SOUTHWESTERN TO HAVE CAMP FOR FRESHMEN

Professor C. P. Lee Will Be Director

TO LAST FIVE DAYS

Eleven Upperclassmen Will Assist Lee

Elaborating the program of freshman orientation, Southwestern next fall will hold a freshman camp for about five days immediately preceding the opening of the session. Professor C. P. Lee will direct the camp with the aid of eleven upperclassmen soon to be chosen.

The camp is to be primarily an experience in acquaintance. New students will come from the camp to the college with friends already made among faculty, upperclassmen, and classmates, and with a fuller understanding of the college.

Though not definite yet, Hardy, Arkansas, has been selected as a probable location for the camp. About 60 of the probable 140 incoming freshmen are expected to go to the camp, attendance at which will, of course, be optional. A fee of $10 will be charged to cover expenses.

It is probable too that a girls' camp will be held. No definite arrangements have been made, however.

In order to obviate the possibility of unfair fraternity rushing, the upperclass councilors will be required to pledge that they will not "rush" any freshmen. To further insure fairness, there will be at least one councilor from each fraternity.

It is conjectured that the girls' camp will be in charge of Miss Louise Strammann, director of physical education for women, with seven upperclass girls and will be held in north Mississippi.

Due to the lack of sufficient students who would be able to make the tour of Mississippi in the summer, the original plans have been changed, but the plays will still be given for the benefit of the student body.

EMORY ORATORS DEBATE TONIGHT

Meet Lynx in Non-Decision Affair In Chapel

Emory University's debate team will return Southwestern's visit during the March debating trip in a debate tonight in Hardie Auditorium. The Lynx team will uphold the affirmative of the question, "Resolved: That the extension of consolidated cooperatives would be beneficial to the general public."

New debaters who have not engaged in inter-collegiate competition will probably be used in this debate. The hour has not been definitely decided.

This is the first time this question has been debated by a Southwestern team. The previous debates have all been on the topic of maximum hours and minimum wages. As usual the debate will not have an announced decision.

BUTLER RETURNS FROM ODK MEET

160 Delegates In Atlanta For Convention

Just ten minutes late to take his part in the April Fool Carnival Court, Woody Butler returned last Saturday from the Omicron Delta Kappa national convention in Atlanta.

Leaving here Wednesday, he arrived in Atlanta Thursday where Emory University and Georgia Tech were hosts to the convention which made its headquarters at the Biltmore Hotel.

Thursday afternoon Woody saw the tennis players, Bitsy Grant, Wayne Sabin, Bobby Riggs, Walter Senior, and others performing in the Atlanta invitation tournament. That night he attended the convention smoker at which the principal speaker was Professor Lang, head of the philosophy department at the University of Alabama.

Friday, the entire convention motored to Emory which is several miles out of Atlanta. Here they had luncheon, a model initiation, and business sessions. Returning to Atlanta that evening, the convention held its banquet at Georgia Tech and then a ball at the Biltmore.

About 160 delegates, representing the 45 circles of the fraternity, were present.

MASTER NECROMANCER DISCUSSES ART OF MAGIC

By MURRAH GATTIS

Someone has said that a thing achieved with difficulty is relatively more deeply cherished. It is thus that I may write of my attempts to make contact with the greatest magician of today, Harry Blackstone, the famous mystifier.

After waiting for him in vain at his hotel for three hours one night I finally decided to see if I could catch him backstage. I sat through his show of spectacular mysteries with increasing amazement; when the curtain came down on his final act, I leaped upon the stage and started for the magician's dressing rooms. Some mammoth of human flesh immediately barred my way and started to "bounce" me. Boldly I told him that Mr. Blackstone wanted to see me.

BINGHAM WINS C. U. ELECTION

Varner, Givens Are Chosen Other Officers

The Christian Union Cabinet elected new officers for the coming year at its bimonthly meeting Monday night. Herbert Bingham was voted the president of the cabinet and was acceded the presiding officer's chair by the outgoing president, Lauren Watson. The Cabinet then elected Carroll Varner as its vice-president and re-elected Dorothy Givens as secretary.

Bingham served as president of the Men's Bible Class this year as well as chairman of the Christian Union Cabinet's Christmas entertainment for needy children. The Cabinet voiced full approval of the program which he sketched for the coming year and for the remaining activities of this year which the Cabinet sponsors. These include the Vesper Service and the Gridiron Banquet.

The Gridiron banquet is going to be held on the last Saturday of this month, and on the following Saturday the Curling Iron banquet for the girls will take place. Two separate committees will be appointed at the next meeting to make definite plans for these occasions.

The Spring Vesper Service, sponsored by the Freshman Class, under the auspices of the Southwestern Christian Union, will close the series of addresses made by the Reverend J. Valdemar Moldenhawer, D.D., in observance of the annual Week of Prayer for Universities and Colleges, at five o'clock on Sunday afternoon, April 11.

There are four Vesper services during each school year, at Armistice Day, Christmas, Week of Prayer, and Easter, each sponsored by one of the four classes. Due to flood conditions, the positions of the last two were reversed.

The program will begin at 5:00 o'clock in Hardie Auditorium, with the Prelude—Adagio by Spohr, executed by Professor Burnet C. Tutill, clarinet, and Mr. Newton White at the piano. After the hymn, "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds," the Reverend Professor Alexander P. Kelso, presiding officer, will give the invocation. The Southwestern Singers will offer two anthems: Brahms' "Meditation" and "As Torrents in Summer" by Elgar, which will be followed by a prayer and the hymn, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." The address will be made by Dr. Moldenhawer, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, New York City. The program will be brought to a close by the benediction and a hymn, "Jerusalem the Golden."

J. P. Cavender, as president of the Freshman Class, is in charge of arrangements. Ushers will be Charles Perry, Bob Stalworth, W. C. Rowan, Art Poppe. The Y. W. C. A. will be in charge of attendance. All students and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

This service will close a series of ten addresses made by Dr. Moldenhawer during the past week which has been the national Week of Prayer for schools and colleges. Dr. Moldenhawer's talks have been around the theme of his opening speech, "What Are We Here For?"

EPISCOPALIANS HAVE BANQUET

Dr. Wedel To Make Address at Hotel Peabody

Dr. Theodore O. Wedel, Ph.D., of New York City, will be the principal speaker at the city-wide banquet for Episcopalians which is to be held tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at Hotel Peabody. Dr. Wedel is the executive secretary of the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

This annual, the fourth of its kind, is being sponsored by the six student Episcopal clubs of Memphis. This occasion will culminate the three day meeting of the National Federation of Young People in the Episcopal Church. A hundred students from Memphis colleges are expected to attend.

The Southwestern Episcopal Club will be represented by its entire membership and will have a private table. Jane Alvis will render a solo as a part of the program.

St. Luke's Episcopal Church has charge of this program which will be given by three of the six Episcopal units in the city. The Southwestern students will take part in sponsoring the whole banquet.

The ticket sale will end tonight. There will be a meeting next Tuesday night of the Southwestern group. Announcements concerning the place will be made in a few days.

DEMOCRACY IN EDUCATION

A recent press release by the National Youth Administration has called to our attention the difference in the attitude which is taken by the American government in encouraging education from the point of view of contemporary European governments.

The American government began federal financial aid to college students in the year 1934. In that year 65,000 needy young men and women were enabled to continue their courses through part-time employment on special relief projects.

How different the efforts of this government in trying to give its citizens the broadest possible education from those of a National Socialist, Fascist, or Communist in propagandizing to the fullest extent every possible department of education.

Do we appreciate it?

INTRAMURALS

The interest at present being shown in intramural athletics among both men and women students is commendable. After all these sports are in truth more important than actual intercollegiate competition, for it is to the mass of unskilled performers that physical education is most beneficial.

We are glad to see, then, exuberant enthusiasm in intramural athletics such as was manifested at the Chi Omega-Tri-Delta basketball game last Wednesday afternoon. In the matter of attendance, it actually vied with the intercollegiate tennis matches which were being played simultaneously.

It has always been a particular strong point of the British system of physical education that the student's enthusiasm for his "class" and for his club were no less than for his college.

SPRING FLOWERS

In the spring of the year it is perhaps unpleasant but nevertheless necessary to remind men and women about the campus of that trite but valid motto, "Enjoy but do not destroy." The flowers on the campus are beautiful. Let us make sure that they remain so.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

"We are what we are, not because of what we've been able to squeeze out of the world, but because of what we've been able to give back to the world." The University of Southern California's Dean of public administration William B. Henley tells us what's what about ourselves.

"Most students at Stanford don't use their minds at all. They just jiggle them a little each day and then turn to more important things." Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University exposes mental "jiggling." That should be juggling.

An honorary degree is a degree conferred on a man who proved that he could win without it.

Red seeds plucked from the pods of the bixa orellana bush serve many University of Hawaii coeds as lipstick. The "lipstick bush" is quite common and widely scattered throughout the islands.

Put chickens on a twelve-hour working day by means of an alarm-clock attachment, is the recommendation of Prof. C. G. Card, head of Michigan State College's poultry husbandry department. By getting them up two hours earlier, they will eat more food and lay more eggs, he says.

Coed chatter: "Why shouldn't I go to the party with him? Maybe I'll meet someone else!"

Diary: Last Friday afternoon I decided to see how many folks had scanned my column. . . Also wanted to see if anyone noticed a certain editorial. . . Well, I guess that everyone was too busy thinking about the April Fool Carnival. . . Then I ran into Dickie Dunlap, second to none as the best politician ever to attend this university. . . Ask any one who was here last year. . .

Here is the story of one of Dunlap's very efficient schemes. . . By some hook or crook he formed a small combine. . . Thus he was certain of getting all those votes. . . Then in chapel he nominated people who were not in his "combine" . . . Students not in it said, "Now, here is an honest fellow; I think I'll vote for him" . . . So when the votes are counted, Dickie has a total of ninety-eight per cent of the votes cast. . . That happened not long after the Elections Commission began its regime. . . Then came the great repercussion in chapel . . .

More diary: Went to Carnival Saturday night. . . Someone called it a "masquerade of the truth" . . . Someone else said that it was childish and juvenile. . . Personal opinion: Got one of the "biggest kicks" of my young life out of the faculty scene. . . CONVENTION TO BE HELD HERE

High School Delegates Have Meet April 29-30

The Mississippi Valley High School Press Association will hold its annual convention at Southwestern on Thursday and Friday, April 29 and 30. About forty boys and girls are expected to attend.

During intermission excerpts from the April Fool Carnival will be re-enacted. The entertainment committee consists of Rose Lynn Barnard for the girls and John Quanthy for the boys.

To help defray the expenses of the convention each fraternity and sorority on the campus will be solicited for $2.50. Also, all dormitory students for whom it is convenient are requested to spend Thursday night with friends in town in order to provide beds for delegates. For housing the delegates Nancy Warden has charge of the girls and Frank Goodlett of the boys.

R. A. PICARD MAKES TALK ON POLITICS

Ralph A. Picard, Commissioner of Memphis Public Utilities and Buildings, made an address on the subject, "Politics as a Profession," at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Science Hall lecture room. The address had originally been arranged by Prof. C. P. Lee for his speech class, but a general invitation was extended.

Mr. Picard said that entrance into politics is usually a chance occasion. He added that the greatest satisfaction of a politician is in serving humanity and, that while unscrupulous methods in business may be admired, such tactics in politics are looked upon with the utmost contempt. Explaining the commission form of city government and its operation, he closed by asking all who were interested to call on him for advice or to discuss problems.

I think I'll skip his name, But he's a-firtin' with my woman, And he plays a "wicked" game!

Women are just like melons; You ask the reason why? Well, to find a good one, A hundred you have to try!

Answer: This guy may ha' been a poet. But a farmer he was not! Me, I'm one who knows it: That a ripe old melon will rot!

STRONG BOY SAMSON FELL FOR CHORUS GIRL IN THE OLD DAYS

In the early days the leather pushing sport was a rough pastime which called for pugs with the conscience of Nero, the cold heart of a dentist, and a concrete, steel re-inforced physique. Kicking, gouging, biting, choking or what would you, went and it was no uncommon sight to see one husky mount his opponent's frame and kick his teeth out or gently insert a number 12 shoe in his ribs.

Now the Philistines had a number of husky rough and tumble artists who could maul an opponent worse than a modern steam laundry treats a shirt. The scenes of the various battles between the leading Philly and Israelite grapplers was littered with the teeth, jawbones and odd portions of anatomy of the latter country's leading hopes.

However, the worm will turn, and finally the Israelites found a sure 'nuff rough baby in Strong Boy Samson. Now this Samson was stronger than garlic. He played tiddly-winks with manhole covers as a youth and in his college days set the record with the shotput. This was never officially done, however, as no one could ever find the shot as he tossed it clean out of the country.

Samson first made his rep by pulling apart (to the great enjoyment of his followers) Iron Man Ilek, the Philistine champ. Later he won the reputation of being the greatest all round rough and tumble tussler in the country by taking on 10,000 Philistines in one day armed with the jaw bone of a mule which he found laying by.

However, Samson went the way of all flesh. While touring Philistine he fell for a chorus girl named Delilah De Vere. Well Samson was no John Barrymore on looks, so he started visiting the manicurists, got a plastic job done on his mug, had a marcelle put on his long tresses. The style of the day was just developing the boyish bob for men, and Delilah rode him steady to have his tresses trimmed. Samson finally gave in and when that done developed into a regular jelly bean, started guzzling corn likker, smoking Home Runs and first thing he knew he didn't have enough strength to turn over a Ford engine. In his next bout he proved a flivver, his Philistine opponent scattering his remains over three counties in one of the neatest jobs of dissecting ever turned out.

CHI OMEGAS WIN OVER TRI-DELTA TO RETAIN CUP

Fourth Consecutive Victory For Sorority

SMITHWICK STARS

Both Teams Fight Hard Throughout

The Chi Omega basketball team defeated the Tri-Deltas 44-31 in the championship game, Wednesday afternoon. This makes the fourth successive year that the Chi Omega team has held the championship trophy, a silver loving cup with the name of the champion sorority engraved on the front.

Due to the traditional basketball rivalry between the two teams, spectators and players were in a high state of excitement from the first. The Tri-Deltas have been runner-up each of the four years. Both teams were fighting hard even in the first quarter, which ended with the score 8-5 in favor of Chi Omega. Frances Smithwick and Carol Krausnick were outstanding for Chi Omega. Ila Joy Lenti, as center for Tri-Deltas, showed excellent form in handling the ball, and Williams proved an efficient guard.

During the second quarter, Chi Omega lost some of the first fighting spirit, and Tri-Delta's team-work improved. However, the remarkable goal-shooting ability of Frances Smithwick kept the same difference in scores: 17-14.

At the beginning of the second half, the formidable Tistadt went in as a substitute for Tri-Delta. Despite the valiant efforts of Margaret Jones, Frances Smithwick, and Nancy Donelson for Chi Omega, the towering Mary Laura Tistadt's goals evened the score, 25-25.

Regaining momentum for the final attack, the Chi Omega team went into the final quarter with a spirit which mounted up 19 points before the last whistle. Ann Potts and Ann Eckert showed a fine defensive as well as offensive in the last quarter for Chi Omega, and Elizabeth Jones made a brave attack. Ila Joy Lenti kept the spirit she had shown all the way for Tri-Delta, and was helped by Mildred Poindexter, as forward. Frances Smithwick made the highest individual score, with 30 points. Mildred Poindexter was high-pointer for Tri-Delta.

Line-up:
Chi Omega — Forwards, Frances Smithwick, Margaret Jones; centers, Ann Potts, Nancy Donelson; guards, Ann Eckert, Carol Krausnick; substitute, Elizabeth Jones.
Tri-Delta—Forwards, Dot Robinson, Mildred Poindexter; centers, Marjorie DeVall, Ila Joy Lenti; guards, Beverly Alston, Kathleen Williams; substitutes, Margaret Thomas, Mary Laura Tistadt.

"If four varsity track records are not broken in tomorrow's meet I'll be sorely disappointed," said Coach Chicken High, power behind the Lynx track team. Chicken and I were discussing various possibilities concerning the meet tomorrow with Mississippi College—the meet that will lift the lid off the 1937 track season. In fact, I might say that it will mark the official opening of the season in Memphis.

Chicken expects to see McKay Boswell take the old low-hurdle record. If Porter Chappell is true to form he will break the high-jump record. But of course the best chance for new marks go to Will Rhea Winfrey in the shot and Orley Nettles in the javelin. Red Davis, too, should break his own mark in the discus. (A complete list of records are given below.)

The Lynx should, with these stars, have no trouble taking the meet. The five mentioned, however, are not by any form of reasoning the only possible point winners. There's Wave "Bull" McFadden in the middle distances who is what a critic would call a "plugger." In the distances, Henry Turner will be a sure point winner.

But in spite of all the potential winners everything isn't so rosy for the Lynx. The fact is that the team is terribly weak in the dashes. Gaylon Smith—he may become a one-man track team—and none other than Tommy "Sputter" Fuller—perhaps—will have to take care of that phase of the meet for the Lynx.

Here is the way the varsity track records look now:
100 Yard Dash—High, 10.2, 1932.
220 Yard Dash—Newton, 22.5, 1931.
440 Yard Dash—Newton, 50.1, 1933.
880 Yard Run—High, 2:1.1, 1933.
Mile Run—Porteous, 4:37.7, 1932.
Two Mile Run—McGaughran, 10:8.8, 1931.
120 Yard Hurdle—Lilly, 16.2, 1930.
220 Yard Hurdle—King, 26.5, 1932.
Pole Vault—Ford, 12:5.3, 1929.
Shot Put—Fox, 41.8, 1934.
High Jump—Barnes, 6, 1934.
Discus Throw—Davis, 123.1, 1935.
Broad Jump—Newton, 22:6.1/2, 1931.
Javelin Throw—Bynum, 154.5, 1930.
Relay—High, Eddington, Wilson, Newton, 3:33.1/2, 1933.

Track, I think anybody that's been in it will agree, is one of the few sports in which everything at every second depends upon the entrant himself and himself only. He hasn't eight other men, or ten other men, or one other man to carry him along the second he may let up. In other words, if you're out for track, you either make or break yourself. That's what makes track so interesting. Without the use of pleonasm, let me just say that it takes a sizeable quantity of that something—whatever it is—that is described by the ineffable word "guts."
Those men out for the Lynx track team have certainly shown their mettle by sticking out this long. Believe me, when Chicken High is coach the boys either step the correct way or they step out of the picture. As I say, those boys have done their part by sticking this long. It is the job of every student now to support them.

It can be done by attending each meet—something which certainly is inducement enough in itself.

Bob Lee tells the best track yarn I've ever picked up. In brief it follows:

Bob's brother was coach last year of a high school team in Mississippi. He had a country boy—and when I say "country" I mean to imply every rural characteristic—who was certainly a great high jumper. Well, it happened that at his first meet the coach had to do without one of his regular high hurdlers; so he decided to use our jumping friend.

Since there was only one set of hurdles, the boys had to run one at a time, the time of each being taken by stop-watch. The gentleman in question, running sans shoes, cleared each hurdle by at least a foot, jumping as high as she could. As he neared the finish the tape was raised breast high. But was it broken? No. The tape, too, was cleared in one last and desperate leap.

"You dope," raved the coach, "watcha trying to do, jump yourself to death?"

"I done what you tole me," panted the perspiring young man. "Ain't you said ter jump ev'ything I comed to?"

SIGMA NU ENTERS FINALS OF TENNIS

Intramural tennis progressed into the semi-final rounds during the past few days. The non-frats battered the Kappa Sigs into submission, Charley Floyd and George Futris sweeping the matches from KSers, Ralph Bethea and W. C. Rowan. The SAE's, David Gibson and Jim Merrin, meanwhile took two out of three matches from PIKamen Doug Johnston and Charles Barton. The Sigma Nu's, Breyspraak and Horton, dropped the ATO team of King and Carruthers in a clean sweep.

The SN's then took the KA's without a loss, earning the right to meet the winner of the NF-SAE match in the finals. These matches had not been completed as the paper went to press.

RACQUET MEN TIE CHOCTAWS IN FIRST MATCH

Mississippians Stop Lynx Victory Stretch

THE NEW MEN LOSE

White, Smith Are Victims Of Inconsistency

Playing well into the twilight Wednesday afternoon, the tennis teams of Southwestern and Mississippi College fought to a 3-3 tie. It was a moral victory for the Choctaws who last year took a 7-0 defeat from the Lynx, and a discouraging premier match to followers of Southwestern tennis who have seen their team ever victorious in more than a year and a half of competition.

Both winning 6-2, 6-0, the Lynx veterans, Dunlap Cannon and Woody Butler began what appeared to be an easy victory for the Lynx. Cannon, playing number 1, was as usual consistent and alert in downing John McAllister. After a momentary wildness in the first two games, the fluent-stroking Butler swept Bill Deswick off the court with a barrage of skimming drives which slid away into the corners.

Tom White, a sophomore at number 3 position, could not master the consistent poking of Sam Lawrence who won, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1. The slow wet court and the high wind conspired with the over-cautious playing of both men to make this an uninteresting match. In winning the second set White seemed to have come to life, but in the third he hit an amazingly erratic spell and was quickly on the short end of a 5-0 score. He continually carried the attack to the net, but invariably his attempt to volley from as far back as the service line met with disaster.

In the number 4 match, Howard Morris returned enough of Macon Smith's stylish drives to earn a 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 victory. Smith, who was far from consistent, made the error of attempting to blow Morris off the court. He did not deign to attack his opponent's poke backhand but relied entirely on speed and pace to overwhelm Morris. Morris, however, refused to be overwhelmed and, awkwardly, or not, he returned the ball more times than Macon hit it to him.

The doubles saw Cannon and Smith playing well to subdue Deswick and McAllister 6-1, 6-4, while Butler and White, in the match which lasted until 6:30, lost to Lawrence and McGehee 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

After scribbling three pages during an exam, a Marquette University student wrote: "I don't think you'll read this far, and to prove it I'll tell you about the basketball game I saw yesterday." He wasn't called on his five page sports discourse.

INTRAMURAL GOLF GOES INTO FINALS

The club swingers of the Kappa Sigs and the Sigma Nu's earned the right to scrap for the intramural golf title during the past week, triumphing over all opposition. The men of Kappa Sigma trounced the ATO's and then went on to conquer the PIKA's in the semi-final round. The Sigma Nu's won from the non-frats by default, and then beat the SAE's, who had removed the KA's from the race previously. The final match had not been completed when the paper went to press.

LYNX GET READY FOR TRACK TEST

To Meet Mississippi College Tomorrow

Expecting a tussle but confident of victory, Southwestern's track squad prepped for its opening meet against the Mississippi College team on Far-ganon Field Saturday afternoon.

Coach High's small but classy bunch of thinclads were going through their paces earnestly and industriously. High himself is a glutton for work and he will tolerate no loafing. He expects his squad to be in top shape for Saturday's meet.

The Lynx' team this year is a well-balanced machine. Strength in the dashes, the distance runs, and the field events is about evenly distributed. With hard work and the proper spirit this Lynx track team bids fair to make a name for itself.

SPRING, ONCE ROMANTIC, NOW BRINGS COLLEGIATE LASSITUDE

Spring has come! And it has come. The fever is very bad on the Southwestern campus and it has even shown its marks on some of the well known professors.

Let us take a little visit into some of the class rooms and see the effects. First we will go to Dr. Davis' Botany class. It is really a lovely class and all the accessories of spring (including the fever) fit into the spirit of the class extremely well. Dr. Davis looks at Emily Lee and says with much pain, "Don't do your face like that. Miss Lee, you'll get old too quickly." Immediately a change comes over Miss Lee—she is a changed woman. Next comes the definition of gymnosperms. Dr. Davis says they are naked seeds and Jim Breyspraak adds that it is like taking gym without any clothes on. This statement is met with a couple of yawns from the back row. At this stage in the discussion, our beloved professor says, "One thing hasn't happened, I haven't had a bad dream about this class!" The bell rings, the class stirs and dreamily walks out.

The scene shifts and we find ourselves right in the middle of Dr. A's psychology class, and the students are in the middle of a nap. Dr. A is draped over the desk with his eyes on the clock. He speaks: "Well, fifteen minutes have passed — just fifteen more minutes to go. Have you any questions? Good. This is really an intelligent group. When would you like to have a test?" Miss Roberts says she can't possibly take it Thursday and Miss Poindexter insists that she can't take it Saturday. Dr. A solves the problem by having the test both days. This discussion lasts for ten minutes and by that time the class is ready to adjourn. Dr. A goes out the door sighing about how much work he has to do.

We now find ourselves out in the wide open spaces with Miss Stratmann's gym class. It is a beautiful day, but the girls are rather lazy and can hardly raise their little fingers. The first task is to run around the track. They are gone so long that

Miss Stratmann remarks, "Well, I guess the girls are down on their hands and knees crawling." Finally, the class is assembled and a very "fast" game of volley ball is begun. (The girls almost go to sleep standing up). After a very desperate attempt to get the ball over the net, in various ways, one of the class members is told by Miss Stratmann that it isn't fair to use her jaw. She then tells Lillie Roberts Walker that she could at least move out of the ball's way. This goes on for some time and the class ends with Josephine Kinzy trying to catch the ball with her knee. Miss Stratmann says she must be bowlegged because the ball went right through them.

Ho-hum! Guess I have a touch of spring fever, too, so I'll stop and go to sleep. (No, don't make the crack that it looks like I went to sleep before I finished this story). Any way, it just goes to show you that there is something in the atmosphere now that makes us want to lay down on the job.

Stage and Mike

One of the best statements concerned with the technique of acting ever made is to be found in the advice given by Hamlet to the players, act 3, scene 2, of Shakespeare's "Hamlet." The standards formulated there by the immortal Shakespeare are those of yesterday, today, and for all time to come. It is as if the greatest actor-dramatist of all time were speaking directly to the actors of each succeeding generation. This particular passage should be analyzed, memorized, and put into practice by the members of the Southwestern Players who could apply its message to every piece of interpretive work they undertake to perform.

The fundamental principles which Shakespeare here sets forth are . . . Speak the lines prepared by the author . . . ("Speak the speech . . . as I pronounced it to you); . . . use distinct speech ("speak trippingly on the tongue"); . . . do not use elaborate gestures (do not "saw the air too much with your hand"); . . . keep a reserve force ("use all gently") in order to arise to an emotional climax smoothly and effectively ("in the whirlwind of passion you must acquire a temperance that may give it smoothness"); . . . do not resort to far-fetched action and noise ("tear a passion to tatters"); to appeal to the unintelligent people in the audience; do not be too lifeless ("be not too tame either"), but use your own judgment and "let your own discretion be your tutor; suit the action to the word and the word to the action"; "the purpose of playing is to hold the mirror up to nature." Do not overact nor underact to get a laugh from the audience, for anything that is not true to life will spoil the play for the intelligent few whose criticism far outweighs that of all the rest of the audience ("this overdone or come tardy off, though it make the unskilled laugh, cannot but make the judicious grieve; the censure of which, one must in your allowance o'erweigh a whole theatre of the others"). Only the poorest actors strut

DELEGATES LEAVE FOR NEW ORLEANS

John Farley, Lauren Watson, and Ed McCormick left last Wednesday for New Orleans, Louisiana, where they are attending the Southern and Southeastern division of the National Students Federation of America and the Southern College Press Association convention, April 7-9. Farley and Watson were selected by the Student Council at a meeting held recently as official delegates to represent Southwestern at the convention. McCormick will represent the Publications Board.

Tulane University and Sophie Newcomb College are co-hosts at the convention. Last year Southwestern and the University of Mississippi were in charge of the 1936 meeting which was held in Memphis. The purpose of the convention is to discuss current problems facing students in both student body and student publications affairs. Sessions on student activities, the Honor System, and freedom of the press as well as entertainment features are scheduled.

Southwestern's delegates will attend the convention meetings which are being held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and return for classes Monday.

How would you like to have your more feeble thoughts recorded in cold type?

and bellow in their bad imitation of humanity. Never put in extemporaneous lines, especially in humorous roles, even when they are clever enough to make the audience laugh, for they draw the attention away from the center of interest, and insure the loss of important lines ("let those that play the clowns speak no more than is set down for them; for there be of them that will themselves laugh, to set on some quantity of barren spectators to laugh too, though in the meantime some necessary question of the play be then to be considered; that's villainous and shows a most pitiful ambition in the fool that uses it").
