PRESENT PLAY AT AUDITORIUM

CLASS BALLOT RESULTS SHOW GREAT RIVALRY

Drake, Thomas and Elder Elected Presidents

RUN-OFFS NECESSARY

Balloting Close For Class Leadership

Elections for class officers have been run off with remarkable results this year, with the freshman class setting a record for dead heats that will go down in history. Tuesday morning after chapel the present freshman, sophomore, and junior classes had their nominations and elections for President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer. All run-offs were held Wednesday morning after chapel.

In a run-off with Bill Taylor, Harvey Drake was elected President of next year's senior class. Franklin Kimbrough defeated Harvey Creech in a run-off for Vice-President in the same class. Peggy Henderson was picked for Secretary-Treasurer of the same class.

In the present sophomore class Harte Thomas defeated Andrew Edington for the Presidency and Cy Johnson was chosen over Lucius Cook for Vice-President. Ella Kate Malone defeated Julia Marie Schwinn by two votes for Secretary-Treasurer.

Mac Elder received a plurality on the first ballot for President of the present freshman class although he was one of a field of four composed of Howard Cook, Beverly Buckingham, Shorty Simmons, and Elder. A run-off for Secretary-Treasurer was necessitated when in a field of Jim Gautier, Kathryn Stratton, Olive Black, and Margaret Tallichet, Gautier and Stratton were eliminated. Tallichet was elected 58 to 52 Wednesday morning. The fight for Vice-President was a whirlwind. On the first ballot Eugene Stewart received 37 votes, Howard White 35, and Sively Moore 35. On the second ballot Wednesday morning Moore polled 41 votes, White 35 and Stewart 35.

Annual Frat Track Meet Saturday P.M.

The intra-mural track meet will begin tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p. m. The first event on the program is the 100 yard dash. Franklin Kimbrough, president of the Boosters Club, will present a silver loving cup to the winning team in chapel some time soon.

The members of the Lynx Club with Dr. W. O. Swan and Dr. F. C. Huber will serve as officials for the meet.

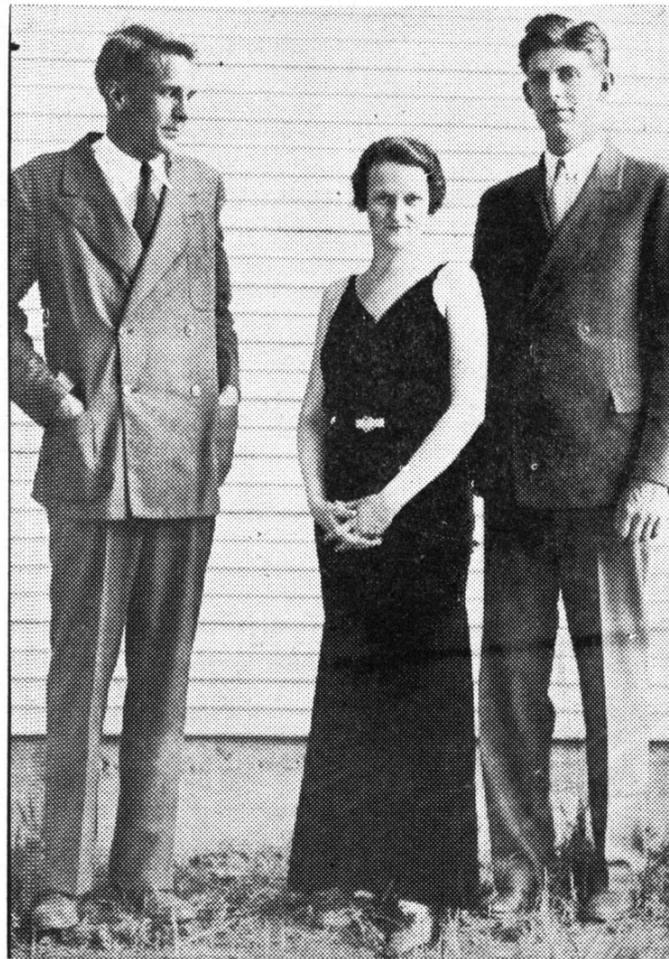

The history of the intra-mural track meet runs back over a period of four years. The first meet was held in the spring of 1929. Coach W. C. Rasberry, former track coach at Southwestern, has been in charge of the meets for the last three years, with the Boosters Club sponsoring the meet this year.

Much interest is being manifested in the meet this year. Aspiring athletes have been working out on Fargason Field the past week in an effort to get in shape for the gruelling events tomorrow afternoon.

Eight teams will be entered in the competition. The seven fraternities and the Non-Frat team will vie for the cup.

The list of track events is 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 220 yard low hurdles, and the mile run. The field events are, broad and high jump, the pole vault and the shot put. The eight freshmen who competed against Union last week

THE YELLOW CLAW or When East Meets West

Chapter I

"In the Clutches of He Sang Lo" Jack Kettlewell nonchalantly blew a smoke ring and leaned luxuriously back in his arm chair in the ritzy American Club in Shanghai, utterly at ease after a day of wrangling with Chinese diplomats over the aggressiveness of American merchants in their sphere of influence. Kettlewell was a typical straight shooting American youth who gained his point by honest, clear-sighted reason, in contrast to the heated emotionalism of many of the other diplomats. Only two years out of Yale, he had already made a name for himself in the Orient as one of Uncle Sam's most trusted civil service men. At Yale he had been captain of four sports, president of the student body, leader of the Orchestra—and Dame Rumor has it that he refused several flattering business and movie offers on his graduation. His answer to these offers was typical of the man. To each and every one he replied, "No. I must not commercialize my name or the peculiar magnetic personality which was born in me. My country needs me and there is work to be done in the East. I must turn my back on luxury and devote my life to my country. Duty calls and I must obey."

So you see, dear reader, that Jack Kettlewell was a youth of high ideals, of such stern manliness as to make even the most daring of villains hesitate before planning any dirty work while he was around.

Little did Jack know, as he lolled back in his chair, that in a half hour he would be off on one of the most dangerous missions ever taken by a white man. Little did he know that in a half hour his life would be in the balance. Would the scales swing for or against him? Who knows.

"Oh, Kettlewell, come here immediately," a tall grey headed man waved an envelope at Jack. Instantly our hero was across the room gazing at the stained paper in the aged diplomat's hand.

"Jack, the waiter just sent this in to me on the tray. He said a Chinese coolie gave it to him at the door. Let's open it. It looks like some more of those bandits' dirty work"

In a second the envelope was open and Kettlewell, strong as he was, reeled back at the sight that confronted them. For there, drawn in red blood, was the picture of a woman with her throat cut and a dagger through her heart. Underneath was printed in blood: "We have captured American woman. To save her send unarmed man to third bridge at midnight. Beware of doublecrossing. Refusal of our terms means death." It was signed "He Sang Lo."

Such was the effect of the missive that the blood ran cold in Kettlewell's veins and the sweat stood out in beads on his forehead. Well he knew that signature—and well he knew the cunning of the villain. A woman—an American woman at his mercy! At the mercy of He Sang Lo! And then something snapped in our hero. The blood rushed hot through his body and his eyes blazed.

"There's only one thing to do. I'll be at that bridge at midnight and I will get that girl back or die in the attempt."

What a magnificent picture Kettlewell presented as he stood there in the American Club with his blond locks flowing back over his aristocratic brow, while his firm lips were pressed in such a tight line that they

STUDENTS TAKE ACTIVE PART IN CITY CARNIVAL

Representatives from Five Sororities Participate

CARNIVAL OF COTTON

Students Have Big Time In City's Annual Frolic

Some of Southwestern's fair co-eds are taking part in the Cotton Carnival, the big event which has given Memphis such a festive air for the last three days. The Carnival opened Wednesday with the landing of the King and Queen, their progress up the levee and through the great arches of cotton bales to their cotton palace in Confederate park. A fashion show, displaying the latest in cotton fabrics and styles, in the afternoon, and several gala balls that night were the highlights of the day's activities.

The Southwestern representatives, one of whom was chosen from each sorority, are to attend all the Carnival functions. Those selected and their escorts are: Katherine Reid with Goodlett Brown; Elizabeth Ann Mahan with J. P. Hollifield; Elizabeth Smith with Dr. Gray Williams; Sarah Elizabeth Gemmill with Bob Sigler.

Winona Bates and Corinne Gautier were chosen by the Tennessee Club as their sponsors. Margaret McNichols is the representative for the Shrine, and Julia Marie Schwinn is representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Olympic Tryouts to Be Staged Saturday

The Mid-South Track and Field championships and the official Olympic tryouts for the Mid-South will be held on Fargason Field Saturday afternoon, May 21. Winners of the events held at Southwestern will be entered in the semi-final tryouts to be held in Chicago later on in the year. Those successful at Chicago will enter the Olympic to be held at Los Angeles this summer.

Guy Stollenwerck and Coach Haygood will have charge of the meet to be held here. Nine track and eight field events will be staged. Outstanding athletes from all over the South will participate in the meet.

A high school medley relay will be held. The first man on the team will run 440 yards, the second 220 yards, the third 880 yards and the last man will run one mile.

Lynx Lair Does Big Trade With Studes

Although the Lynx Lair has been in existence only about three months, it has fed over two thousand and nine hundred hungry mouths, and its popularity is still growing. According to "Chicken" High, manager, the "Lair" serves an average of sixty meals daily.

Most of the customers are town students, but there is a generous sprinkling of professors. Rainy days are the days when trade flourishes. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays nearly always find large crowds; Saturdays the place is comparatively deserted.

You can get anything from soup to nuts at the Lynx Lair. A full bill-of-fare includes soups, salads, sandwiches, spaghetti, pies, short cake, etc., etc. During the last two weeks the management has been giving away strawberry short cake with every twenty cent order. Miss Myrtle James is the best customer.

STUDENTS WILL SEEK TO RAISE $1,000 PLEDGE

'Lady Windemere's Fan' by Wilde, Is Staged

TICKET SALE POOR

Student Body Must Wake Up Immediately

Tomorrow night at 8:15 at the Auditorium the Southwestern student body will present Oscar Wilde's "Lady Windemere's Fan," in an effort to raise $1,000 which it has pledged to the current campaign for funds to keep the college open next fall. Preparations which have been going on for over a month will culminate in what bids fair to be the best performance of the collegiate talent on the stage.

Regrettable to state, the sale of tickets for the play has been almost a total failure so far, with only $153 worth of seats sold up to date and only 50 student tickets having been purchased by the student body which on three separate occasions has pledged itself almost 100% to buy a ticket per student.

After a call for workers to sell the tickets down town elicited the volunteering of over a hundred eager students it was thought that there would be little trouble in making expenses plus the thousand, but promising to buy a ticket and putting up the dollar seem to be two different things.

Thanks to the city officials, the Auditorium has been granted to the Southwestern student body free of charge for tomorrow night. Many of the officials of the city not only aided the committee to secure the big hall sans charge, but purchased tickets themselves.

Theta Alpha Phi has taken the responsibility of presenting the play and the Women's and Men's Panhellenic Councils have agreed to take charge of the financial end.

Volunteers To Meet

At the last meeting of the Student Volunteer group the following officers were elected: J. B. Breazeale replaces Bob Pfrangle, who is now at the head of the Student Volunteers of the state, as president. Henry Watkins was re-elected vice-president, and Lilia Christy succeeds Virginia Howry as secretary.

The retiring officers were elected last February, at which time Southwestern entered the student Volunteer Movement. The newly-elected officers will assume their duties immediately and will continue to direct the group until next spring.

Girls Nominate

Eight girls have been honored in an athletic way by their nomination for the athletic chairman of the Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes for next year. They are: Helen Gordon, Lillian Gautier, Olga Hartman; Margaret Hyde and Constance Kahn; Alice Kilpatrick, Elizabeth Markham, and Meta Russell. The office has heretofore been one of the duties of the undergraduate presidents of each class, but it has been thought advisable to create this special position. The girls have merited this nomination because they have shown interest and ability to organize during the basketball, volley, tennis, and other athletic tournaments of the past year. The election of the three chairmen will take place at an early date.

The fountain of youth is a soda fountain.

A traveler was going through Boston, and stopped one of the natives to question him.

The native eyed him warily and said: "I would advise stopping just before the 'at'."

"If he asks me I'll say 'yes.' It doesn't make much difference. He's clever and good looking.

"Shampoo, Madam?" "Yes."

SUN-BURNED FIGURES DON'T LIE.

"Come, don't you cry. Grandpa will play Indian with you."

Mother—Johnny, if you eat any more cake you'll burst.

John—Well, pass the cake and get outta the way.

Gangster—Say goodbye to the lady, son."

Son—Scram, Moll, scram!

I only kissed her on the cheek; It seemed a simple frolic, But I was sick in bed a week— They called it painter's colic.

HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOURS?

Tomorrow night Southwestern students will present a play at the Auditorium in order to raise $1000.00 for the campaign to save Southwestern.

In general congress assembled each student pledged himself to buy one ticket. So far more than half of the student body has failed to keep their word.

Will students keep their promise or did they promise only for the effect of seeming to stand for the support of their college?

EVERGREEN HALL

Reports for the women's gridiron banquet are that the inmates of Evergreen supported Olga Hartman in full strength for the post of Greta Gabbo.

Mother's Day took quite a few girls out of town. Red Veazey took Ruth to Coldwater, and Miriam Heidelberg carried Martha Burton with her to Clarkdale.

Thelma Worthington made a quick recovery from appendicitis. She's walking around now as though she'd never seen a hospital.

Jimmy Walker Asks For Better Brains

New Haven, Conn.—(IP)—In an interview published in the Yale Daily News, Mayor James Walker of New York expressed the opinion that "no finer career of usefulness is open to the university graduate than service in the administration of public affairs."

Gone forever are the torchlight days when the qualifications for officeholding depended upon political preferment gained only through being a good fellow in the neighborhood.

Celebrate Birthday Of Bill Shakespeare

Stratford-on-Avon, England—(IP)—William Shakespeare's birthday was celebrated here last month by the opening of a magnificent new Shakespeare Memorial Theater, built by the combined contributions of Englishmen and Americans.

Speaking to the assembled guests, including such Americans as Ambassador Andrew Mellon and other prominent persons from the United States, Stanley Baldwin said:

"From my heart, welcome home. I say that because many friends over there have helped with such loyal affection in the completion of this great memorial. They have done so because they feel it is theirs as much as ours, and because their ancestors are from this country."

THIS IS A LIFE SAVER Lic-O-Rice—What you doin' this Wint-O-Green? Spear-O-Mint—Oh, Clove your mouth.

SUE TO LOU

Dear Lou: After surviving the ordeal of sophomore intelligence tests it is almost a treat to write to you. I need six secretaries to tell you the news.

Everybody was surprised and delighted to hear of the marriage of Miriam Woods and Phillip O'Donnell. Maybe I shouldn't have said surprised but anyway—Speaking of weddings, Virginia Hawk and Harry Walton are to be married in a few weeks.

Dr. "Rudy" Atkinson and his abnormal class all got back safely from the Bolivar Bug House. Most of the class discovered a relative or two, I hear.

The track meet with Ole Miss was lots of fun. We lost, but our boys put up a great battle.

All I've done for the past two weeks is vote for officers for next year. If these elections don't stop soon I think everybody will hold at least one office.

Keep it under your hat, but the new college romances seem to be surviving better than ever before. From the number of times they are seen together I think Bob Sigler and Sarah Elizabeth Gemmill are in cahoots too.

Did I get a let-down the other day? I went up town with a lot of other cceeds and tried to sell tickets to the play Saturday night.

Well, I'll be seeing you. I'm still looking for that letter you promised me. Don't forget.

Yours forever, SUE.

Southwestern Stars Enter City Tourney

The entire Southwestern tennis team has entered the Memphis Associated Amateurs singles tournament. All five members of the Lynx racquetballers have turned in the applications. Those entering are Capt. Jimmy Daimwood, Paul Jones, Lee Hines, Dan Ross, and Henry Oliver. Several other Southwestern students and alumni are entered. The defending champion is Billy Hughes, former Lynx captain. Charley Led-singer, Jack Renshaw, Palmer Shaf-fer, Spike McNeil, and several others have signified their intentions of enter- ing.

Tennis Finals

Monday, May 15, will usher in a busy week of activities for women athletes. The probable players for the matches of the tennis tournament which will begin that afternoon at 3:30, will be Catherine Bigelow, Grace Braun, Alice Kilpatrick, Annie Mae McDaniels, Jimmie Kate Johnson, and Rosa Lee Keenan. Approximately fifty co-eds have participated in this tournament which has been in progress for several weeks, and for which the Tri Delta sorority has offered a silver trophy to its winner.

THE YELLOW CLAW

 were white. His eyes, grey with hazel flecks in them, danced with the thought of danger and a fight. Kettlewell was naturally a peace loving youth but when he thought that womanhood was being insulted he was a steel panther, prepared to spring upon the enemy and wrench out his life.

Five minutes till midnight in the dark slum district by this bridge a muffled figure, our hero, could be seen leaning carelessly against the rail gazing into the yellow waters which swept irresistibly below on their way to the sea. On their way to the sea. And soon he, too, might be swept on his way to the sea. On his way to the sea of eternity. It was not a pleasant thought but our hero was not afraid. He had never known the meaning of the word.

A harsh gong struck in a temple somewhere in the mist as a figure rose from behind a low wall and approached our young hero with cat-like tread.

"White man. You come for girl?"
 "Yes," replied Kettlewell. "what are your terms?"

"Fifty thousand in American money. You will be allowed to go to the hideout with me and telegraph for the money. On payment you will be sent back here with the girl."
 Our hero thought quickly. Evidently this was an educated crook. His English told that. Also he was very, very cunning. Well he knew that the signature of Jack Kettlewell would be honored anywhere in the Orient. Once he had Jack in his power he could hold him for ransom too. But Kettlewell knew that on this game of chances he must take his share so he answered.

"All right. But my government will hear of this."

With a cunning leer, the Chinaman said, "Come."

Soon Jack was in a high-powered foreign car headed for a wild range of mountains to the North. A snub nosed Colt was pressed in his side

Change Name

Brooklyn, N. Y.—(IP)—St. John's College, founded in 1870 with 27 students, is making plans to change its name to St. John's University. It was recently announced that courses leading to the degree of doctor of philosophy would be added to the curriculum of the school.

and four guards watched him like hawks. After a three hours ride over terrible roads the car lurched to a halt and Our Hero was thrust out. The leader pressed a small rock and a huge section of the cliff swung inward with a mighty rumbling, revealing a cavern illuminated by candles. The car purred in and the rock growled back in place. It was a most carefully concealed hideout, one that would foil the efforts of all the searching parties in the Orient. Cunning people these Chinese, cunning people.

"The girl is in there," volunteered the Chinese bandit. "There's no chance of your escaping, so you may see her if you want."

Jack stepped through the door and heard it bang behind him and the lock click. A low chuckle came through the door and the words, "White man now in trap too."

Then Jack realized that he, too, was in the clutches of the bandits. He would be held for ransom.

From out of a dark corner there came a groan. Instantly Jack was at the side of the girl chafing her hands. His efforts were rewarded by a deep sigh and a second later two big brown eyes gazed languidly into his. Gee, why did she have such gorgeous lamps! Then our hero regained control of himself and said:

"I am an American friend who has come to rescue you from these villains. But I am in their clutches, too. We must escape."

"I knew my prayers would be answered," the girl replied, and looked deep into Jack's grey eyes. "You are so brave."

Students Strike

Williamsburg, Va.—(IP)—Practically the entire male student body of William and Mary College went on strike last week when college authorities expelled four freshman students who had made a raid on the college dining hall.

The raid was made in an effort to seize a student waiter and toss him into a pond. Leaders of the freshman class said the student had been autocratic in his treatment of first year students.

Play Indoor Ball

Over on Fargason Field a co-ed will sock the first indoor baseball of the season in an inter-sorority and intra-mural series which will begin at 3:30 p. m. and continue until the following Monday when elimination games will be played. The A. O. Pi's will take on the Zetas, and the Chi Omega nine will play against the Kappa Deltas. There will also be a game between a combination of the Freshmen and Sophmores and the Juniors and Seniors.

Fraternities Agree To Outlaw Politics

College Park, Md.—(IP)—Fraternity politics in student elections, long the bane of student life at the University of Maryland, was done away with this year when representatives of fourteen fraternities on the campus signed the following pledge:

"We, the following representatives of the undersigned social fraternities, do hereby agree to absolve ourselves from any political "hook-ups" or cliques of any nature whatsoever in the forthcoming Student Government and Senior Class elections. We further agree that we shall do everything in our power to eliminate any suggestion of such policies of pre-designation of candidates in future years. We declare ourselves as thoroughly in favor of the complete elimination of the so-called practice of "fraternity politics."

LYNX NET MEN BEAT LAMBUTH

Local Lads Down Eagles Seven To Two

The Lynx tennis players won a seven to two victory over the Lambuth Eagles tennis team last Saturday at Jackson, Tenn. The defeat was the second that the Eagles team has received in five years. The doubles matches were divided between the two teams but the Lynx victories in the singles cinched the meet.

The doubles team of Ross and Oliver defeated the Lambuth team of Piggot and Bradley by the scores of 6-3 and 6-3. The team of Jones and Daimwood was defeated by the Lambuth team of Robbins and Miller, 6-2, 6-2.

In the singles matches, the defeat of Lee Hines of the Lynx was the biggest surprise of the year. It was the first defeat the Oklahoma boy has received this season. He was defeated by Miller by the scores, 6-2, 6-3. The four other matches were Lynx matches.

Ross defeated Robbins, 6-2 and 6-2; Oliver downed Sawyer with ease, 6-1, 6-4; Daimwood defeated Bradley of Lambuth, 6-2, 5-7, and 6-3; Jones defeated Piggot, 6-2, 6-4.

"Foots" Clements Will Aid Coaches

Southwestern gridiron warriors next year will be aided by the assistance of "Foots" Clements, former Alabama star, who will assist Coaches Haygood and Miller with the maul-skinner. Clements, who is the local representative of the Swann Chemical Company, is now a resident of Stewart Hall, rooming with his former teammate.

He will not receive any compensation for his aid to the college but will assist as a personal favor to the Lynx coaches, with whom he has a close friendship.

Clements, a big 230 pounder, was a bulwark in the Alabama line a couple of years ago. He will show the Lynx boys just how tackle really should be played. In addition to his coaching he will endeavor to sell chemicals in the surrounding territory.

FRESHMEN WIN TRACK VICTORY

Foreman Leads Bobcats In Points

In the first meet of the year the Bobcats won an impressive victory over the Bullpups of Union University on Fargason Field last Friday afternoon, score 65 to 49. Both teams won a total of seven first places, but the Bobcats were more successful in winning second and third place and this fact gave them the margin of victory.

"Red" Forman, star sprinter for the frosh, was high point man for the Bobcats. He gleaned 16 points in the course of the afternoon. He won first in the 100 yard dash, the 220, and the 440 and third in the broad jump. John Barnes was second for Southwestern with ten points. He won first in the pole vault, and the high jump.

Arthur Smith took second in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Mack Givens won first and second in the 110 yard high hurdles and 220 yard low hurdles respectively. "Red" McLarty was the outstanding field man of the day, winning second in the shot put, discus throw, and the javelin throw.

I'm The Gink

I'm the Gink who tries to run the school politically. I go around blowing off at the mouth about who ought to get this job and who deserves that, whether my candidates are worthy or not. Personally, I don't give a darn whether they are suited for the job. It's for the old fraternity. You see, unless we get some offices in student government we don't stand a dog's chance of pledging any good men next fall. You know how it is. If it comes to a showdown between voting for a good man and a sorry fraternity brother, count me out on this "ideal" stuff.

I have a cute little trick of trying to make my neighbors vote for my candidate. Just let that girl next to me vote for the other guy and see if I vote for her candidate. An eye for an eye. Aw, go climb a tack. You guys ain't got a chance of winning that office. Why we got up Mr. Blah-Blah. Come on, fellows, support him. He'll do the right thing by you.

OLE MISS MEN SKIN LYNXCATS

Mississippians Capture Meet 63-54

Ole Miss thinclads defeated the Lynx track team last Saturday to even the athletic events between the two colleges for the year. The Lynx had previously won tennis and the teams tied in football relations. The score of the track meet was 63 to 54. The real margin of the Mississippians' win was their victories in the field events.

The Lynx did remarkably well in the track runs but couldn't cope with the power of the Ole Miss aggregation in the field. High scoring honors for the day went to Jesse Flowers of the Ole Miss crew, who ran up a total of 22 points.

The Ole Miss team showed off their star sprinter in the fashion of Jack Burnett, who is considered to be Olympic talent, although he didn't give such a dazzling exhibition Saturday, except in the 440 yard dash. In that event he was hard pressed by High and did the turn in 51.5, which is quite fast time considering the hard southwest wind that he had to encounter.

Summary:
100-Yard Dash—Won by Burnett, (Ole Miss); second, High (Southwestern); time, 10.3.

Pole Vault—Won by Scott (Southwestern); second, Flowers (Ole Miss); height, 11 feet.

Mile Run—Dead heat; Porteous and McLaughran (Southwestern); time, 4:54.9.

Shot Put—Won by White (Ole Miss); second, Flowers (Ole Miss); distance, 44 feet, 3 inches.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Burnett (Ole Miss); second, Cloar (Southwestern); time, 23.3.

120-Yard High Hurdles—Won by Flowers (Ole Miss); second, Drake (Southwestern); time, 16.7.

440 Yard Dash—Won by Burnett (Ole Miss); second, High (Southwestern); time, 51.5.

Discus Throw—Won by Flowers (Ole Miss); second, White (Ole Miss); distance, 130 feet 10 inches.

High Jump—Won by Genung (Ole Miss); second, Britt (Ole Miss); height, 5 feet 5 inches.

Two-Mile Run—Won by McLaughran (Southwestern); second, Porteous (Southwestern); time, 10:32.

220-Yard Low Hurdles—Won by King (Southwestern); second, Flowers (Ole Miss); time, 27 seconds.

880-Yard Run—Won by High (Southwestern); second, Porteous (Southwestern); time, 2 minutes 48 seconds.

Sorority Tennis

To complete a full day, an inter-sorority tennis tournament will begin that afternoon. Each sorority will pick its best players to represent its members in three matches, which consist of two singles and one doubles. The schedule for the tournament has been posted in the College Book Store.

Discover Comets

Cambridge, Mass.—(IP)—Twice in as many days last week discovery of new astronomical objects was reported to the Harvard University Observatory. Both are believed to be comets.

The first was Carrasco and the second Kreinmuth, both named for their discoverers. Both were discovered by European astronomers.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why are other cigarettes silent on this vital question?

Do you inhale? Seven out of ten people know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So be careful. Safeguard your delicate membranes!
