Sou'wester Policy Argument Aired In Open Hearing

The Southwestern Publications Board's official hearing of the argument between Bob Amis, president of the Student Council and of the student body, and Bill Hatchett, editor of the Sou'wester, regarding the editorial policy of the newspaper, was held before a packed crowd of students in Room 102 of Palmer Hall at 2:30 p.m., February 12, and resulted in a decision satisfactory to both sides.

In a rather stormy verbal bout, which saw the opponents considerably more flustered by exploding flashbulbs than by the argument itself, the discussion was finally brought to a conclusion after an hour and a half debate by the intervention of Bill Bowden, president of the Publications Board.

After closed deliberation, Amis' principal contentions, that editorials are not to be written ambiguously so as to incite actual violation of Student Council rulings, and that news stories must be free from personal bias, were upheld by the Board, and Hatchett was charged with contempt of his own already formulated policy in those respects. Hatchett's claims, that the editor himself should be allowed to formulate his policy, and that there should be no editorial restrictions except those imposed by common decency and the laws of libel, were also upheld, but with the admonition that the "common decency" restriction was to be construed as prohibiting the inciting of violations of Student Council rulings.

As a result of the hearing, Hatchett has presented a policy to the Publications Board, to be passed upon by them and included in the Board's constitution. Bowden, in a statement to the Memphis Press-Scimitar, said, "This will in no way be a curb on editors. It will merely be a blueprint of policy—an outline into which the future editors can fit their own individual policies."

Since the action will necessitate an amendment to the Publications Board's constitution, it must be submitted to the student body for approval.

Michelangelo Is Lecture Topic

Michelangelo's Sistine Chapel, "decorated with the greatest art ever produced by Western man," was the topic of Lecture Number Eight of the 1947-48 "Great Tradition" Faculty Lecture Series on "Masterworks, Ancient and Modern," given in Hardie Auditorium at 8:00 p.m., February 12. Those participating were Mrs. Clyde Hudson, Director, The Memphis Academy of Arts, who spoke on "Linear Perspective. The Artistic Counterpart of Renaissance Individualism;" and Prof. John Osman, whose topic was "The Sistine Ceiling: The Tragedy of Renaissance Man."

Pres. Charles E. Diehl acted as chairman of the discussion, and Kenneth Mills operated the slide projector for illustrating the lecture.

The office of Mr. Goodbar Morgan, Veterans' Administration representative on this campus, has been moved from Room 101, Robb Hall, to the Southwestern Alumni Office.

New Pledges Elect Group Officers

The names of newly-elected sorority and fraternity pledge officers were announced this week as follows:

AOPi: President, Mary Katherine Lynn; Vice-president, Carrie May Johnson; Secretary, Betty Lott; Treasurer, Katherine Smith.

Chi O: President, Jeanne Roberts; Vice-president, Mary Jane Millard; Secretary, Jean Arnold; Treasurer, Lois Philpot.

KD: President, Mary Bryan Burkett; Vice-president, Sybil McMahon; Secretary, Jeane Embrey; Treasurer, Terry Fisher.

Tri Delt: President, Virginia Wunderlich; Vice-president, Dot Fenton; Secretary, Nell Mauldin; Treasurer, Mary Jack Rich.

ZTA: President, Mary Catherine Hurt; Vice-president, Ruth Salley; Secretary, Margaret Anne Ellis; Treasurer, Frances Allen.

ATO: President, Bill Dorr; Vice-president, Woody Morris; Secretary, Bill Boyce; Treasurer, John D. Reese.

KA: President, Lonnie Stanford; Vice-president, John Norwood; Secretary-treasurer, David Thomas.

KS: President, Bill Sparks; Vice-president, Bill Bartholomew; Secretary-treasurer, John Remmers.

PiKA: President, Jack Hall; Vice-president, William A. Rawlins; Secretary-treasurer, Bruce Lowry.

SAE: President, Toby Bunn; Vice-president, Bob Kirk; Secretary-treasurer, Buddy Thomason.

SN: President, Lee McLean; Vice-president, Reynolds Beal; Secretary-treasurer, Jerry Bugbee.

What's This Thing?

The rather suspicious looking bulletin board just outside the doors of Hardie Auditorium, said board being marked off into divisions with a letter of the alphabet painted within each section, and replete with numerous and deadly spikes, is called, according to Mrs. Edward Quinn, professor of psychology, the "Wireless."

The whole idea of the contrivance is to enable students to communicate with students, faculty members with students, and, in rare cases, students with faculty members. One simply writes the desired note, addresses it, and hangs it upon one of the hooks within the section of the board devoted to the last initial of the addressee.

Should the entire United States Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company plunge into bankruptcy, or become the victim of some anarchist explosion plot, the new "Wireless" is expected to become of instant and immense value.

Organization reporters and publicity agents are requested to have all copy in to the SOU'WESTER office by noon Sunday for publication in the following Thursday's paper.

Tau Kappa Alpha Debaters Take Honors Again

The Southwestern Tau Kappa Alpha debaters under the directorship of Prof. George F. Totten, returned home this weekend with another success chalked up in their honor. The debating team composed of Denby Brandon and Bill Rawlins took second place honors in the Midsouth Debate Tournament, held February 13 and 14 at the two colleges of Oachita and Henderson State Teachers', at Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

Two other Southwestern teams competed at this tournament, one composed of Harris Petree and Earl Kitterman, and the other composed of Frierson Graves and Bill Roberds. Besides the outstanding success of Southwestern's star debaters, Brandon and Rawlins, all that participated feel that the experience gained at Arkadelphia was invaluable and will be a great help for debates scheduled later in the season.

The Tau Kappa Alpha debaters, just organized here at Southwestern this year, have several other tournaments planned later in the season, though no definite plans have been formed. Announcements will be made soon of Southwestern's coming debate with a visiting team from West Point over the question of Compulsory Military Training.

Welfare Committees Make Suggestions

The Student Welfare and Faculty Counselor System Committee met Saturday morning, February 14, in Room 108, Palmer Hall. Present were Prof. W. T. Reveley, chairman of the Student Welfare Board; Dean A. T. Johnson, Prof. H. W. Andersen, Prof. Charles I. Diehl, Prof. W. R. Cooper, Prof. R. S. Pond, Prof. M. H. Townsend, Prof. M. F. Moose, Hazel Brown, and Bill Hatchett.

The following action was taken:

1. A recommendation was decided to be made to the faculty that a student, ineligible now to pledge a fraternity or sorority due to grades, be allowed to pledge at the next report card period provided the student passed at least 12 hours of study the preceding semester, and attains the necessary 1.2 grade requirement on the new report card.

2. Faculty Visiting Day was recommended for continuation, with the suggestion that lists of professors and visiting hours be posted on the Friday preceding each "Visiting Sunday."

3. Regarding a proposed plan of vocational guidance, whereby students interested in particular fields could have some leader in that field meet with them, and vocational aptitude tests could be offered those students who desire them, it was decided for Dr. Andersen to investigate the possibilities further, particularly as regarding the aptitude tests.

4. Women's Rushing Rules were discussed, and it was the opinion of the group that, on the basis of opinions given by the presidents of the various sororities, the rushing rules are satisfactory as they now exist.

Religious Emphasis Week Starts Sunday

To Speak Here

The Rev. Prof. Haroutunian

The Reverend Haroutunian was born in Marash, Turkey, and states that he owes his early education to his father, a Congregationalist minister and professor at the Marash Theological Seminary, who taught him English, arithmetic, etc., while they were hidden in Turkey during the First World War. Following the war, he finished the sophomore year at the Preparatory School of the American University in Beirut, Lebanon, and came to the United States in 1923 and entered Columbia College in New York City. He received his A.B. degree and did one year of graduate work in philosophy there.

He entered the Union Theological Seminary in New York City and obtained a B.D. degree, and in 1932 received a Ph.D. from Columbia and Union, having written a thesis on the decline of Edwardian theology in New England, later published by Henry Holt & Co. as Piety versus Moralism. From 1932 to 1940 he taught in the Department of Biblical History at Wellesley College, Mass., and in 1940 came to McCormick Theological Seminary as Professor of Systematic Theology. In 1940, Scribners published his Wisdom and Folly in Religion, and he has recently completed another book entitled Lust for Power.

He is married and has two children, Sophie, 5, and Joseph Halsey, 3.

AOPi Stunt Night Plans Announced

The annual AOPi Stunt Night will be held on March 5 in Hardie Auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Each sorority, fraternity, and independent group is invited to present a skit of from seven to nine minutes in length.

The entrance fee of $2.00, payable to Estelle Newsum, is to cover the cost of the cups which will be presented to the winning men's and women's organizations.

In order to avoid duplication of ideas, plans of the skits must be turned in by February 23 to either Lily Anne Beggs, Stunt Night chairman, or Ann DeWar.

Prof. Haroutunian To Lead Programs

The Reverend Professor Joseph Haroutunian, professor of systematic theology at McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, Illinois, will be the leader of a program of Religious Emphasis to be held February 22 through 24.

In addition to bringing the message at the services to be held, Dr. Haroutunian will meet with any student who desires to talk with him. Arrangements for a conference with him may be made by seeing Miss Carolyn Cunningham, president of the Southwestern Christian Union.

At the Sophomore Class vesper service, to be held in Hardie Auditorium at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Feb. 22, Dr. Haroutunian will speak on "Our Self-Contradictory Culture." The Reverend Professor Laurence F. Kinney will preside over the service. The Southwestern Singers, under the direction of Professor Burnet C. Tuthill, director of music, will provide special music. Clifford Tucker will accompany the choir and Miss Betsy Mason will play the prelude.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, an open discussion will be held in Trailer Village. James Mulroy will preside.

All students will be required to attend Chapel Monday and Tuesday mornings. The services will be held in the Field House. The subject of Dr. Haroutunian's talk Monday morning will be, "Faith for Better Knowledge." The Southwestern Singers will again furnish special music. Denby Brandon will preside.

The Monday evening service, to be held in Hardie Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, will be led by Miss Virginia Ann Withers. Dr. Haroutunian will speak on "The Nature of Man." Miss Catherine Arnold will sing a soprano solo.

An open discussion will be held in Voorhies Hall at 10 o'clock Monday night. Miss Audrey Brunkhurst will lead the discussion.

Tuesday morning, Chapel will again be held in the Field House (Continued on Page 3)

Kelso, Marsh Lead Forum Discussion

"If there is a saint on earth, his name is Albert Sweitzer."

This statement was a keynote at the Student Christian Union Forum discussion of Albert Sweitzer held Friday, February 13, in the Kappa Sigma lodge. Dr. A. P. Kelso and Bill Marsh led the forum.

Mr. Marsh began the discussion with a talk on Sweitzer's life, emphasizing his integration of personality, his unusual sensitivity to things about him, and his great courage in acting always on his own convictions.

Dr. Kelso gave an insight into Sweitzer's Christian philosophy, stating that while Sweitzer dislikes intense emotionalism, he feels that the trouble with the world today is the complete lack of feeling toward others.

Our Critical Moralists

The Southwestern student body was told in morning assemblies last week that modern authors, under the guise of "realism," are filling their works with "dirt," and it was added that the trend could be seen locally in last semester's edition of the college's literary magazine, Stylus.

We would like, in turn, to flatly oppose such remarks by stating that the greater part of realism in writing today is an honest effort by honest men to present life as it is, not as it ought to be, and that nine-tenths of the so-called "dirt" our critics so heartily condemn is only what they themselves choose to call by that name.

It is becoming yearly more and more remarkably evident to the writer of this editorial that the Puritanical moral-watchers, and the motion-picture censors of Memphis are no exception, would have us believe three things; namely, that the Everlasting Kingdom of Sweetness and Light on Earth is already here; that textbooks on biology contain merely so much tomfoolery; and, by extending the inference, that a man and woman get married, leave on their wedding trip in opposite directions, and patiently await the arrival of a stork.

Books, Bought And Sold

In a "Letter to the Editor" printed in our last issue, it was suggested that a second hand bookstore be arranged for on this campus, in order to centralize and simplify the disposal of books that are of no further use to the student.

Until such a convenience is arranged for, the Sou'wester would like to offer to members of the student body the use, without charge, of a column to appear in every other issue, in which books desired to be sold and books wanted may be advertised.

Students wishing to take advantage of such an arrangement are requested to write out the titles and authors' names of books desired to be sold or bought, and leave the information in the Sou'wester mailbox in the Registrar's Office, or in the newspaper office.

Watch The Clock, Please

We have recently overheard several students mention that some of their professors, by holding them in class up to the very moment the bell rings, or even a few minutes afterward, are causing tardiness in the next classes. We have also known professors to complain at the start of their classes about this tardiness, and then, at the end of the same classes, to become very upset when students begin noisily making preparations for the big break. It would seem that some sort of give-and-take arrangement might be the solution to the problem.

At Southwestern there is no two-bell system, as in some other colleges and almost all high schools, whereby one bell is rung for classes to end, and another, several minutes later, for the next classes to begin. Theoretically, it must be presumed, the student here is expected to be instantaneously transported, the second the bell rings, to his next class.

Lacking, however, such miraculous locomotion, we suggest that professors, particularly those that hold forth across the plains in Forrest Hall, cooperate in the matter by having their lectures finished and assignments made before the bell rings; and also that students enroute from one class to another do not take time to smoke too many packs of cigarettes in the Social Room.

The Missing Lynx

2nd Annual Report of the New Dormitory Board of Swamis

Conditions in the New Dormitory have been improved substantially in the past year. However, there are still a number of conditions which well claim the attentions of the Board of Swamis, the Council for Inter-floor relations, the Committee for Prompt Telephone Answering, the Commission for Bilateral Plumbing, and the Virgil Bryant Blondine Association, for the coming fiscal year.

The walls of the building have finally dried out. No longer do the walls run down at night in little riverlets of wet plaster. No longer do the inmates have to scrape the wall off the floor in the morning and pat it back into place.

New freshmen and students still are troubled by the fact that there are no places in the rooms to drive nails for the hanging of loved ones' pictures or securing clothes lines. Veterans last year tried to secure spikes in their room walls, but they gave up this practice when they found they usually drove the nail clean out of sight in one blow.

A new era has come into being as a result of this. It is known as the scotch tape era. It is now quite fashionable to tack any desired object up with scotch tape. Whole family washings can be, in this manner, secured to the walls, the lighting fixtures, or to the ceilings. Of course, each time a stray sock is peeled off the wall, a slab of plaster comes off with it.

The hallways are still crowded with termites looking for a place to get a walk-up apartment. They stood around last year greedily watching the first shipments of lumber come in for the erection of the dormitory, but the all-plaster, all-metal motif has them stymied.

The single pipe plumbing system remains the principal problem yet unconquered. It is still quite unsafe for the uninitiated to take a shower. If a single water faucet is touched or if a toilet handle is tripped during the process of someone's shower, that happy individual is instantly parboiled in a steaming jet of supersonic lava and reduced to a sizzling mist of frying ether.

To partially remedy this condition, a set of intercommunication phones are being installed in all shower rooms. In this way, the bather can discreetly take a dive through the shower curtains when the intercom suddenly roars: "FLUSHING!"

The acoustics are still in perfect order. Sound carries so well that on any floor one can hear the click-click of knitting needles as Dr. Wenger weaves his weekly supply of yellow "Appassionata" socks, John Thomas splashes eau de cologne over his biceps, and Reith Gewin floats his celluloid ducks in the first floor sink.

Ken Mills and Bill Hopkins spend their spare time making experimental roman-candles. After considerable dabbling in alchemy, these tiny fiends, during the Week of the Great Whiteness, produced a roman-candle guaranteed to be snow proof. They took it outside, lit it, and stood back with expectant smiles of expectant fathers. Two hours later they were found sitting there still with expectant smiles on their expectant pussies.

And Curtis Kent wanders around at night time in blackface moaning "Mammy."

QUESTION Of The Week

What is your opinion of the food and service in the Southwestern dining hall?

(Anonymous): "The food is tiresome. Concerning service, let the waiters try cleaning up the littered, unoccupied tables instead of hanging over students who are eating, waiting to snatch away their plates if they so much as bat an eye."

Kenneth Mills: "Things might not be so good right now, but there is certainly an improvement over last year."

Bobby Cobb: "Not as bad as a lot of people want to believe so as to have something to fuss about."

(Anonymous): "The way the supervisors and servers check, double check and triple check peoples' trays is enough to make a person think that the entire ceiling must be expected to collapse should some wicked, unscrupulous student cheat the poor little dining hall out of a penny."

(Anonymous): "The only interesting things that have been in there this year were the so-called "Six P.M. Revolutions" during examination week."

Bill Bowden: "It's a Bolshevik plot."

Letters To The Editor

Editor
The Sou'wester

Dear Sir:

I was at your "hearing" the other day, and wished that I could have been in your place for just a moment or so to answer when the opposition, Mr. Amis, fired a certain question at you regarding what he termed your "inciting" Freshmen to openly violate rules imposed by the student government. His question: "You claim that a college newspaper should be run just as near as possible like the larger metropolitan newspapers in regards to policy. Have you ever heard of one of those larger newspapers having the nerve to urge its readers to flagrantly violate laws made by the government? Do you realize what would happen if such a thing were done?"

Yes, I have heard of such a thing happening, in which a newspaper up in Massachusetts not only urged its readers to refuse to obey any of their government's laws, but told them to back up their refusals with loaded guns.

The place: Boston.

The time: A little bit prior to 1776.

What happened? The Declara-

Men's Pan Elects

At a meeting held Thursday, February 12, the Men's Panhellenic Council elected the following officers:

President, Gerald Sweatt (Pi-KA); Vice President, Jim Turner (KS); Secretary, Denby Brandon (SAE).

Alpha Tau Omega Chooses Officers

Tennessee Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Tau Omega has elected its officers for the second semester. They are:

Lloyd Smith, Worthy Master; Robert Edington, Worthy Chaplain; Bill Hopkins, Keeper of Exchequer; Jere Nash, Scribe; Bob Montgomery, Keeper of Annals; Bill Nemitz, Sentinel; Jimmy Caldwell, Usher; Reith Gewin, House Manager and Palm Reporter.

The chapter was visited last week by Col. John M. MacGregor, Worthy Grand Chief of Alpha Tau Omega, who is on a tour of the different chapters of the fraternity throughout the country.

The April Fool Edition Will STUN!

To The Students:

Space limitations in last week's issue prohibiting any enumeration of reasons, and a good bit of unfavorable comment having been heard concerning my decision to prohibit the gossip column, Lynx Chat, in this year's Sou'wester, I would like to offer my reasons at this time to the student body:

1. Lynx Chat, as it has existed in the past, is forbidden by the policy of this newspaper. Article VI of the policy published at the beginning of this school year reads, "A newspaper should not invade private rights or feelings without sure warrant of public right as distinguished from public curiosity."

2. If only one person during the entire year is made victim by the unnecessary publication of malicious gossip, that in itself is sufficient justification for the discontinuance of the entire column.

3. The gossip column is regarded by both the High School and Collegiate Press Associations as not being in keeping with modern trends in school publications.

4. One administrative official at Southwestern has called the gossip column "drivel;" another has termed it "trivia;" and a third has been overheard to say that, even if a large majority of students do want it, they shouldn't.

5. Plans are underway at the present to meet the student body halfway in their requests by the introduction of a new column concerning the activities and comments of campus personalities, including the members of the faculty, which will combine humor, "names in the news," and current personal happenings, while at the same time obliterating the "gossip" angle entirely.

Mississippi College Tops Southwestern

The luckless Lynx ran up against too much height last Friday night as the Mississippi College quintet defeated them 50-42 in Clinton, Miss. The lead changed hands several times during the first half, and at the intermission the Lynx were out in front by a 23-22 count. The Mississippians controlled the backboards during the second period, however, and gradually pulled away from Southwestern in the last ten minutes.

Scoring honors went to the guards, as Joe Stratton and Bill Barnes led Mississippi with 14 and 12 points respectively, and Jimmy Goostree's 13 tallies and John Broderick's 12 paced the Lynx.

Tri Delta Presents Valentines Day Formal On Campus

Delta Psi chapter of Delta Delta Delta Sorority entertained last Saturday night, February 14, with a brilliant formal in the Field House from 8:00 P.M. until midnight. The walls surrounding the dance floor were beautifully decorated with a Valentines Day motif featuring hearts and Cupids, and clusters of red balloons were suspended from the ceiling, and dropped upon the dancers during the latter part of the evening. Music was furnished by Art Sutton and his orchestra.

Highlight of the dance was the Tri Delta leadout, during which members and pledges of the sorority stepped with their dates through a large, red cellophane heart at one end of the floor, presented their escorts with white carnations, and joined to form a heart design in the center of the room.

Representative bids were extended to other organization members on the campus, and all men students were invited to attend.

Officers of the sorority and their dates were as follows:

President Hazel Brown with Ray Martin; Vice president Norma Shelton with Ben Gilliland; Recording secretary Jane Kilvington with Ted Stephens; Treasurer Virginia Peoples with Richard Wood.

Faculty chaperones present were Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Cooper, Dr. and Mrs. J. Q. Wolf, and Mrs. Alice Graham.

Special guests included The Reverend and Mrs. W. H. McAtee, of Brookhaven, Mississippi.

The Student Body of 1927 presented to Southwestern a life insurance policy for $5,000.00.

Chi O Announces Formal February 21

Kappa Beta chapter of Chi Omega sorority will be hostess at its annual formal next Saturday, February 21, which will be a George Washington Ball at the University Club.

The theme will be carried out in the decorations, which will include red, white, and blue balloons, American flags, hatchets and cherries. A large picture of Washington will be over the mantel.

There will be three no-breaks and three specials. Art Sutton and his orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion. Members and pledges of the sorority will wear red, white, or blue evening dresses, and special event of the evening will be the Chi Omega leadout.

Officers and their escorts will be as follows:

President Lucille Hamer with Trent Wood; Vice president Janie V. Paine with Sam Stephenson; Secretary Madelon Walker with Aliry Evans; Treasurer Peggy Baker with Milton Newton.

Alumnae attending will include Mrs. David E. Tipton and Mrs. Nolan Pendergrast.

Emphasis Week...

(Continued from Page 1) and all students will be required to attend. "The Christian Faith" will be the subject of Dr. Haroutunian's talk. Music will be furnished by the Southwestern Singers. Virgil L. Bryant, Jr. will preside.

"Piety versus Moralism" will be the subject of a forum to be held in the Kappa Alpha House at 3:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Haroutunian will lead the discussion and Amos L. Rogers, Jr., will preside.

At the Tuesday evening service, in Hardie Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, Dr. Haroutunian will speak on "The Redemption of Our Culture." Miss Hilma Seay will furnish the special music. Miss Virginia Peoples will preside.

The program of Religious Emphasis will close with an open discussion at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. Christy Morgan will preside over the discussion, which will be held in Robb Hall.

A student at Southwestern is not excused from attending a course he wishes to discontinue until any required fees have been paid and the signature of the Dean has been secured.

Three Games To End 1948 Home Contests

Lynx Down Millsaps 59-45 In Season's Next Best Tally

The Southwestern basketball team discontinued its losing ways last Saturday night when it downed the Millsaps Majors by the score of 59-45 on the latter's home court in Jackson, Miss. Jimmy Goostree meshed 17 points to lead the Lynx to victory, and John Broderick followed him very closely with 16 tallies.

The Lynx, in running up their second highest total of the season, gave a fine performance of sharpshooting. As the final half began, only two points separated the teams, but dead accuracy on set shots and one-handed pushes soon put Southwestern into a comfortable lead which it maintained throughout the contest.

The Southwestern defense was operating very efficiently, especially in the second half. Bill Coley played a fine rebound game, despite his injured hip.

Lynx Go To Vandy For Final Scramble

Southwestern's basketball team plays host to three opponents during the next week to wind up its performances on the home court. The N. A. T. C. Hellcats will be the first foe in a game beginning at 8 p.m. tonight in the Fargason Field House. The Lynx will be seeking revenge for a defeat in the season's opener with the sailors last December at Millington.

Birmingham-Southern, which was downed by the Lynx in Birmingham last month, invades the Lynx lair next for a contest on Saturday night.

The final home appearance of the Southwestern team will be on next Wednesday night when the old rival, Sewanee, comes to town for the first encounter of the two squads this winter.

The Lynx then journey to Nashville for their last engagement of the 1948 schedule, Saturday, February 28, against the Vanderbilt Commodores. Vandy rolled over Southwestern in an early season fray in the Lynx gym.

French Clubs And Players Announce Spring Productions

Professors Embry and Roussey announce that the French Club and the Alliance Francais will join in the production March 17, in Hardie Auditorium, of Moliere's Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme (The Gentleman Merchant). The play, which will be directed by Prof. George F. Totten, will be given in the original French dialogue, and concerns the fortunes and misfortunes of a member of the merchant class who tries to join the ranks of the nobility.

Prof. Totten states that the Southwestern Players' spring production, to be given on two nights in April, will be a comedy entitled The Women Have Their Way, by Alvarez and Serafin Quintero. Casting is expected to begin during the latter part of March.

in the Panorama Room of the King Cotton Hotel. Plans for this annual event are being made in conjunction with the new PiKA chapter at Memphis State College. The principal speaker will be Mr. Andrew H. Knight of Birmingham, Alabama, who is the National Vice President of the fraternity. Some of the outstanding PiKa's who have been invited to attend as honored guests are: Senator Wayne Morse from Oregon, Governor Earle Clements of Kentucky, Senator John Sparkman from Alabama, Congressman E. C. Gathings of Arkansas, Governor Clarence Meadows of West Virginia, and Dr. George Summey, former president of Southwestern.

WHY I smoke Chesterfield

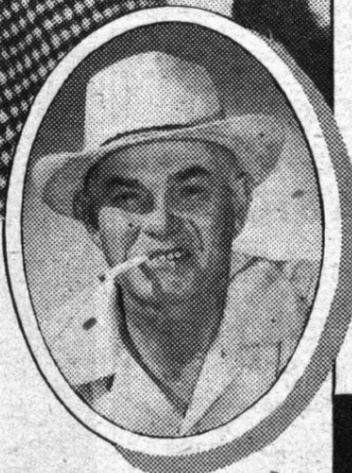

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"When I bring my tobacco to market I'm always looking for the Liggett & Myers buyers because I know when I've got real good mild, ripe sweet tobacco they'll pay the top dollar for it.

"I've been smoking Chesterfields for about 25 years. I like their taste and I know the kind of tobacco that's in them."
