ELEVEN FROSH WILL RECEIVE NUMBERS SOON

Bobcat Basketeers Have Successful Season

WIN 13 OUT OF 16

McCabe Produced Winning Aggregation

Eleven freshmen will receive numerals some time in the near future as a reward for their part played in enabling the Bobcats to win 13 out of the 16 games played during the past basketball season. The frosh who will get numerals are Knight, Newton, Joyner, Eden, Perrette, H. High, Herrod, Jones, Scott, Drake, and Levitch.

The Bobcats, coached by Willis McCabe, had one of the most successful seasons ever known in the history of the school. They lost the first game of the season to Tech High and the third game to Ole Miss. Then came a winning streak that was broken by the Caruthersville Junior College after the frosh had won 11 games. The Bobcats ended the season in a cloud of glory by sending Tech High, the team that beat them in the curtain-raiser, down to the tune of 50 to 31.

Results of the season:
Southwestern, 23; Tech High, 32.
Southwestern, 32; Ole Miss, 30.
Southwestern, 16; Ole Miss, 30.

Horseshoe Tilts To Get Started

The chief sport of most Mississippi towns will hold sway on the campus next week when the annual Southwestern Horseshoe Tournament takes place to see who is the champ ringer. Garner Watson, lanky senior, has worn the garland for two years, and has been practicing up to defend his crown.

Last year the tournament, which excited so much interest on the campus, never was finished, since school let out before half of the matches were played. Watson promises that nothing like that will happen this year. A paper will be placed on the bulletin board for the would-be stars to sign. Play will start immediately. It is planned to stage a co-ed tournament and also interclass tilts.

ALUMNI GROUP HOST TO S. A. E.'S

The active chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Southwestern was the guest of the Memphis alumni group at a banquet in the Peabody Hotel Saturday night in commemoration of the founding of the fraternity. More than 100 S. A. E.'s were present. Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was founded at the University of Alabama March 9, 1856.

"Justice and Mercy" was the subject of the paper read by Charles Simmons at the meeting of the Nitists in the Bell Room of Hugh M. Neely Hall Tuesday night.

STUDENT COUNCIL TO PLAY HOST AT APRIL FOOL FAIR

Plan Big Fancy Dress Ball, Class Stunts, Eats, Frosh-Soph Struggle; Have King and Queen

Red lemonade, peanuts, class fights and stunts and gay costumes will feature the annual April Fool carnival to be given by the Student Council the first week in April.

A committee is now hard at work planning class stunts and other forms of amusements. The big event will probably be held the night of Tuesday, April 1, in the gymnasium.

Students will be dressed in fancy costumes and will be led in a big Southwestern "prom" by a carnival king and queen to be chosen soon. Judges will select the best costumes and award the prizes.

Each class will have several stunts. There will be individual stunts also. The gym will be fairly reeking with clowns, and a special act from "Pee-wee" Hines and "Buddy" Davidson is practically assured.

After the music, stunts, eating and fun are over, there will be a big class scrap between the sophomores and the freshmen on Fargason Field. Paul Jones, sophomore president, and Billy Wright, freshman president, have not unannounced whether the scrap will be a tug-of-war or a regular knock down and drag out.

Definite details and announcements will be made next week.

LAST ANNUAL PLATES SENT

Clubs Must Pay Bills To Get Books on Time

George Booth, editor of the 1930 Lynx, says that the book is practically finished and ready for the press. Final material is now being prepared so that the annual may be sent to the printers as soon as possible.

Malcolm Richie, business manager for the book, stated that the annual could not be sent to press until all organizations have paid up their contracts, which have been due since the first of March. Whether or not the Lynx goes in debt or is published on time depends entirely upon the clubs which have accounts to settle for space taken in the book. About two months are required for the printing of the annual and the binding and delivery. If the accounts are not settled by the fifteenth of this month the annual will be much delayed in delivery to the students. If the contracts are paid up the book can be on the campus about the fifteenth of May.

The staff of the annual desires to have all accounts paid up as soon as possible so that the book may be gotten out on time.

Dr. Ingram Dies; Was School Doctor

Dr. Thomas H. Ingram, former Southwestern physician, died Sunday afternoon in Legion, Texas, where he had been in the U. S. Veterans' Hospital.

Funeral services were conducted by President Charles E. Diehl Tuesday afternoon at the J. T. Hinton funeral residence.

For a number of years Dr. Ingram was physician for the Frisco railroad. He was appointed chief of the orthopedic staff at the new Methodist hospital when it was organized in Memphis, and he was chosen college physician for Southwestern when it moved here.

In Dr. Ingram's death Southwestern loses a loyal friend. News of his death will be received with great sorrow by the alumni who were in attendance at Southwestern while he was physician.

K. A.'s Initiate

THIRD 'PAN' TO BE ON S. S. 'J. S.'

Gala Event Planned By Men's Council

The scene of the third Pan-Hellenic dance of the school year will be laid on one of the oldest and most romantic settings of the dearly beloved South—the mighty Mississippi—the proverbial Father of Waters. Since the times of yore, when the red men were the only inhabitants of the beautiful Mississippi valley, how many a gala and romantic scene has this scavenger of Time perceived? Beautiful ladies, handsome gentlemen, enjoying the exhilarating effects of a night in spring, "when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Such will be the case when Southwestern maids and swains, actives and alumni, gather upon the palatial river steamer "J. S." for an enjoyable evening of music and dancing.

Everyone in the student body will be invited, the boat being large enough for everyone. Those that do not dance will enjoy the ride on the steamer, heralded as the most beautiful on the Mississippi. It will be a purely Southwestern affair, outsiders not being wanted. Only those having bids issued by the Men's Panhellenic Council may gain admittance.

The "Cotton Pickers," a negro orchestra, will furnish the music. In addition to the moaning music and the steady chug coming from the engine room, there will be a full moon to make the event an even more enjoyable one.

The steamer is scheduled to leave the pier at the foot of Monroe Avenue at exactly eight chimes of the clock, returning a few minutes before midnight. According to Edmund McGivaren, president of the Council, there will be four no-breaks, three specials and an all-Greek lead-out. This will be the last dance given by the retiring Council and it promises to be one of the best ever given at Southwestern. Members of the faculty, bachelors, married ones and their wives, will be chaperons of the occasion and will be Council guests.

OPERA COMPANY AIDS STUDENTS

By JIMMY HUGHES

"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching," was realistically enacted last week when the Chicago Civic Opera Co. assisted Southwestern men in presenting to the public three offerings of grand opera.

Word flew about the campus last Friday that strong and sturdy soldiers of the college type were much in demand at the auditorium to take the part of fighting men. The appeal to arms, so well known among the rising generation anyway, brought some thirty beardless youths to the stage entrance to join the ranks of war. They were mercenaries in the true sense of the word, for they received one dollar per for the evening performance.

In one martial scene "The 30" had to represent an entire army, and to do this must needs perforce rush on and off the stage in rapid succession until the audience was convinced that there was really something to them. Immediately before they ran upon the stage each time a fat old Italian

DIRT SEEKERS NOW AT WORK

"Scandal Committee" Has Charge of Sheet

Shh, shh! A committee is at work, seeking to find out scandal. No one knows who is on this committee, but their ears are sure and active. All scandal will be compiled and aired on March 28, when the annual April Fool edition of the Southwestern is issued. Do not confuse the scandal committee with "The Committee." They are not the same thing.

It's rumored that the faculty is going to write when some of the startling facts discovered by the "scandal committee" are revealed, and there will be few students or groups to escape unnoticed.

TENNIS FANS PLAN TOURNEY

Courts Not Yet Ready, But Use City Courts

Tennis racquets will soon be in evidence when the annual tournament will be held in order to weed out the undesirables, so that the team may be picked. The tournament will be held as soon as the courts will permit, probably early in April.

Already agreements have been drawn up for matches with Mississippi College, Millsaps, and Ole Miss. No definite dates, however, have been decided upon. Arrangements are under way for a match with Sewanee also.

Tennis fans, although not having playable courts on the campus as yet, have not let that handicap them. Municipal courts are very popular as a result. Even freshmen are showing signs of interest. This would seem to be a good sign for prospects for a winning team.

Boys Get Team

Due to the great enthusiasm with which girls' fencing was received, George Pahlberg has formed a team for the men of the school. Anyone who wants to may join and should see Pahlberg about getting in the class. Over fifteen men have been enrolled up to date and more are joining daily. There is no fee other than the two dollars for foils.

TWO TEAMS TO DEBATE TOPIC IN HARDIE AUD.

Dual Debate; Lynx Team at Centre Also

ON DISARMAMENT

Two Trips Make Busy Time For Quibblers

Centre College of Danville, Ky., and Southwestern will clash in a dual debate tomorrow night. A team from Centre will meet Malcolm Richie and Robert Scott in Hardie Auditorium at 8 o'clock, while a team composed of Gerald Capers and George Whitaker will defend Southwestern on Kentucky ground. The subject for the dual debates will be "Resolved, that the nations should adopt a policy of complete disarmament except for police purposes." Southwestern will have the affirmative side in the debate on the home rostrum.

Next week will be the busiest week in the history of Southwestern debating teams, two tours being on the docket. After the debate at Danville Saturday night, Capers and Whitaker will travel to Sewanee for a debate Monday night and to Chattanooga for a debate with the University of Chattanooga on Tuesday night, returning to Southwestern Wednesday. They will debate the disarmament question at both Sewanee and Chattanooga.

The second trip will begin Tuesday, when a team composed of Abe Fortas, Malcolm Richie and Robert Scott leaves Memphis for Fulton, Mo., where they will debate the disarmament question with Westminster College. They plan to rent a Ford, traveling from school to school in the disarmament crusade. After the debate with Fulton the Southwestern quibblers will roll on to St. Louis to meet a strong team at Washington University on Wednesday. Thursday, March 20, they meet Illinois College at Jacksonville, Ill., and Friday they return to St. Louis for a battle with St. Louis University. They will return to Memphis Saturday.

The teams will rest after these two extensive tours. Forensic tilts will be resumed March 28, when Jimmy Randle and Charles Simmons travel to Millsaps College at Jackson, Miss., and to Mississippi College. They will also debate the disarmament question.

Encyclopaedia Stands Corrected

A mistake that escaped the eyes of the writer, editors, copy readers and proofreaders of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica was caught recently by Allen Cabaniss, a sophomore.

The mistake was discovered in the article written on Ambrose Bierce, which said that Bierce, who is the author of Civil War stories, served in the Confederate army. Cabaniss discovered the error and wrote the editors, informing them that Bierce was a Union soldier. He received an acknowledgment of his letter last week from Mr. F. H. Hooper, the American editor of the Encyclopaedia.

Mr. Hooper said "the contributor of this article thoughtlessly wrote 'Confederate' instead of 'Union.' We discovered the mistake immediately on publication of our new edition and have changed our plates so that in all future editions of the Encyclopaedia Britannica the statement regarding Bierce will be quite correct."

Dr. Diehl Speaks

President Charles E. Diehl spoke to the Egyptians, of which he is a member, Tuesday night at the University Club. His subject was "The Social Value of Motion Pictures."

OPEN FORUM

(Editor's Note: Many letters were received. Anonymous letters were not published. We regret that all of the letters that were signed could not be published, but space was limited. Some signed letters were also cut down because of lack of space.)

Dear Editor:

I will be glad to furnish tar and feathers for the "Committee."
ABE FORTAS.

Dear Editor:

Through your Open Forum column, I want to compliment the management of the College Store on the latest improvement—the 10c sandwich. To my mind, this is the most important change that has been brought about since the new management took charge. The sandwiches are very good—in fact, with all due respect to Mr. Harrison, they are as good as the ones we formerly paid 15c for. I really am glad that the price has come down, and I'm sure everyone who patronizes the store will join with me in thanking the management for the change.

A THANKFUL CO-ED.

Dear Editor:

Spain had the Inquisition, France had the Reign of Terror, Venice had the Council of Ten, Southwestern has the Committee. Self-appointed, self-ordained, and self-controlled, the Committee has made its first appearance on our campus.

Southwestern has student government; Southwestern has the Honor Council; Southwestern has democratic traditions. Now comes the Committee with its despotic ideas. Does this fit in with the democratic ideals of Southwestern?

In medieval Europe secret groups were formed which took their vengeance upon all who opposed their ideas, often without the accused knowing either his crime or his accusers. In like manner the Committee has been formed in its zeal for "cleaning up" Southwestern using the same underhand means.

No one objects to the saintly ideals for which the Committee is working. But does the end justify the means? If the Committee had been elected by popular vote of the students of Southwestern no one would object to their methods, but since they are a self-elected group we object to their asserted authority.

Shall we fearfully lock our doors and tack blankets over our windows in fear of the watchful eye of the Committeeman when we read a College Humor or drink a coca-cola? Shall our personal rights be infringed upon in such a manner? We think that the average college student resents any such interference from his more perfect brothers.

The Committee, even if they succeed in "dry cleaning" the student body, will ultimately prove detrimental to the well-being of Southwestern. The fact that a secret service organization is in force at Southwestern will certainly give the school a bad name among colleges. Who wants to go to a school where secret student organizations are necessary for enforcing faculty law and school tradition?

We believe that instead of the Committee fostering and nourishing school spirit, they would, perhaps unknowingly, banish any resemblance to school spirit now existing on our campus?

(Signed) TWO HARVEYS.

Editor The Sou'wester.

Dear Sir:

With your permission I should like to address a few lines to "The Committee" whose letter marred the second page of last issue.

TO "THE COMMITTEE"

Do you purpose, by your underhanded scheme, to increase the spirit of the school or to further its interests? Do you think that your tactics are honorable or in any way worthy of an organization of and for Southwestern? If so, allow me to disillusion you.

Your methods, as you stated them, are precisely those of the blackmailer, one of the most despicable of undesirable, and I feel sure that you will have neither the support nor the respect of the student body, although you seem to take it for granted. You take as your motto, "More Work," yet your chief "work" appears to be prying into the personal affairs of other people. Is this "work" beneficial to you or to anyone else?

I stand, not in defense of gambling, drinking and loafing, but in opposition of your methods, which are surely worse than any of the three. Any organization with the interests of Southwestern at heart would not be

AH, SWEET MYSTERY!

Due thanks must be given to one of Southwestern's fair co-eds for the above caption, but that seems to be the turn that matters are taking. No one claims to know what all this letter-writing stuff is about. Who is the "committee" and what is the "4"? It has become necessary for the Sou'wester to adopt a policy of publishing only those letters whose author is known to the editor. It is best to publish the name with the letter, but if a name must be repressed, the editor at least must know the author. This is done for the protection of the paper and the interests of students.

ashamed or afraid to operate in the open.

I believe that you are both ashamed and afraid, and that your principles are contrary to the will and spirit of the student body and faculty. If I am wrong, I stand corrected, but disappointed in Southwestern.

A. R. E.

Dear Editor:

Look out! The vultures will get you. They have announced their arrival in last week's Sou'wester. This self-appointed "Committee" has decided to aid the quest of school spirit by means of ferreting out the nefarious actions of the rest of the student body. The names of all the gamblers, drinkers, etc., will be turned over to the authorities. No gambling! No drinking! More work!—SEZ THEY!

Then, too, they remain anonymous. They knew the first time they opened their mouths the individual would cram the slush down their stinking throats. No, they are not spies. Spies have an honorable commission, and are seeking to serve their country. These vultures serve only their filthy brains. They propose to keep it secret to foil fraternity politics, preserve equality, and thus show no favoritism.

The data concerning the searches for carrion will be made public, they say. How? I know that Nate respects our paper too much to pollute it with such putrescence. If put in the hands of our honorable president, Dr. Diehl, they will be requested to leave the office and the janitor will be summoned to wash up their obnoxious footsteps. Dr. Diehl is an honorable man and could see no other action.

In West Point, when someone performs an irreparable fault he is treated to "Coventry." They excommunicate the offender from their very thoughts. The words of the offender fall on their ears, but they do not hear them. The offender is seen but not recognized, and is never spoken to. Such should be the fate of the vultures.

(Signed) JOHN F. HAGAN, JR.

Dear Sir:

"Yes, "the Committee has been formed." What for? To improve the school spirit of Southwestern? By what means? By an attack on our morals, you say. Do you realize that you are attacking the morals of a Presbyterian institution? Mr. Chairman of the Committee. I wonder if you have the crust to think that you alone can reform this school that so badly needs school spirit? You evidently do not realize that you are alone, for you are the only one who knows who your Committee is. You can't get any co-operation on the part of your committee, because they do not know who their fellow members are.

Mr. Committee, work fast and build up the school spirit before you destroy what little there is here now. Your secrecy is destroying the faith and friendliness between the students. There is no mean now. Either we will have the best school in the world or one absolutely devoid of school spirit, for, except in a man's own close circle of friends, one knows not who to distrust when there are sneaks roaming around.

What about your own personal ethics? Do you aspire to be a spy? (An ideal career for a college student.) Nevertheless, I suppose you are willing to be a martyr for school spirit.

DO YOU REALIZE, MR. COMMITTEE, THAT YOU ARE WRONGLY PUTTING SOME INNOCENT STUDENTS UNDER SUSPICION OF BEING MEMBERS OF YOUR COWARDLY BAND?

DO YOU REALIZE THAT YOU ARE IN EXACT OPPOSITION TO THE HONOR COUNCIL OF SOUTHWESTERN? The Honor Council expressly states that they are not police to spy on you and catch you cheating. The council is not a secret committee; they appeal to a student's honor, and only function in case of a reported case of dishonesty.

MR. COMMITTEE, stop working in opposition to the school and the Honor Council. Come out in the open and recommend no gambling, no drinking, less knocking of the school, and make any other constructive criticism. CO-OPERATE OR DISBAND. Don't hurt yourselves. Your whole position and popularity here depends on absolute secrecy. What if you are discovered as one of the sneaks? And you will be discovered, for no two people can keep a secret unless one of them is dead.

JACK DUBOSE.

Dear Editor:

There has been a great deal of talk recently about the lack of school spirit on the campus, and it has been nothing more than talk either. If we had a little more demonstration, it would certainly do more than the propaganda of the Sou'wester reporters.

When we observe the crowd that regularly attends our dances and social affairs, we have the same impression which we would experience at some kind of a junior high school hop.

By attending these dances a greater step can be taken towards the fostering of school spirit; and if you do not come out at all, you are missing a great deal of the liberal education to which you are entitled—and that goes for the co-eds.

"WAK."

Dear Editor:

In the February 28 edition of the Sou'wester there was a letter in the Open Forum column signed by the "Committee," a group which, judging from their letter, has banded together in an effort to foster school spirit at Southwestern by abolishing gambling, drinking, pessimism and loafing.

The ideal is indeed a commendable one, as well as the analysis of school deficiencies. It is not the ideal with which I take issue, but the principle and the methods through which the "Committee" plans to bring about a great metamorphosis in the college.

The thought that a system of espionage is being fostered in a college which lays claim to dignity and distinction is not only ludicrous but in-

Commodore Glee Club Is Coming

The Vanderbilt University Glee Club, making its fortieth annual concert tour, will appear in Memphis Tuesday evening, April 1. This is the third annual visit of the club to Memphis.

The entertainment will be given at the Nineteenth Century Club, and it will be followed by a dance, the music being furnished by the Crooning Commodores, Vanderbilt's own jazz orchestra, composed of ten members.

The Glee Club is composed of 35 of the finest voices in the different colleges composing Vanderbilt. This trip is the last the club will make before it sails for Europe in June for a European tour.

There will be a special reduction in price for Southwestern students.

consistent. Should a group of educated people be subjected to a snooping, sneaking group of their own numbers who plan to surreptitiously insinuate their way into the confidence of suspected students only to arrest them when they have been "caught red-handed"? Do the evils which they plan to eradicate justify by their extensivity the underhand methods used in their abolition?

By its methods the committee is destroying the very thing which it started out to build—school spirit. School spirit is that intangible bond of brotherhood which binds the students together with ties that make the activity of anyone the source of interest and co-operation of the others a sort of "one for all and all for one." The committee, with its eyes on a heavenly vision, has fallen into a sewer.

Quips

Well, well, well! Spring is here! I know it because a little bird told me. I heard a bird chirping outside my class window yesterday. First that little birdie whistled the Chi Omega whistle, then it whistled the S. A. E. whistle. Don't know which bird it was, but there's no doubt it was either a Chi Omega bird or an S. A. E. bird.

Oh, yes! And another sure sign of spring is a couple in love. The latest budding romance on the campus is Jane Hyde and Robert Scott. I heard they have it bad.

Lem Banks has a mustache! Go see it. It isn't hard to find.

We hear that Bill Frazier has found a new place. He didn't specify what kind of a place it was until later. When everybody started laughing, poor, misunderstood Bill said, "Oh, heck! I mean a new place to eat."

I overheard Dr. Lackey tell someone that he had to wait until 2:30 on Wednesdays to start his lab, because he had to give Arthur Omberg time to get away from the girls' hygiene class. Don't know what he meant, but it isn't hard to guess.

All girls get hot, but only a few smoke.

Strike up the band with "On to Victory." The youth of America and especially Southwestern is to be saved from the degrading and ravaging effects of alcoholic beverages. It is indeed a great honor to be classmates with such intellectual men as are now on the school roster. They have evolved a scheme whereby they are enabled to accomplish exactly what the U. S. government has been trying to do for the past ten years: enforce prohibition. Under the notorious nondescript "Committee," they are to make moral crusades and thereby free the students of Southwestern from the yoke of dissipation and over-indulgence. Yes, Southwestern has produced a veritable Moses who will lead the weak, wayward men out of the land that abounds in bottle tilting and crap shooting into the glorious land of promise where moral quietude and spiritual uplift prevail. Behold, the millennium is at hand!

A group of Scotch manufacturers are making preparations to open up branch factories at the South Pole, which has recently been mapped and discovered by Admiral Byrd. Expeditions will start from New York early in the fall, unless they fail to make the necessary trade agreement with the unions that will enable them to use the day scale of wages.

"Smoky" Hood Now In Bessemer

A letter of interest to upper classmen was received this week from "Smoky" Hood, a student at Southwestern last year. "Smoky" was writing to inform the students of the fact that Carroll Hewitt, also student here last year, is now in Miami representing Arkansas in the bathing beauty contest. He enclosed a picture clipped from a Bessemer, Ala newspaper of all the beauties. Needless to say, Carroll was the best looking.

"Smoky" is at present a bookkeeper for the Oxford-Chambers Produce Company of Bessemer. He says he's getting along fine and likes his work. A letter will reach him at Bessemer in care of the above mentioned company.

dressing room in the best trooper style and talked with some of the old fellows in German, but they didn't know much about it. Then a guy with a beak like the American eagle rushed in importantly and told us to follow him. We followed him all right and were led by devious and tortuous paths to the stage. The curtain rose for the first act and we stood for an hour and ten minutes holding a banner aloft while the great stars sang right in front of us. Except for the constant wisecracking of the Chicago chorus girls who took the part of pages and squires, it was a wonderful experience. We bellowed forth in the accepted fashion during all the choruses and the morning papers hailed the singing as remarkable. For some of us it was our initial appearance in grand opera.

The first act ended, as all acts will end, and we returned to the dressing room. Right here we got a lasting impression of what a grand opera chorus man must be. "Little Mac," "Jo-Jo," Pickard, Cabaniss, and I agreed he must satisfy the following requirements:

He must be a full-fledged Italian with a form like a Dutch burgher and a voice like a steamboat whistle. He must swagger about with a far-away look in his eyes in the dressing room and reminiscently hum snatches of the great compositions. And, lastly, he must ever seek to impress any such fellows as us that he is somebody and an indispensable part of the show.

Well, we made two more appearances that night. Two very funny things occurred. In a rollicking chorus the soldiers had to brandish aloft their gleaming swords. The fat old fellow right in front of us waved his aloft with the best of them, but he had a great big wrist watch plainly showing all the while. We all laughed and shouted all the harder to cover up this seeming deficiency in stage dress. In the last act when the heroine collapsed she hit the stage so hard that the chorus girl-page in front of us said: "That bebbly sure kissed the floor!"

Finally we were through and got some of the paint and dirt off. We had a fine time and if the company returns next year it will have some seasoned veterans to recruit for the army.

A. T. O.'s Hosts At Formal March 19

Tennessee Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity will entertain alumni members and friends with a formal dance Wednesday evening, March 19, from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock, in the ball room of the Nineteenth Century Club. Music will be furnished by the Washington Syncopators. Three no-breaks, two specials and an A. T. O. leadout will be called.

Evergreen Hall

Opera season found the Evergreen Hall co-eds ready to "step out." A good time was had by all, even though they had to ride the street car and sit in the peanut gallery. "Seems as though we never get a break," moaned one fair young bankrupt. "Why didn't they need Red Cross nurses in those war scenes in which the boys were soldiers?"

There were some visitors in the dormitory who came over for opera. Elizabeth Coggin of Tunica, Miss., visited Elmer Draughon. Maria Hunt Negus had as her visitors Mrs. Farish and Tot and Sara Farish of Greenville, Miss. Allie Lee Bornman of Clarksdale, Miss., stayed with Mary Bornman.

Fay Simpson spent the week-end at her home in Hot Springs, Ark., and Mary Moore visited friends at Central College, Conway, Ark., where she was a student last year.

"Jimmy" Walls' mother and some friends drove over from Holly Grove to see her Wednesday.

Aunty: "Does your mother know that you drink, Bobby?"

Bobby (aged 12): "Naw, she doesn't even know that I have found where she hides it."

Up-to-date proverb: "There's only a slip betwixt the gown and the skin."

Y. W. C. A. Meets

The Y. W. C. A. met Tuesday afternoon in a business session. The constitution of the organization, which had been revised by the cabinet, was read and approved. Lyle Stange, who attended the convention of the social workers of Tennessee, gave a report of this meeting. The devotionals were led by Jane Hyde.

The New Brys—Third Floor

We believe that educated people should understand these truths.

Public Utilities render services that are essential to modern living standards.

These services directly contribute to the convenience and comfort of people hourly each day. They have raised living standards, brought us up to a new plane of material existence; and are, in fact, the agencies by which modern living standards are maintained.

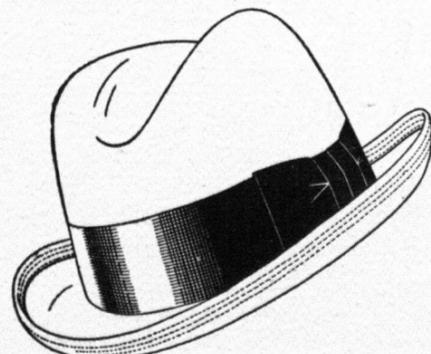

Without these services, present-day conditions would be turned backward half a century, and we would revert to the days of the tallow candle and the ox-drawn cart.

In addition to their contribution to the convenience and comfort of people, utilities are economic factors of important worth to their communities—stimulating channels of trade and business activities with their large payrolls and immense purchases of supplies.

These are facts that educated people should understand.

MAT MEN TO MEET "Y" SOON

Hope To Erase Defeat Received Before

Southwestern's wrestling team will try to erase the defeat suffered at the hands of the "Y" wrestlers in a return engagement in the Y gym the latter part of this month.

The Lynx team did not show up so well in the first meeting owing to their lack of experience. They have gained in experience since the meet and are determined to take the "Y" grapplers in camp. The members of the team have been working out every day in the gym and are prepared to go into the meet full of experience and with a bag of wrestling tricks. Coaches Wells and Pahlberg are highly pleased over the showing of the Lynx.

Southwestern will be represented by C. Henry, 115 pounds; Crump, 125; B. Henry Wells, 145; McCormick or Gibbs, 155; "Kit" Carson, 190; and Jeff Davis, 235.

Made Province Head

Gilbert Wilson, a Memphian and an alumnus of Southwestern and member of the Southwestern chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, was elected province president at the convention held in Knoxville last Friday and Saturday. This province, known as Province Iota, contains schools in Kentucky and Tennessee. Year before last the convention was held at Southwestern. Dick Monk and Harry Walton were the representatives from the Southwestern group.

Track Future Is Put In Hands Of Men By Rasberry

Good Showing Must Be Made in First Meets By Men

"The entrance of Southwestern's track team in the S. I. A. A. conference meet, to be held at Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., depends entirely upon what the fellows show that they are capable of in the meets which precede the conference. Any improvement over last year's showing should net several first places." These were the words of Coach W. C. Rasberry, when he was asked about the possibility of Southwestern sending a track team to the S. I. A. A.

On April 12 an intramural meet will officially open the track season of 1930. It is hoped that even more interest will be shown in the intramural this spring than last, when a considerable interest in the new sport came as a pleasant surprise to its backers. The preachers are affording a novelty in the way of a dual meet with Union's preachers, to be held on April 26 at Union. The varsity track team does not meet Union's team until May 10. A triangular meet, made up of teams from Southwestern, Union, and either Millsaps or Mississippi College, will take place the middle of May at Union. This schedule is much more extensive than last year's.

Just now it seems that dash men are more needed than anything else. However, prospects of strengthening that end of the team should brighten considerably when Dainwood, Ford and some of the other boys settle down to systematic training. Bill Walker, formerly a fast miler at McCallie in his prep school days, began coming out this week for the first time.

Since the improvement of the track cinder men can hardly blame slow time to a bad track. It's left to the track men to show whether track will really take an important part in the athletic program of Southwestern or not. The Lynx men will meet men from small schools, such as Presbyterian, Millsaps and Transylvania, and should have a good chance of carrying off the honors.

Five-year-old: "Mama, look at the funny man across the street."
Mother: "What is he doing?"
F. Y. O.: "Sitting on the sidewalk talking to a banana peel."

They say Gilda Gray was the originator of the term "backfield in motion."

Frosh: "May I leave the room?"
Prof.: "Stop fooling; you couldn't take it away."

Most fellows think that it is better to be broke than to have never loved at all.

BOOK REVIEW

By William Mitchell

IRON MAN

Published by Lincoln McVeagh (The Dial Press)

"Iron Man" is the latest Hemingway novel, written this time by Mr. W. R. Burnett, I believe.

Coke Mason is a well-meaning and engaging, if dumb, prize fighter—an ex-mechanic's helper, who becomes middleweight champion of the world. The book deals with his rise, reign, and fall—the fall being due chiefly to his dear little wife, who causes Coke to break loose from the manager who led him to the top. We last see Mr. Mason lying face down on the rosin, listening to the referee toll off the fatal ten.

"Iron Man" should furnish some pleasure to the I forgot how many million members of the "Book-of-the-Month" Club, which organization, with its usual critical acumen, has selected it as the outstanding book, published during the month of January or February or whichever it is.

As to its literary merits, I can do no better than quote the judgment pronounced of Mr. Hemingway's work by a certain estimable psychologist, well known to the professors of our English department as an admirer of the lyric poets of the 19th century. Paraphrasing his remarks into reasonably intelligible language: ". . . is so poor that when a passage here or there does rise a little above the ordinary, that passage appears much better, thanks to its environment, than it really is."

"IF"

(Being a parody in the Chicago manner)

If you can hold your corn when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can grab their dough when all men doubt you,
Nor give a damn for what the cops will do;
If you can swindle, steal, and mint a million,
If you can make mazuma as you please;
If you can lead a debutante cotillion,
And, though a thug, be damnably at ease;

If you can mingle with the "bulls" and Sherlocks,
Or walk with crowds nor lose the nimble touch;
If you can work with "soup" to break a strong box,
And all kale counts with you, aye all too much!
If you can thumb your nose at law and order,
And barely keep your head outside the noose;
If you can smuggle liquor by the border,
Nor mind a night within the calaboose;

If you can gloat to hear the bullets rattle,
If you can gayly watch the ebb of life,
Nor in the "racket" be "dumb, driven cattle"
But be a hero in the gangland strife;
If you can drive a Lincoln or a Rolls-Royce,
If you can be the power on the throne,
And in the death of rival thugs rejoice,
Or jump with glee to hear machine guns drone;

If you can pack a "Gat" nor fear to use it;
If you can aim and, aiming, shoot to kill;
If of your life you care not if you lose it,
Yet cling to life as even gangsters will;
If you can murder with no grain of pity,
And put a ban on gayety and joy,
Yours is the fair Chicago as a city,
And—which is more—you'll get a headline, boy!
—Jimmy Hughes.

So They Think--

"Why is it that men trust one another so readily and women trust one another so seldom?"—H. L. Mencken.

"People always insist that they have been investing when they win and admit speculating when they lose."—Albert Atwood.

"The so-called Anglo-Saxons of Beowulf's time were a race as barbarous as the modern Jugo-Slavs or Mississippians."—H. L. Mencken.

"As between England and the United States, all that is necessary to produce war is a situation that shall result in the firing of the first shot."—G. B. Shaw.

I'm the Gink

I'm the Gink without any school spirit. I never attend any outside school activities except dances, and, believe me, I make all of them. I came to football games during the season because they were in the afternoon and did not interfere with any of my night activities. But I can't come to such things as debates and basketball games because they are always at night—and, my goodness, when could I have dates if I attended them? I'm against any measure that may prove of value to the school or to the students, because I don't care anything about either. I never stay around the campus in the afternoon—I must always go home—I like that better than sticking around this dump. Whenever I hear people talking about Southwestern, I always chime in with my two cents' worth about what a punk school it is. I never say anything nice about the school; all it is good for is helping me to a degree, and of course I enjoy the dances. This really would be a terrible place without the dances.

Get New Equipment

The Girls' Fencing Team, under the tutelage of George Pahlberg, has procured some new equipment for competitive fencing. Four masks, four plasters, and four fencing gloves make up the newest addition to the popular sport. The girls' class meets every Monday and Wednesday at 4 o'clock in Dr. Hartley's classroom. All girls are invited to join.

The orchestra will now play by request "The Bending Seat" from the great opera, "She Stoops to Conquer."

"Just think! Dan tried to put his arm around me four times last night."
"Gawd! What an arm!"

Bridegroom: "Have you kissed the bride?"

Best man (absently): "Oh, yes, hundreds of times."

Doctor (making out the birth certificate): "This must be about the twenty-ninth, isn't it?"
Young mother: "Sir!"

Many an accident has occurred because the man at the wheel has refused to release his clutch!
