 42 cases a week to 32 cases. This represents 240 Coca-Colas which the student body cannot have because they will not return bottles. Please, for your own sake, return those bottles to the Bookstore even though you may only carry them as far as the Lair or the SAE room. The Bookstore needs them.

Pan Hellenic Sing

One week from today the Pan Hellenic Sing will take place. This is a very important event from the standpoint of public relations, as there will be present many friends of the college, parents, and alumni. The cadets will be present and will lend their talents toward a little entertainment for all. It looks like a grand time for all and it is hoped that many will be present to witness this outstanding event.

Many Happy Returns

Yesterday was Hitler's birthday. May that be his last one! He was fifty-five years old—that is a long time to spend a life built on nothing but quicksand. Lies and falsities have been his foundations. Everything that men hold dear has been destroyed or nearly destroyed by this fanatic. Countless thousands have suffered because he wanted to save the world!

No doubt his birthday was celebrated in Germany. It was probably a forced and compulsory happiness which the Germans showed for their Feurer. I wonder how many thinking Germans really felt sincere in the celebration of the birthday of the man who is leading them to certain doom and destruction?

Huge crowds gathered in Berlin to hear their leader speak. The message was not one of optimistic victory and certain gloom to all those who stood in the Nazi path. It was one of caution and a warning of severe losses. It was a preparation to help boost the morale of a people faced with invasion.

Hitler received presents—many of them, and the American and British airmen probably did not fail to leave their tokens of good wishes to Herr Hitler.

Lynx Chat

Surprise: I'm back again—your "see no, hear no, speak (?) no evil" Lynx pussy. Ah, but we love you all.

Elections are delightful things. There doesn't seem to be much violent, outward, display of emotion, but the inward wranglings are something to behold, I would imagine. How one candidate longs to pull the hair of another or perhaps knock her flat is merely a conjecture—but how true? The factions, combines, and what-have-you are another topic much too lengthy to discuss, but doubtless you know to what we are referring. It's all over with this week—and next week brings a new order of things. At least, Evarde didn't have to hand out candy this year—with interest collected later—and Goostree was definitely missed.

Your Lynx pussy discerns that since Xmas those third-finger-left diamonds have not increased in number around the campus. What's the trouble, gals? The male element hasn't decreased in number has it?—or has it?—or have we lost our charm? I think our main trouble around here is simply that too great a number of our lovely k-dets are married. That cuts down the urge of the huntress in us, I find. However, there's still Millington to keep us busy for a while.

Speaking of Evarde—He's still going strong with Winnie. She has evidently broken off relations with one R. Allen . . .

Ed Dewey is one little boy that really gets around. Imagine giving out two frat pins at the same time to only ONE female—and an engaged woman at that! The pins have been returned, fun while it lasted, wasn't it?

Watson is still trailing after Wheeler with a wolfish gleam in his eye—or is it just hopeful? Methinks she's trying to make a Beau Brummel out of him. Very funny, your honor. (What she can't do, the draft board can't either).

Harwood is still hot after White, threatening all the time (in an inebriated—wine or love—state) to commit suicide cause she doesn't love him. Those phone calls in the wee, small hours are becoming monotonous, to say nothing of being disturbing to the poor, little chicks trying to get forty winks—no not trying to lay eggs as you may suppose.

Texas continues to give Jim Henry the runaround. Good digging is profitable this season, ain't it your honor? Poor Boy!

Suzie Ransomme manages to be near the phone every day around 12:30 when most sensible people manage to take time out for a bite of those gastronomic horrors in the bookstore. Who's the man—and I concede that it is one.

Now that Hunter is a free woman again, her new flame lies among the k-dets. Name's John, I think. These 5:30-7:30 dates are quite the thing and it's understood that she is running a free cafeteria at noon on Sundays.

Mignon and Bob Davis are still on the beam. What goes with Seabrook? Oh well, Bob's departure will remove all complications.

Play rehearsal went on as usual, but Klyce didn't back any more poor, unsuspecting females into dark corners or phone booths. Wonder what took the wolf out of him?

Rover Boy Clough still rolls along with Wiggins.

Handsome Harry Hawken, sometimes known as "Handsome Harry Hawken", and BigHearted Hancock, sometimes known as "Flattop", are ginning right along. The Tri-Delta dance was enjoyable for both of them, they say. Dick Lee said it—Absence makes the heart grow fonder—for the other fellow.

David Ruffin, former editor of the "Randamonium" (Lynx Chat to you) made an appearance on Monday. On his last visit he was a Pfc. with a blonde mustache—This trip he's a sergeant still wearing a corporal's shirt. Must be having laundry trouble. He's still irritated about Bailey snatching the corpse of editorship before it became a corpse. Can't blame him—Ain't spring lovely?—Bye now.

While votes are being cast, only the members or the alternates may preside at the ballot box as a representative of the Elections Commission. It is the responsibility of each member to take a part in assisting with the balloting and counting of votes.

This list shall be kept in the file of the Elections Commission until the new Commission is installed.

ARTICLE VI.

Section I.

(c). He shall be ineligible to vote or run for office in all further Class or Student Body elections during the remainder of the current school year.

SPORTNOTES

BY JIM WADE

Warm weather and a large entry list have combined to get our little golf tourney off to a fast start. About fifteen of the lads have signed up for the links contest, and from the looks of things we're gonna have a right interesting time before we crown a titlist. In case you are interested and haven't seen the social room notice, here's the set up. If you want to enter let this reporter know about it. Then all you have to do is get a couple of buddies, run out to Galloway and knock around 18 holes. You post your score on the bulletin board in the social room, and Monday we take the six best scores and pair them off. They battle it out for the title via match play.

All the medal rounds must be played at Galloway. You may improve your lie six inches in the fairway, but the ball must not be touched on the green. Don't feel that we don't trust you, but we'll have to ask everyone to keep his score card and have it signed by those with whom he played . . . any more questions? If so let me hear from you.

We will see about getting the tennis tourney underway just as soon as the golf is over with next week . . . so be getting your shots in form . . . A big list of entrees is expected for the tennis contests.

We wandered out to Russwood one afternoon last week with Dave Bloom and took a look at the Chick prospects . . . they are not too bright, but Prothro should be able to turn out a better club than he had last year . . . Ellis Kinder, willowy speed ball ace looks like the best man Doc has for mound duty this year . . . He has a wealth of speed, change of pace and one of the sharpest curves this person has ever seen thrown . . . Dave Bloom and Prothro both agree Kinder looks right . . . and their opinions are good enough for us.

Pete Gray finally pulled into camp this week after a long holdout. Pete very likely was demanding a small fortune . . . and rightly so in the light of his great season last year. The one armed sensation was the biggest drawing attraction in the Southern league last year . . . He will undoubtedly take over the center field post for the Memphis club again . . . a young sprout . . . yes even younger than thee and me . . . looks like a cinch for the second base job . . . Red Friend is the seventeen year old kid's name, and he is one of the flashiest fielders seen in these parts in quite a spell.

We sure wish the Tribe could lure Gene Nance back into the fold. Nance, a 4-F farmer . . . could hit the ball well and his experience should be a big help in an infield that is hampered by inexperience . . . Goat Walker is another lad who would be a lot of help on the hill for the Chicks.

The preps got their league started last week with games being played under the lights for the first time . . . our friends the Warriors got beat rather soundly last week by the Scrappers of South Side, 6 to 0. Central hurlers, Wright and Gilbert, only gave up two hits to South Side, but errors and walks were costly to the Green and Gold boys . . . Tech seems to have a fair club, but it looks like South is on the way to the prep title . . . By the way, remember Buster Bickney the former Chick shortstop? He is coaching baseball at Central High.

One of the best threesomes that Central High ever turned out took a turn around the Links last Sunday . . . Dean Bailey, Geo. Johnson, and Edgar Bailey got together for the first time in about nine months, and the seats were really changing hands . . . Dean was city champ and state prep king, Edgar was city medalist, and city prep king, and Geo. was a member of Central state championship team and of Yales Varsity.

Southwestern basketball program for next year is going to include contests with other college teams for the first time in two years . . . Coach Clemens is lining up games with such teams as Georgia Tech, Ole Miss., Arkansas College and a number of other of the better southern schools. We hope that the Lynx can find sufficient material to handle such an ambitious schedule . . . Bill Drennon, C. B. C. pivot man will be on hand to help us out and so will his team mate, Maney Heckle, a guard . . . Coach is on the lookout for good prospects . . . This reporter will be back and so will the Brod.

Speaking of the future . . . We have high hopes of getting a fine new gymnasium as soon as the war is over . . . Plans for a really fine athletic building have been drawn and we are just waiting for the war to end so we can get started . . . Coach is really shooting for a high goal, the proposed gym will be the best in this part of the country . . . just ask Coach and he'll tell you all about it . . . He is really enthused.

High School Seniors Guests Of College

This afternoon at 4:15 all the seniors of Memphis and Shelby County High Schools, who are interested in attending college, are going to meet here for the annual College Day at Southwestern. The purpose of this College Day is to give the high school seniors a preview of college life.

The program will begin in Hardie Auditorium with Dr. T. E. Hill presiding. The Southwestern Singers conducted by Dr. Burnet C. Tutthill will give a few musical selections, and this will be followed with an address by President Charles E. Diehl on "The Meaning of a Liberal Education". Dr. Baker will show technicolor films of the college.

After this general assembly meeting the seniors will then go to one of the vocational talks given by members of the faculty to advise them on subjects preparatory to certain vocations. Then seniors will watch the cadets of the campus as they perform their Retreat. After the parade the seniors will be conducted around the campus by the student counselors of the college. They will be shown the buildings and the dormitories. The student counselors who will conduct tours of the campus are: Frances Ann Turrentine, Jane Milner, Minnie Lee Gordon, Julia Wellford, Jane Williams, Mary Ann Catching, Winnie Anderson, Betty Joy Smith, Kitty Grey Pharr, Joy Gallimore, Jane Bigger, Betty Jean Wilkinson, Anita Hyde, Jane Davidson, Frances Keaton, Betty Ezell, Mary Ann Banning, William Jones, John Broderick, Toof Brown, Bill Kernodle, Paul McLendon, Jim Wade, and Jimmie Turner.

Following the tour of the campus the group will proceed to the campus Hearth where a picnic supper will be served. After supper Mrs. Wolf will lead the group in singing college songs and songs of the different branches of the armed forces. Several students will present a skit on

Chi Beta Phi Taps Dr. Vaughn

Last Monday Tau chapter of Chi Beta Phi, scientific fraternity, tapped as a faculty member Dr. Raymond T. Vaughn, professor of Analytical and Physical chemistry. Professor Vaughn received his A. B. from Culver-Stockton college and his A. M. from the University of Missouri.

No students this year have been eligible for membership; and, as only one faculty member a semester can be tapped, the Chi Beta Phis have received two new members, both of the faculty. Other faculty members are: Professor Ogden Baine, Professor Marion MacQueen, Professor Oliver Yonts, Professor Peyton Rhodes, Professor Clinton Baker. The regular members are: E. W. Nellus, President, Charles Cox, Vice-President; Katherine Henderson, Secretary-Treasurer; Marion McKee, Phil Orfet, Jack Taylor, David Baldrige.

The purpose of Chi Beta Phi is to promote and encourage the study of the natural sciences and to encourage those students who have excelled in such. The requirements for membership in this organization are as follows:

1. The candidate shall be a student in Southwestern.
2. The candidate shall have shown a marked interest in science.
3. The candidate shall have proven worthy of scientific brotherhood by possessing the spirit of cooperation and integrity in scientific work.
4. The candidate shall have passed with an average of not less than 3.6 at least twenty-eight semester hours in the natural sciences.

the "Typical Life of a Student at Southwestern."

After the entertainment on the Hearth the seniors will attend the three Carolina Playmaker's Plays in Hardie Auditorium, where they will be special guests. Miss Harriet Hollis and Miss Helen Gordon are in charge of arrangements.

PLATTER CHATTER

BY ED DEWEY

Well, you jive hounds, here we are coming through the gate preparing for another jam session.

Last time we spoke about Benny Goodman wanting the same men for his outfit as Uncle Sam wanted for his, which resulted in the breaking up of his ork. However, things are not as bad as they seem to be. Jesse Stacy, veteran pianist (just an "88" man to you hep cats) of the Goodman aggregation, has scooped up some of B. G.'s clan and made off to N. Y. C. with them. It won't be long until Jess opens with a band fronted by himself. We'll put our money on him, too!

An ork to keep your eye on is Boyd Raeburn. Although it was organized only a month or so ago, he has already earned a place in jazznocracy. His arrangements are tops harmonically and a solid beat is dominant. In keeping with that solid beat is a fine rhythm section built around Fred Otis on the ivories, Joe Rumoro on the guitar, Ed Mihelick on the doghouse and Don Lamond on the skins (drums to the classical members). Bassist Mihelick was formerly with Gene Krupa, while pianist Fred Otis used to bang out the hot licks for Sonny Dunham. Don D'Arcy and pretty Dorothy Claire occupy the vocal spotlight. Leader Boyd Raeburn, a natural and enlightening personality, has what it takes to put over a band. It is true that they are a bit unpolished as of now, but give them time. Incidentally, B. Raeburn wields a groovy gutterpipe (saxophone to the classical members) of tenor.

Last Friday we took a day off from the office with the purpose of seeing what new records have been turned lately. One of the best discs of the month is a number by Jimmy Lunceford on a Decca label entitled "Back Door Stuff". The "stuff" is presented in two installments, known as parts I and II. The title was shaken (NO, THAT'S NOT A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR) from a literary column of the same name in Harlem's "Amsterdam News". "Back Door Stuff" is a riff number with a solid touch, featuring pianist Ed Wilcox, clarinetist Omer Simeon, and tenor man, Joe Thomas. Lunceford and his present outfit, which was formed just after making the movie, "Blues In The Night", do not produce the music his old ork did with such notables as Sy Oliver.

Victor came forth with a good platter recently with Duke Ellington doing the honors. On the front we have "Main Stem"; on back, "Johnny Come Lately". Both have a smooth dance tempo, and the music being the kind to which one gets a kick out of listening. These two Ellingtonian arrangements are two more examples why the Duke's yearly income runs into six figures.

Flesh And Fantasy

Above all else, The SOUTHWESTER wishes its readers to be well-informed. The SOUTHWESTER does not intend to wait until the last moment to print interesting bits of news about campus life for the purpose of keeping its readers well-informed. In the words of The Bard, "A well-informed newspaper, with a well-informed editor, and a well-informed staff with have readers who are well-informed." They will also have slight tendencies toward glandular trouble. To produce well-informed readers we present news of coming years.

One of our most outstanding alumni is Winston Elmer Cheers, Jr. Through a daring coup d'etat, he has taken over control of the Mexican government.

Miss Shirley Scott has informed us that she has written Congress requesting that more cadets be sent to Southwestern—for further training.

Kitty Hargrave is announcing her engagement to an alumnus of the school, Mr. Donald MacGuire, Kitty will begin lectures Thursday to the Freshman Class on the subject, "How to win men and influence Sophomores." Mrs. Winnie Anderson Jones has been voted Southwestern's most outstanding student. She makes "A's" in all her classes with the exception of Bible 2365 which is taught by Prof. Ray Allen.

phis, we could sing all we wanted. Texas imitated Danny Kaye, and taught us cowboy songs, and whoever taught us "Down in Arkansas" may just as well go unnamed.

We reached Memphis at 6:30, and after a yell for Pappa Tut and one for Terry, the trip was over. We were all tired and glad to be home, but we had a wonderful time.

AOPi Formal Dance Next Week

Next Saturday night, April 29, from 8 to 12, Alpha Omicron Pi will entertain with their annual "Rose Ball" in the field house. One of the interesting notes on the dance will be that all members of the sorority will wear white. During the impressive sorority lead-out, Vadis Jeter will sing "Alpha Rose". Open House will be conducted in the lodge during intermission.

All male students on the campus will be invited along with the army cadets on the campus, the naval cadets at Millington, and medical students from the city.

Turrentine Elected President Of C. U.

On Wednesday morning, April 19, the Christian Union Officers were elected in the Student Assembly. The Christian Union Cabinet presented two candidates for each office. No nominations were made from the floor. Miss Frances Ann Turrentine was elected president over Miss Jane Milner. Miss Jane Dailey defeated Mr. Archie Turner for the office of vice-president. Miss Winnie Anderson won over Miss Betty Belk in the election for secretary-treasurer.

Milner Nosed Out

for this office, beside Miss Langmead, were: Harry Hawken, Paul McLendon, Winston Cheers, Mary Ann Catching, Betty Lee Hancock, Winnie Anderson, and Julia Wellford.

These elections were, in most cases, unusually close. There were two run-offs in the election for the president of the student body and one in each of the other elections.

There are still several offices to be filled, but since a new method of nomination is being tried, these elections will not be held until next week. These offices are: vice president of the student body, vice presidents of the three classes, and president of the Publications Board.

Soon or late, all men must learn that the law of life is cooperation, both for individual relations and relation between nations. The only final alternative to cooperation among men and nations is that men shall die by each other's hand.

Notes On An Enjoyable Trip

By Irma Waddell

Take a large measure of singing, a long bus ride, a number of small, friendly towns, a dash of soldiers (the whistling variety), a pinch of aching feet, lots of silly jokes (example: A. Do you know Gene Dickson? B. Gene Dickson? A. Never heard of her), mix thoroughly with thirty-seven girls, Pappa Tut, and Terry, the bus driver, and you have a choir trip. Sunday morning the Southwestern Singers arrived at the bus station bright and early. On second thought, it wasn't so bright because most of us had been up till somewhere in the neighborhood of 2 o'clock, and 7 A. M. definitely represented cold, gray dawn. Therefore the trip to Clarksdale was uneventful and sleepy. At Clarksdale our singing was part of the morning service, and the full Presbyterian Church made an encouraging beginning for our trip. The members of the congregation entertained us in their homes for Sunday dinner, and during the ride to Greenville we compared notes on our various hosts. We agreed that the people in Clarksdale were very hospitable, and laughed when Perk told about the boarding-house where all the old maids had dashed wildly to the window to see the fire engine make its Sunday ride through town. That afternoon we sang at Greenville Army Air Base, ate in the mess hall, sang at the table to entertain ourselves (as well as the K Ps), toured the base, and went back to Greenville. First Church gave over its entire evening service to us, and we sang our best for a large audience. Paul Jones, the minister, was good-natured and friendly, and since several of the girls knew him already, we felt very much at home. That night we stayed in the church members' homes, and left at 8 the next morning. Our first stop Monday was Leland. We thought the red roses on the bank of Deer Creek were beautiful, and Barbara showed us her home and Jo's. Barbara knew lots of people at the high school, and the audience was one of the most receptive of the trip. When we boarded the bus again, Mr. Terrell, the driver, had picked a red rose for each one of us, so we immediately began calling him Terry and gave him a "2, 4, 6, 8—who do we appreciate". We sang in Greenwood twice—for the high school before noon, and after lunch in the school cafeteria for the junior high. In between we wandered around Greenwood, and Minnie Lee bought Terry a big peppermint stick. He offered everybody a bit. We left Greenwood and the flat part of Mississippi, and crossed over to the hills.

At 3:00 we arrived at Camp McCain, near Grenada, and were installed in guest houses—barracks divided into small rooms for two people—with accommodating Special Service hostesses. We ate supper in a mess hall, and then the men showed us something of the camp. We sang in a huge theatre that night before an audience of soldiers who almost were over-appreciative. But Pappa Tut was wonderful, and did a grand and quite diplomatic job of calming them down. The boys were enthusiastic all the time, and almost brought the house down clapping for Gene's boogie-woogie solo, and Irene's "Wanting You". Our feet were tired after standing during four long performances that day, but we managed to go to a dance for a group of men who were leaving. We sang some for them, and they sang for us. The next morning a few members for the choir reported that reveille blew and a band played at some unearthly hour, but most of us just had to take their word for it. What did wake us was a strange noise outside. We could hear men talking quite nearby, and the words didn't make any sense. It seemed like a dream, but as we woke up more, we still couldn't understand them, and finally realized they were German prisoners working on a road. We had seen their camp the night before. They didn't look unhappy and certainly were doing more smoking than road repairing. One of the guards gave Ditsy a package of German cigarettes. We left McCain at 11, and sang at Batesville, ate lunch with the Rotary Club in Sardis, sang for the school there, and sang at Senatobia at 4. The school auditorium was modernistic, and singing there was a fine climax for our trip, especially since they gave us cold cokes. We did all our songs there, beginning with religious numbers and ending with "Hallelujah", which we sang with expression. Then the Woman's Auxiliary gave a formal tea for us at Northwest Junior College. As long as we had to sing, Pappa Tut told us to save our voices, so during most of the bus ride we just played coffee-pot, formed the Frog Club (ask Ditsy) and napped. But now as we were through, and from Senatobia to Mem-

"Atonement" Is Subject Of Forum

The regular Christian Union Forum was held Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 on the porch in front of the Bell Room. Refreshments consisting of ice cream sandwiches were served by Mike Miller.

Betty Ezell led the discussion, the subject of which was "Atonement". A discussion followed.

The next meeting will be held May 3rd and will be the last of the year. The discussion at this time will be led by Donnie MacGuire.

An Announcement

Dean Johnson has requested that all students who have taken excessive class cuts and chapel cuts see him this week for excuse. In the past, most of those students making application for excuse of cuts have waited until the last week of the semester just before exams to make this application. Dean Johnson says that he will be entirely too busy to take time out to hear these applications at the end of the semester.

Y.W.C.A. Banquet Set For Early May

The annual Curling Iron Banquet of YWCA will be held Friday, May 5, in the Kappa Delta House from five to seven. At this time the new officers and cabinet will be installed. Jane Bigger is in charge of the program which will be very special as this will be the meeting at which the popularity contest will be held. Anyone who would like to make nominations for the titles "Loveliest Dove", "Sloppiest Sophomore", etc may contact Miss Bigger.

This contest is interesting as it is the one election of the year reputedly uncontaminated by political combines. Will Jane Milner be reelected "Honey-pourin' Polly"? Will Ann Howard Bailey defend her title of "Mamie Moran"? These and many more important issues will be decided in the election of May 5, 1944.

meeting and to cast a vote, the member and the alternate must have taken this oath:

I do solemnly swear to uphold the constitution and purposes of the Elections Commission of Southwestern by discouraging the formation of political combines and the use of other unfair tactics in all Southwestern elections, and I further promise to report to the Elections Commission any of the above that may come to my knowledge.

The following oath shall be required of all witnesses called before the Commission:

I do solemnly swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God.

Sometime in September previous to the first election, the Elections Commission shall conduct the chapel service, at which time the clauses of the constitution outlining the purposes of the Commission, its methods, and its penalties, shall be read to the Student Body.

An organization shall be deprived of its seat in the Commission, as of October 1st of the school year, if the Commission lacks a record from the President of said organization signed by him and counter-signed by the representative to the Elections Commission, stating that the "clauses of the constitution outlining the purposes of the Commission, its methods, and its penalties" have been read to all members of that organization at a regular meeting. It is the responsibility of the President of every organization to see that each member and pledge has a knowledge of the constitution—its rules and penalties—before his vote is cast in any election.

ARTICLE VIII.

This constitution of the Elections Commission of Southwestern becomes effective when ratified by a majority vote of the Student Body. It may be amended by the Commission and ratified by a majority vote of the Student Body.

ARTICLE IX.

The President of the Student Body shall be an ex-officio member of the Commission.

ARTICLE X. BALLOTS

Ballots shall be destroyed by the three-fourths vote of the Commission immediately following the installation of the new officers. All ballots remaining at the end of the Spring term should be destroyed by the authority of the outgoing Commission.

ARTICLE XI.

Ballot boxes shall be closed and locked during balloting.

By-Laws of the Southwestern Elections Commission as Adopted on April 17, 1944

A convention shall be held five days prior to the Popularity Elections and another held five days prior to the Spring Elections including, the Student Body officers, Publications Board and Class officers. The Elections Commission offers its services to any other organizations on Campus who care to have their officers nominated during this latter convention.

For clarity, the Commission recommends that one convention be called the "Southern" and one the "Western" or the school colors, "Red" and "Black".

Delegates to the Conventions (one delegate to the Southern and one delegate to the Western) are to be appointed by each active fraternity and sorority and the independent men and women on campus. It is the duty of the delegates to give the opinion of their organization at the Convention, however, they are free and urged to give their personal opinions.

The officers of the Elections Commission shall preside and act as moderators over every Convention, leading the discussion of qualification of candidates under parliamentary law. After the Convention's nominations are completed, it is the duty of the members attending the Convention to select a campaign manager. He is not to be one of the nominees.

The order of convention meeting (i. e. which convention meets first) is determined by rotation. The second convention to meet shall have the privilege of presenting their platform either first or second to the Student Body (at a program following the chapel exercises).

Vacancies occurring between conventions shall be replaced by election, the method of filling these vacancies shall be determined by the existing Commission.

Many Will Attend
Summer School

The accelerated program of studies, the purpose of which is to enable students to complete their work for the degree before being called to military service, was begun by Southwestern in 1941, and will be continued in 1944, and as long thereafter as there is need for it. The summer session is divided into two terms of six weeks each, and a student may elect to attend either or both of these terms. Twelve semester hours of credit may be obtained by successfully completing the work of both terms. By taking a sixth course in either semester of the following year, a student may make up a full semester's work. Attendance upon two summer sessions, plus the sixth course mentioned for obtaining a degree from four years to three. The first term begins on June 5th, and ends on July 15th; the second term extends from July 17 to August 25. A total of twelve semesters hours may be obtained. If one of the courses elected is in laboratory science, fourteen semester hours may be obtained. All courses required for graduation or the completion of a major meet five days per week for one and one-half hours and give three semester hours of credit. If the classes desire, elective courses may be reduced to five meetings of one hour each per week, and give two semester hours of credit. Courses in Bible, biology, chemistry, economics, English, French, geography, German, history, mathematics, music, philosophy, physics, political science, and Spanish will be offered. Registration is $5.00 for either or both terms. Tuition is $22.50 for a three semester hour course, and for a two semester hour course $15. Courses in laboratory science, registration is $5 for either or both terms. Tuition is $60 for twelve-week course, giving 8 semester hours credit, and $30 for six-week course giving four semester hours credit. Laboratory fee is $18 for twelve-week course, $9 for a 6 weeks course. In addition to the laboratory fee a $5 breakage deposit is required. Students who wish to live in the college dormitories and board at the college dining hall are urged to make reservations as early as possible. Applications for rooms should be made not later than one week before the opening of the session, and should be accompanied by a deposit of five dollars. Checks should be made payable to Southwestern, and the application should be addressed to the Registrar, Southwestern, Memphis, Tennessee. The cost of room and board for the six weeks session will be $62.50; for the twelve weeks session $125. The college reserves the right to withdraw any course for which there is an inadequate number of registrants.
