The News Beat

by John Crabtree

This week the news has been a series of conferences on the international scene. So let us for a change turn specifically to the national scene, particularly to the Senate Investigating Committee.

For some weeks the rumblings have been coming out of Washington that the labor unions are full of graft and corrupt practices. For a change the accusations have not been that they are polluted by Communists, but by those people who are not known as being particularly honest and law abiding when it comes to the administration of union funds. The names of Brewster and Dave Beck will live in the memories of the American people as the name of Army Secretary Frank Pace did after the famous fight Senator McCarthy had with the army. The charges that were batted around then were of a diverse nature. Everything from suspected treason, to misappropriation of funds.

Back to the sessions that the Committee had last week with Mr. Dave Beck, the little man who ruled the Teamster's Union with the iron hand of a medieval monarch. The policies used by Mr. Beck and his staff would no doubt be worthy of the admiration of the worst of dictators. Aside from the fact that some half million dollars worth of union funds are "unaccounted for," his practice of intimidation of the rank and file members of the unions who worked for the money usurped from their checks as the privilege of working is worse than disgraceful.

So Mr. Beck comes before the Congress of the United States with the idea in mind, no doubt of running over them in the same roughshod manner that had served him so well before. He made statements to the effect that he would be glad to appear before the Senate Committee because he had nothing to hide. Everyone hoped that he could honorably explain the charges brought against him and his statements before appearing at the hearing lent even greater strength to

Students Attend ODK Convention

Four members of the Southwestern chapter of ODK, national leadership fraternity, are attending the national convention of the organization in St. Louis.

Dick Crawford is chief delegate, Don Parker is serving as alternate, and Robert Neil Templeton and Louis Zbinden have the status of attending members. Dr. Gordon Southard is Southwestern's faculty representative. Delegates are being housed at the Chase Hotel, where the convention is established.

The conclave, which began last night, will extend through noon, Saturday, April 13. Delegates are attending discussion groups to exchange ideas for projects and achievements. They will also vote on admitting new circles (chapters) from other colleges. Some social events are also planned.

Phi Chapter of Kappa Sigma cordially invites the faculty and men students to its Stardust Ball, Saturday night, April 13, at the Memphis Hunt and Polo Club from 9 until 12 o'clock. Music will be furnished by Bill Justis and his orchestra.

MUSIC STUDENTS GIVE PROGRAMS

Southwestern students will be presented as soloists at Easter services in churches throughout the city by the Voice Department of the Southwestern College of Music.

Soloists for St. Mary's Cathedral will be Martha Pipkin and Mary Mainord; St. Paul's Methodist Church will present music by Mary Ann Wachal and Ann Hart. Keith Buckley will sing at the Associated Reform Presbyterian Church, and the Germantown Methodist Church will hear music by Billy Jon Wood, Margaret Crutcher, and William Aikens.

Clements Gives Senior Recital

Nancy Carol Clements, Southwestern senior, will be presented in her Senior Piano Recital by the Southwestern Department of Music at 3 o'clock Sunday, at Bohlmann Hall, 1822 Overton Park Ave.

Miss Clements, a student of Miss Lois Maer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clements of Jonesboro, Ark. and is a candidate for the bachelor of music degree with a major in piano pedagogy.

Her program will include numbers by Scarlatti, Beethoven, Tcherpnin, and Chopin; the public is invited.

LARGE GROUP ATTENDS NACOME

This weekend more than eighty Southwestern students are attending the Westminster Fellowship of Evergreen Church at the W. F. Spring Retreat at Na-Co-Me for the purpose of studying the theme "GOD'S DESIGN, OUR DISORDER."

Leading the conference is The Reverend Harry Smith, from the University of North Carolina, where he has served as student Pastor for the past three years, and who last year was the Religious Evaluation Speaker at Southwestern. He will deliver four messages on the subject of student and ecumenical work, comparing the disorder of our present individual and church spiritual condition with God's design as he sees it.

Besides the four addresses by Rev. Smith, the program will include individual and group worship, discussion and Bible study groups, and the showing of the slides taken by Rev. Smith in Germany, where he attended the meeting of the General Committee of the World Student Christian Federation.

New Student Council Named In Week's Voting

MIKE CODY WILL PRESIDE FOR 57-58; ZBINDEN NEW VEEP

Five of eight members of Southwestern's Student Council for the coming year were named in campus elections held Tuesday. Run-offs will determine holders of the remaining three offices.

Mike Cody, unopposed candidate for president, led the list of those elected.

Louis Zbinden, running on the Black ticket, was tabbed for the vice-presidency in the polling which second round were Mary Jane Smalley on the Red Ticket, Sue Robinson on the Black ticket, and independent Kip Shoaf.

Independent J. L. Jerden and Black Bob Welsh reached run-offs in the race for Commissioner of Athletics.

New Publications Commissioner is Lewis Wilkins, who ran on the Red ticket.

Another Red, John Quinn ("Lost in sin? Vote for Quinn!") will chair the PRC for the coming year in his new capacity as Commissioner of Religious Activities.

Another run-off will determine the new Commissioner of Social Activities. Larry Kennon for the Blacks and Mike Lupfer for the Reds are in contention following Tuesday's voting.

Anne Underwood, another successful candidate for the Red Ticket, will be Commissioner of Undergraduate Women in 1957-58. This year she has been representative of her class to the Council, and in that capacity is the Council's campus co-ordinator for the United States National Student Association. With President-elect Cody, she is one of two from this year's Council who will sit in next year's student government.

ELECTION FINALS

Bob Welsh and Mike Lupfer won spots on the Student Council for next year in run-off elections held Thursday. Welsh is the new Commissioner of Athletics and Lupfer is the new Commissioner of Social Activities.

In other balloting Thursday, Sue Robinson and Mary Jane Smalley gained run-off berths for the third round in the Secretary-Treasurer's race. This is the last of the offices on the Council remaining to be filled in student body elections.

saw some 417 votes cast. This total is a sizeable one and indicative of the efforts of the campaign managers and candidates in creating interest in the election. It amounts to approximately 70% of the student body.

For secretary-treasurer, three of the four candidates were selected for the run-offs in very close balloting. Those qualifying for the

Kappa Sigma Holds 75th Anniversary Celebration

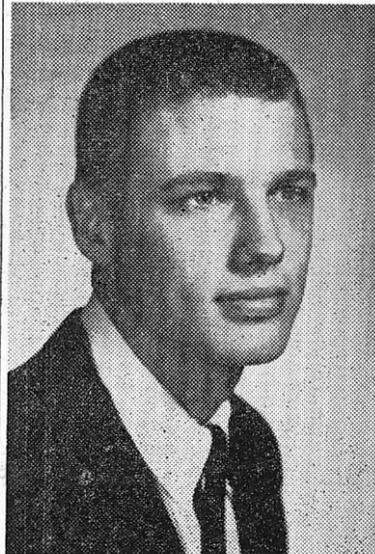

A Stardust Ball Saturday night will climax a week-end celebration of Phi Chapter of Kappa Sigma's 75th anniversary.

Last night the Kappa Sigmas began their 75th celebration with a banquet at the Memphis Hunt and Polo Club. Lt. Col. Warren B. Silverstein, USMC, was the guest speaker. Kappa Sigma, second oldest fraternity on the campus, was founded April 10, 1882.

Besides members and their dates, 100 students have been invited to the ball, 9 until 12 o'clock at the Hunt and Polo Club. Glittering replicas of the fraternity crest and badge will be featured in the club decorations. Feature of the evening will be presentation of the Kappa Sigma sweetheart.

Bill Justis' orchestra will furnish the music and featured singers will be Bobby Chandler of Little Rock

Final Concert Given By Patrons of Music

The Patrons of Music at Southwestern will sponsor their fourth and final concert of the season on Tuesday evening, April 23 at 8:30 P.M. The event is open to the public without charge and will take place at Bohlmann Hall, 1822 Overton Park Avenue.

The players are all members of the Southwestern music faculty, and include Derry Deane, violinist, Phyllis Thronburg, violincellist, Mrs. Anne Reynolds, flutist, and three pianists, Myron Myers, Jane Soderstrom, and Charles Mosby.

DIAZ WILL SPEAK FOR PAN-AM WEEK

Ramon R. Diaz, vice-president of Plough, Inc. in charge of exports, will be Southwestern's Pan American Day speaker in assembly, 10 a.m. Monday, April 15.

Mr. Diaz, eighth in the series of Free World Issues speakers, will discuss the cultural and historical backgrounds of Latin America as compared with those of the United States.

Mr. Diaz, now head of a department which exports products to 52 countries, came to the United States as a poor boy of 14 who wanted an education.

Passage of Amendment Gives S. C. Seats to Pan, IFC

The amendment to the student body constitution granting a non-voting membership on the Student Council to the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Pan-Hellenic Council was passed in student assembly Wednesday by a vote of 313 to 42.

Although this vote represented a favorable expression on the part of some 88% of those present and voting, passage was in doubt by virtue of the fact that in order for a constitutional amendment submitted by vote of the Student Council to the student assembly to pass it must receive a majority of the votes of the entire student body rather than just a majority of the votes cast.

Speaking editorially, the Sou'wester commends the student body on its passage of this constitutional amendment. We feel that representation on the Council by the IFC and the Pan is a just recognition of the reality of the role which these bodies play on Southwestern's campus, and that it will make possible a new avenue through which the Council may work for the good of the entire student body.

Across The Desk

Except for perhaps a little shouting and the class elections which will be held later this month, the selection of those who will run Southwestern's student government for another year is just about complete. They will assume full duties in their respective offices after Easter vacation.

The new Student Council has many things in its favor. It is in a position to build upon and carry onward and upward the contributions which have been made by this year's Council. These contributions have not been by any means inconsiderable. Affiliation with the United States National Student Association, accomplished this semester, offers promise for much good in the way of an improved and more effective program of student government. Another forward step which has been taken is the passage of the amendment giving the IFC and Pan representation on the Council. We feel that the part the Council has played in co-operating with its presentation to the student body is highly commendable. Space fails to allow for the enumeration of the many other accomplishments which this year's Student Council has to its credit.

At the same time, recognition of the fact that this has been a generally good year for the Council does not by any means imply that there is nothing for the new Council to do. This year's accomplishments have merely opened the door to new responsibility for the new Council to take full advantage of the new opportunities for service to the student body which it has at its disposal. Unless it is willing to open these doors and do well the work which lies on the other side of them, it will be remiss in its duties.

The new Council has a responsibility to make full use of the services placed at its disposal by affiliation with the USNSA.

The new Council has a responsibility to exploit to the fullest advantage the new realm of co-operative action which has been made available by passage of the IFC and Pan representation amendment.

The new Council has a responsibility to do all in its power to continue the revived interest in student government which was reflected in the large vote in Tuesday's elections.

The new Council has a responsibility to profit by the experience of the old; it must avoid the mistakes which its predecessor made or it will not adequately fulfill the expectations which we hold for it. In this connection, we once more call for the Council to give serious consideration to a complete re-assessment of the present student body constitution with an eye to revising it toward a more perfect basis on which student government at Southwestern may rest.

These are some of the responsibilities. The months to come will tell how well they have been met, and you, the student body, will have ample opportunity to stand in judgment.

LETTER to the EDITOR

Open Letter to Student Council:

The school authorities have been complaining about the conduct in the social rooms of the girls' dorms. But where can you go around here for privacy? The freshman dorm doesn't even have the advantage of "passion pits," and those in Voorhies are usually full. I agree with the school concerning this problem, but some place must be provided.

The football field is the most logical solution, but police drive people away from there by request of the school. Where do they expect us to go? I'm sure the school would rather have the students stay on campus than force them to go off campus. I would like to recommend that the school not ask the police to patrol the campus grounds at night. After all, it is private property! I wish the Student Council would give this matter due consideration!

Sincerely,
Sallie Meek, Sr.

OPINION, PLEASE!

by Mary Ann Lee

QUESTION: How would you evaluate the effectiveness of Southwestern's electoral system?

ANSWERS:

Beverly Dotson, freshman: The idea of having nominating conventions is good, but I believe that more effective by-laws are needed. With more rules the work of the conventions could be handled in less time and more effectively.

Bob Booth, junior: Because the essence of any political system is the choosing between competing candidates and competition makes for better candidates and officers, no person should be nominated by both conventions for the same office. There should be a by-law to this effect. This is not to say that the same person couldn't be nominated by both conventions for different offices. Furthermore, once a convention has nominated a person for an office, he should not be dropped in favor of someone else; also, a person who is nominated for office owes it to the student body to run for that office.

Gloria Smith, junior: I like the idea of sorority and fraternity delegates picking candidates in one convention and impartial delegates from each class choosing people for the other ticket. When a case arises like it did this year, there should be a rule to permit the suggestion which Mike Cody made in chapel to go into effect. Having one candidate for president is not as bad as having one candidate for a commissioner.

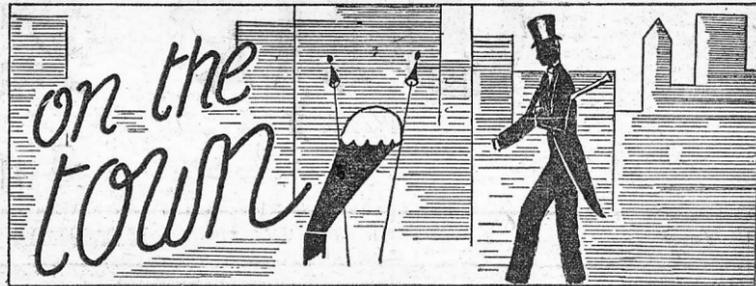

Jimmy Wood, sophomore: The candidates are usually good candidates, but there should be more of them and more choice on the part of the student body. It's not enough for two tickets to choose who they want to run.

Jim Curtis, freshman: It's a good system, but all of the election rules should be enforced more.

Fritzi Russell, freshman: It's an effective system, but it isn't stressed as much as it should be. The freshman don't know enough about it. It should be explained more completely during orientation.

June Davidson, sophomore: This system is the best way to do it for the group you're trying to handle.

Beverly Bowden, freshman: The system is good, but each individual should take it upon himself to know what's going on, to participate as much as he can and work in elections. The student body should attend the conventions, or the process of elections could fall into the hands of a few and stay there.

The birds are singing, the sun is gaily shining, and the trees are coming into full bloom. So what do we do? We go to class six days a week, but then comes the weekend and we are free to go ON THE TOWN.

This week at the Malco a stirring western drama is showing "Three Violent People." Charleton Heston, Anne Baxter, and Gilbert Roland star in this sage of rancho-carpenter strife of 1866. Another film which stars Heston and Baxter is the "Ten Commandments" going into its seventh week at the Strand.

"The Brave One" is again trying to make its way to the screen of Loew's Palace. It is about the age old problem of a young boy raising a pet bull only to have it carried away to the bull ring. Michael is the lad who has to toil with this burden.

Men, beware, because behind every corner there is a "Designing Woman." Gregory Peck finds this to be true when his path crosses that of Lauren Bacall and they make the fatal mistake of falling in love. (Men, don't let this happen to you.)

To the Warner comes two hair-raising cinemas of shock and terror. The "Voodoo Woman" makes with the chills but to me she seemed like a good kid. Along with this film is a spicy number, "The Undead." This guy may be your next door neighbor.

The Ritz presents academy award winner, Ingrid Bergman in, "Paris Does Strange Things." Mel Ferrar serves as one of the men who becomes a part of her collection. She is a countess who helps men attain their goals and gives them a maroon harpoon.

If these don't please you, then only one thing is left and that is the annual yo-yo contest. You too can be a Cheerios champion.

Campus Challenge

Matthew 29-30: "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you."

Our society reiterates the oft asked question, "What will remake and revitalize the Church in the 20th century?" We as Christians must face up to this question by re-evaluating our concept of social regeneration. Many believe the solution to establishing God's Kingdom lies in having more ministers and a more extended church program, and there is no doubt that there is much to be said on behalf of this opinion. On the other hand we must seek social regeneration on the personal, individual level rather than on the group level. Let us examine the record.

When Jesus healed the demoniac, rather than adding him to the band of disciples, he instructed him to go home and tell his family and friends what great things the Lord had done for him. This he did and many more people were contacted than if the demoniac had become an "official disciple." There are Prisca and Aquila, some of the uppercrust in Roman society, who when they became victims of racial prejudice, moved to a frontier town, carrying their letter of transfer from the First Church of Rome. In this isolated place they greatly aided the missionary effort of Paul, being mentioned several times in his letters. There was Francis of Assisi, a roaming mendicant who spread the love of Christ over Europe, at a time when all of Western Christendom was united in several "Holy Wars." There were the Lollards in England who were uneducated and barefooted, but who preached to the commoners of England the Bible in their language. They were persecuted and hated by the religious leaders of their day, but they nourished the souls of a spiritually poverty-stricken society. Finally, there are the personal workers of India and Japan, who live and work among the beggardly hodge-podge of humanity whom they are trying to evangelize.

History has not deemed these men worthy of recording, but they were the footsoldiers who rallied under the banner of Christ in their day. If the holy, catholic, and apostolic church is to move forward, and if social regeneration is to occur, each individual Christian, like those saints of old, must strengthen his defense against "the world, the flesh, and the Devil."

The Week with the Greeks

by Mary Farish

My column this week could almost be called "The Week with the Chi O's" since they seem to be the only Greeks to have been going places and doing things the past seven days. Friday night they celebrated Founder's Day with an Eleusinian Banquet at the Embers. Saturday night the new initiates and pledges gave the annual Pirate party for members and their dates. After a fast and furious treasure hunt, the treasure was discovered in the garden by Sarah Longino and Jack Holsher, Frances Kilpatrick and Henry Wadsworth. The group went to the Chi O lodge, which was decorated as a pirate ship, for refreshments, entertainment and dancing.

The Tri-Delts had their annual Scholarship Dinner Monday night at the lodge. Members with high averages were guests of honor while the more unfortunates were really more unfortunate. Elsie Hay was awarded the scholarship bracelet for the member who showed the most improvement in her grades.

That's all the news from the sororities and fraternities this week. Maybe the place will "liven up" some next week . . .

I should have done my history
I might have darned a sock
Instead, out in the springtime sun
I sat upon a rock,
And noted that the sky was blue
Observed each smiling cloud;
Thought up a poem in my head
Recited it aloud.

I watched a robin hunting worms;
I hummed a silly song,
Smiled at the swaying daffodils,
And found the whole day long
Was not enough for me to spend
Appreciating spring.

For history, socks, unchanged will wait—
But April's on the wing.

In the Spring a young man's fancy turns to—and Bobby Weaver pinned Lele Humphreys and Ed Stock pinned Sandy Calmer. Congratulations to all of these nice people.

Congratulations and best wishes for success in the coming year to all the new Student Council officers. Congratulations to all the candidates for being selected by your fellow class mates to run and for being outstanding enough in ability and personality to be so selected.

I ran across an old Persian proverb the other day, and it struck me as pretty true for students and professors at times—"If the king says at noonday, 'It is night' the wise man says, 'Behold the stars.'"

One more thought to spread around campus—there is only one thing in the world worse than being talked about, and that is not being talked about.

Oh, and if you have any problems from now 'til school's out, just remember—when in doubt, sack out!

YOUR Student Council

by Richard Teaford

The Student Council met Tuesday, April 9 at 7:00 p.m. with Don Parker, President, presiding. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Bill McLean.

Commission Reports

Mike Cody reviewed plans of the athletic commission which is now spending its time in preparing the new athletic commission with more authority and better defined powers. Publication, Religious and Undergraduate Women Commissioners all reported end-of-the-year evaluations and reviews.

New Business

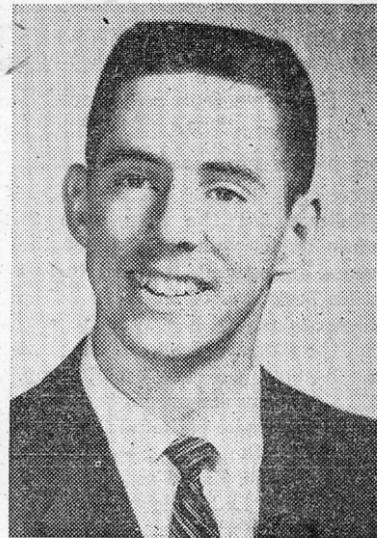

The amendment proposed by the IFC and Pan-Hellenic Council was passed for the second time and will be presented to the student body for a vote during a coming chapel period. The order of business for next week was announced. It will consist of an examination of the constitution and the student council handbook during which time the Council will make suggestions and eliminate obsolete parts of the handbook.

LYNX WIN FROM SEWANEE FOR SEASON'S FIRST VICTORY

Southwestern conquered Sewanee for its first track victory of the season 70½-60½. The Lynx got some fine point-producing performances from Richard Vollmer, Mike Cody, and Bill Carrell.

Vollmer led the way with 20 points as he won all four of the events he entered. Richard turned in his best time of the year in the 100-yard-dash with a 10.1. He also won the 220-yard-dash, the 220 yard low hurdles, and the broad jump. Cody was runner-up in the point production as he gathered 13 points. Mike won the mile run, the 880 yard run, and placed second in the 2 mile run. Bill followed with 12 points; he was the real work horse of the afternoon. He was entered in four running events instead of his usual two hurdle events, and his fine conditioning enabled him to do an excellent job. He won the high hurdles, was second in both the low hurdles and the 220 yard dash, and won third in the 100 yard dash. The amazing thing about this was that these events were run in a short period of time.

Other outstanding performances for the Lynx were victories in the javelin by Jim Gillis, in the high jump by MoMo Waller, and the two mile run by Bob Welsh. Two boys who had their best performances of the year and could do no better than second place were Danny Logan who reached 10'6" in the pole vault and Sidney Peek who threw the discus 129'10".

The Lynx weakness in depth was again apparent by the fact that they won 10 of the 15 events yet the score was quite close. However, this weakness has been fast disappearing in practice sessions since the weather has been good again.

This weekend Coach Marr is taking some of the boys to the Southwestern-Louisiana Relays at Lafayette, La. This will be the first time in eight years the Lynx runners have been entered in major competition. Coach Marr thinks the boys are capable of doing a good job especially in the Distance Medley Relay and Bob Welsh should be able to hold his own in the 2 mile run.

The next home meet will be Wednesday, April 17, against Lambuth College of Jackson, Tennessee.

19th Hole

by Lewis Bledsoe

"Mr Sun, just keep shining bright!" I believe that everyone around Memphis, especially at Southwestern, is uttering these words now, in hopes that Spring is here to stay. Not many people have been visiting the fairways regularly but some few "ole faithfuls" or "foolish ones" have dared to battle the elements of nature with little or no luck. This being the case, I have had only a few visitors at the clubhouse but anyway, glad you got out today and dropped by the 19th Hole.

The golf match with Memphis State, scheduled for Monday, April 8th, was postponed, due to the terribly cold weather and will be played at another date, to be announced later. "Those Tigers were lucky, this time!"

Next on the agenda are coming matches of this week and the ones following for next week. On Friday April 12th, the Lynx swing back into action against the UT Dentists and then on Monday, April 15th, Lambuth College of Jackson, Tenn. will be encountered, both matches being played at the Memphis CC. On Tuesday, the 16th, the Freshman Lynx have a match against the Memphis State Freshmen, so as you can see, the schedule is full of action.

Smalley To Serve On College Board Handbook Staff

Mary Jane Smalley, Southwestern junior, has been named to the College Board of the next volume of the Going-to-College Handbook, annually published in Richmond, Virginia for students in and looking forward to college.

Mary Jane, who writes a column in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, held the highest average in her Freshman and Sophomore classes, and was chosen last year's Torch Outstanding Sophomore. She is Vice President of Kappa Delta sorority, and is a member of Pi Intersorority.

Nominated by college or national youth officials, members of the College Board serve as advisers to the editors in planning and developing the Handbook. At the present time the College Board is being polled to discover attitudes on a number of lively campus problems.

Scheduled for publication next August in time for home town going-to-college functions, the Handbook will be used during the remainder of the year by students looking forward to college.

Hole.

Hope to see you at the matches on Friday, Monday, and Tuesday. Keep 'em in the fairway!

these hopes. However, when he first took the stand, the Constitution of the United States and the Amendments that were passed to protect the citizens from abuse at the hands of the government took such a beating that we wonder if it will ever be the same. As most of the readers will realize, the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution gives a person under investigation the privilege of refusing to answer any question which might tend to incriminate him before the law.

But, as has already been intimated and will be seen shortly, the illustrious Mr. Dave Beck will not too easily worm his way out of the predicament he now finds himself in. By refusing to answer the questions he was not so much protecting himself from the union, but from the watchful eye of the little man from the Eternal Revenue Department.

His evasion of the questions at that time just served to be added incentive for the Justice Department to prosecute Beck for not bothering to pay income tax on the "income" from the union funds. Even though Beck probably took the money on false pretense or, to be more precise, just swiped it, the government considers it as income.

To conclude, let us say that we feel that in the near future Mr. Beck's mail should be sent in care of the Penal Institutions of the United States. Even if he gets out of the income tax evasion charge the state of Washington will surely have him for extortion.

It is our hope that some way to prevent the flagrant use of the Fifth Amendment will be devised so as to save the money wasted in drawn out proceedings and save the victim of its own protectiveness. In other words, those things that are abused time and time again are oft times done away with completely to the disadvantage of those who have a right to use it and will use it honorably.

TENNIS MEN SPLIT IN TWO HOME MATCHES TOP MILLSAPS DROP OLE MISS

Southwestern's tennis team swept to an early lead and then withstood two Millsaps doubles victories to win a close match by a 5 to 4 margin.

Tuesday afternoon, in a match favored by excellent weather, the Lynx netters pulled themselves back over the 500% mark by downing a good Millsaps team. The match was exciting throughout, as ace Tommy Buford again started the team on the road to victory by winning his fifth straight singles match. Eric Mount, George Morris, and Hal Henderson also showed top form in winning their matches as they put Southwestern into a 4-2 lead at the start of the doubles play.

Millsaps quickly copped the Number 1 and the Number 2 doubles to tie the score at 4 all. Then the Number 3 team composed of Eric Mount and George Crabb turned the tide in the Lynx favor as they took their match 6-1, 6-3, to wind up the play.

With a record of three wins and two losses the Lynx journey to Jackson, Tennessee, to face Union University Friday.

Tommy Buford (S) def. Max McDaniel 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

Mount-Crabb (S) def. Henson-Sherman 6-1, 6-3.

Last Friday, Southwestern's tennis team entertained Ole Miss at the University Club courts as the Lynx Netters played their first home match. The team gave a good account of themselves, as, after losing four of the six singles matches, they swept the Number 2 and Number 3 doubles matches to tie the score at four all. This was all to no avail, however, as Phil Berry and Bill Watson took the Number 1 doubles match defeating Tommy Buford and George Morris 8-6, 6-3.

Southwestern never led in the match which was marred by gale-like winds that reached twenty miles an hour. Tommy Buford's singles play, however, highlighted the match as he continued in his all-winning ways by defeating Phil Berry in straight sets 6-1, 8-6.

Results:

Tommy Buford (S) def. Phil Berry 6-1, 8-6.

Buddy Williamson (M) def. Walker Wellford 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Bill Watson (M) def. Jack Biedenharn 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Dick Newberg (M) def. Eric Mount 6-3, 6-3.

George Morris (S) def. Morris Denton 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Louis Brant (M) def. Hal Henderson 6-2, 6-2.

Berry-Watson (M) def. Buford-Morris 8-6, 6-3.

Wellford-Biedenharn (S) def. Williamson-Newberg 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Mount-Crabb (S) def. Denton-Brant 6-2, 6-1.

In America, he pursued his education at the Johnson Bible College at Kimberling, Tenn., working in the college laundry, dining room, and doing farm chores to put himself through school.

He served with the Coast Artillery during World War I and later got a job in the Battle Creek, Michigan sanatorium. It was here that he met a patient who was an executive in the Miller Rubber Co. and his first industrial job ensued. From Miller he went to the Pepsodent Co. and in 1926 to the Plough Company in Memphis, which was just beginning to feel its way into international trade.
