Southwestern at Memphis

41st Year

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1959

Vol. 41, No. 11

FINALISTS Jimmy Curtis, Ray Zbinden, and Allen Reynolds have been voted the three dreamiest males at Southwestern by campus co-eds. One of the three will be announced "Dream Man" at tonight's Torch Backwards Dance.

Students Urged To Preregister

Preregistration will be held December 1 through 12, 1959, and all students are asked to take part. Changes, where necessary, can be made later, but if each student is preregistered, the changes can be made in much less time than it will take to register on February 9.

The procedure is as follows:

Your adviser has been given two copies of the blank program card for each of his advisees, together with a copy of each advisee's 8-weeks grade report showing courses now being taken. He also has copies of the second semester schedule, and additional copies are posted on the bulletin board.

Please report directly to your adviser as early in the period as possible and make out your program with his help. Please fill in the information asked for on the reverse of the program card, as many changes of address, telephone number, etc., have occurred since this information was last obtained. Please also copy your program, when completed, on to the Student's Copy card, and leave both copies with the adviser. He will turn them in at the registrar's office for checking.

You should not change sections or drop a required course without first consulting the Dean or the Registrar.

Noted Anthropologist Speaks on Campus

Dr. Carleton S. Coon, an anthropologist of world renown, was guest speaker following the Phi Beta Kappa Associates annual dinner Thursday night, Dec. 3, in the Catherine Burrow Hall. Following the dinner, to which all Phi Beta Kappas in this area were invited, Dr. Coon spoke in the Adult Education Center at 8:15.

Alakaluf Indians

The subject of Dr. Coon's address was "The Alakaluf in Southern Chile," which means, a talk on the very strange and fascinating Alakaluf Indians which Dr. Coon has been studying recently. These people, until about 35 years ago, were forced to live virtually naked in freezing weather and bathe in freezing water. They live in the Chilean archipelago just north of the Straits of Magellan, and, by their situation, are important to the surmises that America might have originally been inhabited by people who came through the Bering Straits from Asia.

Slides

The AEC talk was augmented by slides that Dr. Coon took while in that part of the world, some of which showed the exquisite beauty of the wild and snowy place.

Chapel Talk

Dr. Coon also spoke in Chapel the following morning, Friday, Dec. 4.

PRC Presents Morality Plays

On Sunday, December 6, at 4:00 p.m., in Hardie Auditorium, the Protestant Religious Council Drama Group will present its first production. The group will perform two short one-act plays, "The House by the Stable" and "Grab and Grace" by Charles Williams. They are contemporary morality plays written to be produced together. The plays portray Man in the dilemma in which he has been involved since he was placed on earth. The allegorical characters symbolize the problems which confront Man today.

Man will be played by Tommy Vanden Bosch; Pride by Beth Marr; Hell by Franklin McCallie; Gabriel by John Blair; Mary by Diana Reil; Joseph by Johnny Frist; Faith by Mimmye Wilson; Grace by Sarah Richards.

Mary Ann Stewart is directing both plays. John Mehrling acts as stage manager. They are produced by agreement with Ruth Spalding of the Rock Theatre Company, Limited.

The plays take the place of the usual Westminster Fellowship meeting this week.

"Dream Man" Announced At Torch Dance Tonight

JIMMY CURTIS, RAY ZBINDEN, ALLEN REYNOLDS ARE THREE LEADING "DREAM MAN" CANDIDATES

Tonight, December 4, co-eds the campus over will have dates with their "dream men," whether first, second, third, or last choice. The occasion for this strange reversal of the normal dating processes in modern America is a backwards dance. This annual Backwards Dance is given by Torch, the honorary leadership and scholarship society for senior women on the Southwestern campus.

A highlight of the dance is the announcement of this year's Torch Dream Man. The finalists, which were selected by a general co-ed election Wednesday in chapel, are Jimmy Curtis, Allen Reynolds, and Ray Zbinden. One of these three will be declared Dream Man.

The dance will be held tonight from 8:00 until 10:30 p.m. The Tri-Delta and Chi Omega sorority lodges will be the scene of the action, with informal attire the order of the evening. This is to allow those women who are somewhat slow in getting their dates the opportunity to go get whoever is left over at the men's residence halls.

Tickets for the dance are only 50c, stag or drag. Proceeds are for the benefit of the annual scholarship luncheon given by Torch after the fall semester. This luncheon is for women students attaining a B-plus average or better for the semester.

Next semester, the history department will offer a new course called "The New South." It is a study of the political, social and economic development of the South since 1877, and of the relations between the region and the rest of the nation since the end of reconstruction. This course is offered to students of all departments.

As of last Monday, the contributions had amounted to almost $1375.00. This is a gain of $300 over last year's drive, and only $125.00 are needed to reach the drive's goal.

Next Tuesday, Dale Pflug, Drive Chairman, will be in charge of the chapel program which will dedicate the money collected during the drive, and the exact total receipts will be announced.

Phi Beta Kappa Gives Awards For Outstanding Scholarship

Four students were honored in chapel Monday, November 23, by Phi Beta Kappa for the highest grades in the freshman and sophomore classes of last year. The prizes were copies of the Oxford Book Of English Verse, 1250-1918, edited by Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, a revised and enlarged edition on India paper.

Rosalie Osterbind and Bill Mankin had the highest freshman averages. Rosalie had a 3.94 out of a possible 4.00, and Bill had a 3.97. Highest in the sophomore class were Lela Ann Garner with a 3.91 average and Ed Henderson with a 3.62.

Rosalie has been named to the Honor Roll and the Dean's List, and works part time in the college library.

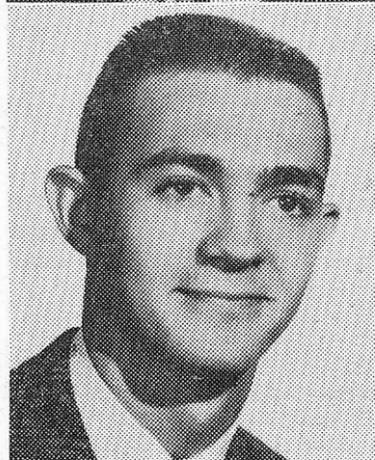

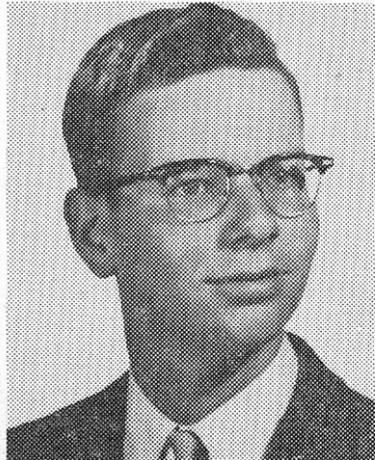

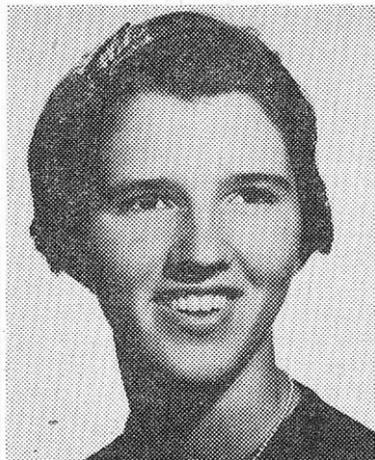

Bill, a PiKA, has also been named to the Honor Roll and the Dean's List and holds the Gooch Foundation scholastic award for 1959.

Lela Ann, a KD, is national chairman of the United Christian Movement, a National Merit Scholarship winner, president of Eta Sigma Phi, and has been named to the Honor Roll and the Dean's List. She also holds the Belk Bible Medal, an award for superior work in International Relations, and last year's Phi Beta Kappa prize as the highest ranking freshman woman.

About Campus

by Susie Bracewell

Introduction and Explanation—A comment was made that someone thought that I might possibly be discouraged with the beloved elements of college existence, whenever I take ball point (I am a modern writer) in hand and enscribe this little column. So I have resolved to be cheerful. Smile, Smile.

Now—aren't we glad we are back at school. We are glad those terrible ole holidays have come to an end at last. We hated all that sleep—didn't we. In fact it would probably be better if we limited our Thanksgiving celebration to just making our contribution to the Thanks-Thru-Giving drive and letting it go at that. No going home, running around for three or four days. We ought to just stay here and enjoy all the pleasures of life at S.W. With this Thanksgiving thing people just have more leisure to sit around and think and get themselves all excited about the cranberries. Sometimes I just wonder what in the world Lincoln and the Pilgrims were thinking about when they started this Thanksgiving business anyway. No kidding just look around at Southwestern's bright colorful landscape, sense the happy spirit of anticipation as students skip gaily up the stairs to their eight o'clock classes, smiling, happy. You don't want to go home for Christmas, do you now?

A tres outstanding event on the Big Big Social Calendar this week is Torch's Backward Dance tonight, which fortunately gives the girls a chance for a change. Southwestern's Idol will be officially recognized and either J. Curtis, R. Zbinden or A. Reynolds will become the shining example for the rest of Zoo U's male population.

Saturday night Southwestern's chapter of PiKA will hold its annual Dream Girl Ball at the Southmoor Country Club from eight until twelve.

But something strange got into a whole lot of people lately, I suppose it was the pre-holiday strain. Anyway they did radical things like getting pinned and engaged. The pinned people are Becky Pig-got (who has been going around looking starry-eyed ever since) and Harry Lawson, Emma Young and Jack Thompson, and Patsy Smith and Larry Fury. Those who are en-

Prof. Gravesmill Gives Faculty Recital Tonight

The last Faculty Recital before the Christmas holidays will be presented tonight at St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral, 700 Poplar, by Professor William Gravesmill, organist. The program, which is open to the public without charge, will include compositions by Johann Gottfried Walther, Johann Sebastian Bach, Cesar Franck, Zoltan Kodaly, Flor Peeters and Hans Friedrich Micheelsen.

The Schantz Organ, on which Professor Gravesmill will perform, is considered to be one of the finest in the South. It was used by the internationally known concert organist, Dr. Marilyn Mason, for professional recording.

In addition to his duties at Southwestern, Professor Gravesmill is Dean of the Memphis chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Mr. Leighton Judges Vocal Competition

Professor Neumon Leighton of the voice faculty, will fly to Shreveport, Louisiana, today to serve as adjudicator in a vocal competition. The invitation came from the board of the Shreveport Symphony Orchestra which conducts an annual competition for singers, pianists, and string players. The winner in each division is given a cash award and an appearance with the orchestra at a later date. Singers from practically all Southern states have entered the auditions to be held at Centenary College.

Professor Leighton, who was chosen to judge a similar competition last year for the Wichita Falls, Texas, Symphony Orchestra, has been invited to meet a number of friends of Southwestern while he is in Shreveport this weekend.

Sunday, December 6, the Bishop's Players of Santa Barbara, California, will present "Cry, the Beloved Country" at the Metropolitan Baptist Church. The performance will begin at 8:00 p.m. Admission for adults is $1.00, and for students, $.75. The performance is sponsored by Sigma Gamma Rho sorority. Cars will leave from Voorhies Hall at 7:15 p.m.

gaged are Deanne Runyon and John Werner (John is Senior Class President) and Caroline Gibbs and Bob MacQueen. Many congratulations and best wishes.

Your Student Council

by Marcy Ruyl

After a brief but welcome holiday, your Student Council met again last Tuesday at 6:10 in the Science Building. John Butt announced that the Thanks-Thru-Giving Drive is still going on and as of Tuesday night we had raised $1,368.

New Social Rule

Dan announced that the new social rule was passed; so next year the IFC will hold one big fraternity dance and each sorority will hold their individual dances. The Social Committee is also beginning plans for the Christmas Party in the cafeteria.

No Regional Convention

Bill Davidson announced that the regional N.S.A. convention was not held, and we will not send delegates to the meeting to be held soon in Louisville, Kentucky.

Conference Rooms Open

Ann Myers said the library is much better as far as noise is concerned, but the conference rooms are still to be under monitor supervision.

Dorm Discussions

Jack Thompson said the professors' dorm discussions will begin again this week. The first meeting was last night from 8 to 10 p.m. with Dr. Amy leading the groups. These meetings can be very informative as well as opportunities for the students to meet with various professors. Jack urged everyone to please attend whenever possible.

As there was no more business, the meeting was adjourned until next Tuesday.

Famed Russian Film Shown On Campus

"Top Of The Stairs" A Moderate Success

A brief confession by a little boy at the end of the second act of William Inge's "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" reveals the main theme of the entire play. The little boy, Sonny, has just been told by his mother for the third time to go on up to bed. Standing uncertainly at the foot of the stairs, he says, "I'm scared."

"Sonny," his mother asks, "Why are you so afraid of the dark?"

After reflecting briefly, Sonny replies, "Because you can't see what's in front of you, and it might be something awful."

Sonny, played by Philip Fox, is not the only character in this play who is afraid and fears that what he can't see in front of him might be "something awful." His mother (Peggy Richards) is also afraid. She is never sure when her husband will return after storming from the house at the height of an argument, and she is afraid that she will not be able to give her son and daughter all the love and care that they require without him.

Sonny's father, who got into the argument because he didn't know how much longer he would be able to make a living selling harnesses now that the automobile had hit the open market, is afraid that he will be unable to get another job.

The other child, Sonny's sister Reenie, has one great fear: that she is unattractive, and that the boys won't like her because of this. The young girl lets her imagination run so far as to fear that she will never get married.

Aunt Lottie (Joan Blondell) also has a fear. She is quite uncertain as to how long she will be able to take the overly light and polite affection of her husband. Worse than this, however, she fears that he will tire of it before she does.

To sum up the message of "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," each of us has our own particular darks at the tops of our individual stairs. Mr. Inge does not attempt to explain away the fears of his characters. As a layman, and not a psychiatrist, he wisely avoids delving into the psyches of these characters. He simply points a leaden finger toward the simple discovery of a little boy: "I'm not afraid if someone is with me."

The play, which ran a three night stand, Monday through Wednesday, was fairly well received by Memphis audiences. However, many were disappointed with the Broadway Theater League's production. Mr. Edwin Howard, of the Memphis Press-Scimitar, stated, "The touring company presenting Mr. Inge's play... gives a lively, intelligent, and genuinely moving performance."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The student-faculty ratio here at Southwestern is such that it is possible for any student desiring to speak with a professor to do so at their mutual convenience.

Following the poor example set last year, the Student Council has again begun asking professors to sit for two hours in the Voorhies Hall Social Room. Such action seems to me to be an imposition on both the faculty member asked and the other persons in the social room.

Had the presence of a faculty member in the social room last year led to stimulating and enlightening informal conversations that were mutually beneficial and highly enjoyable I would whole-heartedly recommend continuing the program. However, all too often not only was there no real discussion, but there was not even any conversation.

My opinion is based on the following list of facts, which if incomplete, could indicate that my conclusions are erroneous.

1. Men in Voorhies Social Room are interested in girls.
2. Women in Voorhies Social Room are interested in men.
3. Women not interested in men are in the dorm disrobed.
4. Men not interested in women are nonexistent.
5. The professor had much rather be at home with his shoes off.

Rather than further inconvenience the professors, let us inform ourselves as to their office hours and visit them at their pleasure.

—The Watchbird

Opportunities Offered For Summer Study By Britain, Austria

Four British and two Austrian summer schools are offering American students the opportunity to combine 1960 vacation travel abroad with six weeks of liberal arts study this July and August. Applications for study at all six summer schools are now being accepted by the Institute of International Education.

Under the British University Summer Schools program, students can apply for study at one of four schools, each concentrating on a particular subject and period. At Stratford-upon-Avon the subject will be Elizabethan drama; at the University of London the course will be the study of English literature, art and music of the 17th and 18th centuries using materials preserved in London's buildings, galleries and records; at Oxford the subject will be English history, literature and the arts from 1870

Pardon sir, where is that heavenly room?

"That room of rest? It's, uh, over there . . . up the stairs and off to the side. You'll find three doors; go through all of 'em."

How can I go through all three?

"All I'm required to do is show you the way, not explain details or hold your hand."

But why isn't there only one opening?

"They are 'one', three openings into 'one'."

Then can't I just go through one? I'm in a hurry . . .

"One? You've Got To Go Through Three! Three perfect, equal, everlasting doors. To say you can't go in all three, is to say that two are not important . . . if they are not important, they don't exist for you, to deny they exist is to deny reality, to deny reality is to tell a lie. YOU DON'T WANNA BE A LIAR, DO YOU? Everybody believes in three doors!"

okay, okay . . .

"You don't believe there ARE three doors, do you? You Don't Believe That At The Top Of That Staircase There ARE THREE DOORS. Do You? DO YOU?"

no.

"Then, my child, you cannot obtain entrance to the heavenly room."

Why can't the room be revealed in one door? I'm perfectly willing to go through ONE door . . . I don't care whether it's white or colored. I've GOT TO GO!

"Sorry, all three or nothing."

What Makes Pop Corn Pop?

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.

We're not passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

You see, popcorn makes most people thirsty. Fortunately, when most people get thirsty they hanker for the good taste of Coca-Cola.

Wouldn't you like some popcorn right now? C'mon now, wouldn't you?

What Can I Do At A Party?

Hundreds of rapacious bleary-eyed anxious males are looking for hundreds of rapacious bleary-eyed anxious females. Now it is clear that these two groups covet a party. The problem is that the party must be planned in such a way that nobody would've thought that what you think, would turn out to be exactly what you thought, although nobody would've thought that it would turn out the way you think. To do this calls for careful, highly intelligent planning. The chaperones must be picked according to their ability; they should be able to hold a large quantity of . . . prestige. There should be absolutely no

Summer Schools

to the present. The theme of the Edinburgh School will be the political and economic history, philosophy and literature of Britain from 1559 to 1789. Although the courses are designed for graduate students, undergraduates in their last two years at a university will be considered.

The Summer School fees, including full room, board and tuition, range between L87-L90 (approximately $245-$254). A few scholarships which partially cover university fees of well-qualified undergraduate students and a few full scholarships to graduate students are available.

Both Austrian summer schools include in their programs the opportunity to attend performances at Salzburg's famed music festival. The Salzburg Summer School, sponsored by the Austro-American Society, emphasizes German language study, but courses in art and music and on foreign policy are taught in English. Also included, in addition to attendance at the music festival, are a variety of conducted tours of Salzburg. The fee for the entire program is $190, with an optional three-day trip to Vienna costing $25. Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 40, and must have completed at least one year of college work. A few full scholarships are available.

The University of Vienna, offering summer courses at its St. Wolfgang Campus near Salzburg, combines study with outdoor life at a mountain lake. Its aim is to enable English-speaking students to become acquainted with Austrian educational and social values. Courses being offered include German language, law and political science, education, arts and history. Students who have completed at least two years of college are eligible to apply for either a three or six-week program. The fee for the full six-week program, including tuition, maintenance, tours and excursions, and attendance at the alcoholic beverages at the party, although Cokes and Seven-up should be provided for those who are sincerely thirsty. The lighting should be done in a manner that is respectable. This means that blue and red lights over the band were all that could be found after the workman mistakenly tore out the main wiring system the day before. The band must not be what would be normally expected of a big name band like that. If it is a dignified group of musicians like everyone wanted, they should be approached during intermission by students with the proper spirit. As the evening dwindles, two things must take place . . . the M. C. will announce that the couple who has been dating for more than a year and who has always walked together, drunk together, eaten together, and done other things together, have all of a sudden become pinned. The second is that the boy who jumped through the glass picture window was certainly not representative of the student body and as far as everyone knew was actually an outsider from Memphis State. When the party is over the girl is amazed to find that when she stands, her head is dizzy because she had eaten hardly anything for dinner and she didn't know that the particular combination of drinks would have that effect. The boy, who didn't realize that he had mixed them that strong is very apologetic. The party closes and everyone will go straight back to the dormitory, except for most of the girls who have made previous arrangements to stay with girls in town.

Planning a party is an intricate affair and should be left to the campus professionals. A well thought out evening should leave no question as to what people will do.

Salzburg Festival is $250, with an optional four-day trip to Vienna costing $30. A few scholarships covering partial or full fees are available to six-week students.

Applications for both the British and Austrian programs may be obtained from the Information and Counseling Division, the Institute of International Education. British Summer School scholarship applications must be received before March 1, 1960, and admission applications before March 31. Scholarship applications for Austrian schools must be returned by March 1, and admission applications by May 1.

Lynx Cop '59 Opener Scots Defeated 83-76

by Snowden Day

Southwestern, paced by the sharpshooting of senior guard Bill Harris, rolled to a season-opening 83-76 victory over Arkansas College last Tuesday evening. The Lynx, playing one of their finest games in years, really looked great as they swept to a decisive 49-40 half time advantage.

The Scots rallied early in the second half of play, but their desperation full court press only resulted in a series of fouls that the Lynx converted into points.

Harris Scores

Harris ripped the cords for 22 points, while John Hixon popped 19 through the hoop to grab second place scoring honors for the Lynx.

Aubrey Smith also hit in double figures for Southwestern as he notched 11 points. High scoring honors for the contest went to Arkansas College's Max Lay, who netted 33 tallies.

The Scots jumped into a man-to-man defense as the second half opened, and they narrowed the Lynx lead down to a single point, 49-48. The Lynxcats then started hitting from the outside and this broke the back of the Scot attack. Southwestern at one time held a 14-point margin over the Batesville club.

JV Squad Loses

The Lynx scored on 36 out of 74 field goal attempts for a very fine 48.6 shooting percentage. They also hit on 11 of 18 free throw tries. The Lynxcats snared 52 rebounds with Fred Bertrand hauling down the most, eleven.

In preliminary action, the Southwestern "B" team was dropped 87-75 by a slick ball handling Jamison Pest Control five. Pete Cornish racked up 23 points in a losing effort.

Home Again Dec. 12

The hardwood corps then journeyed to Oxford, Mississippi for a Thursday night encounter with the Ole Miss Rebels. The Lynx will be back in the confines of Mallory Gymnasium on December twelfth when they play host to Arkansas State.

There are several other home engagements, including the Dixie Tournament, on tap before the Christmas Holidays.

BILL HARRIS, SURE-HANDED BACK-COURT ACE, is a three letter man on the Southwestern five. The six foot senior hails from West Virginia, and is going into his third year as a starter. Harris, an adept ball handler and fancy passer, is particularly noted for his unique one-handed jump shot.

Intramurals

Defending champion SN, sporting a brilliant array of tennis talent, romped to its second straight intramural tennis championship last week, and co-favorite Bill McLean of KS blasted his way through rugged competition to capture the individual trophy.

SN dominated quarter-final play and then pulled steadily ahead to amass a total of forty wins, good for 200 points. The brunt of the Snake attack, headed by Jim Gay, Jack Thompson, and Morris McCastlain, combined with KS's McLean to completely control the final stages of events.

From Young-Harris

Transfer McLean was never slowed in his determined bid for individual honors as he downed seven opponents with apparent ease. McLean, who played in the number one spot at Young-Harris Junior College, relied on a beautiful ball control and defensive game to outclass surprisingly strong McCastlain in the finals.

SN veteran Jack Thompson, who was an early tournament favorite, swept through five opponents but was forced to give way to McCastlain's bristling attack in the semi-finals.

Lions Seize Third

KA, which has dominated tennis in past years, banked its attack on fine play by Warren Nance and Bob Norton but saw their hopes vanish when Nance and Norton were eliminated in quarter-final play.

SAE picked up a total of twenty-five victories and 125 points to take third place. The Lions started strong but could not provide the depth and experience to withstand the rugged competition.

Final Standings:

|      |            |

| SN   | 200 points |
| KA   | 140 points |
| SAE  | 125 points |

| ATO  | 15 points  |
| PIKA | 0 points   |

Volleyball action started this past week, but all first-round games have not yet been completed.

Cotton Bowl: Syracuse over Texas—A team has to be tops to cop the Southwest Conference, but those Yankees are still good enough to be number one.

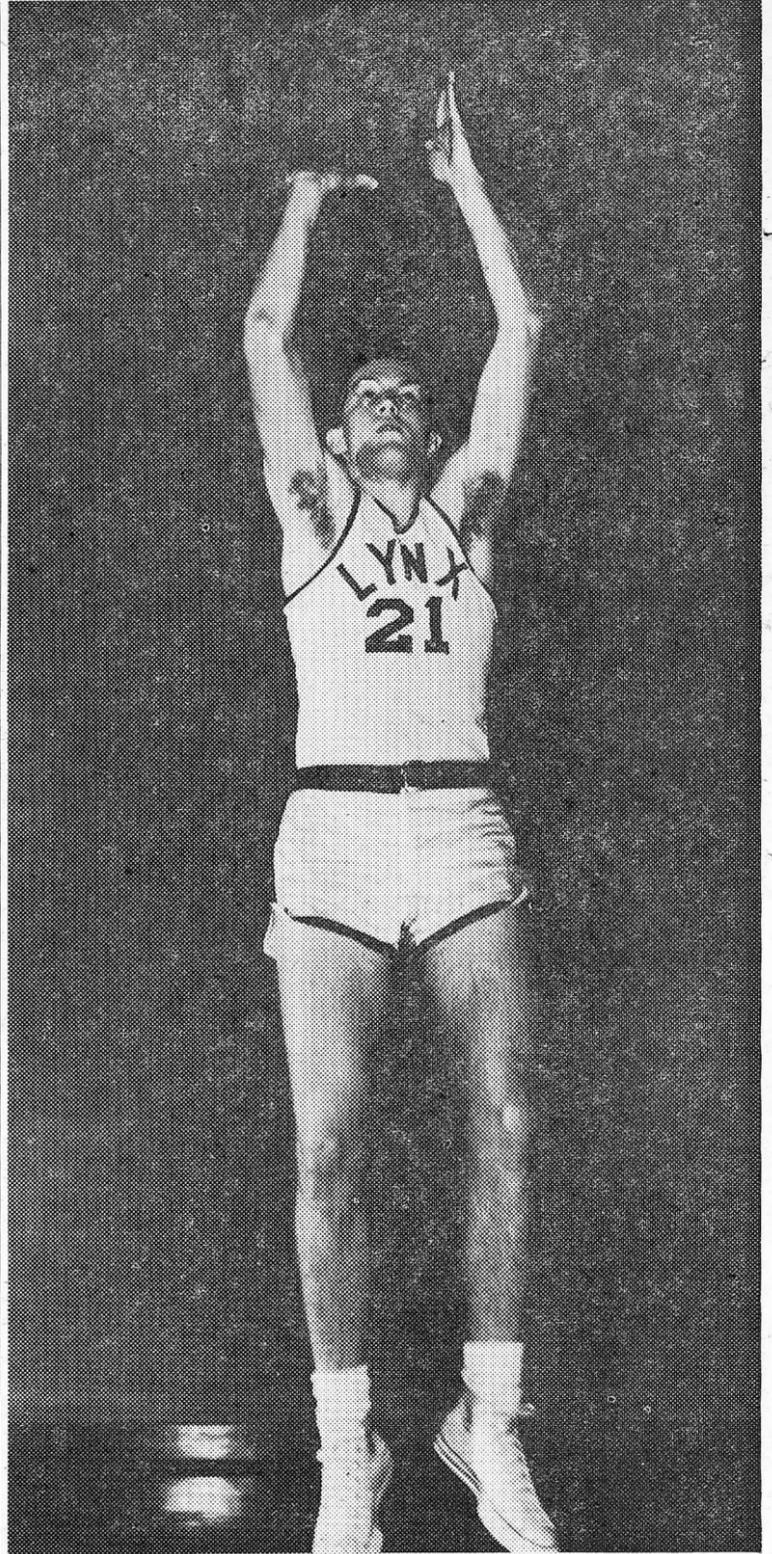

Sugar Bowl: LSU over Ole Miss: The Bayou Bengals did it once, and they should be able to do it again.

Orange Bowl: Georgia over Missouri—The Bulldogs sneaked off with the Southeast Conference crown before anyone realized it. With only one loss blemishing their record, I have to go with Georgia.

Gator Bowl: Arkansas over Georgia Tech—The Razorbacks are rugged this year. The Engineers have been dropped four times, and it will be hard for them to whip the vastly superior Arkansas club. Georgia Tech has always proved to be a most worthy bowl opponent, however.

MIGHTY MISSISSIPPI RUDE TO LYNXCATS

One of the tallest teams in Ole Miss' history played host to an ambitious Southwestern quintet Thursday night and subsequently manhandled the guests in the extremely rude manner of 99-60.

Fresh from a season-opening victory over tough Arkansas College, the Lynx headed for Oxford loaded for bear, but the Rebs proved to be just too much for the upset-minded cagers.

Even so, Southwestern managed to pull in its share of glory even in defeat. Halfway through the first period, the Rebels were finding out why it was more than just a precaution to scout the Lynx' opener against Arkansas College.

With the first half ten minutes deep, the visitors had Ole Miss knotted 15-15—and there was much sweat and just as much speculation running about the Oxford hardwood.

But from there the Rebs pulled away. It was 49-36 at the half and got worse as the second period progressed. Showing there was still a spark remaining in the Lynx' fire, the Southwesterners put on a successful last minute freeze and held the score under the century mark.
