GRIDIRON BANQUET TO BE HELD IN NEELY TONIGHT

The annual Gridiron Banquet, sponsored by the Christian Union Cabinet for men students, will be held tonight, April 28, at 6:45 o'clock, in Neely Hall. Speeches, jokes, and the usual phoney elections will be part of the evening's entertainment.

Among the positions to be filled are the "Ugliest Mug," "Duckiest Duck," "Greatest Lover," and others. Parties already formed are the Waiters' Party and the Stewart Hall Boys.

A nickelodeon will furnish the music. John Young is in charge of general arrangements, assisted by Tom Mobley, Ned Hermann, and James Cogswell.

Tickets, now on sale, are 25c for dormitory students and 50c for town students.

Two Alumni Author Books On Southern Banking, Memphis' Past

Three new books have recently been added to the school library, two by Southwestern alumni, Gerald M. Capers, Jr., and John Berry McFerrin; and another by Southwestern's commencement speaker of two years ago, William Montgomery McGovern.

Mr. McFerrin, who will have an article included in this year's Journal, has made a study of the financial malpractices of the prosperous twenties, which he concludes were responsible for the general economic chaos, and has incorporated his material—largely in the form of company and court records—into "Caldwell and Company: A Study in Southern Investment Banking." Mr. McFerrin portrays the life history of a company which was responsible for a substantial part of such malpractices originating in the South.

"The Biography of a River Town: Memphis, Its Heroic Age," is the peculiarly interesting title of the latest literary effort of Gerald M. Capers, Jr. Mr. Capers, convinced that "an adequate biography of one of our key cities would be more significant to the national epic than the biography of even so prominent a figure as Theodore Roosevelt," has told the story of Memphis before 1900 as an approach to the study of a complex region, where, in antebellum days, West met South, agriculture was linked with commerce, and, during the Civil War, economic interest clashed with sectional loyalty—and lost. Mr. Capers, whose home is in Memphis, traces the history of Memphis through its boom decades, war at first hand, successive scourges of Yellowjack, a wasted population, and, ultimately a new city; supplementing his work with maps and contemporary drawings calculated to make the book lively and authentic.

Mr. William M. McGovern, in "The Early Empires of Central Asia," makes the first attempt in any European language to cover as a whole the early history of Central Asia, from the earliest times (3000 B.C.) down to the sixth century A.D. While the book deals primarily with the little-known history of innermost Asia, a great deal of new light is thrown upon the history of the surrounding regions—China, India, and Persia. The book deals not only with political history but also with racial backgrounds and social and cultural developments, and in addition contains the most complete bibliography of Central Asiatic history ever made.

Mr. McGovern is professor of political science in Northwestern University, while Mr. McFerrin is assistant professor of economics in the University of Florida. Mr. Capers is instructor of history in Yale University.

S Club Day Will Be Held Tomorrow

Jones To Be Second Queen In Annual Affair; Dance To Be May 6

The second annual S Club Day will be held tomorrow, April 29, starting immediately after chapel. Events scheduled include a track meet between Southwestern and Sewanee in the afternoon, a student tennis tournament among mixed doubles, and at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning a softball game between the All-Stars-Faculty and the All-Stars-S Club teams.

Margaret Mason Jones, a junior, has been chosen Queen of S Club Day by the members of that group. She will be crowned in chapel and will reign over the activities of the day. Miss Jones is secretary of Chi Omega social sorority, member of the Honor Council, the Y. W. C. A., the Sou'wester staff, and the business staff of the Lynx.

Due to conflicting arrangements of the track team, the annual S Club Dance will not be held until next Saturday, May 6. It will be given in the Southwestern gym from 8 until 12 o'clock. Bill Taylor's Royal Collegians will play and tickets will be $1 couple and 75c stag.

Chapel service tomorrow morning will be compulsory and the student body has been warned that double cuts will be given for absences. Students are expected to attend the athletic events of the day, since student support makes this extra holiday possible, Gaylon Smith, president of the S Club, said.

The idea of having such a holiday was originated two years ago by Jack Pilkington, now a student at the University of Tennessee Medical School. It was endorsed by college authorities and the first celebration was held last year in May. Dorothy Steuwer was crowned the first queen, being chosen by the student body.

Zeta Tau Alpha To Give Stardust Ball

New Officers To Be Honored At Annual Affair

Beta Sigma chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will entertain with its annual Stardust Ball tomorrow night, April 27, from 8 until 12 o'clock at the University Center. The event will honor the newly-elected officers of the group. Music will be furnished by Bill Taylor's orchestra and there will be two no-breaks and two specials. The Zeta leadout will be in keeping with the theme, with all members dressed in white and carrying tiny flashlights to represent the twinkling of stars. "Stardust" will be played.

The decorations will feature a canopy of large silver stars draped from the ceiling, while larger stars with the letters ZTA on them will hang from the columns around the dance floor. The lighted crest of Zeta Tau Alpha will be above the orchestra stand.

The retiring and incoming presidents will receive the guests. New officers are Dorothy Steuwer, president, receiving with Mark Hammond; Bennie Joyner, secretary, with Fred Ross; and Kate Parker, treasurer, with Selby Bobzien. The retiring officers are Lillie Roberts Walker, president, receiving with Tom Mobley; Vera Ulrich, treasurer, with John Pond. Dorothy Steuwer is the retiring secretary.

YWCA Elects Dickson Head

Work, Waggener, Shumaker Also Chosen By Women's Group

The Young Women's Christian Association held its annual election Wednesday, April 19, at the regular monthly supper meeting in the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority lodge. The new officers chosen are Marion Dickson, president; Annie Few Work, vice-president and program chairman; Virginia Waggener, secretary, and Priscilla Shumaker, treasurer.

The nominating committee was composed of senior members of the YWCA Cabinet and the Advisory Board—Marjorie DeVal, Betsy Fowler, Betty Wells, Harriet Pond, Rachel Beasley, Georgianna Awsumb, Mrs. R. S. Pond, Mrs. C. E. Diehl, and Mrs. R. C. Hon.

Marion Dickson, the new president, is a member of the sophomore class, marshal and Panhellenic representative in Delta Delta Delta sorority, and secretary of the Christian Union Cabinet. She is also a member of the Honor Council, STAB, and the choir. Annie Few Work, new vice-president, is a Chi Omega junior, a member of the choir, and charter member of the Blue Stockings.

Virginia Waggener, secretary, is also the new president of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and vice-president of the Women's Panhellenic Council. She transferred from Gulf Park last year, and is a junior. Priscilla Shumaker, treasurer, also a junior, is Panhellenic representative from Kappa Delta, vice-president of the Women's Athletic Association, member of the Sou'wester staff and of the choir.

Retiring officers are Betsy Fowler, president; Harriet Pond, vice-president; Marjorie DeVal, secretary; and Betty Wells, treasurer.

McLEMORE IS AWARDED COLUMBIA SCHOLARSHIP

Thomas McLemore, a member of the senior class, has been awarded a $400 scholarship to Columbia Law School in New York City. The award was made through the Columbia Alumni Association of Memphis, of which Prof. C. L. Baker, associate professor of Biology, is president.

McLemore is retiring president of Alpha Theta Phi, local honorary scholastic fraternity, a member of the Stylus Club, S Club, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity. He has been active in dramatics and other campus activities.

Jackson, McBurney Chosen ODK Heads

Prof. Ralph C. Hon Re-elected Secretary-Treasurer Of Group

George Jackson and William McBurney were elected president and vice-president of Phi Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity, at a meeting in the Bell Room of Neely Hall Tuesday noon. Prof. Ralph C. Hon was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the group.

Retiring officers were Billy Kelly, president, and H. R. Holcomb, vice-president. Other members present were Henry Mobley, Sam Hill, Herbert Bingham, Gaylon Smith, Frank Campbell, H. R. Holcomb, Steve Frazier, Randall MacInnes, George Humphrey, Thomas McLemore, Virgil McCraney, and Prof. R. S. Pond.

Jackson, a member of the junior class, is newly-elected president of Kappa Sigma fraternity, secretary-treasurer of Alpha Theta Phi, a member of the Stylus Club, and the Student Council, retiring president of the Christian Union Cabinet, news editor of the Sou'wester, and editor of the Journal.

McBurney, also a junior, is the editor of the Sou'wester, president of Alpha Theta Phi for next year, vice-president of Kappa Alpha social fraternity, a member of the Stylus Club, the Men's Panhellenic Council, and the Student Council.

Omicron Delta Kappa was in charge of the housing of the men delegates at the MVPA Convention held on the campus two weeks ago, and plans for next year include a project for re-furnishing the men's social room in Palmer Hall.

Four delegates, Billy Kelly, Prof. R. C. Hon, William McBurney and George Jackson, recently attended the Silver Anniversary National ODK convention at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va. Reports of delegates were made at the meeting Tuesday.

The Student Says

QUESTION

Do you think Alpha Theta Phi should be represented on the Student Council?

ANSWERS

Bill Donelson, junior: Yes, I think giving Alpha Theta Phi a representative on the Student Council would be the first move toward making it a real organization instead of a glorified honor roll.

Harriette Hollis, sophomore: Yes, since Alpha Theta Phi represents those on the campus who are the most outstanding in scholarship and since scholarship is an integral part of Southwestern, I believe that this organization should have a seat on the council.

Mac DeMere, senior: Certainly! Because they represent the intellectual and more responsible class of students. We need more of this type on the council.

Henry Mobley, senior: The Student Council is made up of the leaders in organizations that are supposed to represent the largest possible portion of the student body and exert most possible influence in promoting student welfare. I am glad that Alpha Theta Phi's have petitioned for a seat on the council. We will have a chance to consider the matter fairly.

Louise Jennings, sophomore: I wouldn't know.

A Fable For Critics— Of Feminine Beauty

This is the Editorial Allegory Hour. Our little tale for today is entitled "The Other 13 Belles and How They Got the Gong."

Once upon a time at a certain institution (name omitted for obvious reasons) there was an annual yearbook which appeared every May (or sometime thereafter). Now the inmates of this institution demanded that this annual contain a Beauty Section. End of Part I.

And in this same institution there was a certain dramatic group coached by a certain professor (nymes h'omitted for h'obvious reasons). It was the wont of this group and this professor to present each year one, even two dramatic productions which they ranked among the greatest performances in thespianic history, none excepted. End of Part II.

Now it chanced that one day as the editor of this yearbook was worrying because he had to select the beauties for this yearbook and this dramatic coach was worrying because he had to pay royalties and prompters' fees, they met. While consoling each other, they had this happy thought: to combine their problems, that is, to have a beauty contest in connection with a dramatic production. This, they decided, would be a cunning trick for people would be lured to the production by the beauties, thus paying for the royalties and prompters' fees, and once there, they would be made to select the beauties for the aforementioned section of the yearbook. End of Part III.

So, in due time, the sororities of this institution selected likely candidates for the event, and in due time, a dramatic production was cooked up. Aided and abetted by all the artifices which this age is heir to, the candidates trooped across the stage, smiling toothily. They were all applauded, but when the ballots were counted and the hour of reckoning came, it developed that the Pi Zelta candidates had all won by a great majority. It also developed that there had been more sisters, alumni, mothers, little sisters, and miscellaneous other partizans of Pi Zelta in the audience than of any other group. End of Part IV.

Moral: Fifty million spectators can't be wrong, maybe, but when they are fifty million Pi Zeltas, they can hardly be put in the class of impartial judges.

We don't know who this year's beauty winners are, and we wager they are all epitomes of charm, but so, ahem, were all the nominees. The purpose of the contest is to select beauties, not popularity winners. Yet, this has too often been the outcome. Though the play-beauty contest combination settles things for the producer and editor, we would like to suggest the method used in many other colleges of sending photographs to some competent, or shall we say, more impartial judge—Earl Carroll, Cecil B. DeMille, Charles Boyer, or even Robert Taylor's secretary.

Back Again, As Bad As Ever

As much as we dislike mentioning it, that old bug-a-boo is back.

Keeping off the grass shouldn't be a strenuous matter. In fact, after glancing at the slogans handed in last year, one would think that it was the simplest of procedures, and that the individual who violated the Keep-Off-The-Grass creed was nothing but a thoughtless ruffian.

This year, when a student is seen "cutting across," it almost looks like premeditated grass murder. The Department of Buildings and Grounds has completed such an intelligent job in laying walks and beautifying the campus that it would seem well-nigh impossible for a "short cut" on grass to be found.

But evidently the solution of the matter does lie in a more thoughtful student body. Two students, when "collared" by a Building and Grounds official, apologized profusely for walking on the grass and added that they hadn't been thinking.

If more individuals do not start thinking, the campus will turn into a no-man's-land of barbed wire entanglements. Officials have stated that all plots of grass will be surrounded by wire fences unless there is a change in student attitude.

For gosh sakes, students, keep off the grass!—The Kentucky Kernel.

Missing Lynx

... From the Campus Chain

We are always pleased to know that people are reading the Sou'wester—a fact which, startling as it may seem, is proved by the number of typographical errors that well-meaning souls point out to us each week. Why, for instance, just the other day someone, not a member of Chi Omega sorority, came rushing up waving a copy of last week's Sou'wester gleefully. "Looky, looky! I found a mistake," she shrieked, pointing to a pencil-ringed statement—"Today there are 1,350 students enrolled in U. S. colleges and universities." Now, for once, we were not forced to mumble something about "typographical errors will happen, you know." As actual students go, statistics will prove, we feel, that 1,350 is not an understatement in number.

Poem in the Manner of Sandburg:

An idea comes

It sits just out of my mind's reach and then moves on.

—Glenville Mercury.

The Student Question Box:

This is a new feature, designed especially to give everyone a part in the writing of this column. If you have a question that is bothering you, you too may hand it to Mr. James Berry Carpenter, head of the Campus Opinion Survey Department, and he will see that it is voted on. The question this week is: "Would you quit the D. A. R. if you were Marian Anderson?" Now write your answers on your tux shirt front and give them to Mr. Carpenter. We don't want 'em.

Yesterday we received a letter from a girl at Newcomb who wrote, "After reading three of your Missing Lynx columns, I am doubtful of the sanity of the coming generation." What this means has puzzled us considerably, so we pass it on to you.

Dining Hall Department:

In case you haven't heard, the latest thing calculated to upset Neely Hall diners are the Butter-milk Tables, where imbibers of this beverage indulge to their heart's content. The idea has no end of possibilities, but for the present we would like to suggest the addition of Cauliflower Tables, which, as you can see, would be a boon to everyone and A Good Thing in general.

Moral Verses on Temperance (or Laughs of the Week):

Those who drunk in gutters lie,
Never make Alpha Theta Phi.

Students who spend their evenings at the pub
Aren't asked into the Ministerial Club.

Girls who do things wild and shocking
Don't get invited by the Blue Stockings.

After many harsh words and cutting remarks on both sides, we have finally buried the hatchet with Miss Dorothy Helene Steuwer, the fire-eating Zeta Tau. Perhaps it was the soothing sound of spring rain on the roof, perhaps it was because we hoped to collect the nickel she borrowed two months ago, but whatever the cause the feuding is over. Peace, it's wonderful. . . .

Lynx Chat

At the Tri-Delta Dance: Kathleen Fransioli and Virginia Ragsdale showed up with dresses on exactly alike; it helped matters when Fransioli shed her jacket and Ragsdale kept hers on. . . . Katherine Goldberger had a date with Bob Beasley, the boy who entered in February, but has steered clear of girls (so we thought anyway). . . . Wellborn was there with Mobley, but he didn't have much chance to dance with her. . . . Irene Rhea had to leave the stomping ground for hers, George Schulte. . . . "Be" Waggener was escorted by George Jackson (she always seems to be pulling a new one of late. . . . it encourages her chapel publicity). . . . Mrs. Hug got a wonderful rush which she attributes to the fact that several boys seem to want to make the All-Star softball team. . . . Marjorie DeVall was with Bill Lapsley; Mary Kathryn McGuire with David Carroll—everyone has been sure of the first one for a long time—now they seem to be sure of the second one, too. . . . it seemed that Bill Moorhead has replaced John Woolsey in the eyes of Marion Dickson. . . . this always is the time of year to start high school romances; the sorority girls are responsible, yet they blame the boys. . . . Hays Brantley was with Jean Magee, who really is planning on coming out here next year. . . . Bob Black was with Louise Howry, who also has the same idea (talking about Southwestern). . . . Sam Mays was with Libby Tidwell, etc. . . . as usual, Jeanne Reeves could be found in the middle of a bunch of stags. . . . Kate Weaver (we could say "as usual" but we won't) was with Herman Crowder. . . .

Tennis Matches: There seemed to be a lot of love games going on during the past week. . . . the players themselves seemed to have individual support, which no doubt counts; Sara Boothe, Dorothy Turner, Louise Jennings, Virginia Waggener (if you still follow us) were always on hand. . . . then, of course, the Birmingham-Southern players had to have dates: Betsy Fowler, who dates the coach (you can see we get around), lined up Jean Venn, Dorothy Waller, and Dorothea Wyatt for the grand occasion; Wyatt's date was particularly nice; he answered the eternal cry of red hair. . . . just about the most regular attendants are Paula Harris, Lollie Ralph, and Nancy Wiselogle. . . . Wetherbee and Talley play every day (tennis matches or no), they are developing form. . . . Barbara Dean prefers softball; we haven't figured out the reason, but "Dub" Worthington says confidentially it's Summerfield. . . . and speaking of softball we might mention the Sigmanu-Sigalf game brought a split in the Jennings family "for reasons we consider obvious enough."

Outstanding Events: The romance of the week goes to Marjorie Moorhead and "Starling Darling" Reid (as Calvin Hall has so affectionately dubbed him); of course he's seen with Meredith very frequently, but you can follow that. . . . the other is the Purity Test which is taking the campus by storm; rather surprising, some of the grades—ditto, the questions; we hear some girls started it, but it's at the stage now where many people could give it—Dr. A. should be interested in tabulating the scores. . . .

Fly-Leaf Scribbles

Wendell H. Stephenson's biography of "Isaac Franklin: Slave Trader and Planter of the Old South" is by no means a light bit of writing. It is a fine piece of original research containing much to interest the serious student of the pre-Civil War period in the South. Many of Franklin's actual plantations are included in the book.

"Roger Williams: New England Firebrand," by James Ernst, has a compelling swing that comes from an honest and conscientious treatment of a virile and absorbing character. Roger Williams was the most provocative figure thrown upon the Massachusetts shores by the upheaval in England. Mr. Ernst has tumbled some images from their pedestals and torn some traditions out of the pages of history, and has given us a vivid picture of a flaming personality.

James A. Farley's autobiography, "Behind the Ballots," is self-portraiture and contemporary analysis of the liveliest kind. Never known to be bashful in speaking out, Farley has written a frank and revealing book about his own history as a politician. He gives the impression of being completely honest and is certainly good-tempered in his comments and judgments of his political enemies.

William Allen White's study of Calvin Coolidge, "Puritan in Babylon," offers rich reading for anyone interested in the American political scene, in the forces which made and broke the Coolidge boom, or in the odd way in which a sincere, conscientious, cautious small man can, with the help of luck, history, and a good political brain, be escalated into the highest office of our land.

The two volumes of Franklin P. Adams' "Diary of Our Own Samuel Pepys" are extremely diverting because F. P. A. is one of the country's really humorous humorists. But they are more than diverting. The contents appeared originally in Mr. Adams' columns in the newspapers he worked on between 1911 and 1925, so they reflect more than a decade of a thrilling historic period. The series of footnotes identifying the persons and important events mentioned add vastly to one's enjoyment in reading.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have given a $110 loan fund to University of Akron students who are "100 per cent Americans."

Two Girls Win Scholarships To Southwestern

Awards Mark End of History Of College Broadcast Series

The winners of the Southwestern scholarship essay contests, held in connection with the college's weekly radio broadcasts over WMC, were announced Tuesday night by John Cleghorn, director of the station. Two kinds of contests were held, one a radio program essay contest, in which the contestant wrote one or more weekly letters describing the events portrayed in the broadcasts, and the other a historical essay contest on the subject, "Education and Schools in My County in My Grandfather's Day."

The writers of the three best weekly letters are as follows: First prize, $100 scholarship to Southwestern, to Mary McAdams, of 765 Evergreen, a senior at Central High School.

Second prize, $50 scholarship, to Robbie Clair Watson of Nesbitt, Miss., a junior at Olive Branch High School.

Third prize, $25 scholarship, to Marianna McCalla of 1389 Vinton, a senior at Central High School.

The winners of the historical essay contest are: First prize, $100 scholarship, to Mary Ann Simonton, Covington, Tenn., senior at Covington High School.

Second prize, $50 scholarship, to Katherine Miller of 3541 Midland Avenue, a senior at Central High School.

Third prize, $25 scholarship, to James W. Edwards of Bartlett, Tenn., a senior at Nicholas Blackwell High School.

The winner of the letter dealing with last week's episode is Mary Kathryn Bentley, a senior at Halls High School, Halls, Tenn.

The radio broadcasts, which have been held since Feb. 2 and produced by Southwestern students under the direction of Randall MacInnes, with the assistance of Mr. Cleghorn, have depicted episodes in the history of the college from its early days at Clarksville, Tenn., up to the present date. Essays were judged by the Scholarship Essay Committee, aided by members of the department of English at Southwestern.

LUNCHEES & DINNERS

Timely Cautions, Hints On The Fine Art Of Politics

Since things are due to start popping in chapel tomorrow morning, it is thought advisable in the interest of more effective college leadership to present a few pointers on "How to be a campus politician" or "It can be done with less than three combines." (A special dope-sheet will be sent to the Elections Commission.)

First, don't forget the back slapping. But you mustn't be overly enthusiastic about the thing. We remember one year an aspiring office-seeker slapped a key man on the back so hard that it left a three-week blister. Did anybody in his fraternity get elected? What do you think? In the case of girls, it will take the form of excessive blather over their coiffures and raving over their dresses, forgetting for the moment how many times they've been seen before.

You can start your day off well by getting up in chapel and making an announcement about having lost your fraternity pin, when you know darned well it's in your room on the dresser where you left it. No matter how silly the announcement, it serves to put you before the student body. Of course, you've been doing this off and on all year, with the hope that you can convince them you've got something on the ball.

After chapel is a particularly good time to get in a coke in the bookstore with the president of the sorority you're combining with, the best man in your own fraternity (next to yourself) and a few undecided votes. You should have been developing a strong stomach all year, for you'll have to drink dozens of cokes every day for a week or so.

Amacker Addresses Men's Bible Class

Says Versailles Treaty Not Cause Of Present European Situation

In speaking of current European affairs at the regular meeting of the Men's Bible Class last Sunday evening, Prof. David M. Amacker, professor of Political Science, said that the present critical European situation is definitely not due to the Treaty of Versailles. By sketching briefly the events leading up to the World War and reviewing the conditions that have existed since the war, he showed that the high military clique in Germany was responsible for the cold courageous nationalist spirit which brought on the World War and is a primary factor in the present crisis.

Prof. Amacker showed how Wilson had foreseen the present political dilemma, by quoting from several of Wilson's post-war speeches.

Prof. Alexander Boeker, assistant professor of Economics, will address the Bible Class next Sunday night from 6:30 until 7 o'clock in the Band-house. All men students are invited to attend.

Be sure you always have cigarettes or tobacco (very expensive brand) handy at all times. If you're forced to economize, you can at least always have a light. We suggest a pocket size blow torch which is guaranteed to burn steadily for three hours in all kinds of drafts, especially hot air. In some cases you can accidentally inflict a deep and painful burn on the cheek of an opponent.

Next, whenever you have an off period, don't just waste it on some one who can't swing some votes. To rate as a topnotch politico, you must always be seen on the campus with members of the nobility, meaning the B. M. O. C.'s frequent off-hour chats (always casual social conversation, of course) with the Student Council members and sorority leaders have been known to decide many an election.

Some authorities recommend the wearing of flashy and conspicuous clothes. We offer this with a word of caution, since a red tie or shirt might infuriate some of the bulls of the campus. Wooden shoes are frowned upon, especially if you can't help stepping on other people's feet. Not even a profuse apology, which usually arouses reciprocal cordiality, can atone for the acute discomfort thus caused.

Be sure and make all the sorority dances and open houses. Of course, unless you've been doing this all year, it's rather late to start. Rather obvious, too. If you've been too obvious all year about your politicking, which happens occasionally, you can miss one or two of these. This will make you conspicuous by your absence and might even convince a few people that maybe you aren't that kind of a fellow, after all.

Above all, know everybody's name on the campus. Even if you don't know everybody personally, calling them by their first name will put you on such a footing that you can easily approach them and solicit their votes. (That isn't funny, is it?) We'll close by reminding you that Dr. Pond is open for help on figuring out mathematically the maximum possible number of combines you can effect on the campus. A last word: Never, never doubt for even an instant but that campus politics is the most important thing in the world. No, indeedly.

Hooray! Hooray! Hooray! Hooray! The choir is going on a trip. And it's not "in the distant future" but next week-end. Ain't it wonderful? Well, yes, it is, and I must say that it has been largely due to the capable plugging of the president, whose name I will withhold for various reasons. But we are leaving bright and early Sunday morning for points in Arkansas and Missouri to return late Monday night or Tuesday morning—not in time for classes, of course. The cities whose populace is to be honored with our presence are Blytheville and Caruthersville and another still in the offing.

Another interesting concert is being presented under private auspices this week. The artist concerned is Hans Barth and the concert will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Buxton Monday evening, May 1. The most interesting of his achievements is the invention of the quarter tone piano. The pianos we have as a rule are half-tone pianos. Here is one whose intervals are just half that size, so to have the same range in the end necessitates having a keyboard twice as long. Can't you see Gieseiking stretching himself over a piano twice the length of an ordinary one? Our own Mrs. Paul Hug is a former pupil of his and has the tickets for the concert which are available to all those who have one dollar. Her phone number is 7-6747-W.

Racquetees Bow To Panthers And Vandy

White, West And Boothe Prove Mettle In Court Frays

The Lynx tennis team had another one of their "off days" Monday afternoon and dropped a 4 to 3 verdict to the Birmingham-Southern Panthers. The Alabama invaders captured both doubles matches together with two victories in the single bracket to enable them to emerge on top of the fray.

Bob Meacham felt the wrath of his own home town in losing to Gene McCain of Birmingham, 6-2 and 6-2. Meacham is still occupying the top position on the Lynx squad. Tom White, erstwhile number 1 man on the squad, hit his stride and disposed of Frank Osment with a score of 6-3, 6-4. Waddy West took the number 3 match from Horace Stevenson, 6-3, 2-6, and 9-7. Southpaw Henry Boothe lost to Robert Johnson, 3-6, 6-2 and 6-2. John McGrady defeated John Moriarty, 9-7, 5-7 and 6-1.

Birmingham-Southern won both doubles matches to cinch the meet. Tom White and Bob Meacham lost to Osment and Johnson of Birmingham-Southern, 6-4 and 6-4. McCain and Stevenson then defeated Waddy West and Henry Boothe, 6-4 and 7-5, to give the Magic City boys a 4 to 3 victory.

Vandy Also Defeats

Dropping their second match of the season, the Lynx netmen were defeated Saturday by a classy Vanderbilt team, 6 to 1, on the local courts. Henry Boothe, No. 4 man for the Lynx, scored the lone tally by defeating Byron Taylor, 7-5, 6-2. Bob Meacham, playing No. 1 position for the first time, was defeated by Vandy's ace, Joe Davis, 6-1, 6-0. Playing No. 2 position for the Lynx, Tom White was defeated by Tom Brown, 6-2, 6-4. Marvin Woodward of Vandy took the No. 3 match by defeating Waddy West, 8-6, 6-2. Billy Murrah dropped his No. 5 match to Joe Little, 7-5, 6-1.

The Lynx were completely white-washed in the doubles. Davis and Brown conquered White and Murrah, 6-0, 6-3, and Little and Woodward stopped Meacham and West, 6-2, 6-4.

Joe Davis is one of the up and coming tennis players of the South. Davis recently defeated Bitsy Grant of Atlanta who was on the American Davis Cup Team last year.

GAME CALLED OFF

Wednesday afternoon's softball game between the Intramural All-Stars and the Buckeye Cottonseed Oil Mill team was called off on account of rain and wet grounds. The game was to have been played on the Intramural Field. This game was to complete a two-game series between the two teams.

The All-Stars will practice the remainder of the week in anticipation of the doubleheader on Saturday morning when the All-Stars take on the State Teachers Tigers and the S Club.

Softball, Tennis, Track Sport Events Of S Club Day

Tomorrow the S Club will officially reign over campus activities, when the second annual S Club Day gets under way. Two softball games, a tennis match, and a track meet will compose the day's program. Immediately after the usual chapel services the college holiday will begin.

At 9:30 the Intramural All-Stars will meet the State Teachers College Tigers in a softball game. This game will again bring together Southwestern's local rival from Normal and Coach Paul Hug's softball aces. This is expected to be a close game. Following this game at 11 o'clock the long anticipated slugfest between the S Club's bruisers and the Intramural All-Stars. There has been much interest and speculation regarding this game all week. At 2:30 two events will take place on Fargason Field. The Lynx thinclads, led by Captain Gaylon Smith, will compete with the Sewanee Tigers for field honors. Running simultaneously with the track meet, the Lynx tennis team will entertain the Majors of Millsaps College of Jackson, Miss., on the local courts. Robert Meacham will continue to play in the No. 1 position for the Lynx. Following the day's sporting activities the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will entertain the student body with their annual Stardust Ball at the University Center from 8 to 12. Bill Taylor and His Royal Collegians will furnish the music.

Waring Champion Of Dixie Conference

Lynx Golfer Defeats Entire Spring Hill Team In Tournament

After battling the entire Spring Hill College team, Harry Waring, captain and manager of the Lynx golf team, became the first golf champion of the Dixie Conference in the tournament played at Spring Hill April 20-22. Waring is playing his second year on the Lynx squad and has been an ardent golfer for several years.

In the process of annexing the crown Waring first defeated Harry Roell of Spring Hill, in the second round Bud O'Connell, and in the semi-finals Ed Peck. After many professional-like shots by both contestants in the championship match, Waring barely defeated Bill Caton of Spring Hill.

The other Lynx representatives were eliminated in the first round matches. Rex Wilson was defeated by Ed Peck. Should Wilson have won this match, he would have been pitted against Waring in the semi-finals. Jimmy Caden dropped his match to Bill Caton of Spring Hill. William Tyson was put down in the first round by Carl Dinkler of Loyola University.

As a team the Lynx made very little showing. They were eliminated from the tournament by Spring Hill by a score of 17 to 1.

Thinclads Lose In Triangle Meet At Jackson

First Loss In Two Years For Lynx Team; Two Records Broken

The Southwestern trackmen, under the tutelage of Coach Chicken High, tasted defeat for the first time in two years last Saturday, April 22, at Clinton, Miss. Showing strength in the field events, but a sad weakness in the track events, the Lynx thinclads wound up on the short end of a three-way score.

Mississippi College was first with a score of 52; Millsaps followed closely with a score of 47 while Southwestern trailed with only 37 points. Millsaps took seven first places with Southwestern and Mississippi College garnering four apiece.

Two college records were broken by Southwestern men in the field events. Bob Foley set a record in the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet, 6 inches. Co-captain Orley Nettles threw the javelin for a new high mark of 173 feet, 6 inches.

Hitt of Mississippi College led the individual scorers with a total of 14 points. Rush of Millsaps ran second with 10 points.

Southwestern meets Sewanee tomorrow on Fargason Field at 2:30 o'clock. Mickey Cochran is the star of Sewanee's team, participating in the dashes, hurdles and pole vault.

Five New Classes, Eight Tutorial Courses Added To Schedule

Five new class courses and eight tutorial courses have been added to the schedule for Southwestern during the 1939-40 session, a survey of the new catalogs reveals. The principal advances have been made in the German department where three regular courses—"Advanced German," a course in literature, composition, and conversation; "The Modern German Novel," an introduction to the literary and social problems of Germany since 1890; "The Modern German Lyric," a study of the poetry of Rilke, George, and Hofmannsthal—and three tutorials—"Masterpieces of German Literature," a general survey; "Goethe and His Time," termed "the greatest period in German literature"; "Drama and Stage in Germany," a history of the German drama and its realization on the stage from Lessing to Georg Kaiser, have been added. Prof. Wolfgang Paulsen, assistant professor of Modern Languages, will be the instructor.

Prof. Ogden Baine, assistant professor of Chemistry, will offer a tutorial on "Advanced Organic Chemistry," consisting mostly of synthetic work in the laboratory, while Prof. Shields McIlwaine, associate professor of English, will conduct a regular class course in Advanced Composition.

"General Philology," an introduction to linguistics and the theories of the origin of languages, will be given by Prof. M. E. Porter, assistant professor of Modern Languages. Prof. A. P. Kelso, professor of Philosophy and Christian Ethics, will offer two new tutorial courses, "The Rise and Fall of Romanticism" and "Logic," a seminar required of all candidates for a degree with distinction or honors in philosophy.

Prof. Martin W. Storn, professor of Romance Languages, will be the instructor in a new class course in "Advanced Spanish."

A Dad Vail Intercollegiate Rowing Association has been formed to honor the famed University of Wisconsin crew coach.
